A TRINFINITY MINI BOOK

Is There Really a God

Looking honestly at the evidence

Andrew Dominguez

TRINFINITY
Enterprises

2026-10-29 | Version 1.1

Is There Really a God

Looking honestly at the evidence

Andrew Dominguez

Trinfinity Enterprises

About this book

Copyright © 2026 Andrew Dominguez. All rights reserved. Published by Trinfinity Enterprises.

All Scripture quotations in this book use the New American Standard Bible 1995 (NASB).

Scripture quotations taken from the (NASB®) New American Standard Bible®, Copyright © 1960, 1971, 1977, 1995 by The Lockman Foundation. Used by permission. All rights reserved. www.lockman.org

Contents

Introduction 3

1 Something rather than nothing 3

2 The longing inside us 3

3 A God who speaks 4

4 The evidence of the empty tomb 4

5 Why not every religion can be right 5

6 What your salvation depends on 5

Introduction

Maybe you picked up this book because you are not sure God is there at all. That is a fair place to start. The Bible never asks you to turn off your mind. It invites you to look at what God has made, what He has said, and what He has done in history, and then decide.

I am not going to pretend every question has a neat answer. I am going to show you why I believe, and why I think the evidence points to a God who wants to be found.

1 Something rather than nothing

The Bible starts with the simplest and biggest claim it makes.

In the beginning God created the heavens and the earth.

Genesis 1:1 (NASB)

Everything that begins to exist has a cause. A house points to a builder. A painting points to a painter. The universe had a beginning, and something outside of it had to bring it into being. The Bible says that Someone is God.

Paul wrote that God's invisible attributes, His eternal power and divine nature, have been clearly seen, being understood through what has been made (Romans 1:20, NASB). You do not need a seminary degree to see it. Look at a night sky away from city lights.

The heavens are telling of the glory of God; And their expanse is declaring the work of His hands.

Psalm 19:1 (NASB)

2 The longing inside us

There is another kind of evidence, and you carry it around with you. People in every culture and every century have looked for meaning beyond this life. We know that some things are right and some are wrong, even when we wish they were not.

He has made everything appropriate in its time. He has also set eternity in their heart, yet so that man will not find out the work which God has done from the beginning even to the end.

Ecclesiastes 3:11 (NASB)

God set eternity in our hearts. That restless feeling that there has to be more is not a defect. It is a homing signal. Paul told the philosophers in Athens that God made every nation so that they would seek God, if perhaps they might grope for Him and find Him, though He is not far from each one of us (Acts 17:27, NASB).

3 A God who speaks

If God made us, it makes sense that He would tell us about Himself. Christians believe He has done that through the Bible, written over about fifteen hundred years by many authors, yet telling one story. The prophets named places and events long before they happened. The New Testament also survives in more ancient handwritten copies than any other book from the ancient world.

God has also spoken in a Person. Hebrews 1:1-2 (NASB) says that God spoke long ago to the fathers in the prophets, and in these last days has spoken to us in His Son. If you want to know what God is like, look at Jesus.

A young man named Cole Joseph Stafford wrote a poem titled Who Is God? In it he says that God forgives when he feels most unforgivable and listens when he does not deserve to be heard. That is not the God of a textbook. That is the God who speaks and listens.

4 The evidence of the empty tomb

Christianity stands or falls on one event in history. Paul said so himself.

and if Christ has not been raised, then our preaching is vain, your faith also is vain.

1 Corinthians 15:14 (NASB)

Paul did not ask people to take it on blind faith. He listed the witnesses. Jesus appeared to Peter, to the twelve, and then to more than five hundred brethren at one time, most of whom remain until now (1 Corinthians 15:6, NASB). In other words, go ask them.

Those first followers had nothing to gain by lying. They were beaten, jailed, and many were killed for saying Jesus was alive. People do not die for something they know they made up. Something happened that Sunday morning that turned frightened men into bold witnesses.

5 Why not every religion can be right

Ray Comfort, in Why Christianity?, asks his readers to imagine being offered four gifts: a famous painting, a new sports car, a million dollars, or a parachute. Then he adds one detail. You have to jump out of an airplane at 10,000 feet. Suddenly only one gift matters.

His point is that each of us is going to face death and then God. The question is not which belief makes us feel best. It is which one can actually carry us through. The world's religions do not all say the same thing. They disagree about who God is, who Jesus is, and how a person is made right with God. They cannot all be true.

Jesus did not leave room for confusion. He said, I am the way, and the truth, and the life; no one comes to the Father but through Me (John 14:6, NASB). That is a bold claim, and it is either true or false. The empty tomb tells me it is true.

6 What your salvation depends on

God does not hide from people who honestly look for Him. He told Israel, You will seek Me and find Me when you search for Me with all your heart (Jeremiah 29:13, NASB).

And without faith it is impossible to please Him, for he who comes to God must believe that He is and that He is a rewarder of those who seek Him.

Hebrews 11:6 (NASB)

Knowing God exists is a start, but it is not salvation. The Bible says all have sinned and fall short of the glory of God (Romans 3:23, NASB). What saves us is not our searching. It is what God did when He came looking for us. God demonstrates His own love toward us, in that while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us (Romans 5:8, NASB).

Salvation depends on trusting Jesus, who died for your sins and rose again. Whoever will call on the name of the Lord will be saved (Romans 10:13, NASB). If you are ready, call on Him. Tell Him you want to know Him, that you know you have sinned, and that you trust Jesus to save you. Then keep reading His Word. You will find He was looking for you long before you started looking for Him.

Is There Really a God

Is anyone really out there? This book looks honestly at creation, the longing God placed in every heart, the God who speaks, the evidence of the empty tomb, and why not every religion can be right. Then it shows what your salvation depends on.

In the beginning God created the heavens and the earth.

Genesis 1:1 (NASB)

Free to download, copy and share. Not for sale.

TRINFINITY
Enterprises

Trinfinity Enterprises
TrinfinityEnterprises.com

Scripture quotations taken from the (NASB®) New American Standard Bible®, Copyright © 1960, 1971, 1977, 1995 by The Lockman Foundation. Used by permission. All rights reserved. www.lockman.org