and officials and judges six thousand, 5 and four thousand gatekeepers, and four thousand praising the LORD with the instruments which I made for praising. 6 And David divided them into divisions by the sons of Levi: Gershon, Kohath (Qehat), and Merari.

The Families of the Levites

7 Of the Gershonites: Ladan and Shimei (Shimi). 8 The sons of Ladan: the chief Jehiel (Yechi'el), and Zetham (Zetam), and Joel (Yo'el), three. 9 The sons of Shimei: Shelomith (Shelomit) and Haziel (Chazi'el) and Haran, three. These were the heads of the fathers of Ladan. 10 And the sons of Shimei: Jahath (Yachat), Zina, and Jeush (Yeush), and Beriah (Beri'a). These were the sons of Shimei, four. 11 And Jahath was the chief, and Zizah the second; and Jeush and Beriah did not have many sons, and they became a father's house for one enrollment. 12 The sons of Kohath: Amram, Izhar (Yitshar), Hebron (Chevron), and Uzziel (Uzi'el), four. 13 The sons of Amram: Aaron (Aharon) and Moses (Moshe). And Aaron was separated to sanctify him as a holy of holies, he and his sons forever, to burn incense before the LORD, to minister to Him, and to bless in His name forever. 14 And Moses the man of God: his sons were named among the tribe of the Levites. 15 The sons of Moses: Gershom and Eliezer. 16 The sons of Gershom: Shebuel (Shevu'el) the chief. 17 And the sons of Eliezer were Rehabiah (Rechavya) the chief. And Eliezer had no other sons, and the sons of Rehabiah were exceedingly many. 18 The sons of Izhar: Shelomith (Shelomit) the chief. 19 The sons of Hebron: Jeriah (Yeriyahu) the chief, Amariah (Amarya) the second, Jahaziel (Yachazi'el) the third, and Jekameam (Yeqamam) the fourth. 20 The sons of Uzziel: Micah (Mikha) the chief, and Isshiah (Yishiya) the second. 21 The sons of Merari: Mahli (Machli) and Mushi. The sons of Mahli: Eleazar (Elazar) and Kish (Qish). 22 And Eleazar died, and he had no sons, but only daughters; and the sons of Kish, their brothers, took them. 23 The sons of Mushi: Mahli, and Eder, and Jeremoth (Yeremot), three.

The Work of the Levites

24 These were the sons of Levi by the house of their fathers, the heads of the fathers, by their enrollments, by the number of names, by their heads, doing the work for the service of the house of the LORD, from the age of twenty years and upward. 25 For David said, "The LORD, the God of Israel, has given rest to His people, and He dwells in Jerusalem (Yerushalayim) forever. 26 And also the Levites are not to carry the tabernacle and all its articles for its service." 27 For by the last words of David they were the number of the sons of Levi from the age of twenty years and upward. 28 For their office was at the side of the sons of Aaron for the service of the house of the LORD, over the courts and over the chambers and over the purification of every holy thing, and the work of the service of the house of God, 29 and for the bread of the arrangement, and for the fine flour for a grain offering, and for the wafers of unleavened bread, and for the griddle, and for the mixed dough, and for every capacity and measure; 30 and to stand morning by morning to give thanks and to praise the LORD, and so at evening; 31 and for every offering up of burnt offerings to the LORD for the Sabbaths, for the new moons, and for the appointed feasts, by number, according to the ordinance concerning them, continually before the LORD. 32 And they kept the charge of the tent of meeting and the charge of the holy place and the charge of the sons of Aaron their brothers, for the service of the house of the LORD.

23:5 the instruments which I made for praising David himself made instruments for worship (Amos 6:5).
23:11 they became a father's house for one enrollment A father's house was a family group under one head. Small families were joined so each group had enough men. God's work was arranged so no one was overloaded and no family left out.
23:13 Aaron was separated to sanctify him as a holy of holies Aaron's family alone were priests, to burn incense, minister and bless the people in God's name (Num 6:22-27).
23:14 Moses the man of God: his sons were named among the tribe of the Levites The greatest prophet did not pass on a priesthood to his sons. God's calling is not handed out by fame. Rehabiah's sons were exceedingly many (23:17). God can grow a large family from a single line.
23:22 the sons of Kish, their brothers, took them This Eleazar was a Levite, not Aaron's son. His daughters married their cousins, keeping the family's name and place, as the Law allowed (Num 36:6-9).
23:24 from the age of twenty years and upward Verse 3 said thirty. In the wilderness the carrying went to men thirty and older (Num 4:3; 8:24). With the ark at rest and much more work at a great temple, the age was lowered by David's last words (23:27). David applied God's practical commands wisely to a new situation.
23:28 their office was at the side of the sons of Aaron The priests' helpers, keeping the courts, side rooms and holy things ceremonially clean, fit for God's service.
23:29 the bread of the arrangement Set in rows on the golden table each Sabbath (Lev 24:5-9).
23:30 morning by morning to give thanks and to praise the LORD, and so at evening Before any sacrifice, someone was giving thanks. Believers offer "a sacrifice of praise to God continually" (Heb 13:15).
23:31 for the new moons, and for the appointed feasts The new moon marked each month, and the appointed feasts were the yearly festivals like Passover.
23:32 the charge of the holy place A charge is a duty given to someone's care. Cleaning, baking, measuring and keeping watch were all for the house of the LORD. No job in God's house is small (1 Cor 12:22; Col 3:23).

1 CHRONICLES 24

The Divisions of the Priests

1 And to the sons of Aaron (Aharon), their divisions: The sons of Aaron: Nadab (Nadav) and Abihu (Avihu), Eleazar (Elazar) and Ithamar (Itamar). 2 And Nadab and Abihu died before their father, and they had no sons; and Eleazar and Ithamar served as priests. 3 And David divided them, and Zadok (Tsadoq) of the sons of Eleazar and Ahimelech (Achimelekh) of the sons of Ithamar, according to their appointment in their service. 4 And the sons of Eleazar were found more numerous in heads of men than the sons of Ithamar, and they divided them: for the sons of Eleazar, sixteen heads of fathers' houses; and for the sons of Ithamar, eight of their fathers' houses. 5 And they divided them by lots, these with these, for there were officials of holiness and officials of God from the sons of Eleazar and among the sons of Ithamar. 6 And Shemaiah (Shemaya) the son of Nethanel (Netanel) the scribe, of the Levites, recorded them before the king and the officials and Zadok the priest and Ahimelech the son of Abiathar (Evyatar) and the heads of the fathers of the priests and of the Levites: one father's house taken for Eleazar, and taken, taken for Ithamar. 7 And the first lot went out to Jehoiarib (Yehoyariv), to Jedaiah (Yedaya) the second, 8 to Harim (Charim) the third, to Seorim the fourth, 9 to Malchijah (Malkiya) the fifth, to Mijamin (Miyamin) the sixth, 10 to Hakkoz (Haqots) the seventh, to Abijah (Aviya) the eighth, 11 to Jeshua (Yeshua) the ninth, to Shecaniah (Shekhanyahu) the tenth, 12 to Eliashib (Elyashiv) the eleventh, to Jakim (Yaqim) the twelfth, 13 to Huppah (Chupa) the thirteenth, to Jeshebeab (Yeshevav) the fourteenth, 14 to Bilgah (Bilga) the fifteenth, to Immer (Imer) the sixteenth, 15 to Hezir (Chezir) the seventeenth, to Happizzez (Pitsets) the eighteenth, 16 to Pethahiah (Petachya) the nineteenth, to Jehezkel (Yechezqel) the twentieth, 17 to Jachin (Yakhin) the twenty-first, to Gamul the twenty-second, 18 to Delaiah (Delayahu) the twenty-third, to Maaziah (Ma'azyahu) the twenty-fourth. 19 These were their appointments for their service, to go into the house of the LORD according to their ordinance by the hand of Aaron their father, as the LORD, the God of Israel (Yisra'el), had commanded him.

The Rest of the Levites

20 And of the sons of Levi who remained: of the sons of Amram, Shubael (Shuva'el); of the sons of Shubael, Jehdeiah (Yechdeyahu). 21 Of Rehabiah (Rechavyahu): of the sons of Rehabiah, the chief Isshiah (Yishiya). 22 Of the Izharites: Shelomoth (Shelomot); of the sons of Shelomoth, Jahath (Yachat). 23 And the sons of Hebron: Jeriah (Yeriyahu) the first, Amariah (Amaryahu) the second, Jahaziel (Yachazi'el) the third, Jekameam (Yeqamam) the fourth. 24 The sons of Uzziel (Uzi'el): Micah (Mikha); of the sons of Micah, Shamir. 25 The brother of Micah: Isshiah; of the sons of Isshiah, Zechariah (Zekharyahu). 26 The sons of Merari: Mahli (Machli) and Mushi; the sons of Jaaziah (Ya'aziyahu): Beno. 27 The sons of Merari, of Jaaziah: Beno, and Shoham, and Zaccur (Zakur), and Ibri (Ivri). 28 Of Mahli: Eleazar, and he had no sons. 29 Of Kish (Qish): the sons of Kish, Jerahmeel (Yerachme'el). 30 And the sons of Mushi: Mahli, and Eder, and Jerimoth (Yerimot). These were the sons of the Levites by the house of their fathers. 31 And they also cast lots corresponding to their brothers the sons of Aaron before David the king and Zadok and Ahimelech and the heads of the fathers of the priests and of the Levites; fathers, the chief corresponding to his younger brother.

24:1 to the sons of Aaron, their divisions A division was a group that took its turn serving.
24:2 Nadab and Abihu died before their father, and they had no sons They offered fire God had not commanded and died (Lev 10:1-2), the same lesson as Uzzah (chapter 13). The writer only explains why the priesthood came through Eleazar and Ithamar.
24:5 they divided them by lots Casting lots let God decide. "From the LORD is its every judgment" (Prov 16:33). No family could claim the best place or accuse anyone of favoritism.
24:6 Shemaiah the son of Nethanel the scribe Everything was done in the open, with witnesses and recorded. A good pattern for any church or ministry.
24:7 the first lot went out to Jehoiarib Each division served a week at a time, about twice a year, and all together at the great feasts (Luke 1:8-9). Jedaiah, Harim and Immer came back from Babylon (Ezra 2:36-39). Jehoiarib was the family of the Maccabees, who freed Judea from Greek rule about 165 B.C., as the Jewish history 1 Maccabees 2:1 says.
24:10 to Abijah the eighth The division of Zechariah, the father of John the Baptist (Luke 1:5).
24:19 as the LORD, the God of Israel, had commanded him David organized the priesthood God commanded. Jesus is now our High Priest forever (Heb 7:17), offered once for all (Heb 10:10-12), and all believers are a royal priesthood (1 Pet 2:9). The lesson of order remains.
24:31 the chief corresponding to his younger brother The head of a family and his youngest brother were treated the same. In the church there is no first class and coach (James 2:1-4).
25:1 who prophesied with lyres, with harps, and with cymbals The army commanders helped because David wanted the whole kingdom behind worship. To prophesy is to speak for God. These musicians declared God's truth and praised Him, and some of their songs became Scripture (Ps 50; 73-83; 88; 39; 62; 77).

cymbals. And the number of them, men of work for their service, was: 2 Of the sons of Asaph: Zaccur (Zakur), and Joseph (Yosef), and Nethaniah (Netanya), and Asharelah (Asarela), the sons of Asaph, under the hand of Asaph, who prophesied under the hands of the king. 3 Of Jeduthun: the sons of Jeduthun: Gedaliah (Gedalyahu), and Zeri (Tseri), and Jeshaiah (Yeshayahu), Hashabiah (Chashavyahu), and Mattithiah (Matityahu), six, under the hands of their father Jeduthun with the lyre, who prophesied in giving thanks and praising the LORD. 4 Of Heman: the sons of Heman: Bukkiah (Buqiyahu), Mattaniah (Matanyahu), Uzziel (Uzi'el), Shebuel (Shevu'el), and Jerimoth (Yerimot), Hananiah (Chananya), Hanani (Chanani), Eliathah (Eli'ata), Giddalti (Gidalti), and Romamti-ezer, Joshbekashah (Yoshbeqasha), Mallothi (Maloti), Hothir (Hotir), Mahazioth (Machazi'ot). 5 All these were sons of Heman, the seer of the king, by the words of God, to lift up a horn. And God gave to Heman fourteen sons and three daughters. 6 All these were under the hands of their father for the song in the house of the LORD, with cymbals, harps, and lyres, for the service of the house of God, under the hands of the king, Asaph and Jeduthun and Heman. 7 And their number with their brothers, trained in song to the LORD, all the skilled, was two hundred eighty-eight.

The Lots for the Singers

8 And they cast lots for charge correspondingly, the small as the great, the skilled with the pupil. 9 And the first lot went out for Asaph, to Joseph; Gedaliah the second, he and his brothers and his sons, twelve; 10 the third, Zaccur, his sons and his brothers, twelve; 11 the fourth, to the Izri, his sons and his brothers, twelve; 12 the fifth, Nethaniah, his sons and his brothers, twelve; 13 the sixth, Bukkiah, his sons and his brothers, twelve; 14 the seventh, Jesharelah (Yesarela), his sons and his brothers, twelve; 15 the eighth, Jeshaiah, his sons and his brothers, twelve; 16 the ninth, Mattaniah, his sons and his brothers, twelve; 17 the tenth, Shimei (Shimi), his sons and his brothers, twelve; 18 the eleventh, Azarel, his sons and his brothers, twelve; 19 the twelfth, to Hashabiah, his sons and his brothers, twelve; 20 for the thirteenth, Shubael (Shuva'el), his sons and his brothers, twelve; 21 for the fourteenth, Mattithiah, his sons and his brothers, twelve; 22 for the fifteenth, to Jerimoth, his sons and his brothers, twelve; 23 for the sixteenth, to Hananiah, his sons and his brothers, twelve; 24 for the seventeenth, to Joshbekashah, his sons and his brothers, twelve; 25 for the eighteenth, to Hanani, his sons and his brothers, twelve; 26 for the nineteenth, to Mallothi, his sons and his brothers, twelve; 27 for the twentieth, to Eliathah, his sons and his brothers, twelve; 28 for the twenty-first, to Hothir, his sons and his brothers, twelve; 29 for the twenty-second, to Giddalti, his sons and his brothers, twelve; 30 for the twenty-third, to Mahazioth, his sons and his brothers, twelve; 31 for the twenty-fourth, to Romamti-ezer, his sons and his brothers, twelve.

The Gatekeepers

1 For the divisions of the gatekeepers: of the Korahites, Meshelemiah (Meshelemyahu) the son of Kore (Qore), of the sons of Asaph (Asaf). 2 And Meshelemiah had sons: Zechariah (Zekharyahu) the firstborn, Jediael (Yedi'a'el) the second, Zebadiah (Zevadyahu) the third, Jathniel (Yatni'el) the fourth, 3 Elam the fifth, Jehohanan (Yehochanan) the sixth, Eliehoenai (Elyeho'enay) the seventh. 4 And Obed-edom (Oved-Edom) had sons: Shemaiah (Shemaya) the firstborn, Jehozabad (Yehozavad) the second, Joah (Yo'ach) the third, and Sachar (Sakhar) the fourth, and Nethanel (Netanel) the fifth, 5 Ammiel (Ami'el) the sixth, Issachar (Yisashkhar) the seventh, Peullethai (Pe'uletay) the eighth; for God had blessed him. 6 And to Shemaiah his son sons were born, the rulers of the house of their father, for they were mighty men of valor. 7 The sons of Shemaiah: Othni (Otni), and Rephael (Refa'el), and Obed (Oved), Elzabad (Elzavad), his brothers, sons of valor, Elihu and Semachiah (Semakhyahu). 8 All these were of the sons of Obed-edom, they and their sons and their brothers, each a man of valor with the strength for the service, sixty-two belonging to Obed-edom. 9 And Meshelemiah had sons and brothers, sons of valor, eighteen. 10 And Hosah (Chosa), of the sons of Merari, had sons: Shimri the chief (for 25:2 under the hand of Asaph Each was trained by the one above him, and the fathers under the king.

25:5 the seer of the king A horn is a picture of strength, so to lift up a horn means God honored Heman's family. Fourteen sons and three daughters were counted a gift from God.
25:6 under the hands of their father for the song in the house of the LORD Heman's daughters are included. Women sang in Israel's worship (Ezra 2:65).
25:7 trained in song to the LORD, all the skilled Twenty-four groups of twelve, the trained leaders of the four thousand (23:5). Play skillfully (Ps 33:3). God deserves our best, not our leftovers.
25:8 the small as the great, the skilled with the pupil The famous musician and the young student were in the same draw and served together so the young could learn. Pass on what you have learned to faithful men who will teach others (2 Tim 2:2).
25:9 the first lot went out for Asaph, to Joseph The lots mix the families without favor. Spelling differences like Izri for Zeri (25:11) show names often had more than one form.
25:31 his sons and his brothers, twelve Repeated after every lot. Every week a trained choir of fathers, sons and brothers stood to praise. The sons of Asaph praised at the new temple's foundation (Ezra 3:10). Sing to the Lord with the heart (Eph 5:19). Is your home a place where God is praised?
26:1 For the divisions of the gatekeepers Gatekeepers kept the unclean from the holy place, watched the storerooms and treasures, and opened the gates each morning (9:22-27). It was a position of trust. Of the sons of Asaph most likely means Ebiasaph, a Korahite (9:19), not Asaph the singer.
26:5 for God had blessed him Obed-edom, who kept the ark when others were afraid (13:13-14). Years later the blessing looked like a large family of mighty men, sixty-two in all (26:8). God honored his family for generations.
26:10 for he was not firstborn, and his father made him chief Perhaps the firstborn had died or was not fit to lead. Scripture does not say. Leadership went to the one able to carry it.

All the sons and brothers of Hosah were thirteen. 12 To these belonged the divisions of the gatekeepers, to the heads of the men, charges corresponding to their brothers, to minister in the house of the LORD. 13 And they cast lots, the small as the great, by the house of their fathers, for gate and gate. 14 And the lot fell eastward to Shelemiah (Shelemyahu). And for Zechariah his son, a counselor with insight, they cast lots, and his lot came out northward. 15 To Obed-edom southward, and to his sons the house of the storehouses. 16 To Shuppim (Shupim) and to Hosah westward, by the Gate of Shallecheth (Shalekhet), on the highway that goes up, watch corresponding to watch. 17 To the east the Levites were six; to the north, four for the day; to the south, four for the day; and for the storehouses, two and two. 18 For the Parbar to the west: four for the highway, two for the Parbar. 19 These were the divisions of the gatekeepers of the sons of the Korahites and of the sons of Merari.

The Treasurers

20 And the Levites: Ahijah (Achiya) was over the treasuries of the house of God and over the treasuries of the holy things. 21 The sons of Ladan, the sons of the Gershonite belonging to Ladan, the heads of the fathers belonging to Ladan the Gershonite: Jehieli (Yechi'eli). 22 The sons of Jehieli: Zetham (Zetam) and Joel (Yo'el) his brother, were over the treasuries of the house of the LORD. 23 Of the Amramites, of the Izharites, of the Hebronites, of the Uzzielites: 24 And Shebuel (Shevu'el) the son of Gershom, the son of Moses (Moshe), was leader over the treasuries. 25 And his brothers belonging to Eliezer: Rehabiah (Rechavyahu) his son, and Jeshaiah (Yeshayahu) his son, and Joram (Yoram) his son, and Zichri (Zikhri) his son, and Shelomith (Shelomit) his son. 26 That Shelomoth (Shelomot) and his brothers were over all the treasuries of the holy things which David the king and the heads of the fathers, for the commanders of the thousands and the hundreds and the commanders of the army, had consecrated. 27 From the wars and from the plunder they consecrated some to strengthen the house of the LORD. 28 And all that Samuel (Shemu'el) the seer and Saul (Shaul) the son of Kish (Qish) and Abner (Avner) the son of Ner and Joab (Yo'av) the son of Zeruiah (Tseruya) had consecrated, everyone who consecrated anything, was under the hand of Shelomith and his brothers.

Officials and Judges

29 Of the Izharites, Chenaniah (Kenanyahu) and his sons were for the outside work over Israel (Yisra'el), as officials and as judges. 30 Of the Hebronites, Hashabiah (Chashavyahu) and his brothers, sons of valor, one thousand seven hundred, were over the oversight of Israel beyond the Jordan (Yarden) westward, for all the work of the LORD and for the service of the king. 31 Of the Hebronites, Jerijah (Yeriya) was the chief, of the Hebronites according to his generations, by fathers. In the fortieth year of the reign of David they were searched out, and there were found among them mighty men of valor at Jazer (Yazer) of Gilead (Gilad). 32 And his brothers, sons of valor, were two thousand seven hundred, heads of the fathers. And David the king appointed them over the Reubenites and the Gadites and the half of the tribe of the Manassites, for every matter of God and matter of the king.

The Army Divisions

1 And the sons of Israel (Yisra'el) according to their number, the heads of the fathers and the commanders of the thousands and the hundreds, and their officials who served the king in every matter of the divisions that came in and went out month by month for all the months of the year: the one

26:13 the small as the great Like the priests and singers, they cast lots, and no family could claim the best post by rank.
26:14 the lot fell eastward to Shelemiah The east gate was the main entrance facing the rising sun. Shelemiah is another form of Meshelemiah. His son Zechariah, a counselor with insight, drew the north.
26:18 For the Parbar to the west Scripture does not explain the word. It seems to have been a court or open building on the west side of the temple area. In all, twenty-four men stood guard each day.
26:19 These were the divisions of the gatekeepers "I have chosen to stand at the threshold in the house of my God rather than to dwell in the tents of wickedness" (Ps 84:10). Do you see your place of service that way, however humble?
26:20 the treasuries of the holy things The treasury of the house held gifts and supplies for daily work. The treasuries of the holy things held what had been dedicated to God.
26:24 Shebuel the son of Gershom, the son of Moses A descendant of Moses as leader over the treasuries.
26:27 From the wars and from the plunder they consecrated some to strengthen the house of the LORD As David did in 18:7-11. Samuel, Saul, Abner and Joab had dedicated gifts too (26:28). For decades Israel's leaders set aside treasure for God. Those who handle it must be faithful, "not only before the Lord but also before men" (2 Cor 8:21).
26:29 for the outside work over Israel Officials and judges. The Levites taught the law and helped judge disputes across the land (Deut 17:8-9; 2 Chr 19:8-11).
26:31 In the fortieth year of the reign of David His last year. A search of the records found more able men at Jazer in Gilead.
26:32 for every matter of God and matter of the king The work of the LORD and the service of the king went together. Faith reached into courts, towns and daily life. We serve God at work, in our neighborhoods and at home, as much as on Sunday.
27:1 came in and went out month by month Twelve divisions of 24,000, a standing army of 288,000 with one on duty at a time. A man served a month a year and spent the rest on his land. The nation was always defended, and no family was drained.

division was twenty-four thousand. 2 Over the first division for the first month was Jashobeam (Yashov'am) the son of Zabdiel (Zavdi'el); and in his division were twenty-four thousand. 3 He was of the sons of Perez (Perets), the chief of all the commanders of the armies for the first month. 4 And over the division of the second month was Dodai (Doday) the Ahohite, and his division, and Mikloth (Miqlot) the leader; and in his division were twenty-four thousand. 5 The third commander of the army for the third month was Benaiah (Benayahu) the son of Jehoiada (Yehoyada) the priest, chief; and in his division were twenty-four thousand. 6 This Benaiah was the mighty man of the thirty and over the thirty; and in his division was Ammizabad (Amizavad) his son. 7 The fourth for the fourth month was Asahel the brother of Joab (Yo'av), and Zebadiah (Zevadya) his son after him; and in his division were twenty-four thousand. 8 The fifth for the fifth month was the commander Shamhuth (Shamhut) the Izrahite; and in his division were twenty-four thousand. 9 The sixth for the sixth month was Ira the son of Ikkesh (Iqesh) the Tekoite; and in his division were twenty-four thousand. 10 The seventh for the seventh month was Helez (Chelets) the Pelonite, of the sons of Ephraim (Efrayim); and in his division were twenty-four thousand. 11 The eighth for the eighth month was Sibbecai (Sibkhay) the Hushathite, of the Zerahites; and in his division were twenty-four thousand. 12 The ninth for the ninth month was Abiezer (Avi'ezer) the Anathothite, of the Benjaminites; and in his division were twenty-four thousand. 13 The tenth for the tenth month was Maharai (Maharay) the Netophathite, of the Zerahites; and in his division were twenty-four thousand. 14 The eleventh for the eleventh month was Benaiah (Benaya) the Pirathonite, of the sons of Ephraim; and in his division were twenty-four thousand. 15 The twelfth for the twelfth month was Heldai (Chelday) the Netophathite, of Othniel (Otni'el); and in his division were twenty-four thousand.

The Leaders of the Tribes

16 And over the tribes of Israel: for the Reubenites, Eliezer the son of Zichri (Zikhri) was leader; for the Simeonites, Shephatiah (Shefatyahu) the son of Maacah (Ma'akha); 17 for Levi, Hashabiah (Chashavya) the son of Kemuel (Qemu'el); for Aaron (Aharon), Zadok (Tsadoq); 18 for Judah (Yehuda), Elihu, of the brothers of David; for Issachar (Yisashkhar), Omri the son of Michael (Mikha'el); 19 for Zebulun (Zevulun), Ishmaiah (Yishmayahu) the son of Obadiah (Ovadyahu); for Naphtali (Naftali), Jerimoth (Yerimot) the son of Azriel; 20 for the sons of Ephraim, Hoshea the son of Azaziah (Azazyahu); for the half of the tribe of Manasseh (Menashe), Joel (Yo'el) the son of Pedaiah (Pedayahu); 21 for the half of the Manassites toward Gilead (Gilad), Iddo (Yido) the son of Zechariah (Zekharyahu); for Benjamin (Binyamin), Jaasiel (Ya'asi'el) the son of Abner (Avner); 22 for Dan, Azarel the son of Jeroham (Yerocham). These were the commanders of the tribes of Israel. 23 And David did not take their number from the age of twenty years and below, for the LORD had said He would multiply Israel like the stars of the heavens. 24 Joab the son of Zeruiah (Tseruya) began to count, and he did not finish; and there was wrath because of this on Israel, and the number did not go up into the account of the chronicles of King David.

The King's Stewards and Counselors

25 And over the treasuries of the king was Azmaveth
(Azmavet) the son of Adiel; and over the treasuries in the field, in the cities, and in the villages, and in the towers was Jonathan (Yehonatan) the son of Uzziah (Uziyahu). 26 And over the doers of the work of the field for the labor of the ground was Ezri the son of Chelub (Keluv). 27 And over the vineyards was Shimei (Shimi) the Ramathite; and over what was in the vineyards for the treasuries of the wine was Zabdi (Zavdi) the Shiphmite. 28 And over the olive trees and the sycamore trees that were in the Shephelah was Baal-hanan (Ba'al-Chanan) the Gederite; and over the treasuries of the oil was Joash (Yo'ash). 29 And over the cattle that grazed in the Sharon was Shitrai (Shirtay) the Sharonite; and over the cattle in the valleys was Shaphat (Shafat) the son of Adlai (Adlay). 30 And over the camels was Obil (Ovil) the Ishmaelite; and over the female donkeys was Jehdeiah

27:7 Asahel the brother of Joab, and Zebadiah his son after him Asahel was killed by Abner early in David's reign (2 Sam 2:18-23). The divisions may have been set up early with his son taking his place, or kept his name in his honor. Scripture does not say. Some read thousand in such lists as a military unit.
27:17 for Aaron, Zadok The civil heads of each tribe. Aaron and both halves of Manasseh are listed, and Gad and Asher are not. Scripture does not say why. The writer may have kept the number at twelve.
27:18 Elihu, of the brothers of David Probably Eliab, David's oldest brother (1 Sam 16:6), or another brother.
27:21 Jaasiel the son of Abner Abner had been Saul's commander and David's enemy for a time. Now his son served in David's kingdom. Grace had healed old wounds.
27:23 the LORD had said He would multiply Israel like the stars of the heavens As promised to Abraham (Gen 15:5; 22:17). To count every one would be like doubting the promise.
27:24 Joab the son of Zeruiah began to count, and he did not finish The count was never entered in the official records. Even in this orderly kingdom, the king had once sinned by counting, and the nation paid for it.
27:28 in the Shephelah The low hills between the coast and the mountains. The Sharon was the coastal plain (27:29).
27:30 Obil the Ishmaelite From a desert people who knew camels well, and Jaziz the Hagrite kept the flocks (27:31). David put men where their skills fit, whatever their background. Faithful management of ordinary things is part of serving God (Luke 16:10).

Ahithophel (Achitofel) was counselor to the king; and Hushai (Chushay) the Archite was the friend of the king. 34 And after Ahithophel was Jehoiada the son of Benaiah, and Abiathar (Evyatar); and the commander of the army for the king was Joab.

David's Charge to Israel and Solomon

1 And David assembled all the officials of Israel (Yisra'el), the officials of the tribes and the commanders of the divisions who served the king, and the commanders of the thousands and the commanders of the hundreds, and the officials of all the property and livestock of the king and of his sons, with the court officials and the mighty men, and every mighty man of valor, to Jerusalem (Yerushalayim). 2 And David the king rose to his feet and said, "Listen to me, my brothers and my people. As for me, it was in my heart to build a house of rest for the ark of the covenant of the LORD and for the footstool of the feet of our God, and I prepared to build. 3 And God said to me, 'You shall not build a house for My name, for you are a man of wars, and you have shed blood.' 4 And the LORD, the God of Israel, chose me out of all the house of my father to be king over Israel forever. For He chose Judah (Yehuda) as leader, and in the house of Judah the house of my father, and among the sons of my father He took pleasure in me to make me king over all Israel. 5 And from all my sons, for the LORD has given me many sons, He has chosen Solomon (Shelomo) my son to sit on the throne of the kingdom of the LORD over Israel. 6 And He said to me, 'Solomon your son, he will build My house and My courts, for I have chosen him for Myself as a son, and I will be to him a father. 7 And I will establish his kingdom forever, if he is strong to do My commandments and My judgments, as at this day.' 8 And now, in the eyes of all Israel, the assembly of the LORD, and in the ears of our God, keep and seek all the commandments of the LORD your God, so that you may possess the good land and give it as an inheritance to your sons after you forever. 9 And you, Solomon my son, know the God of your father and serve Him with a whole heart and with a willing soul, for the LORD searches all hearts and understands every inclination of the thoughts. If you seek Him, He will be found by you; and if you forsake Him, He will reject you forever. 10 See now, for the LORD has chosen you to build a house for the sanctuary. Be strong and act."

The Pattern of the Temple

11 And David gave to Solomon his son the pattern of the porch and its houses and its treasure rooms and its upper rooms and its inner chambers and the house of the mercy seat, 12 and the pattern of all that was in the spirit with him, for the courts of the house of the LORD and for all the chambers all around, for the treasuries of the house of God and for the treasuries of the holy things, 13 and for the divisions of the priests and the Levites, and for all the work of the service of the house of the LORD, and for all the articles of the service of the house of the LORD; 14 for the gold, by the weight of the gold, for all articles of service and service; for all the 27:33 Hushai the Archite was the friend of the king Ahithophel was the wisest counselor in Israel, but he joined Absalom's revolt and, when his advice was rejected, took his own life (2 Sam 15:12; 17:23). Hushai stayed true (2 Sam 15:32-37). Choose friends both wise and faithful. "At every time the friend loves" (Prov 17:17). Jesus calls His disciples friends (John 15:15).

27:34 the commander of the army for the king was Joab After Ahithophel came Jehoiada and Abiathar. His place was filled by others. The list ends with Joab still at his post.
28:1 David assembled all the officials of Israel The people listed in chapters 23 to 27. A good handover is done in public, so everyone knows who the new leader is and what he has been asked to do.
28:2 David the king rose to his feet First Kings 1 shows him weak and bedridden near the end. This moment mattered too much to give sitting down.
28:2 the footstool of the feet of our God God's throne is in heaven, and the ark under the cherubim was where His feet rested on earth, so to speak (Ps 132:7; Isa 66:1). A house of rest was a permanent home after centuries of moving.
28:3 you are a man of wars, and you have shed blood David told the whole nation the no God had given him. It takes humility to say publicly that God gave the honor of your dream to someone else.
28:4 the LORD, the God of Israel, chose me out of all the house of my father God chose Judah, then Jesse's house, then David. He was king by God's choice, not his own effort.
28:5 to sit on the throne of the kingdom of the LORD over Israel It is God's kingdom, and the king sits on it as His servant (17:14; 29:23).
28:7 if he is strong to do My commandments and My judgments The lasting line rested on God alone (17:11-14), and He kept it all the way to Jesus. But each king's blessing in his own day depended on obedience. Solomon turned in his old age, and the kingdom was torn after his death (1 Kgs 11:9-13). God kept the line. Solomon lost much of the blessing.
28:8 in the ears of our God, keep and seek all the commandments of the LORD your God God was listening as witness. Possessing the land was tied to obedience (Deut 4:1, 40), a sharp reminder to readers who had lost the land and come back.
28:9 know the God of your father and serve Him with a whole heart and with a willing soul To know God is more than knowing about Him. David wanted Solomon to know his father's God, not only inherit his throne.
28:9 if you forsake Him, He will reject you forever God is not hiding from anyone who truly seeks Him (Jer 29:13). I believe those truly born again are kept by God (John 10:28-29), but this warning is to be taken seriously, not argued away. It was spoken to a king under the old covenant about his reign, and it came true when Solomon's heart turned (1 Kgs 11:4). Each of us must seek the Lord for ourselves.
28:10 Be strong and act God's choice came with a job.
28:11 the house of the mercy seat The mercy seat was the gold lid of the ark, where atoning blood was sprinkled on the Day of Atonement (Lev 16:14-15). A pattern is a plan or model.
28:13 the divisions of the priests and the Levites The organization of chapters 23 to 26 was part of the plan. Building and worship went together.

articles of the silver by weight, for all articles of service and service; 15 and the weight of the lampstands of gold and their lamps of gold, by the weight of lampstand and lampstand and its lamps; and of the lampstands of silver by weight, of a lampstand and its lamps, according to the service of lampstand and lampstand; 16 and the gold by weight for the tables of the row, for table and table, and silver for the tables of silver; 17 and the forks and the sprinkling bowls and the jugs of pure gold; and for the bowls of gold by weight for bowl and bowl, and for the bowls of silver by weight for bowl and bowl; 18 and for the altar of incense refined gold by weight; and for the pattern of the chariot, the cherubim of gold, for spreading out and covering over the ark of the covenant of the LORD. 19 All this was in writing from the hand of the LORD on me; He made me understand all the works of the pattern. 20 And David said to Solomon his son, "Be strong and be courageous, and act; do not fear, and do not be dismayed, for the LORD God, my God, is with you. He will not let you go, and He will not forsake you, until all the work of the service of the house of the LORD is finished. 21 And look, the divisions of the priests and the Levites are for all the service of the house of God; and with you in all the work is every willing one with wisdom for every service; and the officials and all the people are at all your words."

The Gifts for the Temple

1 And David the king said to all the assembly, "Solomon (Shelomo) my son, the one whom God has chosen, is a youth and tender, and the work is great; for the palace is not for man, but for the LORD God. 2 And with all my power I have prepared for the house of my God the gold for the things of gold, and the silver for the things of silver, and the bronze for the things of bronze, the iron for the things of iron, and the wood for the things of wood, onyx stones and settings, stones of antimony and of variegated color, and every precious stone, and alabaster stones in abundance. 3 And moreover, in my delight in the house of my God, I have a treasure of gold and silver; I have given it for the house of my God, over and above all that I have prepared for the holy house: 4 approximately 225,000 pounds (three thousand talents) of gold, from the gold of Ophir (Ofir), and approximately 525,000 pounds (seven thousand talents) of refined silver, to overlay the walls of the houses; 5 the gold for the things of gold, and the silver for the things of silver, and for every work by the hand of craftsmen. And who is offering willingly to fill his hand today for the LORD?" 6 And the leaders of the fathers and the leaders of the tribes of Israel (Yisra'el), and the leaders of the thousands and of the hundreds, and the leaders of the work of the king offered willingly. 7 And they gave for the service of the house of God: gold, approximately 375,000 pounds (five thousand talents) and ten thousand darics; and silver, approximately 750,000 pounds (ten thousand talents); and bronze, approximately 1.35 million pounds (ten thousand and eight thousand talents); and iron, approximately 7.5 million pounds (one hundred thousand talents). 8 And the one with whom stones were found, they gave them to the treasury of the house of the LORD by the hand of Jehiel (Yechi'el) the Gershonite. 9 And the people rejoiced because of their offering willingly, for with a whole heart they offered willingly to the LORD; and also David the king rejoiced with great joy.

David's Prayer of Praise

28:18 the pattern of the chariot, the cherubim of gold The cherubim over the ark were pictured as God's chariot throne (Ezek 1; 10; 2 Chr 3:10-13). Every lamp and bowl had a set weight. What is given to God should be given carefully and fully.
28:19 All this was in writing from the hand of the LORD on me God gave David the pattern as He gave Moses the tabernacle's (Exod 25:9, 40). Scripture does not say exactly how. The earthly sanctuary was "a copy and shadow of the heavenly things" (Heb 8:5), and Christ entered heaven itself with His own blood (Heb 9:11-12, 24). The temple was a picture. Jesus is the reality.
28:20 He will not let you go, and He will not forsake you The words God spoke to Joshua (Josh 1:5-9). David pointed Solomon from his own strength to God's presence. Hebrews gives the promise to every believer: "I will certainly not leave you, nor will I ever forsake you" (Heb 13:5).
28:21 every willing one with wisdom for every service God gives His people both His presence and helpers for the work. What feels too big? Be strong and act.
29:1 the palace is not for man, but for the LORD God The word is used here for the temple, the house of the true King. David repeats 22:5: Solomon was young, and the work great.
29:3 In my delight in the house of my God His own personal fortune, over and above the kingdom's treasury. Ophir was famous for fine gold (29:4). David gave not out of duty but delight.
29:5 who is offering willingly to fill his hand today for the LORD To fill the hand was used of ordaining priests (Exod 28:41). He gave first, then asked. A leader cannot ask others to give what he will not give himself.
29:7 ten thousand darics A Persian gold coin that did not exist in David's day. The writer gives the value in his readers' coin, a sign Chronicles was written after the exile, under Persian rule.
29:9 with a whole heart they offered willingly to the LORD The joy came from the giving. "God loves a cheerful giver" (2 Cor 9:7). Joy in giving is one of the surest signs your heart belongs to the Lord.
29:10 from everlasting and to everlasting To bless the LORD is to praise Him and speak well of Him. Israel our father means Jacob (Gen 32:28). Before the first gift God was, and after the temple is gone He will be. Every good prayer starts with God.
29:11 To You, O LORD, is the greatness and the might and the splendor and the preeminence and the majesty David piled up words because no one word was enough. The most powerful king Israel ever had said the kingdom is not mine but Yours. The SLB ends the Lord's Prayer, "For Yours is the kingdom and the power and the glory into the ages" (Matt 6:13).

in the heavens and on the earth; to You, O LORD, is the kingdom, and the One lifting Himself up over all as head. 12 And the riches and the glory are from before You, and You are ruling over all; and in Your hand are power and might, and in Your hand it is to make great and to strengthen all. 13 And now, our God, we are giving thanks to You and praising the name of Your splendor. 14 And indeed, who am I, and who are my people, that we should retain strength to offer willingly like this? For everything is from You, and from Your hand we have given to You. 15 For we are sojourners before You, and resident aliens, like all our fathers; like the shadow are our days on the earth, and there is no hope. 16 O LORD our God, all this abundance that we have prepared to build for You a house for the name of Your holiness, it is from Your hand, and everything is Yours. 17 And I know, my God, that You are testing the heart, and You take pleasure in uprightness. I, in the uprightness of my heart, have offered willingly all these things; and now Your people who are found here I have seen with joy offering willingly to You. 18 O LORD, the God of Abraham (Avraham), Isaac (Yitschaq), and Israel, our fathers, keep this forever for the inclination of the thoughts of the heart of Your people, and prepare their heart toward You. 19 And to Solomon my son give a whole heart to keep Your commandments, Your testimonies, and Your statutes, and to do everything, and to build the palace which I have prepared."

Solomon Made King

20 And David said to all the assembly, "Bless, please, the LORD your God." And all the assembly blessed the LORD, the God of their fathers, and they bowed low and bowed down to the LORD and to the king. 21 And they sacrificed sacrifices to the LORD and offered up burnt offerings to the LORD on the day after that day: a thousand bulls, a thousand rams, a thousand lambs, and their drink offerings, and sacrifices in abundance for all Israel. 22 And they ate and drank before the LORD on that day with great joy. And they made Solomon the son of David king a second time, and they anointed him for the LORD as ruler, and Zadok (Tsadoq) as priest. 23 And Solomon sat on the throne of the LORD as king in place of David his father, and he prospered; and all Israel listened to him. 24 And all the leaders and the mighty men, and also all the sons of King David, gave a hand under Solomon the king. 25 And the LORD made Solomon exceedingly great in the eyes of all Israel, and He put on him the majesty of kingship which had not been on any king before him over Israel.

29:30 Dan 4:23,25; 2 Kgs 10:34; 2 Kgs 14:28

29:12 the riches and the glory are from before You David had been made great, but he knew who made him so. What we have, we have been given.
29:13 we are giving thanks to You and praising the name of Your splendor Praise is about who God is. Thanks is about what He has done.
29:14 everything is from You, and from Your hand we have given to You After all the gold was given, David felt small, as in 17:16. We never give God anything not His first. "What do you have which you did not receive?" (1 Cor 4:7). That takes away pride, and fear too.
29:15 we are sojourners before You, and resident aliens, like all our fathers Living in a land not one's own, as the patriarchs did (Gen 23:4). Life is "a vapor that appears for a little while and then vanishes" (James 4:14). The saints of old confessed they were strangers on the earth (Heb 11:13; 1 Pet 2:11).
29:15 there is no hope No hope of staying, no lasting place on earth. The word can mean something that abides. David was not saying there is no hope in God. What we keep slips away. What we give to God lasts.
29:17 You are testing the heart, and You take pleasure in uprightness God does not weigh the gold. He weighs the heart. Uprightness is a heart with nothing crooked in it. Jesus praised the widow who gave two small coins (Mark 12:41-44).
29:18 prepare their heart toward You The inclination of the thoughts means the way the heart leans. Hearts drift, and we cannot keep them turned toward God by our own strength (1 Thess 3:13).
29:19 to Solomon my son give a whole heart Commandments, testimonies and statutes are three words for God's Word. David's last prayer for his son was for an undivided heart, not riches. Solomon's later turning shows a father's prayers do not take away a son's own choices, but God answered much of it. Parents, keep praying for your children's hearts.
29:21 a thousand bulls, a thousand rams, a thousand lambs A drink offering was wine poured out with a sacrifice. Many were peace offerings, shared in a feast with great joy (29:22).
29:22 they made Solomon the son of David king a second time The first was the hurried anointing during Adonijah's attempt (1 Kgs 1:32-40; 23:1). The word Messiah means anointed one. Every anointed king of David's line pointed ahead to Jesus the Christ.
29:23 Solomon sat on the throne of the LORD as king As in 17:14 and 28:5, David's throne was God's throne on earth.
29:24 gave a hand under Solomon the king A pledge of loyalty. Even the brothers who might have competed swore allegiance.
29:25 the LORD made Solomon exceedingly great in the eyes of all Israel God kept His word to David. Another Son of David will sit on that throne, and every knee will bow (Phil 2:10-11; Luke 1:32-33). Christ's majesty will be greater, and it will have no end.
29:27 the days which he reigned over Israel were forty years Seven in Hebron and thirty-three in Jerusalem, about 1010 to 970 B.C. Son of Jesse reminds us he began as the youngest son of a shepherd family in Bethlehem (29:26).
29:28 he died in a good old age, satisfied with days, riches, and honor He "served the purpose of God in his own generation" (Acts 13:36). A good epitaph for any believer.
29:29 in the words of Samuel the seer, and in the words of Nathan the prophet, and in the words of Gad the seer The older prophetic records, much of which we have in Samuel. The book ends where it has been heading: David's line secure, his son on the throne of the LORD, the house ready, and the promise passed on to Jesus Christ, the Son of David, who lives forever.

and the times that passed over him and over Israel and over all the kingdoms of the lands.

2 CHRONICLES

Introduction

Title

The book takes its English name from Jerome, who called it a chronicle of the whole sacred history. In the Hebrew Bible, 1 and 2 Chronicles were one book, and it stands last of all, among the Writings, so the Hebrew Bible closes with Cyrus' words, "let him go up" (36:23). The Greek translators split it in two and called it the things left out, because it adds much that Samuel and Kings do not tell. Our English Bibles place it among the historical books, after 2 Kings.

Author and Date

The book does not name its writer. Jewish tradition holds that Ezra the priest and scribe wrote Chronicles. The last two verses of 2 Chronicles are the same as the first verses of Ezra (36:22-23; Ezra 1:1-3), and the two books share the same love for the temple, the priests and Levites, and the Law of Moses. Many modern scholars speak of an unnamed writer they call the Chronicler and date the book later, about 400 to 300 B.C. I take the traditional view as likely, and the notes call the writer the Chronicler either way. It was most likely written about 450 to 430 B.C., in the time of Ezra and Nehemiah, though some date it to about 400 B.C. The family line of David in 1 Chronicles 3 runs several generations past Zerubbabel, which fits a date in the 400s B.C. The Chronicler names many of his sources, the book of the kings of Judah and Israel and the writings of prophets such as Nathan, Iddo, Jehu and Isaiah (9:29; 20:34; 32:32), and he clearly knew Samuel and Kings.

Background and Setting

2 Chronicles covers more than four hundred years, from the start of Solomon's reign about 970 B.C. to the fall of Jerusalem in 586 B.C., and then jumps ahead to the decree of Cyrus in 538 B.C. Solomon began the temple about 966 B.C., and the kingdom divided about 930 B.C. Unlike Kings, the book follows only Judah and the line of David. The northern kingdom appears only when it touches Judah. Almost everything happens in Judah and Jerusalem, centered on the temple on Mount Moriah.

The first readers were Jews who had come home from exile in Babylon. They had a rebuilt temple but no king, and they lived under Persia. Chronicles told them who they were, reminded them that God's covenant with David still stood, and showed them the way forward: seek the LORD and worship Him as He commanded. That is why the book says so much about the temple, the priests and Levites, the music of worship and the prayers of the kings, and why it leaves out much of the northern kingdom and some sins of David and Solomon its readers already knew from Kings.

The reign dates in the notes follow one standard set, the dates worked out by Edwin Thiele, and are given with "about," because some kings ruled alongside their fathers for a time. Where Kings and Chronicles give different numbers, the notes say so and give the common explanations, such as a copying error in a number or a difference in what was counted. Some army numbers are very large. I take them as written, and mention that some scholars read the Hebrew word for "thousand" as a military unit or clan.

Themes

The theme of 2 Chronicles is that God hears and restores those who seek Him. Every king is measured by whether he sought the LORD or forsook Him. God put it into words in His answer to Solomon: if "My people, over whom My name is called, humble themselves, and pray, and seek My face, and turn from their evil ways," then He will hear, forgive and heal (7:14). The prophet Azariah said it plainly to Asa: "The LORD is with you while you are with Him" (15:2).

The rest of the book shows that promise at work. Rehoboam humbles himself and is spared (12:6-7). Asa leans on the LORD against a vast army (14:11). Jehoshaphat's people fast and pray and learn that "the battle is not yours, but God's" (20:15). Hezekiah opens the temple doors and God heals the people (30:18-20). Even Manasseh, the worst king of all, humbles himself in chains in Babylon and is brought home (33:12-13). Hanani said it best: "the LORD, His eyes are roving in all the earth to show Himself strong with those whose heart is complete toward Him" (16:9).

The book is also honest about how kings finish. Asa, Joash, Amaziah and Uzziah start well and end badly, and the question of the whole book is whether a heart will humble itself. Its loudest message is hope. No king and no people are so far gone that God will not hear them when they turn back to Him.

Christ in 2 Chronicles

2 Chronicles is built on God's promise to David that his son would build God's house and that God would establish his throne forever (1 Chr 17:11-14). The kings of David's line sat on the throne until 586 B.C., and then the throne was empty. But the promise was not broken. The angel told Mary that God would give her Son "the throne of David His father" (Luke 1:32). The temple, where God put His name and His glory dwelt, points to Jesus, who spoke of His body as the temple (John 2:19-21) and in whom "the Word became flesh and dwelt among us" (John 1:14). Solomon asked, "will God really dwell with mankind on the earth?" (6:18), and Bethlehem is God's answer. Jesus said that in Him "something greater than Solomon is here" (Matt 12:42). The sacrifices that opened the way to God point to His one sacrifice (Heb 10:10-12), and Uzziah's sin shows why only God's appointed King-Priest can join the two offices (Ps 110:4; Heb 7:1-3). The book's last word, that God's people may go up to build His house, looks ahead to the Son of David who will one day reign in Jerusalem over all the earth.

Hard Passages

Does 7:14 promise revival to modern nations? The notes read it first as God's promise to Israel in the land under the covenant of Moses, then apply its principle to believers today (James 4:6-10; 1 John 1:9), without making it a contract with any modern country.

The covenant of 15:13 called for death for those who would not seek the LORD. It came from the Law given to Israel as a nation under God's direct rule (Deut 13:6-10). It is not a pattern for the church or any government. Faith that is forced is not faith.

Did God send a lying spirit to Ahab (18:18-22)? God cannot lie. Ahab had already chosen the lie, and God gave him over to it, while warning him plainly through Micaiah. The notes give the main ways teachers read the vision.

Several passages tell of great cruelty: Jehoram's murder of his brothers (21:4), Athaliah's attempt to destroy the royal line (22:10), the stoning of Zechariah (24:20-22), the Edomite captives thrown from the cliff (25:12), child sacrifice under Ahaz and Manasseh (28:3; 33:6), and the slaughter when Jerusalem fell (36:17). The notes speak of them plainly and briefly, as Scripture does, without approving what Scripture only records.

Chronicles and Kings sometimes give different numbers, such as Ahaziah's age (22:2) and Jehoiachin's (36:9). The notes give the common explanations, most often a copying error in a number. Elijah's letter (21:12) and the seventy years (36:21) are also explained in the notes.

2 CHRONICLES

2 CHRONICLES 1

Solomon Seeks the LORD at Gibeon

1 And Solomon (Shelomo) the son of David strengthened himself over his kingdom, and the LORD his God was with him and made him exceedingly great. 2 And Solomon spoke to all Israel (Yisra'el), to the commanders of the thousands and of the hundreds, and to the judges, and to every leader of all Israel, the heads of the fathers. 3 And Solomon and all the assembly with him went to the high place which was at Gibeon (Givon), for there was the tent of meeting of God, which Moses (Moshe) the servant of the LORD had made in the wilderness. 4 But the ark of God David had brought up from Kiriath-jearim (Qiryat-Ye'arim) to the place that David had prepared for it, for he had pitched a tent for it in Jerusalem (Yerushalayim). 5 And the altar of bronze which Bezalel (Betsalel) the son of Uri, the son of Hur (Chur), had made, he had put before the tabernacle of the LORD; and Solomon and the assembly sought it. 6 And Solomon went up there to the altar of bronze before the LORD, which was at the tent of meeting, and he offered up on it a thousand burnt offerings.

Solomon Asks for Wisdom

7 In that night God appeared to Solomon and said to him, "Ask what I shall give to you." 8 And Solomon said to God, "You Yourself have done great steadfast love with David my father, and You have made me king in place of him. 9 Now, O LORD God, let Your word with David my father be confirmed, for You Yourself have made me king over a people numerous like the dust of the earth. 10 Now give me wisdom and knowledge, and let me go out before this people and let me come in; for who will judge this great people of Yours?" 11 And God said to Solomon, "Because this was with your heart, and you have not asked for riches, wealth, and honor, and the life of those who hate you, and also many days you have not asked for, and you have asked for yourself wisdom and knowledge that you may judge My people over whom I have made you king, 12 the wisdom and the knowledge are given to you; and riches and wealth and honor I will give to you, which has not been so for the kings who were before you, and after you it will not be so." 13 And Solomon came from the high place which was at Gibeon to Jerusalem, from before the tent of meeting, and he reigned over Israel.

Solomon's Wealth

14 And Solomon gathered chariotry and horsemen, and he had one thousand four hundred chariots and twelve thousand horsemen, and he placed them in the cities of the chariotry and with the king in Jerusalem. 15 And the king made the silver and the gold in Jerusalem like the stones, and the cedars he made like the sycamores which are in the Shephelah, for abundance. 16 And the export of the horses which

1:1 the LORD his God was with him and made him exceedingly great Solomon's greatness came from God. The Chronicler wrote for Jews home from exile in Babylon with no king and little power. He wanted them to know that real strength does not come from armies or gold. It comes from the LORD being with His people. That is still true for us.
1:3 the high place which was at Gibeon A high place was a hilltop place of worship. Later in this book high places are usually bad, places of idols or of worship God had not approved. Gibeon was different, because the tabernacle Moses made in the wilderness still stood there, with Bezalel's bronze altar (Exod 38:1-2).
1:4 he had pitched a tent for it in Jerusalem The ark of the covenant, the gold-covered chest that held the tablets of the Law, was no longer with the old tent. David had brought it to Jerusalem (1 Chr 15-16). For a time Israel's worship was split between two places.
1:5 Solomon and the assembly sought it "Sought" is one of the great words of Chronicles. To seek God is to turn to Him, depend on Him and worship Him. The new king began his reign on his knees, with "a thousand burnt offerings," animals wholly burned on the altar as a sign of complete devotion. What would it look like for us to begin each new season the same way?
1:7 Ask what I shall give to you God put no limit on the offer. 1 Kings 3:5 tells us it came in a dream. I believe it was a test of Solomon's heart. What we ask for when we can ask for anything shows what we really love.
1:8 You Yourself have done great steadfast love with David my father Solomon's answer starts with God, not with himself. Steadfast love is the Hebrew word hesed, God's loyal covenant love that keeps its promises. Solomon saw his own throne as proof of God's faithfulness to David.
1:9 a people numerous like the dust of the earth An echo of God's promise to Abraham (Gen 13:16). Solomon prayed God's word back to Him and admitted the job was too big for him.
1:10 who will judge this great people of Yours To "go out" and "come in" before the people is a Hebrew way of saying to lead them in daily life and in war. Notice "Yours." Solomon knew Israel was God's people, not his. Every leader, pastor and parent needs to remember that the people we lead belong to God.
1:12 riches and wealth and honor I will give to you Solomon asked for wisdom to serve others, and God added what he did not ask. Jesus taught the same: "seek first the kingdom of God and His righteousness, and all these things will be added to you" (Matt 6:33). God gives wisdom to anyone who asks in faith (James 1:5). You do not have to be a king to ask.
1:13 he reigned over Israel The reign grew out of that night at Gibeon. Solomon received wisdom from God first, and then he ruled. Both Kings and Chronicles show that his later life did not match this good start.
1:15 made the silver and the gold in Jerusalem like the stones God kept His word right away. Cedar, a costly wood, was as common as the sycamore figs of the Shephelah, the low hills west of Judah. The same report appears in 9:25-28 and 1 Kings 10:26-29.
1:16 the export of the horses which Solomon had was from Egypt and from Kue Kue was an area in what is now southern Turkey. A careful reader of the Law feels a warning here. Moses said the king must not multiply horses, send the people back to Egypt for them, or multiply silver and gold (Deut 17:16-17). The gifts were good. The danger was letting the gifts take the place of the Giver, and that danger is ours too.

Solomon had was from Egypt (Mitsrayim) and from Kue (Qeve); the traders of the king would take them from Kue at a price. 17 And they brought up and brought out from Egypt a chariot for approximately 15 pounds (six hundred shekels) of silver, and a horse for approximately 3.75 pounds (a hundred and fifty shekels); and thus for all the kings of the Hittites and the kings of Syria (Aram), by their hand they brought them out.

Solomon Prepares to Build the Temple

1 And Solomon (Shelomo) said to build a house for the name of the LORD and a house for his kingship. 2 And Solomon counted seventy thousand men, burden bearers, and eighty thousand men, stonecutters in the hill country, and overseers over them, three thousand six hundred. 3 And Solomon sent to Hiram (Churam) the king of Tyre (Tsor), saying, "Just as you dealt with David my father, and you sent him cedars to build for him a house to dwell in, 4 look, I am about to build a house for the name of the LORD my God, to consecrate it to Him, to burn before Him incense of fragrant spices, and the continual row, and burnt offerings for the morning and for the evening, for the Sabbaths and for the new moons and for the appointed times of the LORD our God; this is on Israel (Yisra'el) forever. 5 And the house which I am about to build will be great, for our God is great above all the gods. 6 And who will retain strength to build Him a house, for the heavens and the heavens of the heavens do not contain Him? And who am I that I should build Him a house, except to burn incense before Him? 7 And now send me a skillful man to work in gold and in silver and in bronze and in iron and in purple and crimson and blue, and who knows how to engrave engravings, with the skillful men who are with me in Judah (Yehuda) and in Jerusalem (Yerushalayim), whom David my father prepared. 8 And send me timber of cedars, cypresses, and algums from Lebanon (Levanon), for I know that your servants know how to cut the timber of Lebanon; and look, my servants will be with your servants, 9 and to prepare for me timber in abundance, for the house which I am about to build will be great and wonderful. 10 And look, to the woodcutters, to those who cut the timber, I give to your servants crushed wheat, approximately 120,000 bushels (twenty thousand kors), and barley, approximately 120,000 bushels (twenty thousand kors), and wine, approximately 120,000 gallons (twenty thousand baths), and oil, approximately 120,000 gallons (twenty thousand baths)."

Hiram's Answer

11 And Hiram the king of Tyre said in a writing, and he sent it to Solomon: "Because the LORD loves His people, He has given you as king over them." 12 And Hiram said, "Blessed be the LORD, the God of Israel, who made the heavens and the earth, who has given to David the king a wise son, knowing insight and understanding, who will build a house for the LORD and a house for his kingship. 13 And now I have sent a skillful man, knowing understanding, Huram-abi (Churam-Avi), 14 the son of a woman from the daughters of Dan, and his father was a Tyrian man, knowing how to work in gold and in silver, in bronze, in iron, in stones and in wood, in purple, in blue, and in fine linen and in crimson, and to engrave every engraving and to devise every design which will be given to him, with your skillful men and the skillful men of my lord David your father. 15 And now the wheat and the barley, the oil and the wine, which my lord has said, let him send to his servants. 16 And we will cut timber from Lebanon according to all your need, and we will bring it to you as rafts on the sea to Joppa (Yafo); and you will

2:1 a house for the name of the LORD and a house for his kingship The temple came first, and Chronicles says very little about the palace. In the Bible a name stands for the person himself. God would put His name there, making Himself known and meeting His people there (Deut 12:5).
2:2 seventy thousand men, burden bearers Verses 17-18 tell us these workers were foreigners living in the land. This was a huge project, and Solomon planned it carefully. Good work for God still takes planning.
2:3 Hiram the king of Tyre Tyre was the great Phoenician seaport north of Israel. Hiram had sent cedars for David's palace (1 Chr 14:1).
2:4 the continual row The bread of the presence, kept on a gold table before God. With incense, daily burnt offerings, Sabbaths, new moons and feasts, worship was Israel's calling: "this is on Israel forever."
2:6 the heavens and the heavens of the heavens do not contain Him Solomon wanted the building to fit the God it was for, but he knew no building could. He says it again at the dedication (6:18). The richest king on earth still asked, "who am I?" God does not need our buildings or our work (Acts 17:24-25). He lets us serve Him because He is gracious.
2:10 to the woodcutters, to those who cut the timber Solomon paid generously and honestly. 1 Kings 5:11 describes a yearly payment for Hiram's household, which seems to be a different payment from this one for the workers. Christians who work for the Lord should be the most honest people in any deal.
2:11 Because the LORD loves His people, He has given you as king over them Striking words from a Gentile king, who also blessed the God "who made the heavens and the earth." We don't know whether Hiram truly turned to the LORD or was being a polite trading partner. But what he said was true. A good king is a gift of God's love for His people.
2:14 the son of a woman from the daughters of Dan 1 Kings 7:13-14 says his mother was a widow of the tribe of Naphtali. She may have been of Dan by birth and lived in Naphtali's land, or been widowed in Naphtali and later married a man of Tyre. Scripture does not say which. Huram-abi recalls Bezalel and Oholiab, the tabernacle craftsmen (Exod 31:1-6). God values skilled hands.
2:16 as rafts on the sea to Joppa Joppa was the seaport about 35 miles west of Jerusalem. After the exile, cedar came the same way for the second temple (Ezra 3:7). The Chronicler's first readers were doing the work their fathers had done.

Solomon Builds the Temple

1 And Solomon (Shelomo) began to build the house of the LORD in Jerusalem (Yerushalayim) on the mountain of Moriah (Moriya), where He had appeared to David his father, which he had prepared in the place of David, on the threshing floor of Ornan the Jebusite. 2 And he began to build in the second month, on the second day, in the fourth year of his reign. 3 And these are what Solomon founded to build the house of God: the length, in cubits by the former measurement, was approximately 90 feet (sixty cubits), and the breadth approximately 30 feet (twenty cubits). 4 And the porch which was on the front, its length on the front of the breadth of the house was approximately 30 feet (twenty cubits), and the height approximately 180 feet (a hundred and twenty cubits); and he overlaid it within with pure gold. 5 And the great house he covered with timber of cypresses, and he covered it with good gold, and he put up on it palm trees and chains. 6 And he overlaid the house with precious stone for splendor; and the gold was gold of Parvaim (Parvayim). 7 And he covered the house, the beams, the thresholds, and its walls and its doors, with gold; and he engraved cherubim on the walls.

The Holy of Holies

8 And he made the house of the holy of holies: its length, on the front of the breadth of the house, was approximately 30 feet (twenty cubits), and its breadth approximately 30 feet (twenty cubits); and he covered it with good gold, to approximately 45,000 pounds (six hundred talents). 9 And the weight for the nails was approximately 20 ounces (fifty shekels) of gold; and the upper rooms he covered with gold. 10 And he made in the house of the holy of holies two cherubim, a work of castings, and they overlaid them with gold. 11 And the wings of the cherubim, their length was approximately 30 feet (twenty cubits): the wing of the one, approximately 7.5 feet (five cubits), was touching the wall of the house, and the other wing, approximately 7.5 feet (five cubits), was touching the wing of the other cherub. 12 And the wing of the one cherub, approximately 7.5 feet (five cubits), was touching the wall of the house, and the other wing, approximately 7.5 feet (five cubits), was clinging to the wing of the other cherub. 13 The wings of these cherubim were spreading out approximately 30 feet (twenty cubits); and they were standing on their feet, and their faces were toward the house. 14 And he made the veil of blue and purple and crimson and fine linen, and he put up cherubim on it.

The Two Pillars

15 And he made before the house two pillars, approximately 52.5 feet (thirty and five cubits) in length, and the capital which was on its top approximately 7.5 feet (five cubits). 16 And he made chains in the inner room and put them on

2:17 the sojourners who were in the land of Israel A sojourner was a foreigner living among Israel, many of them from the Canaanite peoples left in the land (8:7-8). Chronicles gives 3,600 overseers here and 250 chiefs in 8:10. Kings gives 3,300 and 550 (1 Kgs 5:16; 9:23). Both total 3,850, counting the ranks differently. A temple built by many nations for the one true God is a small picture of the house of living stones God is building now (Eph 2:19-22; 1 Pet 2:5).

3:1 on the mountain of Moriah The only place outside Genesis where Moriah is named. There God sent Abraham to offer Isaac and provided a ram in his place (Gen 22:2, 13), and many believe it was the same ridge. Here too David offered sacrifice on Ornan's threshing floor and the plague stopped (1 Chr 21; Ornan is Araunah in 2 Sam 24). The temple stood on ground marked twice by God's mercy through sacrifice. Nearly a thousand years later, just outside that city, God gave His own Son (Rom 8:32).

3:2 in the fourth year of his reign The second month is about April and May. By the dates this study follows, about 966 B.C., the 480th year after the exodus (1 Kgs 6:1).

3:3 in cubits by the former measurement A cubit was elbow to fingertip, about 18 inches. "Former" points to the older, longer cubit, a sign the writer lived in a later age. The house was about twice the size of the tabernacle. It was not a hall for crowds, who gathered in the courts. It was God's dwelling, where only the priests went in.

3:4 the height approximately 180 feet A hundred and twenty cubits would make a tall tower over a building only thirty cubits high (1 Kgs 6:2). Some old Greek and Syriac copies read twenty, and many think a copyist's error crept in. Others think the porch really was a tower. I take the text as we have it and admit the question is open.

3:7 he engraved cherubim on the walls Cherubim are a high order of angels who guard God's holiness and surround His throne (Gen 3:24; Ezek 10). "Gold of Parvaim" (3:6) probably names a place known for fine gold. All this beauty was for the King of kings, a picture on earth of God's glory in heaven (Heb 8:5).

3:8 the house of the holy of holies The inner room was a perfect cube, twenty cubits each way (1 Kgs 6:20). Only the high priest entered, once a year on the Day of Atonement, with blood (Lev 16). The New Jerusalem is a cube too (Rev 21:16), and many see the whole eternal city as God's holy of holies, where His people "will see His face" (Rev 22:4).

3:10 two cherubim, a work of castings Each stood ten cubits tall (1 Kgs 6:23), and their wings reached wall to wall over the ark, which had its own small cherubim on the mercy seat (Exod 25:18-22). God is the One enthroned above the cherubim (1 Chr 13:6). The holy of holies was His throne room on earth.

3:14 he made the veil A heavy curtain between the holy place and the holy of holies, a constant message that sinful people cannot simply walk into a holy God's presence. Kings also speaks of olive wood doors (1 Kgs 6:31-32), so the temple seems to have had both. When Jesus died, the veil of the temple of His day was torn from top to bottom (Matt 27:51), and now we enter by His blood, through His flesh (Heb 10:19-20). What the veil kept closed, Christ opened.

3:15 two pillars, approximately 52.5 feet in length Thirty-five cubits here, eighteen for each pillar in 1 Kings 7:15 and Jeremiah 52:21. A common explanation is that Chronicles gives the two together, while Kings gives each one. Others think a number was miscopied. Either way they were huge hollow bronze columns.

The Altar, the Sea and the Lavers

1 And he made an altar of bronze: its length was approximately 30 feet (twenty cubits), and its breadth approximately 30 feet (twenty cubits), and its height approximately 15 feet (ten cubits). 2 And he made the sea, cast, approximately 15 feet (ten by the cubit) from its brim to its brim, round all around, and its height approximately 7.5 feet (five by the cubit); and a line of approximately 45 feet (thirty by the cubit) would go around it all around. 3 And the likeness of oxen was under it, all around, all around, surrounding it, ten in approximately 18 inches (a cubit), encircling the sea all around; the oxen were two rows, cast in its casting. 4 It was standing on twelve oxen: three turning northward, and three turning westward, and three turning southward, and three turning eastward; and the sea was on them above, and all their hindquarters were inward. 5 And its thickness was approximately 3 inches (a handbreadth), and its brim was like the work of the brim of a cup, a blossom of lily; holding, it would contain approximately 18,000 gallons (three thousand baths). 6 And he made ten lavers, and he put five on the right and five on the left, to wash in them; the work of the burnt offering they would rinse in them; and the sea was for the priests to wash in. 7 And he made the lampstands of gold, ten, according to their ordinance, and he put them in the temple, five on the right and five on the left. 8 And he made ten tables and placed them in the temple, five on the right and five on the left; and he made a hundred bowls of gold. 9 And he made the court of the priests and the great enclosure, and doors for the enclosure, and their doors he overlaid with bronze. 10 And the sea he put on the right side, eastward, opposite the south.

Huram-abi's Bronze Work

11 And Hiram (Churam) made the pots and the shovels and the bowls. And Hiram finished doing the work which he did for King Solomon (Shelomo) on the house of God: 12 two pillars, and the bowls and the capitals on the top of the two pillars, and the two networks to cover the two bowls of the capitals which were on the top of the pillars; 13 and the four hundred pomegranates for the two networks, two rows of pomegranates for the one network, to cover the two bowls of the capitals which were on the face of the pillars. 14 And the stands he made, and the lavers he made on the stands; 15 the one sea, and the twelve oxen under it; 16 and the pots and the shovels and the forks and all their utensils Huram-abi (Churam-Avi) made for King Solomon for the house of the LORD, of polished bronze. 17 In the plain of the Jordan (Yarden) the king cast them, in the thickness of the ground, between Succoth (Sukot) and Zeredah (Tsereda). 18 And Solomon made all these utensils in abundance, exceedingly, for the weight of the bronze was not searched out.

The Gold Furnishings

19 And Solomon made all the utensils which were for the house of God, and the altar of the gold, and the tables, and on them the bread of the presence; 20 and the lampstands and their lamps, to burn them according to the ordinance before

3:17 Jachin, and the name of the left one Boaz Jachin means He establishes, and Boaz most take to mean in Him is strength. Every worshiper passed between two bronze sermons, which also echoed God's promise to establish David's son (1 Chr 17:11-12). Our lives, families and churches stand only because God establishes them (Ps 127:1).
4:1 he made an altar of bronze About 30 feet square and 15 feet high, far larger than the tabernacle altar (Exod 27:1). The altar of burnt offering was the first thing a worshiper met, and its message was plain: without the shedding of blood there is no forgiveness (Heb 9:22). The cross is the first place any sinner must come today.
4:2 he made the sea, cast A giant round bronze basin about 15 feet across. Some say a line of thirty cubits around a circle ten cubits across is a mistake in math. The width was probably taken across the flared rim and the line measured lower down. The text gives round numbers and is not in error.
4:3 the likeness of oxen 1 Kings 7:24 says gourds. The two Hebrew words look much alike, and many think a copyist confused them, or that the knobs combined both shapes. The twelve oxen beneath (4:4) may have stood for the twelve tribes.
4:5 it would contain approximately 18,000 gallons Three thousand baths here and two thousand in 1 Kings 7:26. A common explanation is normal load versus full capacity filled to the brim. Others think a number was miscopied.
4:6 the sea was for the priests to wash in Under the Law the priests washed before serving, or they would die (Exod 30:17-21). Those who come near a holy God must be cleansed. Today Christ cleanses us through "the washing of regeneration" (Titus 3:5) and forgives and cleanses when we confess (1 John 1:9).
4:7 the lampstands of gold, ten The tabernacle had one lampstand and one table (Exod 25:23-40), and Solomon multiplied them. The holy place had little daylight. Jesus said, "I am the light of the world" (John 8:12) and "I am the bread of life" (John 6:35). Scripture does not tie these pieces to Him directly, but the pictures fit His own words.
4:9 the court of the priests and the great enclosure The inner court held the priests and the altar, and the great court held the people. Each step inward was closer to God and more restricted. In Christ the way into God's presence is open to every believer (Heb 10:19-22).
4:17 In the plain of the Jordan the king cast them The thick clay of the Jordan valley was good for molds for huge castings.
4:18 the weight of the bronze was not searched out Much of it came from David's victories over Hadadezer (1 Chr 18:8). What David won in battle, Solomon used for worship. Work done for God in one generation often bears fruit in the next.
4:19 the altar of the gold The altar of incense before the veil (Exod 30:1-10). Its rising smoke pictured the prayers of God's people (Ps 141:2; Rev 8:3-4).

the inner room, of refined gold; 21 and the blossom and the lamps and the tongs of gold; it was the perfection of gold; 22 and the snuffers and the bowls and the pans and the fire pans of refined gold; and the entrance of the house, its inner doors to the holy of holies, and the doors of the house, of the temple, of gold.

The Ark Brought into the Temple

1 And all the work which Solomon (Shelomo) did for the house of the LORD was complete. And Solomon brought in the holy things of David his father, and the silver and the gold and all the utensils he put in the treasuries of the house of God. 2 Then Solomon assembled the elders of Israel (Yisra'el) and all the heads of the tribes, the leaders of the fathers of the sons of Israel, to Jerusalem (Yerushalayim), to bring up the ark of the covenant of the LORD from the city of David; it is Zion (Tsiyon). 3 And every man of Israel assembled to the king at the feast; it was the seventh month. 4 And all the elders of Israel came, and the Levites lifted up the ark. 5 And they brought up the ark and the tent of meeting and all the utensils of holiness which were in the tent; the priests, the Levites, brought them up. 6 And King Solomon and all the congregation of Israel who were gathered to him before the ark were sacrificing sheep and cattle which could not be counted and could not be numbered for multitude. 7 And the priests brought in the ark of the covenant of the LORD to its place, to the inner room of the house, to the holy of holies, to under the wings of the cherubim. 8 And the cherubim were spreading out wings over the place of the ark, and the cherubim covered over the ark and over its poles from above. 9 And the poles were long, and the heads of the poles were seen from the ark on the front of the inner room, and they were not seen outside; and it has been there to this day. 10 There was nothing in the ark except the two tablets which Moses (Moshe) put there at Horeb (Chorev), where the LORD made a covenant with the sons of Israel when they came out from Egypt (Mitsrayim).

The Glory Fills the House

11 And it was, when the priests came out from the holy place (for all the priests who were found had consecrated themselves; there was no keeping to divisions), 12 and the Levites, the singers, all of them, Asaph (Asaf), Heman, Jeduthun (Yedutun), and their sons and their brothers, clothed in fine linen, with cymbals and with harps and lyres, were standing east of the altar, and with them a hundred and twenty priests blowing on trumpets; 13 and it was, as one, for the trumpeters and for the singers to make one voice heard, to praise and to give thanks to the LORD; and as they lifted up a voice with trumpets and with cymbals and with instruments of song, and in praising the LORD, "For He is good, for His steadfast love is forever," and the house was filled with a cloud, the house of the LORD, 14 and the priests were not able to stand to minister because of the cloud, for the glory of the LORD filled the house of God.

4:21 it was the perfection of gold Bronze outside, pure gold within. The farther in, the more precious the materials. When the second temple was founded, old men who remembered this one wept (Ezra 3:12), yet God promised the latter house greater glory (Hag 2:9). Many see that fulfilled when Jesus walked in it. God's glory is not in gold but in His presence.
5:1 brought in the holy things of David his father The building took seven years (1 Kgs 6:38). David had set apart silver, gold and utensils from his victories (1 Chr 18:11; 26:26). He never saw the temple, but his gifts were there and his songs would be sung in it. Many of us will labor for things we will not live to see finished. God keeps every gift given in faith.
5:2 from the city of David; it is Zion The city of David, also called Zion, was the older southern part of Jerusalem. The temple stood just north on higher ground, so the ark went "up." Its lid, the mercy seat, was where God said He would meet with Israel (Exod 25:22).
5:3 it was the seventh month The Feast of Booths, also called Tabernacles, in the fall, when Israel lived in shelters for a week to remember God's care in the wilderness (Lev 23:33-43).
5:4 the Levites lifted up the ark The Levites were the tribe set apart to serve at the sanctuary, and the priests were Aaron's family within it. This time the ark was carried God's way, on shoulders and not on a cart. David had learned that lesson when Uzzah died (1 Chr 13:9-10; 15:13-15).
5:6 which could not be counted and could not be numbered for multitude The tabernacle from Gibeon was retired and its holy things stored in the temple (5:5). All along the way joy overflowed in worship.
5:9 it has been there to this day The Chronicler was copying an older record written while the temple stood. By his day Solomon's temple had been burned and the ark was gone.
5:10 There was nothing in the ark except the two tablets Horeb is Mount Sinai. Hebrews 9:4 says the ark once held the jar of manna and Aaron's rod as well (Exod 16:33-34; Num 17:10). By Solomon's time only the tablets were left, and Scripture does not say what became of the others. At the center of Israel's worship lay God's Word. His presence and His Word always go together.
5:11 there was no keeping to divisions David had divided the priests into twenty-four groups that took turns (1 Chr 24). On this day every priest served. The Levite singers of 5:12 were David's music ministry (1 Chr 25), the same worship the returned exiles were rebuilding (Ezra 3:10-11).
5:13 For He is good, for His steadfast love is forever Hundreds of voices sounded as one, singing words that run through Chronicles and the Psalms (Ps 136:1). Steadfast love is hesed, God's loyal covenant love.
5:13 the house was filled with a cloud The cloud of the LORD's glory, the same cloud that filled the tabernacle when Moses finished it (Exod 40:34-35). God was not summoned by music, as if worship could control Him. But He was pleased to come as His people honored Him with one voice.
5:14 the priests were not able to stand to minister When God shows up, human work stops. Real worship is not about how well we perform. It is about God being present. Today the Holy Spirit lives in every believer and in the church as God's temple (1 Cor 3:16; 6:19). Do we come to worship expecting to meet Him, or only expecting a program?

Solomon Blesses the Assembly

1 Then Solomon (Shelomo) said, "The LORD has said that He would dwell in the thick darkness. 2 And I, I have built a house of loftiness for You, and an established place for Your dwelling forever." 3 And the king turned his face around and blessed all the assembly of Israel (Yisra'el), and all the assembly of Israel was standing. 4 And he said, "Blessed be the LORD, the God of Israel, who spoke with His mouth with David my father, and with His hands has fulfilled it, saying, 5 'Since the day that I brought out My people from the land of Egypt (Mitsrayim), I have not chosen a city from all the tribes of Israel to build a house for My name to be there, and I have not chosen a man to be ruler over My people Israel. 6 And I have chosen Jerusalem (Yerushalayim) for My name to be there, and I have chosen David to be over My people Israel.' 7 And it was with the heart of David my father to build a house for the name of the LORD, the God of Israel. 8 And the LORD said to David my father, 'Because it was with your heart to build a house for My name, you did well that it was with your heart. 9 Only you shall not build the house, but your son who comes out from your loins, he shall build the house for My name.' 10 And the LORD has established His word which He spoke; and I have risen in place of David my father, and I sit on the throne of Israel, just as the LORD spoke, and I have built the house for the name of the LORD, the God of Israel. 11 And I have put there the ark, where the covenant of the LORD is, which He made with the sons of Israel."

Solomon's Prayer of Dedication

12 And he stood before the altar of the LORD in front of all the assembly of Israel, and he spread out his palms. 13 For Solomon had made a platform of bronze and had put it in the midst of the enclosure; its length was approximately 7.5 feet (five cubits), and its breadth approximately 7.5 feet (five cubits), and its height approximately 4.5 feet (three cubits); and he stood on it, and he knelt on his knees in front of all the assembly of Israel, and he spread out his palms toward the heavens. 14 And he said, "O LORD, the God of Israel, there is no God like You in the heavens and on the earth, keeping the covenant and the steadfast love for Your servants who walk before You with all their heart; 15 who have kept for Your servant David my father what You spoke to him; and You spoke with Your mouth, and with Your hand You have fulfilled it, as it is this day. 16 And now, O LORD, the God of Israel, keep for Your servant David my father what You spoke to him, saying, 'A man shall not be cut off for you from before Me, sitting on the throne of Israel, if only your sons guard their way, to walk in My law just as you have walked before Me.' 17 And now, O LORD, the God of Israel, let Your word be confirmed which You spoke to Your servant, to David. 18 For will God really dwell with mankind on the earth? Look, the heavens and the heavens of the heavens do not contain You; how much less this house which I have built! 19 And turn to the prayer of Your servant and to his supplication, O LORD my God, to listen to the cry and to the prayer which Your servant is praying before You, 20 for Your eyes to be open toward this house day and night, toward the place where You have said to put Your name there, to listen to the prayer which Your servant prays toward this place. 21 And listen to the supplications of Your servant and of Your people Israel, which they pray toward this place; and You, may You hear from the place of Your dwelling, from the heavens; and hear, and forgive.

6:22 Exod 22:11; 1 Kgs 8:31,32; Lev 5:1

6:1 He would dwell in the thick darkness God came to Sinai in a thick cloud (Exod 19:9; 20:21), and now the cloud filled the windowless holy of holies. The darkness is not evil. It speaks of God's holiness and mystery. No sinful person can look on Him and live (Exod 33:20).
6:4 who spoke with His mouth with David my father, and with His hands has fulfilled it God's mouth promised, and God's hands did it.
6:6 I have chosen Jerusalem for My name to be there, and I have chosen David Chronicles stresses both choices. The returned exiles needed to know the exile had not canceled God's choice of Jerusalem and of David's line.
6:8 you did well that it was with your heart God sometimes says no to good desires. That does not mean the desire was wrong. David's longing was honored, and his son fulfilled it.
6:13 he knelt on his knees in front of all the assembly of Israel Only Chronicles tells of the bronze platform. The greatest king in the world climbed up where everyone could see him, and then knelt. He raised himself up so everyone could see him bow. A leader's highest place is on his knees before God.
6:14 there is no God like You in the heavens and on the earth Real prayer starts with God, not with our list. A covenant is a binding agreement in which God commits Himself to promises, and His hesed, His loyal love, is how He keeps them.
6:16 to walk in My law 1 Kings 8:25 says "walk before Me." Chronicles shows what walking before God means: living by His Word. Each king's blessing depended on obedience, but the everlasting throne finally rests on Jesus, to whom God gives "the throne of David His father" (Luke 1:32).
6:17 let Your word be confirmed Solomon prayed God's promise back to Him. When we pray what God has already said, we pray with confidence.
6:18 For will God really dwell with mankind on the earth Chronicles adds "with mankind." God is everywhere present (Ps 139:7-10) and needed no house. The temple was a gift of grace, where the infinite God chose to meet His people. The final answer to Solomon's question is yes: "the Word became flesh and dwelt among us" (John 1:14), and one day God's tabernacle will be with men forever (Rev 21:3).
6:21 hear, and forgive The people would pray toward the temple, but God would hear from heaven. The first thing Solomon asked was forgiveness. That is still our deepest need. We do not pray toward a building now. We pray through a Person, Jesus our High Priest (Heb 4:14-16).
6:22 before Your altar in this house The first of seven cases: a dispute human judges could not settle, settled by an oath before God (compare Exod 22:10-11). When human courts cannot see the truth, God can.

him to make him swear, and he comes and swears before Your altar in this house, 23 and You, may You hear from the heavens, and act, and judge Your servants, to repay the wicked, to put his way on his head, and to justify the righteous, to give to him according to his righteousness. 24 And if Your people Israel are struck down before an enemy because they sin against You, and they turn back and praise Your name, and pray and make supplication before You in this house, 25 and You, may You hear from the heavens, and forgive the sin of Your people Israel, and bring them back to the ground which You gave to them and to their fathers. 26 When the heavens are shut up and there is no rain because they sin against You, and they pray toward this place and praise Your name, and from their sin they turn back because You afflict them, 27 and You, may You hear in the heavens, and forgive the sin of Your servants and of Your people Israel, for You teach them the good way in which they shall walk; and give rain on Your land which You have given to Your people for an inheritance. 28 Famine, if it is in the land, pestilence, if it is, blight and mildew, locust and grasshopper, if it is, if its enemies besiege it in the land of its gates, any plague and any sickness, 29 any prayer, any supplication which there is from any man and from all Your people Israel, who know each his own plague and his own pain, and he spreads out his palms toward this house, 30 and You, may You hear from the heavens, the established place of Your dwelling, and forgive, and give to the man according to all his ways, whose heart You know (for You, You alone, know the heart of the sons of mankind), 31 so that they may fear You, to walk in Your ways all the days that they live on the face of the ground which You gave to our fathers. 32 And also to the foreigner who himself is not of Your people Israel, and he comes from a distant land for the sake of Your great name and Your mighty hand and Your outstretched arm, and they come and pray toward this house, 33 and You, may You hear from the heavens, from the established place of Your dwelling, and do according to all that the foreigner calls to You for, so that all the peoples of the earth may know Your name, and to fear You like Your people Israel, and to know that Your name has been called on this house which I have built. 34 When Your people go out to battle against its enemies by the way that You send them, and they pray to You in the direction of this city which You have chosen and the house which I have built for Your name, 35 and may You hear from the heavens their prayer and their supplication, and do justice for them. 36 When they sin against You (for there is no man who does not sin), and You are angry with them and give them up before an enemy, and their captors carry them captive to a land distant or near, 37 and they bring it back to their heart in the land where they have been carried captive, and they turn back and make supplication to You in the land of their captivity, saying, 'We have sinned, we have done perversely, and we have acted wickedly,' 38 and they turn back to You with all their heart and with all their soul in the land of their captivity where they have carried them captive, and they pray in the direction of their land which You gave to their fathers, and the city which You have chosen, and toward the house which I have built for Your name, 39 and may You hear from the heavens, from the established place of Your dwelling, their prayer and their supplications, and do justice for them, and forgive Your people who have sinned against You.

Arise, O LORD, to Your Resting Place

40 Now, my God, let Your eyes be open, please, and Your ears attentive to the prayer of this place. 41 And now arise, O LORD God, to Your resting place, You and the ark of Your strength. May Your priests, O LORD God, be clothed with salvation, and may Your godly ones rejoice in the good. 42 O LORD God, do not turn away the face of Your anointed;

6:25 bring them back to the ground which You gave to them and to their fathers Defeat in battle was a warned result of unfaithfulness (Deut 28:25). The pattern runs through this prayer: sin, discipline, turning back, prayer, forgiveness, restoration. God's discipline is meant to bring His people home.
6:27 teach them the good way in which they shall walk Drought in a land that lived on rain was life or death (Deut 11:16-17). Real repentance includes learning. It is not only feeling sorry. It is being taught by God to walk a new way.
6:30 You, You alone, know the heart of the sons of mankind God answers knowing exactly who is praying and why. The goal was that they would fear Him and walk in His ways (6:31). Answered prayer should lead us to honor Him more, not to forget Him once the trouble is past.
6:32 to the foreigner who himself is not of Your people Israel One of the most beautiful verses in the Old Testament. God's plan was always to bless all the families of the earth through Abraham (Gen 12:3). The temple was never a private club. Isaiah called it a house of prayer for all peoples, and Jesus quoted him when He cleansed the temple (Isa 56:7; Mark 11:17). Through Jesus the door is open to every nation (Eph 2:11-13).
6:34 by the way that You send them That is the condition: a battle God sent them to fight, not one they chose for their own glory. God's people were to depend on Him, not on horses and chariots (Ps 20:7).
6:36 for there is no man who does not sin Solomon knew human nature (Rom 3:23). The captivity Moses warned of (Lev 26:33; Deut 28:64) is the hardest case, and it came true when Jerusalem fell in 586 B.C.
6:37 We have sinned, we have done perversely, and we have acted wickedly In exile Daniel prayed almost these words (Dan 9:5), and God moved Cyrus to let the Jews go home in 538 B.C. (36:22-23). The Chronicler's first readers were living proof that God heard this prayer. No sin is so great that God will not hear the one who truly turns back to Him.
6:41 arise, O LORD God, to Your resting place Chronicles closes the prayer with words from Psalm 132:8-10, a psalm about David bringing the ark to Zion. After centuries of moving, the ark had a resting place, and Solomon invited God to take His throne there.
6:42 do not turn away the face of Your anointed "Anointed" is mashiach in Hebrew, our word Messiah. Here it is Solomon. His last plea rested not on his goodness but on God's steadfast love to David. Isaiah speaks of David's sure mercies (Isa 55:3), and Paul shows them fulfilled in the risen Jesus (Acts 13:34). Every prayer for mercy finally rests on God's promise to David's greater Son.

remember the steadfast loves of David Your servant."

2 CHRONICLES 7

Fire from Heaven

1 And as Solomon (Shelomo) finished praying, then the fire came down from the heavens, and it consumed the burnt offering and the sacrifices, and the glory of the LORD filled the house. 2 And the priests were not able to go into the house of the LORD, for the glory of the LORD had filled the house of the LORD. 3 And all the sons of Israel (Yisra'el) were seeing as the fire came down and the glory of the LORD was on the house, and they knelt with faces to the ground on the pavement, and they bowed down, and they gave thanks to the LORD: "For He is good, for His steadfast love is forever."
4 And the king and all the people were sacrificing sacrifice before the LORD. 5 And King Solomon sacrificed the sacrifice of the cattle, twenty-two thousand, and sheep, a hundred and twenty thousand; and the king and all the people dedicated the house of God. 6 And the priests were standing at their duties, and the Levites with the instruments of the song of the LORD which David the king had made to give thanks to the LORD, "For His steadfast love is forever," when David praised by their hand; and the priests were blowing trumpets before them, and all Israel were standing. 7 And Solomon consecrated the middle of the court which was before the house of the LORD, for there he offered the burnt offerings and the fat of the peace offerings; for the altar of bronze which Solomon had made was not able to contain the burnt offering and the grain offering and the fat. 8 And Solomon held the feast at that time seven days, and all Israel with him, a very great assembly, from Lebo-hamath (Levo-Chamat) to the Wadi of Egypt (Mitsrayim). 9 And on the eighth day they held a solemn assembly, for they had held the dedication of the altar seven days, and the feast seven days. 10 And on the twenty-third day of the seventh month he sent the people away to their tents, joyful and good of heart over the good which the LORD had done for David and for Solomon and for Israel His people.

The LORD Answers Solomon

11 And Solomon finished the house of the LORD and the house of the king; and all that came on the heart of Solomon to do in the house of the LORD and in his own house, he made successful. 12 And the LORD appeared to Solomon in the night, and He said to him, "I have heard your prayer, and I have chosen this place for Myself for a house of sacrifice.
13 If I shut up the heavens and there is no rain, and if I command the locust to devour the land, and if I send pestilence among My people, 14 and My people, over whom My name is called, humble themselves, and pray, and seek My face, and turn from their evil ways, then I Myself will hear from the heavens, and I will forgive their sin, and I will heal their land.
15 Now My eyes will be open, and My ears attentive, to the 7:1 the fire came down from the heavens Kings does not mention the fire. Chronicles does, because it shows God accepted the temple and its sacrifices. Fire from God fell on the first tabernacle offerings (Lev 9:24), on David's altar at this very place (1 Chr 21:26), and later on Elijah's altar (1 Kgs 18:38).

7:3 they knelt with faces to the ground on the pavement The people did not clap or cheer. They fell on their faces and gave thanks. Real worship begins with seeing who God is, and it ends in humble thanks for His goodness and steadfast love.
7:5 twenty-two thousand, and sheep, a hundred and twenty thousand Mostly peace offerings, sacrifices shared between God, the priests and the worshipers in a joyful fellowship meal (Lev 3; 7:11-15). With all Israel present for two weeks, this was a national feast. I take the numbers as written, as 1 Kings 8:63 gives them too.
7:7 the altar of bronze which Solomon had made was not able to contain So Solomon consecrated the middle of the courtyard for the overflow. Worship that day was bigger than the altar.
7:8 from Lebo-hamath to the Wadi of Egypt From the far north of the land to the far south. Seven days for the altar's dedication were followed by the Feast of Booths, with a solemn assembly on the eighth day (7:9; Lev 23:36).
7:10 joyful and good of heart over the good which the LORD had done They celebrated the LORD's goodness, not Solomon's building skill. When God's people truly meet Him, they leave glad.
7:11 he made successful A favorite word of the Chronicler. Again and again those who seek God prosper (26:5; 31:21). It does not mean easy riches. It means the work God gives you comes to its intended end. The two houses took twenty years (1 Kgs 9:10).
7:12 a house of sacrifice God answered by fire and now in words. The temple was a house of prayer (6:21), but sinners could come near only on the ground of a sacrifice God accepted. That points straight to Christ, whose one sacrifice opens the way for every prayer (Heb 10:12, 19-22).
7:13 If I shut up the heavens and there is no rain God says "I." These were not random disasters. Under the Sinai covenant He promised rain for obedience and warned of drought, locusts and disease for turning away (Lev 26; Deut 28). The trouble was discipline, and its purpose was to bring His people back. Verses 13-15 are found only in Chronicles.
7:14 My people, over whom My name is called First, what it meant then. This is Israel, God's covenant nation, in the land He gave them, with the temple where He put His name. Verse 14 is the key to the whole book: every time a king or the people humbled themselves and sought the LORD, He heard, and every time they turned away, trouble came. The Chronicler wanted the small, kingless community home from exile to know God's door was still open.
7:14 humble themselves, and pray and seek My face and turn from their evil ways Four things God asks. To humble oneself is to come down from pride (12:6-7; 32:26; 33:12-13). To seek His face is to want God Himself, not only His help. Turning from evil is repentance, and prayer without it is not what God asks.
7:14 I will forgive their sin, and I will heal their land He will hear, He will forgive the real problem, and He will heal the land, ending drought, locusts and plague. This is not a promise that any modern nation will prosper if enough Christians pray. I believe it stands for Israel's future (Deut 30:1-10; Rom 11:25-29). But the principle applies to us: God opposes the proud and gives grace to the humble (James 4:6-10), and He forgives and cleanses all who confess (1 John 1:9). Is there pride I need to lay down? Am I seeking His face, or only His hand?
7:15 My eyes will be open, and My ears attentive, to the prayer of this place God answers Solomon's words from 6:40 almost word for word. Solomon asked, and God said yes.

prayer of this place. 16 And now I have chosen and I have consecrated this house, for My name to be there forever; and My eyes and My heart will be there all the days. 17 And you, if you walk before Me just as David your father walked, and to do according to all that I have commanded you, and you keep My statutes and My judgments, 18 then I will establish the throne of your kingdom, just as I made a covenant with David your father, saying, 'There shall not be cut off for you a man ruling over Israel.'

A Warning Against Forsaking the LORD

19 And if you, you turn away and forsake My statutes and My commandments which I have set before you, and go and serve other gods and bow down to them, 20 then I will pluck them up from upon My ground which I have given to them; and this house which I have consecrated for My name I will throw away from before My face, and I will make it a proverb and a taunt among all the peoples. 21 And as for this house, which was exalted, everyone who passes by it will be appalled, and he will say, 'Why has the LORD done thus to this land and to this house?' 22 And they will say, 'Because they forsook the LORD, the God of their fathers, who brought them out from the land of Egypt, and they took hold of other gods, and they bowed down to them and served them; therefore He has brought on them all this calamity.'"

2 CHRONICLES 8

Solomon's Building and Labor

1 And it was at the end of twenty years, in which Solomon (Shelomo) built the house of the LORD and his own house, 2 and the cities which Hiram (Churam) had given to Solomon, Solomon built them, and he made the sons of Israel (Yisra'el) dwell there. 3 And Solomon went to Hamath-zobah (Chamat-Tsova), and he prevailed over it. 4 And he built Tadmor in the wilderness, and all the cities of storage which he built in Hamath (Chamat). 5 And he built Beth-horon (Bet-Choron) the Upper and Beth-horon the Lower, cities of fortification, with walls, double doors, and bars, 6 and Baalath (Ba'alat), and all the cities of storage which belonged to Solomon, and all the cities of the chariotry, and the cities of the horsemen, and all the desire of Solomon which he desired to build in Jerusalem (Yerushalayim) and in the Lebanon (Levanon) and in all the land of his dominion. 7 All the people who remained of the Hittites and the Amorites and the Perizzites and the Hivites and the Jebusites, who were not of Israel, 8 of their sons who remained after them in the land, whom the sons of Israel had not destroyed, Solomon brought them up for forced labor to this day. 9 And of the sons of Israel, whom Solomon did not make into slaves for his work, for they were men of war, and commanders of his officers, and commanders of his chariotry and of his horsemen, 10 and these were the commanders of the overseers who were King Solomon's, two hundred and fifty, who ruled over the people. 11 And the daughter of Pharaoh Solomon brought up from the city of David to the house which he had built for her; for he said, "A wife of mine shall not dwell in the house of David king of Israel, for they are holiness, to which the ark of the LORD has come."

Solomon Orders the Worship

12 Then Solomon offered up burnt offerings to the LORD on the altar of the LORD which he had built before the porch,

7:16 My eyes and My heart will be there all the days God was not only watching from heaven. His heart was there. "Forever" did not fail when this temple burned in 586 B.C. The second temple stood on the same mount, Jesus called it His Father's house (John 2:16), and the prophets speak of a temple in Jerusalem in the coming kingdom (Ezek 40-48; Isa 2:2-3). God's choice of Jerusalem has not been canceled.
7:18 There shall not be cut off for you a man ruling over Israel Kings has "on the throne of Israel" (1 Kgs 9:5). The Chronicler's wording is close to Micah 5:2, the promise of the Ruler from Bethlehem. The covenant with David pointed beyond Solomon to One whose rule never ends.
7:19 if you, you turn away and forsake My statutes The Hebrew "you" changes from one person to many. God spoke to Solomon and the whole nation after him.
7:20 a proverb and a taunt among all the peoples Privilege does not protect people who turn their backs on God. Jeremiah warned Judah not to trust in "the temple of the LORD" while living in sin (Jer 7:4).
7:22 Because they forsook the LORD, the God of their fathers The first readers had seen the ruins (chapter 36). They had also seen verse 14 come true, because God brought them home. God's warnings and promises are both sure. Which one we meet depends on whether we turn to Him or away from Him.
8:2 the cities which Hiram had given to Solomon 1 Kings 9:11-13 says Solomon gave Hiram twenty cities in Galilee, and Hiram was not pleased. A common way to fit the two is that Hiram gave them back and Solomon rebuilt them. Scripture does not say so outright, but both accounts can be true.
8:4 Tadmor in the wilderness An oasis city on the desert trade route northeast of Damascus, later known as Palmyra. The battle at Hamath-zobah (8:3) is the only one Chronicles records for Solomon. His kingdom reached the bounds God promised Abraham (Gen 15:18; 1 Kgs 4:21).
8:5 Beth-horon the Upper and Beth-horon the Lower The two Beth-horons guarded a main road up from the coast to Jerusalem.
8:8 of their sons who remained after them in the land Israel had failed to drive out these peoples as God commanded (Judg 1:21-36). Forced labor of conquered peoples was common then and fit what the Law allowed (Deut 20:11). Israel's own people still felt Solomon's heavy yoke (10:4; 1 Kgs 5:13-14), and that burden would split the kingdom.
8:11 A wife of mine shall not dwell in the house of David king of Israel Solomon married Pharaoh's daughter in a treaty with Egypt (1 Kgs 3:1). He knew a wife who did not worship the LORD did not belong where the ark had been. Yet his many foreign wives later turned his heart (1 Kgs 11:1-8), and Nehemiah used him as a warning (Neh 13:26). A wise man can see a danger and still walk toward it. Do we?

13 and by the duty of day by day, to offer up according to the commandment of Moses (Moshe), for the Sabbaths and for the new moons and for the appointed times, three times in the year: at the Feast of Unleavened Bread, and at the Feast of Weeks, and at the Feast of Booths. 14 And he appointed, according to the ordinance of David his father, the divisions of the priests over their service, and the Levites over their duties, to praise and to minister before the priests for the duty of a day in its day, and the gatekeepers by their divisions for gate and gate; for thus was the commandment of David the man of God. 15 And they did not turn aside from the commandment of the king concerning the priests and the Levites in any matter, and concerning the treasuries. 16 And all the work of Solomon was prepared, until the day of the foundation of the house of the LORD and until its finishing. The house of the LORD was complete.

Ships to Ophir

17 Then Solomon went to Ezion-geber (Etsyon-Gever) and to Eloth (Elot) on the shore of the sea in the land of Edom. 18 And Hiram sent to him, by the hand of his servants, ships and servants who knew the sea; and they came with the servants of Solomon to Ophir (Ofir), and they took from there approximately 33,750 pounds (four hundred and fifty talents) of gold, and they brought it to King Solomon.

The Queen of Sheba Visits Solomon

1 And the queen of Sheba (Sheva) heard the report of Solomon (Shelomo), and she came to test Solomon with riddles in Jerusalem (Yerushalayim), with a very great retinue, and camels carrying spices and gold in abundance and precious stones; and she came to Solomon, and she spoke with him all that was with her heart. 2 And Solomon told her all her words, and not a word was hidden from Solomon which he did not tell her. 3 And the queen of Sheba saw the wisdom of Solomon, and the house which he had built, 4 and the food of his table, and the seating of his servants, and the standing of his ministers and their clothing, and his cupbearers and their clothing, and his upper room by which he would go up to the house of the LORD; and there was no more breath in her. 5 And she said to the king, "The word which I heard in my land about your words and about your wisdom was truth. 6 And I did not believe their words until I came and my eyes saw; and look, the half of the greatness of your wisdom was not told to me; you have added to the report which I heard. 7 How blessed are your men, and how blessed are these your servants who stand before you continually and hear your wisdom! 8 May the LORD your God be blessed, who has delighted in you to put you on His throne as king for the LORD your God! In the love of your God for Israel (Yisra'el), to make it stand forever, He has appointed you king over them, to do justice and righteousness." 9 And she gave to the king approximately 9,000 pounds (a hundred and twenty talents) of gold, and spices in very great abundance, and precious stones; and there had not been any like that spice which the queen of Sheba gave to King Solomon. 10 And also the servants of Hiram (Churam) and the servants of Solomon, who brought gold from Ophir (Ofir), brought algum wood and precious stones. 11 And the king made the algum wood into stairways for the house of the LORD and for the house of the king, and lyres and harps for the singers; and none like them had been seen before in the land of Judah (Yehuda). 12 And King Solomon gave to the queen of Sheba all her desire which she asked, besides what she had brought to the king. And she turned and went to her land, she and her servants.

8:13 the Feast of Unleavened Bread, and at the Feast of Weeks, and at the Feast of Booths The three feasts when every man came to the sanctuary (Deut 16:16). All three point forward: Christ our Passover was sacrificed (1 Cor 5:7), the Spirit came at Pentecost (Acts 2:1-4), and many see Booths as a picture of God dwelling with His people in the coming kingdom (Zech 14:16).
8:14 thus was the commandment of David the man of God The returned exiles were rebuilding the same worship (Ezra 3:1-6; 6:18). Worship done God's way, by His Word, is the heart of a healthy nation.
8:16 The house of the LORD was complete A simple, satisfied line: the work God gave was finished. Jesus said to His Father, "I finished the work which You have given Me" (John 17:4). Will we be able to say the same?
8:18 to Ophir No one knows for sure where Ophir was: southern Arabia, East Africa and India are all suggested. Ezion-geber and Eloth (8:17) lay at the tip of the Gulf of Aqaba. 1 Kings 9:28 gives 420 talents instead of 450, a copying difference or a different way of counting. God was keeping His promise to make Solomon rich (1:12).
9:1 the queen of Sheba heard the report of Solomon Sheba was probably in southwest Arabia, in what is now Yemen, about 1,200 miles away. Some connect it with Ethiopia. The riddles were hard questions wise people used to test one another. She heard of his fame "concerning the name of the LORD" (1 Kgs 10:1). She wanted to know if the wisdom was real and where it came from.
9:4 there was no more breath in her The Hebrew of "his upper room" can also be read as the burnt offerings he offered at the temple. Either way, she saw how he went to worship. What left her breathless was not only gold. It was order, wisdom and worship, a kingdom running well under a king who served God.
9:6 the half of the greatness of your wisdom was not told to me She had not believed until her eyes saw. Jesus said the queen of the south would rise in the judgment, because she came to hear Solomon's wisdom, "and look, something greater than Solomon is here" (Matt 12:42). Jesus is the wisdom of God in Person (1 Cor 1:24, 30). How far are we willing to go to hear Him?
9:8 to put you on His throne as king for the LORD your God Kings says "the throne of Israel" (1 Kgs 10:9). Chronicles says "His throne." The king of David's line ruled on God's behalf, and his job was "to do justice and righteousness," what is right and fair for the people.
9:12 all her desire which she asked, besides what she had brought to the king Solomon outgave her. Later legends say they had a child, but the Bible says nothing of that, and we should not add to it. Those who come seeking true wisdom are never sent away empty (James 1:5).

Solomon's Splendor

13 And the weight of the gold which came to Solomon in one year was approximately 50,000 pounds (six hundred and sixty-six talents) of gold, 14 apart from what the men of the merchants and the traders were bringing; and all the kings of Arabia (Arav) and the governors of the land were bringing gold and silver to Solomon. 15 And King Solomon made two hundred large shields of beaten gold; approximately 15 pounds (six hundred shekels) of beaten gold he put on the one large shield; 16 and three hundred shields of beaten gold; approximately 7.5 pounds (three hundred shekels) of gold he put on the one shield; and the king put them in the House of the Forest of Lebanon (Levanon). 17 And the king made a great throne of ivory, and he overlaid it with pure gold. 18 And six steps belonged to the throne, and a footstool in gold, attached to the throne, and arms were on this side and on this side of the place of the seat, and two lions were standing beside the arms. 19 And twelve lions were standing there on the six steps, on this side and on this side; it had not been made thus for any kingdom. 20 And all the drinking vessels of King Solomon were gold, and all the vessels of the House of the Forest of Lebanon were refined gold; silver was not esteemed in the days of Solomon as anything. 21 For the king's ships were going to Tarshish with the servants of Hiram; once in three years the ships of Tarshish would come, carrying gold and silver, ivory, and apes, and peacocks. 22 And King Solomon became greater than all the kings of the earth in riches and wisdom. 23 And all the kings of the earth were seeking the face of Solomon, to hear his wisdom which God had put in his heart. 24 And they were bringing, each his gift: articles of silver and articles of gold, and garments, weaponry, and spices, horses, and mules, the matter of a year in a year. 25 And Solomon had four thousand stalls of horses and chariots, and twelve thousand horsemen; and he placed them in the cities of the chariotry and with the king in Jerusalem. 26 And he was ruling over all the kings from the River even to the land of the Philistines and to the border of Egypt (Mitsrayim). 27 And the king made the silver in Jerusalem like the stones, and the cedars he made like the sycamores which are in the Shephelah, for abundance. 28 And they were bringing out horses from Egypt for Solomon, and from all the lands.

The Death of Solomon

29 And the rest of the matters of Solomon, the first and the last, are they not written in the words of Nathan (Natan) the prophet, and in the prophecy of Ahijah (Achiya) the Shilonite, and in the visions of Iddo (Yedo) the seer concerning Jeroboam (Yaravam) the son of Nebat (Nevat)? 30 And Solomon reigned in Jerusalem over all Israel forty years. 31 And Solomon lay down with his fathers, and they buried him in the city of David his father; and Rehoboam (Rechavam) his son reigned in his place.

9:13 the weight of the gold which came to Solomon in one year Six hundred sixty-six talents. Some connect the number with Revelation 13:18. Scripture does not make that link, and I don't think we should build anything on it. The point is the enormous wealth God had given, as He promised.

9:16 the House of the Forest of Lebanon A great hall of the palace built with cedar pillars (1 Kgs 7:2). The gold shields were for show, not battle. Chapter 12 tells what happened to them.

9:18 six steps belonged to the throne The lions on the throne recall Judah, the lion tribe, and Jacob's promise that the scepter would not depart from Judah (Gen 49:9-10). Jesus is "the Lion who is of the tribe of Judah" (Rev 5:5). The greatest throne of David's line points to the throne of David's greatest Son.

9:21 the king's ships were going to Tarshish "Ships of Tarshish" was a phrase for large ocean-going trading ships. Tarshish itself was often placed far west, perhaps in Spain, though these sailed from the Red Sea port (8:17). Scholars are not sure of the route.

9:23 all the kings of the earth were seeking the face of Solomon Note the careful words: the wisdom was what "God had put in his heart." Nations streaming to Jerusalem with gifts is a small picture of what the prophets said will happen when the Messiah reigns (Isa 60:3-6; Ps 72). I believe that will be fulfilled when Christ reigns on earth in His kingdom.

9:25 four thousand stalls of horses and chariots 1 Kings 4:26 gives forty thousand. Most scholars think a copyist's error in Kings, since 1,400 chariots (1:14; 1 Kgs 10:26) fits four thousand stalls much better. I take the four thousand as right.

9:26 from the River even to the land of the Philistines The River is the Euphrates, the bound of the land promised to Abraham (Gen 15:18). Verses 25-28 repeat 1:14-17, a frame around Solomon's reign: God promised, and God gave. But Deuteronomy 17:16-17 still stands in the background, and that is where Solomon's story went next.

9:29 in the visions of Iddo the seer A seer is another word for a prophet, one to whom God showed things. The Chronicler used prophetic records, many now lost to us.

9:30 Solomon reigned in Jerusalem over all Israel forty years About 970 to 930 B.C. Chronicles leaves out his foreign wives and idols (1 Kgs 11), not to hide them. Its readers knew Kings, and the mention of Ahijah points right at it (9:29). The Chronicler holds up Solomon at his best as a model and lets the split show the cost of what came later. Solomon was a son of David, but not the Son of David.

10:1 Rehoboam went to Shechem An old city in the hill country of Ephraim, about 30 miles north of Jerusalem, where Abraham built an altar and Joshua renewed the covenant (Gen 12:6-7; Josh 24). The northern tribes wanted their own agreement with the new king, as with David at Hebron (2 Sam 5:1-3). The kingdom's unity was already fragile.

10:2 Jeroboam the son of Nebat Chronicles assumes we know his story: Solomon put him over forced labor, the prophet Ahijah tore a cloak into twelve pieces and gave him ten, and Solomon tried to kill him (1 Kgs 11:26-40).

him, and Jeroboam and all Israel came, and they spoke to Rehoboam, saying, 4 "Your father made our yoke hard; and now, lighten some of the hard labor of your father and some of his heavy yoke which he put on us, and we will serve you." 5 And he said to them, "Yet three days, and return to me." And the people went. 6 And King Rehoboam consulted with the elders who had been standing before Solomon his father while he was alive, saying, "How do you counsel to bring back word to this people?" 7 And they spoke to him, saying, "If you will be good to this people, and are pleased with them, and speak good words to them, then they will be servants to you all the days." 8 And he forsook the counsel of the elders which they had counseled him, and he consulted with the young men who had grown up with him, who stood before him. 9 And he said to them, "What do you counsel, and we may bring back word to this people who have spoken to me, saying, 'Lighten some of the yoke which your father put on us'?" 10 And the young men who had grown up with him spoke with him, saying, "Thus you shall say to the people who spoke to you, saying, 'Your father made our yoke heavy, and you, lighten it from on us'; thus you shall say to them, 'My little finger is thicker than the loins of my father. 11 And now, my father loaded on you a heavy yoke, and I, I will add to your yoke; my father disciplined you with whips, and I with scorpions.'" 12 And Jeroboam and all the people came to Rehoboam on the third day, just as the king had spoken, saying, "Return to me on the third day." 13 And the king answered them harshly; and King Rehoboam forsook the counsel of the elders. 14 And he spoke to them according to the counsel of the young men, saying, "I will make your yoke heavy, and I, I will add to it; my father disciplined you with whips, and I with scorpions." 15 And the king did not listen to the people, for it was a turn of events from God, so that the LORD might establish His word which He had spoken by the hand of Ahijah (Achiyahu) the Shilonite to Jeroboam the son of Nebat. 16 And all Israel, for the king had not listened to them, and the people brought back word to the king, saying, "What portion is there for us in David? And there is no inheritance in the son of Jesse (Yishay). Each man to your tents, O Israel! Now see your own house, O David!" And all Israel went to its tents. 17 And the sons of Israel who were dwelling in the cities of Judah (Yehuda), Rehoboam reigned over them. 18 And King Rehoboam sent Hadoram, who was over the forced labor, and the sons of Israel stoned him with stones, and he died. And King Rehoboam exerted himself to go up into the chariot to flee to Jerusalem (Yerushalayim). 19 And Israel rebelled against the house of David to this day.

Rehoboam Strengthens Judah

1 And Rehoboam (Rechavam) came to Jerusalem (Yerushalayim), and he assembled the house of Judah (Yehuda) and Benjamin (Binyamin), a hundred and eighty thousand chosen men, makers of war, to fight with Israel (Yisra'el), to bring back the kingdom to Rehoboam. 2 And the word of the LORD came to Shemaiah (Shemayahu) the man of God, saying, 3 "Say to Rehoboam the son of Solomon (Shelomo), king of Judah, and to all Israel in Judah and Benjamin, saying, 4 'Thus says the LORD: You shall not go up, and you shall not fight with your brothers. Return, each man to his house, for this thing has come about from Me.'" And

10:4 Your father made our yoke hard A yoke was the wooden bar on the necks of oxen. Solomon's projects, taxes and forced labor had worn the people down. It was a fair request with a fair offer: "we will serve you."
10:7 If you will be good to this people Kings says "be a servant" (1 Kgs 12:7). Both say the same thing. A leader who serves and speaks kindly will be followed. Jesus taught that whoever would be great must be a servant (Mark 10:42-45). The oldest leadership lesson in the book, and still the hardest.
10:8 the young men who had grown up with him Rehoboam was forty-one (12:13), so these were palace friends raised in Solomon's wealth, not teenagers. Perhaps they told him what he wanted to hear. His father wrote, listen to counsel (Prov 12:15; 15:22). Do you seek advice from people who will tell you the truth, or only from people who agree with you?
10:11 I with scorpions Probably a whip with sharp, stinging barbs. "My little finger is thicker than the loins of my father" (10:10) meant, I am tougher than Solomon ever was.
10:13 the king answered them harshly In one sentence he lost most of his kingdom. His father wrote that a gentle answer turns away wrath and a harsh word stirs up anger (Prov 15:1). Harsh words have broken more families, churches and friendships than we can count.
10:15 it was a turn of events from God Rehoboam was responsible for his foolish choice and paid for it. Yet God was ruling over it, bringing the judgment He had announced for Solomon's idolatry (1 Kgs 11:11-13, 29-39). God does not make anyone sin, but He works even through sinful choices. The cross is the greatest example (Acts 2:23). No foolish leader is outside God's rule.
10:16 What portion is there for us in David The cry of Sheba's rebellion against David (2 Sam 20:1). "Son of Jesse" put David down as a farmer's son. The kingdom God had built under David was torn in two.
10:18 Hadoram, who was over the forced labor Of all men to send, he chose the one tied to their burden. He is Adoram in 1 Kings 12:18, perhaps Adoniram (1 Kgs 4:6).
10:19 Israel rebelled against the house of David to this day The north rejected the line God chose, yet God did not abandon the north, and faithful people still came to Jerusalem (11:16; 15:9; 30:11). Ezekiel joined two sticks into one and God promised one King, David's Son, over them all (Ezek 37:15-25). I believe that will happen when Jesus reigns over a reunited Israel in His coming kingdom.
11:1 a hundred and eighty thousand chosen men Benjamin, the small tribe between Judah and the north, stayed with Judah. Rehoboam's first instinct was to take back by force what his harsh words had lost. I take the large numbers of Chronicles as written. Some scholars think the Hebrew word for "thousand" can mean a military unit or clan, but the text does not tell us that.
11:4 You shall not go up, and you shall not fight with your brothers Shemaiah was a man of God, another name for a prophet. "Your brothers": the northern tribes were still family. The split was God's discipline. That an army turned back at one prophet's word is the best thing we read of Rehoboam. When God says no, the wise thing is to obey, even when we think we could win.

they listened to the words of the LORD, and they turned back from going against Jeroboam (Yaravam). 5 And Rehoboam dwelt in Jerusalem, and he built cities for fortification in Judah. 6 And he built Bethlehem (Bet-Lechem) and Etam and Tekoa (Teqoa), 7 and Beth-zur (Bet-Tsur) and Soco (Sokho) and Adullam (Adulam), 8 and Gath (Gat) and Mareshah (Maresha) and Ziph (Zif), 9 and Adoraim (Adorayim) and Lachish (Lakhish) and Azekah (Azeqa), 10 and Zorah (Tsor'ah) and Aijalon (Ayalon) and Hebron (Chevron), which are in Judah and in Benjamin, cities of fortresses. 11 And he strengthened the fortresses, and he put in them commanders, and supplies of food and oil and wine. 12 And in every city and city were large shields and spears, and he strengthened them very greatly. And Judah and Benjamin belonged to him.

Priests and Levites Come to Judah

13 And the priests and the Levites who were in all Israel took their stand with him from all their territory. 14 For the Levites forsook their pasture lands and their property, and they went to Judah and to Jerusalem; for Jeroboam and his sons had rejected them from serving as priests to the LORD. 15 And he appointed for himself priests for the high places, and for the goats, and for the calves which he had made. 16 And after them, from all the tribes of Israel, those who set their heart to seek the LORD, the God of Israel, came to Jerusalem to sacrifice to the LORD, the God of their fathers. 17 And they strengthened the kingdom of Judah, and they made Rehoboam the son of Solomon strong for three years; for they walked in the way of David and Solomon for three years.

Rehoboam's Family

18 And Rehoboam took for himself a wife, Mahalath (Machalat) the daughter of Jerimoth (Yerimot) the son of David, Abihail (Avichayil) the daughter of Eliab (Eli'av) the son of Jesse (Yishay). 19 And she bore to him sons: Jeush (Yeush) and Shemariah (Shemarya) and Zaham. 20 And after her he took Maacah (Ma'akha) the daughter of Absalom (Avshalom); and she bore to him Abijah (Aviyah) and Attai (Atay) and Ziza and Shelomith (Shelomit). 21 And Rehoboam loved Maacah the daughter of Absalom more than all his wives and his concubines; for he had taken eighteen wives and sixty concubines; and he fathered twenty-eight sons and sixty daughters. 22 And Rehoboam appointed Abijah the son of Maacah as the head, as leader among his brothers, for he meant to make him king. 23 And he acted wisely, and he distributed some of all his sons to all the lands of Judah and Benjamin, to all the cities of the fortresses; and he gave to them the food in abundance; and he asked for a multitude of wives.

Shishak Invades Judah

1 And it was, when the kingdom of Rehoboam (Rechavam) was established, and as he became strong, he forsook the law of the LORD, and all Israel (Yisra'el) with him. 2 And it was in the fifth year of King Rehoboam that Shishak (Shishaq) king of Egypt (Mitsrayim) came up against Jerusalem (Yerushalayim), for they had acted unfaithfully against the LORD, 3 with one thousand two hundred chariots and with sixty thousand horsemen; and there was no number to the people who came with him from Egypt: Libyans, Sukkites, 11:5 he built cities for fortification in Judah The fifteen cities ringed Judah's heartland on the south and west, guarding the roads from Egypt and the Philistine coast. Few were on the northern border. Building defenses is not wrong, but chapter 12 shows walls are no substitute for faithfulness (Ps 127:1).

11:14 Jeroboam and his sons had rejected them from serving as priests to the LORD Only Chronicles tells this. Jeroboam feared that worship in Jerusalem would turn hearts back to David's house, so he made the calves at Bethel and Dan (1 Kgs 12:26-33). The Levites "forsook their pasture lands," the towns God gave them in every tribe (Num 35:1-8). Believers still give up homes and family for Christ, and He promises far more in return (Mark 10:29-30).
11:15 for the goats, and for the calves which he had made The goats were probably idols in the form of goat-demons, which the Law forbade (Lev 17:7). Jeroboam's priests did not have to be Levites.
11:16 those who set their heart to seek the LORD One of the key verses of Chronicles. The kingdom was split by politics, but God's true people were defined by a heart set on seeking Him.
11:17 for they walked in the way of David and Solomon for three years Faithful worshipers, not fortified cities, were Judah's real strength. "Three years" warns us it did not last.
11:20 Maacah the daughter of Absalom "Daughter" may mean granddaughter, as often in Hebrew. 13:2 calls Abijah's mother "Micaiah the daughter of Uriel," and many think Maacah was Absalom's granddaughter through Tamar, who married Uriel (2 Sam 14:27).
11:21 eighteen wives and sixty concubines A concubine was a secondary wife with fewer rights. God's design from the beginning was one man and one woman (Gen 2:24; Matt 19:4-6), and the Law warned kings not to multiply wives (Deut 17:17). The Bible records such marriages honestly but never presents them as good.
11:23 he acted wisely He spread his sons out to the fortress cities so they would not fight over the throne, as David's sons had (2 Sam 13-18; 1 Kgs 1-2). Worldly wisdom can keep peace for a while, but it is not the same as seeking God.
12:1 as he became strong, he forsook the law of the LORD One of the oldest dangers in the Bible. When weak, we cry out to God. When strong, we forget Him (Deut 8:10-14). "All Israel" here is the faithful people of Judah and Benjamin. The people followed their king. Parents, pastors and bosses set direction too, for good or evil.
12:2 Shishak king of Egypt came up against Jerusalem About 925 B.C. To act unfaithfully is a strong word in Chronicles, to break faith with God like a spouse who betrays the marriage. Shishak is known from Egyptian history as Shoshenq I. On a temple wall at Karnak he listed towns he conquered in this campaign, including many in Judah and Israel.

and Cushites. 4 And he captured the cities of the fortresses which belonged to Judah (Yehuda), and he came to Jerusalem. 5 And Shemaiah (Shemaya) the prophet came to Rehoboam and the commanders of Judah, who had gathered to Jerusalem because of Shishak, and he said to them, "Thus says the LORD: You, you have forsaken Me, and also I, I have forsaken you into the hand of Shishak." 6 And the commanders of Israel and the king humbled themselves, and they said, "The LORD is righteous." 7 And when the LORD saw that they had humbled themselves, the word of the LORD came to Shemaiah, saying, "They have humbled themselves; I will not destroy them, and I will give to them a little, for deliverance, and My wrath shall not pour out on Jerusalem by the hand of Shishak. 8 But they will become servants to him, so that they may know My service and the service of the kingdoms of the lands." 9 And Shishak king of Egypt came up against Jerusalem, and he took the treasures of the house of the LORD and the treasures of the house of the king; everything he took. And he took the shields of gold which Solomon (Shelomo) had made. 10 And King Rehoboam made in their place shields of bronze, and he entrusted them to the hand of the commanders of the runners who guarded the entrance of the house of the king. 11 And it was, as often as the king came to the house of the LORD, the runners came and carried them, and they brought them back to the guardroom of the runners. 12 And when he humbled himself, the anger of the LORD turned back from him, and not to destroy to completion; and also in Judah there were good things.

Rehoboam's Reign Summed Up

13 And King Rehoboam strengthened himself in Jerusalem, and he reigned; for Rehoboam was forty-one years old when he became king, and he reigned seventeen years in Jerusalem, the city which the LORD had chosen to put His name there out of all the tribes of Israel. And the name of his mother was Naamah (Na'ama) the Ammonite. 14 And he did the evil, for he did not prepare his heart to seek the LORD. 15 And the matters of Rehoboam, the first and the last, are they not written in the words of Shemaiah the prophet and Iddo (Ido) the seer, for genealogical enrollment? And the wars of Rehoboam and Jeroboam (Yaravam) were all the days. 16 And Rehoboam lay down with his fathers, and he was buried in the city of David; and Abijah (Aviyah) his son reigned in his place.

Abijah Speaks on Mount Zemaraim

1 In the eighteenth year of King Jeroboam (Yaravam), then Abijah (Aviyah) became king over Judah (Yehuda). 2 Three years he reigned in Jerusalem (Yerushalayim); and the name of his mother was Micaiah (Mikhayahu) the daughter of Uriel from Gibeah (Giva). And there was war between Abijah and Jeroboam. 3 And Abijah joined the battle with an army of mighty men of war, four hundred thousand chosen men; and Jeroboam drew up battle with him with eight hundred thousand chosen men, mighty men of strength. 4 And Abijah stood up on Mount Zemaraim (Tsemarayim), which is in the hill country of Ephraim (Efrayim), and he said, "Listen to me, Jeroboam and all Israel (Yisra'el)! 5 Is it not for you to know that the LORD, the God of Israel, gave the kingdom over Israel to David forever, to him and to his sons, a covenant of salt? 6 And Jeroboam the son of Nebat (Nevat), the servant of Solomon (Shelomo) the son of David, rose up and rebelled

12:4 he captured the cities of the fortresses which belonged to Judah All the fortified cities of chapter 11 fell. Walls did not save a people who had forsaken God.
12:5 You, you have forsaken Me, and also I, I have forsaken you Azariah states the principle in 15:2. God does not leave the faithful. When His people turn their backs, He lets them feel life without His protection so they will come back. His discipline is an act of love (Heb 12:5-11).
12:6 The LORD is righteous The first time in Chronicles a king humbles himself, 7:14 in action. They did not blame Shishak, bad luck or each other. They said God was right and they were wrong. That is what real confession sounds like.
12:8 so that they may know My service and the service of the kingdoms of the lands You wanted to be free of My law. Now see what it is to serve a pagan king. Serving God is freedom, and serving sin is slavery. Jesus' yoke is easy (Matt 11:29-30). Forgiveness is full, but consequences may remain for a time so we learn. They are not God's rejection.
12:10 King Rehoboam made in their place shields of bronze Solomon's gold shields (9:15-16) were gone five years after his death. From a distance the bronze shone and the parade looked the same. How often do we keep the outward forms of faith while the real gold of loving God is lost? God looks at the heart (1 Sam 16:7).
12:12 also in Judah there were good things God's anger turns away from the humble. Even in judgment He left faithful people and true worship. God never leaves His people with nothing.
12:13 the name of his mother was Naamah the Ammonite Scripture names her three times (12:13; 1 Kgs 14:21, 31). The Ammonites worshiped Milcom, also called Molech. The Bible seems to hint that her influence shaped her son. He reigned about 930 to 913 B.C.
12:14 he did not prepare his heart to seek the LORD The key to Rehoboam's life. He obeyed once and humbled himself once, but never set his heart on God. He reacted to God in trouble and forgot Him when things were quiet. Is your heart set, or does it only turn to God in a crisis?
12:15 the wars of Rehoboam and Jeroboam were all the days God forbade full war (11:4), but border fighting never stopped. A family split by sin seldom finds peace quickly. Prophets like Shemaiah and Iddo kept the records, as Samuel, Nathan and Gad did for David (1 Chr 29:29).
13:1 In the eighteenth year of King Jeroboam The only time Chronicles dates a king of Judah by a king of Israel, perhaps because the whole chapter is their clash. Abijah reigned about 913 to 910 B.C.
13:2 Micaiah the daughter of Uriel from Gibeah Elsewhere she is Maacah the daughter of Absalom (11:20; 1 Kgs 15:2). Many think she was Absalom's granddaughter through Tamar and Uriel, and Micaiah may be another form of the name.
13:3 eight hundred thousand chosen men Judah was outnumbered two to one. I take the numbers as written (see 11:1). By human reckoning Judah should have lost.
13:5 a covenant of salt Salt does not spoil, and it was used to seal agreements. A covenant of salt is lasting and unbreakable (Num 18:19). The throne belonged to David's line by God's choice.

against his lord. 7 And empty men, sons of worthlessness, gathered to him, and they made themselves strong against Rehoboam (Rechavam) the son of Solomon; and Rehoboam was a youth and tender of heart, and he did not strengthen himself before them. 8 And now you, you are speaking of strengthening yourselves before the kingdom of the LORD in the hand of the sons of David; and you are a great multitude, and with you are calves of gold which Jeroboam made for you for gods. 9 Have you not driven out the priests of the LORD, the sons of Aaron (Aharon), and the Levites, and made for yourselves priests like the peoples of the lands? Everyone who comes to fill his hand with a bull, a son of cattle, and seven rams, and he becomes a priest to no-gods. 10 And we, the LORD is our God, and we have not forsaken Him; and priests ministering to the LORD are the sons of Aaron, and the Levites are in the work, 11 and they are burning to the LORD burnt offerings morning by morning and evening by evening, and incense of spices; and the row of bread is on the pure table, and the lampstand of gold and its lamps to burn evening by evening; for we are keeping the charge of the LORD our God, and you, you have forsaken Him. 12 And look, with us at the head is God, and His priests, and the trumpets of the shout to raise a shout against you. Sons of Israel, do not fight with the LORD, the God of your fathers, for you will not succeed."

Judah Leans on the LORD

13 And Jeroboam had caused the ambush to go around to come from behind them; and they were in front of Judah, and the ambush was behind them. 14 And Judah turned, and look, the battle was for them in front and behind; and they cried out to the LORD, and the priests were blowing on trumpets. 15 And the men of Judah shouted; and it was, when the men of Judah shouted, that God struck Jeroboam and all Israel before Abijah and Judah. 16 And the sons of Israel fled from before Judah, and God gave them into their hand. 17 And Abijah and his people struck among them a great striking, and there fell slain of Israel five hundred thousand chosen men. 18 And the sons of Israel were humbled at that time, and the sons of Judah were strong, for they leaned on the LORD, the God of their fathers. 19 And Abijah pursued after Jeroboam, and he captured cities from him: Bethel (Bet-El) and its villages, and Jeshanah (Yeshana) and its villages, and Ephrain (Efrayin) and its villages. 20 And Jeroboam did not retain strength again in the days of Abijah; and the LORD struck him, and he died. 21 And Abijah strengthened himself, and he took for himself fourteen wives, and he fathered twenty-two sons and sixteen daughters. 22 And the rest of the matters of Abijah, and his ways and his words, are written in the record of the prophet Iddo (Ido).

Asa Seeks the LORD

1 And Abijah (Aviyah) lay down with his fathers, and they buried him in the city of David; and Asa his son reigned in his place. In his days the land was quiet ten years. 2 And Asa did the good and the right in the eyes of the LORD his God. 3 And 13:7 a youth and tender of heart Rehoboam was forty-one (12:13), so this means inexperienced and soft. Abijah does not mention his father's harsh words, which started the trouble. He gives Judah's side. But his main point is true: God had chosen David's house.

13:8 the kingdom of the LORD in the hand of the sons of David The kingdom was God's, and David's sons held it for Him. To fight it was to fight God. "Calves of gold" and an army make a poor pair. Numbers mean nothing if your gods are idols.

13:9 a priest to no-gods Anyone with a bull and seven rams could buy his way into Jeroboam's priesthood. A god you can make is no god at all. Anything we make or buy and then trust in place of the living God is a no-god that cannot save.

13:11 we are keeping the charge of the LORD our God Abijah lists the true priests, the daily offerings, the incense, the bread and the lampstand. 1 Kings 15:3 says he walked in his father's sins, so his life did not match all his words. But that day he stood for the truth, and God honored Judah's trust. God's blessing came not because Abijah was perfect, but because Judah leaned on God in that hour.

13:12 the trumpets of the shout The Law said priests were to blow trumpets in battle so God would remember His people and save them (Num 10:9).

13:14 they cried out to the LORD Surrounded front and back, they did not panic and run. They prayed. When you are surrounded, the only direction left to look is up.

13:15 God struck Jeroboam and all Israel Like Jericho (Josh 6:20), the victory came from God. Five hundred thousand fell in a civil war between brothers (13:17). We should not cheer it. The Chronicler records it to show how serious it is to fight against God and His covenant.

13:18 for they leaned on the LORD To lean on the LORD is to put your full weight on Him. The word returns in Asa's life, for good and for bad (14:11; 16:7-8). Trust in the LORD with all your heart (Prov 3:5). What are you leaning on today?

13:19 Bethel and its villages Bethel, only about 12 miles north of Jerusalem, held one of Jeroboam's golden calves (1 Kgs 12:29). Taking it struck at his false worship.

13:20 the LORD struck him, and he died Jeroboam outlived Abijah by a year or two (1 Kgs 14:20; 15:9), so this sums up the rest of his life. The man who made Israel sin met the God he had rejected.

13:22 the record of the prophet Iddo The Hebrew word is midrash, a study or written account. Abijah reigned only three years, and his one great day was the day he leaned on God. What will people remember about your life?

14:1 in his days the land was quiet ten years "Lay down with his fathers" is a gentle way of saying he died. Asa reigned about 910 to 869 B.C. Verse 6 says why there was peace: "the LORD had given rest to him." Peace came from God to a king who sought Him.

14:2 the good and the right in the eyes of the LORD his God The highest praise a king of Judah could receive. The standard was God's eyes, not the people's or his own.

14:3 he cut down the Asherim High places were hilltop shrines for idols or for worship God had forbidden. Pillars were standing stones for false gods. An Asherah was a wooden pole or image of the Canaanite fertility goddess, whose worship was tied to immoral practices. God had commanded all of these destroyed (Deut 7:5; 12:2-3).

he removed the altars of foreignness and the high places, and he broke the pillars, and he cut down the Asherim. 4 And he told Judah (Yehuda) to seek the LORD, the God of their fathers, and to do the law and the commandment. 5 And he removed from all the cities of Judah the high places and the incense altars; and the kingdom was quiet before him. 6 And he built cities of fortification in Judah, for the land was quiet, and there was no war with him in these years, for the LORD had given rest to him. 7 And he said to Judah, "Let us build these cities, and let us surround them with wall and towers, double doors and bars; the land is still before us, for we have sought the LORD our God; we have sought Him, and He has given rest to us all around." And they built and prospered. 8 And Asa had an army bearing large shield and spear: from Judah three hundred thousand, and from Benjamin (Binyamin), bearers of shield and benders of bow, two hundred and eighty thousand; all these were mighty men of strength.

Asa Defeats Zerah the Cushite

9 And Zerah (Zerach) the Cushite came out against them with an army of a thousand thousands, and three hundred chariots; and he came as far as Mareshah (Maresha). 10 And Asa went out before him, and they drew up battle in the Valley of Zephathah (Tsefata) at Mareshah. 11 And Asa called to the LORD his God, and he said, "LORD, there is none with You to help between the great and the one with no strength. Help us, O LORD our God, for we lean on You, and in Your name we have come against this multitude. O LORD, You are our God; let not man retain strength against You." 12 And the LORD struck the Cushites before Asa and before Judah, and the Cushites fled. 13 And Asa and the people who were with him pursued them as far as Gerar; and of the Cushites men fell until there was no recovery for them, for they were broken before the LORD and before His camp. And they carried away very much booty. 14 And they struck all the cities around Gerar, for the dread of the LORD was on them; and they plundered all the cities, for there was much plunder in them. 15 And also the tents of livestock they struck, and they took captive sheep in abundance and camels; and they returned to Jerusalem (Yerushalayim).

Azariah's Message

1 And Azariah (Azaryahu) the son of Oded, the Spirit of God came on him. 2 And he went out before Asa, and he said to him, "Listen to me, Asa and all Judah (Yehuda) and Benjamin (Binyamin): the LORD is with you while you are with Him; and if you seek Him, He will be found by you; and if you forsake Him, He will forsake you. 3 And many days have been for Israel (Yisra'el) without the God of truth, and without a teaching priest, and without law. 4 And in its distress it turned back to the LORD, the God of Israel, and they sought Him, and He was found by them. 5 And in those times there was no peace for the one going out and for the one coming in, for great disturbances were on all the inhabitants of the lands. 6 And they were crushed, nation by nation and city by 14:4 he told Judah to seek the LORD Removing idols is only half of a revival. The other half is turning to God and His Word. An empty heart soon fills with new idols (Matt 12:43-45). 15:17 says the high places were not removed from Israel, which may mean shrines to the LORD, the northern areas or later rebuilding. Asa's heart was right, even if his reform was not complete.

14:7 we have sought Him, and He has given rest to us all around Asa used peace to build, and he said "sought" twice so the people would know where peace came from. Quiet seasons are for building: knowledge of God's Word, habits of prayer, ties with other believers. When the storm comes, it is too late to lay a foundation.

14:8 mighty men of strength Asa trained and equipped his army. As we will see, he did not trust in it.

14:9 Zerah the Cushite Cush was the region south of Egypt, ancient Nubia, in what is now Sudan. Zerah may have been a commander serving Egypt or a chieftain of Cushites near Gerar. History does not tell us. "A thousand thousands" may be a literal count or a way of saying a vast army. Mareshah was one of Rehoboam's fortresses (11:8).

14:11 there is none with You to help between the great and the one with no strength One of the finest prayers in Chronicles, three sentences long. It makes no difference to God whether the one He helps is strong or weak (1 Sam 14:6).

14:11 for we lean on You, and in Your name we have come against this multitude Asa leaned on God, not on 580,000 soldiers, and made the battle about God's honor. Begin with who God is, admit your weakness, lean your full weight on Him, and ask Him to act for His name's sake. He does not always give victory the way we expect, but He always hears and does what brings Him glory and His people good (Rom 8:28).

14:13 they were broken before the LORD and before His camp Judah's army was God's camp. "The battle belongs to the LORD" (1 Sam 17:47). Gerar lay in the south toward the Philistine coast.

14:15 they returned to Jerusalem A great victory from God. But victories can be dangerous too. Chapter 15 shows God sending a prophet right away to tell Asa how to keep walking with Him, and chapter 16 shows what happened when Asa forgot this day.

15:1 the Spirit of God came on him In the Old Testament the Spirit came on certain people for certain tasks. Azariah appears once, gives God's word and disappears. God does not need famous people to speak through.

15:2 The LORD is with you while you are with Him One of the key verses of the book, and every king in Chronicles is measured by it. God sent this word to an army coming home from victory, when we are most likely to drift. Azariah spoke to the nation under the covenant of Moses. For a believer in Christ, salvation does not come and go with our faithfulness (John 10:28; Heb 13:5). But when we turn our backs, we lose the sense of His nearness and He disciplines us to bring us back (Heb 12:6). "Draw near to God, and He will draw near to you" (James 4:8).

15:3 without the God of truth, and without a teaching priest, and without law This sounds like the days of the judges (Judg 21:25), and some think he also looked ahead, as Hosea 3:4 uses similar words. A people without God's Word taught to them drifts into chaos. That is why faithful Bible teaching matters in every church and home.

15:4 they sought Him, and He was found by them The pattern of Judges: sin, trouble, crying out, deliverance. God has always been found by those who seek Him, even after long turning away. It is never too late to turn back.

city, for God troubled them with every distress. 7 And you, be strong, and let not your hands drop, for there is a reward for your work."

Asa's Covenant and Reform

8 And when Asa heard these words and the prophecy of Oded the prophet, he strengthened himself, and he took away the detestable things from all the land of Judah and Benjamin and from the cities which he had captured from the hill country of Ephraim (Efrayim); and he renewed the altar of the LORD which was before the porch of the LORD. 9 And he gathered all Judah and Benjamin, and those sojourning with them from Ephraim and Manasseh (Menashe) and from Simeon (Shimon); for they had deserted to him from Israel in abundance when they saw that the LORD his God was with him. 10 And they gathered together at Jerusalem
(Yerushalayim) in the third month of the fifteenth year of the reign of Asa. 11 And they sacrificed to the LORD on that day, from the booty which they had brought, seven hundred cattle and seven thousand sheep. 12 And they entered into the covenant to seek the LORD, the God of their fathers, with all their heart and with all their soul; 13 and everyone who would not seek the LORD, the God of Israel, should be put to death, from small to great, from man to woman. 14 And they swore to the LORD with a loud voice, and with a shout, and with trumpets, and with rams' horns. 15 And all Judah rejoiced over the oath, for with all their heart they had sworn, and with all their will they had sought Him, and He was found by them; and the LORD gave them rest all around. 16 And also Maacah (Ma'akha), the mother of Asa the king, he removed her from being queen mother, who had made a horrid image for Asherah; and Asa cut down her horrid image, and crushed it, and burned it in the Wadi of Kidron (Qidron). 17 And the high places were not removed from Israel; only the heart of Asa was complete all his days. 18 And he brought the holy things of his father and his own holy things into the house of God: silver and gold and utensils. 19 And there was no war until the thirty-fifth year of the reign of Asa.

Asa Leans on Syria

1 In the thirty-sixth year of the reign of Asa, Baasha (Basha) king of Israel (Yisra'el) came up against Judah (Yehuda), and he built Ramah (Rama), so as not to allow anyone going out or coming in to Asa king of Judah. 2 And Asa brought out silver and gold from the treasuries of the house of the LORD and of the house of the king, and he sent it to Ben-hadad king of Syria (Aram), who dwelt in Damascus (Dameseq), saying, 3 "There is a covenant between me and you, and between my father and your father. Look, I have sent to you silver and gold. Go, break your covenant with Baasha king of Israel, so that he may go up from on me." 4 And Ben-hadad listened to King Asa, and he sent the commanders of the armies which were his against the cities of Israel; and they struck Ijon (Iyon) and Dan and Abel-maim (Avel-Mayim), and all the storage places of the cities of Naphtali (Naftali). 5 And it was, when Baasha heard, that he ceased from building Ramah, 15:7 let not your hands drop, for there is a reward for your work Hands dropping is a picture of giving up halfway. Asa had begun a reform and needed courage to finish it. Our labor in the Lord is not in vain (1 Cor 15:58), and we will reap if we do not give up (Gal 6:9). God sees faithful work when no one else does.

15:8 the prophecy of Oded the prophet The prophecy is called both Azariah's and his father Oded's, perhaps because the son spoke in his father's name or a word was lost in copying. Asa removed the idols, "the detestable things," and repaired Solomon's altar, making true worship possible again.

15:9 when they saw that the LORD his God was with him Northerners kept coming south (11:16), drawn not by Asa's army or wealth but by evidence that God was with him. That is still how people are drawn to the Lord.

15:10 in the third month of the fifteenth year About 895 B.C., the time of the Feast of Weeks. They offered from the plunder of the victory over Zerah (15:11). What God gave in battle, they gave back in worship.

15:12 with all their heart and with all their soul A covenant renewal, echoing the great command of Deuteronomy 6:5, which Jesus called the first and greatest (Matt 22:37-38).

15:13 should be put to death, from small to great This came from the Law, which commanded death for those in Israel who served or led others to other gods (Deut 13:6-10; 17:2-7). Israel was a nation under God's direct rule, and idolatry was treason against its King. We do not know whether or how often it was carried out. It is not a pattern for the church or any government today. Jesus told Peter to put away his sword (Matt 26:52) and said His kingdom is not of this world (John 18:36). Faith that is forced is not faith at all.

15:15 all Judah rejoiced over the oath The people were glad, not grim. Giving ourselves fully to God is a joy. God kept Azariah's word exactly: "He was found by them."

15:16 Maacah, the mother of Asa the king She was his grandmother (11:20-22). "Mother" can mean an ancestor, and the queen mother was an official title of honor and influence. Her "horrid image" was a thing to shudder at. It takes courage to confront your own family. Faithfulness to God must sometimes come before family loyalty (Matt 10:37), though always with love and respect.

15:17 only the heart of Asa was complete all his days Some high places remained, but God looked at his heart, undivided toward Him (1 Kgs 15:14). Since chapter 16 shows Asa failing, this most likely means he never turned to idols. His later sin was a failure of trust.

15:19 there was no war until the thirty-fifth year 1 Kings 16:8 has Baasha dead in Asa's twenty-sixth year. A common explanation counts these years from the division of the kingdom, about Asa's fifteenth and sixteenth years. Others think a copyist changed fifteen and sixteen to thirty-five and thirty-six. The war "all their days" (1 Kgs 15:16) was probably border fighting.

16:1 he built Ramah Ramah was only about five miles north of Jerusalem on the main road. A fort there choked Jerusalem's northern door and stopped northerners coming south to worship (15:9).

16:3 Go, break your covenant with Baasha king of Israel Syria (Aram in Hebrew) lay northeast of Israel. Asa paid a pagan king with treasures he had dedicated to God (15:18) to break his word. Against a million men he had prayed, "we lean on You" (14:11). Against a smaller threat he did not pray at all. We often trust God with the big crises and try to fix the smaller ones ourselves.

and he caused his work to cease. 6 And Asa the king took all Judah, and they carried away the stones of Ramah and its timber, which Baasha had built; and he built with them Geba (Geva) and Mizpah (Mitspa).

Hanani Rebukes Asa

7 And at that time Hanani (Chanani) the seer came to Asa king of Judah, and he said to him, "Because you leaned on the king of Syria and did not lean on the LORD your God, therefore the army of the king of Syria has escaped from your hand. 8 Were not the Cushites and the Libyans an army for multitude, for chariotry and for horsemen, in very great abundance? And because you leaned on the LORD, He gave them into your hand. 9 For the LORD, His eyes are roving in all the earth to show Himself strong with those whose heart is complete toward Him. You have acted foolishly in this, for from now on there are wars with you." 10 And Asa was angry with the seer, and he put him in the house of the stocks, for he was in a rage with him over this. And Asa crushed some of the people at that time.

Asa's Last Years

11 And look, the matters of Asa, the first and the last, look, they are written in the book of the kings of Judah and Israel. 12 And Asa became sick in the thirty-ninth year of his reign in his feet, until his sickness went upward; and also in his sickness he did not seek the LORD, but sought among the physicians. 13 And Asa lay down with his fathers, and he died in the forty-first year of his reign. 14 And they buried him in his graves which he had dug for himself in the city of David, and they laid him in the bed which he had filled with spices and kinds blended as an ointment of skilled work; and they burned for him a great burning, exceedingly.

Jehoshaphat Seeks the LORD

1 And Jehoshaphat (Yehoshafat) his son reigned in his place, and he strengthened himself against Israel (Yisra'el). 2 And he put an army in all the fortified cities of Judah (Yehuda), and he put garrisons in the land of Judah and in the cities of Ephraim (Efrayim) which Asa his father had captured. 3 And the LORD was with Jehoshaphat, for he walked in the former ways of David his father, and he did not seek the Baals, 4 for he sought the God of his father, and he walked in His commandments, and not according to the deeds of Israel. 5 And the LORD established the kingdom in his hand, and all Judah gave tribute to Jehoshaphat; and he had riches and honor in abundance. 6 And his heart was high in the ways of the LORD; and again he removed the high places and the Asherim from Judah.

Teachers Sent Through Judah

7 And in the third year of his reign he sent for his officials, for Ben-hail (Ben-Chayil), and for Obadiah (Ovadya), and for Zechariah (Zekharya), and for Nethanel (Netanel), and for Micaiah (Mikhayahu), to teach in the cities of Judah. 8 And with them were the Levites: Shemaiah (Shemayahu), and Nethaniah (Netanyahu), and Zebadiah (Zevadyahu), and Asahel, and Shemiramoth (Shemiramot), and Jehonathan (Yehonatan), and Adonijah (Adoniyahu), and Tobijah (Toviyahu), and Tobadonijah (Tov-Adoniya), the Levites; and 16:6 he built with them Geba and Mizpah By every human measure it worked. But a plan that works is not always a plan that pleases God.

16:7 Because you leaned on the king of Syria Hanani was a seer, a prophet, and father of the prophet Jehu (19:2). Asa thought he had won, but God says he lost. Had he trusted God, Syria too would have been defeated, and Syria troubled Israel and Judah for the next century and a half.
16:8 because you leaned on the LORD, He gave them into your hand Asa had already proved God was enough, and he forgot. Past faith is no guarantee of present faith. We must keep leaning on God every day.
16:9 His eyes are roving in all the earth to show Himself strong The heart of the chapter, and one of the most encouraging verses in the Old Testament. God is not looking for reasons to punish. He is looking for people to strengthen, not the strongest or richest, but those "whose heart is complete toward Him." His power is made perfect in weakness (2 Cor 12:9-10). Is your heart complete toward Him today, or divided between God and your own plans?
16:9 from now on there are wars with you Asa had bought peace, but it was not God's peace.
16:10 he put him in the house of the stocks A wooden frame that held a prisoner in a painful position. The first time in Chronicles a king of Judah persecuted a prophet, and not the last (24:20-21; Jer 20:2). Pride makes us hate those who tell us the truth (Prov 12:1). Our response to correction from God's Word shows the condition of our heart.
16:12 he did not seek the LORD, but sought among the physicians The Bible does not condemn medicine. Luke was "the beloved physician" (Col 4:14), and Isaiah prescribed figs for Hezekiah (Isa 38:21). The problem was that Asa went only to doctors and not to God. Some think those physicians also used pagan practices. When sick, we should pray first and use the means God provides, trusting Him through them.
16:14 they burned for him a great burning Not cremation, but a great fire of spices in his honor (Jer 34:5). Asa tore down idols and trusted God against a million men, but he finished poorly. Starting well is wonderful. Finishing well is better (2 Tim 4:7). Pray that God will keep your heart complete toward Him to the end.
17:1 he strengthened himself against Israel Jehoshaphat reigned about 872 to 848 B.C., counting a few years ruling beside his sick father. A garrison (17:2) was a post of soldiers stationed to hold a place. He began by protecting what God had given.
17:3 the former ways of David his father David's early years were his best, before Bathsheba. Some copies leave out David and mean Asa's good early years. Either way, he followed the best in those before him.
17:3 he did not seek the Baals Baal was the chief Canaanite god, believed to give rain, storms and fertile fields, and "the Baals" are his many local forms. Ahab and Jezebel were spreading his worship in the north (1 Kgs 16:31-33). Jehoshaphat sought God, and Azariah's promise came true (15:2).
17:6 his heart was high in the ways of the LORD A good kind of high heart. Elsewhere it means pride (26:16; 32:25). Here it means courage and joy, bold zeal for God's ways. He removed high places again. Reform is never finished once and for all, and some still remained (20:33).
17:7 to teach in the cities of Judah Officials, Levites and priests went out together. Teaching the Law was a main job of the priests and Levites (Lev 10:11; Deut 33:10), and Israel's dark days came when they were "without a teaching priest" (15:3). Jehoshaphat fixed that.

with them Elishama and Jehoram (Yehoram), the priests. 9 And they taught in Judah, and with them was the book of the law of the LORD; and they went around in all the cities of Judah, and they taught among the people.

Jehoshaphat Grows Strong

10 And the dread of the LORD was on all the kingdoms of the lands which were around Judah, and they did not make war with Jehoshaphat. 11 And some of the Philistines were bringing to Jehoshaphat tribute, and silver as a load; also the Arabs were bringing to him flocks: seven thousand seven hundred rams and seven thousand seven hundred male goats. 12 And Jehoshaphat was going on and becoming great, to the uppermost; and he built in Judah fortresses and cities of storage. 13 And he had much work in the cities of Judah; and men of war, mighty men of strength, were in Jerusalem (Yerushalayim). 14 And these were their musterings by the house of their fathers: of Judah, commanders of thousands: Adnah (Adna) the commander, and with him three hundred thousand mighty men of strength; 15 and at his hand Jehohanan (Yehochanan) the commander, and with him two hundred and eighty thousand; 16 and at his hand Amasiah (Amasya) the son of Zichri (Zikhri), who volunteered himself to the LORD, and with him two hundred thousand mighty men of strength. 17 And from Benjamin (Binyamin): a mighty man of strength, Eliada (Elyada), and with him two hundred thousand armed with bow and shield; 18 and at his hand Jehozabad (Yehozavad), and with him a hundred and eighty thousand equipped for war. 19 These were those serving the king, besides those whom the king put in the cities of fortification in all Judah.

Jehoshaphat Allies with Ahab

1 And Jehoshaphat (Yehoshafat) had riches and honor in abundance; and he allied himself by marriage to Ahab (Achav). 2 And at the end of some years he went down to Ahab, to Samaria (Shomron); and Ahab slaughtered for him and for the people who were with him sheep and cattle in abundance; and he lured him to go up against Ramoth-gilead (Ramot-Gilad). 3 And Ahab king of Israel (Yisra'el) said to Jehoshaphat king of Judah (Yehuda), "Will you go with me to Ramoth-gilead?" And he said to him, "As I am, so are you, and as your people, so are my people; and we will be with you in the battle." 4 And Jehoshaphat said to the king of Israel, "Inquire, please, today for the word of the LORD." 5 And the king of Israel gathered the prophets, four hundred men, and he said to them, "Shall we go against Ramoth-gilead to battle, or shall I refrain?" And they said, "Go up, and God will give it into the hand of the king." 6 And Jehoshaphat said, "Is there not here still a prophet of the LORD, that we may inquire of him?" 7 And the king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat, "There is still one man by whom to inquire of the LORD; and I, I hate him, for he is not prophesying good concerning me, but all his days evil: he is Micaiah (Mikhayhu) the son of Imlah (Yimla)." And Jehoshaphat said, "Let not the king say so." 8 And the king of Israel called a certain official, and he said, "Bring Micaiah the son of Imlah quickly." 9 And the king of Israel and Jehoshaphat king of Judah were sitting, each on his throne, clothed in garments, and they were sitting at the threshing floor at the entrance of the gate of Samaria; and all the prophets were prophesying before them. 10 And Zedekiah (Tsidqiyahu) the son of Chenaanah (Kena'ana) made for himself horns of iron, and he said, "Thus says the LORD: 'With these you will gore Syria (Aram) until you destroy them.'" 11 And all the prophets were prophesying thus, saying, "Go up to Ramoth-gilead and succeed, and the LORD will give it into the hand of the king."

17:9 the book of the law of the LORD They did not teach their own ideas, most likely the five books of Moses. You cannot keep idols out unless you fill minds with God's truth (2 Tim 4:2; Matt 28:19-20). A church or family not taught the Bible will drift, however sincere. You do not need to be a priest to teach your children or lead a small group through Scripture.
17:10 they did not make war with Jehoshaphat He sent out teachers, not soldiers, and the result was peace. When God's people take His Word seriously, God Himself becomes their defense. Philistines and desert Arab tribes brought tribute, honor like Solomon's (9:23-24).
17:12 Jehoshaphat was going on and becoming great Seeking God and being prepared are not opposites. Nehemiah's workers prayed and set a guard (Neh 4:9). Faith is not laziness.
17:14 by the house of their fathers By family groups. The total comes to 1,160,000 besides the fortress troops. I take the numbers as written (see 11:1). God blessed Jehoshaphat with strength as he sought Him.
17:16 who volunteered himself to the LORD Nothing else is known of Amasiah. Among more than a million soldiers, one man is remembered for a willing heart. God notices those who present themselves to Him (Rom 12:1).
18:1 he allied himself by marriage to Ahab He did not need Ahab. God had given him everything. His son Jehoram married Ahab's daughter Athaliah (21:6; 22:2), and that marriage nearly wiped out David's line (22:10). It may have looked wise. It was a disaster. The closest partnerships of our lives, especially marriage, shape us and our children for generations (2 Cor 6:14).
18:2 he lured him to go up against Ramoth-gilead Ramoth-gilead was a city east of the Jordan that Syria had taken. The same word lured returns when a lying spirit lures Ahab (18:20) and when God lures the enemy away (18:31). The tempter became the tempted.
18:3 As I am, so are you Jehoshaphat made himself one with Ahab before asking God anything. How often do we commit ourselves first and ask God's blessing afterward?
18:6 Is there not here still a prophet of the LORD Four hundred court prophets told the king what he wanted to hear, and Jehoshaphat sensed something was wrong.
18:7 I, I hate him, for he is not prophesying good concerning me Ahab hated Micaiah because he told the truth. Many still reject God's Word for the same reason (2 Tim 4:3-4).
18:10 horns of iron Zedekiah's prop pictured goring the enemy. Four hundred voices in the LORD's name were all wrong. Truth is not decided by a vote.

Micaiah Prophesies

12 And the messenger who had gone to call Micaiah spoke to him, saying, "Look, the words of the prophets are good concerning the king with one mouth; and let your word, please, be like one of them, and speak good." 13 And Micaiah said, "As the LORD lives, surely what my God says, that I will speak." 14 And he came to the king, and the king said to him, "Micaiah (Mikha), shall we go against Ramoth-gilead to battle, or shall I refrain?" And he said, "Go up and succeed, and they will be given into your hand." 15 And the king said to him, "Up to how many times will I make you swear that you will not speak to me anything but truth in the name of the LORD?" 16 And he said, "I saw all Israel scattered on the mountains like the flock which has no shepherd. And the LORD said, 'These have no masters; let them return each to his house in peace.'" 17 And the king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat, "Did I not say to you that he will not prophesy good concerning me, but evil?" 18 And he said, "Therefore hear the word of the LORD: I saw the LORD sitting on His throne, and all the host of the heavens standing on His right and on His left. 19 And the LORD said, 'Who will entice Ahab king of Israel, that he may go up and fall at Ramoth-gilead?' And one said, this one saying thus, and this one saying thus. 20 And the spirit came out and stood before the LORD, and said, 'I, I will entice him.' And the LORD said to him, 'By what?' 21 And he said, 'I will go out and become a spirit of falsehood in the mouth of all his prophets.' And He said, 'You will entice, and also you will prevail. Go out and do so.' 22 And now, look, the LORD has put a spirit of falsehood in the mouth of these your prophets; and the LORD has spoken evil concerning you." 23 And Zedekiah the son of Chenaanah drew near and struck Micaiah on the cheek, and he said, "Which way is this that the Spirit of the LORD passed from me to speak with you?" 24 And Micaiah said, "Look, you will see on that day when you go into a room within a room to hide yourself." 25 And the king of Israel said, "Take Micaiah and bring him back to Amon the official of the city and to Joash (Yo'ash) the son of the king, 26 and you will say, 'Thus says the king: Put this one in the house of confinement, and feed him bread of oppression and water of oppression until I return in peace.'" 27 And Micaiah said, "If you indeed return in peace, the LORD has not spoken by me." And he said, "Hear, O peoples, all of them!"

The Death of Ahab

28 And the king of Israel and Jehoshaphat king of Judah went up against Ramoth-gilead. 29 And the king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat, "I will disguise myself and go into the battle; and you, put on your garments." And the king of Israel disguised himself, and they went into the battle. 30 And the king of Syria had commanded the commanders of the chariotry which belonged to him, saying, "Do not fight with the small or with the great, but with the king of Israel, him alone." 31 And it was, when the commanders of the chariotry saw Jehoshaphat, and they said, "He is the king of Israel," and they turned against him to fight; and Jehoshaphat cried out, and the LORD helped him, and God lured them away from him. 32 And it was, when the commanders of the chariotry saw that he was not the king of Israel, that they turned back from after him. 33 And a man drew on the bow in his innocence, and he struck the king of Israel between the joints and the body armor; and he said to the charioteer, "Turn your hand and take me out of the camp, for I am wounded." 34 And the battle increased on that day; and the king of Israel was holding himself upright in the chariot opposite Syria until the evening; and he died at the time of the setting of the sun.

18:13 As the LORD lives, surely what my God says, that I will speak A sentence every preacher and every believer should make his own.
18:16 like the flock which has no shepherd Micaiah's first answer must have been mocking (18:14). The shepherd was the king. Ahab would die and his army go home leaderless. Jesus saw the crowds the same way (Mark 6:34).
18:21 a spirit of falsehood in the mouth of all his prophets A hard passage. God cannot lie (Titus 1:2; Heb 6:18) and tempts no one (James 1:13). Ahab had already chosen the lie, and God gave him over to what he loved, as with those who refuse the love of the truth (2 Thess 2:10-11). A spirit offered to deceive, and God permitted and used it, as He allowed Satan to test Job (Job 1:6-12). Many take this as a real look into the throne room, some think the spirit was Satan, and others take it as a vision in the form of a heavenly council. All agree God rules over all and does not lie (1 Kgs 22:19-23).
18:22 the LORD has spoken evil concerning you God told Ahab exactly what was happening. He exposed the false prophets and warned of disaster in the same breath. Even in judgment He gave a last chance.
18:23 struck Micaiah on the cheek Faithful people often suffer for telling the truth. Jesus was struck before the high priest (John 18:22-23), and the persecuted for righteousness are blessed (Matt 5:10-12).
18:27 If you indeed return in peace, the LORD has not spoken by me Micaiah staked everything on God's word and called all the peoples to witness who was right.
18:28 went up against Ramoth-gilead Jehoshaphat heard God's word plainly and went anyway. That is the saddest line in his story.
18:31 Jehoshaphat cried out, and the LORD helped him Kings says only that he cried out (1 Kgs 22:32). Chronicles adds that the LORD helped and lured the enemy away. God is merciful to His own even when they walk into trouble by their own foolishness. That does not make it right (19:2). Have you ever cried to God from a mess you made yourself, and found Him there?
18:33 a man drew on the bow in his innocence At random, aiming at no one. A disguise could fool the Syrians but not God. Ahab died at sunset, about 853 B.C. The four hundred were wrong, and the one prophet was right. No disguise, alliance or crowd of flattering voices can stand against God's word.

Jehu Rebukes Jehoshaphat

1 And Jehoshaphat (Yehoshafat) the king of Judah (Yehuda) returned to his house in peace, to Jerusalem (Yerushalayim). 2 And Jehu (Yehu) the son of Hanani (Chanani) the seer went out to face him, and he said to King Jehoshaphat, "Should you help the wicked, and will you love those who hate the LORD? And because of this, wrath is on you from before the LORD. 3 But good things have been found with you, for you have removed the Asherahs from the land, and you have set your heart to seek God."

Jehoshaphat Appoints Judges

4 And Jehoshaphat dwelt in Jerusalem. And he again went out among the people from Beersheba (Be'er-Sheva) to the hill country of Ephraim (Efrayim), and he turned them back to the LORD, the God of their fathers. 5 And he appointed judges in the land, in all the fortified cities of Judah, city by city. 6 And he said to the judges, "Consider what you are doing, for you do not judge for man, but for the LORD, and He is with you in the matter of judgment. 7 And now, let the dread of the LORD be on you. Take care and act, for there is no injustice with the LORD our God, and no lifting up of faces, and no taking of a bribe." 8 And also in Jerusalem Jehoshaphat appointed some of the Levites and the priests and some of the heads of the fathers of Israel (Yisra'el), for the judgment of the LORD and for disputes. And they returned to Jerusalem. 9 And he commanded them, saying, "Thus you shall do in the fear of the LORD, in faithfulness and with a complete heart. 10 And every dispute that comes to you from your brothers who dwell in their cities, between blood and blood, between law and commandment, statutes and judgments, you shall warn them, so that they will not be guilty before the LORD and wrath not be on you and on your brothers. Thus you shall do, and you will not be guilty. 11 And look, Amariah (Amaryahu) the head priest is over you in every matter of the LORD, and Zebadiah (Zevadyahu) the son of Ishmael (Yishma'el), the leader of the house of Judah, in every matter of the king, and the Levites are officials before you. Be strong and act, and may the LORD be with the good."

Enemies Come Against Judah

1 And it was after this that the sons of Moab (Mo'av) and the sons of Ammon (Amon), and with them some of the Ammonites, came against Jehoshaphat (Yehoshafat) for battle. 2 And some came and told Jehoshaphat, saying, "A great multitude is coming against you from beyond the sea, from Syria (Aram); and look, they are in Hazazon-tamar (Chatsatson-Tamar), that is Engedi." 3 And Jehoshaphat was afraid, and he set his face to seek the LORD, and he proclaimed a fast over all Judah (Yehuda). 4 And Judah gathered together to seek help from the LORD; also from all the cities of Judah they came to seek the LORD.

Jehoshaphat's Prayer

5 And Jehoshaphat stood in the assembly of Judah and Jerusalem (Yerushalayim), in the house of the LORD, before the new courtyard. 6 And he said, "O LORD, God of our fathers, are You not He, God in the heavens? And You are 19:1 returned to his house in peace Micaiah said Ahab would not return in peace (18:27), and he did not. Jehoshaphat did, only because he cried out and the LORD helped him (18:31). That is mercy, not a reward.

19:2 Should you help the wicked, and will you love those who hate the LORD Jehu's father Hanani had rebuked Asa and been jailed for it (16:7-10). Now the son does the same hard job. The wrath came in the invasion of chapter 20 and later in the ruin Ahab's daughter brought on Jehoshaphat's family (chapters 21-22).
19:3 But good things have been found with you An Asherah was a wooden pole or image for the Canaanite goddess, often beside a Baal altar. God does not ignore our sin, and He does not forget our faithfulness. Have you thought one failure cancelled everything God saw in you? The God who names the sin also names the good (Heb 12:6).
19:4 he turned them back to the LORD, the God of their fathers Unlike Asa, Jehoshaphat accepted the rebuke. From Beersheba in the south to the hill country of Ephraim in the north, he went himself this time (compare 17:7-9). The best answer to a rebuke is not an excuse but a changed life.
19:6 you do not judge for man, but for the LORD The Law commanded judges in every town (Deut 16:18-20), and Jehoshaphat's name means the LORD judges. A judge stood in God's place. Most of us make judgments as parents, employers and church leaders. Every one is made before the LORD.
19:7 there is no injustice with the LORD our God No "lifting up of faces," showing favor to someone because of who he is, and no bribe (Deut 10:17; 16:19). A judge was to be like the God he served. Do we treat rich and poor the same? James warns the church against partiality (James 2:1-9).
19:8 some of the Levites and the priests and some of the heads of the fathers of Israel A higher court in Jerusalem, like the one Moses described for hard cases (Deut 17:8-12). Levites served at God's house, priests were Aaron's descendants, and the heads of the fathers led the family clans.
19:10 between blood and blood Cases of killing, whether murder or accident (Num 35). Their job was also to "warn them," to teach people what God requires so they would not sin again. A good judge also teaches.
19:11 Be strong and act, and may the LORD be with the good Religious matters went to the priest, civil matters to the king's man. Doing justice takes courage. This picture points to the perfect Judge, the Son of David who judges with righteousness for the poor (Isa 11:3-4), to whom the Father has given all judgment (John 5:22).
20:1 some of the Ammonites Moab and Ammon came from Lot (Gen 19:36-38). The Hebrew names Ammonites twice. The old Greek reads Meunites, a desert people near Edom (compare 26:7), which fits verse 10's "mountain of Seir," Edom's hill country.
20:2 from beyond the sea The Dead Sea. They had come around its south end and reached Engedi, an oasis on the western shore about twenty-five miles from Jerusalem. A surprise attack, already close.
20:3 Jehoshaphat was afraid, and he set his face to seek the LORD The Bible does not hide the king's fear. Fear is not a sin. What matters is what we do with it, and he turned it into prayer. A fast is going without food for a time to give oneself to prayer, a sign of humbling oneself. This is 7:14 lived out.
20:6 are You not He, God in the heavens His prayer begins not with the problem but with God. Before he names the enemy, he reminds himself how big God is.

ruling over all the kingdoms of the nations, and in Your hand are power and might, and there is no one able to take a stand against You. 7 Are You not our God, who dispossessed the inhabitants of this land from before Your people Israel (Yisra'el), and You gave it to the seed of Abraham (Avraham) Your friend forever? 8 And they have dwelt in it, and they have built for You in it a sanctuary for Your name, saying, 9 'If calamity comes on us, sword, judgment, and pestilence, and famine, we will stand before this house and before You, for Your name is in this house, and we will cry out to You from our distress, and You will hear and save.' 10 And now, look, the sons of Ammon and Moab and the mountain of Seir (Se'ir), whom You did not allow Israel to go into when they came from the land of Egypt (Mitsrayim), for they turned aside from them and did not destroy them, 11 and look, they are repaying us by coming to drive us out from Your possession which You caused us to possess. 12 O our God, will You not judge them? The Battle Is Not Yours

14 And Jahaziel (Yachazi'el) the son of Zechariah (Zekharyahu), the son of Benaiah (Benaya), the son of Jeiel (Ye'i'el), the son of Mattaniah (Matanya) the Levite, of the sons of Asaph (Asaf): the Spirit of the LORD was on him in the midst of the assembly. 15 And he said, "Pay attention, all Judah and inhabitants of Jerusalem and King Jehoshaphat! Thus says the LORD to you: 'You, do not be afraid, and do not be dismayed because of this great multitude, for the battle is not yours, but God's. 16 Tomorrow go down against them. Look, they are coming up by the ascent of Ziz (Tsits), and you will find them at the end of the wadi, in front of the wilderness of Jeruel (Yeru'el). 17 It is not for you to fight in this battle. Take your stand, stand, and see the salvation of the LORD with you, O Judah and Jerusalem. Do not be afraid, and do not be dismayed. Tomorrow go out before them, and the LORD will be with you.'" 18 And Jehoshaphat bowed with his face to the earth, and all Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem fell before the LORD, to bow down to the LORD. 19 And the Levites, of the sons of the Kohathites and of the sons of the Korahites, rose up to praise the LORD, the God of Israel, with a great voice, upward.

Victory Through Praise

20 And they rose early in the morning, and they went out to the wilderness of Tekoa (Teqoa); and as they went out, Jehoshaphat stood and said, "Hear me, O Judah and inhabitants of Jerusalem: Believe in the LORD your God, and you will be established; believe in His prophets, and succeed." 21 And he consulted with the people, and he appointed those who sang to the LORD and those who praised Him in the 20:7 to the seed of Abraham Your friend forever Abraham is called God's friend again in Isaiah 41:8 and James 2:23. The land was a covenant gift.

20:9 we will cry out to You from our distress, and You will hear and save He holds God to Solomon's prayer at the temple (6:28-30). He is not bargaining. He is praying God's own words back to Him, a good way for us to pray.
20:11 from Your possession which You caused us to possess These were nations God told Israel not to attack (Deut 2:4-9, 19). The attack was on what belongs to God.
20:12 O our God, will You not judge them Having appointed judges for Judah, he brings the case to the highest Judge. He does not ask God to bless his battle plan. He asks God to decide.
20:12 there is no strength in us before this great multitude He had a large army (17:14-19), but he tells the truth. We want to bring God a plan to sign. His power is shown most clearly when we stop pretending we are strong: "My grace is sufficient for you, for My power is perfected in weakness" (2 Cor 12:9).
20:12 we, we do not know what we should do; but our eyes are on You There is no shame in telling God you don't know what to do. The shame is in charging ahead without Him, as he did at Ramoth-gilead (18:3). Not knowing what to do does not leave us helpless when we know where to look (Ps 121:1-2; Heb 12:2). Facing a diagnosis, a broken relationship or a child who has walked away? You can pray this prayer just as it stands.
20:13 also their little ones, their wives, and their sons Thousands of families standing quietly before God, waiting. Sometimes the right thing after praying is to stand still and wait for God to speak.
20:14 the Spirit of the LORD was on him in the midst of the assembly Jahaziel was a Levite singer of the sons of Asaph (1 Chr 25:1-2), not a king or famous prophet. His five-generation line shows he was a real, known man whose word could be tested. God can speak through anyone He chooses.
20:15 do not be afraid, and do not be dismayed God does not scold them for fear. He speaks to it directly. To be dismayed is to be shattered by fear.
20:15 for the battle is not yours, but God's The heart of the chapter. David told Goliath the same (1 Sam 17:47). It does not mean God's people do nothing. It means the outcome rests with God. What battles are you fighting as though everything depended on you? "If God is for us, who is against us?" (Rom 8:31).
20:16 they are coming up by the ascent of Ziz A pass climbing from the Dead Sea toward Tekoa. God told them where the enemy would be. They still had to rise early and march. Trusting God and obeying God always go together.
20:17 stand, and see the salvation of the LORD with you An echo of Moses at the Red Sea (Exod 14:13). To take your stand is to hold your position and not run. Salvation here is rescue from danger. God repeats "do not be afraid" because frightened people need comfort more than once, and He ends with His presence (Matt 28:20).
20:17 the LORD will be with you Our battles are often with sin, sorrow and temptation, not flesh and blood (Eph 6:12). The greatest battle, against sin and death, Jesus has already won at the cross without our help (Col 2:15). We stand and see the salvation of the LORD.
20:18 Jehoshaphat bowed with his face to the earth Before one enemy fell, they worshiped on the strength of God's word alone. That is faith: thanking Him for a promise as though it were done.
20:19 the sons of the Korahites The sons of Korah wrote several psalms (Ps 42-49). Their praise rang out loud and high, their first answer to God's promise.
20:20 Believe in the LORD your God, and you will be established In Hebrew believe and established come from the same root, aman, which gives us amen. Trust in God makes you firm. Isaiah said it to Ahaz the other way around (Isa 7:9). Tekoa lay in the rough country south of Bethlehem, later home of Amos (Amos 1:1).
20:21 Give thanks to the LORD, for His steadfast love is forever The choir went before the army. "The splendor of holiness" may mean holy clothing or the beauty of God's holiness. The song of hesed, God's loyal love that does not quit, was sung when the ark came to Jerusalem (1 Chr 16:34) and at the temple's dedication (7:3). They sang it before the battle. Praise is a weapon of faith, not only a response to victory.

splendor of holiness as they went out before the armed men, and they were saying, "Give thanks to the LORD, for His steadfast love is forever." 22 And at the time when they began with a ringing cry and praise, the LORD set ambushers against the sons of Ammon, Moab, and the mountain of Seir who were coming against Judah, and they were struck down. 23 And the sons of Ammon and Moab rose up against the inhabitants of the mountain of Seir to devote them to destruction and to destroy them; and when they had finished with the inhabitants of Seir, they helped, each man against his neighbor, to destruction. 24 And Judah came to the watchtower of the wilderness, and they turned toward the multitude, and look, they were corpses fallen to the earth, and there was no escapee. 25 And Jehoshaphat and his people came to plunder their spoil, and they found among them in abundance both goods and corpses and precious articles, and they stripped them for themselves until there was no carrying more. And they were three days plundering the spoil, for it was much. 26 And on the fourth day they assembled at the Valley of Beracah (Berakha), for there they blessed the LORD. Therefore they have called the name of that place "the Valley of Beracah" until this day. 27 And every man of Judah and Jerusalem returned, and Jehoshaphat at their head, to return to Jerusalem with joy, for the LORD had made them rejoice over their enemies. 28 And they came to Jerusalem with harps and with lyres and with trumpets, to the house of the LORD. 29 And the dread of God was on all the kingdoms of the lands when they heard that the LORD had fought against the enemies of Israel. 30 And the kingdom of Jehoshaphat was quiet, and his God gave him rest all around.

The End of Jehoshaphat's Reign

31 And Jehoshaphat reigned over Judah. He was a son of thirty-five years when he became king, and he reigned twenty-five years in Jerusalem. And the name of his mother was Azubah (Azuva) the daughter of Shilhi (Shilchi). 32 And he walked in the way of his father Asa, and he did not turn aside from it, doing what was right in the eyes of the LORD. 33 Only, the high places were not removed, and the people still had not set their heart to the God of their fathers. 34 And the rest of the matters of Jehoshaphat, the first and the last, look, they are written in the words of Jehu (Yehu) the son of Hanani (Chanani), which was recorded in the book of the kings of Israel. 35 And after this Jehoshaphat king of Judah allied himself with Ahaziah (Achazya) king of Israel; he acted wickedly in doing so. 36 And he allied himself with him to make ships to go to Tarshish, and they made ships in Ezion-geber (Etsyon-Gever). 37 And Eliezer the son of Dodavahu of Mareshah (Maresha) prophesied against Jehoshaphat, saying, "Because you have allied yourself with Ahaziah, the LORD has broken down your works." And the ships were broken, and they were not able to go to Tarshish.

2 CHRONICLES 21

Jehoram Reigns in Judah

1 And Jehoshaphat (Yehoshafat) lay down with his fathers, and he was buried with his fathers in the city of David, and Jehoram (Yehoram) his son reigned in his place. 2 And he had brothers, the sons of Jehoshaphat: Azariah (Azarya) and Jehiel (Yechi'el) and Zechariah (Zekharyahu) and Azariah (Azaryahu) and Michael (Mikha'el) and Shephatiah (Shefatyahu); all these were the sons of Jehoshaphat king of Israel (Yisra'el). 3 And their father gave them many gifts of silver and of gold and of precious things, with fortified cities in Judah (Yehuda); and the kingdom he gave to Jehoram, for

21:3 2 Chr 11:23; Gen 25:6; Deut 21:15-17

20:22 the LORD set ambushers The moment the singing began, God acted. Scripture does not say who the ambushers were, angels or enemies stirred against each other. The enemy destroyed itself (20:23), as in Gideon's day (Judg 7:22; 1 Sam 14:20).
20:25 they were three days plundering the spoil They went out expecting a fight and came home carrying more than they could hold. God often gives far more than we ask or think (Eph 3:20).
20:26 there they blessed the LORD Beracah means blessing. The story began with a fast and ends with a praise meeting. It is good to mark the places where God rescued us, so we and our children remember.
20:27 the LORD had made them rejoice over their enemies The story that began with prayer at the temple ends with thanks at the temple. We remember to pray when trouble comes. Do we come back to thank Him when He answers?
20:29 the LORD had fought against the enemies of Israel The nations feared Judah's God, not Judah's army. The rest that followed is a small picture of the rest God gives in Christ (Matt 11:28; Heb 4:9-10).
20:33 the people still had not set their heart Some high places were for false gods, and some for worship of the LORD in places He had not chosen (Deut 12:13-14). A king can tear down shrines, but he cannot change hearts.
20:35 he acted wickedly in doing so Ahaziah followed Ahab's ways (1 Kgs 22:51-53). Jehoshaphat had been rebuked for this very thing (19:2) and did it again.
20:37 the LORD has broken down your works Ezion-geber was a port on the Gulf of Aqaba, and "Tarshish" a far land and a name for large trading ships. Afterward Jehoshaphat refused Ahaziah's offer (1 Kgs 22:48-49), so it seems he learned. The man who prayed so beautifully kept repeating one mistake. Great spiritual moments do not make us immune to old weaknesses (1 Cor 10:12).
21:1 Jehoshaphat lay down with his fathers Jehoram had shared the throne with his father for some years. On the dates this study follows, he reigned about 853 to 841 B.C., alone from about 848.
21:2 Jehoshaphat king of Israel The Chronicler saw Judah as the true Israel, God's people under David's line.
21:3 the kingdom he gave to Jehoram, for he was the firstborn Rehoboam did the same with his sons (11:23), a wise plan for family peace. Jehoshaphat could not know how his eldest would repay it.

he was the firstborn. 4 And Jehoram rose up over the kingdom of his father, and he strengthened himself, and he killed all his brothers with the sword, and also some of the leaders of Israel. 5 Jehoram was a son of thirty-two years when he became king, and he reigned eight years in Jerusalem (Yerushalayim). 6 And he walked in the way of the kings of Israel, just as the house of Ahab (Achav) did, for the daughter of Ahab was his wife; and he did the evil in the eyes of the LORD. 7 And the LORD was not willing to destroy the house of David, because of the covenant that He had made with David, and since He had said to give a lamp to him and to his sons all the days.

Edom and Libnah Revolt

8 In his days Edom rebelled from under the hand of Judah, and they made a king reign over them. 9 And Jehoram crossed over with his commanders, and all the chariots with him. And it was that he rose up by night, and he struck down Edom which was surrounding him, and the commanders of the chariots. 10 And Edom has rebelled from under the hand of Judah until this day. Then Libnah (Livna) rebelled at that time from under his hand, because he had forsaken the LORD, the God of his fathers. 11 Also he made high places in the mountains of Judah, and he caused the inhabitants of Jerusalem to prostitute themselves, and he drove Judah astray.

Elijah's Letter

12 And a writing came to him from Elijah (Eliyahu) the prophet, saying, "Thus says the LORD, the God of David your father: 'Because you have not walked in the ways of Jehoshaphat your father and in the ways of Asa king of Judah, 13 and you have walked in the way of the kings of Israel, and you have caused Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem to prostitute themselves, like the prostituting of the house of Ahab, and also you have killed your brothers, the house of your father, who were better than you, 14 look, the LORD is striking a great plague among your people and among your sons and among your wives and among all your property; 15 and you will be in many sicknesses, in sickness of your bowels, until your bowels come out because of the sickness, days upon days.'"

Jehoram's Judgment

16 And the LORD stirred up against Jehoram the spirit of the Philistines and the Arabs who were beside the Cushites. 17 And they came up against Judah, and they broke into it, and they took captive all the property that was found belonging to the house of the king, and also his sons and his wives; and no son was left to him except Jehoahaz (Yeho'achaz), the youngest of his sons. 18 And after all this the LORD struck him in his bowels with a sickness for which there was no healing. 19 And it was, from days to days, and about the time of the going out of the end of two years, his bowels came out with his sickness, and he died in severe sicknesses. And his people did not make a burning for him like the burning of his fathers. 20 He was a son of thirty-two years when he became king, and he reigned eight years in Jerusalem. And he went without anyone's longing, and they buried him in the city of David, and not in the graves of the kings.

21:4 he killed all his brothers with the sword The text does not say why. Most likely he feared them or the leaders, perhaps faithful men who disliked Athaliah's influence. Verse 13 says they were "better than you," and their goodness may have made them a threat. It is Cain's sin (Gen 4:8; 1 John 3:12). Power without God becomes cruel. If you have been hurt by your own family, God sees and is near the brokenhearted (Ps 34:18).
21:6 the daughter of Ahab was his wife Athaliah (22:2). Jehoshaphat's alliance (18:1) bore its bitter fruit. One marriage brought Baal worship into David's palace.
21:7 to give a lamp to him and to his sons all the days A ray of light in a dark chapter. A lamp is a picture of a flame not put out, a family that still has an heir (1 Chr 17:11-14). God's promise did not depend on Jehoram. It depended on God, and it is fulfilled in Jesus, who reigns forever (Luke 1:32-33). "If we are faithless, He remains faithful" (2 Tim 2:13).
21:8 Edom rebelled from under the hand of Judah Edom, south and east of the Dead Sea, had been under Judah since David. Libnah (21:10) was a town on the western side near the Philistines (2 Kgs 8:20-22). The Chronicler gives the reason: "because he had forsaken the LORD." When a leader forsakes God, what he held together slips from his hands.
21:11 he caused the inhabitants of Jerusalem to prostitute themselves God often calls idolatry prostitution, because Israel was bound to Him like a wife to a husband. Jehoram pushed his people into sin. Leaders carry heavy responsibility (Matt 18:6).
21:12 a writing came to him from Elijah the prophet The only mention of Elijah in Chronicles. Since 2 Kings 2 tells of his being taken up, teachers explain it two ways. Some think Elijah was still alive early in Jehoram's reign, since Kings is not always in strict order. Others think he wrote before he was taken up, knowing by God what Jehoram would do, and it was delivered later. Either way, it was God's word.
21:14 the LORD is striking a great plague among your people He destroyed his father's house, and his own would be struck. "Whatever a man sows, this he will also reap" (Gal 6:7). The house of Ahab could not escape God's word by moving its influence south.
21:16 the Arabs who were beside the Cushites These Cushites seem to be people in Arabia near the Red Sea. God used raiders as His instrument of judgment, as He later used Assyria and Babylon.
21:17 no son was left to him except Jehoahaz Another form of the name Ahaziah (22:1). The man who murdered his brothers lost all his sons but one. Even here God left a lamp (21:7).
21:19 his people did not make a burning for him Not cremation, but the fire of spices for an honored king (16:14). No one did it for Jehoram. God's word through Elijah came true exactly.
21:20 he went without anyone's longing One of the saddest epitaphs in the Bible. No one missed him, and he was not buried with the kings. Compare Jehoiada, buried among the kings "for he had done good in Israel" (24:16). A life spent for self ends empty. A life spent for God and others leaves something behind.
22:1 made Ahaziah his youngest son king in his place The one son left, the lamp God promised to keep burning (21:7). He reigned in 841 B.C.

Ahaziah (Achazyahu) his youngest son king in his place, for the raiding band that came with the Arabs to the camp had killed all the elder sons. And Ahaziah the son of Jehoram (Yehoram) king of Judah (Yehuda) reigned. 2 Ahaziah was a son of forty-two years when he became king, and he reigned one year in Jerusalem. And the name of his mother was Athaliah (Atalyahu) the daughter of Omri. 3 He also walked in the ways of the house of Ahab (Achav), for his mother was his counselor to act wickedly. 4 And he did the evil in the eyes of the LORD like the house of Ahab, for they were counselors to him after the death of his father, for his destruction. 5 Also he walked in their counsel, and he went with Joram (Yehoram) the son of Ahab king of Israel (Yisra'el) to the war against Hazael (Chaza'el) king of Syria (Aram) at Ramoth-gilead (Ramot-Gilad); and the Arameans wounded Joram (Yoram). 6 And he returned to get himself healed in Jezreel (Yizre'el) because of the wounds with which they had wounded him at Ramah (Rama), when he fought with Hazael king of Syria. And Azariah (Azaryahu) the son of Jehoram king of Judah went down to see Joram the son of Ahab in Jezreel, for he was sick. 7 And the downfall of Ahaziah was from God, by coming to Joram. And when he came, he went out with Joram to Jehu (Yehu) the son of Nimshi, whom the LORD had anointed to cut off the house of Ahab. 8 And it was, when Jehu was executing judgment with the house of Ahab, that he found the officials of Judah and the sons of the brothers of Ahaziah, ministering to Ahaziah, and he killed them. 9 And he sought Ahaziah, and they captured him, and he was hiding himself in Samaria (Shomron); and they brought him to Jehu, and they put him to death, and they buried him, for they said, "He is the son of Jehoshaphat (Yehoshafat), who sought the LORD with all his heart." And there was no one in the house of Ahaziah to retain strength for the kingdom.

Athaliah Seizes the Throne

10 And Athaliah the mother of Ahaziah saw that her son was dead, and she arose and destroyed all the seed of the kingdom of the house of Judah. 11 And Jehoshabeath (Yehoshavat) the daughter of the king took Joash (Yo'ash) the son of Ahaziah, and she stole him from the midst of the sons of the king who were being put to death, and she put him and his nurse in the chamber of the beds. And Jehoshabeath the daughter of King Jehoram, the wife of Jehoiada (Yehoyada) the priest (for she was the sister of Ahaziah), hid him from before Athaliah, and she did not put him to death. 12 And he was with them in the house of God, hiding himself six years, and Athaliah was reigning over the land.

Jehoiada's Covenant

1 And in the seventh year Jehoiada (Yehoyada) strengthened himself, and he took the commanders of the hundreds, Azariah (Azaryahu) the son of Jeroham (Yerocham), and Ishmael (Yishma'el) the son of Jehohanan (Yehochanan), and Azariah the son of Obed (Oved), and Maaseiah (Ma'aseyahu) the son of Adaiah (Adayahu), and Elishaphat (Elishafat) the son of Zichri (Zikhri), with him into the covenant. 2 And they went around in Judah (Yehuda), and they gathered the

22:2 a son of forty-two years 2 Kings 8:26 says twenty-two. Forty-two cannot be right as it stands, since his father died at forty (21:20). Most believe a number was miscopied, since some Hebrew letter-numbers look alike, and some Greek and Syriac copies read twenty or twenty-two. I take twenty-two as his true age. A copying slip like this does not touch any teaching of the faith.
22:2 Athaliah the daughter of Omri Omri was Ahab's father, so "daughter" means female descendant. She was Ahab's daughter (21:6).
22:3 his mother was his counselor to act wickedly A mother has great influence, for good or evil. Timothy had a godly mother and grandmother (2 Tim 1:5). Ahaziah had Athaliah.
22:4 counselors to him after the death of his father, for his destruction Bad counsel may sound friendly, but it leads to ruin. The blessed man does not walk in the counsel of the wicked (Ps 1:1). Whose advice do we listen to?
22:5 to the war against Hazael king of Syria at Ramoth-gilead The city where Ahab died (18:34), and Jehoshaphat's old mistake again. Hazael had seized the throne of Syria (2 Kgs 8:15).
22:6 Azariah the son of Jehoram king of Judah Most Hebrew copies have Azariah, but some Hebrew copies and the old Greek and Syriac read Ahaziah, and the story makes clear it is the same king. It may be a copying slip or another name he went by. A family visit cost him his life.
22:7 the downfall of Ahaziah was from God Not bad luck. Ahaziah went to Jezreel just as God's judgment fell on Ahab's house. Jehu was anointed to bring that judgment (2 Kgs 9:1-10), as Elijah foretold (1 Kgs 21:21-24). When we join ourselves to those under judgment, we share in what falls on them.
22:9 he was hiding himself in Samaria Kings says he was wounded near Ibleam and died at Megiddo (2 Kgs 9:27-28). He may have hidden in the region of Samaria, been found, wounded as he fled, and died at Megiddo. Each writer tells it briefly from his own angle.
22:9 He is the son of Jehoshaphat, who sought the LORD with all his heart "Son" means grandson. Ahaziah got a decent burial only because of his godly grandfather. A faithful life can bless a family long after it ends.
22:10 she arose and destroyed all the seed of the kingdom of the house of Judah One of the darkest moments in the Old Testament, told in one plain sentence. Athaliah, daughter of Ahab and Jezebel, set out to kill every heir, her own grandchildren, so she could rule. Had every son of David died, God's promise of the Messiah, the anointed King and Savior, would have failed. Behind her stood the old enemy of the promised Seed (Gen 3:15), and many see the same attack in Herod's killing at Bethlehem (Matt 2:16). Satan cannot defeat God's plan. God saw what Athaliah did and did not let her have the last word.
22:11 Jehoshabeath the daughter of the king took Joash The baby's aunt, called Jehosheba in 2 Kings 11:2, and wife of Jehoiada the priest. One woman's courage saved the line of David. Like Jochebed (Exod 2:2-3) and Rahab (Josh 2), she did the right thing at great cost when no one else would.
22:12 in the house of God, hiding himself six years Athaliah reigned about 841 to 835 B.C., the only queen to rule Judah in her own right and the only ruler not of David's line. It looked as if David's house was finished, but in the house of God the promise was alive. When it seems evil has won, God may be quietly keeping His promise where no one can see.
23:1 in the seventh year Jehoiada strengthened himself For six years he protected the hidden prince. Now he took courage and acted. The commanders are named because they were real men who risked their lives for David's line. There is a time to wait and a time to act (Eccl 3:1). Godly courage prays, waits and plans, and then it moves.

Levites from all the cities of Judah, and the heads of the fathers of Israel (Yisra'el), and they came to Jerusalem (Yerushalayim). 3 And all the assembly made a covenant in the house of God with the king. And he said to them, "Look, the son of the king shall reign, just as the LORD spoke concerning the sons of David. 4 This is the thing that you shall do: the third of you who come in on the Sabbath, of the priests and of the Levites, shall be gatekeepers of the thresholds; 5 and the third shall be at the house of the king, and the third at the Gate of the Foundation; and all the people shall be in the courts of the house of the LORD. 6 And let no one come into the house of the LORD except the priests and those of the Levites who minister; they shall come in, for they are holy; and all the people shall keep the charge of the LORD. 7 And the Levites shall surround the king all around, each man with his weapons in his hand; and whoever comes into the house shall be put to death. And be with the king when he comes in and when he goes out." 8 And the Levites and all Judah did according to all that Jehoiada the priest had commanded, and they took each man his men who were coming in on the Sabbath, with those going out on the Sabbath, for Jehoiada the priest had not dismissed the divisions. 9 And Jehoiada the priest gave to the commanders of the hundreds the spears and the shields and the small shields which had belonged to King David, which were in the house of God. 10 And he stationed all the people, each man with his weapon in his hand, from the right side of the house to the left side of the house, by the altar and by the house, around the king. 11 And they brought out the son of the king, and they put on him the crown and the testimony, and they made him king; and Jehoiada and his sons anointed him, and they said, "Let the king live!"

Athaliah Put to Death

12 And Athaliah (Atalyahu) heard the sound of the people running and praising the king, and she came to the people at the house of the LORD. 13 And she looked, and look, the king was standing by his pillar at the entrance, and the officials and the trumpets were beside the king, and all the people of the land were rejoicing and blowing on trumpets, and the singers with the instruments of song were leading in praise. And Athaliah tore her clothes, and she said, "Conspiracy! Conspiracy!" 14 And Jehoiada the priest brought out the commanders of the hundreds, those appointed over the army, and he said to them, "Bring her out from between the ranks, and whoever goes after her shall be put to death with the sword." For the priest had said, "You shall not put her to death in the house of the LORD." 15 And they put hands on her, and she went to the entrance of the Gate of the Horses of the house of the king, and they put her to death there.

Jehoiada Restores Worship

16 And Jehoiada made a covenant between himself and all the people and the king, to be a people of the LORD. 17 And all the people went to the house of the Baal, and they tore it down, and its altars and its images they broke, and Mattan (Matan) the priest of the Baal they killed before the altars. 18 And Jehoiada put the oversight of the house of the LORD in the hand of the priests the Levites, whom David had divided over the house of the LORD, to offer up the burnt offerings of the LORD as it is written in the law of Moses (Moshe), with joy and with song, by the hands of David. 19 And he stationed the gatekeepers at the gates of the house of the LORD, and no one unclean in any matter would come in. 20 And he took the commanders of the hundreds and the nobles and those ruling over the people and all the people of 23:3 Look, the son of the king shall reign, just as the LORD spoke concerning the sons of David Not a palace plot by a few men but the faithful of the nation gathered. Jehoiada was not acting from ambition. He was acting on God's promise.

23:4 who come in on the Sabbath The Sabbath was the seventh day of rest and worship, when the temple shifts changed, so twice the usual men could be present without drawing attention.
23:6 let no one come into the house of the LORD except the priests Even in a crisis Jehoiada would not break God's law about who could enter. Kings tells of the royal guards' part (2 Kgs 11:4-8), and Chronicles stresses that the Levites stood closest to the king and the temple stayed holy.
23:9 which had belonged to King David David's own weapons guarded David's son.
23:11 they put on him the crown and the testimony The testimony was most likely a copy of God's law, or part of it. Moses commanded every king to have one and read it all his life (Deut 17:18-20). A king needs authority and the law that tells him how to use it.
23:11 Let the king live Anointing with oil marked him as set apart by God. The word Messiah comes from this Hebrew word. A boy hidden in God's house came out to take David's throne, a small picture of the greater Son of David, before whom every knee will bow (Phil 2:9-11).
23:13 Conspiracy! Conspiracy She who seized the throne by murder now cried treason. The real conspiracy had been hers six years before. The king stood "by his pillar," the place where kings stood on public occasions.
23:14 You shall not put her to death in the house of the LORD Even now Jehoiada would not shed blood in God's house. Her death was justice under Israel's law for a murderer and usurper (Gen 9:6; Num 35:31). I do not take it as a pattern for anyone today. Scripture tells it in a sentence, without delight, and so should we.
23:16 to be a people of the LORD The heart of the event. Putting the right king on the throne was not enough. Real renewal always comes back to God's people giving themselves to Him again.
23:17 the house of the Baal Baal was the Canaanite storm and fertility god Ahab and Jezebel promoted, and Athaliah's people had robbed the LORD's house for him (24:7). Under the Law, one who led Israel to other gods was to die (Deut 13:6-10). That was Israel's national law, not a pattern for the church, whose weapons are not of the flesh (2 Cor 10:4).
23:18 as it is written in the law of Moses, with joy and with song A burnt offering was wholly burned as a gift to God, a picture of full surrender and of atonement, the covering of sin so a sinner can be made right with God. Jehoiada did not invent new worship. He restored what God gave through Moses and David (1 Chr 23-26).
23:19 no one unclean in any matter would come in To be unclean was to be in a state, by contact with death, disease or other things, that kept a person from God's house until cleansed.

the land, and he brought the king down from the house of the LORD; and they came through the midst of the upper gate to the house of the king, and they seated the king on the throne of the kingdom. 21 And all the people of the land rejoiced, and the city was quiet; and Athaliah they had put to death with the sword.

Joash Repairs the Temple

1 Joash (Yo'ash) was a son of seven years when he became king, and he reigned forty years in Jerusalem
(Yerushalayim). And the name of his mother was Zibiah (Tsivya) from Beersheba (Be'er-Sheva). 2 And Joash did what was right in the eyes of the LORD all the days of Jehoiada (Yehoyada) the priest. 3 And Jehoiada took for him two wives, and he fathered sons and daughters. 4 And it was after this that it was in the heart of Joash to renew the house of the LORD. 5 And he gathered the priests and the Levites, and he said to them, "Go out to the cities of Judah (Yehuda), and gather money from all Israel (Yisra'el) to strengthen the house of your God, as is enough year by year; and you, you shall hurry in the matter." And the Levites did not hurry. 6 And the king called for Jehoiada the head, and he said to him, "Why have you not required of the Levites to bring from Judah and from Jerusalem the levy of Moses (Moshe) the servant of the LORD and of the assembly of Israel, for the tent of the testimony? 7 For Athaliah (Atalyahu), the wicked woman, her sons had broken into the house of God, and also all the holy things of the house of the LORD they had used for the Baals." 8 And the king spoke, and they made one chest, and they put it at the gate of the house of the LORD, outside. 9 And they gave a proclamation in Judah and in Jerusalem to bring to the LORD the levy of Moses the servant of God laid on Israel in the wilderness. 10 And all the officials and all the people rejoiced, and they brought it and threw it into the chest until it was finished. 11 And it was, at the time when one brought the chest to the oversight of the king by the hand of the Levites, and when they saw that the money was much, then the scribe of the king and the officer of the head priest came, and they emptied the chest, and they took it and returned it to its place. Thus they did day by day, and they gathered money in abundance. 12 And the king and Jehoiada gave it to the doer of the work of the service of the house of the LORD, and they were hiring stonecutters and craftsmen to renew the house of the LORD, and also craftsmen of iron and bronze to strengthen the house of the LORD. 13 And the doers of the work worked, and the restoration went up for the work by their hand, and they set up the house of God according to its measurement, and they strengthened it. 14 And when they had finished, they brought the rest of the money before the king and Jehoiada, and he made it into articles for the house of the LORD, articles of service and of offering up, and pans, and articles of gold and silver. And they were offering up burnt offerings in the house of the LORD continually all the days of Jehoiada.

Jehoiada Dies and Joash Turns Away

15 And Jehoiada grew old and was satisfied with days, and he died; he was a son of a hundred and thirty years at his death. 16 And they buried him in the city of David with the kings, for he had done good in Israel, and toward God and His house. 17 And after the death of Jehoiada the officials of Judah came, and they bowed down to the king; then the king listened to them. 18 And they forsook the house of the LORD, the God of their fathers, and they served the Asherim and the idols; and wrath came on Judah and Jerusalem for this guilt of theirs. 19 And He sent prophets among them to bring them back to the LORD, and they testified against them, and they did not give ear.

24:19 Matt 13:15; Luke 11:47; Luke 11:51

23:21 all the people of the land rejoiced, and the city was quiet Six years of fear were over. When God's rightful King takes His throne there is joy and peace. That will be true far more when Jesus reigns from Jerusalem over all the earth (Isa 9:6-7; Rev 20:4-6).
24:2 all the days of Jehoiada the priest A warning sign from the start. Joash's goodness lasted as long as Jehoiada lived (2 Kgs 12:2). He reigned about 835 to 796 B.C.
24:3 Jehoiada took for him two wives The royal family had almost been wiped out (22:10). Now David's line would grow again, with Jehoiada acting as a father.
24:5 the Levites did not hurry Scripture does not say why. Perhaps they doubted the plan or were used to the money going to their own needs.
24:6 the levy of Moses the servant of the LORD The tax Moses set for the tabernacle, half a shekel for each man counted (Exod 30:12-16). The tabernacle, "the tent of the testimony," was where God met Israel before the temple.
24:7 Athaliah, the wicked woman Her followers had looted God's house to furnish Baal's. The young king was undoing the damage.
24:10 all the officials and all the people rejoiced When people saw the money going straight to the work, they gave with joy (2 Cor 9:7). The system was open and honest: two men from two offices emptied the chest together (24:11). Paul took the same care with gifts (2 Cor 8:20-21).
24:13 according to its measurement They restored the temple to its first design, and the leftover money made new vessels (24:14). Again: "all the days of Jehoiada."
24:16 for he had done good in Israel, and toward God and His house A priest given a king's burial, unlike Jehoram (21:20) and Joash himself (24:25). He lived 130 years. God honors those who honor Him (1 Sam 2:30). What a thing to have said of you.
24:17 then the king listened to them It seems they flattered him and he liked it. With his mentor gone, Joash listened to new voices.
24:18 they served the Asherim and the idols The king who repaired God's house led the way out of it. His faith seems to have been borrowed, leaning on Jehoiada rather than rooted in the LORD. Growing up in a parent's or pastor's faith is a good gift, but each of us must know God for ourselves. Is your faith your own?
24:19 He sent prophets among them to bring them back to the LORD God warned again and again before judgment. He is patient, not wishing any to perish (2 Pet 3:9).

Zechariah Is Stoned

20 And the Spirit of God clothed Zechariah (Zekharya) the son of Jehoiada the priest, and he stood above the people, and he said to them, "Thus says God: 'Why are you transgressing the commandments of the LORD? And you will not prosper. For you have forsaken the LORD, and He has forsaken you.'" 21 And they conspired against him, and they stoned him with stones at the command of the king in the courtyard of the house of the LORD. 22 And Joash the king did not remember the steadfast love which Jehoiada his father had done with him, and he killed his son. And when he was dying he said, "May the LORD see and require it!"

Joash Is Judged

23 And it was at the turn of the year that the army of Syria (Aram) came up against him, and they came to Judah and Jerusalem, and they destroyed all the officials of the people from among the people, and all their spoil they sent to the king of Damascus (Dameseq). 24 For with few men the army of Syria came, and the LORD gave into their hand a very great army, because they had forsaken the LORD, the God of their fathers. And with Joash they executed judgments. 25 And when they went from him (for they left him in great sicknesses), his servants conspired against him for the blood of the sons of Jehoiada the priest, and they killed him on his bed, and he died. And they buried him in the city of David, and they did not bury him in the graves of the kings. 26 And these are those who conspired against him: Zabad (Zavad) the son of Shimeath (Shimat) the Ammonite woman, and Jehozabad (Yehozavad) the son of Shimrith (Shimrit) the Moabite woman. 27 And as for his sons, and how great the oracle against him became, and the founding of the house of God, look, they are written in the commentary of the book of the kings. And Amaziah (Amatsyahu) his son reigned in his place.

Amaziah Reigns in Judah

1 Amaziah (Amatsyahu) became king as a son of twenty-five years, and he reigned twenty-nine years in Jerusalem (Yerushalayim). And the name of his mother was Jehoaddan (Yeho'adan) from Jerusalem. 2 And he did what was right in the eyes of the LORD, only not with a complete heart. 3 And it was, when the kingdom was strong on him, that he killed his servants who had struck down the king his father. 4 And their sons he did not put to death, for he did according to what is written in the law, in the book of Moses (Moshe), which the LORD commanded, saying, "Fathers shall not die for sons, and sons shall not die for fathers; but each man shall die for his own sin."

Amaziah Defeats Edom

5 And Amaziah gathered Judah (Yehuda), and he appointed them by the house of fathers, as commanders of the thousands and as commanders of the hundreds, for all Judah and Benjamin (Binyamin). And he counted them from a son of twenty years and upward, and he found them to be three hundred thousand chosen men, going out to war, handling spear and large shield. 6 And he hired from Israel (Yisra'el) a hundred thousand mighty men of valor for approximately 7,500 pounds (a hundred talents) of silver. 7 And a man of God came to him, saying, "O king, do not let the army of Israel go with you, for the LORD is not with Israel, with all

24:20 the Spirit of God clothed Zechariah the son of Jehoiada the priest The Spirit came on him like a garment. His words echo Azariah's to Asa (15:2). It was not a new message but the covenant God always set before His people.

24:21 they stoned him with stones at the command of the king One of the saddest verses in the book. The temple Joash repaired became the place he had a prophet killed. Jesus spoke of "the blood of Zechariah, who perished between the altar and the house" (Luke 11:51). Since Chronicles ends the Hebrew Bible, Jesus meant from the first murder to the last on Scripture's pages. Matthew says "son of Berekiah" (Matt 23:35), and many think this is the same man, Berekiah being an ancestor or second family name, or a wording that also brings to mind the later prophet (Zech 1:1). The place points clearly to this murder.

24:22 Joash the king did not remember the steadfast love Hesed, loyal kindness. Jehoiada saved and raised him, and Joash killed his son.

24:22 May the LORD see and require it Not a personal curse but a prayer for God the Judge to do right, like Abel's blood crying from the ground (Gen 4:10). Stephen prayed, "Lord, do not hold this sin against them" (Acts 7:60). In Christ we are shown more still, praying for those who harm us (Matt 5:44). Both leave judgment with God. Jesus' blood "speaks better things than that of Abel" (Heb 12:24). If you have been betrayed for doing right, God sees.

24:23 at the turn of the year In spring, when kings went to war. The Syrians destroyed the very officials who led Joash astray, and Joash paid them off with temple treasures (2 Kgs 12:17-18).

24:24 with few men the army of Syria came When Asa and Jehoshaphat trusted God, small armies beat huge ones (14:9-12; 20:12, 22). Now it was reversed, because God was not with them. Zechariah's prayer was answered.

24:25 for the blood of the sons of Jehoiada the priest "Sons" may mean Zechariah alone in the plural, or others were killed too. The priest was buried with the kings, and the king was not. Joash began well and ended badly. How we finish shows whether our faith was our own (2 Tim 4:7).

25:1 he reigned twenty-nine years in Jerusalem About 796 to 767 B.C. on the dates this study follows.

25:2 only not with a complete heart A complete heart is whole and undivided. Amaziah did many right things, but part of him held back (2 Kgs 14:3). No one can serve two masters (Matt 6:24), and a double-minded man is unstable (James 1:8). A divided heart can do right for a while, but sooner or later it will turn.

25:4 each man shall die for his own sin Kings often wiped out a traitor's whole family. Amaziah followed Deuteronomy 24:16 instead (Ezek 18:20). He let God's Word limit his anger.

25:6 a hundred thousand mighty men of valor Judah had been weakened, and its army was far smaller than Jehoshaphat's. A talent of silver was about 75 pounds, so he paid nearly four tons. I take the army numbers as written (see 11:1).

25:7 the LORD is not with Israel The north worshiped Jeroboam's calves. To join them was to lean on an army God was not with, as Jehoshaphat learned (19:2; 20:37). "There is strength in God to help and to make stumble" (25:8). Victory depends on God, not numbers.

the sons of Ephraim (Efrayim). 8 But if you go, act, be strong for the battle, God will make you stumble before the enemy; for there is strength in God to help and to make stumble." 9 And Amaziah said to the man of God, "And what is there to do about the approximately 7,500 pounds (the hundred talents) which I have given to the troop of Israel?" And the man of God said, "The LORD has the means to give you much more than this." 10 And Amaziah separated them, the troop which had come to him from Ephraim, to go to their place. And their anger burned exceedingly against Judah, and they returned to their place in the heat of anger. 11 And Amaziah strengthened himself, and he led out his people, and he went to the Valley of Salt (Gay-Melach), and he struck down the sons of Seir (Se'ir), ten thousand. 12 And ten thousand alive the sons of Judah took captive, and they brought them to the top of the cliff, and they threw them from the top of the cliff, and all of them were split open. 13 And the sons of the troop whom Amaziah had sent back from going with him to the battle made a raid on the cities of Judah, from Samaria (Shomron) as far as Beth-horon (Bet-Choron), and they struck down of them three thousand, and they plundered much plunder.

Amaziah Bows to Edom's Gods

14 And it was after Amaziah came from striking down the Edomites that he brought the gods of the sons of Seir, and he set them up for himself as gods, and before them he bowed down, and to them he burned incense. 15 And the anger of the LORD burned against Amaziah, and He sent to him a prophet, and he said to him, "Why have you sought the gods of the people, who did not deliver their own people from your hand?" 16 And it was, as he was speaking to him, that he said to him, "Have we made you a counselor to the king? Stop! Why should they strike you down?" And the prophet stopped, and he said, "I know that God has counseled to destroy you, because you have done this and have not listened to my counsel."

Joash of Israel Defeats Amaziah

17 And Amaziah king of Judah took counsel, and he sent to Joash (Yo'ash) the son of Jehoahaz (Yeho'achaz) the son of Jehu (Yehu) king of Israel, saying, "Come, let us look one another in the face." 18 And Joash king of Israel sent to Amaziah king of Judah, saying, "The thornbush that was in the Lebanon (Levanon) sent to the cedar that was in the Lebanon, saying, 'Give your daughter to my son as a wife.' And the living thing of the field that was in the Lebanon passed by, and it trampled the thornbush. 19 You have said, 'Look, you have struck down Edom,' and your heart has lifted you up to glorify yourself. Now stay in your house. Why should you stir up calamity, and fall, you and Judah with you?" 20 And Amaziah did not listen, for it was from God, in order to give them into the hand of their enemies, because they had sought the gods of Edom. 21 And Joash king of Israel went up, and they looked one another in the face, he and Amaziah king of Judah, at Beth-shemesh (Bet-Shemesh), which belongs to Judah. 22 And Judah was struck down before Israel, and they fled, each man to his tents. 23 And Amaziah king of Judah, the son of Joash, the son of Jehoahaz, Joash king of Israel captured at Beth-shemesh, and he brought him to Jerusalem, and he broke down the wall of Jerusalem from the Gate of Ephraim to the Gate of the Corner, approximately 600 feet (four hundred cubits). 24 And he took all the gold and the silver and all the articles that were found in the house of God with Obed-edom (Oved-Edom), and the treasures of the house of the king, and the hostages, and he returned to Samaria. 25 And Amaziah the son of Joash king of Judah lived after the death of Joash the son of Jehoahaz king of Israel fifteen years. 26 And the rest of the matters of Amaziah, the first and the last, look, are they not written 25:9 The LORD has the means to give you much more than this God is never in debt to anyone. What we give up to obey Him, He can repay many times over (Mark 10:29-30). Have you held back from obeying God because of what it would cost? Amaziah obeyed, and the hired men went home angry at losing their plunder.

25:11 went to the Valley of Salt South of the Dead Sea, where David had defeated Edom (1 Chr 18:12). God gave a great victory.
25:12 they threw them from the top of the cliff A brutal act of war. The text does not say God commanded it and does not praise it. Some think the cliff was at Sela, Edom's rock city (2 Kgs 14:7). Victory from God was followed by cruelty from man, then idolatry. God judged cruelty in every nation, His own included (Amos 1:11; 2:4-6). Success can make us hard, and we must guard against cruelty to the helpless.
25:13 from Samaria as far as Beth-horon Obedience does not always mean everything goes smoothly. But the first mistake was hiring them at all.
25:14 he set them up for himself as gods It makes no sense, and that is the point. Edom's gods had just failed Edom. Some think it was a custom to honor a defeated land's gods. Sin rarely makes sense (Isa 44:14-20).
25:15 who did not deliver their own people from your hand God warned before He struck.
25:16 God has counseled to destroy you A play on counsel. Amaziah refused the prophet's counsel, so he would receive God's, which was judgment. Refusing God's correction does not escape it. It chooses a harder way to learn.
25:17 let us look one another in the face A call to battle, perhaps over the raid of verse 13, made after taking counsel with men, not God.
25:18 The thornbush that was in the Lebanon Amaziah was the thornbush that thought itself the cedar's equal. A king who did not follow the LORD gave him better advice than he gave himself. "Before breaking is pride" (Prov 16:18).
25:20 for it was from God God let Amaziah's pride carry him to the judgment he chose, as the prophet said (25:16). Amaziah still made his own choice.
25:23 he broke down the wall of Jerusalem About six hundred feet, leaving the city open toward Israel. Obed-edom's family kept the storehouses (25:24; 1 Chr 26:15). The man who bowed to Edom's gods saw God's house robbed.

in the book of the kings of Judah and Israel? 27 And from the time that Amaziah turned aside from after the LORD, they conspired a conspiracy against him in Jerusalem, and he fled to Lachish (Lakhish); and they sent after him to Lachish, and they put him to death there. 28 And they carried him on the horses, and they buried him with his fathers in the city of Judah.

Uzziah Seeks God and Prospers

1 And all the people of Judah (Yehuda) took Uzziah (Uziyahu), and he was a son of sixteen years, and they made him king in place of his father Amaziah (Amatsyahu). 2 He built Eloth (Elot) and restored it to Judah after the king lay down with his fathers. 3 Uzziah was a son of sixteen years when he became king, and he reigned fifty-two years in Jerusalem (Yerushalayim). And the name of his mother was Jecoliah (Yekhalya) from Jerusalem. 4 And he did what was right in the eyes of the LORD, according to all that Amaziah his father had done. 5 And he was seeking God in the days of Zechariah (Zekharyahu), who had understanding in the seeing of God; and in the days that he sought the LORD, God made him prosper. 6 And he went out and fought against the Philistines, and he broke down the wall of Gath (Gat) and the wall of Jabneh (Yavne) and the wall of Ashdod; and he built cities in the region of Ashdod and among the Philistines. 7 And God helped him against the Philistines and against the Arabs who were dwelling in Gurbaal, and the Meunites (Meunim). 8 And the Ammonites gave tribute to Uzziah, and his name went as far as the entrance of Egypt (Mitsrayim), for he displayed strength to the highest degree.

Uzziah's Works and Army

9 And Uzziah built towers in Jerusalem at the Gate of the Corner and at the Gate of the Valley and at the Angle, and he strengthened them. 10 And he built towers in the wilderness, and he hewed many cisterns, for he had much livestock, both in the Shephelah and in the plain, and farmers and vinedressers in the mountains and in the fruitful fields, for he was a lover of the ground. 11 And Uzziah had a force doing battle, going out to war by troops, by the number of their muster by the hand of Jeiel (Ye'i'el) the scribe and Maaseiah (Ma'aseyahu) the officer, under the hand of Hananiah (Chananyahu), one of the officials of the king. 12 The whole number of the heads of the fathers, of the mighty men of valor, was two thousand six hundred. 13 And under their hand was a force of war, three hundred and seven thousand five hundred, doing battle with strength of valor, to help the king against the enemy. 14 And Uzziah prepared for them, for all the army, shields and spears and helmets and coats of armor and bows, and stones for slinging. 15 And he made in Jerusalem devices, the invention of an inventor, to be on the towers and on the corners, to shoot with arrows and with great stones. And his name went out far, for he was marvelously helped until he was strong.

Uzziah's Pride and Leprosy

16 And when he was strong, his heart was lifted up until he acted corruptly, and he acted unfaithfully against the LORD his God, and he went into the temple of the LORD to burn incense on the altar of incense. 17 And Azariah (Azaryahu) the priest went in after him, and with him eighty priests of the LORD, sons of valor. 18 And they stood against Uzziah the king, and they said to him, "It is not for you, Uzziah, to burn incense to the LORD, but for the priests, the sons of Aaron (Aharon), who are consecrated to burn incense. Go out from the sanctuary, for you have acted unfaithfully, and it will not

25:27 from the time that Amaziah turned aside from after the LORD The Chronicler ties the plot to the day he turned from God. Lachish was a fortress southwest of Jerusalem. He obeyed God when it cost money and refused Him when it cost pride. Which is harder for you to give up?
26:1 they made him king in place of his father Amaziah Kings calls him Azariah, the LORD has helped. Uzziah means the LORD is my strength. Both fit his story (26:15). He reigned about 792 to 740 B.C., counting years with his father and later his son.
26:2 he built Eloth and restored it to Judah Eloth, or Elath, was a port on the Gulf of Aqaba, reopening trade to the south.
26:5 in the days of Zechariah, who had understanding in the seeing of God Not the priest of chapter 24 or the later prophet, but a teacher who guided the young king, as Jehoiada did Joash. Godly mentors matter.
26:5 in the days that he sought the LORD, God made him prosper The key sentence of the first half. His success came from God and lasted as long as he sought God (Matt 6:33).
26:8 his name went as far as the entrance of Egypt Tribute was regular payment as a sign of being under his rule. Judah reached a strength it had not known since Solomon.
26:10 for he was a lover of the ground Cisterns were pits cut in rock to store rainwater. A king who loved working the land and caring for animals. God gave Adam work in the garden (Gen 2:15). Honest work with the land is a gift from God.
26:14 stones for slinging Soldiers often brought their own weapons. Uzziah equipped them all, and his war machines (26:15) defended the walls. He was clever and practical.
26:15 he was marvelously helped until he was strong Read it again. The danger was not in being weak but in becoming strong. As long as Uzziah knew he needed help, God helped him.
26:16 when he was strong, his heart was lifted up The turning point. Moses warned that prosperity lifts the heart and forgets the LORD (Deut 8:11-14). Success is a harder test than trouble. In trouble we cry out to God. In success we think we don't need Him.
26:16 to burn incense on the altar of incense Incense, burned morning and evening, pictured prayer rising to God (Exod 30:7-8; Ps 141:2), and only Aaron's sons could offer it (Num 16:40; 18:7). Perhaps he copied pagan kings who served as priests. Scripture says only that his heart was lifted up. Pride wants to be the exception to God's rules.
26:18 It is not for you, Uzziah, to burn incense to the LORD Eighty brave priests could have paid with their lives. To be consecrated is to be set apart for God's service. They spoke respectfully, plainly, and gave him a way out. Sometimes loving someone means standing in his way when he is about to do wrong.

be for glory to you from the LORD God." 19 And Uzziah was enraged, and in his hand was a censer to burn incense; and while he was enraged with the priests, the leprosy rose up on his forehead before the priests in the house of the LORD, beside the altar of incense. 20 And Azariah the head priest and all the priests turned to him, and look, he was leprous on his forehead; and they hurried him from there, and also he himself hurried to go out, for the LORD had struck him. 21 And Uzziah the king was leprous until the day of his death, and he dwelt in the house of separateness, leprous, for he was cut off from the house of the LORD. And Jotham (Yotam) his son was over the house of the king, judging the people of the land. 22 And the rest of the matters of Uzziah, the first and the last, Isaiah (Yeshayahu) the son of Amoz (Amots) the prophet has written. 23 And Uzziah lay down with his fathers, and they buried him with his fathers in the field of the burial ground which belonged to the kings, for they said, "He is leprous." And Jotham his son reigned in his place.

Jotham Reigns in Judah

1 Jotham (Yotam) was a son of twenty-five years when he became king, and he reigned sixteen years in Jerusalem (Yerushalayim). And the name of his mother was Jerusha (Yerusha) the daughter of Zadok (Tsadoq). 2 And he did what was right in the eyes of the LORD, according to all that Uzziah (Uziyahu) his father had done; only he did not go into the temple of the LORD. And the people were still acting corruptly. 3 He built the upper gate of the house of the LORD, and on the wall of the Ophel (Ofel) he built much. 4 And cities he built in the hill country of Judah (Yehuda), and in the forests he built fortresses and towers. 5 And he fought with the king of the sons of Ammon (Amon), and he prevailed over them. And the sons of Ammon gave him in that year approximately 7,500 pounds (a hundred talents) of silver, and approximately 60,000 bushels (ten thousand kors) of wheat, and of barley ten thousand. This the sons of Ammon brought back to him also in the second year and the third. 6 And Jotham strengthened himself, for he had set his ways before the LORD his God. 7 And the rest of the matters of Jotham, and all his wars and his ways, look, they are written in the book of the kings of Israel (Yisra'el) and Judah. 8 He was a son of twenty-five years when he became king, and he reigned sixteen years in Jerusalem. 9 And Jotham lay down with his fathers, and they buried him in the city of David, and Ahaz (Achaz) his son reigned in his place.

26:19 the leprosy rose up on his forehead A censer was a pan for carrying coals and incense. Leprosy in the Bible is tsara'at, a term for several serious skin diseases, and it made a person unclean and kept him apart (Lev 13:45-46). It broke out on his forehead, in front of everyone, while he was still angry. God judged Miriam and Korah the same way (Num 12:10; 16). He takes His holiness seriously.
26:20 also he himself hurried to go out, for the LORD had struck him He refused to leave when the priests asked. Now he could not get out fast enough. Pride brought him in to exalt himself, and he left humbled.
26:21 he dwelt in the house of separateness The man who pushed into the holy place could never enter the temple again. He wanted more access to God than God allowed and ended with less. "God opposes the proud, but gives grace to the humble" (James 4:6). If success has come to you, remember where the help came from.
26:21 he was cut off from the house of the LORD God kept king and priest apart in Israel, but promised a King who would be "a priest on his throne" (Zech 6:13). Jesus is that King-Priest after Melchizedek (Ps 110:4; Heb 7:1-3). What Uzziah grabbed in pride, God gave His Son by appointment (Heb 5:4). Through Him we draw near with confidence (Heb 4:14-16), not by pushing in, but through His blood.
26:22 Isaiah the son of Amoz the prophet has written Isaiah began in Uzziah's day (Isa 1:1) and saw the LORD on His throne "in the year of the death of King Uzziah" (Isa 6:1), about 740 B.C. When the king who grabbed at holiness died, Isaiah saw the true King and heard "Holy, holy, holy" (Isa 6:3).
26:23 for they said, He is leprous Buried near the kings but not with them. Even in death his pride marked him.
27:1 Jerusha the daughter of Zadok Jotham had ruled for his leprous father (26:21) and reigned about 750 to 732 B.C., counting shared years. Zadok was a common priestly name, and many think she came from a priestly family, though Scripture does not say.
27:2 only he did not go into the temple of the LORD He followed his father's good example and avoided his bad one. Every one of us inherits both good and bad from our families. By God's grace we can keep the good and let the bad stop with us.
27:2 the people were still acting corruptly The high places remained (2 Kgs 15:35), and Isaiah and Micah describe the rich oppressing the poor and empty ritual (Isa 1:10-17; Mic 2:1-2). A good leader is a blessing, but he cannot make others love God. Each heart must turn for itself.
27:3 on the wall of the Ophel he built much The Ophel was the hill south of the temple mount, between the temple and the old city of David. Not every generation is called to something new. Sometimes faithfulness is carrying on good work others started.
27:5 he fought with the king of the sons of Ammon They had paid tribute to Uzziah (26:8), perhaps stopping when he fell ill. A hundred talents is about 7,500 pounds of silver. The tribute seems to have ended after three years, perhaps with the rising threat of Syria and Israel (2 Kgs 15:37).
27:6 for he had set his ways before the LORD his God The heart of the chapter: living as if always before God's eyes, because we are. His father became strong and then proud. Jotham became strong because he walked before God (Prov 3:5-6). What would it look like to set your work, money, words and home before the LORD this week?
27:9 Ahaz his son reigned in his place Jotham is one of the few kings of Judah of whom nothing bad is said. A godly father does not guarantee a godly son.
28:1 he did not do what was right in the eyes of the LORD, like David his father The Chronicler measures each king by David, and Ahaz failed. He reigned about 735 to 715 B.C., counting shared years.
28:2 molten images he made for the Baals Idols made by pouring melted metal into a mold, for the many local forms of Baal.

ways of the kings of Israel (Yisra'el), and also molten images he made for the Baals. 3 And he burned incense in the valley of the son of Hinnom (Hinom), and he burned his sons in the fire, according to the abominations of the nations whom the LORD dispossessed from before the sons of Israel. 4 And he sacrificed and burned incense at the high places and on the hills and under every luxuriant tree.

Defeat by Syria and Israel

5 And the LORD his God gave him into the hand of the king of Syria (Aram), and they struck him, and they took captive from him a great number of captives, and they brought them to Damascus (Dameseq). And also into the hand of the king of Israel he was given, and he struck him with a great blow. 6 And Pekah (Peqach) the son of Remaliah (Remalyahu) killed in Judah (Yehuda) a hundred and twenty thousand in one day, all of them sons of valor, because they had forsaken the LORD, the God of their fathers. 7 And Zichri (Zikhri), a mighty man of Ephraim (Efrayim), killed Maaseiah (Ma'aseyahu) the son of the king, and Azrikam (Azriqam) the leader of the house, and Elkanah (Elqana) the second to the king. 8 And the sons of Israel took captive of their brothers two hundred thousand, women, sons, and daughters; and also much spoil they plundered from them, and they brought the spoil to Samaria (Shomron).

Oded the Prophet

9 And there was there a prophet of the LORD; his name was Oded. And he went out before the army that was coming to Samaria, and he said to them, "Look, because of the wrath of the LORD, the God of your fathers, against Judah, He gave them into your hand, and you have killed among them in a rage that has reached to the heavens. 10 And now the sons of Judah and Jerusalem you are saying you will subjugate as male slaves and female slaves for yourselves. Are there not, indeed, with you, you yourselves, guilts against the LORD your God? 11 And now hear me, and send back the captives whom you have taken captive from your brothers, for the burning of the anger of the LORD is on you." 12 And men of the heads of the sons of Ephraim rose up, Azariah (Azaryahu) the son of Johanan (Yehochanan), Berechiah (Berekhyahu) the son of Meshillemoth (Meshilemot), and Jehizkiah (Yechizqiyahu) the son of Shallum (Shalum), and Amasa the son of Hadlai (Chadlay), against those who were coming from the war, 13 and they said to them, "You shall not bring the captives here; for to bring guilt against the LORD on us, you are saying you will add to our sins and to our guilt. For great is the guilt that belongs to us, and burning of anger is on Israel." 14 And the armed men left the captives and the plunder before the commanders and all the assembly. 15 And the men who had been designated by names rose up, and they took hold of the captives, and all their naked ones they clothed from the spoil; and they clothed them, and put sandals on them, and fed them, and gave them drink, and anointed them, and led them on donkeys, every one who was stumbling; and they brought them to Jericho (Yericho), the city of the palm trees, beside their brothers. And they returned to Samaria.

Ahaz Turns to Assyria

16 At that time King Ahaz sent to the kings of Assyria (Ashur) to help him. 17 And again the Edomites had come, and they had struck in Judah, and they had taken captives. 18 And the Philistines had made a raid on the cities of the Shephelah and the Negeb (Negev) of Judah, and they had captured Beth-shemesh (Bet-Shemesh) and Aijalon (Ayalon) and the Gederoth (Gederot), and Soco (Sokho) and its towns, and Timnah (Timna) and its towns, and Gimzo and its towns; and they dwelt there. 19 For the LORD had humbled Judah because of Ahaz king of Israel, for he had cast off restraint in Judah, and he had acted with unfaithfulness against the 28:3 he burned his sons in the fire One of the hardest verses in the book. The valley of the son of Hinnom ran along Jerusalem's south side, where children were offered to gods such as Molech. God forbade it in the strongest words (Lev 18:21; Deut 12:31) and said it "did not come up on My heart" (Jer 7:31). Kings says "pass through the fire" (2 Kgs 16:3), and most take both as child sacrifice. False gods always demand more and give nothing back. The valley's name, Gehenna in Greek, became Jesus' word for hell (Mark 9:43).

28:3 according to the abominations of the nations Ahaz gave his sons to buy a false god's help. The true God gave His own Son for us because He loves us (Rom 8:32). If this verse stirs pain over a lost child or harm done to children, bring it to the Lord who took children in His arms (Mark 10:14-16).

28:5 the LORD his God gave him into the hand of the king of Syria Rezin of Damascus and Pekah of Israel joined, probably to force Judah into an alliance against Assyria (2 Kgs 16:5; Isa 7:1-6). Judah's defeat came because they had forsaken God (28:6). I take the number as written.

28:8 of their brothers two hundred thousand Israel and Judah were one family from Jacob, and one part was carrying the other off as slaves.

28:9 in a rage that has reached to the heavens Oded says their victory came from God's discipline of Judah, not their own goodness. God can use a nation to judge another and still hold it guilty for cruelty (Isa 10:5-12).

28:10 are there not, indeed, with you, you yourselves, guilts against the LORD your God Israel worshiped calves and Baal and had no right to act superior. Jesus warned of the speck and the log (Matt 7:3-5).

28:12 men of the heads of the sons of Ephraim We know nothing else of these four men. It took courage to stand before a victorious army and say, Not this. God remembers people like that.

28:15 all their naked ones they clothed from the spoil One of the most beautiful verses in the book. To anoint was to put soothing oil on wounds and dry skin. Clothed, fed, carried on donkeys to Jericho, it sounds much like the Good Samaritan (Luke 10:30-37), though the New Testament does not tie them together. In a chapter of cruelty, mercy came from the unlikeliest place (Rom 12:20). Who is the enemy God may be asking you to show mercy to?

28:16 King Ahaz sent to the kings of Assyria to help him Isaiah begged Ahaz to trust the LORD and offered a sign, and Ahaz refused (Isa 7:3-12). God gave the sign anyway: "Look, the virgin is pregnant and bearing a son, and she will call his name Immanuel" (Isa 7:14), fulfilled in Jesus' birth (Matt 1:22-23). The king who would not ask for a sign was given the greatest sign of all.

28:19 for he had cast off restraint in Judah He let the people run wild, throwing off God's law. Ahaz is called "king of Israel," perhaps because he acted like Israel's kings or because Israel often means all God's people.

LORD. 20 And Tiglath-pileser (Tilegat-Pilne'eser) king of Assyria came against him, and he distressed him, and he did not strengthen him. 21 For Ahaz had taken a portion of the house of the LORD and of the house of the king and of the officials, and he gave it to the king of Assyria; and it was not for help to him.

Ahaz Shuts the Temple

22 And in the time that he was distressing him, he increased to act unfaithfully against the LORD, that same King Ahaz. 23 And he sacrificed to the gods of Damascus which had struck him, and he said, "Because the gods of the kings of Syria are helping them, to them I will sacrifice, and they will help me." And they became for him a cause to make him stumble, and to all Israel. 24 And Ahaz gathered the articles of the house of God, and he cut up the articles of the house of God, and he shut the doors of the house of the LORD, and he made for himself altars in every corner in Jerusalem. 25 And in every city of Judah, city by city, he made high places to burn incense to other gods, and he provoked the LORD, the God of his fathers. 26 And the rest of his matters and all his ways, the first and the last, look, they are written in the book of the kings of Judah and Israel. 27 And Ahaz lay down with his fathers, and they buried him in the city, in Jerusalem, for they did not bring him into the graves of the kings of Israel. And Hezekiah (Chizqiyahu) his son reigned in his place.

Hezekiah Opens the Temple

1 Hezekiah (Chizqiyahu) became king as a son of twenty-five years, and he reigned twenty-nine years in Jerusalem (Yerushalayim). And the name of his mother was Abijah (Aviya) the daughter of Zechariah (Zekharyahu). 2 And he did what was right in the eyes of the LORD, according to all that David his father had done. 3 He, in the first year of his reign, in the first month, opened the doors of the house of the LORD, and he strengthened them. 4 And he brought in the priests and the Levites, and he gathered them to the open square of the east. 5 And he said to them, "Hear me, O Levites! Now consecrate yourselves, and consecrate the house of the LORD, the God of your fathers, and bring out the impurity from the holy place. 6 For our fathers acted unfaithfully, and they did the evil in the eyes of the LORD our God, and they forsook Him, and they turned their faces away from the tabernacle of the LORD, and they gave Him their back. 7 Also they shut the doors of the porch, and they put out the lamps, and incense they did not burn, and burnt offering they did not offer up in the holy place to the God of Israel (Yisra'el). 8 And the wrath of the LORD came on Judah (Yehuda) and Jerusalem, and He has made them into a terror, into a horror, and into a hissing, just as you are seeing with your eyes. 9 And look, our fathers have fallen by the sword, and our sons and our daughters and our wives are in captivity because of this. 10 Now it is in my heart to make a covenant with the LORD, the God of Israel, that the burning of His anger may turn back from us. 11 My sons, do not now be negligent, for the LORD has chosen you to stand before Him, to minister to Him, and to be His ministers and burners of incense."

The Levites Cleanse the Temple

12 And the Levites arose: Mahath (Machat) the son of Amasai (Amasay) and Joel (Yo'el) the son of Azariah (Azaryahu), of the sons of the Kohathites; and of the sons of Merari, Kish (Qish) the son of Abdi (Avdi) and Azariah the son of Jehallelel (Yehalelel); and of the Gershonites, Joah (Yo'ach) the son of Zimmah (Zima) and Eden the son of Joah; 13 and of the sons of Elizaphan (Elitsafan), Shimri and Jeiel (Ye'i'el); and of the sons of Asaph (Asaf), Zechariah and Mattaniah (Matanyahu);

28:20 he distressed him, and he did not strengthen him Tiglath-pileser struck Damascus (2 Kgs 16:9), but Assyria became Judah's master, not its helper, and Judah a vassal paying tribute. The help we buy from the world often ends up owning us (Jer 17:5).
28:22 that same King Ahaz The writer points his finger. Trouble drove Manasseh to his knees (33:12) and Ahaz deeper into sin. The difference is the heart.
28:23 they became for him a cause to make him stumble The gods of Syria had not helped Syria. Damascus fell to Assyria (2 Kgs 16:9). False gods do not lift us up. They bring us down.
28:24 he shut the doors of the house of the LORD For the first time a king of David's line closed God's house, and the lamps and offerings stopped (29:7). Kings tells of his Damascus altar (2 Kgs 16:10-16). Chronicles goes further: God's house locked and an idol on every corner. The next king's first act will be to open those doors (29:3).
28:27 they did not bring him into the graves of the kings of Israel Like Jehoram and Joash, he was denied a place with the kings. After one of the worst kings comes one of the best. Hezekiah grew up in the house of a man who burned his sons and shut the temple. No family history is too dark for God to break.
29:2 according to all that David his father had done The highest praise the Chronicler gives, with no "only" after it. Kings says no king of Judah trusted the LORD as he did (2 Kgs 18:5). He reigned about 715 to 686 B.C. He grew up in a home of idols, with brothers sacrificed in the fire. Our background shapes us, but it does not have to decide who we become.
29:3 in the first year of his reign, in the first month, opened the doors of the house of the LORD His father had shut them (28:24). Before the palace, the army or the treasury, Hezekiah put God's worship first. What comes first in our lives shows what matters most (Matt 6:33).
29:5 consecrate yourselves, and consecrate the house of the LORD To consecrate is to set apart as holy for God. They had to make themselves ready first, then the house. Those who serve God must first be right with Him.
29:6 our fathers acted unfaithfully He said "our fathers," not "my father," and did not single out Ahaz. But he did not pretend either. He tied Judah's suffering to their sin (29:8-9; 28:5-8, 17). Seeing the true cause of our troubles is the first step toward healing.
29:11 My sons, do not now be negligent The king spoke tenderly and reminded them God had chosen them. Every believer belongs to "a royal priesthood" (1 Pet 2:9). Are we careless with that calling or eager to serve?
29:12 the Levites arose Two men from each Levite family and from each musicians' family. God knows the names of those who serve Him, and no family held back.

14 and of the sons of Heman, Jehiel (Yechi'el) and Shimei (Shimi); and of the sons of Jeduthun (Yedutun), Shemaiah (Shemaya) and Uzziel (Uzi'el). 15 And they gathered their brothers, and they consecrated themselves, and they came according to the command of the king, by the words of the LORD, to cleanse the house of the LORD. 16 And the priests went into the inside of the house of the LORD to cleanse it, and they brought out all the uncleanness that they found in the temple of the LORD to the courtyard of the house of the LORD; and the Levites received it to bring it out to the Wadi of Kidron (Qidron), outside. 17 And they began on the first day of the first month to consecrate, and on the eighth day of the month they came to the porch of the LORD; and they consecrated the house of the LORD in eight days, and on the sixteenth day of the first month they finished. 18 And they went in to Hezekiah the king, and they said, "We have cleansed all the house of the LORD, the altar of the burnt offering and all its utensils, and the table of the arrangement and all its utensils. 19 And all the utensils which King Ahaz (Achaz) cast off in his reign, in his unfaithfulness, we have prepared and consecrated; and look, they are before the altar of the LORD."

Atonement and Worship Restored

20 And Hezekiah the king rose early, and he gathered the officials of the city, and he went up to the house of the LORD. 21 And they brought seven bulls and seven rams and seven lambs and seven male goats for a sin offering for the kingdom and for the sanctuary and for Judah. And he said to the sons of Aaron (Aharon), the priests, to offer them up on the altar of the LORD. 22 And they slaughtered the cattle, and the priests received the blood, and they sprinkled it on the altar; and they slaughtered the rams, and they sprinkled the blood on the altar; and they slaughtered the lambs, and they sprinkled the blood on the altar. 23 And they brought near the goats of the sin offering before the king and the assembly, and they laid their hands on them. 24 And the priests slaughtered them, and they made a sin offering with their blood on the altar, to make atonement for all Israel; for the king had said that the burnt offering and the sin offering were for all Israel. 25 And he stationed the Levites in the house of the LORD with cymbals, with harps, and with lyres, according to the command of David and of Gad the seer of the king and of Nathan (Natan) the prophet; for the commandment was by the hand of the LORD, by the hand of His prophets. 26 And the Levites stood with the instruments of David, and the priests with the trumpets. 27 And Hezekiah said to offer up the burnt offering on the altar. And at the time when the burnt offering began, the song of the LORD began, and the trumpets, and by the hands of the instruments of David king of Israel. 28 And all the assembly was bowing down, and the singers were singing, and the trumpets were sounding; all of this continued until the burnt offering was finished. 29 And when they finished offering up, the king and all who were found with him knelt, and they bowed down. 30 And Hezekiah the king and the officials said to the Levites to praise the LORD with the words of David and of Asaph the seer. And they praised to the point of joy, and they bowed low, and they bowed down.

The People Bring Offerings

31 And Hezekiah answered and said, "Now you have filled your hand for the LORD. Draw near, and bring sacrifices and thank offerings to the house of the LORD." And the assembly brought sacrifices and thank offerings, and every willing one of heart brought burnt offerings. 32 And the number of the burnt offerings which the assembly brought was seventy cattle, a hundred rams, two hundred lambs; all these were for a burnt offering to the LORD. 33 And the holy offerings were six hundred cattle and three thousand sheep. 34 Only the 29:15 according to the command of the king, by the words of the LORD Hezekiah's command was simply to do what God's Word said.

29:16 to the Wadi of Kidron The valley east of Jerusalem. A wadi is a stream bed that runs only in the rainy season. Asa and Josiah burned idols there too (15:16; 2 Kgs 23:4-6). Sixteen days of hard, dirty work. Is there a habit, a relationship or something you watch that needs to be carried out to the Kidron (2 Cor 7:1)? Jesus too cleansed the temple (Matt 21:12-13).
29:19 all the utensils which King Ahaz cast off in his reign What Ahaz threw away, they restored. God can take what has been neglected and broken and make it fit for His use again. "The table of the arrangement" (29:18) held the bread set before the LORD.
29:21 seven bulls and seven rams and seven lambs and seven male goats Seven speaks of completeness. A sin offering was a sacrifice so the guilty could be forgiven and made clean (Lev 4), here for the kingdom, the temple and the people.
29:23 they laid their hands on them Laying hands on the animal showed the people's sin placed on the sacrifice that died in their place (Lev 4:15; 16:21).
29:24 to make atonement for all Israel Atonement is the covering of sin so sinners can be made right with God. "All Israel" included the north, which had fallen to Assyria in 722 B.C. These offerings were pictures. The blood of bulls and goats could not take sin away (Heb 10:4). Jesus is "the Lamb of God, who takes away the sin of the world" (John 1:29). Our sins were laid on Him (Isa 53:6), once for all (Heb 10:10).
29:25 the commandment was by the hand of the LORD, by the hand of His prophets David organized the temple music (1 Chr 25), but it was not merely David's idea. Gad and Nathan carried God's command.
29:27 at the time when the burnt offering began, the song of the LORD began Sacrifice and song together. Worship begins with atonement. Because sin has been dealt with, God's people can sing. We sing because of the cross.
29:30 with the words of David and of Asaph the seer They sang the Psalms, God's own words, back to Him. The worship was joyful and humble at once. They bowed even as they rejoiced.
29:31 every willing one of heart brought burnt offerings "Filled your hand" was used of ordaining priests. Here it means they had given themselves fully to God again. A thank offering was a peace offering for giving thanks, shared in a meal. No one was forced.
29:34 the Levites were more upright of heart to consecrate themselves than the priests Some who should have been ready were not, and others stepped up. A high position does not mean the most faithful heart.

priests were too few, and they were not able to skin all the burnt offerings; and their brothers the Levites strengthened them until the work was finished and until the priests had consecrated themselves, for the Levites were more upright of heart to consecrate themselves than the priests. 35 And also burnt offerings were in abundance, with the fat of the peace offerings and with the drink offerings for the burnt offering. And the service of the house of the LORD was established. 36 And Hezekiah and all the people rejoiced over what God had prepared for the people, for the thing had come about suddenly.

Hezekiah Invites All Israel

1 And Hezekiah (Chizqiyahu) sent to all Israel (Yisra'el) and Judah (Yehuda), and also letters he wrote to Ephraim (Efrayim) and Manasseh (Menashe), to come to the house of the LORD in Jerusalem (Yerushalayim) to keep a Passover to the LORD, the God of Israel. 2 And the king and his officials and all the assembly in Jerusalem took counsel to keep the Passover in the second month, 3 for they had not been able to keep it at that time, for the priests had not consecrated themselves sufficiently, and the people had not been gathered to Jerusalem. 4 And the thing was right in the eyes of the king and in the eyes of all the assembly. 5 And they established a word, to make a proclamation pass through all Israel, from Beersheba (Be'er-Sheva) and to Dan, to come to keep a Passover to the LORD, the God of Israel, in Jerusalem; for they had not kept it in multitude as it is written. 6 And the runners went with the letters from the hand of the king and his officials into all Israel and Judah, and according to the command of the king, saying, "Sons of Israel, return to the LORD, the God of Abraham (Avraham), Isaac (Yitschaq), and Israel, that He may return to the escaped remnant that is left to you from the hand of the kings of Assyria (Ashur). 7 And do not be like your fathers and like your brothers, who acted unfaithfully against the LORD, the God of their fathers, and He made them a horror, as you are seeing. 8 Now do not harden your neck like your fathers. Give a hand to the LORD, and come to His sanctuary, which He has consecrated forever, and serve the LORD your God, that the burning of His anger may turn back from you. 9 For in your returning to the LORD, your brothers and your sons will find compassion before their captors, and will return to this land; for gracious and compassionate is the LORD your God, and He will not turn aside His face from you if you return to Him." 10 And the runners were passing from city to city in the land of Ephraim and Manasseh, and as far as Zebulun (Zevulun); and they were laughing at them and mocking them. 11 Only, men from Asher and Manasseh and from Zebulun humbled themselves and came to Jerusalem. 12 Also on Judah was the hand of God, to give them one heart to do the command of the king and the officials by the word of the LORD.

The Passover Kept

13 And many people were gathered at Jerusalem to keep the Feast of Unleavened Bread in the second month, an assembly very great in multitude. 14 And they arose and removed the altars that were in Jerusalem, and all the incense altars they removed, and they threw them into the Wadi of Kidron (Qidron). 15 And they slaughtered the Passover on the fourteenth of the second month. And the priests and the Levites were ashamed, and they consecrated themselves, and they brought burnt offerings to the house of the LORD. 16 And they stood at their place according to their ordinance, according to the law of Moses (Moshe) the man of God; the priests were sprinkling the blood received from the hand of 29:36 for the thing had come about suddenly Hezekiah opened the doors, but God prepared the hearts. Revival is always God's work. If you have been praying for change in your heart, family or church, do not lose hope. God can do in days what we could not do in years.

30:1 letters he wrote to Ephraim and Manasseh The leading northern tribes had worshiped at Jeroboam's shrines since about 930 B.C. (1 Kgs 12:26-33). Hezekiah invited them home. The Passover remembered the night the LORD passed over houses marked by a lamb's blood (Exod 12). "Our Passover was sacrificed for us: Christ" (1 Cor 5:7).
30:2 to keep the Passover in the second month The temple was not cleansed until the sixteenth of the first month (29:17). The Law already allowed a second-month Passover for the unclean or far away (Num 9:9-11). Hezekiah did not ignore God's Word. He used its provision.
30:5 from Beersheba and to Dan From the far south to the far north. The nation had not kept Passover together as one people in a very long time.
30:6 return to the LORD, the God of Abraham, Isaac, and Israel A remnant is the part of a people left after a disaster, here after Assyria's deportations (2 Kgs 17:6). "Return" runs through the letter. Return to the LORD, and He will return to you. That is the heart of repentance.
30:8 do not harden your neck like your fathers A hard neck is a stubborn ox refusing the yoke. To "give a hand to the LORD" is to yield to Him, putting your hand in His.
30:9 gracious and compassionate is the LORD your God The words God used when He showed Moses His glory (Exod 34:6). He does not turn His face from those who come back. The father ran to his returning son "while he was still far distant" (Luke 15:20). Are you far from Him? He will not turn His face from you if you return.
30:10 they were laughing at them and mocking them Even after Assyria crushed them, many would not humble themselves. The gospel invitation still meets laughter (Matt 22:1-5).
30:11 men from Asher and Manasseh and from Zebulun humbled themselves Not many, but some. Pride laughs at God's invitation. Humility accepts it.
30:12 to give them one heart Judah's unity was God's work. When His people come together to obey His Word, it is His gift.
30:14 removed the altars that were in Jerusalem The altars Ahaz built on every corner (28:24). The Feast of Unleavened Bread followed Passover for seven days, without yeast, remembering the haste of the exodus and picturing a life cleansed of sin (Exod 12:15-20; 1 Cor 5:8). They cleared away the false before they celebrated.
30:15 the priests and the Levites were ashamed Seeing ordinary people's zeal, the slow priests were embarrassed and consecrated themselves (29:34). Sometimes the faith of new believers wakes the rest of us up.

the Levites. 17 For many were in the assembly who had not consecrated themselves, and the Levites were over the slaughter of the Passover offerings for everyone who was not clean, to consecrate them to the LORD. 18 For a multitude of the people, many from Ephraim and Manasseh, Issachar (Yisashkhar), and Zebulun, had not purified themselves, for they ate the Passover not as it is written. For Hezekiah had prayed for them, saying, "May the good LORD make atonement for 19 everyone who has prepared his heart to seek God, the LORD, the God of his fathers, though not according to the purification of the holy place." 20 And the LORD listened to Hezekiah and healed the people.

Fourteen Days of Joy

21 And the sons of Israel who were found in Jerusalem kept the Feast of Unleavened Bread seven days with great joy, and the Levites and the priests were praising the LORD day by day with instruments of strength to the LORD. 22 And Hezekiah spoke to the heart of all the Levites who showed good insight toward the LORD. And they ate the appointed feast for the seven days, sacrificing sacrifices of peace offerings and giving thanks to the LORD, the God of their fathers. 23 And all the assembly took counsel to keep another seven days, and they kept seven days with joy. 24 For Hezekiah the king of Judah contributed to the assembly a thousand bulls and seven thousand sheep, and the officials contributed to the assembly a thousand bulls and ten thousand sheep; and priests consecrated themselves in multitude. 25 And all the assembly of Judah rejoiced, and the priests and the Levites, and all the assembly that came from Israel, and the sojourners who came from the land of Israel and who dwelt in Judah. 26 And there was great joy in Jerusalem, for since the days of Solomon (Shelomo) the son of David, the king of Israel, there was not anything like this in Jerusalem. 27 And the priests, the Levites, arose and blessed the people, and their voice was heard, and their prayer came to the dwelling of His holiness, to the heavens.

The Idols Removed

1 And when all this was finished, all Israel (Yisra'el) who were found there went out to the cities of Judah (Yehuda), and they broke the pillars, and they cut down the Asherim, and they tore down the high places and the altars from all Judah and Benjamin (Binyamin), and in Ephraim (Efrayim) and Manasseh (Menashe), until they had finished. And all the sons of Israel returned, each to his possession, to their cities.

Offerings for the Priests and Levites

2 And Hezekiah (Chizqiyahu) appointed the divisions of the priests and the Levites according to their divisions, each according to his service, the priests and the Levites, for burnt offering and for peace offerings, to minister and to give thanks and to praise in the gates of the camps of the LORD. 3 And the portion of the king from his property was for the burnt offerings: for the burnt offerings of the morning and the evening, and the burnt offerings for the Sabbaths and for the new moons and for the appointed times, as it is written in the law of the LORD. 4 And he told the people, the inhabitants of Jerusalem (Yerushalayim), to give the portion of the priests and the Levites, so that they might be strong in 30:17 the Levites were over the slaughter of the Passover offerings Normally each household head killed the lamb. The Levites did it for the unclean so the sacrifice would be acceptable.

30:18 they ate the Passover not as it is written Northerners raised far from the temple did not know the rules for being ceremonially clean, and Hezekiah prayed rather than send them away.
30:18 May the good LORD make atonement for He did not say the rules did not matter. He asked God, who is good, to look at hearts "prepared his heart to seek God" (30:19) and cover what they lacked.
30:20 the LORD listened to Hezekiah and healed the people Healed may mean spared from sickness as judgment (Lev 15:31) or restored spiritually. This is 7:14 at work. "The LORD sees according to the heart" (1 Sam 16:7), and "I desire mercy, and not sacrifice" (Matt 9:13). None of us comes perfectly clean. Jesus our High Priest intercedes for us (Heb 7:25) and makes us clean by His blood (1 John 1:7).
30:22 Hezekiah spoke to the heart of all the Levites To speak to the heart is to encourage, to speak kindly. A good leader thanks those who serve. Peace offerings were shared in a meal, a sign of fellowship with God and one another.
30:23 to keep another seven days One week was not enough. When God's people taste real joy in His presence, they don't want it to end. The leaders paid for the extra week themselves (30:24). Generosity spreads.
30:25 the sojourners who came from the land of Israel The feast was open to all who would come, a small picture of the gospel feast for every nation (Rev 7:9).
30:26 since the days of Solomon the son of David More than two hundred years with nothing like it. North and south worshiping together was a taste of the day God will make His people one again (Ezek 37:21-22).
30:27 their prayer came to the dwelling of His holiness, to the heavens Likely Aaron's blessing (Num 6:24-26). The answer to Solomon's prayer that God would hear from heaven (6:21). Prayer from a humble heart reaches God's throne (Heb 4:16).
31:1 they broke the pillars, and they cut down the Asherim The people themselves did it, even in the north. Kings adds that Hezekiah broke Moses' bronze serpent, because people burned incense to it (2 Kgs 18:4). Even a good thing from God's past can become an idol. Meeting God leads to a clean break with idols (1 Thess 1:9). What has taken His place in your heart?
31:2 Hezekiah appointed the divisions of the priests and the Levites He restored David's order (1 Chr 23-24), so worship would go on week after week. Revival needs structure to last.
31:3 the portion of the king from his property was for the burnt offerings The regular offerings of the Law (Num 28-29). New moons began each month, and the appointed times were the yearly feasts. A leader cannot ask others to give if he does not give himself.
31:4 so that they might be strong in the law of the LORD Levi had no land, so God's people supported them with tithes (Num 18:21-24). When giving stopped, Levites left to farm (Neh 13:10). Those who study, teach and serve need support, a principle Paul applies to gospel ministers (1 Cor 9:13-14; Gal 6:6).

the law of the LORD. 5 And as the word spread, the sons of Israel multiplied the first of grain, new wine, and fresh oil, and honey, and all the produce of the field; and the tithe of everything they brought in abundance. 6 And the sons of Israel and Judah who dwelt in the cities of Judah, they also brought a tithe of herd and flock, and a tithe of holy things that were consecrated to the LORD their God, and they made heaps upon heaps. 7 In the third month they began to found the heaps, and in the seventh month they finished. 8 And Hezekiah and the officials came, and they saw the heaps, and they blessed the LORD and His people Israel. 9 And Hezekiah inquired of the priests and the Levites concerning the heaps. 10 And Azariah (Azaryahu) the priest, the head, of the house of Zadok (Tsadoq), spoke to him, and he said, "Since they began to bring the contribution into the house of the LORD, we have eaten and been satisfied and have had left over, even in abundance, for the LORD has blessed His people; and what is left is this great store."

Faithful Stewards

11 And Hezekiah said to prepare chambers in the house of the LORD, and they prepared them. 12 And they brought the contribution and the tithe and the holy things in faithfulness. And over them was Conaniah (Konanyahu) the Levite as leader, and Shimei (Shimi) his brother was second. 13 And Jehiel (Yechi'el) and Azaziah (Azazyahu) and Nahath (Nachat) and Asahel and Jerimoth (Yeremot) and Jozabad (Yozavad) and Eliel and Ismachiah (Yismakhyahu) and Mahath (Machat) and Benaiah (Benayahu) were overseers at the hand of Conaniah and Shimei his brother, by the appointment of Hezekiah the king and Azariah the leader of the house of God. 14 And Kore (Qore) the son of Imnah (Yimna) the Levite, the gatekeeper toward the east, was over the freewill offerings of God, to distribute the contribution of the LORD and the most holy things. 15 And at his hand were Eden and Miniamin (Minyamin) and Jeshua (Yeshua) and Shemaiah (Shemayahu), Amariah (Amaryahu) and Shecaniah (Shekhanyahu), in the cities of the priests, in faithfulness, to distribute to their brothers by divisions, the great as the small, 16 besides their genealogical enrollment of males from a son of three years and upward: to everyone who came to the house of the LORD for the matter of a day in its day, for their service by their duties according to their divisions; 17 and the genealogical enrollment of the priests by the house of their fathers, and the Levites from a son of twenty years and upward, by their duties, by their divisions; 18 and they were to be enrolled with all their little ones, their wives and their sons and their daughters, for all the assembly; for in their faithfulness they consecrated themselves in holiness. 19 And for the sons of Aaron (Aharon), the priests, in the fields of the pasture land of their cities, in every city and city there were men who had been designated by names to distribute portions to every male among the priests and to everyone enrolled by genealogy among the Levites.

Hezekiah Prospers

20 And Hezekiah did like this in all Judah, and he did what was good and what was right and what was true before the LORD his God. 21 And in every work that he began in the service of the house of God, and in the law and in the commandment, to seek his God, with all his heart he did it, and he prospered.

2 CHRONICLES 32

Sennacherib Invades Judah

1 After these things and this faithfulness, Sennacherib (Sancheriv) the king of Assyria (Ashur) came, and he came into Judah (Yehuda), and he encamped against the fortified cities, and he said to break them open for himself. 2 And Hezekiah (Chizqiyahu) saw that Sennacherib had come and that his face was for war against Jerusalem (Yerushalayim), 3 and he took counsel with his officials and his mighty men to stop up the waters of the springs that were outside the 31:5 the tithe of everything they brought in abundance Firstfruits, the first of the harvest, confessed that it all came from God (Exod 23:19). The tithe was a tenth (Lev 27:30). From the wheat harvest in the third month to the fruit harvest in the seventh (31:7), the gifts kept coming. When God gets our hearts, He gets our wallets too (2 Cor 9:7).

31:10 for the LORD has blessed His people The priest gave God the credit. They gave, and God supplied more than enough (Mal 3:10; Luke 6:38). God is no man's debtor.
31:12 they brought the contribution and the tithe and the holy things in faithfulness Named men, accountable to king and high priest, managed the gifts. "Faithfulness" recurs (31:15, 18). Faithful giving deserves faithful management, and churches should handle gifts with the same care and openness.
31:15 to distribute to their brothers by divisions, the great as the small Freewill offerings (31:14) were gifts beyond what was required. Many priests lived in their towns (Josh 21), and the gifts reached those on duty and the families at home, children included. The goal was fairness, as in the early church (2 Cor 8:13-15). God cares for those who serve Him and their families, and so should we.
31:21 with all his heart he did it, and he prospered The secret of Hezekiah's life: what he did was for God's house, how he did it was by God's Word, why he did it was to seek God, and he did it wholeheartedly, unlike Amaziah (25:2). Prospering here does not mean every hard worker gets rich. God blessed his work. Seeking God with all our heart, we find Him (Jer 29:13; Col 3:23).
32:1 After these things and this faithfulness, Sennacherib the king of Assyria came Hezekiah had done everything right, and then the greatest army in the world came. Faithful people face hard trials (John 16:33). The question is whom we will trust. This was 701 B.C. (2 Kgs 18:13). Sennacherib's own records boast of taking Judah's walled towns and shutting Hezekiah up in Jerusalem, but do not claim he took the city.

city; and they helped him. 4 And many people were gathered, and they stopped up all the springs and the wadi that flowed through the midst of the land, saying, "Why should the kings of Assyria come and find much water?" 5 And he strengthened himself, and he built all the wall that was broken down, and he raised it up on the towers, and outside another wall; and he strengthened the Millo in the city of David, and he made weapons in abundance, and shields. 6 And he set commanders of wars over the people, and he gathered them to himself at the open place of the gate of the city, and he spoke to their heart, saying, 7 "Be strong and be courageous; do not be afraid and do not be dismayed because of the king of Assyria and before all the multitude that is with him, for with us is a greater one than with him. 8 With him is an arm of flesh, and with us is the LORD our God to help us and to fight our battles." And the people leaned on the words of Hezekiah the king of Judah.

Sennacherib Mocks the LORD

9 After this Sennacherib the king of Assyria sent his servants to Jerusalem (and he was at Lachish (Lakhish), and all his dominion with him) to Hezekiah the king of Judah and to all Judah who were in Jerusalem, saying, 10 "Thus says Sennacherib the king of Assyria: 'On what are you trusting, that you remain under siege in Jerusalem? 11 Is not Hezekiah misleading you, to give you over to die by hunger and by thirst, saying, "The LORD our God will deliver us from the hand of the king of Assyria"? 12 Has not Hezekiah himself removed His high places and His altars, and said to Judah and to Jerusalem, saying, "Before one altar you shall bow down, and on it you shall burn incense"? 13 Do you not know what I and my fathers have done to all the peoples of the lands? Were the gods of the nations of the lands at all able to deliver their land from my hand? 14 Who was there among all the gods of these nations which my fathers devoted to destruction that was able to deliver his people from my hand, that your God should be able to deliver you from my hand? 15 And now, do not let Hezekiah deceive you, and do not let him mislead you like this, and do not believe him; for no god of any nation and kingdom has been able to deliver his people from my hand and from the hand of my fathers. How much less will your gods deliver you from my hand!'" 16 And his servants spoke still more against the LORD God and against Hezekiah His servant. 17 And he wrote letters to taunt the LORD, the God of Israel (Yisra'el), and to speak against Him, saying, "Like the gods of the nations of the lands, who have not delivered their people from my hand, so the God of Hezekiah will not deliver His people from my hand." 18 And they called out with a great voice in Judean to the people of Jerusalem who were on the wall, to make them afraid and to terrify them, so that they might capture the city. 19 And they spoke concerning the God of Jerusalem as concerning the gods of the peoples of the earth, the work of the hands of mankind.

The LORD Saves Jerusalem

20 And Hezekiah the king and Isaiah (Yeshayahu) the son of Amoz (Amots), the prophet, prayed because of this, and they cried out to the heavens. 21 And the LORD sent an angel, and he cut off every mighty man of valor and leader and commander in the camp of the king of Assyria. And he returned with shame of face to his land, and he came into the house of his god, and some of those who came out of his own body, there they made him fall by the sword. 22 And the LORD saved Hezekiah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem from the hand of Sennacherib the king of Assyria and from the hand of all, and He guided them on every side. 23 And many were bringing an offering to the LORD to Jerusalem, and choice

32:4 Why should the kings of Assyria come and find much water Jerusalem's main spring, the Gihon, lay outside the walls. Faith and wise planning are not enemies. Nehemiah's people "prayed to our God, and we stationed a guard" (Neh 4:9).
32:5 he strengthened the Millo in the city of David A terraced structure supporting buildings on the hill. Archaeologists have found a thick wall from this time that many connect with Hezekiah.
32:6 he spoke to their heart A good leader prepares not only walls but people's hearts.
32:7 for with us is a greater one than with him Echoes of Moses and Joshua (Deut 31:6-8; Josh 1:9) and of Elisha: "more are those who are with us than those who are with them" (2 Kgs 6:16). "Greater is the One in you than the one in the world" (1 John 4:4).
32:8 with him is an arm of flesh Human strength looks powerful but is weak and temporary. The people "leaned on the words of Hezekiah." Our faith can strengthen others when we speak God's truth to frightened people.
32:9 he was at Lachish A strong city southwest of Jerusalem. Pictures of its siege were carved on Sennacherib's palace walls in Nineveh and have been found.
32:12 Has not Hezekiah himself removed His high places and His altars They twisted his reform into an insult to God, not knowing God wanted worship at His one chosen altar (Deut 12:13-14). The enemy often makes obedience look like foolishness.
32:15 How much less will your gods deliver you from my hand Sennacherib put the LORD on the level of idols. He was about to learn the difference.
32:18 in Judean The common people's language, so those on the wall would fear. Hezekiah's officials had begged for Aramaic, the diplomats' language (2 Kgs 18:26-28). Fear was their weapon.
32:19 the work of the hands of mankind They spoke of the Creator as if He were made by human hands. Mocking God does not hurt Him. It shows they do not know Him.
32:20 Hezekiah the king and Isaiah the son of Amoz, the prophet, prayed The turning point. They did not shout back from the wall. Hezekiah spread the letter before the LORD (2 Kgs 19:14-19; Isa 37:14-20). Take the threat, the diagnosis, the bill, and spread it before the Lord (Ps 50:15).
32:21 the LORD sent an angel Kings and Isaiah say 185,000 fell in one night (2 Kgs 19:35; Isa 37:36). Some suggest a plague, but Scripture says the LORD sent His angel, and I take it as written. Sennacherib's sons killed him in his god's house about twenty years later, in 681 B.C. (2 Kgs 19:37). The king who said no god could deliver found his own god could not deliver him.
32:23 he was lifted up in the eyes of all the nations from then on When God acts, His name is lifted up among the nations.

gifts to Hezekiah the king of Judah; and he was lifted up in the eyes of all the nations from then on.

Hezekiah's Illness and Pride

24 In those days Hezekiah was sick to the point of dying, and he prayed to the LORD; and He spoke to him, and He gave him a sign. 25 And Hezekiah did not repay according to the benefit done to him, for his heart was haughty; and there was wrath on him and on Judah and Jerusalem. 26 And Hezekiah humbled himself for the haughtiness of his heart, he and the inhabitants of Jerusalem, and the wrath of the LORD did not come on them in the days of Hezekiah.

Hezekiah's Riches and Death

27 And Hezekiah had very great riches and honor; and he made for himself treasuries for silver and for gold and for precious stones and for spices and for shields and for all kinds of desirable articles, 28 and storehouses for the produce of grain and new wine and fresh oil, and stalls for each and every kind of livestock, and flocks for the stalls. 29 And cities he made for himself, and livestock of flock and herd in abundance, for God had given him very much property. 30 And he, Hezekiah, stopped up the upper outlet of the waters of Gihon (Gichon) and directed them down to the west of the city of David. And Hezekiah prospered in all his work. 31 And so in the matter of the envoys of the officials of Babylon (Bavel), who sent to him to inquire about the sign that had happened in the land, God left him, to test him, to know all that was in his heart. 32 And the rest of the matters of Hezekiah, and his deeds of steadfast love, look, they are written in the vision of Isaiah the son of Amoz, the prophet, in the book of the kings of Judah and Israel. 33 And Hezekiah lay down with his fathers, and they buried him in the ascent of the graves of the sons of David; and all Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem did him honor at his death. And Manasseh (Menashe) his son reigned in his place.

Manasseh's Evil Reign

1 Manasseh (Menashe) was a son of twelve years when he became king, and he reigned fifty-five years in Jerusalem (Yerushalayim). 2 And he did the evil in the eyes of the LORD, according to the abominations of the nations whom the LORD dispossessed from before the sons of Israel (Yisra'el). 3 And he again built the high places which Hezekiah (Chizqiyahu) his father had torn down, and he raised up altars for the Baals, and he made Asherahs, and he bowed down to all the host of the heavens and served them. 4 And he built altars in the house of the LORD, of which the LORD had said, "In Jerusalem My name shall be forever." 5 And he built altars for all the host of the heavens in the two courts of the house of the LORD. 6 And he made his sons pass through the fire in the valley of the son of Hinnom (Hinom), and he practiced soothsaying and practiced omens and practiced sorcery, and dealt with a medium and a spiritist. He multiplied doing the evil in the eyes of the LORD, to provoke Him to anger. 7 And he put the carved image of the idol which he had made in the house of God, of which God had said to David and to Solomon (Shelomo) his son, "In this house and in Jerusalem, which I have chosen from all the tribes of Israel, I will put My name forever. 8 And I will not again remove the foot of Israel from the ground which I appointed for your 32:24 Hezekiah was sick to the point of dying Told in full in 2 Kings 20:1-11 and Isaiah 38: God added fifteen years and moved the shadow back on the steps.

32:25 for his heart was haughty After healing came pride, seen in showing Babylon's envoys his treasures (2 Kgs 20:12-19). Even the best of us can fall into pride after a great blessing, as Uzziah did (26:16). Answered prayer should make us more humble.
32:26 Hezekiah humbled himself for the haughtiness of his heart Uzziah raged when corrected, and Hezekiah humbled himself. The judgment was delayed, though it came later. Humility does not always erase consequences, but God gives grace to the humble (James 4:6).
32:29 for God had given him very much property The Chronicler is careful to say where the riches came from.
32:30 he, Hezekiah, stopped up the upper outlet of the waters of Gihon His workers cut a tunnel through solid rock, about a third of a mile, bringing the spring inside the walls (2 Kgs 20:20). It still exists and visitors walk through it. An old inscription inside tells how two crews dug from opposite ends and met.
32:31 God left him, to test him, to know all that was in his heart Babylon was then a smaller power seeking allies against Assyria (2 Kgs 20:12). Only Chronicles gives this reason. God did not stop loving him. He stepped back so Hezekiah could see his own heart (Deut 8:2). God already knew. Hezekiah failed, and Babylon later carried it all away (2 Kgs 20:16-18; 36:18).
32:32 his deeds of steadfast love Hesed, loyal love.
32:33 did him honor at his death Unlike Jehoram, whom no one missed (21:20). He died about 686 B.C. The best of fathers was followed by the worst of sons, but even Manasseh's story is not without hope.
33:1 he reigned fifty-five years in Jerusalem About 697 to 642 B.C., counting about ten years with his father. The longest reign in Judah, and much of it spent doing evil.
33:2 according to the abominations of the nations An abomination is something God finds detestable. God drove out the Canaanites for these very practices (Deut 18:9-12).
33:3 he bowed down to all the host of the heavens The sun, moon and stars worshiped as gods, common in Assyria and Babylon and forbidden by Moses (Deut 4:19). Everything Hezekiah did, Manasseh undid. Scripture does not say why. Perhaps resentful officials gathered around the young king, or he wanted to please Assyria. A godly father cannot pass his faith on by inheritance. Each generation must choose.
33:4 he built altars in the house of the LORD Idolatry in God's own house, the place where He said His name would be forever.
33:6 dealt with a medium and a spiritist Like Ahaz (28:3), he offered his sons in the fire. Soothsaying and omens tried to read the future from signs, sorcery used spells, a medium claimed to speak with the dead, and a spiritist claimed knowledge from spirits. God forbids them all (Lev 19:26, 31; Deut 18:10-12). They seek power or guidance apart from God and open the door to the demonic. They are not harmless games. The answer is not fear but Christ, who disarmed the powers at the cross (Col 2:15). Kings adds that he filled Jerusalem with innocent blood (2 Kgs 21:16).
33:7 the carved image of the idol which he had made An image of Asherah (2 Kgs 21:7), set in the house where God put His name.

fathers, only if they take care to do all that I have commanded them, according to all the law and the statutes and the judgments by the hand of Moses (Moshe)." 9 And Manasseh led Judah (Yehuda) and the inhabitants of Jerusalem astray to do evil more than the nations whom the LORD had destroyed from before the sons of Israel.

Manasseh Humbles Himself

10 And the LORD spoke to Manasseh and to his people, and they did not pay attention. 11 And the LORD brought on them the commanders of the army that belonged to the king of Assyria (Ashur), and they captured Manasseh with the hooks, and they bound him with the bronze fetters, and they brought him to Babylon (Bavel). 12 And when he was in distress, he entreated the face of the LORD his God, and he humbled himself greatly before the God of his fathers. 13 And he prayed to Him, and He was entreated by him, and He heard his supplication, and He brought him back to Jerusalem to his kingdom. And Manasseh knew that the LORD, He is God.

Manasseh's Reform

14 And after this he built an outer wall for the city of David, west of Gihon (Gichon), in the wadi, and as far as the entrance at the Fish Gate, and he went around the Ophel (Ofel) and made it very high; and he put commanders of the army in all the fortified cities in Judah. 15 And he removed the gods of foreignness and the idol from the house of the LORD, and all the altars which he had built on the mountain of the house of the LORD and in Jerusalem, and he threw them outside the city. 16 And he built the altar of the LORD, and he sacrificed on it sacrifices of peace offerings and thanksgiving, and he said to Judah to serve the LORD, the God of Israel. 17 But still the people were sacrificing at the high places, only to the LORD their God. 18 And the rest of the matters of Manasseh, and his prayer to his God, and the words of the seers who spoke to him in the name of the LORD, the God of Israel, look, they are in the matters of the kings of Israel. 19 And his prayer, and how He was entreated by him, and all his sin and his unfaithfulness, and the places in which he built high places and set up the Asherim and the carved images before he humbled himself, look, they are written in the words of Hozai (Chozay). 20 And Manasseh lay down with his fathers, and they buried him in his house; and Amon his son reigned in his place.

Amon Reigns in Judah

21 Amon was a son of twenty-two years when he became king, and he reigned two years in Jerusalem. 22 And he did the evil in the eyes of the LORD, just as Manasseh his father had done; and to all the carved images which Manasseh his father had made Amon sacrificed, and he served them. 23 And he did not humble himself before the LORD, as Manasseh his father had humbled himself; for he, Amon, multiplied guilt. 24 And his servants conspired against him, and they killed him in his house. 25 And the people of the land struck down all who had conspired against King Amon, and the people of the land made Josiah (Yoshiyahu) his son king in his place.

33:9 to do evil more than the nations whom the LORD had destroyed God's own people became worse than the Canaanites. If anyone seemed beyond hope, it was Manasseh.

33:10 the LORD spoke to Manasseh and to his people, and they did not pay attention Even to the worst king God sent prophets (2 Kgs 21:10-15). He would rather His people turn and live (Ezek 33:11). Hearing and ignoring is the most dangerous place to be. "Today, if you hear His voice, do not harden your hearts" (Heb 3:15).

33:11 they captured Manasseh with the hooks Assyrian kings boasted of leading captive kings with hooks like animals, or it may mean caught like a fish. Assyria then ruled Babylon. Many think it was about 650 to 648 B.C., when Babylon revolted, but the text does not give the year. It was mercy in a hard form. Sometimes the kindest thing God can do is let us hit bottom (Luke 15:17).

33:12 when he was in distress, he entreated the face of the LORD his God One of the most hopeful verses in the Old Testament. Distress hardened Ahaz (28:22) and softened Manasseh. To entreat the face is to plead for favor. He did not turn to Assyria's gods or the stars.

33:12 he humbled himself greatly No excuses, no bargaining. Exactly what 7:14 calls for. Have you wondered if you have gone too far for God to take you back? Think of Manasseh. "A broken and crushed heart, God, You will not despise" (Ps 51:17).

33:13 He was entreated by him, and He heard his supplication, and He brought him back A supplication is a humble, earnest request. Every phrase is grace, God's kindness to the undeserving (Rom 5:20). If God would hear Manasseh, He will hear anyone. Paul called himself the foremost of sinners, a pattern of Christ's patience (1 Tim 1:15-16). Forgiveness did not undo all the damage (2 Kgs 23:26; 24:3-4), but it restored the sinner to God.

33:13 Manasseh knew that the LORD, He is God After fifty years of false gods he knew the true one. Kings does not tell this story. I believe the Chronicler included it because his readers had also gone to Babylon in chains for their sin and been brought home. Manasseh's story was theirs, and it is ours. "The one coming to Me I will certainly not cast out" (John 6:37). You are not beyond His reach.

33:14 he built an outer wall for the city of David A restored life often shows itself in rebuilding what was broken.

33:15 he removed the gods of foreignness and the idol from the house of the LORD The idol he set up himself, he removed himself, and he used his authority to call Judah back (33:16). True repentance shows itself in changed actions (Luke 3:8).

33:17 only to the LORD their God They worshiped in the wrong places. It was easier to lead the people into sin than out of it. Our sin affects others, and sometimes they do not follow us back when we repent.

33:19 the words of Hozai Hozai may be a prophet's name, or the word may mean the seers. His prayer is mentioned twice. Grace does not pretend sin did not happen, but God's record of Manasseh ends with his prayer. He was buried in his palace garden (2 Kgs 21:18).

33:23 he did not humble himself before the LORD, as Manasseh his father had humbled himself Amon reigned about 642 to 640 B.C. He copied his father's sin but not his repentance. Our children watch the whole of our lives. If you have repented, live the new life so plainly they see the change, and pray for them.

33:25 the people of the land struck down all who had conspired against King Amon The ordinary landowners of Judah, loyal to David's line. From Manasseh's grandson God raised one of Judah's most faithful kings.

Josiah Seeks God and Cleanses the Land

1 Josiah (Yoshiyahu) was a son of eight years when he became king, and he reigned thirty-one years in Jerusalem (Yerushalayim). 2 And he did what was right in the eyes of the LORD, and he walked in the ways of David his father, and he did not turn aside to the right or to the left. 3 And in the eighth year of his reign, and he was still a youth, he began to seek the God of David his father; and in the twelfth year he began to cleanse Judah (Yehuda) and Jerusalem from the high places and the Asherim and the carved images and the molten images. 4 And they tore down the altars of the Baals before him, and the incense altars that were high above them he cut down; and the Asherim and the carved images and the molten images he broke in pieces and pulverized them, and he scattered them on the face of the graves of those who had sacrificed to them. 5 And the bones of priests he burned on their altars, and he cleansed Judah and Jerusalem. 6 And in the cities of Manasseh (Menashe) and Ephraim (Efrayim) and Simeon (Shimon), and as far as Naphtali (Naftali), with their swords all around, 7 and he tore down the altars and the Asherim, and the carved images he crushed, to pulverize them, and all the incense altars he cut down in all the land of Israel (Yisra'el); and he returned to Jerusalem.

The Book of the Law Found

8 And in the eighteenth year of his reign, to cleanse the land and the house, he sent Shaphan (Shafan) the son of Azaliah (Atsalyahu), and Maaseiah (Ma'aseyahu) the official of the city, and Joah (Yo'ach) the son of Joahaz (Yo'achaz), the recorder, to repair the house of the LORD his God. 9 And they came to Hilkiah (Chilqiyahu) the high priest, and they gave the money that was brought into the house of God, which the Levites, the keepers of the threshold, had gathered from the hand of Manasseh and Ephraim and from all the remnant of Israel and from all Judah and Benjamin (Binyamin); and they returned to Jerusalem. 10 And they gave it into the hand of the doers of the work who were appointed in the house of the LORD; and they gave it to the doers of the work who were working in the house of the LORD, to mend and to repair the house. 11 And they gave it to the craftsmen and to the builders, to buy hewn stones and timbers for the couplings, and to make beams for the houses which the kings of Judah had ruined. 12 And the men were working in faithfulness in the work; and over them were appointed Jahath (Yachat) and Obadiah (Ovadyahu), the Levites, of the sons of Merari, and Zechariah (Zekharya) and Meshullam (Meshulam), of the sons of the Kohathites, to oversee; and the Levites, everyone skilled in instruments of song, 13 and were over the burden bearers, and were overseeing every doer of work for each and every service; and of the Levites were scribes and officers and gatekeepers. 14 And when they brought out the money that was brought into the house of the LORD, Hilkiah the priest found the book of the law of the LORD given by the hand of Moses (Moshe). 15 And Hilkiah answered and said to Shaphan the scribe, "The book of the law I have found in the house of the LORD." And Hilkiah gave the book to Shaphan. 16 And Shaphan brought the book to the king, and he further brought back word to the king, saying, "All that was given into the hand of your servants they are doing. 17 And they have poured out the money that was found in the house of the LORD, and they have put it into the hand of those appointed and into the hand of the doers of the work." 18 And Shaphan the scribe told the king, saying, "A book Hilkiah the priest has given to me." And Shaphan read in it before the king. 19 And it was, when the king heard the words of the law, and he tore his clothes. 20 And the king

34:1 he reigned thirty-one years in Jerusalem About 640 to 609 B.C. Kings says no king turned to the LORD as Josiah did (2 Kgs 23:25). His grandfather and father were wicked. God's grace is not limited by our family tree.
34:2 he did not turn aside to the right or to the left He kept to the straight path God set (Deut 5:32).
34:3 he began to seek the God of David his father At sixteen, about 632 B.C. We are not told what moved him. It is never too early to seek God (Eccl 12:1). The cleansing began at twenty, about 628 B.C. Seeking came first and cleansing followed. Jeremiah began in Josiah's thirteenth year (Jer 1:2), and Zephaniah also preached then (Zeph 1:1).
34:4 scattered them on the face of the graves of those who had sacrificed to them Graves were unclean, and the idols' dust was scattered there in shame.
34:5 the bones of priests he burned on their altars Burning human bones made an altar unclean forever. About three hundred years earlier a man of God named Josiah as the one who would do this at Bethel (1 Kgs 13:2; 2 Kgs 23:15-16). God's Word always comes true, even if it takes three hundred years.
34:6 in the cities of Manasseh and Ephraim and Simeon, and as far as Naphtali The old northern lands were under a weakening Assyria. Like Hezekiah, Josiah's heart was for all Israel.
34:8 in the eighteenth year of his reign About 622 B.C. The temple had been neglected under Manasseh and Amon. Even northerners gave (34:9).
34:12 the men were working in faithfulness in the work Levites oversaw and served as scribes, officers and gatekeepers. Kings says no accounting was asked, "for they are working in faithfulness" (2 Kgs 22:7).
34:14 the book of the law of the LORD given by the hand of Moses Many think it was Deuteronomy, since the reform and the curses that frightened Josiah match it. Others think it was the whole Law of Moses. After about fifty-seven years of idolatry it had been neglected, perhaps hidden or lost. Some modern scholars think it was written then and presented as old. I do not accept that. The text says it was given by Moses.
34:15 The book of the law I have found in the house of the LORD It is possible to have a temple, priests and worship, and still lose God's Word. A church can be busy and have lost the Bible. Many homes have a Bible lost on a shelf. Where is yours?
34:18 A book Hilkiah the priest has given to me Shaphan mentioned it after the business report, as an afterthought. He was about to learn how important it was.
34:19 when the king heard the words of the law, and he tore his clothes Tearing clothes showed deep grief. He saw how far they had fallen and what the law warned (Deut 28-29). God's Word shows us ourselves (Heb 4:12). His son Jehoiakim cut up and burned Jeremiah's scroll, and no one tore his garments (Jer 36:23-24). Same Word, different hearts. How do you respond when it shows you your sin?

commanded Hilkiah, and Ahikam (Achiqam) the son of Shaphan, and Abdon (Avdon) the son of Micah (Mikha), and Shaphan the scribe, and Asaiah (Asaya) the servant of the king, saying, 21 "Go, inquire of the LORD for me and for those who are left in Israel and in Judah concerning the words of the book that has been found; for great is the wrath of the LORD that has been poured out on us, because our fathers have not kept the word of the LORD, to do according to all that is written in this book."

Huldah's Word

22 And Hilkiah and those whom the king had sent went to Huldah (Chulda) the prophetess, the wife of Shallum (Shalum) the son of Tokhath (Toqhat), the son of Hasrah (Chasra), keeper of the garments; and she was dwelling in Jerusalem in the Second Quarter; and they spoke to her like this. 23 And she said to them, "Thus says the LORD, the God of Israel: 'Say to the man who sent you to me, 24 "Thus says the LORD: Look, I am bringing calamity on this place and on its inhabitants, all the curses that are written in the book which they have read before the king of Judah, 25 because they have forsaken Me and burned incense to other gods, so as to provoke Me to anger with all the works of their hands; and My wrath will be poured out on this place, and it will not be quenched."' 26 And to the king of Judah, who sent you to inquire of the LORD, thus you shall say to him: 'Thus says the LORD, the God of Israel: "As for the words which you have heard, 27 because your heart was tender, and you humbled yourself before God when you heard His words against this place and against its inhabitants, and you humbled yourself before Me, and you tore your clothes and wept before Me, I also have heard, declares the LORD. 28 Look, I will gather you to your fathers, and you will be gathered to your graves in peace, and your eyes will not look on all the calamity which I am bringing on this place and on its inhabitants."'" And they brought back word to the king.

Josiah Renews the Covenant

29 And the king sent and gathered all the elders of Judah and Jerusalem. 30 And the king went up to the house of the LORD, and every man of Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem and the priests and the Levites and all the people, from great even to small; and he read in their ears all the words of the book of the covenant that had been found in the house of the LORD. 31 And the king stood in his place, and he made the covenant before the LORD, to walk after the LORD and to keep His commandments and His testimonies and His statutes with all his heart and with all his soul, to do the words of the covenant that are written in this book. 32 And he made everyone who was found in Jerusalem and Benjamin stand to it. And the inhabitants of Jerusalem did according to the covenant of God, the God of their fathers. 33 And Josiah removed all the abominations from all the lands that belonged to the sons of Israel, and he made everyone who was found in Israel serve, to serve the LORD their God. All his days they did not turn aside from after the LORD, the God of their fathers.

Josiah Keeps the Passover

1 And Josiah (Yoshiyahu) kept a Passover to the LORD in Jerusalem (Yerushalayim), and they slaughtered the Passover on the fourteenth of the first month. 2 And he set the priests at their duties, and he strengthened them for the service of the house of the LORD. 3 And he said to the Levites who taught all Israel (Yisra'el), who were holy to the LORD, "Put the ark of holiness in the house which Solomon (Shelomo) the son of David, the king of Israel, built. There is no burden on the shoulder for you. Now serve the LORD your God and His people Israel. 4 And prepare yourselves by the house of your fathers, according to your divisions, by the 34:21 for me and for those who are left in Israel and in Judah He wanted to know what God would do, and he included himself and the whole people. He did not point the finger.

34:22 Huldah the prophetess Her husband kept the wardrobe, and she lived in the Second Quarter, a newer part of the city. Jeremiah and Zephaniah were active, but perhaps she was near and well known. God spoke through Miriam, Deborah and Anna too (Exod 15:20; Judg 4:4; Luke 2:36-38).

34:24 all the curses that are written in the book Even Josiah's reform would not turn away the judgment. Manasseh's sins went deep (2 Kgs 23:26), and Judah returned "with falsehood" (Jer 3:10). Outward reform is not the same as inward repentance.

34:27 because your heart was tender Soft and easily moved by God's Word, the opposite of a hard heart. He humbled himself, tore his clothes and wept, and God heard. "The LORD is near to the broken of heart" (Ps 34:18).

34:28 you will be gathered to your graves in peace He was killed in battle (35:23-24), so this does not mean a peaceful death. He would be buried before the city fell and die at peace with God.

34:30 he read in their ears all the words of the book of the covenant He was promised peace and could have done nothing more. Instead the king himself read God's Word to great and small, as Moses commanded (Deut 31:10-13).

34:31 with all his heart and with all his soul The great command (Deut 6:5; Matt 22:37-38). Hearing is not enough. "Be doers of the word and not hearers only" (James 1:22).

34:33 all his days they did not turn aside Like "all the days of Jehoiada" (24:2), it is also a warning. After Josiah died, the nation went back fast (36:5-14). One godly leader can hold back a flood for a time, but each heart must choose God for itself.

35:1 they slaughtered the Passover on the fourteenth of the first month Hezekiah had to use the second month (30:2-3). Josiah kept the right day (Exod 12:6; Lev 23:5), in his eighteenth year, about 622 B.C., right after the covenant. Having heard God's Word, they obeyed it.

35:3 Put the ark of holiness in the house The ark held the tablets of the Law, with the mercy seat on top. Scripture does not say why it had been moved, whether by Manasseh or Amon, by priests protecting it, or during repairs. The Levites once carried the ark on their shoulders (Num 4:15; 1 Chr 15:15), but now "There is no burden on the shoulder for you." Freed from carrying, they were to "serve the LORD your God and His people Israel." That is what all ministry is.

Hilkiah (Chilqiya) and Zechariah (Zekharyahu) and Jehiel (Yechi'el), the leaders of the house of God, gave to the priests for the Passover offerings two thousand six hundred, and three hundred cattle. 9 And Conaniah (Konanyahu) and Shemaiah (Shemayahu) and Nethanel (Netanel), his brothers, and Hashabiah (Chashavyahu) and Jeiel (Ye'i'el) and Jozabad (Yozavad), the officials of the Levites, contributed to the Levites for the Passover offerings five thousand, and five hundred cattle. 10 And the service was prepared, and the priests stood at their place, and the Levites by their divisions, according to the command of the king. 11 And they slaughtered the Passover, and the priests sprinkled the blood from their hand, and the Levites were skinning them. 12 And they removed the burnt offering, to give them to the divisions of the house of the fathers of the sons of the people, to bring near to the LORD, as it is written in the book of Moses; and so with the cattle. 13 And they cooked the Passover in the fire according to the ordinance, and the holy things they cooked in the pots and in the cauldrons and in the pans, and they brought them quickly to all the sons of the people. 14 And afterward they prepared for themselves and for the priests, for the priests, the sons of Aaron (Aharon), were busy offering up the burnt offering and the fat portions until night; and the Levites prepared for themselves and for the priests, the sons of Aaron. 15 And the singers, the sons of Asaph (Asaf), were at their post according to the command of David and Asaph and Heman and Jeduthun (Yedutun) the seer of the king; and the gatekeepers were at each and every gate. It was not for them to turn aside from their service, for their brothers the Levites prepared for them. 16 And all the service of the LORD was prepared on that day, to keep the Passover and to offer up burnt offerings on the altar of the LORD, according to the command of King Josiah. 17 And the sons of Israel who were found kept the Passover at that time, and the Feast of Unleavened Bread seven days. 18 And a Passover like it had not been kept in Israel since the days of Samuel (Shemu'el) the prophet; and all the kings of Israel had not kept one like the Passover which Josiah kept, and the priests and the Levites and all Judah (Yehuda) and Israel who were found, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem. 19 In the eighteenth year of the reign of Josiah this Passover was kept.

Josiah Dies at Megiddo

20 After all this, when Josiah had prepared the house, Neco (Nekho) the king of Egypt (Mitsrayim) came up to fight at Carchemish (Karkemish) on the Euphrates (Perat); and Josiah went out to meet him. 21 And he sent messengers to him, saying, "What is there to me and to you, king of Judah? Not against you, you, do I come this day, but against the house of my war; and God has said to hurry me. Cease for yourself from God, who is with me, and let Him not destroy you." 22 And Josiah did not turn his face away from him, for he disguised himself to fight against him; and he did not listen to the words of Neco from the mouth of God, and he came to fight in the valley of Megiddo (Megido). 23 And the archers shot at King Josiah, and the king said to his servants, "Take me away, for I have been wounded greatly." 24 And his ser-

35:6 to do according to the word of the LORD by the hand of Moses Every part was rooted in God's Word: Moses for the sacrifice, David and Solomon for the order of service (35:4).
35:7 these were from the property of the king He paid from his own wealth so no one, even the poor, was left out, and the officials followed (35:8-9), more than Hezekiah gave (30:24). Generous leaders make generous people (2 Cor 8:1-5).
35:13 they cooked the Passover in the fire according to the ordinance Roasted, as the Law said (Exod 12:8-9). The other offerings were boiled and served quickly to all.
35:15 for their brothers the Levites prepared for them Some slaughtered, some sprinkled, some cooked, some sang, some guarded gates. No one did everything, and everyone did something, each serving so others could serve. That is the church (1 Cor 12:12-27; Eph 4:16).
35:18 since the days of Samuel the prophet Not even David, Solomon or Hezekiah kept one just like it. Hezekiah's had great joy but was late and many ate unclean (30:18). Within forty years the temple would be ashes. God gave one more great Passover before the end. It pointed to Jesus at the Last Supper (Luke 22:14-20). "Our Passover was sacrificed for us: Christ" (1 Cor 5:7).
35:20 Neco the king of Egypt came up to fight at Carchemish on the Euphrates In 609 B.C. Carchemish lay in what is now northern Syria. Nineveh had fallen to Babylon in 612 B.C., as Nahum foretold, and Neco marched to help what was left of Assyria (2 Kgs 23:29). Scripture does not say why Josiah went out. Perhaps he feared Egypt or wanted Assyria gone for good.
35:21 Cease for yourself from God, who is with me A pagan king claimed to speak for God, and verse 22 says he truly did. God spoke through Balaam (Num 22-24) and moved Cyrus (36:22). God can use anyone to speak His word.
35:22 he disguised himself to fight against him The king so tender toward God's Word (34:27) did not recognize it from an unexpected mouth, and there is no mention of inquiring of the LORD (34:21). The disguise echoes Ahab (18:29). Megiddo guarded the main pass on the great road north, and its name is the root of Armageddon (Rev 16:16). Even the godly make serious mistakes. Ask God first, especially when a decision looks right to you.
35:24 he died, and he was buried in the graves of his fathers Kings says he died at Megiddo (2 Kgs 23:29-30). He was mortally wounded there and died on the way or soon after reaching Jerusalem. He was thirty-nine. Huldah's word came true (34:28).

The Last Kings of Judah

1 And the people of the land took Jehoahaz (Yeho'achaz) the son of Josiah (Yoshiyahu), and they made him king in place of his father in Jerusalem (Yerushalayim). 2 Jehoahaz (Yo'achaz) was a son of twenty-three years when he became king, and he reigned three months in Jerusalem. 3 And the king of Egypt (Mitsrayim) removed him in Jerusalem, and he fined the land approximately 7,500 pounds (a hundred talents) of silver and approximately 75 pounds (a talent) of gold. 4 And the king of Egypt made Eliakim (Elyaqim) his brother king over Judah (Yehuda) and Jerusalem, and he changed his name to Jehoiakim (Yehoyaqim). And Jehoahaz his brother Neco (Nekho) took, and he brought him to Egypt. 5 Jehoiakim was a son of twenty-five years when he became king, and he reigned eleven years in Jerusalem; and he did the evil in the eyes of the LORD his God. 6 Against him Nebuchadnezzar (Nevukhadnetsar) the king of Babylon (Bavel) came up, and he bound him with the bronze fetters to take him to Babylon. 7 And some of the articles of the house of the LORD Nebuchadnezzar brought to Babylon, and he put them in his temple in Babylon. 8 And the rest of the matters of Jehoiakim, and his abominations which he did, and what was found against him, look, they are written in the book of the kings of Israel (Yisra'el) and Judah. And Jehoiachin (Yehoyakhin) his son reigned in his place. 9 Jehoiachin was a son of eight years when he became king, and he reigned three months and ten days in Jerusalem; and he did the evil in the eyes of the LORD. 10 And at the turn of the year King Nebuchadnezzar sent and brought him to Babylon with the desirable articles of the house of the LORD, and he made Zedekiah (Tsidqiyahu) his brother king over Judah and Jerusalem.

Zedekiah and the Fall of Jerusalem

11 Zedekiah was a son of twenty-one years when he became king, and he reigned eleven years in Jerusalem. 12 And he did the evil in the eyes of the LORD his God; he did not humble himself before Jeremiah (Yirmeyahu) the prophet speaking from the mouth of the LORD. 13 And also against King Nebuchadnezzar he rebelled, who had made him swear by God; and he stiffened his neck and hardened his heart from returning to the LORD, the God of Israel. 14 Also all the officials of the priests and the people multiplied committing unfaithfulness, according to all the abominations of the nations, and they made unclean the house of the LORD which 35:25 Jeremiah lamented over Josiah Jeremiah said Josiah did justice and judged the cause of the poor, and that this is to know God (Jer 22:15-16). These laments are lost, not our book of Lamentations. Zechariah foresaw mourning "like the mourning of Hadad-rimmon in the plain of Megiddo" (Zech 12:11), when Israel looks on Him whom they pierced (Zech 12:10). I believe that day is still future, when Jesus returns and Israel turns to her Messiah.

35:26 according to what is written in the law of the LORD The measure of Josiah's life. He found God's Word and lived by it. Seek God with all your heart, love His Word, and never stop asking what He wants.
36:2 he reigned three months in Jerusalem In 609 B.C. Neco fined the land heavily, and Jehoahaz died in Egypt (2 Kgs 23:34; Jer 22:10-12).
36:4 he changed his name to Jehoiakim Changing a man's name showed mastery over him. David's line was now a puppet of foreign powers.
36:5 he reigned eleven years in Jerusalem About 609 to 598 B.C. Jeremiah shows his palace built by forced labor (Jer 22:13-17), his killing of the prophet Uriah (Jer 26:20-23), and his burning of the scroll (Jer 36:23).
36:6 Nebuchadnezzar the king of Babylon came up Babylon beat Egypt at Carchemish in 605 B.C. (Jer 46:2) and carried off temple vessels and royal youths, Daniel among them (Dan 1:1-6), the first deportation. Scripture does not say Jehoiakim reached Babylon. He may have been bound and released. Kings says he rebelled and died in Jerusalem (2 Kgs 24:1, 6).
36:7 he put them in his temple in Babylon The first of three times this chapter tells of temple treasures going to Babylon (36:7, 10, 18), as Isaiah warned (2 Kgs 20:17). These vessels were used at Belshazzar's feast (Dan 5:2-3).
36:9 Jehoiachin was a son of eight years Kings says eighteen (2 Kgs 24:8). Most think eight is a copying error, since he had wives (2 Kgs 24:15) and was judged for evil. Some suggest he was co-ruler at eight. It does not change the story.
36:10 brought him to Babylon with the desirable articles of the house of the LORD The second deportation, 597 B.C., with ten thousand leaders and craftsmen (2 Kgs 24:14), Ezekiel among them (Ezek 1:1-3). Jeremiah said none of his seed would prosper on David's throne (Jer 22:30). He is in Jesus' line through Joseph, His legal father (Matt 1:11-12), and Luke traces Jesus through Nathan, which many believe is Mary's line (Luke 3:23-31). God kept both the curse and the promise.
36:10 Zedekiah his brother Actually his uncle, a son of Josiah (2 Kgs 24:17). "Brother" can mean any close male relative.
36:12 he did not humble himself before Jeremiah the prophet The question of the whole book: will you humble yourself? Rehoboam, Hezekiah, Manasseh and Josiah did (12:6-7; 32:26; 33:12; 34:27). Zedekiah would not. He asked Jeremiah in secret but feared his officials too much to obey (Jer 37:17; 38:14-23). He reigned about 597 to 586 B.C.
36:13 who had made him swear by God He broke an oath in God's name (Ezek 17:13-19). A stiff neck is an ox that will not bow to the yoke.
36:14 they made unclean the house of the LORD Not only the king. Ezekiel saw idols on the walls, elders burning incense, and men bowing to the sun with their backs to the temple (Ezek 8). The house God filled with glory (7:1-3) was defiled by its keepers.

He had consecrated in Jerusalem. 15 And the LORD, the God of their fathers, sent to them by the hand of His messengers, rising early and sending, for He had compassion on His people and on His dwelling place. 16 And they were mocking the messengers of God, and despising His words, and scoffing at His prophets, until the wrath of the LORD went up against His people, until there was no healing.

Jerusalem Burned

17 And He brought up against them the king of the Chaldeans (Kasdim), and he killed their young men with the sword in the house of their sanctuary, and he did not have compassion on young man and virgin, old man and aged; all of them He gave into his hand. 18 And all the articles of the house of God, the great and the small, and the treasures of the house of the LORD, and the treasures of the king and of his officials, all of it he brought to Babylon. 19 And they burned the house of God, and they tore down the wall of Jerusalem, and all its palaces they burned with fire, and all its desirable articles, to destroy them. 20 And he carried into exile those left from the sword to Babylon, and they became servants to him and to his sons until the reign of the kingdom of Persia (Paras), 21 to fulfill the word of the LORD by the mouth of Jeremiah, until the land had accepted its Sabbaths. All the days of its desolation it kept Sabbath, to fulfill seventy years.

The Decree of Cyrus

22 And in the first year of Cyrus (Koresh) the king of Persia, to complete the word of the LORD by the mouth of Jeremiah, the LORD stirred up the spirit of Cyrus the king of Persia, and he made a proclamation pass through all his kingdom, and also in writing, saying, 23 "Thus says Cyrus the king of Persia: 'All the kingdoms of the earth the LORD, the God of the heavens, has given to me, and He has charged me to build Him a house in Jerusalem, which is in Judah. Who is among you of all His people? The LORD his God be with him, and let him go up.'"

36:15 rising early and sending, for He had compassion on His people The heart of God at the end. Up at dawn for something urgent, year after year (Jer 7:13, 25; 25:3-4). He did not want to destroy them. He wanted them to turn.
36:16 until there was no healing God's love does not run out, but people can refuse it to the end. They rejected every cure. Jesus told of servants sent and killed, and last the beloved son (Mark 12:1-9), and wept over Jerusalem (Luke 19:41-44). "Today, if you hear His voice, do not harden your hearts" (Heb 3:15).
36:17 he did not have compassion on young man and virgin, old man and aged One of the saddest verses in the Bible. The Chaldeans ruled Babylon and broke in after a long siege in 586 B.C., killing even in the temple courts. God had compassion (36:15). Babylon had none. Refuse God's mercy, and we are left to a world that has none. Babylon was God's instrument, as He warned for centuries (Deut 28:49-52; Jer 25:8-11), and He took no pleasure in it (Ezek 33:11). Yet Lamentations hopes: "His compassions do not come to an end" (Lam 3:22). The God who judged sin also wept in His Son, and will wipe every tear away (Rev 21:4).
36:19 they burned the house of God Solomon's temple stood from about 966 to 586 B.C. Everything Hezekiah showed Babylon's envoys went to Babylon (36:18). Ezekiel saw the glory leave before it fell (Ezek 10:18-19; 11:22-23). God does not stay in a house where He is not wanted.
36:20 until the reign of the kingdom of Persia Exile is being forced to live away from one's homeland. "By the rivers of Babylon, there we sat" (Ps 137:1). But even here there is hope: "until." The exile had an end date.
36:21 to fulfill seventy years Jeremiah named seventy years (Jer 25:11; 29:10), and Daniel prayed when he read it (Dan 9:2). The land was to rest every seventh year (Lev 25:1-7), and God warned it would "accept its Sabbaths" (Lev 26:34) in desolation. What they would not give, God gave. Some count seventy missed Sabbath years over 490 years, but Scripture does not, and I would not press it. Counted from 605 to about 538-536 B.C., or from 586 to 516 B.C., God's word came true to the year (Isa 40:8).
36:22 the LORD stirred up the spirit of Cyrus the king of Persia Babylon fell to Persia in 539 B.C. (Dan 5:30-31), and the decree came in 538 B.C. A clay cylinder from Cyrus' reign, found in the 1800s, shows his policy of letting peoples go home and restore their temples. The Bible gives the deeper reason. Isaiah named Cyrus over a hundred fifty years earlier (Isa 44:28; 45:1). "Streams of water is the heart of a king in the hand of the LORD" (Prov 21:1).
36:23 the LORD, the God of the heavens Whether Cyrus truly believed or was honoring each people's god, Scripture does not say. But he spoke the truth. The LORD gave his kingdom and charged him to build.
36:23 let him go up The last words of Chronicles, and in the Hebrew Bible the last words of the Old Testament. After sin, judgment, burning and exile, the last word is an invitation. Ezra 1:1-3 picks up the same words. Yet no son of David sat on the throne, and the glory did not fill the new temple (Hag 2:3). They waited for the Son of David who reigns forever (Luke 1:32-33), who builds God's true house (Matt 16:18; John 2:19-21).
36:23 Who is among you of all His people I believe God's promises to Israel are not finished. The prophets speak of a greater return, when Israel turns to her Messiah and the Son of David reigns in Jerusalem (Jer 23:5-8; Rom 11:25-29; Rev 20:4-6). Some read these as fulfilled in the return or in the church, but God's gifts and calling to Israel are without regret (Rom 11:29). No matter how far we have fallen, God calls us home. Will you go up?

EZRA

Introduction

Title

The book is named for Ezra, the priest and scribe who leads the story from chapter 7 on. In the Hebrew Bible, Ezra and Nehemiah were counted as one book, and Nehemiah carries the same story on. Ezra picks up exactly where Chronicles stops. The last two verses of 2 Chronicles and the first verses of Ezra tell of the same decree of Cyrus, almost word for word (2 Chr 36:22-23; Ezra 1:1-3).

Author and Date

The book has no title line naming its writer, but from 7:27 to 9:15 Ezra speaks in the first person, and Jewish tradition names Ezra as the writer of this book, Nehemiah and Chronicles. Ezra was a priest of Aaron's line and a scribe skilled in the Law of Moses (7:1-10). He used official records: the list of those who returned (chapter 2), copies of royal letters and decrees (chapters 4-7) and family lists (chapters 8 and 10). Some modern scholars think a later editor put Ezra and Nehemiah together from these sources a century or more later. I take the traditional view that Ezra wrote it, because it fits the first-person sections and the close knowledge of Persian letters and offices the book shows. It was most likely written soon after the last events, about 450 to 440 B.C.

Background and Setting

The Babylonians destroyed Jerusalem and the temple in 586 B.C. Babylon fell to Cyrus king of Persia in 539 B.C., and in 538 B.C. he let the Jews go home. The book covers about eighty years. Chapters 1-6 run from the decree to the finished temple in 516 B.C. Chapters 7-10 begin in the seventh year of Artaxerxes, about 458 B.C. Between chapters 6 and 7 is a gap of nearly sixty years, when the events of Esther took place, and 4:6-23 jumps ahead to show the opposition under later kings.

The Persian kings in order: Cyrus the Great (559-530 B.C.) gave the decree of Ezra 1; Cambyses (530-522 B.C.) is not named; Darius I (522-486 B.C.) let the temple be finished (chapters 5-6); Ahasuerus, also known as Xerxes (486-465 B.C.), is the king of Esther and of 4:6; Artaxerxes I (464-424 B.C.) sent Ezra and Nehemiah. Judah was a small district in the province called "beyond the River" (4:10), west of the Euphrates. Around it lived peoples settled there while the Jews were away, including the people of Samaria (2 Kgs 17:24-41). Most Jews stayed in Babylon and Persia, as Jeremiah had told them to build homes there (Jer 29:4-7). Only a small number chose the hard road home.

Words to know: the exile is the time Judah lived as captives in Babylon, from 605 B.C. (Dan 1:1) to the return. The sons of the exile are those who came back. A remnant is the small part of a people God keeps after disaster (9:8, 15). A scribe was trained to copy, read and explain the Law. Levites served at the temple, and the priests were the Levites descended from Aaron who offered sacrifices. From 4:8 to 6:18 and in 7:12-26 the book is written in Aramaic, the language of the Persian government.

Themes

Ezra is a book about going home and starting over with God. Its theme is God's faithfulness in bringing His people back, and the people's need to be faithful in return. God kept His word through Jeremiah and Isaiah and moved the hearts of kings to do it (1:1; 6:22; 7:27). The first group, about 50,000 people under Zerubbabel and Jeshua, rebuilt the altar, laid the temple foundation, faced years of opposition and finished the temple. The second came with Ezra, who found the people drifting back toward the sins that sent their fathers into exile.

The key verse is Ezra's own purpose: "Ezra had set his heart to seek the law of the LORD and to do it, and to teach statute and judgment in Israel" (7:10). Another phrase runs all through the book: "the good hand of his God on him" (7:9; 7:6, 28; 8:18, 22, 31). Worship is restored as it is written in the Law, God's Word is put back at the center of the people's lives, and the book shows honestly how quickly a forgiven people can drift and how they come back through confession and repentance.

Christ in Ezra

The New Testament does not quote Ezra, but the book is part of the road that leads to Jesus. God promised the Messiah would come from David's line, and Zerubbabel, who led the first return, was a grandson of King Jehoiachin and is named in the family line of Jesus (Matt 1:12; Luke 3:27). God promised that the Lord would come to His temple (Mal 3:1), and Haggai, who preached during the building, said the glory of this house would be greater than the first (Hag 2:9). That second temple, later enlarged by Herod, is where Jesus was presented as a baby, taught as a boy and cleansed as a man. Jesus spoke of His own body as the true temple (John 2:19-21). The daily sacrifices on the rebuilt altar looked ahead to His one sacrifice (Heb 10:10-12), and Ezra, priest and teacher of the Law, is a small picture of the One who taught God's Word with authority and is our great High Priest (Heb 4:14).

Hard Passages

Why did Zerubbabel refuse help from the people of the land (4:1-3)? They worshiped the LORD alongside other gods (2 Kgs 17:33). Letting mixed worship help build the temple would let it into God's house.

Ezra 4:6-23 is not in time order. It gathers examples of opposition under Xerxes and Artaxerxes before returning to Darius in verse 24.

Who was Sheshbazzar (1:8; 5:14-16)? Some think he and Zerubbabel were the same man, and others think he was an older leader who gave way to Zerubbabel. Scripture does not settle it. The numbers in chapter 2 do not add to the stated total, and the notes give the common explanations.

The mixed marriages of chapters 9-10 are the hardest passage in the book. The reason was not race but idolatry, as the welcome given to Rahab, Ruth and all who sought the LORD shows (6:21). The sending away of wives and children was a special case for Israel under the Law, at a moment when the tiny community could have been swallowed by other gods, and the notes do not soften the grief of it. The New Testament tells believers not to marry unbelievers, but tells a believer already married to an unbeliever not to send the spouse away (1 Cor 7:12-14). Ezra 10 must never be used as a reason for a Christian to leave a husband or wife.

The Decree of Cyrus

1 And in year one of Cyrus (Koresh) king of Persia (Paras), to fulfill the word of the LORD from the mouth of Jeremiah (Yirmeya), the LORD stirred up the spirit of Cyrus king of Persia, and he caused a proclamation to pass through all his kingdom, and also in writing, saying, 2 "Thus says Cyrus king of Persia: All the kingdoms of the earth the LORD, the God of the heavens, has given to me, and He has appointed me to build for Him a house in Jerusalem (Yerushalayim), which is in Judah (Yehuda). 3 Who is among you of all His people? May his God be with him, and let him go up to Jerusalem, which is in Judah, and let him build the house of the LORD, the God of Israel (Yisra'el); He is the God who is in Jerusalem. 4 And every one who remains, from all the places where he is sojourning, let the men of his place support him with silver and with gold and with property and with livestock, with the freewill offering for the house of God which is in Jerusalem."

The People Prepare to Go Up

5 And the heads of the fathers of Judah and Benjamin (Binyamin) arose, and the priests and the Levites, everyone whose spirit God had stirred up, to go up to build the house of the LORD which is in Jerusalem. 6 And all those around them strengthened their hands with vessels of silver, with gold, with property, and with livestock, and with precious things, besides all that was offered willingly.

Cyrus Returns the Temple Vessels

7 And King Cyrus brought out the vessels of the house of the LORD which Nebuchadnezzar (Nevukhadnetsar) had brought out from Jerusalem and had put in the house of his gods. 8 And Cyrus king of Persia brought them out by the hand of Mithredath (Mitredat) the treasurer, and he counted them out to Sheshbazzar (Sheshbatsar) the prince of Judah. 9 And this was their number: thirty basins of gold, one thousand basins of silver, twenty-nine knives, 10 thirty bowls of gold, four hundred and ten bowls of silver of a second kind, and one thousand other vessels. 11 All the vessels of gold and of silver were five thousand and four hundred. Sheshbazzar brought up everything with the bringing up of the exiles from Babylon (Bavel) to Jerusalem.

1:1 in year one of Cyrus king of Persia His first year as ruler of Babylon, after his army took the city in 539 B.C., so the decree came in 538 B.C. Daniel was still alive to see it (Dan 1:21; 6:28).
1:1 to fulfill the word of the LORD from the mouth of Jeremiah Jeremiah said Babylon would rule seventy years and then the LORD would bring His people back (Jer 25:11-12; 29:10). Counted from the first deportation in 605 B.C. to the return about 538 or 536 B.C., or from the burned temple in 586 B.C. to the finished temple in 516 B.C., God kept His word to the year.
1:1 the LORD stirred up the spirit of Cyrus king of Persia The king made the decision, but God moved his heart (Prov 21:1). Isaiah named Cyrus about 150 years before he was born (Isa 44:28; 45:1, 13). God does not just know the future. He shapes it.
1:2 He has appointed me to build for Him a house in Jerusalem Cyrus probably did not believe in the LORD as Daniel did. He honored the gods of the peoples he conquered and sent them home to rebuild their temples, as a clay barrel from his reign, the Cyrus Cylinder, tells. That makes the point stronger. God used a pagan king's own policy to keep His promise, though Cyrus did not know Him (Isa 45:4-5).
1:4 with the freewill offering for the house of God No one was forced to go or to give. It must have recalled the exodus, when Egypt sent Israel out with silver and gold (Exod 12:35-36). God was bringing His people out of captivity a second time.
1:5 everyone whose spirit God had stirred up The God who stirred Cyrus stirred His people too. Judah and Benjamin had been the southern kingdom, though others came too (1 Chr 9:3). Most Jews stayed. Many were born in Babylon and had never seen Jerusalem, about 900 miles away. God calls and also gives the desire to answer (Phil 2:13). If you feel a pull to follow God into something hard, that pull may be His hand on your heart.
1:6 all those around them strengthened their hands Not everyone is called to go, but everyone can help those who do.
1:7 which Nebuchadnezzar had brought out from Jerusalem Taken as trophies to show his gods had won (2 Kgs 25:13-15; Dan 1:2), and used at Belshazzar's feast (Dan 5:2-4). Now they were going home.
1:8 Sheshbazzar the prince of Judah Prince here means a leader. Ezra 5:14-16 says he was governor and laid the foundation, while chapter 3 credits Zerubbabel and Jeshua. Some think they were the same man, Sheshbazzar being a court name. Others think he was an older leader, perhaps Zerubbabel's uncle Shenazzar (1 Chr 3:18), who gave way to Zerubbabel. Scripture does not settle it.
1:11 five thousand and four hundred The items in verses 9-10 add to 2,499. Most likely those verses list only the main items and the total counts everything. Others suggest a copying error. Every piece was counted and handed over. The worship of the new temple was the same as Solomon's, and nothing that belongs to God is ever lost to Him.
2:1 the sons of the province The province is Judah, now a small district of the Persian Empire. Most were the children and grandchildren of those taken.
2:2 who came with Zerubbabel, Jeshua Zerubbabel was of David's line (1 Chr 3:17-19) and governor (Hag 1:1). Jeshua, or Joshua, was high priest (Zech 3:1). Throne and altar together. This Nehemiah and Mordecai are not the later famous men. Nehemiah 7:7 has a twelfth name, and many think the twelve leaders stood for the twelve tribes. God remembers every one by name.

2:53 Neh 7:55

2:3 the sons of Parosh Verses 3-20 list families named after a forefather, and verses 21-35 list towns, most within a day's walk of Jerusalem. Family and town mattered for claims to land. Some names return with Ezra (ch 8) and in the covenant of Nehemiah 10.
2:23 the men of Anathoth, one hundred twenty-eight Jeremiah's hometown, where he bought a field before Jerusalem fell as a sign God would bring His people back (Jer 32:6-15). Now they came home, just as he said. Bethlehem (2:21) was the town of Ruth and David, and Bethel and Ai (2:28) recall Abraham and Joshua.
2:36 the priests Over 4,000 from four families, about one in ten of the company. The priests cared deeply about the temple.
2:40 the Levites Only 74. The Levites helped the priests, taught and cared for the temple. We are not told why so few came, and Ezra later had the same trouble (8:15).
2:41 the sons of Asaph Asaph was a chief musician under David (1 Chr 25:1), and twelve psalms bear his name. The worship was to be done as God set it up through David. They were restoring the LORD's worship, not starting a new religion.
2:43 the temple servants The Hebrew word Nethinim means those given. They did basic temple work. "The servants of Solomon" (2:55) may descend from foreigners Solomon put to work. Some names look foreign, so people from other nations had joined God's people and served at His house.

Barkos (Barqos), the sons of Sisera (Sisra), the sons of Temah (Tamach), 54 the sons of Neziah (Netsiach), the sons of Hatipha (Chatifa). 55 The sons of the servants of Solomon (Shelomo): the sons of Sotai (Sotay), the sons of Hassophereth (Hasoferet), the sons of Peruda, 56 the sons of Jaalah (Ya'ala), the sons of Darkon (Darqon), the sons of Giddel, 57 the sons of Shephatiah, the sons of Hattil (Chatil), the sons of Pochereth-hazzebaim (Pokheret-Hatsvayim), the sons of Ami. 58 All the temple servants and the sons of the servants of Solomon were three hundred ninety-two.

Those Who Could Not Prove Their Line

59 And these are those who came up from Tel-melah (Tel-Melach), Tel-harsha (Tel-Charsha), Cherub (Keruv), Addan (Adan), and Immer, and they were not able to declare the house of their fathers and their seed, whether they were from Israel: 60 the sons of Delaiah (Delaya), the sons of Tobiah (Toviya), the sons of Nekoda, six hundred fifty-two. 61 And of the sons of the priests: the sons of Habaiah (Chovaya), the sons of Hakkoz (Haqots), the sons of Barzillai (Barzilay), who had taken a wife from the daughters of Barzillai the Gileadite and was called by their name. 62 These sought their record among those enrolled by genealogy, and they were not found, and they were defiled and removed from the priesthood. 63 And the governor said to them that they should not eat from the most holy things until a priest stood up for Urim and for Thummim.

The Whole Assembly

64 All the assembly together was forty-two thousand three hundred sixty, 65 besides their male servants and their female servants; these were seven thousand three hundred thirty-seven; and to them belonged two hundred male singers and female singers. 66 Their horses were seven hundred thirty-six; their mules, two hundred forty-five; 67 their camels, four hundred thirty-five; donkeys, six thousand seven hundred twenty. 68 And some of the heads of the fathers, when they came to the house of the LORD which is in Jerusalem, offered willingly for the house of God, to erect it on its site. 69 According to their ability they gave to the treasury of the work: gold, sixty-one thousand drachmas, and silver, approximately 6,250 pounds (five thousand minas), and one hundred tunics of priests. 70 And the priests and the Levites and some of the people and the singers and the gatekeepers and the temple servants dwelt in their cities, and all Israel in their cities.

The Altar Rebuilt

1 And the seventh month arrived, and the sons of Israel (Yisra'el) were in the cities; and the people gathered as one man to Jerusalem (Yerushalayim). 2 And Jeshua (Yeshua) the son of Jozadak (Yotsadaq) arose, and his brothers the priests, and Zerubbabel (Zerubavel) the son of Shealtiel (She'alti'el) and his brothers, and they built the altar of the God of Israel, to offer up burnt offerings on it, as it is written in the law of Moses (Moshe), the man of God. 3 And they established the altar on its bases, for terror was on them from the peoples of the lands; and they offered up burnt offerings on it to the LORD, burnt offerings for the morning and for the evening.

2:59 they were not able to declare the house of their fathers They could not prove their line, but they still came and counted among the people.
2:61 Barzillai the Gileadite The old man who helped David when he fled from Absalom (2 Sam 17:27-29; 19:31-39). A priestly family had taken his name by marriage.
2:62 they were defiled and removed from the priesthood Only Aaron's descendants could serve (Num 3:10; 16:40). Having just come through an exile caused by careless worship, they would not be careless again.
2:63 until a priest stood up for Urim and for Thummim The governor was most likely Zerubbabel or Sheshbazzar. The most holy things were sacrifice portions only priests could eat. The Urim and Thummim were kept by the high priest to learn God's will (Exod 28:30; Num 27:21), and they seem to have been lost. The matter was left with God. We need not prove our family line to come to God. Every believer is part of "a holy priesthood" (1 Pet 2:5).
2:64 forty-two thousand three hundred sixty The listed numbers add to a little under 30,000, and Nehemiah 7 has the same total with its own sum a little over 31,000. The total likely includes those not in the family lists, such as other tribes, those who could not trace their line, or perhaps women. Small differences most likely come from copying numbers, or one list made at the start and one at the end. With servants and singers it was close to 50,000 people. Most walked, and the donkeys carried the goods and little ones.
2:68 the house of the LORD which is in Jerusalem It lay in ruins, but to them the place still belonged to God.
2:69 according to their ability they gave God does not ask us to give what we do not have (2 Cor 8:12).
2:70 all Israel in their cities A few thousand from Judah and Benjamin stood for the whole people of God. A remnant had come home.
3:1 the seventh month arrived Tishri, September and October, the holiest month: trumpets on the first, the Day of Atonement on the tenth, and the Feast of Booths from the fifteenth (Lev 23:23-36). Most likely 538 or 537 B.C. "As one man" means one mind and purpose. That unity is where every work of God begins (Acts 2:1, 46).
3:2 they built the altar of the God of Israel The priest and the governor led together. The altar came first, before the temple, because it was where sin was dealt with and God met His people. They could worship without walls but not without sacrifice. A right relationship with God comes first, and they built "as it is written," going back to the Book.
3:3 for terror was on them from the peoples of the lands They built on the old foundations, the place God chose (Deut 12:5; 2 Chr 3:1). They were afraid and built anyway. Some read it that they built because they were afraid, turning to God. Either way, fear did not stop them.
3:3 burnt offerings for the morning and for the evening A burnt offering was a whole animal given to God, a sign of full dedication and a covering for sin (Lev 1:3-9), one lamb morning and evening (Exod 29:38-42). After about fifty years the smoke rose again. They had to be repeated, because "it is impossible for the blood of bulls and of goats to take away sins" (Heb 10:4). Jesus offered Himself once for all (Heb 10:10-12).

4 And they kept the Feast of Booths as it is written, and offered the burnt offering day by day by number, according to the ordinance, the matter of each day in its day, 5 and after this the continual burnt offering, and for the new moons, and for all the consecrated appointed times of the LORD, and for everyone who offered willingly a freewill offering to the LORD. 6 From day one of the seventh month they began to offer up burnt offerings to the LORD, and the temple of the LORD was not yet founded.

The Temple Foundation Laid

7 And they gave money to the masons and to the craftsmen, and food and drink and oil to the Sidonians and to the Tyrians, to bring cedar wood from Lebanon (Levanon) to the sea of Joppa (Yafo), according to the permission of Cyrus (Koresh) king of Persia (Paras) for them. 8 And in the second year of their coming to the house of God at Jerusalem, in the second month, Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel and Jeshua the son of Jozadak and the rest of their brothers, the priests and the Levites, and all those who had come from the captivity to Jerusalem, began; and they appointed the Levites from a son of twenty years and upward to oversee the work of the house of the LORD. 9 And Jeshua stood, his sons and his brothers, Kadmiel (Qadmi'el) and his sons, the sons of Judah (Yehuda), as one, to oversee the doers of the work in the house of God, the sons of Henadad (Chenadad), their sons and their brothers, the Levites.

Shouts of Joy and Weeping

10 And the builders founded the temple of the LORD, and they appointed the priests, clothed in their vestments, with trumpets, and the Levites, the sons of Asaph (Asaf), with cymbals, to praise the LORD by the hands of David king of Israel. 11 And they sang responsively with praising and with giving thanks to the LORD: "For He is good, for His steadfast love is forever toward Israel." And all the people shouted a great shout, praising the LORD because the house of the LORD was founded. 12 And many of the priests and the Levites and the heads of the fathers, the old men who had seen the first house, at the founding of this house before their eyes, were weeping with a great voice; and many were with a shout, with gladness, to lift up a voice, 13 and the people were not distinguishing the sound of the shout of gladness from the sound of the weeping of the people, for the people were shouting a great shout, and the sound was heard to a distance.

Enemies Offer Help

1 And the opponents of Judah (Yehuda) and Benjamin (Binyamin) heard that the sons of the exile were building a temple for the LORD, the God of Israel (Yisra'el), 2 and they approached Zerubbabel (Zerubavel) and the heads of the fathers, and they said to them, "Let us build with you, for like you we seek your God, and we have been sacrificing to Him since the days of Esarhaddon (Esar-Chadon) king of Assyria (Ashur), who brought us up here." 3 And Zerubbabel and Jeshua (Yeshua) and the rest of the heads of the fathers of Israel said to them, "It is not for you and for us to build a house for our God; but we ourselves together will build for the LORD, the God of Israel, as the king, Cyrus (Koresh) king of Persia (Paras), commanded us."

Opposition Stops the Work

4 And it was that the people of the land were weakening the hands of the people of Judah and terrifying them in building,

3:4 they kept the Feast of Booths as it is written Seven days in shelters of branches to remember God's care in the wilderness (Lev 23:39-43). For people fresh from a long journey, many still in rough shelters, it meant a great deal. The offerings for each day followed Numbers 29:12-38.
3:6 the temple of the LORD was not yet founded New moons were the first day of each month. The worship was running before the building was started. God wants our hearts before He wants our buildings.
3:7 to bring cedar wood from Lebanon to the sea of Joppa Just as Solomon did (1 Kgs 5:6-11; 2 Chr 2:16). Joppa was the port nearest Jerusalem, about 35 miles away. The work had the king's permission, and they used it.
3:8 in the second year of their coming The spring of 536 B.C., in the second month, the month Solomon began the first temple (1 Kgs 6:1). The Levites served from twenty (1 Chr 23:24-27), and with so few (2:40) they needed every one. "As one" again: it took everyone together.
3:10 by the hands of David king of Israel According to the order David set for worship (1 Chr 16:4-6; 25:1). They did things as God gave them, not inventing something new.
3:11 For He is good, for His steadfast love is forever toward Israel The song of Israel's worship, sung when the ark came (1 Chr 16:34) and at the first temple's dedication (2 Chr 5:13; 7:3), and filling Psalm 136. Hesed is God's loyal love that does not quit. They had sinned and been exiled, and still His love was forever. Here was the proof, a new foundation on the old site.
3:12 the old men who had seen the first house Solomon's temple burned about fifty years before, and men in their sixties and seventies remembered it. They could see this one would be smaller and plainer (Hag 2:3). Some may have wept for joy too. The young, who had never seen the old, shouted.
3:13 the people were not distinguishing the sound of the shout of gladness The old were not wrong to weep, nor the young to shout. But God asked, "who has despised the day of small things?" (Zech 4:10), and promised this house greater glory (Hag 2:9), which came true when Jesus walked into it. In a season of small things, God may be laying a foundation you cannot see yet.
4:1 the opponents of Judah and Benjamin Ezra tells us who they are before they speak: adversaries.
4:2 like you we seek your God Esarhaddon ruled Assyria 681 to 669 B.C. After Samaria fell in 722 B.C., Assyria moved other peoples in. They learned to worship the LORD but kept serving their own gods (2 Kgs 17:24-41). Their descendants became the Samaritans of Jesus' day. "Like you" was only half true, and "your God" shows He was not truly theirs.
4:3 It is not for you and for us to build a house for our God To let mixed worship help build the temple would let it into God's house, the very sin that sent Israel into exile. Not every offer of help is help (2 Cor 6:14). We still love our neighbors and share the gospel, but the church cannot water down the truth to make room for other gods.
4:4 weakening the hands of the people of Judah To weaken someone's hands is to discourage him until he loses the will to work. First the enemy tries to join you and water you down. When that fails, he tries to scare you and wear you out.

Letters to the Kings of Persia

6 And in the reign of Ahasuerus (Achashverosh), at the beginning of his reign, they wrote an accusation against the inhabitants of Judah and Jerusalem (Yerushalayim). 7 And in the days of Artaxerxes (Artachshasta), Bishlam, Mithredath (Mitredat), Tabeel (Tav'el), and the rest of his colleagues wrote to Artaxerxes king of Persia; and the writing of the letter was written in Aramaic and translated into Aramaic. 8 Rehum (Rechum) the commander and Shimshai (Shimshay) the scribe wrote one letter concerning Jerusalem to Artaxerxes (Artachshaste) the king, as follows: 9 then Rehum the commander and Shimshai the scribe and the rest of their associates, the Dinaites and the officials, the Tarpelites, the Sipparites, the Erechites, the Babylonians, the Susanchites, the Dehavites, the Elamites, 10 and the rest of the nations whom the great and honorable Osnappar (Asnapar) took into exile and settled in the city of Samaria (Shamrayin), and the rest of the region beyond the River. And now, 11 this is the copy of the letter which they sent to him, to Artaxerxes the king: "Your servants, the men of the region beyond the River. And now, 12 let it be known to the king that the Jews who came up from beside you to us have come to Jerusalem; they are building the rebellious and evil city, and they have finished the walls, and they are repairing the foundations. 13 Now let it be known to the king that if this city is built and the walls are finished, they will not give tribute, tax, and toll, and it will injure the revenue of kings. 14 Now because we eat the salt of the palace, and it is not proper for us to see the dishonor of the king, concerning this we have sent and made known to the king, 15 that he may search in the book of the records of your fathers; and you will find in the book of the records and know that this city is a rebellious city, and injuring kings and provinces, and that they have been making revolt in its midst from the days of antiquity; on this account this city was laid waste. 16 We are making known to the king that if this city is built and the walls are finished, because of this there will be no possession for you in the region beyond the River."

Artaxerxes Halts the Building

17 The king sent the word to Rehum the commander and Shimshai the scribe and the rest of their associates who were dwelling in Samaria and the rest of the region beyond the River: "Peace. And now, 18 the letter which you sent to us has been read clearly before me. 19 And a decree was made by me, and they searched and found that this city from the days of antiquity has been rising up against kings, and rebellion and revolt have been made in it. 20 And strong kings have been over Jerusalem, and having mastery over all the region beyond the River, and tribute, tax, and toll were being paid to them. 21 Now make a decree to make these men cease, and this city will not be built until the decree is made by me. 22 And be cautious of doing negligence concerning this. Why should the damage grow great to the injury of kings?" 23 Then, from when the copy of the letter of King Artaxerxes was read before Rehum and Shimshai the scribe and their associates, they went in haste to Jerusalem to the Jews and made them cease by force and power. 24 Then the work of the house of God which is in Jerusalem ceased, and it was ceasing until year two of the reign of Darius king of Persia.

4:5 until the reign of Darius king of Persia Cyrus died in 530 B.C. and Darius I came to the throne in 522 B.C. From about 536 to 520 B.C. the work stood still, and weeds grew over the foundation.
4:6 in the reign of Ahasuerus The Hebrew form of Xerxes, 486 to 465 B.C., the king of Esther, thirty years after the temple was finished. In verses 6-23 Ezra gathers examples of the same opposition under later kings, then returns to Darius in verse 24. A teacher stopping to say, this was not the only time.
4:7 written in Aramaic Aramaic was the common language of the Persian government, and from 4:8 to 6:18 Ezra writes in Aramaic, copying the letters as they were. Artaxerxes I ruled 464 to 424 B.C. and later sent Ezra and Nehemiah.
4:10 the great and honorable Osnappar Most likely Ashurbanipal, the last great king of Assyria. "Beyond the River" was the Persian province west of the Euphrates.
4:12 they are building the rebellious and evil city This is about the city walls, not the temple, perhaps begun by those who came with Ezra in 458 B.C.
4:14 because we eat the salt of the palace A way of saying, we are your loyal, paid servants. The letter worked on money, loyalty, history and fear. Jerusalem had rebelled before (2 Kgs 18:7; 24:1, 20), but a grain of truth was twisted into a lie about the present. The father of lies loves a little truth as a mask (John 8:44).
4:20 strong kings have been over Jerusalem An honest look back to David and Solomon, whose kingdom reached far.
4:21 until the decree is made by me Artaxerxes left the door open. About twenty years later this same king gave that order to his cupbearer, Nehemiah (Neh 2:1-8). God was setting up the answer while the enemies thought they had won.
4:23 made them cease by force and power Many think this is why Nehemiah was so crushed to hear the wall was broken and the gates burned (Neh 1:3). It was fresh news.
4:24 until year two of the reign of Darius king of Persia Back to the temple and the time of verse 5. The second year of Darius was 520 B.C. Have you started something for God with joy, only to see opposition and the cares of life bring it to a halt? The next chapter shows what God did. He sent two prophets.

The Prophets Stir Up the Builders

1 And Haggai (Chagay) the prophet and Zechariah (Zekharya) the son of Iddo (Ido), the prophets, prophesied to the Jews who were in Judah (Yehud) and in Jerusalem (Yerushalayim), in the name of the God of Israel (Yisra'el), who was over them. 2 Then Zerubbabel (Zerubavel) the son of Shealtiel (She'alti'el) and Jeshua (Yeshua) the son of Jozadak (Yotsadaq) arose and began to build the house of God which is in Jerusalem; and with them were the prophets of God, supporting them.

Tattenai Questions the Work

3 At that time Tattenai (Tatnay), governor of the region beyond the River, and Shethar-bozenai (Shetar-Boznay) and their associates came to them, and they were saying to them as follows: "Who made a decree for you to build this house and to finish this structure?" 4 Then we said to them as follows: "What are the names of the men who are building this building?" 5 And the eye of their God was on the elders of the Jews, and they did not make them cease until the report should go to Darius (Daryavesh), and then they would send back a letter concerning this.

Tattenai's Letter to Darius

6 The copy of the letter which Tattenai, governor of the region beyond the River, and Shethar-bozenai and his associates, the officials who were in the region beyond the River, sent to Darius the king. 7 They sent the word to him, and thus it was written in it: "To Darius the king, all peace. 8 Let it be known to the king that we went to the province of Judah, to the house of the great God, and it is being built with huge stones, and timber is being set in the walls, and this work is being done diligently and is prospering in their hand. 9 Then we asked those elders; we said to them as follows: 'Who made a decree for you to build this house and to finish this structure?' 10 And also we asked them their names, to make known to you, that we might write the name of the men who are at their heads. 11 And thus they sent back word to us, saying, 'We are the servants of the God of the heavens and the earth, and we are building the house which was built many years before this, and a great king of Israel built it and finished it. 12 But because our fathers enraged the God of the heavens, He gave them into the hand of Nebuchadnezzar (Nevukhadnetsar) king of Babylon (Bavel), the Chaldean, and he destroyed this house and took the people into exile to Babylon. 13 However, in year one of Cyrus (Koresh) the king of Babylon, Cyrus the king made a decree to build this house of God. 14 And also the vessels of the house of God, of gold and of silver, which Nebuchadnezzar had brought out from the temple which was in Jerusalem and carried to the temple of Babylon, Cyrus the king brought them out from the temple of Babylon, and they were given to one whose name was Sheshbazzar (Sheshbatsar), whom he had made governor. 15 And he said to him, "Take these vessels; go, deposit them in the temple which is in Jerusalem, and let the house of God be built on its place." 16 Then this Sheshbazzar came and laid the foundations of the house of God which is in Jerusalem; and from then until now it is being built, and it is not finished.' 17 And now, if it is good to the king, let it be searched in the house of the treasures of the king, there in Babylon, whether it is so that a decree was made by Cyrus the king to build this house of God in Jerusalem; and let the king send to us his will concerning this."

5:1 Haggai the prophet and Zechariah the son of Iddo, the prophets A prophet spoke God's word to His people, and both men have books in our Bible. Haggai began in August of 520 B.C. (Hag 1:1), Zechariah two months later (Zech 1:1). Haggai asked if it was time to live in paneled houses while God's house lay desolate (Hag 1:4-11). Zechariah gave hope: "Not by strength and not by power, but by My Spirit" (Zech 4:6).

5:1 in the name of the God of Israel, who was over them The people had been looking at the Persian king and their enemies. The prophets reminded them who was really over them.

5:2 with them were the prophets of God, supporting them They did not wait for a new decree or for the opposition to leave. The prophets stayed and stood with the builders, perhaps even working with their hands. A good pastor walks with people while they obey. The work stopped when they listened to fear (4:4) and started when they listened to God's Word.

5:3 Tattenai, governor of the region beyond the River The Persian governor of the whole province west of the Euphrates, far above the local enemies of chapter 4. A Persian-period record names a governor Tattenai under Darius. His question was fair. He wanted to know if the work was legal.

5:4 Then we said to them as follows The Aramaic reads "we said." The old Greek reads "they said," which fits verse 10. Either way, the leaders' names were taken.

5:5 the eye of their God was on the elders of the Jews The key verse. God's eye on someone means He watches to care and protect (Ps 33:18; 34:15). The governor could have stopped the work while he checked, and he did not. They worked for months not knowing the answer. Faith often means doing what God said before the answer comes, trusting that His eye is on us.

5:8 the house of the great God A Persian governor, not a believer, could see something real was happening and that the work was "prospering."

5:11 We are the servants of the God of the heavens and the earth They began not with their rights or papers but with whom they belonged to. They were restoring what Solomon built, not starting something new.

5:12 because our fathers enraged the God of the heavens They did not blame Babylon's strength. Their own sin was the reason, and God had done it, with Nebuchadnezzar as His tool. God's people should not hide their failures. We own them and give God glory for His mercy.

5:16 from then until now it is being built, and it is not finished The work had stopped for about sixteen years (4:24), but in Persian law the project was authorized, begun and unfinished. They told the truth, and the law was on their side.

5:17 let it be searched in the house of the treasures of the king Their whole case rested on a scroll filed away eighteen years before. The builders could not know if it still existed. God knew exactly where it was.

searched in the house of the books, where the treasures were deposited, there in Babylon (Bavel). 2 And there was found in Ecbatana (Achmeta), in the citadel which is in the province of Media (Maday), one scroll, and thus it was written in it: "A memorandum: 3 In year one of Cyrus (Koresh) the king, Cyrus the king made a decree: As for the house of God in Jerusalem (Yerushalayim), let the house be built, a place where they sacrifice sacrifices, and let its foundations be retained; its height approximately 90 feet (sixty cubits), its width approximately 90 feet (sixty cubits); 4 three rows of huge stones and a row of new timber; and let the expense be given from the house of the king. 5 And also the vessels of the house of God, of gold and of silver, which Nebuchadnezzar (Nevukhadnetsar) brought out from the temple which was in Jerusalem and carried to Babylon, let them send back, and let each go to the temple which is in Jerusalem, to its place; and you shall deposit them in the house of God."

Darius Orders the Work to Continue

6 "Now, Tattenai (Tatnay), governor of the region beyond the River, Shethar-bozenai (Shetar-Boznay), and their associates, the officials who are in the region beyond the River, be far from there. 7 Leave the work of this house of God alone; let the governor of the Jews and the elders of the Jews build this house of God on its place. 8 And a decree is made by me regarding what you shall do with these elders of the Jews for the building of this house of God: that from the property of the king, which is the tribute of the region beyond the River, the expense be given diligently to these men, so as not to make them cease. 9 And whatever is needed, both young bulls and rams and lambs for burnt offerings to the God of the heavens, wheat, salt, wine, and oil, according to the word of the priests who are in Jerusalem, let it be given to them day by day, that there be no negligence, 10 so that they may be offering soothing offerings to the God of the heavens and praying for the life of the king and of his sons. 11 And a decree is made by me that every man who violates this word, let a beam be pulled from his house, and being lifted up, let him be impaled on it; and let his house be made a refuse heap on account of this. 12 And may the God who has caused His name to dwell there overthrow every king and people who stretches out his hand to violate it, to destroy this house of God which is in Jerusalem. I, Darius, have made a decree; let it be done diligently."

The Temple Finished and Dedicated

13 Then Tattenai, governor of the region beyond the River, Shethar-bozenai, and their associates, according to what Darius the king had sent, thus they did diligently. 14 And the elders of the Jews were building and prospering through the prophesying of Haggai (Chagay) the prophet and Zechariah (Zekharya) the son of Iddo (Ido); and they built and finished according to the decree of the God of Israel (Yisra'el), and according to the decree of Cyrus and Darius and Artaxerxes (Artachshaste) king of Persia (Paras). 15 And this house was completed by day three of the month of Adar, which was year six of the reign of Darius the king. 16 And the sons of Israel, the priests and the Levites and the rest of the sons of the exile, celebrated the dedication of this house of God with joy. 17 And they offered for the dedication of this house of God one hundred bulls, two hundred rams, four hundred lambs, and twelve male goats as a sin offering for all Israel, according to the number of the tribes of Israel. 18 And they appointed the priests in their divisions and the Levites in their classes over the service of God which is in Jerusalem, according to the writing of the book of Moses (Moshe).

6:2 there was found in Ecbatana Not in Babylon but in Ecbatana, a royal summer city in the cool mountains of Media, in what is now western Iran. Cyrus is thought to have spent the summer of his first year there. One scroll in one archive, found at just the right time. Nothing is too small for His hand.
6:3 let the house be built, a place where they sacrifice sacrifices A memorandum, the record kept for officials, with building details and money, while chapter 1 gives what was proclaimed to the Jews. Both came from the same decree. A cubit is about 18 inches.
6:4 let the expense be given from the house of the king Perhaps a part the Jews had not even known. Cyrus had promised to pay.
6:7 Leave the work of this house of God alone The governor came to check, and the result was a royal order protecting them. What the enemy meant for harm, God used for good (Gen 50:20).
6:8 which is the tribute of the region beyond the River Taxes from the very region where the enemies lived paid for the temple. "The silver is Mine, and the gold is Mine" (Hag 2:8).
6:10 praying for the life of the king and of his sons "Soothing offerings" are offerings pleasing to God. Darius was not a convert. He wanted every god's favor. But it was right to pray for him (Jer 29:7; 1 Tim 2:1-2). Do you pray for those who govern you, even when they do not share your faith?
6:11 let a beam be pulled from his house A common Persian punishment, harsh as it sounds. Ezra records it as the king's decree, not God's law. It shows how firmly Darius meant to protect the work.
6:12 the God who has caused His name to dwell there Words straight from Deuteronomy 12:11, most likely because Jewish advisers helped write the decree, as was common at the Persian court.
6:14 through the prophesying of Haggai the prophet Again the credit goes to the Word of God. "The decree of the God of Israel" comes first, and the kings only gave what God had decided. Artaxerxes, some sixty years later, is named for his gifts to the temple (7:15-24, 27).
6:15 year six of the reign of Darius the king Adar is February to March, and this was 516 B.C. (some date the day to early 515). Enlarged by Herod, this temple stood until the Romans destroyed it in A.D. 70. It is the temple Jesus taught in, "a house of prayer" (Matt 21:13). Seventy years after 586 B.C., God's timing was exact.
6:17 twelve male goats as a sin offering for all Israel Tiny beside Solomon's offerings (1 Kgs 8:63), but God measures the heart. A sin offering was for forgiveness. Few had come from Judah and Benjamin, yet they offered for all twelve tribes, believing God still had a plan for the whole nation. He has not forgotten it: "all Israel will be saved" (Rom 11:26).
6:18 according to the writing of the book of Moses The priestly divisions David set up (1 Chr 23-24). Again the worship was done by the Book.

The Passover Kept

19 And the sons of the exile kept the Passover on the fourteenth day of the first month. 20 For the priests and the Levites had purified themselves as one; all of them were pure; and they slaughtered the Passover for all the sons of the exile and for their brothers the priests and for themselves. 21 And the sons of Israel who had returned from the exile ate it, and everyone who had separated himself to them from the uncleanness of the nations of the land to seek the LORD, the God of Israel. 22 And they kept the Feast of Unleavened Bread seven days with gladness, for the LORD had made them rejoice and had turned the heart of the king of Assyria (Ashur) toward them, to strengthen their hands in the work of the house of God, the God of Israel.

Ezra Comes to Jerusalem

1 And after these things, in the reign of Artaxerxes (Artachshasta) king of Persia (Paras), Ezra the son of Seraiah (Seraya), the son of Azariah (Azarya), the son of Hilkiah (Chilqiya), 2 the son of Shallum (Shalum), the son of Zadok (Tsadoq), the son of Ahitub (Achituv), 3 the son of Amariah (Amarya), the son of Azariah, the son of Meraioth (Merayot), 4 the son of Zerahiah (Zerachya), the son of Uzzi (Uzi), the son of Bukki (Buqi), 5 the son of Abishua (Avishua), the son of Phinehas (Pinchas), the son of Eleazar (Elazar), the son of Aaron (Aharon) the chief priest, 6 this Ezra went up from Babylon (Bavel), and he was a scribe skilled in the law of Moses (Moshe), which the LORD, the God of Israel (Yisra'el), had given; and the king gave him all his request, according to the hand of the LORD his God on him. 7 And some of the sons of Israel and of the priests and the Levites and the singers and the gatekeepers and the temple servants went up to Jerusalem (Yerushalayim) in year seven of Artaxerxes the king. 8 And he came to Jerusalem in the fifth month; it was the seventh year of the king. 9 For on day one of the first month, that was the beginning of the going up from Babylon, and on day one of the fifth month he came to Jerusalem, according to the good hand of his God on him. 10 For Ezra had set his heart to seek the law of the LORD and to do it, and to teach statute and judgment in Israel.

The Letter of Artaxerxes

11 And this is the copy of the letter which King Artaxerxes gave to Ezra the priest, the scribe, a scribe of the words of the commandments of the LORD and of His statutes for Israel: 12 "Artaxerxes (Artachshaste), king of the kings, to Ezra the priest, the scribe of the law of the God of the heavens, perfect. And now, 13 a decree is made by me that everyone in my kingdom from the people of Israel and its priests and the Levites who volunteers to go to Jerusalem with you may go. 14 Because you are sent from before the king and his seven counselors to inquire concerning Judah (Yehud) and Jerusalem by the law of your God which is in your hand, 15 and to carry silver and gold which the king and his counselors have freely offered to the God of Israel, whose dwelling is in Jerusalem, 16 and all the silver and gold which you find in all the province of Babylon, with the freewill offering of the people and the priests, freely offering for the house of their God which is in Jerusalem, 17 accordingly, with this silver you shall diligently buy bulls, rams, lambs, and their grain offerings and their drink offerings, and you shall offer them on the altar of the house of your God which is in Jerusalem. 18 And whatever seems good to you and to your brothers to do with the rest of the silver and the gold, you shall do according to the will of your God. 19 And the 6:19 the sons of the exile kept the Passover Here Ezra returns to Hebrew. The Passover remembered the lamb's blood on the doorposts (Exod 12). Hezekiah's was delayed for unclean priests (2 Chr 30:3). This time everyone was ready.

6:21 everyone who had separated himself to them from the uncleanness of the nations of the land Those not born Jews were welcome if they turned from idols to seek the LORD. The door was not shut by birth. It was opened by faith. That matters for chapters 9-10.
6:22 had turned the heart of the king of Assyria toward them Darius ruled the lands of the old Assyrian Empire that first scattered Israel. God had turned the tables. "Our Passover was sacrificed for us: Christ" (1 Cor 5:7), and the true Lamb would one day walk into this temple.
7:1 after these things, in the reign of Artaxerxes king of Persia A gap of almost sixty years, from 516 to about 458 B.C. In that gap Xerxes ruled and the events of Esther took place. Artaxerxes I was Xerxes' son.
7:1 Ezra the son of Seraiah Seraiah was high priest when Jerusalem fell (2 Kgs 25:18-21), so "son" means descendant. The line skips generations, as Hebrew lines often do (compare 1 Chr 6:3-15). Ezra was a true priest of Aaron's line with the right to teach and serve.
7:6 a scribe skilled in the law of Moses Not merely a copyist but a student and teacher of God's Word who could explain and apply it. Skilled means quick and expert.
7:6 according to the hand of the LORD his God on him A phrase that recurs through Ezra and Nehemiah (7:9, 28; 8:18, 22, 31; Neh 2:8, 18). The king said yes because God's hand was on Ezra, and Ezra knew it.
7:8 in the fifth month In 458 B.C. The journey took four months, about 900 miles up the Euphrates and around through Syria, with families and animals, about seven or eight miles a day on average.
7:10 For Ezra had set his heart to seek the law of the LORD and to do it, and to teach The key verse of the book. "For" explains why God's hand was on him. First seek, study and search. Then do, living it himself. Then teach. Ezra did not teach what he had not first studied and lived. To set the heart is a decision, made again every day (James 1:22). Have you set your heart to study God's Word, do it and share it?
7:12 Artaxerxes, king of the kings A common Persian title for a ruler over lesser kings. The true King of kings is the Lord Jesus (Rev 19:16). "Perfect" is most likely short for a greeting of perfect peace. Verses 12-26 are copied in Aramaic.
7:14 by the law of your God which is in your hand God's Law was Ezra's measuring line for how things stood in Judah. No one was forced to go (7:13).
7:17 their grain offerings and their drink offerings Grain offerings were flour, oil and incense, and drink offerings were wine poured at the altar (Num 15:1-10). The king trusted Ezra to know "the will of your God" for the rest (7:18).

vessels which are given to you for the service of the house of your God, deliver in full before the God of Jerusalem. 20 And the rest of the needs of the house of your God which it falls to you to give, you shall give from the house of the treasures of the king. 21 And by me, I, Artaxerxes the king, a decree is made to all the treasurers who are in the region beyond the River, that all that Ezra the priest, the scribe of the law of the God of the heavens, asks of you, let it be done diligently, 22 up to approximately 7,500 pounds (one hundred talents) of silver, and up to approximately 600 bushels (one hundred kors) of wheat, and up to approximately 600 gallons (one hundred baths) of wine, and up to approximately 600 gallons (one hundred baths) of oil, and salt without limit. 23 All that is by the decree of the God of the heavens, let it be done exactly for the house of the God of the heavens, for why should there be wrath against the kingdom of the king and his sons? 24 And to you we are making known that as for all the priests and the Levites, the singers, the gatekeepers, the temple servants, and the servants of this house of God, it is not authorized to impose tribute, tax, or toll on them. 25 And you, Ezra, according to the wisdom of your God which is in your hand, appoint magistrates and judges who may be judging all the people who are in the region beyond the River, all who know the laws of your God; and him who does not know, you shall teach. 26 And anyone who will not be doing the law of your God and the law of the king, let judgment be done diligently on him, whether for death, or for banishment, or for confiscation of property, or for imprisonment."

Ezra Blesses the LORD

27 Blessed be the LORD, the God of our fathers, who has put such a thing as this in the heart of the king, to beautify the house of the LORD which is in Jerusalem, 28 and has extended steadfast love to me before the king and his counselors and to all the mighty officials of the king. And I strengthened myself according to the hand of the LORD my God on me, and I gathered heads from Israel to go up with me.

7:23 why should there be wrath against the kingdom of the king and his sons He did not want the God of heaven angry. Egypt had rebelled around this time, and he may have wanted every god on his side. His reasons were not pure, but God used them.
7:24 it is not authorized to impose tribute Temple workers were freed from tax to give their time to God's house, something Persian kings sometimes did for temples they favored.
7:25 him who does not know, you shall teach Ezra was to set up judges who knew God's Law for the Jews of the whole province.
7:26 whether for death or for banishment Persian law gave the force of the state to the Law of Moses for the Jewish community, the right of a king of that time. It is not a model for the church today, which has no sword. Our tools are the Word, prayer and love (2 Cor 10:3-5).
7:27 who has put such a thing as this in the heart of the king Ezra now speaks in Hebrew and the first person. He praised the LORD who moved the king, the same God who stirred Cyrus (1:1).
7:28 I strengthened myself according to the hand of the LORD my God on me He saw God's hesed in the favor he received, and he acted, gathering leaders. God's favor is not a reason to relax. It is a reason to get to work.
8:2 of the sons of David, Hattush A descendant of David through Zerubbabel (1 Chr 3:19-22). The royal line was still alive among God's people.
8:3 the sons of Parosh Most of these families had sent members with Zerubbabel eighty years before (2:3-15). About 1,500 men, likely five or six thousand people with families. Adonikam's "last ones" (8:13) may mean the rest of that clan was now home. God takes note of those who follow Him, even when they come late.
8:15 I did not find there any of the sons of Levi Ahava was a canal or place near Babylon. Not one Levite had signed up. Their work was often humble, carrying, cleaning and guarding, and Babylon was comfortable. It is often easier to find people who want to lead than people willing to serve.

Levi. 16 And I sent for Eliezer, for Ariel, for Shemaiah, and for Elnathan (Elnatan), and for Jarib (Yariv), and for Elnathan, and for Nathan (Natan), and for Zechariah, and for Meshullam (Meshulam), heads, and for Joiarib (Yoyariv) and for Elnathan, teachers. 17 And I commanded them to go to Iddo (Ido) the head at the place Casiphia (Kasifya), and I put words in their mouth to speak to Iddo and his brother, the temple servants at the place Casiphia, to bring to us ministers for the house of our God. 18 And they brought to us, according to the good hand of our God on us, a man of insight from the sons of Mahli (Machli) the son of Levi the son of Israel (Yisra'el), and Sherebiah (Sherevya) and his sons and his brothers, eighteen; 19 and Hashabiah (Chashavya), and with him Jeshaiah of the sons of Merari, his brothers and their sons, twenty; 20 and of the temple servants, whom David and the leaders had given for the service of the Levites, two hundred twenty temple servants; all of them were designated by names.

Fasting and Prayer at Ahava

21 And I proclaimed a fast there at the river Ahava, to humble ourselves before our God, to seek from Him a straight way for us and for our little ones and for all our property. 22 For I was ashamed to ask from the king a force and horsemen to help us against an enemy on the way, because we had said to the king, saying, "The hand of our God is on all who seek Him for good, and His strength and His anger are against all who forsake Him." 23 And we fasted and sought from our God concerning this, and He was entreated by us.

The Gifts Entrusted to the Priests

24 And I set apart twelve of the leaders of the priests, Sherebiah, Hashabiah, and with them ten of their brothers. 25 And I weighed out to them the silver and the gold and the vessels, the contribution for the house of our God, which the king and his counselors and his leaders and all Israel who were present had offered. 26 And I weighed out into their hand approximately 49,000 pounds (six hundred fifty talents) of silver, and vessels of silver of approximately 7,500 pounds (one hundred talents), and gold, approximately 7,500 pounds (one hundred talents), 27 and twenty bowls of gold of a thousand darics, and two vessels of fine gleaming bronze, precious as gold. 28 And I said to them, "You are holy to the LORD, and the vessels are holy, and the silver and the gold are a freewill offering to the LORD, the God of your fathers. 29 Watch and keep them until you weigh them out before the leaders of the priests and the Levites and the leaders of the fathers of Israel in Jerusalem (Yerushalayim), in the chambers of the house of the LORD." 30 And the priests and the Levites received the weight of the silver and the gold and the vessels, to bring them to Jerusalem to the house of our God.

Safe Arrival in Jerusalem

31 And we set out from the river Ahava on the twelfth day of the first month to go to Jerusalem; and the hand of our God was on us, and He delivered us from the hand of an enemy and an ambusher on the way. 32 And we came to Jerusalem, and we remained there three days. 33 And on the fourth day the silver and the gold and the vessels were weighed out in the house of our God into the hand of Meremoth (Meremot) the son of Uriah (Uriya) the priest, and with him was Eleazar (Elazar) the son of Phinehas, and with them were Jozabad (Yozavad) the son of Jeshua (Yeshua) and Noadiah (No'adya) the son of Binnui (Binuy), the Levites, 34 by number and by weight for everything; and all the weight was written down at that time. 35 Those who had come from the captivity, the sons of the exile, brought near burnt offerings to the God of Israel: twelve bulls for all Israel, ninety-six rams, seventy-seven lambs, twelve male goats for a sin offering; all was a burnt offering to the LORD. 36 And they gave the 8:17 Iddo the head at the place Casiphia A settlement where many Levites and temple servants seem to have lived. Ezra "put words in their mouth," telling them what to say.

8:18 according to the good hand of our God on us Likely Sherebiah, who later helped explain the Law (Neh 8:7). About forty Levites and 220 temple servants came (8:20). Ezra asked, sent, and God provided. Pray the Lord of the harvest to send workers (Matt 9:38).
8:21 to seek from Him a straight way for us and for our little ones To fast is to go without food for a time to give oneself to prayer, humbling ourselves and showing we need God more than food (Joel 2:12; Matt 6:16-18). A straight way is a safe journey.
8:22 I was ashamed to ask from the king a force and horsemen They carried a fortune through bandit country. Having told the king that God's hand is on all who seek Him, Ezra had to live by it. Nehemiah, also godly, accepted an escort (Neh 2:9). Both trusted God. The question is not whether we use means, but whether our trust is in God.
8:23 He was entreated by us He listened and answered. Ezra wrote this after the journey and knew how it turned out.
8:26 approximately 49,000 pounds Over 30 tons of precious metal in all, a fortune.
8:28 You are holy to the LORD, and the vessels are holy Men and treasure were both set apart for God. Ezra weighed it all before the trip so it could be weighed again after. He trusted these men and still kept careful records, as Paul did (2 Cor 8:20-21). A church that keeps clear records protects its people and its witness.
8:31 He delivered us from the hand of an enemy and an ambusher on the way They left on the twelfth day, after fasting, recruiting and weighing. Enemies may have lain in wait and been kept from striking. Either way, God answered the prayer at Ahava.
8:34 all the weight was written down at that time Meremoth (8:33) later repaired two sections of the wall (Neh 3:4, 21). Nothing was missing. Whoever is faithful in very little is faithful also in much (Luke 16:10).
8:35 twelve bulls for all Israel Twelve bulls, twelve goats, ninety-six rams (eight times twelve). They worshiped as all Israel, believing God still had a purpose for the whole nation (6:17). Their first act was not settling into houses but sacrifice and thanks.
8:36 they supported the people and the house of God Satraps were the highest Persian officials over large regions. Officials like those who once stopped the work were now required to help it.

decrees of the king to the satraps of the king and the governors beyond the River (Nahar), and they supported the people and the house of God.

The People Have Not Separated Themselves

1 And when these things were finished, the leaders approached me, saying, "The people Israel (Yisra'el) and the priests and the Levites have not separated themselves from the peoples of the lands, according to their abominations, of the Canaanites, the Hittites, the Perizzites, the Jebusites, the Ammonites, the Moabites, the Egyptians, and the Amorites. 2 For they have taken some of their daughters for themselves and for their sons, and the holy seed has mixed itself with the peoples of the lands; and the hand of the leaders and the officials has been first in this unfaithfulness." 3 And when I heard this matter, I tore my garment and my robe, and I pulled out some of the hair of my head and my beard, and I sat appalled. 4 And to me gathered everyone trembling at the words of the God of Israel because of the unfaithfulness of the exiles, and I was sitting appalled until the grain offering of the evening.

Ezra's Prayer of Confession

5 And at the grain offering of the evening I arose from my humiliation, and in the tearing of my garment and my robe, I bowed down on my knees, and I spread out my palms to the LORD my God. 6 And I said, "O my God, I am ashamed and disgraced to lift up, O my God, my face to You, for our iniquities have increased above our head, and our guilt has grown great to the heavens. 7 From the days of our fathers we have been in great guilt until this day; and for our iniquities we have been given, we, our kings, our priests, into the hand of the kings of the lands, with the sword, with captivity, and with plunder, and with shame of face, as it is this day. 8 And now, for a little moment favor has come from the LORD our God, to leave us an escaped remnant and to give us a tent peg in His holy place, that our God may light up our eyes and give us a little reviving in our servitude. 9 For we are slaves; and in our servitude our God has not forsaken us, and He has extended steadfast love to us before the kings of Persia (Paras), to give us a reviving, to raise up the house of our God and to set up its ruins, and to give us a wall in Judah (Yehuda) and in Jerusalem (Yerushalayim). 10 And now, what shall we say, O our God, after this? For we have forsaken Your commandments, 11 which You commanded by the hand of Your servants the prophets, saying, 'The land which you are entering to possess is a land of impurity, by the impurity of the peoples of the lands, by their abominations, with which they have filled it from end to end with their uncleanness. 12 And now, do not give your daughters to their sons, and do not take their daughters for your sons, and you shall not seek their peace and their good forever, so that you may be strong and eat the good things of the land and cause your sons to inherit it forever.' 13 And after all that has come on us for our evil deeds and for our great guilt, for You, O our God, have held back punishment below our iniquity, and have given us an escaped remnant like this, 14 shall we again break Your commandments and intermarry with the peoples of these abominations? Will You not be angry with us until You have made an end, so that there is

9:1 have not separated themselves from the peoples of the lands, according to their abominations Some four and a half months after Ezra arrived (7:9; 10:9). Most of these peoples are named in the Law's warnings (Deut 7:1; 23:3; Exod 34:11-16). An abomination is something God hates, a word used again and again for idol worship and its practices, including child sacrifice (Deut 12:31; 18:9-12). The problem was not their skin or blood. It was their gods.
9:2 the holy seed has mixed itself with the peoples of the lands The holy seed is the people God set apart (Isa 6:13), to keep His Word, to bring the Messiah and to be a light to the nations. God forbade these marriages because "he will turn your son away from after Me" (Deut 7:4), as with Solomon (1 Kgs 11:4). It was about faith, not race. Rahab and Ruth married into Israel and are in Jesus' line (Matt 1:5), and God rebuked those who spoke against Moses' Cushite wife (Num 12:1-10).
9:2 the hand of the leaders and the officials has been first in this unfaithfulness When leaders fall, many follow.
9:3 I tore my garment and my robe Tearing clothes showed grief and horror (Gen 37:34; Josh 7:6), and pulling out hair deep shame. Appalled means stunned into silence. This was the very sin that brought the exile, like a man healed of a disease going right back to the habit that made him sick.
9:4 everyone trembling at the words of the God of Israel Not everyone had compromised. God looks to the one who is humble and trembles at His word (Isa 66:2). The evening grain offering was about three in the afternoon.
9:5 I bowed down on my knees, and I spread out my palms to the LORD my God He rose at the hour of sacrifice and prayer (Dan 9:21; Acts 3:1), in the posture of humble pleading, as Solomon prayed (1 Kgs 8:54).
9:6 for our iniquities have increased above our head Ezra had not married a foreign wife, but he did not stand apart and point. He said "our." True intercession takes its place among the guilty, as Daniel and Nehemiah did (Dan 9:5-11; Neh 1:6-7). He pictured sin like a flood rising over their heads to the sky.
9:7 as it is this day The exile was God's judgment, as He warned (Lev 26:33; Deut 28:36), and they were still under foreign kings.
9:8 to give us a tent peg in His holy place A remnant is the small part God kept after disaster. A tent peg holds a tent firm, a small but secure hold in Jerusalem. To light up the eyes is to give new life and hope. It was "a little moment," "a little reviving," small and fragile, which made the sin all the worse.
9:9 in our servitude our God has not forsaken us They were still under Persia, but God had moved its kings to help. "A wall" here is most likely a picture of God's protection, since the city wall was not yet rebuilt (Neh 1:3).
9:11 by the hand of Your servants the prophets He gathers phrases from the Law (Lev 18:24-30; Deut 7:1-3; 23:6). Moses was the first and greatest prophet (Deut 18:15).
9:12 so that you may be strong and eat the good things of the land God's commands are not meant to rob us. They protect what He has given us.
9:13 You, O our God, have held back punishment below our iniquity The exile, terrible as it was, was less than they deserved. After such mercy, how could they sin again? Grace is never a license to sin. It is the reason to stop (Rom 6:1-2).

no remnant or escaped remnant? 15 O LORD, the God of Israel, You are righteous, for we are left an escaped remnant, as it is this day. Look, we are before You in our guilt, for there is no standing before You because of this."

The People Confess Their Sin

1 And as Ezra was praying and as he was confessing, weeping and prostrating himself before the house of God, a very great assembly from Israel (Yisra'el), men and women and children, gathered to him; for the people wept with much weeping. 2 And Shecaniah (Shekhanya) the son of Jehiel (Yechi'el), of the sons of Elam, answered and said to Ezra, "We have acted unfaithfully against our God, and we have married foreign women from the peoples of the land; and now there is hope for Israel concerning this. 3 And now let us make a covenant to our God to send out all the wives and those born from them, according to the counsel of the Lord and of those who tremble at the commandment of our God; and let it be done according to the law. 4 Arise, for the matter is on you, and we are with you. Be strong and act." 5 And Ezra arose and made the leaders of the priests, the Levites, and all Israel swear to do according to this word. And they swore. 6 And Ezra arose from before the house of God and went to the chamber of Jehohanan (Yehochanan) the son of Eliashib (Elyashiv); and he went there. He did not eat bread and he did not drink water, for he was mourning over the unfaithfulness of the exiles. 7 And they caused a proclamation to pass through Judah (Yehuda) and Jerusalem (Yerushalayim) to all the sons of the exile, to be gathered to Jerusalem, 8 and that everyone who would not come within the three days, according to the counsel of the leaders and the elders, all his property would be devoted, and he himself would be separated from the assembly of the exiles.

The Assembly at Jerusalem

9 And all the men of Judah and Benjamin (Binyamin) were gathered to Jerusalem within the three days; it was the ninth month, on the twentieth day of the month. And all the people sat in the open place of the house of God, trembling because of the matter and because of the rains. 10 And Ezra the priest arose and said to them, "You have acted unfaithfully, and you have married foreign women, to add to the guilt of Israel. 11 And now give confession to the LORD, the God of your fathers, and do His will; and separate yourselves from the peoples of the land and from the foreign women." 12 And all the assembly answered and said with a great voice, "So it is; according to your word it is on us to do. 13 But the people are many, and the time is one of rains, and there is no strength to stand outside; and the work is not for one day, and not for two, for we have greatly transgressed in this matter. 14 Let our leaders, please, stand for all the assembly; and let everyone who is in our cities who has married foreign women come at appointed times, and with them the elders of each city and its judges, until the turning back of the burning of the anger of our God from us, concerning this matter." 15 Only Jonathan (Yonatan) the son of Asahel and Jahzeiah (Yachzeya) the son of Tikvah (Tiqva) stood against this, and Meshullam (Meshulam) and Shabbethai (Shabtay) the Levite supported them.

The Cases Examined

16 And the sons of the exile did so. And Ezra the priest and men, heads of the fathers, according to the house of their fathers, and all of them by names, separated themselves; and they sat down on day one of the tenth month to investigate the matter. 17 And they finished with all, the men who had married foreign women, by day one of the first month.

10:16 Deut 13:14; Job 29:16; John 7:51

9:15 there is no standing before You because of this Ezra asked for nothing, promised nothing and gave no plan. He laid the guilt before God and left it there. Sometimes true repentance starts with no excuse at all. We know the One who took the guilt away, and the promise for all who confess: "If we confess our sins, He is faithful and righteous" (1 John 1:9).
10:1 for the people wept with much weeping Ezra gave no sermon or order. He prayed and wept, and God moved the people. Repentance spread from one broken heart to many.
10:2 now there is hope for Israel concerning this A Jehiel of Elam is among the guilty (10:26), likely Shecaniah's father or relative. He spoke as one of the guilty. Ezra's prayer ended without hope. Shecaniah said there was hope, if they would turn.
10:3 according to the counsel of the Lord A covenant is a solemn agreement before God. "The Lord" here likely means my lord, a title for Ezra. The word can be read either way.
10:4 Arise, for the matter is on you, and we are with you He urged Ezra to lead and promised the people would follow. The leaders who led into sin (9:2) now had to lead out (10:5).
10:6 he did not eat bread and he did not drink water A complete fast, as Moses after the golden calf (Deut 9:18). Ezra did not treat this as a small matter for a few rules. He grieved before God.
10:8 all his property would be devoted Taken and given to the temple, under the authority Artaxerxes gave Ezra (7:26). Judah was small enough to reach Jerusalem in three days.
10:9 trembling because of the matter and because of the rains Kislev, November to December, the rainy season. They shook with fear before God and shivered in the cold rain.
10:11 give confession to the LORD, the God of your fathers, and do His will First confession, then obedience. We agree with God about our sin, and then we turn from it.
10:14 with them the elders of each city and its judges A careful process town by town. Local elders knew the families and could judge each case fairly, not all at once in a crowd.
10:15 only Jonathan the son of Asahel and Jahzeiah the son of Tikvah stood against this Most read this as four men opposing the plan. Others read it as these men being put in charge, or opposing only the delay. Scripture does not give their reasons.
10:17 they finished with all, the men who had married foreign women Three months, from late December to late March, a slow look at each family. Scripture does not give their rules. Since the problem was idolatry, they very likely asked whether each wife had turned to the LORD, and those who had were welcome (6:21). Many think that is one reason the list is so short.

Those Who Had Married Foreign Women

18 And from the sons of the priests some were found who had married foreign women: from the sons of Jeshua (Yeshua) the son of Jozadak (Yotsadaq) and his brothers, Maaseiah (Ma'aseya) and Eliezer and Jarib (Yariv) and Gedaliah (Gedalya). 19 And they gave their hand to send out their wives; and, being guilty, they offered a ram of the flock for their guilt. 20 And from the sons of Immer (Imer): Hanani (Chanani) and Zebadiah (Zevadya). 21 And from the sons of Harim (Charim): Maaseiah and Elijah (Eliya) and Shemaiah (Shemaya) and Jehiel and Uzziah (Uziya). 22 And from the sons of Pashhur (Pashchur): Elioenai (Elyo'enay), Maaseiah, Ishmael (Yishma'el), Nethanel (Netanel), Jozabad (Yozavad), and Elasah (Elasa). 23 And from the Levites: Jozabad and Shimei (Shimi) and Kelaiah (Qelaya)—he is Kelita (Qelita)—Pethahiah (Petachya), Judah, and Eliezer. 24 And from the singers: Eliashib. And from the gatekeepers: Shallum (Shalum) and Telem and Uri. 25 And from Israel: from the sons of Parosh, Ramiah (Ramya) and Izziah (Yiziya) and Malchijah (Malkiya) and Mijamin (Miyamin) and Eleazar (Elazar) and Malchijah and Benaiah (Benaya). 26 And from the sons of Elam: Mattaniah (Matanya), Zechariah (Zekharya), and Jehiel and Abdi (Avdi) and Jeremoth (Yeremot) and Elijah. 27 And from the sons of Zattu (Zatu): Elioenai, Eliashib, Mattaniah, and Jeremoth and Zabad (Zavad) and Aziza. 28 And from the sons of Bebai (Bevay): Jehohanan, Hananiah (Chananya), Zabbai (Zabay), Athlai (Atlay). 29 And from the sons of Bani: Meshullam, Malluch (Malukh), and Adaiah (Adaya), Jashub (Yashuv), and Sheal and Ramoth (Ramot). 30 And from the sons of Pahath-moab (Pachat-Mo'av): Adna and Chelal (Kelal), Benaiah, Maaseiah, Mattaniah, Bezalel (Betsalel), and Binnui (Binuy) and Manasseh (Menashe). 31 And the sons of Harim: Eliezer, Isshijah (Yishiya), Malchijah, Shemaiah, Shimeon (Shimon), 32 Benjamin, Malluch, Shemariah (Shemarya). 33 From the sons of Hashum (Chashum): Mattenai (Matnay), Mattattah (Matata), Zabad, Eliphelet (Elifelet), Jeremai (Yeremay), Manasseh, Shimei. 34 From the sons of Bani: Maadai (Ma'aday), Amram, and Uel, 35 Benaiah, Bedeiah (Bedya), Cheluhi (Keluhu), 36 Vaniah (Vanya), Meremoth (Meremot), Eliashib, 37 Mattaniah, Mattenai, and Jaasu (Ya'asay), 38 and Bani and Binnui, Shimei, 39 and Shelemiah (Shelemya) and Nathan (Natan) and Adaiah, 40 Machnadebai (Makhnadvay), Shashai (Shashay), Sharai (Sharay), 41 Azarel and Shelemiah (Shelemyahu), Shemariah, 42 Shallum, Amariah (Amarya), Joseph (Yosef). 43 From the sons of Nebo (Nevo): Jeiel (Ye'i'el), Mattithiah (Matitya), Zabad, Zebina (Zevina), Jaddai (Yaday), and Joel (Yo'el), Benaiah. 44 All these had taken foreign women, and there were among them wives, and they had set forth children.

10:19 they offered a ram of the flock for their guilt To give the hand was a firm promise. The ram was a guilt offering, required when someone was unfaithful toward what belonged to the LORD (Lev 5:14-19; 6:1-7).
10:25 from Israel: from the sons of Parosh About 110 men are named in all, few in a community of perhaps thirty or forty thousand, but at every level. Many families are those of chapter 2.
10:44 there were among them wives, and they had set forth children The book ends with broken families, not a celebration. We must not soften it. These were real women and children. Many think the men were expected to provide for them, as the Law required a certificate so a sent-away wife could remarry (Deut 24:1-2), and the children likely went with their mothers. But we are not told. The reason was not race but idolatry, which threatened to swallow a tiny community and the line of the Messiah. Judah had "married the daughter of a foreign god" (Mal 2:11), yet in the same chapter God hates sending away a wife (Mal 2:14-16).
10:44 All these had taken foreign women This was a special case under the Law given to Israel, not a pattern for all time. Christians are not to marry unbelievers (1 Cor 7:39; 2 Cor 6:14). But to a believer already married to an unbeliever, Paul says do not send the spouse away, for the home is sanctified (1 Cor 7:12-14), and a husband may be won by his wife's life (1 Pet 3:1-2). No Christian should ever use Ezra 10 as a reason to leave a husband or wife. If you came from a home that broke apart, God sees the women and children in this list who are not named, and He sees you.

NEHEMIAH

Introduction

Title

The book is named for Nehemiah the son of Hacaliah, whose words open it (1:1). In the Hebrew Bible, Ezra and Nehemiah were counted as one book, and Nehemiah picks up the story about thirteen years after Ezra arrived in Jerusalem. It is the last of the history books of the Old Testament in time order. After Nehemiah, the Old Testament story falls silent for about four hundred years, until John the Baptist and Jesus.

Author and Date

Nehemiah wrote most of the book himself. Most of chapters 1-7 and 12:31-13:31 are in the first person, often called Nehemiah's memoirs. Other parts, such as the lists in chapters 7, 10, 11 and 12 and the account of Ezra's reading in chapters 8-9, use official records and speak of Nehemiah in the third person. Jewish tradition held that Ezra put the combined book together, with Nehemiah's memoirs as a main source, and many modern scholars think a later editor joined the sources. I take Nehemiah's own words at face value: he wrote his record, and it was joined with the other records into the book we have. It was most likely written soon after the last events, about 430 B.C. or shortly after.

Background and Setting

Nehemiah was a Jew born in exile and "cupbearer to the king" (1:11) of Persia. A cupbearer served the king his wine and tasted it first. He stood close to the king every day and often became one of his most trusted advisers. Nehemiah heard the news from Jerusalem in the month of Kislev (November to December) in the twentieth year of Artaxerxes, and the king sent him as governor in Nisan (March to April), 445 B.C. (1:1; 2:1). He served twelve years, to 433 B.C. (5:14; 13:6), went back to the king for a time, and returned for a second term about 430 B.C. or a little later (13:6-7). The prophet Malachi most likely preached in these same years and names many of the same sins.

Jerusalem was still a small, poor, half-empty city about ninety years after the first return. The temple had stood for about seventy years, but the walls lay in ruins and the gates had been burned. A city without walls was open to any attacker and a disgrace before its neighbors. Around Judah were hostile leaders: Sanballat, the governor of Samaria to the north; Tobiah, an Ammonite official to the east; and Geshem, an Arab leader to the south.

Themes

The theme of Nehemiah is rebuilding God's city and God's people by prayer, hard work and the Word of God. Nehemiah prays and works, and never treats them as opposites. There are more than a dozen short prayers in the book. After months of prayer, God opened the door with the king (1:11; 2:4). Nehemiah inspected the walls by night, rallied the people and organized the work section by section. In spite of mockery, threats, plots and injustice among the Jews themselves, he told the people, "Remember the great and awesome Lord" (4:14), and the wall was finished in fifty-two days. Even the enemies knew "this work had been done from our God" (6:16).

But walls alone do not make a people of God. In the second half, Ezra reads the Law, the people weep and then rejoice, keep the Feast of Booths, confess their sins in a long prayer, and sign a written covenant. The key verse comes at the reading of the Law: "Do not be grieved, for the joy of the LORD is your stronghold" (8:10). The book closes with an honest warning: Nehemiah comes back after a time away to find the same sins all over again, and his last prayer is "Remember me, my God, for good" (13:31).

Christ in Nehemiah

The New Testament does not quote Nehemiah directly, but the book points to Jesus in at least two ways. First, the king's permission to rebuild Jerusalem in Artaxerxes' twentieth year (2:1-8) is one of the decrees Bible teachers see as the starting point of Daniel's seventy weeks, counted "from the going forth of the word to restore and to build Jerusalem until an anointed one, a prince" (Dan 9:25). Second, Nehemiah is a picture of Christ. He left comfort and honor in the king's palace, came to a broken city, wept over it, gave up his own rights for the people (5:14-18), and refused to come down from the great work he was given (6:3). Jesus left far greater glory, wept over Jerusalem (Luke 19:41), emptied Himself (Phil 2:7) and finished the work the Father gave Him (John 17:4). The New Testament does not name Nehemiah as a type of Christ, so I hold this as a picture, but it is a fitting one.

The book's ending also points forward. Nehemiah's reforms could not change the human heart. The people needed the new covenant God promised (Jer 31:33) and the Lord who would come to His temple (Mal 3:1-3).

Hard Passages

Which decree starts Daniel's seventy weeks (2:1-8)? Some count from Nehemiah 2 in 445 B.C., and others from Ezra 7 in about 458 B.C. Both arrive at the time of Christ, and I believe the seventieth week is still future, after the rapture of the church.

Nehemiah's prayer against his enemies (4:4-5) hands vengeance to God rather than taking it (Rom 12:19). Our first prayer for enemies is the one Jesus taught (Matt 5:44).

The list in chapter 7 differs in places from Ezra 2, most likely from the copying of numbers or lists made at different times.

In 13:25 Nehemiah cursed, struck and pulled the hair of men who had married foreign wives. He acted as governor with legal authority. Scripture records it without praise or blame, and it is no pattern for church discipline (Gal 6:1; 1 Tim 3:3). As in Ezra, the issue with these marriages was faith, not race.

Outline

I. Rebuilding the Wall (1:1-7:73)
- A. Nehemiah's burden and prayer (1:1-11)
- B. The king sends Nehemiah (2:1-20)
- C. The builders of the wall (3:1-32)
- D. Building with a sword in hand (4:1-23)
- E. Justice for the poor (5:1-19)
- F. The wall finished despite plots (6:1-19)

G. Guarding the city and the record of the returned (7:1-73)
II. Renewing the People (8:1-10:39)
A. Ezra reads the Law (8:1-18)
B. The great prayer of confession (9:1-38)
C. The people sign the covenant (10:1-39)
III. Settling the City and the Last Reforms (11:1-13:31)
A. Filling Jerusalem with people (11:1-36)
B. Priests, Levites, and the wall dedicated (12:1-47)
C. Nehemiah's last reforms (13:1-31)

Nehemiah's Prayer

4 And it was, when I heard these words, I sat down and wept and mourned for days; and I was fasting and praying before the God of the heavens. 5 And I said, "Please, LORD, God of the heavens, the great and awesome God, who keeps the covenant and steadfast love for those who love Him and for those who keep His commandments, 6 let Your ear be attentive, please, and Your eyes open, to listen to the prayer of Your servant which I am praying before You today, by day and night, for the sons of Israel (Yisra'el) Your servants, and confessing the sins of the sons of Israel which we have sinned against You. And I and the house of my father have sinned. 7 We have surely acted corruptly against You, and we have not kept the commandments and the statutes and the judgments which You commanded Moses (Moshe) Your servant. 8 Remember, please, the word which You commanded Moses Your servant, saying, 'You will act unfaithfully; I will scatter you among the peoples. 9 And you will return to Me and keep My commandments and do them; if your banished ones are at the end of the heavens, from there I will gather them, and I will bring them to the place which I have chosen to cause My name to dwell there.' 10 And they are Your servants and Your people, whom You ransomed by Your great strength and by Your mighty hand. 11 Please, Lord, let Your ear be attentive, please, to the prayer of Your servant and to the prayer of Your servants who delight to fear Your name; and give success, please, to Your servant today, and give him compassion before this man." And I was cupbearer to the king.

1:1 the words of Nehemiah the son of Hacaliah The book opens like a prophet's, but Nehemiah was a government servant. His name means the LORD comforts, fitting for a man God used to comfort Jerusalem. Kislev is the ninth month, November to December, in the twentieth year of Artaxerxes (2:1), about 446 going into 445 B.C.
1:1 I was in Susa the citadel A royal city where Persian kings spent the winter, where Esther had been queen about thirty years before (Esth 1:2). The citadel was the fortified palace area, the center of the most powerful empire on earth.
1:2 I asked them about the Jews He had a comfortable palace job and did not have to care. But his heart was with God's people. Do we ask about the needs of God's people, or would we rather not know?
1:3 the wall of Jerusalem is broken down, and its gates have been burned with fire "Evil" here means distress, and "reproach" means disgrace. Nebuchadnezzar broke the walls in 586 B.C. (2 Kgs 25:10), but Nehemiah would have known that. His shock suggests fresh news, and many connect it with the forced stop of Ezra 4:23 under this same king.
1:4 I sat down and wept and mourned for days He wept, mourned, fasted and prayed, from Kislev to Nisan (2:1), about four months, before he did anything else. Godly action begins with a broken heart over what breaks God's heart, carried to God in prayer. Jesus also wept over Jerusalem (Luke 19:41). "The God of the heavens" was a common way for Jews in Persia to speak of the LORD, who rules over all (Ezra 1:2).
1:5 who keeps the covenant and steadfast love for those who love Him He began with who God is, not with what he wanted, echoing Moses and Daniel (Deut 7:9; Dan 9:4). A covenant is a binding agreement, and God's hesed never quits. A great God is able. A covenant-keeping God is faithful.
1:6 I and the house of my father have sinned Like Ezra (Ezra 9:6), he did not stand apart. He said "we" and named his own family. "Day and night" shows months of praying.
1:7 the commandments and the statutes and the judgments Commandments are what God told them to do, statutes fixed rules, and judgments rulings on how to apply them, the whole Law. No excuses. Israel broke it and was scattered.
1:8 Remember, please, the word which You commanded Moses Your servant Not reminding God of something He forgot, but taking hold of what He said. God kept the warning of scattering (Lev 26:33; Deut 28:64), so He will surely keep the promise of gathering (Deut 30:1-5; 12:5).
1:9 from there I will gather them Find what God has promised, and ask Him to do it. The return from Babylon was a partial fulfillment. The prophets speak of God gathering Israel from all nations and giving a new heart (Ezek 36:24-28; Jer 31:10). I believe the full gathering is still ahead, when Christ returns and sets up His kingdom (Rom 11:25-27).
1:10 whom You ransomed by Your great strength and by Your mighty hand To ransom is to set free by price or power, exodus words (Deut 9:29). These broken people still belonged to God. We were redeemed "with the precious blood of Christ, as of a lamb without blemish and without spot" (1 Pet 1:18-19). When we feel weak and ashamed, we can tell God we are His.
1:11 give him compassion before this man Others were praying too. To the world Artaxerxes was king of kings. Before the God of heaven he was "this man," his heart in God's hand.
1:11 I was cupbearer to the king He served and tasted the king's wine to guard against poison. He had to be completely trusted, was near the king daily, and often became an adviser. God placed him there years before he knew why. Where has God placed you?
2:1 in the month of Nisan, in the twentieth year of Artaxerxes the king March to April, 445 B.C., four months after Kislev. Servants were expected to look cheerful, and a sad face could suggest displeasure or a plot. For four months he hid his grief. Scripture does not say why this day. God's timing is perfect.

not been sad before him. 2 And the king said to me, "Why is your face sad, and you are not sick? This is nothing but sadness of heart." And I was very greatly afraid. 3 And I said to the king, "Let the king live forever! Why should my face not be sad, when the city, the house of the tombs of my fathers, is desolate, and its gates have been consumed by fire?" 4 And the king said to me, "For what are you requesting?" And I prayed to the God of the heavens. 5 And I said to the king, "If it is good to the king, and if your servant is good before you, that you would send me to Judah (Yehuda), to the city of the tombs of my fathers, and I will build it." 6 And the king said to me, and the queen was sitting beside him, "Until when will your journey be, and when will you return?" And it was good before the king, and he sent me; and I gave him a time. 7 And I said to the king, "If it is good to the king, let them give me letters to the governors beyond the River (Nahar), that they may let me pass through until I come to Judah, 8 and a letter to Asaph (Asaf) the keeper of the forest which belongs to the king, that he may give me wood to make beams for the gates of the citadel which belongs to the house, and for the wall of the city, and for the house which I will enter." And the king gave them to me, according to the good hand of my God on me.

Opposition Begins

9 And I came to the governors beyond the River and gave them the letters of the king. And the king had sent with me commanders of the army and horsemen. 10 And Sanballat (Sanvalat) the Horonite and Tobiah (Toviya) the servant, the Ammonite, heard it, and it was displeasing to them, a great displeasure, that a man had come to seek good for the sons of Israel (Yisra'el).

Nehemiah Inspects the Walls by Night

11 And I came to Jerusalem (Yerushalayim), and I was there three days. 12 And I arose at night, I and a few men with me; and I had not told anyone what my God was putting into my heart to do for Jerusalem; and there was no animal with me except the animal on which I was riding. 13 And I went out by the Valley Gate by night, and toward the face of Dragon Well (En-Hatanin) and to the Dung Gate; and I was examining the walls of Jerusalem, which were broken down, and its gates had been consumed by fire. 14 And I passed on to the Spring Gate and to the King's Pool, and there was no place for the animal under me to pass through. 15 And I was going up in the ravine by night, and I was examining the wall; and I turned back and entered by the Valley Gate, and returned. 16 And the officials did not know where I had gone and what I was doing; and to the Jews and to the priests and to the nobles and to the officials and to the rest who did the work, until then I had not told it.

Let Us Rise Up and Build

17 And I said to them, "You see the evil which we are in, that Jerusalem is desolate and its gates have been burned with fire. Come, and let us build the wall of Jerusalem, and we will no longer be a reproach." 18 And I told them of the hand of my God, that it was good on me, and also the words of the king which he had spoken to me. And they said, "Let us arise and build." And they strengthened their hands for the good.

2:2 I was very greatly afraid A king could put a servant to death for less, and Nehemiah was about to ask the king to undo his own order (Ezra 4:21). Courage is not the absence of fear. It is doing right while afraid.
2:3 the house of the tombs of my fathers He did not yet name Jerusalem. Every Persian honored his ancestors' graves, and the king could understand that. Nehemiah spoke wisely.
2:4 I prayed to the God of the heavens Between the king's question and his answer, a silent prayer of a few words, backed by four months of praying day and night. We can pray anywhere, in a meeting, a hard talk or a crisis (1 Thess 5:17). His quick prayer worked because he already lived close to God.
2:5 that you would send me to Judah Humble and clear. He asked to go himself, not just for money.
2:6 the queen was sitting beside him A small detail from a real scene. The king's question about his return shows he had already said yes. Nehemiah stayed twelve years (5:14), so he asked for a long time or the king extended it.
2:8 according to the good hand of my God on me He knew exactly what timber he needed. Prayer and planning are not enemies. He prayed as if all depended on God and planned to be ready for God's answer, then credited God (Ezra 7:6, 9).
2:8 for the wall of the city Daniel's seventy sevens count "from the going forth of the word to restore and to build Jerusalem" (Dan 9:25) to the Anointed One, 483 years, and then He is "cut off" (Dan 9:26). This word in 445 B.C. is the first to speak plainly of the city and walls. Many teachers start here and count 360-day prophetic years (Dan 7:25; Rev 12:6) to about A.D. 32 or 33, Jesus' entry and death. Others start with Ezra's decree in 458 or 457 B.C. and count regular years to about A.D. 26 or 27. Either way it brings us to Jesus. I believe the seventieth seven is the Tribulation still ahead, after Christ takes His church (1 Thess 4:16-17).
2:9 the king had sent with me commanders of the army and horsemen Ezra refused an escort (Ezra 8:22), and Nehemiah, as royal governor, received what the king sent. Both trusted God. His provision can come either way.
2:10 Sanballat the Horonite and Tobiah the servant, the Ammonite Sanballat governed Samaria (4:2) and probably came from Beth-horon. Tobiah was an Ammonite official, "servant" being a title. What upset them was that someone came "to seek good for the sons of Israel." Some are angered by the good of God's people. Expect it.
2:12 I had not told anyone what my God was putting into my heart He rested three days after about 900 miles, then looked for himself before speaking, with enemies watching and some in Jerusalem in contact with them (6:17-19). Wise leaders do not announce a plan before they know the facts. The plan was God's.
2:13 I went out by the Valley Gate by night The Valley Gate faced the Hinnom Valley on the west. The Dung Gate at the south end was where rubbish went out.
2:14 there was no place for the animal under me to pass through Rubble had tumbled down the steep Kidron slope so badly his mount could not pass. Before we fix what is broken, it helps to look honestly at how bad it is.
2:16 the officials did not know where I had gone Every group is named, because every group would soon be needed.
2:17 let us build the wall of Jerusalem, and we will no longer be a reproach He said "we," not "you." The deepest reason was not safety but the honor of God's name. A broken city told the nations Israel's God could not care for His own.
2:18 I told them of the hand of my God, that it was good on me God was behind it and the king had approved. One person with a God-given vision, who shares how God has worked, can stir a whole church to action.

19 And Sanballat the Horonite and Tobiah the servant, the Ammonite, and Geshem the Arab heard it, and they mocked us and despised us, and said, "What is this thing which you are doing? Are you rebelling against the king?" 20 And I brought back word to them and said to them, "The God of the heavens, He will give us success; and we His servants will arise and build. And to you there is no portion, and no right, and no memorial in Jerusalem."

The Builders of the Wall

1 And Eliashib (Elyashiv) the high priest arose, and his brothers the priests, and they built the Sheep Gate; they consecrated it and set up its doors; and as far as the Tower of the Hundred (Me'a) they consecrated it, as far as the Tower of Hananel (Chananel). 2 And beside him the men of Jericho (Yericho) built. And beside him Zaccur (Zakur) the son of Imri built. 3 And the Fish Gate the sons of Hassenaah (Hasena'a) built; they laid its beams and set up its doors, its bolts and its bars. 4 And beside them Meremoth (Meremot) the son of Uriah (Uriya), the son of Hakkoz (Haqots), repaired. And beside them Meshullam (Meshulam) the son of Berechiah (Berekhya), the son of Meshezabel (Meshezav'el), repaired. And beside them Zadok (Tsadoq) the son of Baana (Ba'ana) repaired. 5 And beside them the Tekoites repaired; and their nobles did not bring their neck into the service of their lords. 6 And the Old Gate Joiada (Yoyada) the son of Paseah (Paseach) and Meshullam the son of Besodeiah (Besodya) repaired; they laid its beams and set up its doors and its bolts and its bars. 7 And beside them Melatiah (Melatya) the Gibeonite and Jadon (Yadon) the Meronothite, the men of Gibeon (Givon) and of Mizpah (Mitspa), repaired for the seat of the governor beyond the River (Nahar). 8 Beside him Uzziel (Uzi'el) the son of Harhaiah (Charchaya), goldsmiths, repaired. And beside him Hananiah (Chananya), a son of the perfumers, repaired. And they restored Jerusalem (Yerushalayim) as far as the Broad Wall. 9 And beside them Rephaiah (Refaya) the son of Hur (Chur), the leader of half the district of Jerusalem, repaired. 10 And beside them Jedaiah (Yedaya) the son of Harumaph (Charumaf) repaired, and opposite his house. And beside him Hattush (Chatush) the son of Hashabneiah (Chashavneya) repaired. 11 Malchijah (Malkiya) the son of Harim (Charim) and Hasshub (Chashuv) the son of Pahath-moab (Pachat-Mo'av) repaired a second section, and the Tower of the Ovens. 12 And beside him Shallum (Shalum) the son of Hallohesh (Halochesh), the leader of half the district of Jerusalem, repaired, he and his daughters. 13 The Valley Gate Hanun (Chanun) and the inhabitants of Zanoah (Zanoach) repaired; they built it and set up its doors, its bolts and its bars, and approximately 1,500 feet (a thousand cubits) of the wall, as far as the Dung Gate. 14 And the Dung Gate Malchijah the son of Rechab (Rekhav), the leader of the district of Beth-haccherem (Bet-Hakerem), repaired; he built it and set up its doors, its bolts and its bars.

The Work on the South and East

15 And the Spring Gate Shallun (Shalun) the son of Col-hozeh (Kol-Choze), the leader of the district of Mizpah, repaired; he built it and covered it and set up its doors, its bolts and its bars, and the wall of the Pool of Shelah (Shelach) by the king's garden, and as far as the steps that go down from the city of David. 16 After him Nehemiah (Nechemya) the son of Azbuk (Azbuq), the leader of half the district of Beth-zur (Bet-Tsur), repaired as far as opposite the tombs of David, and as far as the pool that was made, and as far as the house of the mighty men. 17 After him the Levites repaired: Rehum

2:19 Geshem the Arab An Arab leader to the south and east. Mockery is often the first weapon against God's work, then the old charge of rebellion (Ezra 4:12-16). This time Nehemiah had the king's letters.
2:20 The God of the heavens, He will give us success; and we His servants will arise and build He pointed to God, not the king's letters. God gives success, and His servants build. Faith and work together. Drawing a clear line, as Zerubbabel did (Ezra 4:3), the enemies had "no portion, and no right, and no memorial in Jerusalem."
3:1 Eliashib the high priest arose, and his brothers the priests, and they built the Sheep Gate The Sheep Gate was in the north wall near the temple, where sacrificial sheep came in. The work began with worship. The towers guarded the north, the city's weakest side. Sadly, Eliashib later gave Tobiah a temple room (13:4-7). Starting well does not guarantee finishing well.
3:2 beside him The phrase runs through the whole chapter. No one built alone.
3:3 the Fish Gate Likely where fish from Galilee and the coast came in to market. A gate was the hardest part, with beams, doors, bolts and bars.
3:5 their nobles did not bring their neck into the service of their lords Tekoa, Amos' hometown, was about ten miles south. Its working men did a second section too (3:27), but its nobles refused the yoke, thinking the work beneath them. "Their lords" may mean Nehemiah and the leaders, or the Lord Himself. God records both the faithful and the unwilling.
3:8 Hananiah, a son of the perfumers Goldsmiths and perfume makers, men of fine, delicate work, now hauled stones. The Broad Wall was a thick part of the old wall on the northwest.
3:10 opposite his house He fixed the wall in front of his own home.
3:12 he and his daughters The only place in the list where women are named as builders. God's work is not only for men.
3:13 approximately 1,500 feet (a thousand cubits) of the wall Nehemiah rode out the Valley Gate on his night inspection (2:13). Zanoah was about thirteen miles west. Perhaps the wall was less damaged there, or the crew was large.
3:14 the Dung Gate Malchijah the son of Rechab, the leader of the district of Beth-haccherem, repaired Where the city's trash went out, the least honored job, and a district ruler took it. In God's work no job is too low for a leader.
3:15 the Pool of Shelah by the king's garden The Spring Gate stood near the Gihon spring. This pool is most likely Siloam. The City of David was the oldest part of Jerusalem, the hill David took from the Jebusites (2 Sam 5:7).
3:16 as far as opposite the tombs of David A different Nehemiah. The governor had spoken to the king of "the tombs of my fathers" (2:3), and here the builders reached them.

(Rechum) the son of Bani. Beside him Hashabiah (Chashavya), the leader of half the district of Keilah (Qe'ila), repaired for his district. 18 After him their brothers repaired: Bavvai (Bavay) the son of Henadad (Chenadad), the leader of half the district of Keilah. 19 And beside him Ezer the son of Jeshua (Yeshua), the leader of Mizpah, repaired a second section, from opposite the ascent of the armory at the angle. 20 After him Baruch (Barukh) the son of Zaccai (Zakay) zealously repaired a second section, from the angle as far as the entrance of the house of Eliashib the high priest.
21 After him Meremoth the son of Uriah, the son of Hakkoz, repaired a second section, from the entrance of the house of Eliashib and as far as the end of the house of Eliashib. 22 And after him the priests, the men of the plain, repaired. 23 After him Benjamin (Binyamin) and Hasshub repaired opposite their house. After him Azariah (Azarya) the son of Maaseiah (Ma'aseya), the son of Ananiah (Ananya), repaired beside his house. 24 After him Binnui (Binuy) the son of Henadad repaired a second section, from the house of Azariah as far as the angle and as far as the corner. 25 Palal the son of Uzai (Uzay) repaired opposite the angle and the tower that projects from the upper house of the king, which belongs to the court of the guard. After him Pedaiah (Pedaya) the son of Parosh repaired. 26 And the temple servants were dwelling on the Ophel (Ofel), as far as opposite the Water Gate toward the east and the projecting tower. 27 After him the Tekoites repaired a second section, from opposite the great projecting tower and as far as the wall of the Ophel. 28 Above the Horse Gate the priests repaired, each opposite his house. 29 After him Zadok the son of Immer (Imer) repaired opposite his house. And after him Shemaiah (Shemaya) the son of Shecaniah (Shekhanya), the keeper of the East Gate, repaired.
30 After him Hananiah the son of Shelemiah (Shelemya) and Hanun the sixth son of Zalaph (Tsalaf) repaired a second section. After him Meshullam the son of Berechiah repaired opposite his chamber. 31 After him Malchijah, a son of the goldsmiths, repaired as far as the house of the temple servants and of the traders, opposite the Muster Gate, and as far as the upper room of the corner. 32 And between the upper room of the corner and the Sheep Gate the goldsmiths and the traders repaired.

NEHEMIAH 4

Mockery and Threats

1 And it was, when Sanballat (Sanvalat) heard that we were building the wall, that he burned with anger and was greatly vexed, and he mocked the Jews. 2 And he spoke before his brothers and the army of Samaria (Shomron), and said,
"What are the feeble Jews doing? Will they restore it for themselves? Will they sacrifice? Will they finish in a day?
Will they revive the stones from the heaps of rubble, when they are burned?" 3 And Tobiah (Toviya) the Ammonite was beside him, and he said, "Even what they are building—if a fox goes up on it, it will break down their wall of stones."
4 Hear, O our God, for we have become contempt; and return their reproach on their own head, and give them for plunder in a land of captivity. 5 And do not cover over their iniquity, and let their sin not be wiped out from before You; for they have provoked You to anger in front of the builders. 6 And we built the wall, and all the wall was joined together up to its half; and there was a heart in the people to work.

3:20 Baruch the son of Zaccai zealously repaired a second section The only builder described this way, with burning eagerness. Each did his part, but God noticed the one who threw himself into it.
3:21 Meremoth the son of Uriah His second section (3:4). Some did more than their share.
3:23 Benjamin and Hasshub repaired opposite their house A man fixing the wall before his own home would do it well, since his family's safety depended on it. Where is your section of wall? Often God wants us to start in front of our own house, with our family and neighbors.
3:25 the court of the guard Where Jeremiah was held (Jer 32:2). The Ophel (3:26) was the hill between the City of David and the temple, and the Water Gate's open square is where Ezra later read the Law (8:1).
3:28 above the Horse Gate the priests repaired The Horse Gate was on the east side near the temple, and the East Gate faced the Mount of Olives (3:29).
3:30 opposite his chamber Perhaps a single room, not even a whole house. Even a man with one room did his part.
3:31 opposite the Muster Gate Also called the Inspection Gate, perhaps where people or troops were gathered and counted.
3:32 between the upper room of the corner and the Sheep Gate The circle is complete, back where the priests began. God's work is done by ordinary people each doing a part. No one built the whole wall, and everyone built some of it, like one body with many parts (1 Cor 12:12-27; Eph 2:21). God remembers every name. Our labor in the Lord is not in vain (1 Cor 15:58).
4:1 he burned with anger and was greatly vexed, and he mocked the Jews When people cannot stop God's work, they often try to laugh it down.
4:2 What are the feeble Jews doing A public show before the army of Samaria, a threat dressed as a joke. Five mocking questions, some with a sting of truth. They were weak and the stones were fire-damaged. That is why mockery hurts. It takes a real weakness and makes it look hopeless.
4:3 if a fox goes up on it, it will break down their wall of stones A fox weighs a few pounds. How do you answer mockery? Look at the next verse.
4:4 return their reproach on their own head Nehemiah turned to God, not Sanballat. Prayers calling for God's justice on enemies are called imprecations, found in psalms too (Ps 35; 69; 109). He did not take revenge himself but handed it to God (Rom 12:19). He saw them as enemies of God's name, and he asked for justice, that their plan of captivity fall on them.
4:5 for they have provoked You to anger in front of the builders Jesus gave a further word: love your enemies and pray for them (Matt 5:44), and on the cross, "Father, forgive them" (Luke 23:34). Our first prayer for opponents is that God would save them, as He saved Paul. We may still ask God to stop evil and bring justice where people refuse to turn (Rev 6:10). Nehemiah shows an honest heart bringing hurt and anger to God instead of taking matters into its own hands.
4:6 there was a heart in the people to work The whole circuit was joined, though only to half its height. The secret of every great work of God is not big budgets or big talent, but willing hearts (Col 3:23).

Building with a Sword in Hand

7 And it was, when Sanballat and Tobiah and the Arabs and the Ammonites and the Ashdodites heard that the repair of the walls of Jerusalem (Yerushalayim) had gone up, that the breaches had begun to be closed, that they burned with anger very much. 8 And they all conspired together to come and fight against Jerusalem and to cause confusion for it. 9 And we prayed to our God, and we stationed a guard against them by day and night because of them. 10 And Judah (Yehuda) said, "The strength of the burden bearer has faltered, and the rubble is much, and we will not be able to build the wall." 11 And our adversaries said, "They will not know and they will not see until we come into their midst and kill them, and put an end to the work." 12 And it was, when the Jews who were dwelling beside them came, that they said to us ten times, "From all the places where you turn, they are against us." 13 And I stationed men in the lowest parts of the place behind the wall, in the open places; and I stationed the people by families with their swords, their spears and their bows. 14 And I saw, and I arose and said to the nobles and to the officials and to the rest of the people, "Do not be afraid of them. Remember the great and awesome Lord, and fight for your brothers, your sons and your daughters, your wives and your houses."

Half Worked and Half Stood Guard

15 And it was, when our enemies heard that it was known to us, and God had frustrated their counsel, that we all returned to the wall, each to his work. 16 And it was, from that day, half of my young men were doing the work, and half of them were holding both the spears, the shields, and the bows, and the body armor; and the leaders were behind all the house of Judah, 17 who were building the wall. And those carrying the burden were loading it, with one of his hands doing the work, and one holding the weapon. 18 And the builders, each had his sword girded on his hips, and they were building. And the one who blew on the ram's horn was beside me. 19 And I said to the nobles and to the officials and to the rest of the people, "The work is much and wide, and we are separated on the wall, far each from his brother. 20 In the place where you hear the sound of the ram's horn, there you shall gather to us. Our God will fight for us." 21 And we were doing the work, and half of them were holding the spears from the going up of the dawn until the coming out of the stars. 22 Also at that time I said to the people, "Let each man with his young man spend the night in the midst of Jerusalem, and they will be for us a guard by night and work by day." 23 And neither I nor my brothers nor my young men nor the men of the guard who were behind me, none of us were taking off our clothes; each had his weapon at the water.

1 And there was a great outcry of the people and their wives against their brothers the Jews. 2 And there were those who were saying, "Our sons and our daughters, we are many; and let us get grain, that we may eat and live." 3 And there were those who were saying, "Our fields and our vineyards and our houses we are pledging, and let us get grain in the famine." 4 And there were those who were saying, "We have borrowed money for the tribute of the king on our fields and our vine-

4:7 the Arabs and the Ammonites and the Ashdodites Samaria north, Ammon east, Arabs south, and Ashdod, the old Philistine city, west. Jerusalem was surrounded, and mockery turned to a plan to attack.
4:9 we prayed to our God, and we stationed a guard against them by day and night One of the best verses in the book. Prayer and a guard, not one or the other. Some think real trust needs no practical steps, and others take steps and forget to pray. Faith is not laziness.
4:10 the strength of the burden bearer has faltered In Hebrew it sounds like a sad little song the workers may have repeated. Halfway is often where people quit. The excitement of the start is gone, and the end is not in sight.
4:12 they said to us ten times Over and over. Some read it as a warning the enemy was coming from every side, others as relatives begging the workers to come home. Tiredness, threats and fearful talk among God's own people all stop God's work, and the third is often the worst.
4:13 by families with their swords, their spears and their bows He guarded the low, weak spots and put families together. A man fights harder when his wife and children are behind him.
4:14 Remember the great and awesome Lord The answer to fear. Fear grows when we look at the enemy and shrinks when we look at God (1:5). Then: fight for your families. When tired and afraid, remember who God is and who we stand for.
4:15 God had frustrated their counsel The attack depended on surprise and fell apart once known. The guards were posted, but God gets the credit. They went straight back to the wall.
4:17 with one of his hands doing the work, and one holding the weapon Half built, half stood guard (4:16). A trowel in one hand and a sword in the other has become a picture of the Christian life. We build up, and we stand guard, taking "the sword of the Spirit, which is the word of God" (Eph 6:17).
4:18 the one who blew on the ram's horn was beside me The ram's horn, the shofar, sounded alarms and called people together.
4:20 Our God will fight for us The wall was over two miles around and workers were spread thin. Wherever the horn sounded, all would run. "The LORD will fight for you" (Exod 14:14). The church is spread out too, each on our own section. We need to come running when a brother or sister is under attack.
4:22 they will be for us a guard by night and work by day No one went home at night, saving travel and guarding the city. They worked from dawn until the stars came out (4:21).
4:23 none of us were taking off our clothes "Each had his weapon at the water" is hard Hebrew, likely meaning he kept his weapon even when going for water. Nehemiah asked nothing of the people he would not do himself. That is leadership.
5:1 a great outcry of the people and their wives against their brothers the Jews Not against Sanballat, but against "their brothers." The wives joined in, so the trouble had reached the home.
5:3 let us get grain in the famine The men were on the wall and not in their fields, and a famine came on top of it. Some pledged land for food, and others borrowed to pay the king's heavy taxes (5:4).

yards. 5 And now, our flesh is like the flesh of our brothers, our sons like their sons; and look, we are bringing our sons and our daughters into bondage to be slaves, and some of our daughters have been brought into bondage, and it is not in the power of our hands; and our fields and our vineyards belong to others."

Nehemiah Rebukes the Nobles

6 And I burned with anger very much when I heard their outcry and these words. 7 And my heart took counsel within me, and I contended with the nobles and with the officials, and I said to them, "You are exacting interest, each from his brother." And I set a great assembly against them. 8 And I said to them, "We, according to what was in us, have bought back our brothers the Jews who had sold themselves to the nations; and will you also sell your brothers, and they be sold to us?" And they were silent and did not find a word. 9 And I said, "The thing which you are doing is not good. Should you not walk in the fear of our God because of the reproach of the nations, our enemies? 10 And also I, my brothers, and my young men are lending them money and grain. Let us abandon, please, this interest. 11 Return to them, please, this very day, their fields, their vineyards, their olive groves, and their houses, and the hundredth part of the money and the grain, the new wine and the fresh oil, which you are lending to them." 12 And they said, "We will return it, and from them we will not require anything; so we will do, as you are saying." And I called the priests and made them swear to do according to this word. 13 Also I shook out my bosom and said, "So may God shake out every man who does not carry out this word, from his house and from his labor; and so may he be shaken out and empty." And all the assembly said, "Amen," and they praised the LORD. And the people did according to this word.

Nehemiah's Own Example

14 Also from the day that he appointed me to be their governor in the land of Judah (Yehuda), from the twentieth year and until the thirty-second year of Artaxerxes (Artachshasta) the king, twelve years, I and my brothers did not eat the bread of the governor. 15 And the former governors who were before me laid heavy burdens on the people and took from them for bread and wine, besides approximately 1 pound (forty shekels) of silver; also their young men domineered over the people. And I did not do so because of the fear of God. 16 And also I held fast to the work of this wall, and we did not buy a field; and all my young men were gathered there for the work. 17 And the Jews and the officials, a hundred and fifty men, and those who came to us from the nations which were around us, were at my table. 18 And what was made for one day was one ox and six choice sheep, and birds were made for me; and once in ten days all kinds of wine in abundance. And with this I did not seek the bread of the governor, because the service was heavy on this people. 19 Remember for me, O my God, for good, all that I have done for this people.

5:5 our flesh is like the flesh of our brothers Our children are as precious as theirs. Under the Law an Israelite could sell himself or his children into service for debt, but only for a limited time, treated as a hired worker and freed in the seventh year or jubilee (Exod 21:2-11; Lev 25:39-43). It was very different from the race-based slavery of later history, and it was never meant to let the rich grow richer from their brothers' misery.
5:6 I burned with anger very much A right anger at injustice by God's people against God's people. Jesus was angry at hard hearts (Mark 3:5). "Be angry, and do not sin" (Eph 4:26).
5:7 my heart took counsel within me He thought it through before he spoke. Godly anger is under control. The Law forbade charging interest to a poor Israelite (Exod 22:25; Lev 25:35-37), and he brought it into the open before a great assembly.
5:8 will you also sell your brothers Nehemiah and others were buying Jews back from foreigners while the nobles sold their own people. They had no answer.
5:9 because of the reproach of the nations, our enemies The enemies were watching. How God's people treat one another is a witness to the world, good or bad (John 13:35).
5:10 let us abandon, please, this interest Nehemiah admitted he had been lending too and included himself in the call to change.
5:11 the hundredth part of the money The interest, most likely one percent a month. Give it all back "this very day." Not next month. Today.
5:13 I shook out my bosom The fold of the robe used like a pocket. As he emptied it, God would empty the house of anyone who broke the oath. "Amen" means so be it. They praised God and then did it. Real repentance is changed behavior, not just words.
5:14 I and my brothers did not eat the bread of the governor The food allowance paid through taxes, twelve years, from 445 to about 433 B.C. He had every right to it and did not take it.
5:15 I did not do so because of the fear of God Former governors took food, wine and silver, and their servants pushed people around. The fear of God is not terror but deep respect that shapes how we live, knowing we answer to Him.
5:16 we did not buy a field A governor in hard times could have bought up poor families' land cheaply. Nehemiah refused and put his own servants to work on the wall.
5:18 because the service was heavy on this people He fed 150 leaders and visitors daily at his own cost. A godly leader does not use his people. He serves them (Mark 10:42-45). Paul gave up his right to pay (1 Cor 9:12-18), and our Lord, though rich, became poor for us (2 Cor 8:9).
5:19 Remember for me, O my God, for good The first of several such short prayers (13:14, 22, 31). Not pride. He had given up his rights unpaid, and he asked God, not people, to notice, trusting that God sees what is done in secret (Matt 6:4; Heb 6:10).
6:1 I had not set up doors in the gates When the work is nearly finished, the enemy often tries hardest. Mockery and threats had failed, so now they went after the leader.

the gates— 2 that Sanballat and Geshem sent to me, saying, "Come, and let us meet together in Hakkephirim (Kefirim) in the plain of Ono." And they were planning to do evil to me. 3 And I sent messengers to them, saying, "I am doing a great work, and I am not able to come down. Why should the work cease while I let it drop and come down to you?" 4 And they sent to me according to this word four times, and I answered them according to this word. 5 And Sanballat sent his young man to me according to this word a fifth time, and an open letter was in his hand. 6 In it was written, "Among the nations it has been heard, and Geshem (Gashmu) is saying, that you and the Jews are planning to rebel; therefore you are building the wall; and you are to become their king, according to these words. 7 And also you have appointed prophets to proclaim concerning you in Jerusalem (Yerushalayim), saying, 'A king is in Judah (Yehuda)!' And now it will be heard by the king according to these words. And now come, and let us take counsel together." 8 And I sent to him, saying, "It has not happened according to these words which you are saying, for from your own heart you are inventing them." 9 For all of them were making us afraid, saying, "Their hands will drop from the work, and it will not be done." And now, strengthen my hands.

The Hired Prophet

10 And I went to the house of Shemaiah (Shemaya) the son of Delaiah (Delaya), the son of Mehetabel (Mehetav'el), and he was shut in. And he said, "Let us meet at the house of God, within the temple, and let us close the doors of the temple; for they are coming to kill you, and by night they are coming to kill you." 11 And I said, "Should a man like me flee? And who is there like me who would go into the temple and live? I will not go in." 12 And I recognized, and look, God had not sent him; for he had spoken the prophecy against me, and Tobiah and Sanballat had hired him. 13 For this reason he was hired, so that I would be afraid and act so and sin, and it would become for them a bad name, so that they might reproach me. 14 Remember, O my God, Tobiah and Sanballat according to these works of his, and also Noadiah (No'adya) the prophetess and the rest of the prophets who were making me afraid.

The Wall Finished

15 And the wall was completed on the twenty-fifth day of Elul, in fifty-two days. 16 And it was, when all our enemies heard, that all the nations which were around us were afraid, and they fell greatly in their own eyes; and they knew that this work had been done from our God. 17 Also in those days the nobles of Judah were multiplying their letters going to Tobiah, and those of Tobiah were coming to them. 18 For many in Judah were masters of an oath to him, for he was a son-in-law of Shecaniah (Shekhanya) the son of Arah (Arach); and Jehohanan (Yehochanan) his son had taken the daughter of Meshullam (Meshulam) the son of Berechiah (Berekhya). 19 Also they were speaking of his good deeds before me, and they were bringing out my words to him. Tobiah sent letters to make me afraid.

6:2 in the plain of Ono About twenty-five miles northwest, near the edge of Judah's territory and close to Samaria's. Friendly talks on neutral ground, but away from his people he could be kidnapped or killed.
6:3 I am doing a great work, and I am not able to come down He did not accuse or argue. He had something more important to do and would not let the enemy set his schedule. Four times asked, four times the same answer. Many distractions are not evil in themselves, but if they pull us off the work God gave us, the right answer may simply be: I cannot come down.
6:5 an open letter was in his hand Letters were normally rolled and sealed. An open one could be read by anyone on the way, meant to spread a rumor.
6:6 Geshem is saying A charge of rebellion, the kind that stopped the work before (Ezra 4:12-16), and blackmail to force a meeting. The source was vague, and the one named was an enemy himself. People are saying it, we are told. Which people? Usually the one telling you.
6:8 from your own heart you are inventing them He denied it flatly and named it a lie. He did not go to defend himself or panic.
6:9 And now, strengthen my hands The goal was fear, that their hands would drop. He asked God to make them strong. When falsely accused, tell the truth plainly, refuse to be pulled off course, and ask God for strength (1 Pet 3:16).
6:10 let us close the doors of the temple We are not told why Shemaiah was shut in, perhaps to make his message seem urgent. It sounded like a friend's warning.
6:11 Should a man like me flee The leader could not run and hide. And Nehemiah was not a priest. An outsider who came near was to be put to death (Num 18:7), and Uzziah was struck for entering (2 Chr 26:16-21). He would not save his life by sinning. Fear can push us to do what God forbids, even when it sounds spiritual.
6:12 God had not sent him A true word from God will never tell us to disobey God's Word. That is how we test every voice that claims to speak for Him (Deut 13:1-5; 1 John 4:1).
6:13 so that I would be afraid and act so and sin The aim was to ruin his name. The enemy's goal is often not to kill us but to get us to sin, so we lose our witness. Guard your name, not out of pride, but for the sake of God's work.
6:14 Noadiah the prophetess and the rest of the prophets Again he gave his enemies to God (4:4-5). False prophets were always a danger in Israel (Jer 23:16-17), and they still are (Matt 7:15; 2 Pet 2:1).
6:15 the wall was completed on the twenty-fifth day of Elul, in fifty-two days Elul is August to September, in 445 B.C. A wall in ruins for 140 years, rebuilt in under two months by a weak, poor people under constant threat. The next verse tells how.
6:16 they knew that this work had been done from our God The real victory was a testimony. Those who mocked the "feeble Jews" (4:2) lost their confidence and knew God had done it. When God's people do God's work God's way, the world can see God in it (Matt 5:16).
6:18 many in Judah were masters of an oath to him Bound by oath, likely business deals or alliances. Tobiah, whose name means the LORD is good, had married into a leading family, and his son married the daughter of Meshullam, a wall builder (3:4). Marriage ties with those who opposed God pulled His people into divided loyalties, the danger Ezra faced.
6:19 they were bringing out my words to him Spies and go-betweens. Later Tobiah was even given a temple room (13:4-9). Finishing a work for God does not end the battle. Keep watching, especially for compromise from inside.

Guarding the City

1 And it was, when the wall had been built and I had set up the doors, and the gatekeepers and the singers and the Levites had been appointed, 2 and I gave charge to Hanani (Chanani) my brother and Hananiah (Chananya) the commander of the citadel over Jerusalem (Yerushalayim), for he was like a man of faithfulness and feared God more than many. 3 And I said to them, "The gates of Jerusalem shall not be opened until the sun is hot; and while they are standing guard, let them shut the doors, and bolt them. And appoint guards of the inhabitants of Jerusalem, each at his guard post and each in front of his house." 4 And the city was wide on both hands and large, and the people were few in its midst, and there were no houses built.

The Record of Those Who Returned

5 And my God put it into my heart, and I gathered the nobles and the officials and the people to be enrolled by genealogy. And I found the book of the genealogy of those who came up at the first, and I found written in it: 6 These are the sons of the province who came up from the captivity of the exile, whom Nebuchadnezzar (Nevukhadnetsar) the king of Babylon (Bavel) had taken into exile, and they returned to Jerusalem and to Judah (Yehuda), each to his city, 7 who came with Zerubbabel (Zerubavel), Jeshua (Yeshua), Nehemiah (Nechemya), Azariah (Azarya), Raamiah (Ra'amya), Nahamani (Nachamani), Mordecai (Mordekhay), Bilshan, Mispereth (Misperet), Bigvai (Bigvay), Nehum (Nechum), Baanah (Ba'ana). The number of the men of the people of Israel (Yisra'el): 8 the sons of Parosh, two thousand one hundred seventy-two; 9 the sons of Shephatiah (Shefatya), three hundred seventy-two; 10 the sons of Arah (Arach), six hundred fifty-two; 11 the sons of Pahath-moab (Pachat-Mo'av), of the sons of Jeshua and Joab (Yo'av), two thousand eight hundred eighteen; 12 the sons of Elam, one thousand two hundred fifty-four; 13 the sons of Zattu (Zatu), eight hundred forty-five; 14 the sons of Zaccai (Zakay), seven hundred sixty; 15 the sons of Binnui (Binuy), six hundred forty-eight; 16 the sons of Bebai (Bevay), six hundred twenty-eight; 17 the sons of Azgad, two thousand three hundred twenty-two; 18 the sons of Adonikam (Adoniqam), six hundred sixty-seven; 19 the sons of Bigvai, two thousand sixty-seven; 20 the sons of Adin, six hundred fifty-five; 21 the sons of Ater, of Hezekiah (Chizqiya), ninety-eight; 22 the sons of Hashum (Chashum), three hundred twenty-eight; 23 the sons of Bezai (Betsay), three hundred twenty-four; 24 the sons of Hariph (Charif), one hundred twelve; 25 the sons of Gibeon (Givon), ninety-five; 26 the men of Bethlehem (Bet-Lechem) and Netophah (Netofa), one hundred eighty-eight; 27 the men of Anathoth (Anatot), one hundred twenty-eight; 28 the men of Beth-azmaveth (Bet-Azmavet), forty-two; 29 the men of Kiriath-jearim (Qiryat-Ye'arim), Chephirah (Kefira), and Beeroth (Be'erot), seven hundred forty-three; 30 the men of Ramah (Rama) and Geba (Geva), six hundred twenty-one; 31 the men of Michmash (Mikhmas), one hundred twenty-two; 32 the men of Bethel (Bet-El) and Ai (Ay), one hundred twenty-three; 33 the men of the other Nebo (Nevo), fifty-two; 34 the sons of the other Elam, one thousand two hundred fifty-four; 35 the sons of Harim (Charim), three hundred twenty; 36 the sons of Jericho (Yericho), three hundred forty-five; 37 the sons of Lod, Hadid (Chadid), and Ono, seven hundred twenty-one; 38 the sons of Senaah (Sena'a), three thousand nine hundred thirty.

7:1 the gatekeepers and the singers and the Levites had been appointed Temple gatekeepers, and even singers and Levites, seem to have helped watch a city with so few people.
7:2 he was like a man of faithfulness and feared God more than many Hanani brought the news of 1:2. Nehemiah chose leaders not for family name or skill alone, but for faithfulness and the fear of God. That is still the first thing to look for in a leader (1 Tim 3:1-7; Acts 6:3).
7:3 not be opened until the sun is hot Gates shut until well into the morning, when all were awake. Each family guarded before its own house, as they had built (3:10, 23, 28). The enemies had not gone away (6:17-19). A finished wall still had to be watched.
7:4 the people were few in its midst, and there were no houses built A city needs people, not just stones. Chapter 11 solves this.
7:5 my God put it into my heart God guides through ordinary thoughts and plans as well as miracles (2:12). A genealogy is a family record. Nehemiah needed to know the true families before moving people into the city, and he found the list of the first return in 538 B.C., the record of Ezra 2.
7:7 who came with Zerubbabel, Jeshua Twelve names here, eleven in Ezra 2:2, with Nahamani added. Many think they stood for the twelve tribes. This Nehemiah and Mordecai lived a hundred years earlier.
7:8 the sons of Parosh Families (7:8-25) and towns (7:26-38), the towns of Judah and Benjamin. Some numbers differ from Ezra 2: Arah has 775 there and 652 here (7:10), Senaah 3,630 and 3,930 (7:38). Numbers were easy to miscopy, and one list may come from signing up in Babylon and the other from arrival. Scripture is honest enough to give both records side by side.

Priests, Levites and Temple Servants

39 The priests: the sons of Jedaiah (Yedaya), of the house of Jeshua, nine hundred seventy-three; 40 the sons of Immer (Imer), one thousand fifty-two; 41 the sons of Pashhur (Pashchur), one thousand two hundred forty-seven; 42 the sons of Harim, one thousand seventeen. 43 The Levites: the sons of Jeshua, of Kadmiel (Qadmi'el), of the sons of Hodevah (Hodeva), seventy-four. 44 The singers: the sons of Asaph (Asaf), one hundred forty-eight. 45 The gatekeepers: the sons of Shallum (Shalum), the sons of Ater, the sons of Talmon, the sons of Akkub (Aquv), the sons of Hatita (Chatita), the sons of Shobai (Shovay), one hundred thirty-eight. 46 The temple servants: the sons of Ziha (Tsicha), the sons of Hasupha (Chasufa), the sons of Tabbaoth (Tabaot), 47 the sons of Keros (Qeros), the sons of Sia (Si'a), the sons of Padon, 48 the sons of Lebanah (Levana), the sons of Hagabah (Chagava), the sons of Shalmai (Shalmay), 49 the sons of Hanan (Chanan), the sons of Giddel (Gidel), the sons of Gahar (Gachar), 50 the sons of Reaiah (Re'aya), the sons of Rezin (Retsin), the sons of Nekoda (Neqoda), 51 the sons of Gazzam (Gazam), the sons of Uzza (Uza), the sons of Paseah (Paseach), 52 the sons of Besai (Besay), the sons of Meunim, the sons of Nephishesim (Nefishesim), 53 the sons of Bakbuk (Baqbuq), the sons of Hakupha (Chaqufa), the sons of Harhur (Charchur), 54 the sons of Bazlith (Batslit), the sons of Mehida (Mechida), the sons of Harsha (Charsha), 55 the sons of Barkos (Barqos), the sons of Sisera (Sisra), the sons of Temah (Tamach), 56 the sons of Neziah (Netsiach), the sons of Hatipha (Chatifa). 57 The sons of the servants of Solomon (Shelomo): the sons of Sotai (Sotay), the sons of Sophereth (Soferet), the sons of Perida, 58 the sons of Jaala (Ya'ala), the sons of Darkon (Darqon), the sons of Giddel, 59 the sons of Shephatiah, the sons of Hattil (Chatil), the sons of Pochereth-hazzebaim (Pokheret-Hatsvayim), the sons of Amon. 60 All the temple servants and the sons of the servants of Solomon were three hundred ninety-two. 61 And these are those who came up from Tel-melah (Tel-Melach), Tel-harsha (Tel-Charsha), Cherub (Keruv), Addon (Adon), and Immer, and they were not able to declare the house of their fathers and their seed, whether they were from Israel: 62 the sons of Delaiah (Delaya), the sons of Tobiah (Toviya), the sons of Nekoda, six hundred forty-two. 63 And from the priests: the sons of Habaiah (Chovaya), the sons of Hakkoz (Haqots), the sons of Barzillai (Barzilay), who had taken a wife from the daughters of Barzillai the Gileadite and was called by their name. 64 These sought their record among those enrolled by genealogy, and it was not found, and they were defiled and removed from the priesthood. 65 And the governor said to them that they should not eat from the most holy things until the priest stood up for Urim and Thummim.

The Whole Assembly and Their Gifts

66 All the assembly together was forty-two thousand three hundred sixty, 67 besides their male servants and their female servants; these were seven thousand three hundred thirty-seven. And to them belonged two hundred forty-five male singers and female singers. 68 Their horses were seven hundred thirty-six; their mules, two hundred forty-five; 69 camels, four hundred thirty-five; donkeys, six thousand seven hundred twenty. 70 And some of the heads of the fathers gave for the work. The governor gave to the treasury: gold, one thousand drachmas; fifty bowls; five hundred thirty tunics of priests. 71 And some of the heads of the fathers gave to the treasury of the work: gold, twenty thousand drachmas, and silver, approximately 2,750 pounds (two thousand two hundred minas). 72 And what the rest of the people gave was gold, twenty thousand drachmas, and silver, approximately 2,500 pounds (two thousand minas), and sixty-seven tunics of priests. 73 And the priests and the Levites and the gatekeepers and the singers and some of the people and the temple servants and all Israel dwelt in their cities. And the seventh month arrived, and the sons of Israel were in their cities.

7:39 the priests Over four thousand, while the Levites were again only seventy-four (7:43). The people living in Judah were these families' descendants, and the list was their family tree. God's work passes from one generation to the next. Zerubbabel built the temple, Ezra taught the Law, Nehemiah built the wall. One plants, another waters, but God gives the growth (1 Cor 3:6).
7:61 they were not able to declare the house of their fathers As in Ezra 2:59-63, some priests were kept from serving until God's will was learned by Urim and Thummim (7:65; Exod 28:30). Knowing who belonged and could serve mattered for the covenant (ch 10) and the cleansing of the priesthood (ch 13).
7:66 forty-two thousand three hundred sixty The same total as Ezra 2:64, with 245 singers here and 200 in Ezra 2:65. The family numbers add to less than the total, most likely because it included people not listed by family.
7:70 some of the heads of the fathers gave for the work More detail than Ezra 2:68-69. The governor, the leaders and the ordinary people all gave. A drachma was a Persian gold coin, the daric, about a quarter ounce. A mina was about a pound and a quarter of silver.
7:73 the seventh month arrived, and the sons of Israel were in their cities The words that open Ezra 3:1. Almost a hundred years later another seventh month came, and God's people gathered again, this time to hear His Word.

Ezra Reads the Law

1 And all the people gathered as one man to the open square which was before the Water Gate. And they said to Ezra the scribe to bring the book of the law of Moses (Moshe), which the LORD had commanded Israel (Yisra'el). 2 And Ezra the priest brought the law before the assembly, from man to woman, and everyone who understood to hear, on the first day of the seventh month. 3 And he read in it before the open square which was before the Water Gate, from the light until the middle of the day, in front of the men and the women and those who understood; and the ears of all the people were to the book of the law. 4 And Ezra the scribe stood on a tower of wood which they had made for the purpose. And beside him stood Mattithiah (Matitya) and Shema and Anaiah (Anaya) and Uriah (Uriya) and Hilkiah (Chilqiya) and Maaseiah (Ma'aseya), on his right; and on his left, Pedaiah (Pedaya) and Mishael and Malchijah (Malkiya) and Hashum (Chashum) and Hashbaddanah (Chashbadana), Zechariah (Zekharya), Meshullam (Meshulam). 5 And Ezra opened the book before the eyes of all the people, for he was above all the people; and when he opened it, all the people stood up. 6 And Ezra blessed the LORD, the great God. And all the people answered, "Amen, Amen," with the lifting up of their hands; and they bowed low and bowed down to the LORD with their faces to the ground. 7 And Jeshua (Yeshua) and Bani and Sherebiah (Sherevya), Jamin (Yamin), Akkub (Aquv), Shabbethai (Shabtay), Hodiah (Hodiya), Maaseiah, Kelita (Qelita), Azariah (Azarya), Jozabad (Yozavad), Hanan (Chanan), Pelaiah (Pelaya), and the Levites were causing the people to understand the law, and the people were in their place. 8 And they read in the book, in the law of God, making it clear and giving the sense, and they understood the reading.

The Joy of the LORD

9 And Nehemiah (Nechemya)—he was the governor—and Ezra the priest, the scribe, and the Levites who were causing the people to understand, said to all the people, "This day is holy to the LORD your God; do not mourn and do not weep." For all the people were weeping when they heard the words of the law. 10 And he said to them, "Go, eat fat things and drink sweet things, and send portions to him for whom nothing is prepared, for this day is holy to our Lord. And do not be grieved, for the joy of the LORD is your stronghold." 11 And the Levites were quieting all the people, saying, "Hush, for this day is holy, and do not be grieved." 12 And all the people went to eat and to drink and to send portions and to make great joy, for they had understood the words which they had made known to them.

8:1 all the people gathered as one man Not a meeting Nehemiah called. The wall was done, and they wanted God's Word. The Water Gate's open square was a place where men, women and children could all come, not the temple courts.
8:1 they said to Ezra the scribe to bring the book of the law of Moses Ezra's first appearance in Nehemiah, about thirteen years after he came (Ezra 7:10). The people asked him to teach. The book was the five books of Moses, or at least the Law in them, carrying God's own authority.
8:2 from man to woman, and everyone who understood to hear God's Word is for every man, woman and child who can take it in, as Moses commanded (Deut 31:10-13). The first day of the seventh month was the Feast of Trumpets (Lev 23:23-25). Tishri, September to October, held Trumpets, the Day of Atonement and the Feast of Booths.
8:3 from the light until the middle of the day About six hours, and "the ears of all the people were to the book." Not just present, listening. How long can we listen before our minds wander?
8:4 on a tower of wood which they had made for the purpose A raised wooden platform, the first pulpit we read of in the Bible. The men beside him, most likely leaders or priests, showed the whole leadership stood behind the reading.
8:5 when he opened it, all the people stood up The book was a scroll. They stood out of respect, as many churches still stand for the reading of Scripture.
8:6 Amen, Amen, with the lifting up of their hands Ezra praised God before reading. The Word is God speaking, and the right response is worship. Amen means it is true, so be it, and twice means with the whole heart. Lifted hands were a sign of prayer and praise (Ps 134:2; 1 Tim 2:8). They stood, lifted hands, and fell on their faces.
8:7 causing the people to understand the law The Levites were set apart to serve and teach (Deut 33:10; 2 Chr 17:7-9). They likely moved among the crowd in smaller groups. The people stayed in their place, waiting to be taught.
8:8 making it clear and giving the sense, and they understood the reading One of the clearest pictures of good Bible teaching. First the text itself, read aloud. Then made clear, which many think included putting the Hebrew into Aramaic for people raised in Babylon (13:24). Then giving the sense, explaining what it meant and why it mattered. That is exegesis, drawing out what the text says, not reading ideas into it. Every pastor, teacher and parent has this job, and every listener too (Mark 4:9).
8:9 all the people were weeping when they heard the words of the law The Law showed them their sin and the curses that had fallen in exile (Rom 3:20; 7:7). The governor and the priest stood side by side, one building the wall and one building God's Word into hearts.
8:9 This day is holy to the LORD your God; do not mourn and do not weep Their tears were not wrong. But the Feast of Trumpets was a day set aside for joy (Num 29:1). There is a time to weep over sin, and it comes later this month (9:1-3).
8:10 send portions to him for whom nothing is prepared Fat things are rich food, and sweet things sweet drinks. Joy in God always turns outward. No one, not even the poor of chapter 5, was left out (Deut 16:11, 14).
8:10 the joy of the LORD is your stronghold The key verse of the book. It can mean the joy the LORD gives, or our joy in Him. Either way it is rooted in God, not circumstances. They had just built a wall for safety, but their real fortress was joy in the God who forgives and restores. Sorrow over sin leads to repentance (2 Cor 7:10), but we are not meant to stay there (John 15:11; Phil 4:4). Circumstances change. He does not.
8:11 Hush, for this day is holy Good teaching shows people their sin and then points them to God's grace.
8:12 for they had understood the words which they had made known to them Their joy came from understanding, not from feeling good. True joy grows out of truth.
8:13 to gain insight into the words of the law On the second day the heads of families came back to learn so they could teach their households. That is how God's Word spreads (Deut 6:6-7).

people, the priests and the Levites, were gathered to Ezra the scribe, and to gain insight into the words of the law. 14 And they found written in the law which the LORD had commanded by the hand of Moses that the sons of Israel should dwell in booths at the festival in the seventh month, 15 and that they should proclaim and cause a proclamation to pass through all their cities and in Jerusalem (Yerushalayim), saying, "Go out to the hill country, and bring leaves of olive and leaves of oil tree and leaves of myrtle and leaves of palm trees and leaves of leafy trees, to make booths, as it is written." 16 And the people went out and brought them, and they made booths for themselves, each on his roof, and in their courtyards, and in the courtyards of the house of God, and in the open square of the Water Gate, and in the open square of the Gate of Ephraim (Efrayim). 17 And all the assembly who had returned from the captivity made booths and dwelt in the booths, for the sons of Israel had not done so from the days of Joshua (Yeshua) the son of Nun until that day. And there was very great joy. 18 And he read in the book of the law of God day by day, from the first day until the last day. And they kept the festival seven days, and on the eighth day there was a solemn assembly, according to the ordinance.

The People Confess Their Sins

1 And on the twenty-fourth day of this month the sons of Israel (Yisra'el) were gathered with fasting and in sackcloth, and earth was on them. 2 And the seed of Israel separated themselves from all foreigners, and they stood and confessed their sins and the iniquities of their fathers. 3 And they stood up in their place and read in the book of the law of the LORD their God a fourth of the day, and for a fourth they were confessing and bowing down to the LORD their God. 4 And on the ascent of the Levites stood Jeshua (Yeshua) and Bani, Kadmiel (Qadmi'el), Shebaniah (Shevanya), Bunni (Buni), Sherebiah (Sherevya), Bani, Chenani (Kenani); and they cried out with a loud voice to the LORD their God. 5 And the Levites, Jeshua and Kadmiel, Bani, Hashabneiah (Chashavneya), Sherebiah, Hodiah (Hodiya), Shebaniah, Pethahiah (Petachya), said, "Arise, bless the LORD your God from everlasting to everlasting. And let them bless the name of Your glory, and exalted above all blessing and praise.

The Great Prayer: God's Faithfulness

6 You are the LORD, You alone. You made the heavens, the heavens of the heavens, and all their host, the earth and all that is on it, the seas and all that is in them; and You are keeping all of them alive, and the host of the heavens are bowing down to You. 7 You are the LORD God, who chose Abram (Avram) and brought him out from Ur of the Chaldeans (Kasdim), and made his name Abraham (Avraham). 8 And You found his heart faithful before You, and made the covenant with him to give the land of the Canaanite, the Hittite, the Amorite, and the Perizzite, and the Jebusite, and the Girgashite, to give it to his seed. And You have fulfilled Your words, for You are righteous. 9 And You saw the affliction of our fathers in Egypt (Mitsrayim), and You heard their outcry at the Red Sea. 10 And You gave signs and wonders against Pharaoh and against all his servants and against all the people of his land, for You knew that they had acted presumptuously against them. And You

8:14 the sons of Israel should dwell in booths at the festival in the seventh month The Feast of Booths, or Tabernacles, seven days in branch shelters to remember God's care in the wilderness and give thanks for harvest (Lev 23:33-43; Deut 16:13-15).
8:15 to make booths, as it is written They read it, and then they did it (James 1:22).
8:16 each on his roof, and in their courtyards Flat roofs, courtyards, temple courts and open squares filled with shelters. The whole city became a camp.
8:17 from the days of Joshua the son of Nun until that day The feast had been kept before (1 Kgs 8:2, 65; Ezra 3:4). The point seems to be it had never been kept like this, by the whole people with such joy and careful obedience. Those who wept at the Law now rejoiced in obeying it. Obedience is the road to joy.
8:18 he read in the book of the law of God day by day As Moses commanded for the Feast of Booths (Deut 31:10-11). The eighth day was a solemn assembly of rest (Lev 23:36). On "the last day, the great day of the feast" (John 7:37) Jesus called the thirsty to come to Him, and the nations will keep this feast before the King (Zech 14:16). I believe that points to Christ's thousand-year reign, when its joy will be full.
9:1 with fasting and in sackcloth, and earth was on them Two days after the feast (8:18) the mood changed. Sackcloth was rough goat-hair cloth worn in grief, and earth on the head a sign of mourning (Josh 7:6; Job 2:12). In chapter 8, joy. In chapter 9, confession. Both are right responses to the Word, each in its time.
9:2 the seed of Israel separated themselves from all foreigners Israel gathered to confess Israel's history. Foreigners who turned to the LORD were welcome among God's people (Ezra 6:21). This was about who would stand that day to confess the nation's sin and sign its covenant. They owned their own sins and their fathers', without blaming them.
9:3 a fourth of the day About three hours of reading, then three of confession and worship. They read first, and God's Word showed them what to confess.
9:5 from everlasting to everlasting God always was and always will be, and He is "exalted above all blessing and praise." We can never praise Him too much. The prayer begins with praise, which keeps confession from turning into despair.
9:6 You are the LORD, You alone The heart of Israel's faith (Deut 6:4). The heavens of the heavens are the highest heavens, and their host the stars and angels. God keeps everything alive every moment, as Christ upholds all things (Col 1:17; Heb 1:3). If the angels bow, how much more should we?
9:7 who chose Abram and brought him out from Ur of the Chaldeans God chose Abram in a city of idols (Josh 24:2) and renamed him father of a multitude (Gen 17:5).
9:8 You have fulfilled Your words, for You are righteous Abraham believed and it was counted to him as righteousness (Gen 15:6), and God swore the land (Gen 15:18-21). The theme of the whole prayer: God keeps His promises, and those praying stood in that land as proof.
9:10 for You knew that they had acted presumptuously against them To act presumptuously is to act with pride as if no one can hold you to account. Pharaoh thought he was a god. The plagues showed him otherwise (Exod 7-12).

made for Yourself a name, as it is this day. 11 And the sea
You split before them, and they passed through the midst of the sea on the dry ground; and their pursuers You threw into the depths, like a stone into mighty waters. 12 And with a pillar of cloud You led them by day, and with a pillar of fire by night, to light up for them the way in which they should walk. 13 And on Mount Sinai (Sinay) You came down, and spoke with them from heaven, and gave them upright judgments and laws of truth, good statutes and commandments.
14 And the Sabbath of Your holiness You made known to them, and commandments and statutes and a law You commanded them by the hand of Moses (Moshe) Your servant.
15 And bread from heaven You gave them for their hunger, and water from a rock You brought forth for them for their thirst. And You said to them to go in to possess the land which You had raised Your hand to give them.

Israel's Rebellion and God's Mercy

16 And they and our fathers acted presumptuously and stiffened their neck and did not listen to Your commandments.
17 And they refused to listen, and they did not remember Your wonders which You had done with them; and they stiffened their neck and appointed a head to return to their slavery in their rebellion. And You are a God of forgiveness, gracious and compassionate, slow to anger and great in steadfast love, and You did not abandon them. 18 Even when they had made for themselves a calf of molten metal and had said, 'This is your god who brought you up from Egypt,' and had done great blasphemies, 19 and You in Your great compassion did not abandon them in the wilderness. The pillar of the cloud did not depart from over them by day, to lead them in the way, and the pillar of the fire by night, to light up for them, even the way in which they should walk. 20 And Your good Spirit You gave to instruct them, and Your manna You did not withhold from their mouth, and water You gave them for their thirst. 21 And forty years You sustained them in the wilderness; they did not lack; their clothes did not wear out, and their feet did not swell. 22 And You gave them kingdoms and peoples, and You apportioned them to a corner. And they possessed the land of Sihon (Sichon), and the land of the king of Heshbon (Cheshbon), and the land of Og the king of Bashan. 23 And their sons You multiplied like the stars of the heavens, and You brought them into the land which You had said to their fathers to go in to possess.
24 And the sons went in and possessed the land, and You subdued before them the inhabitants of the land, the Canaanites, and gave them into their hand, and their kings and the peoples of the land, to do with them according to their will. 25 And they captured fortified cities and fat ground, and they possessed houses full of every good thing, hewn cisterns, vineyards and olive trees and trees for food in abundance. And they ate and were satisfied and grew fat and luxuriated in Your great goodness. 26 And they were disobedient and rebelled against You and threw Your law behind their back, and they killed Your prophets, who had warned them to bring them back to You; and they did great blas-phemies. 27 And You gave them into the hand of their adversaries, and they distressed them. And in the time of their distress they cried out to You, and You heard from heaven; and according to Your great compassion You gave them saviors, and they saved them from the hand of their adversaries.
28 And when they had rest, they returned to do evil before
You; and You abandoned them into the hand of their enemies, and they had dominion over them. And they returned and cried out to You, and You heard from heaven, and You rescued them according to Your compassion many times.

9:11 like a stone into mighty waters Echoing the Song of Moses (Exod 15:5, 10). The exodus is the Old Testament's great picture of salvation (1 Cor 5:7).
9:12 with a pillar of cloud You led them by day God did not save His people and leave them to find their own way (Exod 13:21-22).
9:13 upright judgments and laws of truth, good statutes and commandments The Law was a gift, not a burden to crush them. It is "holy and righteous and good" (Rom 7:12). The trouble was never with the Law but with those who did not keep it.
9:14 the Sabbath of Your holiness You made known to them Given at Sinai as a sign of the covenant with Israel (Exod 20:8-11; 31:13-17), named here because they were about to promise to keep it (10:31).
9:15 bread from heaven You gave them for their hunger Jesus is the true bread from heaven (John 6:32-35), and the rock was Christ (1 Cor 10:4). Raising the hand was the sign of an oath. In verses 6-15 every verb belongs to God: made, chose, saw, heard, split, led, spoke, gave. That is grace.
9:16 they and our fathers acted presumptuously The word used of Pharaoh (9:10) is now used of Israel. A stiff neck is an ox that will not turn.
9:17 appointed a head to return to their slavery From Numbers 14:4. They forgot God's wonders in weeks and would rather be slaves than trust Him.
9:17 a God of forgiveness, gracious and compassionate, slow to anger and great in steadfast love God's own words to Moses (Exod 34:6-7), repeated through the Old Testament (Ps 103:8; Joel 2:13; Jonah 4:2). Gracious gives what we do not deserve, compassionate feels for those who suffer, slow to anger is patient, and hesed never quits.
9:18 a calf of molten metal The worst sin of the wilderness, at the foot of the mountain of the Law (Exod 32). They credited their salvation to an idol they made.
9:20 Your good Spirit You gave to instruct them God's Spirit was at work even then (Num 11:17, 25).
9:21 their clothes did not wear out, and their feet did not swell For forty years God cared for a rebellious people down to their clothes and feet (Deut 8:4). That is how far His patience goes.
9:22 the land of Sihon Sihon and Og were the first kings defeated, east of the Jordan (Num 21:21-35).
9:24 You subdued before them the inhabitants of the land Israel fought, but God gave the victory.
9:25 luxuriated in Your great goodness Houses they did not build and wells they did not dig (Deut 6:10-11). Moses warned not to forget the LORD when full (Deut 8:10-14). Plenty is often more dangerous to faith than hardship.
9:26 threw Your law behind their back To treat it as worthless and refuse to look at it. They killed the prophets, as Jesus said of Jerusalem (Matt 23:37).
9:27 You gave them saviors The judges, like Gideon and Barak. Verses 27-28 trace the cycle of Judges: sin, judgment, crying out, rescue, rest, and sin again. But God's mercy outlasted their rebellion "many times."

29 And You warned them, to bring them back to Your law; and they acted presumptuously and did not listen to Your commandments, and they sinned against Your judgments, which a man shall do, and he shall live by them; and they gave a stubborn shoulder, and stiffened their neck, and did not listen. 30 And You extended Your patience toward them many years, and warned them by Your Spirit by the hand of Your prophets, and they did not give ear. And You gave them into the hand of the peoples of the lands. 31 And in Your great compassion You did not make a complete end of them and did not abandon them, for You are a gracious and compassionate God.

Now, Our God

32 And now, our God, the great, the mighty, and the awesome God, who keeps the covenant and the steadfast love, let not all the hardship which has found us be little before You, that is, to our kings, to our leaders, and to our priests, and to our prophets, and to our fathers, and to all Your people, from the days of the kings of Assyria (Ashur) until this day. 33 And You are righteous concerning all that has come upon us, for You have done faithfulness, and we have acted wickedly. 34 And our kings, our leaders, our priests, and our fathers did not do Your law, and did not pay attention to Your commandments and to Your testimonies with which You warned them. 35 And they, in their kingdom and in Your great goodness which You had given them, and in the broad and fat land which You had set before them, did not serve You and did not turn back from their evil deeds. 36 Look, we are slaves this day; and the land which You gave to our fathers to eat its fruit and its good things, look, we are slaves on it. 37 And its produce is increasing for the kings whom You have set over us in our sins; and they are ruling over our bodies and over our livestock according to their will, and we are in great distress." 38 And in all this we are making a firm agreement and writing it; and on the sealed document are our leaders, our Levites, and our priests.

9:29 which a man shall do, and he shall live by them From Leviticus 18:5. Paul quotes it to show the Law by itself demands perfect doing, which no one can give, so righteousness must come by faith (Gal 3:11-12; Rom 10:5). A stubborn shoulder pulls from the yoke.
9:30 You extended Your patience toward them many years From about 930 B.C. to the falls of Samaria in 722 and Jerusalem in 586 B.C. The prophets spoke by God's Spirit (2 Pet 1:21).
9:31 You did not make a complete end of them Even the exile was not the end. Those praying were the remnant God kept.
9:32 let not all the hardship which has found us be little before You Almost Nehemiah's words in 1:5 (Deut 10:17). About three hundred years of trouble since Assyria. God is never bored by our troubles.
9:33 You are righteous concerning all that has come upon us The turning point of true confession: God was right in everything and we were wrong, as Ezra and Daniel prayed (Ezra 9:15; Dan 9:7, 14). Have you blamed God for hard times that came from your own choices? Honest confession leaves God's goodness standing.
9:36 we are slaves this day Home in the Promised Land but not owning it, with the harvest going to Persia in taxes (5:4). They saw even the kings as part of God's judgment and were not bitter.
9:37 we are in great distress The prayer ends with an honest statement, not a demand for freedom. Home, but not yet free. The prophets speak of a day when the Son of David reigns and Israel is no longer under foreign rule (Jer 23:5-6; Ezek 37:24-25). I believe that will come when Jesus returns and sets up His kingdom on the earth.
9:38 we are making a firm agreement and writing it In the Hebrew Bible this is 10:1. Confession led to written commitment. The prayer shows God's faithfulness through all history and people turning away again and again, and it leaves us waiting for the new covenant with God's Law on the heart (Jer 31:31-34), which came through Jesus' blood (Luke 22:20; Heb 8:6-13). God will keep it fully with Israel as a nation (Rom 11:26-27), and every believer shares in it through faith in Christ.
10:1 Nehemiah the governor, the son of Hacaliah A leader who asks others to commit must be the first to commit himself.
10:2 Seraiah, Azariah, Jeremiah Many of the priests' names are family houses going back to the first return (12:1-7). This Jeremiah, Daniel (10:6) and Baruch are not the famous men.
10:9 the Levites Several had helped explain the Law and lead the prayer (8:7; 9:4-5). The heads of the people (10:14-27) include families of the first return and the wall builders.
10:14 the heads of the people A covenant with God is personal. Each man put his own name to it. Faith is never just a crowd going along. This renewed the covenant God already made at Sinai.

The Promises of the Covenant

28 And the rest of the people, the priests, the Levites, the gatekeepers, the singers, the temple servants, and everyone who has separated himself from the peoples of the lands to the law of God, their wives, their sons, and their daughters, everyone who knows and understands, 29 are holding fast to their brothers, their nobles, and are entering into a curse and into an oath to walk in the law of God, which was given by the hand of Moses (Moshe) the servant of God, and to keep and to do all the commandments of the LORD our Lord, and His judgments and His statutes; 30 and that we will not give our daughters to the peoples of the land, and their daughters we will not take for our sons; 31 and the peoples of the land who bring the wares and any grain on the Sabbath day to sell, we will not take from them on the Sabbath and on a holy day; and we will leave the seventh year and the debt of every hand.

Not Neglecting the House of God

32 And we lay commandments on ourselves, to put on ourselves approximately 1/8 ounce (a third of the shekel) in the year for the service of the house of our God: 33 for the bread of the arrangement, and the continual grain offering, and for the continual burnt offering, of the Sabbaths, of the new moons, for the appointed feasts, and for the holy things, and for the sin offerings to make atonement for Israel (Yisra'el), and for all the work of the house of our God. 34 And we cast the lots concerning the offering of the wood, the priests, the Levites, and the people, to bring it to the house of our God, by the house of our fathers, at appointed times year by year, to burn it on the altar of the LORD our God, as it is written in the law; 35 and to bring the firstfruits of our ground and the firstfruits of all the fruit of every tree year by year to the house of the LORD; 36 and the firstborn of our sons and of our livestock, as it is written in the law, and the firstborn of our herds and of our flocks, to bring to the house of our God, to the priests who minister in the house of our God; 37 and the first of our dough, and our contributions, and the fruit of every tree, new wine and fresh oil, we will bring to the priests, to the storerooms of the house of our God, and the tithe of our ground to the Levites; and they, the Levites, are those who collect the tithes in all the cities of our labor. 38 And the priest, the son of Aaron (Aharon), shall be with the Levites when the Levites collect tithes; and the Levites shall bring up the tenth of the tithe to the house of our God, to the storerooms of the house of the treasury. 39 For to the storerooms the sons of Israel and the sons of Levi shall bring the contribution of the grain, the new wine, and the fresh oil; and there are the utensils of the sanctuary, and the priests who minister, and the gatekeepers, and the singers. And we will not neglect the house of our God.

10:39 2 Chr 31:12; Deut 12:6-11,17; Deut 14:23-27

10:28 everyone who has separated himself from the peoples of the lands to the law of God Not about race, but people who left the ways of the nations for God's Law, some perhaps born outside Israel (Ezra 6:21). Women and children old enough to understand were part of the covenant.
10:29 are entering into a curse and into an oath May God punish me if I break this. They promised all the commandments, then named where they had failed.
10:30 we will not give our daughters to the peoples of the land The sin Ezra faced about fourteen years before. The issue was faith, not race (Deut 7:3-4). By chapter 13 it was broken again (13:23-27). It is easy to sign a promise and harder to keep it. A Christian should marry only another believer (1 Cor 7:39; 2 Cor 6:14).
10:31 we will leave the seventh year and the debt of every hand Buying on the Sabbath was work (Exod 20:8-11), and this too was broken (13:15-22). The seventh year let the land rest and canceled debts (Exod 23:10-11; Deut 15:1-2), which meant trusting God for a year without a crop and protected the poor of chapter 5. These were Israel's laws under Moses. Believers differ on how the Sabbath applies now (Col 2:16-17), but the heart still speaks: trust God enough to rest, and show mercy to those in debt.
10:32 approximately 1/8 ounce (a third of the shekel) Half a shekel at the census (Exod 30:13), a third here, perhaps because they were poor. By Jesus' day it was half again (Matt 17:24).
10:33 the sin offerings to make atonement for Israel The bread of the arrangement was the twelve loaves set out each Sabbath (Lev 24:5-9), and the continual offerings came morning and evening (Num 28:3-8). Atonement covers sin so the guilty can be made right with God. Those sacrifices had to be made again and again. Jesus offered Himself once for all (Heb 10:4, 10-12).
10:34 we cast the lots concerning the offering of the wood The altar fire burned continually (Lev 6:12-13), and someone had to haul wood. Worship needs practical work. Setting up chairs, cleaning the building and fixing the roof are service to God as much as preaching.
10:35 the firstfruits of our ground The first and best of the harvest (Exod 23:19; Deut 26:1-11), given before anything else as trust that God would provide the rest.
10:36 the firstborn of our sons and of our livestock Every firstborn belonged to God since He spared Israel's firstborn in Egypt (Exod 13:2, 11-15), and firstborn sons were bought back (Num 18:15-16).
10:37 the tithe of our ground to the Levites A tithe is a tenth, for the landless Levites (Num 18:21-24). First fruits, firstborn, first dough. God asked to be first, not given leftovers.
10:38 the Levites shall bring up the tenth of the tithe A priest went along to keep it honest, and the Levites tithed too (Num 18:26-28). No one was above giving. Remember the storerooms. In chapter 13 one is emptied and given to Tobiah.
10:39 we will not neglect the house of our God The heart of the covenant. In Haggai's day they built fine houses and left God's house in ruins (Hag 1:4-9). Today God's house is His people, His temple by the Spirit (1 Cor 3:16; Eph 2:21-22). We are still called to give, serve, support those who teach (Gal 6:6) and not neglect meeting together (Heb 10:25). Do you give God the first, or the leftovers, of your money, time and strength?

Filling Jerusalem

1 And the leaders of the people dwelt in Jerusalem (Yerushalayim); and the rest of the people cast lots to bring one from the ten to dwell in Jerusalem, the holy city, and nine parts in the cities. 2 And the people blessed all the men who volunteered to dwell in Jerusalem. 3 And these are the heads of the province who dwelt in Jerusalem; and in the cities of Judah (Yehuda) they dwelt, each on his property in their cities: Israel (Yisra'el), the priests and the Levites and the temple servants and the sons of the servants of Solomon (Shelomo). 4 And in Jerusalem dwelt some of the sons of Judah and some of the sons of Benjamin (Binyamin). Of the sons of Judah: Athaiah (Ataya) the son of Uzziah (Uziya), the son of Zechariah (Zekharya), the son of Amariah (Amarya), the son of Shephatiah (Shefatya), the son of Mahalalel, of the sons of Perez (Perets); 5 and Maaseiah (Ma'aseya) the son of Baruch (Barukh), the son of Col-hozeh (Kol-Choze), the son of Hazaiah (Chazaya), the son of Adaiah (Adaya), the son of Joiarib (Yoyariv), the son of Zechariah, the son of the Shilonite. 6 All the sons of Perez who dwelt in Jerusalem were four hundred sixty-eight men of valor. 7 And these are the sons of Benjamin: Sallu (Salu) the son of Meshullam (Meshulam), the son of Joed (Yo'ed), the son of Pedaiah (Pedaya), the son of Kolaiah (Qolaya), the son of Maaseiah, the son of Ithiel (Iti'el), the son of Jeshaiah (Yeshaya); 8 and after him Gabbai (Gabay), Sallai (Salay), nine hundred twenty-eight. 9 And Joel (Yo'el) the son of Zichri (Zikhri) was overseer over them, and Judah the son of Hassenuah (Hasenu'a) was second over the city.

Priests and Levites in the City

10 Of the priests: Jedaiah (Yedaya) the son of Joiarib, Jachin (Yakhin), 11 Seraiah (Seraya) the son of Hilkiah (Chilqiya), the son of Meshullam, the son of Zadok (Tsadoq), the son of Meraioth (Merayot), the son of Ahitub (Achituv), the leader of the house of God, 12 and their brothers who did the work of the house, eight hundred twenty-two; and Adaiah the son of Jeroham (Yerocham), the son of Pelaliah (Pelalya), the son of Amzi (Amtsi), the son of Zechariah, the son of Pashhur (Pashchur), the son of Malchijah (Malkiya), 13 and his brothers, heads of fathers, two hundred forty-two; and Amashsai (Amashsay) the son of Azarel, the son of Ahzai (Achzay), the son of Meshillemoth (Meshilemot), the son of Immer (Imer), 14 and their brothers, mighty men of valor, one hundred twenty-eight; and the overseer over them was Zabdiel (Zavdi'el) the son of Haggedolim. 15 And of the Levites: Shemaiah (Shemaya) the son of Hasshub (Chashuv), the son of Azrikam (Azriqam), the son of Hashabiah (Chashavya), the son of Bunni (Buni); 16 and Shabbethai (Shabtay) and Jozabad (Yozavad), of the heads of the Levites, were over the outside work of the house of God; 17 and Mattaniah (Matanya) the son of Mica (Mikha), the son of Zabdi (Zavdi), the son of Asaph (Asaf), the leader of the beginning, would give thanks in prayer; and Bakbukiah (Baqbuqya), the second among his brothers; and Abda (Avda) the son of Shammua (Shamua), the son of Galal, the son of Jeduthun (Yedutun).
18 All the Levites in the holy city were two hundred eighty-four. 19 And the gatekeepers, Akkub (Aquv), Talmon, and their brothers, who kept watch at the gates, were one hundred seventy-two. 20 And the rest of Israel, the priests, the Levites, were in all the cities of Judah, each on his inheritance. 21 And the temple servants were dwelling on the Ophel (Ofel); and Ziha (Tsicha) and Gishpa were over the temple servants. 22 And the overseer of the Levites in Jerusalem was Uzzi (Uzi) the son of Bani, the son of Hashabiah, the son of Mattaniah, the son of Mica, of the sons of Asaph, the singers, before the work of the house of God.

11:21 Neh 3:26,31; 2 Chr 27:3
11:22 Neh 12:42; Neh 11:9,14; Acts 20:28

11:1 cast lots to bring one from the ten to dwell in Jerusalem, the holy city The walls were up, but a city needs people, and Jerusalem was mostly empty (7:4). So the leaders moved in and lots chose one family in ten. The lot was an accepted way to leave a choice with the Lord (Prov 16:33). Note the name "the holy city." Jerusalem was still the city God had chosen, ruins and all.

11:2 the people blessed all the men who volunteered to dwell in Jerusalem Some went by lot and some went willingly, and the people honored the volunteers. Living in Jerusalem meant leaving farms and family land for a city under threat from its neighbors. God's work still needs people who will go where they are needed, not only where it is comfortable.

11:3 these are the heads of the province who dwelt in Jerusalem The list that follows names who settled in the city (11:4-24) and then the towns of Judah and Benjamin (11:25-36). Compare 1 Chr 9, a similar list. God keeps track of names. He knows who served and where.

11:4 of the sons of Perez Perez was the son of Judah through Tamar (Gen 38:29), the line of Boaz and David (Ruth 4:18-22). Judah's royal line was back in the royal city, and from that line the Messiah would come.

11:6 four hundred sixty-eight men of valor "Men of valor" fits a city still in danger. Settling Jerusalem was not retirement. These men were its defenders as well as its residents.

11:9 Joel the son of Zichri was overseer over them Each group had its own officers. Order and leadership run all through Ezra and Nehemiah, and that is one reason the work held together.

11:11 Seraiah the son of Hilkiah His line runs back to Zadok, the high priest of Solomon's day (1 Kgs 2:35). "The leader of the house of God" may mean he was the chief officer of the temple under the high priest.

11:12 their brothers who did the work of the house, eight hundred twenty-two The priests in Jerusalem came to about 1,190 in all (11:12-14). Many hands did the daily work of the house, most of them never named beyond a number. God sees that work too.

11:17 would give thanks in prayer Mattaniah, from Asaph's line, led the thanksgiving. Praise had a leader and a place in the order of the city, just as David had arranged it (12:24).

11:19 the gatekeepers, Akkub, Talmon, and their brothers One hundred seventy-two men guarded the gates. After the long fight to hang those doors (6:1; 7:1), someone had to keep them.

11:21 the temple servants were dwelling on the Ophel The Ophel was the hill just south of the temple, close to their work (3:26).

23 For the commandment of the king was on them, and a firm agreement was on the singers, the matter of a day in its day. 24 And Pethahiah (Petachya) the son of Meshezabel (Meshezav'el), of the sons of Zerah (Zerach) the son of Judah, was at the hand of the king for every matter of the people.

The Villages of Judah and Benjamin

25 And as to the villages with their fields, some of the sons of Judah dwelt in Kiriath-arba (Qiryat-Arba) and its daughter towns, and in Dibon (Divon) and its daughter towns, and in Jekabzeel (Yeqavtse'el) and its villages, 26 and in Jeshua (Yeshua), and in Moladah (Molada), and in Beth-pelet (Bet-Palet), 27 and in Hazar-shual (Chatsar-Shu'al), and in Beersheba (Be'er-Sheva) and its daughter towns, 28 and in Ziklag (Tsiqlag), and in Meconah (Mekhona) and in its daughter towns, 29 and in En-rimmon (En-Rimon), and in Zorah (Tsor'a), and in Jarmuth (Yarmut), 30 Zanoah (Zanoach), Adullam (Adulam), and their villages, Lachish (Lakhish) and its fields, Azekah (Azeqa) and its daughter towns. And they encamped from Beersheba to the valley of Hinnom (Hinom). 31 And the sons of Benjamin dwelt from Geba (Geva): Michmash (Mikhmas) and Aija (Ayya) and Bethel (Bet-El) and its daughter towns, 32 Anathoth (Anatot), Nob (Nov), Ananiah (Ananya), 33 Hazor (Chatsor), Ramah (Rama), Gittaim (Gitayim), 34 Hadid (Chadid), Zeboim (Tsevo'im), Neballat (Nevalat), 35 Lod and Ono, the valley of the craftsmen. 36 And some of the Levites, the divisions of Judah, belonged to Benjamin.

Priests and Levites Who Returned

1 And these are the priests and the Levites who came up with Zerubbabel (Zerubavel) the son of Shealtiel (She'alti'el), and Jeshua (Yeshua): Seraiah (Seraya), Jeremiah (Yirmeya), Ezra, 2 Amariah (Amarya), Malluch (Malukh), Hattush (Chatush), 3 Shecaniah (Shekhanya), Rehum (Rechum), Meremoth (Meremot), 4 Iddo (Ido), Ginnethoi (Ginetoy), Abijah (Aviya), 5 Mijamin (Miyamin), Maadiah (Ma'adya), Bilgah (Bilga), 6 Shemaiah (Shemaya), and Joiarib (Yoyariv), Jedaiah (Yedaya), 7 Sallu (Salu), Amok (Amoq), Hilkiah (Chilqiya), Jedaiah. These were the heads of the priests and their brothers in the days of Jeshua. 8 And the Levites: Jeshua, Binnui (Binuy), Kadmiel (Qadmi'el), Sherebiah (Sherevya), Judah (Yehuda), Mattaniah (Matanya); he and his brothers were over the songs of thanksgiving. 9 And Bakbukiah (Baqbuqya) and Unni (Uni), their brothers, were opposite them for charges.

The High Priests and Priestly Houses

10 And Jeshua fathered Joiakim (Yoyaqim), and Joiakim fathered Eliashib (Elyashiv), and Eliashib fathered Joiada (Yoyada), 11 and Joiada fathered Jonathan (Yonatan), and Jonathan fathered Jaddua (Yadua). 12 And in the days of Joiakim there were priests, heads of the fathers: of Seraiah, Meraiah (Meraya); of Jeremiah, Hananiah (Chananya); 13 of Ezra, Meshullam (Meshulam); of Amariah, Jehohanan (Yehochanan); 14 of Melicu (Melikhu), Jonathan; of Shebaniah (Shevanya), Joseph (Yosef); 15 of Harim (Charim), Adna; of Meraioth (Merayot), Helkai (Chelqay); 16 of Iddo, Zechariah (Zekharya); of Ginnethon, Meshullam; 17 of Abijah, Zichri (Zikhri); of Miniamin (Minyamin); of Moadiah (Mo'adya), Piltai (Piltay); 18 of Bilgah, Shammua (Shamua); of Shemaiah, Jehonathan (Yehonatan); 19 and of Joiarib, Mattenai (Matnay); of Jedaiah, Uzzi (Uzi); 20 of Sallai (Salay), Kallai (Qalay); of Amok, Eber (Ever); 21 of Hilkiah, Hashabiah (Chashavya); of Jedaiah, Nethanel (Netanel).

11:23 the commandment of the king was on them Most take the king here to be the Persian king, who provided for the singers, as Artaxerxes had freed temple workers from taxes (Ezra 7:24). Some take it as David's command (12:24). "The matter of a day in its day" means a daily portion for daily service.

11:24 was at the hand of the king for every matter of the people Pethahiah seems to have served as the people's agent at the Persian court, or before the king's officials. Even under foreign rule God gave His people a voice.

11:25 Kiriath-arba and its daughter towns Kiriath-arba is Hebron (Josh 14:15), where Abraham, Isaac and Jacob were buried. "Daughter towns" are villages around a larger town.

11:30 from Beersheba to the valley of Hinnom The towns of 11:25-30 include Beersheba, Ziklag, Adullam, Lachish and Azekah, names from the days of Abraham, David and the kings. The people were back in the old land, from the southern edge at Beersheba up to the valley of Hinnom beside Jerusalem. It was a small remnant, but God was restoring them.

11:31 Michmash and Aija and Bethel Benjamin's towns (11:31-35) include Bethel, where God met Jacob (Gen 28:19), Anathoth, Jeremiah's hometown (Jer 1:1), Nob, the town of priests (1 Sam 21:1), and Ramah, Samuel's home. Many had been laid waste. Now they were lived in again.

12:1 the priests and the Levites who came up with Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel, and Jeshua The list looks back about ninety years to the first return (Ezra 2). Remember where you came from and who went before you. Those who rejoiced at the wall stood on the work of those who laid the foundation.

12:8 he and his brothers were over the songs of thanksgiving Verses 8 and 9 picture two groups standing "opposite" each other, which suggests singing back and forth, as at the temple foundation (Ezra 3:11).

12:10 Jeshua fathered Joiakim The high priests from Jeshua to Jaddua, about six generations. Eliashib is the high priest of Nehemiah's day (3:1; 13:4, 28). High priests came and went because they died. Our High Priest "because He abides forever, holds the priesthood permanently" (Heb 7:24).

12:12 in the days of Joiakim there were priests, heads of the fathers The heads of the priestly houses one generation later (12:12-21), matched to the names in 12:1-7. Each family carried on its duty from father to son.

12:16 of Iddo, Zechariah Most likely the prophet Zechariah, who is called a descendant of Iddo (Zech 1:1; Ezra 5:1). If so, the prophet who foretold the King coming "lowly and riding on a donkey" (Zech 9:9; Matt 21:5) was also a priest serving at the altar.

The Levites and Singers

22 The Levites in the days of Eliashib, Joiada, and Johanan (Yochanan) and Jaddua were recorded as heads of fathers, and the priests, in the reign of Darius (Daryavesh) the Persian. 23 The sons of Levi, the heads of the fathers, were recorded in the book of the chronicles, and until the days of Johanan the son of Eliashib. 24 And the heads of the Levites were Hashabiah, Sherebiah, and Jeshua the son of Kadmiel, and their brothers opposite them, to praise and to give thanks according to the commandment of David the man of God, watch corresponding to watch. 25 Mattaniah and Bakbukiah, Obadiah (Ovadya), Meshullam, Talmon, Akkub (Aquv) were gatekeepers keeping watch at the storerooms of the gates. 26 These were in the days of Joiakim the son of Jeshua, the son of Jozadak (Yotsadaq), and in the days of Nehemiah (Nechemya) the governor and Ezra the priest, the scribe.

The Wall Dedicated

27 And at the dedication of the wall of Jerusalem (Yerushalayim) they sought the Levites from all their places, to bring them to Jerusalem to make a dedication and joy, and with thanksgivings and with song, cymbals, harps, and with lyres. 28 And the sons of the singers were gathered, even from the district around Jerusalem and from the villages of the Netophathite, 29 and from Beth-gilgal (Bet-Hagilgal), and from the fields of Geba (Geva) and Azmaveth (Azmavet); for the singers had built villages for themselves around Jerusalem. 30 And the priests and the Levites purified themselves, and they purified the people and the gates and the wall.

Two Choirs on the Wall

31 And I brought up the leaders of Judah onto the wall, and I appointed two large thanksgiving choirs and processions. One went to the right on the wall to the Dung Gate. 32 And after them went Hoshaiah (Hosha'aya) and half of the leaders of Judah, 33 and Azariah (Azarya), Ezra, and Meshullam, 34 Judah and Benjamin (Binyamin) and Shemaiah and Jeremiah, 35 and some of the sons of the priests with trumpets: Zechariah the son of Jonathan, the son of Shemaiah, the son of Mattaniah, the son of Micaiah (Mikhaya), the son of Zaccur (Zakur), the son of Asaph (Asaf), 36 and his brothers, Shemaiah and Azarel, Milalai (Milalay), Gilalai (Gilalay), Maai (Ma'ay), Nethanel, and Judah, Hanani (Chanani), with the instruments of song of David the man of God; and Ezra the scribe was before them. 37 And by the Spring Gate, and straight before them, they went up on the steps of the city of David, at the ascent of the wall, above the house of David, and to the Water Gate eastward. 38 And the second thanksgiving choir was going opposite, and I was behind it, and half of the people, on the wall, above the Tower of the Ovens, and to the Broad Wall, 39 and above the Gate of Ephraim (Efrayim), and by the Old Gate, and by the Fish Gate, and the Tower of Hananel (Chananel), and the Tower of the Hundred (Me'a), and to the Sheep Gate; and they stopped at the Gate of the Guard. 40 And the two thanksgiving choirs stood in the house of God, and I and half of the officials with me, 41 and the priests, Eliakim (Elyaqim), Maaseiah (Ma'aseya), Miniamin, Micaiah, Elioenai (Elyo'enay), Zechariah, Hananiah, with trumpets, 42 and Maaseiah and Shemaiah and Eleazar (Elazar) and Uzzi and Jehohanan and Malchijah (Malkiya) and Elam and Ezer. And the singers made themselves heard, and Jezrahiah (Yizrachya) was the overseer. 43 And they sacrificed great sacrifices on that day and rejoiced, for God had made them rejoice with great joy; and also the women and the children rejoiced, and the joy of Jerusalem was heard from afar.

12:22 in the reign of Darius the Persian Since Jaddua is named, this is probably Darius II (423-404 B.C.), which shows the records were kept up after Nehemiah's main work. Some say it is Darius III, the king Alexander defeated, but that seems too late.
12:24 according to the commandment of David the man of God, watch corresponding to watch David had set the order of praise (1 Chr 25), and they followed it after five hundred years. "Watch corresponding to watch" means one group answering the other in turn.
12:27 at the dedication of the wall of Jerusalem The wall was finished in fifty-two days (6:15), and now it was given to God with thanksgiving, song and instruments. What God helps us finish should be given back to Him with praise.
12:30 the priests and the Levites purified themselves, and they purified the people and the gates and the wall The leaders cleansed themselves first, then the people, and even the stones. Before something is dedicated to God, it must be made clean. Our cleansing comes another way: "the blood of Jesus Christ His Son cleanses us from all sin" (1 John 1:7).
12:31 I appointed two large thanksgiving choirs and processions Two choirs walked on top of the wall in opposite directions and met at the temple. Tobiah had mocked that a fox would break this wall down (4:3). Now crowds marched on it singing.
12:36 Ezra the scribe was before them Ezra led the first choir and Nehemiah followed the second (12:38). The scribe and the governor stood together. Word and work, teaching and building, belong together.
12:40 the two thanksgiving choirs stood in the house of God Both processions ended at the temple. The wall was for the sake of the house of God, and the celebration closed there.
12:43 God had made them rejoice with great joy Notice who made them glad: God. Men, women and children all rejoiced, and "the joy of Jerusalem was heard from afar." At the temple foundation the joy was mixed with weeping (Ezra 3:12-13). Here it rang out. Joy in what God has done is meant to be heard by others.
12:44 men were appointed over the rooms for the treasuries They put the giving of 10:35-39 into practice. "The joy of Judah was over the priests" because they were glad for those who served them. Yet keep chapter 13 in mind. Joy on the day of dedication did not guarantee faithfulness later. Feelings fade. Faithfulness has to be kept.

Separation from the Mixed Multitude

1 On that day it was read in the book of Moses (Moshe) in the ears of the people, and it was found written in it that an Ammonite and a Moabite shall not come into the assembly of God forever, 2 because they did not meet the sons of Israel (Yisra'el) with bread and with water, and he hired Balaam (Bilam) against them to curse them; and our God turned the curse into a blessing. 3 And it came about, when they heard the law, that they separated all the mixed multitude from Israel.

Tobiah Thrown Out

4 And before this, Eliashib (Elyashiv) the priest, appointed over the storeroom of the house of our God, was near of kin to Tobiah (Toviya), 5 and he made for him a great storeroom, and there formerly they were putting the grain offering, the frankincense, and the utensils, and the tithe of the grain, the new wine, and the fresh oil, the commandment of the Levites and the singers and the gatekeepers, and the contribution of the priests. 6 And in all this I was not in Jerusalem (Yerushalayim), for in the thirty-second year of Artaxerxes (Artachshasta) king of Babylon (Bavel) I had gone to the king; and at the end of days I asked leave from the king. 7 And I came to Jerusalem, and I understood the evil which Eliashib had done for Tobiah, in making for him a storeroom in the courts of the house of God. 8 And it was very displeasing to me, and I threw all the utensils of the house of Tobiah outside, out of the storeroom. 9 And I spoke, and they purified the storerooms; and I brought back there the utensils of the house of God, the grain offering and the frankincense.

The Levites Restored

10 And I came to know that the portions of the Levites had not been given, and they had fled, each man to his field, the Levites and the singers who did the work. 11 And I contended with the officials and said, "Why has the house of God been forsaken?" And I gathered them and stationed them at their post. 12 And all Judah (Yehuda) brought the tithe of the grain and the new wine and the fresh oil to the treasuries. 13 And I appointed as treasurers over the treasuries Shelemiah (Shelemya) the priest and Zadok (Tsadoq) the scribe and Pedaiah (Pedaya) of the Levites, and at their hand was Hanan (Chanan) son of Zaccur (Zakur), son of Mattaniah

12:47 all Israel in the days of Zerubbabel and in the days of Nehemiah were giving Giving went in steps. The people gave to the Levites, and the Levites gave to the priests, the sons of Aaron. Everyone gave, and everyone was cared for.

13:1 an Ammonite and a Moabite shall not come into the assembly of God forever "On that day" probably means at that time, some years after the dedication. The law read is Deut 23:3-5. "The assembly" most likely meant full membership in Israel's worship and public life. It never kept a Moabite from coming to the LORD in faith. Ruth the Moabite became David's great-grandmother (Ruth 4:13-17) and is in the line of Jesus (Matt 1:5). The difference was faith.

13:2 our God turned the curse into a blessing Ammon and Moab refused Israel food and water, and Balak of Moab hired Balaam to curse them (Num 22 to 24). Every time Balaam opened his mouth to curse, God made him bless.

13:3 they separated all the mixed multitude from Israel Most likely those of foreign descent who had not truly joined themselves to the LORD. Those who held to the gods of Ammon and Moab were kept out. Those who came like Ruth, saying "your God my God" (Ruth 1:16), were welcomed.

13:4 Eliashib the priest, appointed over the storeroom of the house of our God, was near of kin to Tobiah Likely the high priest himself (3:1; 12:10), though some think another priest of the same name. Tobiah was the Ammonite official who had mocked and fought the wall from the start (2:10; 4:3; 6:17-19). He was related to Eliashib by marriage or by blood.

13:5 he made for him a great storeroom This room held the very gifts the people had promised in 10:37-39. It was emptied, and Tobiah moved in. An Ammonite enemy of God's work was given a room in the courts of God's house by the priest in charge of it. It is hard to picture a worse example of compromise.

13:6 in the thirty-second year of Artaxerxes king of Babylon I had gone to the king That was 433 B.C., after Nehemiah's twelve years as governor (5:14). He went back as he had promised (2:6). Artaxerxes ruled Babylon as part of his empire. Nehemiah was away for some time, most think a few years, and returned about 430 B.C. or a little later.

13:8 I threw all the utensils of the house of Tobiah outside Nehemiah did not call a meeting. He threw Tobiah's things out himself, much as Jesus drove the money changers from the temple (John 2:13-17). Sin that is tolerated does not stay in the yard. It moves into the house. Compromise usually starts small, a friendship, a family tie, a favor. Is anything in your life given a room where it does not belong?

13:9 they purified the storerooms The room had been defiled, so it was cleansed and returned to its proper use. It is not enough to throw sin out. The room has to be given back to God.

13:10 the portions of the Levites had not been given, and they had fled, each man to his field The people had stopped tithing (10:37). The Levites and singers had no land of their own, so they went back to farming to feed their families, and temple worship fell apart.

13:11 Why has the house of God been forsaken Almost the covenant words in reverse. They had promised, "we will not neglect the house of our God" (10:39). Nehemiah held the leaders responsible and put the Levites back at their posts.

13:12 all Judah brought the tithe of the grain and the new wine and the fresh oil to the treasuries Once someone led, the people followed. Malachi most likely preached in these same years, asking "Will a man rob God?" (Mal 3:8) and calling the people to bring the whole tithe into the storehouse (Mal 3:10). Nehemiah and Malachi fought the same sin.

13:13 for they were considered faithful A priest, a scribe, a Levite and an assistant were put over the giving. Money in God's work belongs in the hands of honest men, with more than one set of eyes on it.

(Matanya); for they were considered faithful, and on them it was to distribute to their brothers. 14 Remember me, my God, concerning this, and do not wipe out my deeds of steadfast love which I have done in the house of my God and in its duties.

The Sabbath Kept Holy

15 In those days I saw in Judah men treading winepresses on the Sabbath, and bringing in heaps of grain and loading them on donkeys, and also wine, grapes, and figs, and every load, and bringing them into Jerusalem on the Sabbath day; and I warned them on the day they sold provisions. 16 And the Tyrians who lived in it were bringing fish and every kind of merchandise and selling it on the Sabbath to the sons of Judah, and in Jerusalem. 17 And I contended with the nobles of Judah and said to them, "What is this evil thing which you are doing, and profaning the Sabbath day? 18 Did not your fathers do thus, and our God brought all this evil on us and on this city? And you are adding burning anger on Israel by profaning the Sabbath." 19 And it came about, when the gates of Jerusalem grew dark before the Sabbath, that I spoke, and the doors were shut; and I said that they should not open them until after the Sabbath; and I stationed some of my young men at the gates, so that no load should come in on the Sabbath day. 20 And the traders and the sellers of every merchandise spent the night outside Jerusalem once and twice. 21 And I warned them and said to them, "Why are you spending the night in front of the wall? If you do it again, I will stretch out a hand against you." From that time they did not come on the Sabbath. 22 And I said to the Levites that they should be purifying themselves and coming and guarding the gates, to sanctify the Sabbath day. Also for this remember me, my God, and have pity on me according to the greatness of Your steadfast love.

Marriage to Foreign Wives

23 Also in those days I saw the Jews who had married Ashdodite, Ammonite, and Moabite wives. 24 And of their sons, half were speaking Ashdodite, and they did not know how to speak Judean, but according to the language of this people and that people. 25 And I contended with them and cursed them, and I struck some men of them and pulled out their hair, and made them swear by God, "You shall not give your daughters to their sons, and you shall not take any of their daughters for your sons and for yourselves. 26 Did not Solomon (Shelomo) king of Israel sin on account of these things? And among the many nations there was no king like him, and he was loved by his God, and God made him king over all Israel; even him the foreign wives caused to sin. 27 And shall it be heard of you, to do all this great evil, to act

13:14 Remember me, my God, concerning this Nehemiah was not trying to earn God's favor. He asked God not to let his faithful work be wiped out, even if the people forgot it. God does not forget: "For God is not unjust, to forget your work" (Heb 6:10).

13:15 men treading winepresses on the Sabbath Farmers working and loads coming into the city on the Sabbath broke the promise of 10:31. God set the Sabbath apart as holy, a sign of His covenant with Israel (Exod 31:13-17).

13:16 the Tyrians who lived in it Merchants from Tyre, the trading city on the coast, had set up in Jerusalem and were selling on the Sabbath. The world's market had moved inside the walls.

13:17 profaning the Sabbath day To profane is to treat something holy as common. The nobles were treating God's holy day like any other market day.

13:18 Did not your fathers do thus, and our God brought all this evil on us and on this city Jeremiah had warned that if loads kept coming through Jerusalem's gates on the Sabbath, God would set fire to its gates (Jer 17:21-27). He did. They were walking back into the very sin that sent their fathers into exile.

13:19 when the gates of Jerusalem grew dark before the Sabbath The Jewish day began at sunset, so the Sabbath began Friday evening. Nehemiah shut the gates as the shadows fell and set his own servants to guard them. The walls he built now served to guard holiness as well as the city.

13:21 From that time they did not come on the Sabbath The traders camped outside the wall once or twice, hoping for business. One firm warning was enough.

13:22 have pity on me according to the greatness of Your steadfast love The Levites took over the gates for the long run. And Nehemiah asks for pity. He did not think his zeal made him perfect. The Sabbath was given to Israel under the Law, and Christians differ on how it applies now. Some keep the seventh day, many keep the Lord's Day, others see it fulfilled in our rest in Christ (Heb 4:9-10; Col 2:16-17). But God made us to rest and worship, and Jesus said, "The Sabbath was made for the sake of man, not man for the sake of the Sabbath" (Mark 2:27).

13:23 the Jews who had married Ashdodite, Ammonite, and Moabite wives Ashdod was a Philistine city; Ammon and Moab lay east of the Jordan. These were the peoples whose gods had pulled Israel away before. It was nearly thirty years since Ezra dealt with this (Ezra 9 to 10), and only a few since the covenant against it (10:30).

13:24 they did not know how to speak Judean Judean is Hebrew. The Law, the psalms and the prayers were in Hebrew, so a child who could not understand it could not understand the Law when it was read, as in chapter 8. In one generation these families were losing their ability to hear God's Word. A home divided in faith often raises children who do not know the language of faith, because no one teaches it at home (Deut 6:6-7).

13:25 I contended with them and cursed them, and I struck some men of them and pulled out their hair A hard verse. "Cursed them" most likely means he called down the covenant curses they had sworn to (10:29). Pulling out hair was a mark of shame (2 Sam 10:4; Isa 50:6). Ezra pulled out his own hair (Ezra 9:3); Nehemiah pulled out theirs. Nehemiah acted as governor with legal authority, more like a magistrate than a pastor. Scripture records it without praise or blame. I believe we should not hold it up as a model, and it is no pattern for the church. Church discipline is to be done gently, step by step, to restore (Matt 18:15-17; Gal 6:1), and an overseer must not be a striker (1 Tim 3:3). Learn his seriousness about sin, not his method. Note too that the oath was about future marriages. Unlike Ezra 10, he is not said to have sent wives away.

13:26 even him the foreign wives caused to sin Solomon was the wisest king who ever lived, loved by God (2 Sam 12:24-25). Yet his wives turned his heart to other gods, and he built high places for Chemosh of Moab and Molech of Ammon (1 Kgs 11:1-8), the very peoples these men had married into. If it could pull Solomon down, it could pull anyone down.

13:27 to act unfaithfully against our God by marrying foreign wives As in Ezra, the issue was faith, not race. Malachi said the same in these years: Judah married "the daughter of a foreign god" (Mal 2:11). A believer should marry only another believer (1 Cor 7:39; 2 Cor 6:14), but a believer already married to an unbeliever must not leave (1 Cor 7:12-14) and may win that spouse by a godly life (1 Pet 3:1-2). Think hard before you marry. That choice shapes your faith and your children's faith for a lifetime.

13:28 one of the sons of Joiada son of Eliashib the high priest was son-in-law to Sanballat the Horonite The worst case of all. A grandson of the high priest, who might one day be high priest himself, married the daughter of the chief enemy of the wall (2:10, 19; 6:1-14). The high priest had to marry within Israel (Lev 21:13-15). Nehemiah drove him out of Jerusalem.

13:29 Remember them, my God, concerning the defilements of the priesthood This time "remember" is not for good. The priests were to guard the covenant and teach the people (Mal 2:4-8). Instead the high priest's own family had joined the enemy.

13:30 I purified them from everything foreign Nehemiah cleaned house and set each man to his work again, down to the practical matters of wood for the altar and first fruits (10:34-35).

13:31 Remember me, my God, for good The last words of the book, and the last of Old Testament history in time order. No victory parade, just a tired man asking God to remember him. The walls were strong and the reforms were good, but they could not change the human heart. The people broke their covenant within a few years. That is why the Old Testament closes looking forward, to a new covenant written on the heart (Jer 31:33) and the Lord coming to His temple to purify the sons of Levi (Mal 3:1-3). About four hundred years later Jesus came, cleansed the temple, kept the Law, died for sins no reformer could remove, and rose again. Where Nehemiah could only ask to be remembered, Jesus told a dying thief, "Today you will be with Me in Paradise" (Luke 23:43).

ESTHER

Introduction

Title

The book is named for Esther, the young Jewish woman who became queen of Persia. Her Hebrew name was Hadassah, meaning myrtle; Esther is a Persian name, likely meaning star (2:7). It is the last of the history books in our English Bibles, but its events come before Nehemiah's. They happen between Ezra 6 and Ezra 7, in the reign of Ahasuerus, better known by his Greek name, Xerxes.

Author and Date

The book does not name its writer. He was a Jew who knew the Persian court well, its customs, officials, palace and names in close detail, which fits someone who lived in Persia not long after the events. Some Jewish tradition named the men of the Great Assembly, the leaders after the exile, and others have suggested Mordecai, since he wrote down these events (9:20, 32). It was written sometime after Ahasuerus' reign ended in 465 B.C., since 10:2 speaks of it as finished and recorded, most likely in the later fifth century B.C., perhaps about 460 to 400 B.C. Some modern scholars date it much later and treat it as a story rather than history. I take it as history, as the book presents itself, with real kings, real records and real dates.

Background and Setting

Ezra and Nehemiah tell of the Jews who went home. Esther tells of the Jews who stayed in Persia, scattered across the empire from India to Cush. The events run from about 483 to 473 B.C. The feast of chapter 1 is in the king's third year, 483 B.C. Esther became queen in his seventh year, about 479 B.C. (2:16). Haman cast the lot in the twelfth year, 474 B.C. (3:7), and the day of the decree fell almost a year later. The temple in Jerusalem had been finished for about thirty years.

Ahasuerus was Xerxes I, son of Darius I, who reigned from 486 to 465 B.C. Between chapters 1 and 2 he led a huge army against Greece and was defeated at sea at Salamis in 480 B.C. Greek historians remember him as proud, quick-tempered and given to great displays of wealth, which fits the king we meet here. The story is set in Susa, a royal city in what is now southwest Iran, where Nehemiah later served (Neh 1:1). The empire had 127 provinces, and a law written in the king's name and sealed with his ring could not be undone (1:19; 8:8).

The Agagite means a descendant of Agag, king of the Amalekites in Saul's day (1 Sam 15), Israel's oldest enemy (Exod 17:8-16). The Greek translation of Esther, made later, adds about a hundred verses with prayers and many mentions of God. These are not part of the Hebrew text and are not Scripture. These notes follow the Hebrew book.

Themes

The most famous thing about Esther is what it does not say. God's name does not appear in it, and there is no mention of prayer, the temple, the Law or a prophet. Scripture does not tell us why. Some think the writer left it out on purpose to show God working behind the scenes, and others point to the noisy feast it was read at or the style of Persian court records. Whatever the reason, the book teaches by its silence. God does not have to be seen to be at work.

The theme is God's hidden care for His people, His providence: His wise and powerful control over all things, working through ordinary events and people to keep His promises (Gen 50:20; Rom 8:28). A queen falls from favor at just the right time. An orphan is chosen out of the whole empire. Mordecai overhears a plot. The king cannot sleep on the very night Haman comes to ask for Mordecai's death. Haman is hanged on the tree he built. The day of destruction becomes the day of victory, and "it was turned about" (9:1). The key verse is Mordecai's word to Esther: "who knows whether for a time like this you have attained to royalty?" (4:14). Esther's answer shows the courage God's people need: "as I perish, I perish" (4:16). The book also shows that pride goes before a fall, and it explains the feast of Purim, named for the pur, the lot Haman cast (3:7; 9:24-26).

Christ in Esther

The New Testament does not quote Esther, but the book matters for the coming of Christ. God had promised that the Savior would come from Abraham's family, from Judah and from David's line (Gen 12:3; 49:10; 2 Sam 7:12-16). Haman's decree reached "all the provinces" (3:13), Judah and Jerusalem included. Had it succeeded, there would have been no people from whom the Messiah could come. By saving the Jews, God kept His promise alive.

Esther is also a small picture of Christ. She risked her life to go before the king for a people under a sentence of death. Jesus did far more. He gave His life, and now He is "always living to intercede for them" (Heb 7:25). Mordecai, raised from sackcloth to the king's right hand, seeking good for his people (10:3), pictures the exalted Christ who will reign as King of kings. The New Testament does not name either as a type of Christ, so I hold these as pictures only.

Hard Passages

How was Esther brought to the palace (2:8)? The text says she "was taken." Some think she should have resisted, like Daniel (Dan 1:8); others note she had no real choice, or see her as a victim of the king's power. The text does not blame or praise her, and neither should we.

Why would Mordecai not bow to Haman (3:2)? Some think bowing to a Persian official was a kind of worship; others think no Jew would bow to an Amalekite. Both may be true.

The Jews' fighting in chapter 9 was self-defense against armed attackers under Haman's decree, still in force, and the second decree (8:11; 9:2). Three times we are told they took no plunder (9:10, 15, 16). Esther's request for a second day in Susa and for the hanging of the bodies of Haman's sons (9:13) is hard, and the text gives her reasons no more than it judges her. None of this is a pattern for believers, who are called to love their enemies and leave vengeance to God (Matt 5:44; Rom 12:19).

1:1 he is the Ahasuerus who reigned from India and as far as Cush, a hundred and twenty-seven provinces Ahasuerus is the Hebrew form of the name the Greeks wrote as Xerxes. He was Xerxes I, king of Persia from 486 to 465 B.C. His empire reached from India in the east to Cush, the land south of Egypt in what is now Sudan. It was the greatest empire the world had yet seen.
1:2 Susa the citadel Susa was a royal city where the kings spent the winter. The citadel was the fortified palace on the hill. Nehemiah would serve in this same palace about forty years later (Neh 1:1). The book opens with the world's greatest king on the world's greatest throne, but the real King is the One who is never named.
1:3 in the third year of his reign he made a feast That was 483 B.C. Many historians think this gathering was part of the planning for Xerxes' invasion of Greece a few years later. If so, the king was showing his commanders the riches that stood behind his war.
1:4 a hundred and eighty days Six months of showing off. This king wanted the whole world to see how great he was. The God of the Bible needs no such display, and His Son "emptied Himself" (Phil 2:7) and took the form of a slave.
1:6 Hangings of white cloth, cotton, and violet The writer lingers over the luxury: linen and purple, silver rods, marble pillars, couches of gold and silver. He wants us to feel how rich and powerful this king was. Everything seems to be in his hands. The rest of the book shows that he is moved by his anger, his wine, his advisers and his sleepless nights. God is in control.
1:8 the drinking was according to the law; no one compelled At some Persian feasts guests had to drink whenever the king drank. Here each man drank as much or as little as he liked.
1:9 Vashti the queen made a feast of women Men and women often feasted separately at the Persian court. Greek historians name Xerxes' queen Amestris, and some think Vashti was another name for her, or a different wife. Scripture tells us no more.
1:10 when the heart of the king was good with wine After a week of drinking, the king was drunk. Eunuchs were palace officials who served the king and his household.
1:11 to show the peoples and the officials her beauty He wanted to put his wife on display before a room full of drinking men, one more thing to show off like his gold cups. Later Jewish teachers thought she was to appear wearing only her crown, but the text does not say that. What it says is enough.
1:12 Queen Vashti refused to come at the word of the king We are not told why. Perhaps she would not be shamed before drunken men, perhaps it was pride. The writer does not judge her. But it was a public insult before the whole court, and the man who ruled 127 provinces could not rule his own temper. Better is "he who rules over his spirit than he who captures a city" (Prov 16:32).
1:13 the wise men who knew the times His advisers knew law and custom and perhaps read the stars for lucky times. The seven "who saw the face of the king" (1:14) were the inner circle who could enter his presence. He wanted his hurt pride to look like a legal matter.
1:16 Not against the king alone has Vashti the queen done wrong Memucan turned one woman's refusal into a danger to the whole empire. He was worried about his own household as much as the king's. The officials' wives had been at Vashti's feast, and they would talk.

The Search for a New Queen

1 After these things, when the rage of King Ahasuerus (Achashverosh) had subsided, he remembered Vashti and what she had done and what had been decreed against her. 2 And the young men of the king who served him said, "Let them seek for the king young women, virgins, good of appearance. 3 And let the king appoint overseers in all the provinces of his kingdom, and let them gather every young woman, a virgin good of appearance, to Susa (Shushan) the citadel, to the house of the women, into the hand of Hegai (Hege) the eunuch of the king, the keeper of the women; and let their cosmetics be given. 4 And the young woman who is good in the eyes of the king shall reign in place of Vashti." And the word was good in the eyes of the king, and he did so.

Mordecai and Esther

5 A Jewish man was in Susa the citadel, and his name was Mordecai (Mordekhay) son of Jair (Ya'ir), son of Shimei (Shimi), son of Kish (Qish), a Benjaminite, 6 who had been taken into exile from Jerusalem (Yerushalayim) with the exiles who had been taken into exile with Jeconiah (Yekhonya) king of Judah (Yehuda), whom Nebuchadnezzar (Nevukhadnetsar) king of Babylon (Bavel) had taken into exile. 7 And he was bringing up Hadassah (Hadasa), that is Esther (Ester), the daughter of his uncle, for she had no father or mother; and the young woman was beautiful of form and good of appearance; and at the death of her father and her mother Mordecai took her for himself as a daughter. 8 And it came about, when the word of the king and his law were heard, and when many young women were gathered to Susa the citadel into the hand of Hegai, that Esther was taken to the house of the king, into the hand of Hegai the keeper of the women. 9 And the young woman was good in his eyes, and she obtained kindness before him; and he hastened her cosmetics and her portions, to give them to her, and the

1:19 it will not pass away Once a Persian law was written and sealed, even the king could not undo it (Dan 6:8, 15). This becomes crucial later, when Haman's decree cannot be undone and a second decree must be written (8:8). And "her companion who is better than she" opened the door for Esther, though Memucan never knew it.
1:20 all the women will give honor to their husbands Honor cannot be forced by decree. It is earned by love and character. The Bible's picture is very different: husbands are to love their wives "even as Christ also loved the church and gave Himself up for her" (Eph 5:25), and give them honor (1 Pet 3:7).
1:22 he sent letters to all the provinces of the king Persia had a fast royal courier system. A huge decision made in a drunken rage, on the advice of a man worried about his own wife, went out to every family in the empire. It may have made the king look more foolish, not less. Where is God in this chapter? Not named, but at work. A drunken king and a foolish law opened the door for a Jewish woman to become queen, years before Haman's plot. God is often working long before we know we need Him.
2:1 he remembered Vashti and what she had done and what had been decreed against her About four years had passed (2:16), and in between Xerxes had invaded Greece and lost. Perhaps he missed her or regretted his decree. But a Persian law could not be undone. The king was trapped by his own law, a theme that returns far more seriously later.
2:3 let them gather every young woman, a virgin good of appearance The house of the women was the king's harem. These young women were not asked, nor their families. Most would spend one night with the king and live the rest of their lives as concubines, wives of lower rank, never to marry anyone else. The Bible does not present this as good. It tells us what happened.
2:5 A Jewish man was in Susa the citadel Mordecai was of the tribe of Benjamin. Kish was the name of King Saul's father (1 Sam 9:1), and Shimei was a man of Saul's family who cursed David (2 Sam 16:5). These may be Mordecai's grandfather and great-grandfather, or famous forefathers of Saul's clan. Either way, Mordecai is tied to Saul, and that matters when we meet Haman the Agagite (3:1).
2:6 who had been taken into exile from Jerusalem Jeconiah, also called Jehoiachin, was taken to Babylon in 597 B.C. (2 Kgs 24:10-16), more than a hundred years earlier. So the one taken was most likely Kish, and Mordecai was born in exile. His family had stayed in Persia when others went home.
2:7 he was bringing up Hadassah, that is Esther, the daughter of his uncle Esther was an orphan and Mordecai's cousin, much younger, raised as his daughter. Hadassah is Hebrew for myrtle, a fragrant shrub. Esther is Persian, likely meaning star. Like Daniel (Dan 1:7), she lived in two worlds. The Bible honors those who care for orphans (Ps 68:5; James 1:27). Mordecai could not know the girl he raised would one day save their people.
2:8 Esther was taken to the house of the king The verb is passive. She was taken. A Jewish orphan in a foreign empire had no power to refuse the king's officials. Teachers read her differently. Some think she should have resisted, like Daniel (Dan 1:8). Others note that refusing likely meant death. Others see her as a victim of the king's power. The text does not blame her, and neither should we. God can bring good out of what others do to us without approving it: "you planned evil against me; God planned it for good" (Gen 50:20).
2:9 she obtained kindness before him The word for kindness is hesed, often used for God's steadfast love. God is not named, but this is the same favor He gave Joseph in prison (Gen 39:21) and Daniel before the chief of the eunuchs (Dan 1:9).

seven chosen young women, to give them to her from the house of the king; and he moved her and her young women to the best place of the house of the women. 10 Esther had not told her people or her kindred, for Mordecai had commanded her that she should not tell. 11 And each and every day Mordecai was walking back and forth in front of the court of the house of the women, to know the welfare of Esther and what would be done with her.

Esther Becomes Queen

12 And when the turn of each and every young woman arrived to go in to King Ahasuerus, at the end of her having twelve months according to the law of the women (for so the days of their beauty treatments were completed: six months with oil of myrrh, and six months with spices and with the cosmetics of the women), 13 then in this way the young woman went in to the king: all that she said was given to her to go with her from the house of the women to the house of the king. 14 In the evening she went, and in the morning she returned to the second house of the women, into the hand of Shaashgaz the eunuch of the king, the keeper of the concubines. She did not go in to the king again unless the king delighted in her and she was called by name. 15 And when the turn of Esther the daughter of Abihail (Avichayil), the uncle of Mordecai, who had taken her for himself as a daughter, arrived to go in to the king, she did not request anything except what Hegai the eunuch of the king, the keeper of the women, said. And Esther was obtaining favor in the eyes of all who saw her. 16 And Esther was taken to King Ahasuerus, into his royal house, in the tenth month, that is the month of Tebeth (Tevet), in the seventh year of his reign. 17 And the king loved Esther more than all the women, and she obtained favor and kindness before him more than all the virgins; and he set a royal crown on her head and made her queen in place of Vashti. 18 And the king made a great feast for all his officials and his servants, the feast of Esther; and he made a release for the provinces, and he gave gifts according to the hand of the king.

Mordecai Uncovers a Plot

19 And when virgins were gathered a second time, and Mordecai was sitting at the gate of the king, 20 Esther was not telling her kindred or her people, just as Mordecai had commanded her; and Esther was doing the command of Mordecai, just as when she was in guardianship with him. 21 In those days, and Mordecai was sitting at the gate of the king, Bigthan (Bigtan) and Teresh, two of the eunuchs of the king, of the guards of the threshold, became angry and sought to stretch out a hand against King Ahasuerus. 22 And the matter became known to Mordecai, and he told it to Esther the queen; and Esther spoke to the king in the name of Mordecai. 23 And the matter was investigated and found so, and the two of them were hanged on a tree; and it was written in the book of the matters of the days before the king.

2:10 Esther had not told her people or her kindred We are not told why Mordecai ordered it. Perhaps he feared she would be looked down on, or sensed danger. It proved wise, because when Haman's plot came no one knew the queen was a Jew. Keeping quiet about her family was not the same as denying her God, and the time came when she spoke openly at great risk (7:3-4).
2:11 each and every day Mordecai was walking back and forth Every single day. He could not go in, but he would not stop caring. That is a father's love.
2:12 at the end of her having twelve months according to the law of the women A full year of preparation with myrrh, a costly perfumed oil, and spices.
2:14 She did not go in to the king again unless the king delighted in her and she was called by name The writer says it plainly and without detail, and so will I. After one night each woman lived in the second house as a concubine, often for life, unless the king remembered her. Many were never called again. It was a lonely life.
2:15 she did not request anything except what Hegai the eunuch of the king, the keeper of the women, said Each woman could take whatever she wanted, but Esther did not grab for jewels and robes. She trusted Hegai, who knew the king. That is humility and wisdom, listening to counsel (Prov 12:15). And she won favor with everyone who saw her, by her character, not only her looks.
2:16 in the tenth month, that is the month of Tebeth, in the seventh year of his reign Tebeth is December to January, about 479 B.C. Again the passive: she "was taken."
2:17 he set a royal crown on her head and made her queen in place of Vashti Out of all the young women of the empire, the king chose a Jewish orphan. The text does not say God did it, but the rest of the book makes plain she was there for a reason. "Streams of water is the heart of a king in the hand of the LORD; to all that He desires He turns it" (Prov 21:1).
2:18 the feast of Esther Chapter 1 began with a feast and ended with a queen removed. Chapter 2 ends with a queen crowned and a feast in her honor. The "release for the provinces" was most likely a break from taxes or a holiday.
2:19 Mordecai was sitting at the gate of the king The gate was where officials did business and judges heard cases (Ruth 4:1; Dan 2:49). Mordecai likely held some post there, perhaps after Esther became queen.
2:20 Esther was doing the command of Mordecai, just as when she was in guardianship with him Even as queen, she listened to the man who raised her. Power did not make her proud. She honored her father's counsel (Exod 20:12; Prov 1:8).
2:21 of the guards of the threshold These men guarded the doors of the king's private rooms. They were trusted with his life, which made them the most dangerous of traitors. Xerxes was in fact killed in a palace plot about fourteen years later, in 465 B.C.
2:22 Esther spoke to the king in the name of Mordecai We are not told how Mordecai learned of it. He was in the right place at the right time, and Esther gave him the credit.
2:23 the two of them were hanged on a tree; and it was written in the book of the matters of the days before the king Hanging on a tree in Persia most likely meant impaling on a stake, or hanging the body up after death as a public warning. Mordecai saved the king's life, it was written down, and he got no reward. Wait for chapter 6. Sometimes God lets a good deed sit unnoticed for years because He plans to use it at just the right moment. He does not forget.

Haman's Rage Against Mordecai

1 After these things King Ahasuerus (Achashverosh) made Haman son of Hammedatha (Hamedata) the Agagite great, and he exalted him and set his seat above all the officials who were with him. 2 And all the servants of the king who were at the gate of the king were kneeling and bowing down to Haman, for so the king had commanded concerning him. And Mordecai (Mordekhay) did not kneel and did not bow down. 3 And the servants of the king who were at the gate of the king said to Mordecai, "Why are you transgressing the commandment of the king?" 4 And it came about, when they spoke to him each and every day and he did not listen to them, that they told Haman, to see whether the words of Mordecai would stand; for he had told them that he was a Jew. 5 And Haman saw that Mordecai was not kneeling and bowing down to him, and Haman was filled with rage. 6 And he disdained in his eyes to stretch out a hand against Mordecai alone, for they had told him the people of Mordecai; and Haman sought to annihilate all the Jews who were in all the kingdom of Ahasuerus, the people of Mordecai.

Haman's Plot to Destroy the Jews

In the name of King Ahasuerus it was written, and it was sealed with the signet ring of the king. 13 And letters were sent by the hand of the runners to all the provinces of the king, to annihilate, to kill, and to destroy all the Jews, from young to old, little ones and women, on one day, on the thirteenth of the twelfth month, that is the month of Adar, and to plunder their spoil. 14 A copy of the writing, to be

3:1 Haman son of Hammedatha the Agagite Four or five years after Esther became queen (2:16; 3:7), the king promoted not Mordecai, who had saved his life, but Haman. "The Agagite" is the key. Agag was king of the Amalekites, Israel's oldest enemy, who attacked the weak and weary in the wilderness (Exod 17:8-16; Deut 25:17-19). Saul spared Agag against God's command, and God rejected Saul as king (1 Sam 15:1-23). Now a descendant of Agag stands against a descendant of Kish (2:5). The old war has come back.

3:2 Mordecai did not kneel and did not bow down The Bible does not forbid all bowing. Abraham bowed to the Hittites (Gen 23:7), and David to Saul (1 Sam 24:8). The only clue is that "he was a Jew" (3:4). Some think bowing to a Persian official was a kind of worship a Jew could give only to God, as with Daniel's friends (Dan 3:12-18). Others think no son of Israel would bow to an Amalekite. Both may be true. Either way, it was a matter of conscience tied to his faith.

3:4 when they spoke to him each and every day and he did not listen to them Every day the pressure came, and every day he stood firm. Faith often looks like that. Not one great moment, but daily faithfulness when no one else stands with you.

3:5 Haman was filled with rage Haman had all the honor the empire could give, and one man's refusal drove him to fury. Pride is never satisfied. One person who will not give it what it wants is enough to spoil everything else (5:13).

3:6 Haman sought to annihilate all the Jews who were in all the kingdom of Ahasuerus Killing one man was beneath him. He wanted them all. This is the first recorded plan to wipe out every Jew everywhere, and sadly not the last. Behind it the Bible shows an enemy who has always hated the people through whom God would bring the Savior (Rev 12:1-6, 13-17). But God had promised Abraham, "the one who disdains you I will curse" (Gen 12:3).

3:7 one cast Pur, that is the lot, before Haman Nisan is March to April. The twelfth year was 474 B.C. Persians used marked stones or clay pieces to find a lucky day. The lot fell on Adar, February to March, eleven months away. Haman trusted his gods or fate, but "from the LORD is its every judgment" (Prov 16:33). The lot Haman trusted gave the Jews eleven months to be saved. The feast of Purim takes its name from it (9:24-26).

3:8 There is one people scattered and separated among the peoples Haman never named them, and the king never asked. He mixed truth with lies. They were scattered, and their laws were different because they followed God's Law. But it was a lie that they did not keep the king's laws. One man had refused to bow, and Haman made it a whole people in rebellion. Jesus warned that the world would hate His followers because they do not belong to it (John 15:18-19).

3:9 approximately 750,000 pounds of silver Ten thousand talents, about 375 tons of silver, a huge fortune, perhaps two-thirds of the empire's yearly income. Haman may have planned to take it from the goods of the murdered Jews (3:13). He was buying a people's death.

3:10 the adversary of the Jews The signet ring carried the king's seal and full authority. With it Haman could write any law he wished. "The adversary of the Jews" becomes his title for the rest of the book. The name Satan carries the same idea; it means the adversary.

3:11 The silver is given to you, and the people Either the king refused the money or this was a polite way of saying yes (compare Gen 23:11-16). He asked no questions and wanted no proof. He signed away a whole people without a second thought. A leader who does not care enough to ask can do great evil.

3:12 in the first month, on the thirteenth day of it The decree was written the day before the Passover, the fourteenth of Nisan (Exod 12:6). As the Jews of the empire began to remember how God saved them from death in Egypt, the order for their death was going out. Once sealed, it could not be undone (1:19; 8:8).

3:13 to annihilate, to kill, and to destroy all the Jews, from young to old, little ones and women, on one day Three words pile up. Not one was to be left. The killers could plunder their goods too, which made murder a reward for anyone who joined in.

given as law in each and every province, was disclosed to all the peoples, to be ready for this day. 15 The runners went out, hurried by the word of the king, and the law was given in Susa (Shushan) the citadel. And the king and Haman sat down to drink, and the city of Susa was in confusion.

Mourning Among the Jews

1 And Mordecai (Mordekhay) knew all that had been done, and Mordecai tore his clothes and put on sackcloth and ashes, and he went out into the midst of the city and cried a loud and bitter cry. 2 And he went as far as before the gate of the king, for one is not to go into the gate of the king in clothing of sackcloth. 3 And in each and every province, in the place where the word of the king and his law were reaching, there was great mourning among the Jews, and fasting and weeping and wailing; sackcloth and ashes were spread as a bed for many. 4 And the young women of Esther (Ester) and her eunuchs came and told her, and the queen was greatly distressed; and she sent garments to clothe Mordecai and to remove his sackcloth from him, and he did not accept them. 5 And Esther summoned Hathach (Hatakh), one of the eunuchs of the king whom he had stationed before her, and she commanded him concerning Mordecai, to know what this was and why this was. 6 And Hathach went out to Mordecai, to the open square of the city which was before the gate of the king. 7 And Mordecai told him all that had happened to him, and the exact amount of the silver which Haman had said to weigh out to the treasuries of the king for the Jews, to destroy them. 8 And the copy of the writing of the law which had been given in Susa (Shushan) to annihilate them he gave to him, to show Esther and to tell her, and to command her to go in to the king to implore his favor and to make request before him for her people. 9 And Hathach came and told Esther the words of Mordecai.

For a Time Like This

10 And Esther spoke to Hathach and commanded him to say to Mordecai, 11 "All the servants of the king and the people of the provinces of the king know that every man or woman who goes to the king into the inner court, who is not summoned, his law is one: to put him to death, apart from one to whom the king extends the golden scepter, and he will live. And I have not been summoned to go in to the king these thirty days." 12 And they told Mordecai the words of Esther. 13 And Mordecai said to bring back to Esther, "Do not imagine in your soul to escape in the house of the king more than all the Jews. 14 For if you indeed keep silent at this time, relief and deliverance will arise for the Jews from another place, and you and the house of your father will perish. And who knows whether for a time like this you have attained to royalty?" 15 And Esther said to bring back to Mordecai,

3:15 the king and Haman sat down to drink, and the city of Susa was in confusion One of the coldest lines in the Bible. They ordered the death of a whole people and relaxed over wine, while even the ordinary people of the capital were shocked. Who would be next? God is not named, and the darkness is deep. But He had already put Esther on the throne, already had Mordecai's deed written in the king's book, and already made the lot fall eleven months away. The enemy made his plans. God made His first.

4:1 Mordecai tore his clothes and put on sackcloth and ashes Mordecai knew the decree, and likely knew it was because of him. Torn clothes, sackcloth and ashes were signs of deep grief and humbling before God (Gen 37:34; Jonah 3:6; Dan 9:3). He did not grieve quietly. He wanted everyone to know that something terrible had been done.

4:2 one is not to go into the gate of the king in clothing of sackcloth No grief was allowed to spoil the palace of pleasure and power. Mordecai stood as close as he could come.

4:3 there was great mourning among the Jews, and fasting and weeping and wailing As the runners arrived, the Jews everywhere learned they had less than a year to live. Fasting in the Bible almost always goes with prayer (Ezra 8:21-23; Neh 1:4; Joel 2:12-13). The book does not say they prayed, but every Jewish reader knew who they were crying out to.

4:4 she sent garments to clothe Mordecai Inside the palace, Esther did not yet know about the decree. Perhaps she wanted Mordecai able to enter the gate, or only to comfort him. New clothes would not fix the problem, so he refused them, and she sent to learn the real cause.

4:7 the exact amount of the silver which Haman had said to weigh out Mordecai knew the whole story, even the price. The Jews had been sold with a price on their heads. Hathach, trusted by both, carried every message in this chapter.

4:8 to make request before him for her people Mordecai gave her the written proof. And for the first time we read "her people." She had kept them secret on his orders (2:10, 20). Now the time for secrets was over. Pleading for her people meant telling the king she was one of them.

4:11 who is not summoned, his law is one: to put him to death Not an excuse but the law. Persian kings guarded themselves for safety and majesty, and two doorkeepers had recently tried to kill this one (2:21). Worse, he had not called for her in thirty days. If Vashti was put away for saying no, what of a queen who came uninvited? Her fear was real. Courage is not the absence of fear. It is doing right while afraid.

4:13 Do not imagine in your soul to escape in the house of the king more than all the Jews Blunt words. The decree said all the Jews, and Esther was one. Sooner or later someone would find out, and Haman would gladly see the queen fall. Her crown would not protect her, and silence would not save her.

4:14 relief and deliverance will arise for the Jews from another place The key verse. Not to act was also a choice. Mordecai was sure the Jews would be saved, with or without Esther, and the only ground for that with a sealed decree of death was God's promises: to Abraham (Gen 12:2-3), to David (2 Sam 7:16), and through the prophets that He would never make a full end of His people (Jer 30:11; 31:35-37). Many Bible teachers believe "another place" is the nearest the book comes to naming God, since later Jewish writing used "the Place" for God. Either way, help would come because God would see to it. God does not need any one of us, but when He calls and we refuse, we are the ones who lose.

4:14 who knows whether for a time like this you have attained to royalty Why had an orphan of exiles become queen? A queen put away at just the right time, a Jewish girl chosen, her people kept secret, her crown five years before the plot. This is providence, God's wise and loving control over all things, working through ordinary events and people. Mordecai says "who knows." He had no word from a prophet. He looked at where God had put her and asked her to consider why. That is often how God guides us. God is at work even when silent (Rom 8:28). Where has He placed you? And silence is sometimes sin: rescue those being taken away to death (Prov 24:11-12).

16 "Go, gather all the Jews who are found in Susa, and fast for me, and do not eat and do not drink three days, night and day. Also I and my young women will fast likewise; and so I will go in to the king, which is not according to the law; and as I perish, I perish." 17 And Mordecai passed on and did according to all that Esther had commanded him.

Esther Goes In to the King

1 And it came about on the third day, that Esther (Ester) put on royalty and stood in the inner court of the house of the king, in front of the house of the king; and the king was sitting on his royal throne in the royal house, in front of the entrance of the house. 2 And it came about, when the king saw Esther the queen standing in the court, that she obtained favor in his eyes; and the king extended to Esther the golden scepter which was in his hand, and Esther drew near and touched the top of the scepter. 3 And the king said to her, "What is it to you, Queen Esther? And what is your request? Up to half of the kingdom, and it shall be given to you." 4 And Esther said, "If it is good to the king, let the king and Haman come today to the feast which I have made for him." 5 And the king said, "Bring Haman quickly, to do the word of Esther." And the king and Haman came to the feast which Esther had made. 6 And the king said to Esther at the feast of wine, "What is your petition? And it shall be given to you. And what is your request? Up to half of the kingdom, and it shall be done." 7 And Esther answered and said, "My petition and my request is: 8 if I have found favor in the eyes of the king, and if it is good to the king to grant my petition and to do my request, let the king and Haman come to the feast which I will make for them, and tomorrow I will do according to the word of the king."

Haman Builds a Tree for Mordecai

9 And Haman went out on that day joyful and good of heart; and when Haman saw Mordecai (Mordekhay) at the gate of the king, and he did not stand up and did not tremble before him, Haman was filled with rage against Mordecai. 10 And Haman restrained himself and went to his house, and he sent and brought his friends and Zeresh his wife. 11 And Haman recounted to them the glory of his riches and the multitude of his sons, and all that with which the king had made him great, and how he had exalted him above the officials and the servants of the king. 12 And Haman said, "Also Queen Esther let no one come with the king to the feast which she had prepared except me; and also tomorrow I am invited by her with the king. 13 And all this is not sufficient for me every time that I see Mordecai the Jew sitting at the gate of the king."

4:16 fast for me, and do not eat and do not drink three days, night and day Esther answered not with a plan but with a call to fast, which means prayer. She knew she could not do this in her own strength. It was a total fast for a desperate time, and she and her maids would keep it too. She would not ask of others what she would not do herself.

4:16 as I perish, I perish The frightened young woman of verse 11 became the brave queen of verse 16. This is not giving up. It is settling it: do right and leave the outcome with God. Daniel's friends said much the same before the furnace (Dan 3:17-18). Faith is not certainty about how things will turn out, but trust enough to obey. Esther risked her life to go before the king for a people under sentence of death. Jesus gave His. He prayed, "not My will, but Yours be done" (Luke 22:42), went to the cross, and is "always living to intercede for them" (Heb 7:25).

4:17 did according to all that Esther had commanded him At the start of the chapter Mordecai gave the commands (4:8). At the end Esther gives them and Mordecai obeys. The orphan girl had become the queen who would lead her people.

5:1 on the third day, that Esther put on royalty and stood in the inner court of the house of the king She did not go in sackcloth but as his queen. Picture the king on his throne, looking out through the entrance, and Esther in full view, uninvited. Every guard knew the law (4:11). One word, and she would die.

5:2 the king extended to Esther the golden scepter which was in his hand Once more she "obtained favor" (2:9, 15, 17). Three days of fasting had gone up before God, and the king's heart was moved (Prov 21:1). Touching the scepter accepted his mercy. Esther had to risk death to come before an earthly king, but we are told, "Let us therefore come with boldness to the throne of grace" (Heb 4:16). Because of Jesus the scepter is already held out.

5:3 Up to half of the kingdom, and it shall be given to you A royal way of saying, I will be very generous (compare Mark 6:23). He knew she would not risk her life for a small thing.

5:4 let the king and Haman come today to the feast which I have made for him She asked only for a dinner. A public request in the throne room might shame the king, who had signed the decree himself. At a private feast he would be relaxed, and Haman would be there to be named face to face. And the feast was already prepared. Her fast came with planning, not instead of it. Nehemiah prayed and then planned (Neh 2:4-8). Prayer does not mean we stop thinking.

5:6 at the feast of wine The part of the banquet after the meal, when wine was served.

5:8 tomorrow I will do according to the word of the king Why wait again? We are not told. Perhaps she lost her nerve, sensed the time was not right, or wanted the king's curiosity to grow. The delay was exactly what God needed. Between the two banquets a sleepless night and a book of records would change everything. Had she spoken that night, Mordecai might have hanged by morning. Waiting can be part of God's plan.

5:9 he did not stand up and did not tremble before him Haman went out on top of the world. Mordecai was back at the gate, knowing what Haman intended, and still did not tremble. He feared God more than Haman (Matt 10:28). In one moment Haman went from joy to rage. Joy built on pride is easily broken.

5:11 Haman recounted to them the glory of his riches and the multitude of his sons He had ten sons (9:10). His wife and friends already knew it all, but he loved to hear himself say it. He had no idea the queen's banquet was a trap, or that the queen was one of the people he had sentenced to death.

5:13 all this is not sufficient for me One of the most revealing verses in the Bible about the human heart. Riches, sons, the highest office, the king's favor, the queen's invitation, and all of it worth nothing because one man would not bow. Pride and envy make every blessing taste like nothing. Whoever loves money is never satisfied with it (Eccl 5:10), and the same is true of honor. Paul learned to be content in every circumstance (Phil 4:11-13). Contentment is trusting God with what we have.

14 And Zeresh his wife and all his friends said to him, "Let them make a tree approximately 75 feet (fifty cubits) high, and in the morning speak to the king, and let them hang Mordecai on it; and go with the king to the feast joyful." And the word was good before Haman, and he made the tree.

The King's Sleepless Night

1 On that night the sleep of the king fled, and he said to bring the book of the records, the matters of the days; and they were read before the king. 2 And it was found written that Mordecai (Mordekhay) had told about Bigthana (Bigtana) and Teresh, two of the eunuchs of the king, of the guards of the threshold, who had sought to stretch out a hand against King Ahasuerus (Achashverosh). 3 And the king said, "What honor and greatness has been done for Mordecai concerning this?" And the young men of the king who served him said, "Nothing has been done with him." 4 And the king said, "Who is in the court?" And Haman had come into the outer court of the house of the king to say to the king to hang Mordecai on the tree which he had prepared for him. 5 And the servants of the king said to him, "Look, Haman is standing in the court." And the king said, "Let him come in."

Haman Honors Mordecai

6 And Haman came in, and the king said to him, "What is one to do for the man whom the king delights to honor?" And Haman said in his heart, "Whom would the king delight to do honor more than me?" 7 And Haman said to the king, "For the man whom the king delights to honor, 8 let them bring royal clothing which the king has worn, and a horse which the king has ridden, and on whose head a royal crown has been put; 9 and let the clothing and the horse be given into the hand of a man of the officials of the king, the nobles; and let them clothe the man whom the king delights to honor, and make him ride on the horse in the open square of the city, and proclaim before him, 'Thus it shall be done for the man whom the king delights to honor.'" 10 And the king said to Haman, "Hurry, take the clothing and the horse, just as you have said, and do so for Mordecai the Jew who sits at the gate of the king. Do not let a word fall from all that you have said." 11 And Haman took the clothing and the horse, and he clothed Mordecai and made him ride in the open square of the city, and he proclaimed before him, "Thus it shall be done for the man whom the king delights to honor." 12 And Mordecai returned to the gate of the king; and Haman hurried to his house, mourning and with head covered. 13 And Haman recounted to Zeresh his wife and to all his friends all that had happened to him. And his wise men and Zeresh his wife said to him, "If Mordecai, before whom you have begun to fall, is of the seed of the Jews, you will not prevail against him, but you will surely fall before him." 14 They were still speaking with him, and the eunuchs of the king arrived, and they hurried to bring Haman to the feast which Esther (Ester) had prepared.

5:14 Let them make a tree approximately 75 feet high Fifty cubits, as tall as a seven-story building. The tree was a tall stake, for impaling or displaying the body where all the city could see. No one in his house told him to stop. They fed his anger. "He who walks with wise ones will become wise, and he who associates with fools will be harmed" (Prov 13:20). Haman built it that night. But the king could not sleep. Haman had his plans. God had His.

6:1 On that night the sleep of the king fled Of all nights, this one: between the two banquets, the night Haman built his tree. Perhaps he wondered what Esther wanted, or had too much wine. The writer wants us to see it was no accident. The One who "will not slumber and He will not sleep" (Ps 121:4) kept the king of Persia awake. He asked for the royal records, perhaps hoping they would put him to sleep.

6:2 it was found written that Mordecai had told about Bigthana and Teresh Out of all the records of an empire, this page, written about five years earlier (2:21-23), was the one read. Bigthana is the same man as Bigthan in 2:21.

6:3 Nothing has been done with him A Persian king was expected to reward those who served him, and failing to reward a man who saved his life was an embarrassment. Had Mordecai been rewarded back then, there would be nothing to remember tonight. God let the deed go unrewarded for five years so it could be rewarded on the one night it mattered most. God's delays are not His denials.

6:4 Haman had come into the outer court of the house of the king to say to the king to hang Mordecai He was so eager he came in the night or very early morning, waiting to ask for Mordecai's death at the very moment the king wanted someone to honor Mordecai. In a book where God is never named, the "coincidences" pile up until no honest reader can call them chance.

6:6 Whom would the king delight to do honor more than me The king named no one, and Haman never got to mention Mordecai. Pride could not imagine the king wanting to honor anyone else.

6:8 royal clothing which the king has worn, and a horse which the king has ridden Haman already had money. He wanted to be seen as almost a king, the king's own robe and the king's own horse with a royal crest, and a great noble walking before him calling out his praise. The dream of a proud man.

6:10 do so for Mordecai the Jew who sits at the gate of the king Imagine Haman's face. The king even called him a Jew, not knowing Haman's decree was against Mordecai's people. And Haman himself must lead the horse, every word of it. "Everyone who exalts himself will be humbled, and the one who humbles himself will be exalted" (Luke 14:11).

6:11 he clothed Mordecai and made him ride in the open square of the city The man who would not bow to Haman was led through the city by Haman. The man in sackcloth in that same square days earlier (4:1) wore the king's robe. The man meant for the tree rode the king's horse. The writer does not tell us what Mordecai felt. He lets the scene speak.

6:12 Mordecai returned to the gate of the king; and Haman hurried to his house, mourning and with head covered After the parade, Mordecai went back to work. The decree still stood, and he went back to his duty. Covering the head was a sign of grief and shame (2 Sam 15:30; Jer 14:3-4). Haman came to ask for Mordecai's death and went home having honored him.

6:13 If Mordecai, before whom you have begun to fall, is of the seed of the Jews, you will not prevail against him The same people who told him to build the tree now told him he was finished. Even pagans sensed this people was protected by a power greater than Persia. Perhaps they knew the history of Pharaoh and Babylon. God had promised to curse those who cursed Abraham's seed (Gen 12:3). "Before breaking is pride" (Prov 16:18).

6:14 they hurried to bring Haman to the feast which Esther had prepared No time to think or recover. A sleepless night, a page of a record book, a good deed forgotten five years, a proud man walking in at exactly the wrong moment. Not one miracle and not one mention of God, yet every piece fell into place. That is providence. Often God is in the quiet details, arranging them for the good of His people (Rom 8:28).

Esther Names Her Enemy

1 And the king and Haman went to drink with Esther (Ester) the queen. 2 And the king said to Esther also on the second day at the feast of wine, "What is your petition, Queen Esther? And it shall be given to you. And what is your request? Up to half of the kingdom, and it shall be done." 3 And Queen Esther answered and said, "If I have found favor in your eyes, O king, and if it is good to the king, let my life be given to me at my petition, and my people at my request. 4 For we have been sold, I and my people, to annihilate, to kill, and to destroy. And if we had been sold as male slaves and female slaves, I would have kept silent, for the distress would not be equal to the injury of the king." 5 And King Ahasuerus (Achashverosh) said, and he said to Esther the queen, "Who is he, this one, and where is he, this one, who has filled his heart to do so?" 6 And Esther said, "A man, an adversary and an enemy: this evil Haman!" And Haman was terrified before the king and the queen.

Haman Hanged on His Own Tree

7 And the king rose in his rage from the feast of wine and went into the garden of the palace; and Haman remained to make request for his life from Esther the queen, for he saw that evil had been determined against him by the king. 8 And the king returned from the garden of the palace to the house of the feast of wine, and Haman was falling on the couch on which Esther was. And the king said, "Also to violate the queen with me in the house?" The word went out from the mouth of the king, and they covered the face of Haman. 9 And Harbona (Charvona), one of the eunuchs, said before the king, "Also look, the tree which Haman made for Mordecai (Mordekhay), who spoke good concerning the king, is standing at the house of Haman, approximately 75 feet (fifty cubits) high." And the king said, "Hang him on it." 10 And they hanged Haman on the tree which he had prepared for Mordecai; and the rage of the king subsided.

Mordecai Receives the King's Ring

1 On that day King Ahasuerus (Achashverosh) gave to Esther (Ester) the queen the house of Haman, the adversary of the Jews; and Mordecai (Mordekhay) came before the king, for Esther had told what he was to her. 2 And the king removed his signet ring which he had taken away from Haman and gave it to Mordecai; and Esther set Mordecai over the house of Haman.

Esther Pleads for Her People

3 And Esther again spoke before the king, and she fell before his feet and wept and implored his favor to take away the evil of Haman the Agagite and his plan which he had planned against the Jews. 4 And the king extended to Esther the 7:2 What is your petition, Queen Esther Haman came still shaken from leading Mordecai through the square (6:11-14). For the third time the king asked and promised up to half the kingdom (5:3, 6). Esther had waited, and now the time had come.

7:3 let my life be given to me at my petition, and my people at my request She began not with Haman or the decree but with herself. Who would threaten the queen? Then "my people." In one sentence she told the secret she had kept for five years (2:10, 20). She stood with her people, whatever it cost.
7:4 we have been sold, I and my people, to annihilate, to kill, and to destroy The very words of Haman's decree (3:13). "Sold" may point to the silver Haman offered (3:9; 4:7). The last clause is hard in Hebrew, but the plain sense is this: slavery she would not trouble the king with, but this is death, and it will cost the king too. She showed respect and did not accuse him, though he had sealed the decree. She let him see the evil himself.
7:5 Who is he, this one, and where is he, this one The words come out in a rush, as if he is too angry to speak smoothly. Perhaps he never knew which people Haman meant. He had never asked (3:8-11).
7:6 A man, an adversary and an enemy: this evil Haman The moment the whole book has built toward. The queen pointed across the table at the most powerful man in the empire and named him, using the writer's own word for him (3:10). The man who made a whole people tremble now trembled himself.
7:7 the king rose in his rage from the feast of wine and went into the garden of the palace Perhaps to cool down or think. To punish Haman was to admit his own foolishness, and the decree could not be undone. Haman knew the king and turned to the queen, the very Jew he had sentenced. The man who refused mercy to a whole people now begged mercy from one of them.
7:8 Haman was falling on the couch on which Esther was People reclined on couches at meals. Haman threw himself down at the queen's couch, and in the Persian court no man but the king might come that close to her. The king believed, or chose to take it, that Haman was attacking her. Covering the face marked a condemned man. That morning Haman came to ask for Mordecai's death. By evening his own face was covered.
7:9 the tree which Haman made for Mordecai, who spoke good concerning the king Harbona was one of the seven sent for Vashti (1:10). Perhaps the whole palace knew what Haman had planned. He reminded the king the tree was built for the man who saved his life.
7:10 they hanged Haman on the tree which he had prepared for Mordecai The trap caught its maker: "he has fallen into the pit that he made" (Ps 7:15; Prov 26:27). We should not cheer any man's death in a bloodthirsty way, but this was justice. Haman planned the murder of every Jewish man, woman and child, and the king sentenced him under Persian law. He reaped what he sowed (Gal 6:7). Yet the decree still stood. Removing the enemy did not remove the sentence of death. Another tree stands at the center of the Bible: "Cursed is everyone who hangs on a tree" (Gal 3:13). Haman died on a tree for his own sin. Jesus died on one for ours, justice and mercy at once (2 Cor 5:21; 1 Pet 2:24).
8:1 King Ahasuerus gave to Esther the queen the house of Haman In Persia the property of an executed criminal went to the king, and he gave it to Esther. The man who wanted to plunder the Jews (3:13) had his own house handed to a Jew. And the king learned for the first time that the man who saved his life had raised his queen.
8:2 the king removed his signet ring which he had taken away from Haman and gave it to Mordecai The ring that sealed the decree of death was now in the hand of the man it was meant to kill. Mordecai held Haman's office and his estate. "The wealth of a sinner is stored up for the righteous" (Prov 13:22).
8:3 she fell before his feet and wept and implored his favor Esther and Mordecai were safe, but her people were not. On the thirteenth of Adar anyone could still kill a Jew and the law would back them. So she went again, not standing in royal robes but weeping at his feet, perhaps uninvited again, since the scepter was held out once more (8:4). Her love did not stop when she was safe. Paul felt the same for Israel (Rom 9:1-3).

golden scepter, and Esther arose and stood before the king. 5 And she said, "If it is good to the king, and if I have found favor before him, and the matter is proper before the king, and I am good in his eyes, let it be written to revoke the letters, the plan of Haman son of Hammedatha (Hamedata) the Agagite, which he wrote to destroy the Jews who are in all the provinces of the king. 6 For how can I bear it and look on the evil which will find my people? And how can I bear it and look on the destruction of my kindred?" 7 And King Ahasuerus said to Esther the queen and to Mordecai the Jew, "Look, the house of Haman I have given to Esther, and him they have hanged on the tree, because he stretched out his hand against the Jews. 8 And you, write concerning the Jews as is good in your eyes, in the name of the king, and seal it with the signet ring of the king; for a writing which is written in the name of the king and sealed with the signet ring of the king, there is no revoking."

The Second Decree

9 And the scribes of the king were summoned at that time, in the third month, that is the month of Sivan, on the twenty-third day of it; and it was written according to all that Mordecai commanded, to the Jews and to the satraps and the governors and the officials of the provinces which are from India (Hodu) and as far as Cush (Kush), a hundred and twenty-seven provinces, to each and every province according to its script and each and every people according to its language, and to the Jews according to their script and according to their language. 10 And he wrote in the name of King Ahasuerus and sealed it with the signet ring of the king, and he sent letters by the hand of the runners on horses, riders of the royal steeds, sons of the mares, 11 that the king had granted to the Jews who were in each and every city to assemble and to make a stand for their life, to annihilate and to kill and to destroy every army of any people and province that attacks them, little ones and women, and to plunder their spoil, 12 on one day in all the provinces of King Ahasuerus, on the thirteenth of the twelfth month, that is the month of Adar. 13 A copy of the writing, to be given as law in each and every province, was disclosed to all the peoples, and for the Jews to be ready for this day to avenge themselves on their enemies. 14 The runners, riders of the royal steeds, went out hastened and hurried at the word of the king; and the law was given in Susa (Shushan) the citadel.

Light and Gladness for the Jews

15 And Mordecai went out from before the king in royal clothing of violet and white cloth, and a great crown of gold, and a robe of fine linen and purple; and the city of Susa shouted for joy and rejoiced. 16 To the Jews there was light and gladness and joy and honor. 17 And in each and every province and in each and every city, in the place where the word of the king and his law were reaching, there was gladness and joy among the Jews, a feast and a good day. And many of the peoples of the land were becoming Jews, for the dread of the Jews had fallen on them.

8:5 the plan of Haman son of Hammedatha the Agagite Four polite phrases before the request, and the blame placed on "the plan of Haman," not on the king's own decree, though the king had sealed it. She let the king save face.
8:6 how can I bear it and look on the evil which will find my people Her people's suffering was her own. She could not stand by and watch.
8:8 there is no revoking Even the king could not undo his sealed law (1:19; Dan 6:8, 15). Haman's decree would stand, but a new one could answer it. Here is a picture. God's law says the soul who sins will die (Ezek 18:4; Rom 6:23), and that just sentence cannot simply be set aside. But in Christ God gave a second word: whoever believes will not perish (John 3:16). The first law was not erased. It was answered by a greater one: "the law of the Spirit of life in Christ Jesus has set me free from the law of sin and of death" (Rom 8:2).
8:9 in the third month, that is the month of Sivan, on the twenty-third day of it Sivan is May to June, seventy days after the first decree (3:12), with about eight and a half months left before the day of slaughter. Time enough to reach every province. And this time it was also written "to the Jews according to their script." Haman's decree went to everyone but them.
8:10 riders of the royal steeds Persia was famous for its royal road and relay riders, who could carry a message across the empire in days. The fastest horses carried the good news.
8:11 to assemble and to make a stand for their life The heart of the decree. It did not tell the Jews to attack. It let them gather and defend themselves against "every army of any people and province that attacks them," turning Haman's three words (3:13) back on those who would use them. "Little ones and women" is hard. Some read it as matching Haman's decree word for word, as a law had to answer a law in the same terms. Others read it as describing whom the attackers threatened, the Jews' own families. Either way, chapter 9 shows what the Jews did. They fought their attackers and three times did not touch the plunder (9:10, 15, 16), though this allowed it.
8:13 for the Jews to be ready for this day to avenge themselves on their enemies To see justice done against attackers. Because the decree was public, every enemy knew an attack would be met with force, and that alone would stop many from joining in. The first runners "hurried" (3:15). Now the good news raced to overtake the bad.
8:15 Mordecai went out from before the king in royal clothing of violet and white cloth Persia's royal colors (1:6). The crown was most likely a large gold turban, the sign of high office. Sackcloth in chapter 4, the king's horse for a day in chapter 6, and now royal robes for good. When Haman's decree went out, Susa "was in confusion" (3:15). Now it rejoiced: "When righteous ones increase, the people rejoice" (Prov 29:2).
8:16 To the Jews there was light and gladness and joy and honor Light is life and hope after darkness: weeping for a night, joy in the morning (Ps 30:5). Where the first decree brought mourning and fasting (4:3), the second brought feasting. God turned their mourning into dancing (Ps 30:11).
8:17 many of the peoples of the land were becoming Jews Some may have done it only to save their own skins. But many likely saw that the God of the Jews was real and had saved His people from certain death, and turned to Him, as God always wanted the nations to do (Isa 49:6; 56:6-7), as Ruth did (Ruth 1:16). When people see what God has done in His people, many want to know Him too.

The Jews Defend Themselves

1 And in the twelfth month, that is the month of Adar, on the thirteenth day in it, when the word of the king and his law drew near to be done, on the day when the enemies of the Jews had hoped to domineer over them, and it was turned about, so that the Jews themselves domineered over those who hated them, 2 the Jews assembled in their cities in all the provinces of King Ahasuerus (Achashverosh) to stretch out a hand on those seeking their harm; and no one stood before them, for the dread of them had fallen on all the peoples. 3 And all the officials of the provinces and the satraps and the governors and the doers of the work which belonged to the king were supporting the Jews, for the dread of Mordecai (Mordekhay) had fallen on them. 4 For Mordecai was great in the house of the king, and the report of him was going through all the provinces; for the man Mordecai was going on and becoming great. 5 And the Jews struck down all their enemies with a striking of the sword and slaughter and destruction, and they did to those who hated them according to their pleasure. 6 And in Susa (Shushan) the citadel the Jews killed and destroyed five hundred men, 7 and Parshandatha (Parshandata) and Dalphon (Dalfon) and Aspatha (Aspata) 8 and Poratha (Porata) and Adalia (Adalya) and Aridatha (Aridata) 9 and Parmashta and Arisai (Arisay) and Aridai (Ariday) and Vaizatha (Vayzata), 10 the ten sons of Haman, the son of Hammedatha (Hamedata), the adversary of the Jews, they killed; and on the plunder they did not stretch out their hand.

The Second Day in Susa

11 On that day the number of those killed in Susa the citadel came before the king. 12 And the king said to Esther (Ester) the queen, "In Susa the citadel the Jews have killed and destroyed five hundred men and the ten sons of Haman; in the rest of the provinces of the king what have they done? And what is your petition? And it shall be given to you. And what is your request further? And it shall be done." 13 And Esther said, "If it is good to the king, let it be given also tomorrow to the Jews who are in Susa to do according to the law of today; and let them hang the ten sons of Haman on the tree." 14 And the king said for it to be done so; and a law was given in Susa, and the ten sons of Haman they hanged. 15 And the Jews who were in Susa assembled also on the fourteenth day of the month of Adar, and they killed in Susa three hundred men; and on the plunder they did not stretch out their hand. 16 And the rest of the Jews who were in the provinces of the king assembled and stood for their life, and had rest from their enemies, and killed among those who hated them seventy-five thousand; and on the plunder they did not stretch out their hand.

9:1 it was turned about, so that the Jews themselves domineered over those who hated them The whole book in one phrase. The word means overturned, flipped upside down. The day of death became the day of deliverance. Haman's tree held Haman, his ring sealed Mordecai's decree, his house went to Esther, and his day of slaughter became the defeat of his followers. The verb does not say who turned it, but by now we know: "God planned it for good" (Gen 50:20).

9:2 to stretch out a hand on those seeking their harm Notice whom they fought. Not their neighbors in general, but those who came to kill them, as the second decree allowed (8:11). Haman's decree was still law, and many would use it. Many others were afraid, because the tide had turned.

9:3 the dread of Mordecai had fallen on them The officials knew where power now lay and supported the Jews. Mordecai was rising, just as Haman's wife had said Haman would fall before him (6:13).

9:5 they did to those who hated them according to their pleasure A hard verse, and the Bible does not soften it. These were armed men who had nearly a year to prepare to kill Jewish men, women and children and take their goods. "According to their pleasure" most likely means the Jews could do as they wished with their attackers, with no one able to stop them. It is about power, not cruelty, the reverse of Haman's "as is good in your eyes" (3:11). It was self-defense, under the law of the land, and they took no plunder. We should not read it with glee. Many died, and war is always a grief.

9:6 five hundred men The text speaks only of men here, the fighting men who attacked them.

9:10 the ten sons of Haman Haman's sons were most likely leading the attack, carrying on their father's hatred. In the Hebrew Bible their ten names (9:7-9) are written in a column, a way of marking a list of fallen enemies.

9:10 on the plunder they did not stretch out their hand The first of three times (9:15, 16), though the decree allowed it (8:11). They were not fighting for gain. Saul had fought Amalek and taken the plunder, and God rejected him (1 Sam 15:9, 19). Mordecai, of Saul's family, fought the Agagite's house and left the plunder. What Saul did wrong, they did right. This is not a pattern for believers today. We are to love our enemies (Matt 5:44) and not avenge ourselves (Rom 12:19). But a people's right to defend their lives against those who come to kill them is a different matter, and that is what the text describes.

9:12 in the rest of the provinces of the king what have they done The king seemed almost impressed. For the fourth time he offered Esther whatever she asked.

9:13 let it be given also tomorrow to the Jews who are in Susa to do according to the law of today The hardest verse in the chapter. Scripture gives no reasons, and we should not put words in her mouth. But the request was only for Susa, where Haman's household and supporters were strongest, and the law of the day allowed only defense against attackers. Three hundred more men came against them the next day (9:15), so the danger was real. Some think she went too far and wanted revenge; others think she was wise and protective. The text does not judge her. I believe we should be humble here, but not hold it up as an example, because the New Testament calls us higher (Rom 12:17-21).

9:13 let them hang the ten sons of Haman on the tree They were already dead (9:10). Hanging the bodies was a public display to show the threat was fully ended and to warn others (compare 1 Sam 31:10). The house that planned to wipe out every Jew was finished.

9:16 stood for their life, and had rest from their enemies The language of defense. The goal was not slaughter but rest. Seventy-five thousand across 127 provinces shows how many had been ready to kill the Jews when the law allowed it. Haman's hatred had spread far. And the third time, they took no plunder.

The Feast of Purim

17 This was on the thirteenth day of the month of Adar; and they rested on the fourteenth day of it, and made it a day of feasting and joy. 18 And the Jews who were in Susa assembled on the thirteenth day of it and on the fourteenth day of it, and they rested on the fifteenth day of it, and made it a day of feasting and joy. 19 Therefore the Jews, the villagers, who dwell in the cities of the open regions, are keeping the fourteenth day of the month of Adar as joy and feasting and a good day, and as a day of sending portions each to his neighbor. 20 And Mordecai wrote these words, and he sent letters to all the Jews who were in all the provinces of King Ahasuerus, the near and the far, 21 to establish on them to be keeping the fourteenth day of the month of Adar and the fifteenth day of it, in each and every year, 22 as the days on which the Jews had rest from their enemies, and the month which was turned for them from sorrow into joy and from mourning into a good day; to make them days of feasting and joy and of sending portions each to his neighbor and gifts to the needy. 23 And the Jews accepted what they had begun to do and what Mordecai had written to them, 24 because Haman the son of Hammedatha the Agagite, the adversary of all the Jews, had planned against the Jews to destroy them, and had cast Pur, that is the lot, to throw them into confusion and to destroy them; 25 and when she came before the king, he said with the letter, "Let his evil plan which he planned against the Jews return on his own head, and let them hang him and his sons on the tree." 26 Therefore they called these days Purim, after the name of the Pur. Therefore, because of all the words of this letter, and what they had seen concerning this, and what had come to them, 27 the Jews established and accepted on themselves and on their offspring and on all who joined themselves to them, and it shall not pass away, to be keeping these two days according to their writing and according to their appointed time, in each and every year; 28 and these days are remembered and kept in each and every generation, each and every clan, each and every province, and each and every city; and these days of Purim shall not pass away from among the Jews, and their remembrance shall not cease from their offspring.

Esther Confirms Purim

29 And Esther the queen, the daughter of Abihail (Avichayil), and Mordecai the Jew wrote with all authority, to establish this second letter of Purim. 30 And he sent letters to all the Jews, to the hundred and twenty-seven provinces of the kingdom of Ahasuerus, words of peace and truth, 31 to establish these days of Purim at their appointed times, just as Mordecai the Jew and Esther the queen had established on them, and just as they had established on themselves and on their offspring, the matters of the fasts and their cry. 32 And the command of Esther established these matters of Purim, and it was written in the book.

9:17 made it a day of feasting and joy The feast was not on the day of fighting but on the day of rest. They did not celebrate the killing. They celebrated being alive and safe.
9:19 the Jews, the villagers, who dwell in the cities of the open regions Villages fought one day and feasted on the fourteenth; Susa fought two and feasted on the fifteenth. To this day Jews in Jerusalem and some old walled cities keep Purim on the fifteenth, called Shushan Purim. "Sending portions" echoes Neh 8:10. Joy in God's deliverance turns outward in generosity.
9:20 Mordecai wrote these words Now second only to the king, Mordecai used his power to make sure Jews everywhere remembered what God had done.
9:22 from sorrow into joy and from mourning into a good day The story of the whole book, and of the whole Bible. "You have turned my mourning into dancing" (Ps 30:11). Jesus told His disciples, "your grief will become joy" (John 16:20). And "gifts to the needy" gave even the poor a share. A people rescued from death were to remember by giving.
9:25 Let his evil plan which he planned against the Jews return on his own head The writer sums up the story. When Esther went in, Haman's plan came back on him. The evil a man plans for others falls on his own head (Ps 7:16).
9:26 they called these days Purim, after the name of the Pur Purim is the plural of pur, the lot. The thing Haman used to plan their destruction became the name of their celebration. Every year the name reminds them that God, not chance, decides how the lot falls (Prov 16:33).
9:27 on all who joined themselves to them Those from other peoples who turned to the God of Israel (8:17) were included. The feast was about belonging to God's people, not race.
9:28 these days of Purim shall not pass away from among the Jews And they have not. For about twenty-five hundred years Jews have kept Purim, reading Esther aloud, many making noise at Haman's name. Purim is not commanded in the Law of Moses. It was set by Mordecai and Esther and accepted by the people, which shows God's people may rightly set aside days to remember what He has done. Many think the feast of John 5:1 may have been Purim, but Scripture does not say.
9:31 the matters of the fasts and their cry Remembering Purim meant remembering the fasting and crying out of chapter 4. Joy came after tears. Jews still keep the Fast of Esther the day before Purim. The letters were "words of peace and truth" (9:30), good news and an honest account.
9:32 the command of Esther established these matters of Purim, and it was written in the book The orphan girl taken into the palace gave a command her people have kept for centuries. God kept His people, and with them the line of the Messiah. And they were told never to forget. Jesus gave us a meal of remembrance and said, "do this for My remembrance" (Luke 22:19). Purim remembers a day God saved His people from death. The Lord's Supper remembers a far greater deliverance, through the death of His Son.
10:1 King Ahasuerus put forced labor on the land and the coastlands of the sea Likely a tax or tribute paid in work or goods. The coastlands were the islands and shores of the Mediterranean. The world went on as before. The Jews were still subjects in a foreign empire. God had saved His people, but had not yet ended their exile or set up His kingdom. Many Bible teachers also think it shows an orderly empire under Mordecai's leadership.
10:2 are they not written in the book of the words of the days of the kings of Media and Persia Like the endings in Kings (1 Kgs 14:19), this tells us it is real history, written in the official records. A Jew born in exile, who once refused to bow and wore sackcloth, was now in the history of the greatest empire on earth.

his power and his might, and the full account of the greatness of Mordecai (Mordekhay), whom the king made great, are they not written in the book of the words of the days of the kings of Media (Maday) and Persia (Paras)? 3 For Mordecai the Jew was second to King Ahasuerus, and great among the Jews, and accepted by the multitude of his brothers, seeking good for his people and speaking peace to all his offspring.

10:3 Neh 2:10; 2 Chr 28:7; Rom 14:18

10:3 seeking good for his people and speaking peace to all his offspring The book's last words picture the leader God wants. Second to the king, like Joseph (Gen 41:40-43) and Daniel (Dan 6:3). Accepted by his own people, not envied. Using power for others, not himself: "whoever desires to become great among you will be your servant" (Mark 10:43). Speaking shalom, wholeness and well-being, to his children after him. Haman sought evil and ended on a tree. Mordecai sought good and ended at the king's side.

10:3 Mordecai the Jew was second to King Ahasuerus Mordecai is a small picture of a greater Son of Israel. Jesus was humbled to the cross, and God "highly exalted Him" (Phil 2:9). He sits at the Father's right hand, speaks peace to His people (John 14:27), and one day will reign as King of kings and Lord of lords (Rev 19:16). Then God's people will be safe forever under their own King. Esther never names God, yet He is on every page. If God seems silent in your life, He is still at work. Keep doing right and keep waiting.

JOB

Introduction

Title

The book is named for its main character, Job, a godly man of the land of Uz (1:1). In our English Bibles it is the first of the poetic and wisdom books, which run from Job through the Song of Songs. In the Hebrew Bible it belongs to the third section, the Writings. Proverbs teaches how life usually works under God. Ecclesiastes and Job look at what happens when life does not seem to work that way.

Author and Date

The book does not name its author. Jewish tradition gives it to Moses. Others have suggested Job himself, Elihu, Solomon, or an unknown wise man of Israel. Whoever wrote it knew the speeches in great detail, and knew what happened in heaven in chapters 1 and 2, which no man could know unless God revealed it. I believe the writer was a man of deep faith, guided by the Holy Spirit to record these events and speeches truly.

The time of writing is unknown, and good Bible teachers disagree. Some place it in the time of the patriarchs, soon after the events. Some follow the tradition that Moses wrote it, perhaps during his years in Midian, about 1500 B.C. Others place it in the days of Solomon, about 950 B.C., when Israel's wisdom writing flourished. Many modern critical scholars date it during or after the exile, between about 600 and 400 B.C. The book does not settle the question. What matters most is that it is a true record of real events.

Background and Setting

The events most likely took place in the time of the patriarchs, about 2000 B.C. Job offers sacrifices himself as head of his family, with no priest (1:5), as Abraham and Jacob did. His wealth is counted in flocks, herds and servants. He lives another 140 years after his trials (42:16), a lifespan like the patriarchs'. The book never mentions Israel, the exodus or the Law, and raiders from Sheba and the Chaldeans still roam as tribes (1:15, 17).

Job lived in Uz, east of Israel (1:1, 3). Scripture links Uz with Edom (Lam 4:21), though some place it farther north and east toward Aram. The friends come from nearby peoples, many related to Abraham's family. Eliphaz is from Teman, a clan of Edom named for a grandson of Esau (Gen 36:11). Bildad is a Shuhite, perhaps from Shuah, a son of Abraham by Keturah (Gen 25:2). Zophar is a Naamathite, from a place we cannot identify for sure. Elihu is a Buzite, perhaps from Buz, a nephew of Abraham (Gen 22:21).

Some have taught that Job is a parable. I do not believe that. The book begins like a history, naming Job, his land and his friends. God names Job alongside Noah and Daniel, two real men (Ezek 14:14, 20), and James points to "the endurance of Job" (James 5:11) as a true example.

The opening and closing chapters are plain history. From 3:1 to 42:6 the book is poetry. Hebrew poetry rhymes thoughts rather than sounds: one line says something and the next says it again in other words, adds to it, or gives its opposite. Every word in Job is a true record of what was said, but not everything that was said is true. The friends apply true ideas wrongly, and the LORD says they did not speak what was right about Him (42:7). Job says things in his pain that go too far, and he takes them back (40:4-5; 42:3-6). These notes name each speaker and say where a speaker goes wrong.

In the SLB, "LORD" in capital letters stands for God's personal name, Yahweh. In Job that name is used mostly in the opening and closing chapters and when the LORD speaks from the storm. In the speeches, Job and his friends mostly call Him God (El or Eloah) and the Almighty (Shaddai).

Themes

The theme of Job is that God is sovereign, that He is good, and that He can be trusted even when we do not understand what He is doing. Without knowing it, Job became the center of a contest in heaven when Satan claimed that Job served God only for what he got. God allowed Satan to take his wealth, his ten children and his health. Job's answer on the worst day of his life is the heart of the book: "The LORD has given, and the LORD has taken; let the name of the LORD be blessed" (1:21).

The book asks why the righteous suffer. The three friends hold one idea above all: God always blesses the righteous and punishes the wicked in this life, so great suffering must mean great sin. That idea is partly true, but it is not the whole truth, and they were wrong to use it against Job (42:7). Jesus faced the same idea when His disciples asked about the man born blind (John 9:3). Job holds on to his innocence but goes too far in questioning God. When God finally speaks, He does not explain the reason. He shows Job His power and wisdom in creation, and Job learns to trust Him. The book takes us from knowing about God to knowing Him: "By the hearing of the ear I had heard of You, and now my eye has seen You" (42:5).

Job also teaches that suffering is not always punishment for sin, warns us against easy answers when others hurt, and shows that God hears honest cries and answers in His own time. The friends did best when they sat with Job in silence (2:13). Key verses: 1:21; 13:15; 19:25-26; 38:4; 42:5-6.

Christ in Job

Job is not a book of prophecy, but again and again Job reaches for something only Christ would bring. In 9:33 he cries that there is no one to stand between him and God and lay a hand on them both. The New Testament answers, "there is one God, and one mediator of God and men, the man Christ Jesus" (1 Tim 2:5). In 16:19 Job says his witness is in heaven, and Christ is our Advocate with the Father (1 John 2:1), who always lives to intercede for us (Heb 7:25). In 19:25 Job says, "I know that my Redeemer lives" (19:25), and that in his flesh he will see God. Christ is that living Redeemer, raised from the dead as the first-fruits of those who belong to Him (1 Cor 15:20).

Job himself, a righteous man who suffered though he had not sinned as his friends claimed, mocked by those around him, and then praying for the very friends who wronged him (42:8-10), gives us a picture of the only truly innocent Sufferer, who prayed for those who wronged Him. And Satan, the accuser of chapters 1 and 2, is "the accuser of our brothers" (Rev 12:10), who will one day be thrown down for good.

Hard Passages

Who are the sons of God, and who is Satan (1:6)? I take the sons of God as angels and Satan as the personal devil, the accuser, who can do nothing without God's permission (1:12; 2:6). Some take the Hebrew as a title, the accuser, rather than a name. Either way, God sets the limits.

Why did God allow Job's suffering and the death of his children? The book does not give Job the reason, and we should not claim to know more than it says. We see that Satan's charge was false and that Job's faith was real. I believe little children who die are safe with God.

Job's wish that he had never been born and his longing for death (3; 6:8-9; 7:15-16; 10:18) are honest cries of pain, recorded, not commanded. God did not answer them with condemnation but with His presence. If you or someone you know feels that way, please reach out to a pastor, a doctor or a crisis line right away.

Job 19:25-27 is hard Hebrew. I believe Job looks to a living Redeemer and to seeing God in his flesh, which points to Christ and the resurrection. Others think he hoped only to be vindicated before his death, or to see God after death without his body.

Teachers disagree about Elihu (32-37). Some see him as a young man who speaks truly and prepares the way for the LORD, since God does not rebuke him. Others see him as one more proud speaker whom God passes over. The notes give both views.

Behemoth and Leviathan (40:15-41:34) have been taken as the hippopotamus and the crocodile, as large creatures now gone, or as poetic pictures of chaos and pride. Whatever they were, they are God's creatures, not His rivals.

Job's Integrity and Blessing

1 There was a man in the land of Uz (Uts); Job (Iyov) was his name; and that man was blameless and upright, and fearing God and turning aside from evil. 2 And seven sons and three daughters were born to him. 3 And his livestock was seven thousand sheep and three thousand camels and five hundred pairs of oxen and five hundred female donkeys, and very many servants; and that man was greater than all the sons of the east. 4 And his sons went and made a feast in the house of each one on his day, and they sent and invited their three sisters to eat and to drink with them. 5 And it was, when the days of the feast had gone around, that Job sent and sanctified them, and he rose early in the morning and offered up burnt offerings according to the number of them all; for Job said, "Perhaps my sons have sinned and cursed God in their heart." Thus Job did all the days.

Satan Accuses Job

6 And it was the day when the sons of God came to present themselves before the LORD, and Satan also came in their midst. 7 And the LORD said to Satan, "From where are you coming?" And Satan answered the LORD and said, "From roving about on the earth and from walking about on it." 8 And the LORD said to Satan, "Have you set your heart on My servant Job? For there is none like him on the earth, a man blameless and upright, fearing God and turning aside from evil." 9 And Satan answered the LORD and said, "Has Job feared God for nothing? 10 Have You not Yourself put a hedge around him and around his house and around all that is his, all around? The work of his hands You have blessed, and his livestock has spread out in the land. 11 But now, stretch out Your hand, please, and touch all that is his; if he does not curse You to Your face!" 12 And the LORD said to Satan, "Look, all that is his is in your hand; only against him do not stretch out your hand." And Satan went out from the presence of the LORD.

Job Loses Everything

13 And it was the day when his sons and his daughters were eating and drinking wine in the house of their brother, the firstborn, 14 and a messenger came to Job and said, "The oxen were plowing and the female donkeys grazing beside them, 15 and Sheba (Sheva) fell on them and took them, and they struck the youths by the mouth of the sword; and I have escaped, only I alone, to tell you." 16 This one was still speak-

1:1 There was a man in the land of Uz; Job was his name Uz was east of Israel, probably near Edom (Lam 4:21). Job was a real man in a real place (Ezek 14:14; James 5:11). "Blameless" means whole, a man of integrity, not sinless; he speaks of "the iniquities of my youth" (13:26). He was upright with people, feared God, and turned from evil on purpose. The whole book rests on this verse. Whatever the friends say, God's own record says Job was not suffering for hidden sin.
1:3 That man was greater than all the sons of the east Seven sons and three daughters spoke of a full, blessed family. His wealth was counted in flocks and servants, like a patriarch such as Abraham (Gen 13:2). The sons of the east were the peoples east of the Jordan and in the deserts beyond. Keep his greatness in mind. When it is all taken, we will see how far he fell.
1:4 each one on his day Perhaps their birthdays (compare 3:1). The brothers invited their sisters. This was a close family that enjoyed being together.
1:5 Perhaps my sons have sinned and cursed God in their heart There was no priesthood yet, so Job served as priest for his family, as Noah, Abraham and Jacob did (Gen 8:20; 35:7). A burnt offering was wholly burned on the altar, for worship and to atone, to cover sin so the sinner could be at peace with God. Job cared about their hearts, not only outward sin. "Thus Job did all the days." A father who prays for his children's hearts again and again is doing what Job did.
1:6 the sons of God came to present themselves before the LORD The scene moves to heaven. In Job the sons of God are angels, who shouted for joy when God laid the earth's foundations, before any human being existed (38:7). They come to report to their King, like officials before a throne.
1:6 Satan also came in their midst The Hebrew is ha-satan, the adversary or the accuser, with "the" in front like a title. Some scholars read it as an angel of God's court acting as prosecutor, not yet the devil. I believe this is the same being the rest of the Bible calls Satan and the devil, who prowls "as a roaring lion" (1 Pet 5:8) and is "the accuser of our brothers" (Rev 12:10). He too must present himself. Satan is not God's equal. He answers to Him.
1:7 From where are you coming God did not need the answer. He asked so Satan would give account. "Roving about on the earth" pictures a restless one, always looking.
1:8 Have you set your heart on My servant Job It is the LORD who brings Job up and calls him "My servant," the highest honor. Before the trials, God knew how Job would stand. He was not gambling. And notice, the trials come not because Job was bad, but because he was good. That is the very thing the friends will not accept.
1:9 Has Job feared God for nothing The question at the heart of the book. Satan says Job is good only because it pays. He also admits he could not get through God's hedge. His charge is against both Job and God: Job's faith is fake, and God is not worth loving for Himself, only for His gifts. Will anyone love God when there is nothing in it for him? Do I love God, or what He gives me?
1:12 only against him do not stretch out your hand God gives permission and sets the limit. Satan can do nothing without God allowing it and cannot go one step past His line. Jesus told Peter, "Satan has asked for you, to sift you like wheat" (Luke 22:31), and then said He had prayed for him (Luke 22:32). Why God allowed it Scripture does not fully tell us, but He had a purpose and was never out of control.
1:15 I have escaped, only I alone, to tell you Sheba means Sabean raiders from Arabia. "The mouth of the sword" is its edge. Every messenger ends with the same words, and the pattern is meant to hit hard.
1:16 The fire of God fell from the heavens Probably lightning. The servant called it the fire of God, and Job will wonder the same. It looked like God Himself was against him, but we know from 1:12 that Satan acted, by God's permission. The Chaldeans of 1:17 were then raiders from the north and east, long before they ruled Babylon. Raiders from south and north, fire from heaven: it came from every side.

ing, and this one came and said, "The fire of God fell from the heavens and burned among the sheep and among the youths and consumed them; and I have escaped, only I alone, to tell you." 17 This one was still speaking, and this one came and said, "The Chaldeans (Kasdim) formed three bands and made a raid on the camels and took them, and they struck the youths by the mouth of the sword; and I have escaped, only I alone, to tell you." 18 Yet this one was speaking, and this one came and said, "Your sons and your daughters were eating and drinking wine in the house of their brother, the firstborn, 19 and look, a great wind came from across the wilderness and touched the four corners of the house, and it fell on the youths, and they died; and I have escaped, only I alone, to tell you."

Job Worships

20 And Job arose and tore his robe and shaved his head, and he fell to the earth and bowed down. 21 And he said, "Naked I came out from the womb of my mother, and naked I shall return there. The LORD has given, and the LORD has taken; let the name of the LORD be blessed." 22 In all this Job did not sin, and he did not ascribe unseemliness to God.

JOB 2

Satan's Second Accusation

1 And it was the day when the sons of God came to present themselves before the LORD, and Satan also came in their midst to present himself before the LORD. 2 And the LORD said to Satan, "From where are you coming?" And Satan answered the LORD and said, "From roving about on the earth and from walking about on it." 3 And the LORD said to Satan, "Have you set your heart on My servant Job (Iyov)? For there is none like him on the earth, a man blameless and upright, fearing God and turning aside from evil. And he is still holding fast to his integrity, and you incited Me against him to swallow him up for nothing." 4 And Satan answered the LORD and said, "Skin for skin! And all that belongs to the man he will give for his life. 5 But stretch out Your hand, please, and touch his bone and his flesh; if he does not curse You to Your face!" 6 And the LORD said to Satan, "Look, he is in your hand; only guard his life."

Job Struck With Sores

7 And Satan went out from the presence of the LORD, and he struck Job with bad boils from the sole of his foot and to his crown. 8 And he took for himself a potsherd to scrape himself with it, and he was sitting in the midst of the ashes. 9 And his wife said to him, "Are you still holding fast to your integrity? Curse God and die." 10 And he said to her, "As one of the foolish women speaks, you speak. Shall we also accept the good from God, and not accept the evil?" In all this Job did not sin with his lips.

1:19 a great wind came from across the wilderness and touched the four corners of the house All ten children died at once. I will not pretend this is easy to read. Job lost ten children in a moment and everything he owned besides. The Bible does not make it small. It tells it plainly, and then shows how one man brought that grief to God. If your grief is heavy, do not carry it alone. Talk to a pastor or a trusted friend.

1:20 Job arose and tore his robe and shaved his head Signs of deep mourning. Job did not pretend he was fine, and faith does not mean we do not weep; Jesus wept at Lazarus' tomb (John 11:35). "Bowed down" is the word for worship. On the worst day of his life, Job's first move was toward God, not away from Him.

1:21 The LORD has given, and the LORD has taken; let the name of the LORD be blessed He came with nothing and will leave with nothing. Everything between was a gift. Job knew nothing of Satan and blamed no raiders or wind. He saw God's hand behind it all and still blessed His name. Satan said he would curse God to His face (1:11). Instead he blessed Him. These words do not take the pain away, but they say God is still God, and still good, even here.

1:22 In all this Job did not sin, and he did not ascribe unseemliness to God He did not charge God with wrong. Satan's first charge failed. Job feared God for nothing, because God Himself was worth fearing. Job will cry out and ask hard questions later, but this verse stands over the whole book: "You have heard of the endurance of Job" (James 5:11).

2:1 Satan also came in their midst to present himself before the LORD The heavenly scene repeats 1:6-8 almost word for word. Satan's first attack has failed, and he must again give account.

2:3 you incited Me against him to swallow him up for nothing Job was "still holding fast to his integrity," whole and the same inside and out. "For nothing" is the word Satan used in 1:9. Satan said Job's faith had no cause but his blessings. God turns it around: Job's suffering had no cause in Job. This is the key the friends never have. It was not punishment. "You incited Me" does not mean Satan controls God. God allowed the test for His own purpose, and He takes the full weight of it on Himself.

2:4 Skin for skin Like a trader's saying: a man will give up anything to save his own skin. Satan claims that at bottom every man loves himself more than God. He is the accuser, always looking for one more way to prove God's people false.

2:6 Look, he is in your hand; only guard his life Again God draws the line. Satan may touch Job's body but not take his life. God is faithful and does not let us be tested beyond what we can bear (1 Cor 10:13).

2:7 he struck Job with bad boils from the sole of his foot and to his crown Scripture does not name the disease. Later verses add hardened, oozing skin covered with worms (7:5), sleeplessness (7:4), blackened skin and burning bones (30:30), gnawing pain at night (30:17), and wasting to the bone (19:20). It was painful and it lasted.

2:8 he was sitting in the midst of the ashes He scraped his sores with a piece of broken pottery. The ash heap outside town was where waste was burned and where outcasts and the sick sat. The greatest man in the east sat on the garbage heap. If you live with long sickness or constant pain, you know how it wears down body and spirit. God has not forgotten anyone who suffers this way.

2:9 Curse God and die She uses God's own words, "holding fast to your integrity," but where God praised it, she tells him to let it go. We should be careful how we judge her. She had lost all ten children too and watched her husband rot in the ashes. Some read her more harshly, some more kindly, as wanting his suffering to end. Even so, her counsel was wrong, and it was exactly what Satan wanted.

2:10 Shall we also accept the good from God, and not accept the evil Job did not call her a fool. He said she spoke like one. In the Bible a fool lives as if God does not matter (Ps 14:1). "Evil" here means trouble or disaster, not moral wrong. God does no evil, but He allows hard things, and He is still God when He does. "Job did not sin with his lips." Satan's second attack failed.

Job's Three Friends Come

11 And the three friends of Job heard of all this evil that had come on him, and they came, each one from his own place, Eliphaz (Elifaz) the Temanite and Bildad the Shuhite and Zophar (Tsofar) the Naamathite; and they met together by appointment to come to show sympathy to him and to comfort him. 12 And they lifted up their eyes from a distance and did not recognize him, and they lifted up their voice and wept; and they tore each one his robe and sprinkled dust on their heads toward the heavens. 13 And they sat with him on the earth seven days and seven nights, and there was none speaking a word to him, for they saw that the pain was very great.

Job Curses the Day of His Birth

1 After this Job (Iyov) opened his mouth and cursed his day.
2 And Job answered and said, 3 "Let the day perish on which I was born, and the night which said, 'A man has been conceived.' 4 That day, let it be darkness; let not God above seek it, and let not daylight shine on it. 5 Let darkness and deep darkness redeem it; let a cloud settle on it; let the black-nesses of day terrify it. 6 That night, let gloom take it; let it not rejoice among the days of the year; into the number of the months let it not come. 7 Look, that night, let it be bar-ren; let no cry of joy come into it. 8 Let the cursers of day curse it, those ready to rouse Leviathan. 9 Let the stars of its twilight grow dark; let it wait for light, and let there be none, and let it not look on the eyelids of the dawn, 10 for it did not shut the doors of my womb, and hide trouble from my eyes.

Why Did I Not Die at Birth?

11 Why did I not die from the womb, come forth from the belly and expire? 12 Why did knees receive me, and why breasts, that I should suck? 13 For now I would have lain down and been quiet; I would have slept; then there would be rest for me, 14 with kings and counselors of the earth, who built ruins for themselves, 15 or with princes who had gold, who filled their houses with silver. 16 Or like a hidden miscarriage I would not exist, like infants who have not seen light. 17 There the wicked cease from turmoil, and there the weary of strength rest. 18 Together the prisoners are at ease; they do not hear the voice of the taskmaster. 19 The small and the great are there, the same, and the slave is free from his master.

Why Is Light Given to the Miserable?

20 Why does He give light to the sufferer, and life to the bitter of soul, 21 who long for death, and it is not, and dig for it more than for hidden treasures, 22 who are glad to the

2:11 Eliphaz the Temanite and Bildad the Shuhite and Zophar the Naamathite Teman was in Edom (Gen 36:11). Shuah may be linked to a son of Abraham and Keturah (Gen 25:2). Naamah is unknown. They were likely wise men and leaders, and they came "to show sympathy to him and to comfort him." Their motive was good. Remember how they started when they go wrong. Good friends with good intentions can still say very harmful things.
2:12 they lifted up their eyes from a distance and did not recognize him Sickness and grief had changed him past knowing. They wept, tore their robes and threw dust toward the heavens, all signs of mourning.
2:13 there was none speaking a word to him, for they saw that the pain was very great Seven days was the usual mourning for the dead (Gen 50:10). They mourned as if he had died. This silence was the best comfort they ever gave. We often feel we must explain or fix someone's pain, but usually what they need most is for us to be there: "weep with those who weep" (Rom 12:15). Their trouble started when they opened their mouths.
3:1 Job opened his mouth and cursed his day His birthday. Notice what he did not do. Satan said he would curse God (1:11; 2:5), and his wife urged it (2:9). Job cursed the day, not the God who made it.
3:2 Job answered and said He answered the silence and the whole terrible week. From here to 42:6 the book is poetry. Hebrew poetry rhymes ideas, not sounds. One line says something and the next repeats it, builds on it, or sets it against its opposite. This is parallelism. In 3:3, day and night, birth and conception, say one thing twice, and the repeating makes it stronger.
3:3 Let the day perish on which I was born Job wishes he had never begun, going back even to the night he was conceived.
3:4 That day, let it be darkness At creation God said, "Let there be light" (Gen 1:3). Job speaks as if he wants that word reversed for one day of his life, and wishes God would forget it ever happened.
3:5 Let darkness and deep darkness redeem it To redeem is to buy back or claim. Let darkness take that day as its own. Clouds and eclipse-like blackness should terrify it. Job piles up every word for darkness he can find. That is how deep his despair was.
3:7 Let it be barren; let no cry of joy come into it The birth of a son was usually a time of shouting for joy. Job wishes that joy had never been heard.
3:8 Let the cursers of day curse it, those ready to rouse Leviathan Leviathan is the great sea creature God describes in chapter 41 as one He made and controls. Many Bible teachers explain that some ancient curse-makers spoke of stirring up a sea monster to swallow the sun or moon in an eclipse. Job does not believe in their power. He uses a picture his hearers knew: if anyone can curse a day, let them curse that one.
3:11 Why did I not die from the womb The first "why" of many. Every care that kept him alive as a baby now seems like cruelty. Asking why is not cursing God. Jesus cried on the cross, "My God, My God, why have You forsaken Me?" (Matt 27:46; Ps 22:1). God can handle our honest questions.
3:13 I would have slept; then there would be rest for me Rest is what Job wanted most, in body and mind. In the grave he would lie with kings and princes whose cities became ruins and whose gold did not save them. Death levels everyone.
3:17 There the wicked cease from turmoil, and there the weary of strength rest Prisoners at ease, small and great the same, the slave free. In his pain the grave looks like the one place of peace. Job's view of death here is limited. Later he reaches for more (14:14; 19:25-27), and Christ "abolished death and brought life and incorruptibility to light through the gospel" (2 Tim 1:10). There is a judgment and a resurrection for all (John 5:28-29; Heb 9:27). Job is not teaching on the afterlife. He is telling us how tired he is.
3:20 Why does he give light to the sufferer, and life to the bitter of soul His question widens. Job means God, without naming Him. Why keep alive those who long for death and dig for it more than for treasure?

point of rejoicing; they exult when they find the grave, 23 to a man whose way is hidden, and whom God has hedged around? 24 For my sighing comes before my bread, and my roarings pour out like the waters. 25 For I dreaded a dread, and it has come to me; and what I feared comes to me. 26 I am not at ease, and I am not quiet, and I am not at rest, and turmoil has come."

Eliphaz's First Speech

1 And Eliphaz (Elifaz) the Temanite answered and said, 2 "Should one attempt a word to you, will you be weary? And to hold back words, who is able? 3 Look, you have instructed many, and you have strengthened slack hands. 4 Your words have raised up the stumbling, and you have made firm bending knees. 5 For now it comes to you, and you are weary; it touches you, and you are dismayed. 6 Is not your fear your confidence, your hope, and the integrity of your ways? 7 Remember, please: who that was innocent has perished? And where were the upright cut off? 8 Just as I have seen, the plowers of wickedness and the sowers of trouble reap it. 9 From the breath of God they perish, and from the wind of His anger they come to an end. 10 The roaring of a lion and the voice of a fierce lion, and the teeth of young lions are broken. 11 A strong lion is perishing for lack of prey, and the young of the lioness are scattered.

A Spirit Passes Before Eliphaz

12 And to me a word was brought secretly, and my ear received a whisper of it. 13 In disquieting thoughts from visions of the night, when deep sleep falls on men, 14 dread met me, and trembling, and it made the multitude of my bones dread. 15 And a spirit passed over my face; the hair of my flesh bristled. 16 It stood still, and I did not recognize its appearance; a form was before my eyes; silence, and a voice I heard: 17 'Shall a mortal be righteous before God? Shall a man be pure before his Maker? 18 Look, in His servants He does not trust, and against His angels He charges error; 19 how much more those who dwell in houses of clay, whose foundation is in the dust; they crush them before a moth. 20 From morning to evening they are crushed to pieces; without anyone regarding it, they perish forever. 21 Has not their tent cord been pulled up within them? 3:23 whom God has hedged around A painful echo. Satan said God had hedged Job in with protection (1:10). Now Job feels hedged in, trapped. The God who once protected him seems to be closing him in. Job did not know what we know from chapters 1 and 2.

3:25 I dreaded a dread, and it has come to me Perhaps he had always feared losing it all, or each new fear came true as soon as he felt it. Either way, his worst nightmare was real. His sighing came before his bread, and his cries poured out like water (3:24).

3:26 I am not at ease, and I am not quiet, and I am not at rest, and turmoil has come Four lines with no hope at the end. God does not answer in this chapter, but He put these words in His Book. If you have wished you were never born, or thought the grave would be a relief, Job felt it too, and so did Jeremiah (Jer 20:14-18) and Elijah (1 Kgs 19:4). It does not mean you have no faith or that God has left you. God stayed with Job and in the end spoke to him. Please do not carry this alone. Talk to a pastor, a doctor or a crisis line today. Jesus said, "Come to Me, all who labor and are burdened, and I will give you rest" (Matt 11:28).

4:1 Eliphaz the Temanite answered and said Eliphaz speaks first, likely as the oldest (15:10). Teman in Edom was known for its wise men (Jer 49:7). From here to chapter 31 Job and his friends take turns. Remember as you read that the friends never saw what happened in heaven in chapters 1 and 2.

4:2 to hold back words, who is able He begins politely, knowing Job is in no state for a lecture, but Job's lament in chapter 3 has troubled him and he cannot keep quiet.

4:5 now it comes to you, and you are weary Job had strengthened many (4:3-4; 29:12-16). This sounds kind but stings: you could give advice but cannot take it. There is some truth in it. But a man who has lost ten children does not need to be told he is not handling it well.

4:6 Is not your fear your confidence Trust your godly life, he says. It sounds comforting, but it sets up his next point. If Job's goodness should protect him, why is this happening?

4:7 who that was innocent has perished The heart of Eliphaz's view: the innocent never suffer like this, and people reap what they sow (4:8). In part that is true (Gal 6:7). But he has made a general truth into an iron rule: great suffering means great sin. Abel was innocent and murdered, and above all Jesus was innocent and crucified. Jesus rejected this idea plainly (John 9:2-3; Luke 13:4-5). God Himself said Job's suffering had no cause in Job (2:3), and the LORD will say the friends did not speak what was right (42:7). If you have been told your sickness or loss proves hidden sin, the Bible does not teach that. Sometimes suffering comes from sin. Often it does not, and only God knows the reasons.

4:11 the young of the lioness are scattered God breaks the teeth of wicked "lions" and scatters their young. Job's children had just been scattered by death. Eliphaz may not have meant it cruelly, but the picture fits too closely. He is hinting that Job's losses are the kind that come to the wicked.

4:12 To me a word was brought secretly Eliphaz claims a special revelation in a night vision, with dread, trembling, and a spirit passing before his face (4:13-16). It gives his words weight. But he does not say the spirit came from God, and God never confirms it. Its message does not sound like the God who speaks so warmly of "My servant Job" (1:8). Bible teachers differ. Some think it a true word misused, some only a dream, some a deceiving spirit. A frightening experience does not make a message true. Test every message by God's Word (1 John 4:1).

4:17 Shall a mortal be righteous before God True as far as it goes. No human is perfect before God (Rom 3:23), and some angels did fall (2 Pet 2:4). But Job never claimed to be sinless. He said he had not done anything to deserve this. Eliphaz answers a claim Job did not make, and he leaves out that God loves His servants and calls them blameless by His grace (1:8).

4:19 those who dwell in houses of clay, whose foundation is in the dust Our bodies are made from dust (Gen 2:7), crushed as easily as a moth.

4:21 Has not their tent cord been pulled up within them Life is a tent that collapses when the cord is pulled. Paul uses a like picture (2 Cor 5:1). "They die, and not with wisdom" hints that Job should get wisdom before it is too late. Life is short, but this is cold comfort to a man who has just buried ten children. Eliphaz says much about God's greatness and man's weakness and very little about God's mercy to the sufferer. That is the problem with his whole speech.

not with wisdom.'

JOB 5

Man Is Born for Trouble

1 Call, please; is there one answering you? And to which of the holy ones will you turn? 2 For vexation kills the fool, and jealousy puts the simple to death. 3 I myself have seen a fool taking root, and suddenly I cursed his abode. 4 His sons are far from safety, and they are crushed in the gate, and there is no deliverer; 5 whose harvest the hungry eats, and even from among thorns he takes it, and the snare pants for their wealth. 6 For hardship does not come forth from the dust, and trouble does not spring up from the ground. 7 For man is born to trouble, and the sons of flame rise high to fly.

Eliphaz Urges Job to Seek God

8 But as for me, I would seek God, and to God I would set my cause, 9 who does great things, and there is no searching them out, wonders until there is no number; 10 who gives rain on the face of the earth and sends waters on the face of the open places, 11 to set the lowly on high, and those who mourn are lifted high in safety; 12 who frustrates the plans of the crafty, and their hands do not accomplish success; 13 who catches the wise in their craftiness, and the counsel of the twisted is hastened. 14 By day they meet darkness, and like the night they grope at noon. 15 And He saves from the sword, from their mouth, and from the hand of the strong, the needy. 16 And there is hope for the poor, and injustice shuts its mouth.

Happy Is the Man God Corrects

17 Look, how blessed is the mortal whom God reproves; and do not reject the discipline of the Almighty. 18 For He causes pain, and He binds up; He shatters, and His hands heal. 19 In six distresses He will deliver you, and in seven evil will not touch you. 20 In famine He will ransom you from death, and in battle from the hands of the sword. 21 In the whip of the tongue you will be hidden, and you will not be afraid of destruction when it comes. 22 At destruction and at hunger you will laugh, and of the living things of the earth do not be afraid. 23 For your covenant will be with the stones of the field, and the living things of the field will be at peace with you. 24 And you will know that your tent is peace, and you will inspect your abode and not miss anything. 25 And you will know that your offspring will be many, and your descendants like the plants of the earth. 26 You will come in full vigor to the grave, as a heap of sheaves goes up in its season.
27 Look, this we have searched out; so it is. Hear it, and you, know it for yourself."

5:26 Gen 15:15; Prov 9:11; Prov 10:27
5:27 Ps 111:2; Job 8:8-10; Job 12:2

5:1 to which of the holy ones will you turn The holy ones are angels (15:15). No one in heaven will take your side if you keep complaining, Eliphaz says. Job will soon long for just such a one to stand between him and God (9:33; 16:19).
5:2 vexation kills the fool Vexation is angry frustration; the simple are easily led astray. Anger can eat a person alive, but Job's lament was grief, not foolishness.
5:4 His sons are far from safety, and they are crushed in the gate The gate was where elders judged cases. Feel how this lands on Job. His children were crushed when the house fell (1:19), and raiders took his goods (5:5). Eliphaz describes what happened to Job and calls it the fate of a fool. This is what happens when we fit someone's suffering into our theory instead of listening.
5:7 man is born to trouble, and the sons of flame rise high to fly The sons of flame are sparks. Since the fall, trouble is part of every life (Gen 3:17-19). But Eliphaz means trouble always has a cause in what a man does (5:6), so Job's must have a cause in Job. That is where he goes wrong.
5:8 I would seek God, and to God I would set my cause Good advice in itself, and Job will do it more boldly than Eliphaz expects.
5:11 to set the lowly on high, and those who mourn are lifted high in safety God's wonders cannot be counted (5:9), words Job himself will echo (9:10). He does lift the humble and comfort mourners: "Blessed are those who mourn" (Matt 5:4).
5:13 who catches the wise in their craftiness Paul quotes this as Scripture (1 Cor 3:19). That shows how to read the friends. They often spoke true things about God. Their error was in applying them to Job, who was not one of the crafty.
5:16 there is hope for the poor, and injustice shuts its mouth God rescues the needy from sword and slander (5:15). Job himself had been such a rescuer (29:12-17). The irony is that Job, now poor and needy, was being crushed by his own friends' words.
5:17 how blessed is the mortal whom God reproves True and comforting. God disciplines those He loves as a father does (Prov 3:11-12; Heb 12:5-11). The Almighty translates Shaddai, a name common in Job that speaks of His power over all things. But Eliphaz assumes Job's suffering is discipline for sin. Discipline is real, but not every trial is discipline. Some test faith, as Job's did, or show God's glory (John 9:3).
5:18 He causes pain, and He binds up God can wound and heal (Hos 6:1).
5:19 In six distresses He will deliver you, and in seven evil will not touch you Six, then seven, is a Hebrew way of saying in every trouble, and more. These words have comforted many, but promising safety from famine and raiders after the raiders had taken everything sounds hollow. It is a future that depends on Job confessing a sin he did not commit.
5:25 your offspring will be many A painful line. His children were dead, and Eliphaz does not seem to notice. In the end God did give Job more children and a full old age (42:13-17), not because he confessed hidden sin, but after God spoke and Job prayed for these very friends.
5:27 this we have searched out; so it is That confidence is the problem. Eliphaz has a neat system that he thinks explains everything, but he does not know what we know from chapters 1 and 2. We can know much true theology and still be wrong about why someone suffers. Humility says, I do not know why this happened to you, but I know God is good, and I am here with you.

JOB 6

Job Answers Eliphaz

1 And Job (Iyov) answered and said, 2 "If only my vexation were surely weighed, and they would lift up my calamity in the balances together! 3 For now it would be heavier than the sand of the seas; therefore my words have been rash.
4 For the arrows of the Almighty are with me, whose poison my spirit is drinking; the terrors of God are arranged against me. 5 Does a wild donkey bray over grass, or does an ox low over its fodder? 6 Is tasteless food eaten without salt? Or is there taste in the slime of purslane? 7 My soul refuses to touch them; they are like the sickness of my bread. 8 Who will grant that my petition come, and that God give my hope, 9 and that God be willing and crush me, loosen His hand and cut me off! 10 And may it still be my comfort, and may I leap for joy in anguish; He does not spare; for I have not hidden the words of the Holy One. 11 What is my strength, that I should wait? And what is my end, that I should prolong my life? 12 Is my strength the strength of stones, or is my flesh bronze? 13 Is it that my help is not in me, and that success has been driven from me?

Friends Like a Dry Stream

14 To the despairing is due steadfast love from his friend, and the fear of the Almighty he forsakes. 15 My brothers have acted treacherously like a wadi, like the channel of wadis that pass away, 16 which are dark because of the ice; over them the snow hides itself. 17 At the time they are scorched, they are silenced; in its heat they are extinguished from their place. 18 The paths of their way twist; they go up into the wasteland and perish. 19 The caravans of Tema looked; the travelers of Sheba (Sheva) waited eagerly for them. 20 They were ashamed because he had trusted; they came to it and were disappointed. 21 For now you have become like it; you see a terror and are afraid. 22 Is it that I have said, 'Give to me,' and, 'From your wealth offer a bribe for me,' 23 and, 'Rescue me from the hand of an adversary,' and, 'From the hand of the ruthless ransom me'? 24 Teach me, and I myself will keep silent; and in what I have erred, make me understand. 25 How painful are words of uprightness! And what does reproving from you reprove? 26 Do you plan to reprove words, and the sayings of one who despairs are for the wind? 27 Even over a fatherless one you would cast lots, and you would bargain over your friend. 28 And now be willing, turn to me; and to your faces, if I will lie!
29 Turn back, please; let it not be injustice; and turn back,

6:2 If only my vexation were surely weighed Job answers Eliphaz through chapter 7. He picks up Eliphaz's word, vexation (5:2). Weigh my grief, he says, and it is heavier than the sand of the seas.
6:3 Therefore my words have been rash He admits his words in chapter 3 were wild and asks them to see where they came from. When someone in deep pain says rash things, weigh the pain before you judge the words.
6:4 the arrows of the Almighty are with me Job feels God has shot him with poisoned arrows and lined up terrors like an army. In one sense he is right; nothing happened without God's permission (1:12; 2:6). But he knows nothing of Satan's part or God's purpose, so God feels like his enemy. Many believers have felt this. The feeling is real even when it is not the whole truth. God was still calling him "My servant" (2:3).
6:5 Does a wild donkey bray over grass An animal with food does not complain. Job is not crying out for nothing.
6:6 is there taste in the slime of purslane Purslane is a plant with slimy juice, like egg white. He may mean Eliphaz's words were tasteless to him, or that his whole life had lost its flavor.
6:9 that God be willing and crush me Job's "hope" is that God would end his life. He does not take his own life or speak of it. He leaves it in God's hands, and God does not grant the prayer, because He had a better answer coming. Moses (Num 11:15) and Elijah (1 Kgs 19:4) prayed this way, and God was gentle with them. If you have prayed this, please do not carry it alone. Talk to a pastor, a doctor or a crisis line today.
6:10 I have not hidden the words of the Holy One Even wanting to die, Job has one comfort: he has not denied God's words. The Holy One speaks of God's perfect purity. He holds on to his faith.
6:12 Is my strength the strength of stones, or is my flesh bronze He has no strength to wait for the bright future Eliphaz promised (5:19-26). Eliphaz told him to lean on his integrity (4:6), but he has nothing left inside (6:13). That is an honest place to be, where God often meets us: His power is made perfect in weakness (2 Cor 12:9).
6:14 To the despairing is due steadfast love from his friend Steadfast love is hesed, loyal, faithful kindness. The next line may mean a friend who withholds kindness forsakes the fear of God, or that a despairing man needs kindness even if he is near losing his faith. Either way, he needed love and did not get it.
6:15 My brothers have acted treacherously like a wadi A wadi is a desert streambed that runs full when the snow melts and dries up in the summer heat. When you need water most, there is none. His friends came full of sympathy and dried up when he needed them.
6:19 The caravans of Tema looked; the travelers of Sheba waited eagerly for them Arabian trading caravans turned off the road for water and found dry riverbeds.
6:21 you see a terror and are afraid Perhaps they feared that if it could happen to Job, it could happen to them. It was easier to believe Job had sinned than that a righteous man could suffer like this.
6:22 Is it that I have said, Give to me He had asked for no bribe or ransom, only friendship (6:22-23). We often stay away from hurting people because we cannot fix anything. Usually they are not asking us to fix it. They need us loyal and kind.
6:24 Teach me, and I myself will keep silent A humble request. Show me my error and I will listen. But they had only hinted and named no sin. They picked apart the words of a desperate man (6:26) and treated him like an orphan to be bargained over (6:27). They were thinking about their theory, not about him.

my righteousness is still in it. 30 Is there injustice on my tongue? Or does my palate not discern calamities?

Man's Hard Service on Earth

1 Is there not hard service for man on earth, and like the days of a hired laborer are his days? 2 Like a slave who longs for shade, and like a hired laborer who waits for his wages, 3 so I have been made to inherit for myself months of worthlessness, and nights of trouble they have appointed to me. 4 If I lie down, then I say, 'When will I arise?' And the evening stretches on, and I am filled with tossings until the twilight. 5 My flesh is clothed with worms and clods of dust; my skin has hardened and oozes. 6 My days are swifter than a weaver's shuttle, and they have come to an end with no hope. 7 Remember that my life is a breath; my eye will not return to see good. 8 The eye of the one who sees me will not observe me; Your eyes will be on me, and I will be no more. 9 A cloud vanishes and goes; so the one who goes down to Sheol will not come up. 10 He will not return again to his house, and his place will not recognize him again.

Job Cries Out to God

11 I also will not restrain my mouth; I will speak in the distress of my spirit; I will complain in the bitterness of my soul. 12 Am I the sea, or the sea monster, that You set a guard over me? 13 When I say, 'My couch will comfort me; my bed will bear a share in my complaint,' 14 and You dismay me with dreams, and from visions You terrify me, 15 and my soul chooses strangling, death rather than my bones. 16 I reject it; I will not live forever. Cease from me, for my days are a vapor. 17 What is man, that You make him great, and that You set Your heart on him, 18 and You visit him every morning, every moment You test him? 19 How long will You not look away from me, and not let me alone until I swallow my spittle? 20 I have sinned; what do I do to You, O watcher of mankind? Why have You set me as a target for Yourself, and I have become a burden to myself? 21 And why do You not forgive my transgression and take away my iniquity? For now I will lie down in the dust, and You will seek me, and I will be no more."

6:30 does my palate not discern calamities The palate is taste. Look me in the eye, Job says (6:28). He can still tell right from wrong and knows the difference between suffering for sin and what is happening to him. His answer is not perfect, and he admits rash words. But he is right about the main thing: he is not being punished for hidden sin, and his friends have failed him.
7:1 Is there not hard service for man on earth Hard service is a soldier's term of duty or forced labor. A slave longs for shade and a hired man for his pay (7:2), but Job has nothing to look forward to.
7:3 months of worthlessness Job's suffering had already gone on for months, not a few bad days.
7:4 I am filled with tossings until the twilight Anyone who has lain awake all night in pain knows how long those hours are. His sores were infested and his skin cracked and wept (7:5). I mention it not to dwell on it, but so we understand how much he carried in body as well as heart.
7:6 My days are swifter than a weaver's shuttle The shuttle flies across the loom. The Hebrew word for hope can also mean thread. The thread runs out and the weaving stops, and Job's life seems to run out with it.
7:7 Remember that my life is a breath Now Job speaks to God directly. Life is short as a breath on a cold morning, and he does not expect to be happy again.
7:9 the one who goes down to Sheol will not come up Sheol is the grave or place of the dead, where both good and bad went in Old Testament speech. The dead do not come back to their old lives and homes (7:10). But Job does not yet see the full truth. He will ask, "If a man dies, will he live again?" (14:14) and say he will see God in his flesh (19:26). And Jesus, risen, said all in the tombs will hear His voice and come out (John 5:28-29).
7:11 I will complain in the bitterness of my soul Job will say strong things, but notice where he takes his complaint: to God. Many psalms do the same (Ps 13; 88). An honest complaint brought to God is a kind of prayer. Better to pour out bitterness to God than hide it and drift away from Him.
7:12 Am I the sea, or the sea monster, that You set a guard over me The sea pictured chaos that God sets limits on (38:8-11). Why treat me like a great threat? I am just a man.
7:14 You dismay me with dreams Not even sleep gave relief. Perhaps he thinks of Eliphaz's vision too (4:12-16). Whatever their source, the nightmares took his last refuge.
7:16 Cease from me, for my days are a vapor Job would rather die than live in a body of bones (7:15). He does not say he will end his life. He asks God to let him go. If you have felt this, you are not alone, and God is not angry with you for feeling it. Please talk to a pastor, a doctor or a crisis line today.
7:17 What is man, that You make him great, and that You set Your heart on him An echo of Psalm 8:4, where David marvels that God cares for man. Job turns it into a complaint. God's attention feels like a stern guard inspecting him every moment, not even letting him swallow (7:19). The irony is that God had set His heart on him. The attention Job felt as pressure was the care of a God who would not let him go. Hebrews 2:6-9 shows the full answer to Psalm 8 in Jesus.
7:20 I have sinned; what do I do to You, O watcher of mankind Job does not claim to be sinless. He means: even if I have sinned, how does it hurt You? Why make me Your target (6:4)?
7:21 why do You not forgive my transgression and take away my iniquity His most searching question. If he has sinned, why not simply forgive? He pictures God coming to look for him and finding him already dead. The gospel answers this. God forgives not by ignoring sin but by laying it on His Son, "the Lamb of God who takes away the sin of the world" (John 1:29). Job's suffering was not punishment, but his longing to be set right with God is every human heart's longing, fully met in Christ.
8:2 How long will you say these things, and the words of your mouth be a mighty wind Bildad, the second friend, may come from a people descended from Shuah, Abraham's son by Keturah (Gen 25:2). He has no gentle opening. Job said a despairing man's words are "for the wind" (6:26), and Bildad treats them that way.

mighty wind? 3 Does God pervert justice, or does the Almighty pervert righteousness? 4 If your sons sinned against Him, and He sent them away into the hand of their transgression, 5 if you will seek God earnestly, and to the Almighty you will plead for favor, 6 if you are pure and upright, surely now He will rouse Himself over you and restore the habitation of your righteousness. 7 And your beginning will be a small thing, and your latter end will grow exceedingly great. 8 For ask, please, of a former generation, and give attention to the searching of their fathers. 9 For we are of yesterday and do not know, for our days on earth are a

How Can a Man Be Right With God?

8:3 Does God pervert justice, or does the Almighty pervert righteousness To pervert is to twist. No, God never does (Deut 32:4; Gen 18:25). But Bildad jumps to say that whatever happens to a person must be what he deserves right now. That leaves no room for God's unseen purposes, for testing, for grace, or for a judgment still to come. Job will struggle with this too, but Bildad's simple answer is not right either.

8:4 If your sons sinned against Him A terrible thing to say to a grieving father. Job prayed and sacrificed for his children (1:5), and their deaths came from Satan's attack, allowed for reasons that had nothing to do with their sin (1:12, 18-19). If you have been told someone you lost died because of their sin or yours, no one can know that, and it is often simply false (Luke 13:1-5). Leave the judgment to God, who knows all things and is full of mercy.

8:6 if you are pure and upright There is a hidden condition here. Bildad does not think Job is pure, though God had already said he was "blameless and upright" (1:1, 8). Seek God, he says, and He will restore your home (8:5-6).

8:7 your beginning will be a small thing, and your latter end will grow exceedingly great A striking verse, because it came true: "the LORD blessed the latter part of Job more than his beginning" (42:12). But not as Bildad thought. Job did not earn it by confessing a sin. God blessed him by grace, after He spoke and after Job prayed for these friends (42:10).

8:8 ask, please, of a former generation Bildad rests on tradition. Our lives are a shadow, so listen to the fathers (8:9-10). There is value in that (Prov 1:8; Jer 6:16), but tradition is not God's Word. It can be right in general and wrong in a particular case. Jesus warned against setting aside God's commands for human tradition (Mark 7:8-9).

8:11 Will papyrus grow tall without a marsh Papyrus and reeds need water. Take it away and they wither while still green. So, he says, the godless flourish briefly and fall suddenly (8:13), and he hints that Job is one of them. It is true of the godless (Ps 1). But Job's roots were in God, as God Himself had said.

8:14 the house of a spider is his trust A web looks strong but holds no weight. Anything we trust in place of God, money, health, our goodness, our family, is a spider's web. But Job's house did not fall because he trusted a web. Satan pulled it down, and God allowed it for a purpose Bildad could not see.

8:18 if one swallows him from his place, then it will deny him A thriving plant is pulled up, and the garden acts as if it never knew it. These words would sting. The greatest man in the east was now forgotten in the ash heap. All Bildad's pictures say the same thing: Job's ruin proves he was godless.

8:20 God will not reject a blameless man, and He will not take hold of the hand of evildoers To take the hand means to help. Bildad ends hopefully, promising laughter (8:21), and God did restore Job. But his logic runs backward: Job suffers, so he must not be blameless. God said Job was blameless, and Job suffered anyway. The book asks us to hold both: God is perfectly just, and righteous people sometimes suffer for reasons only God knows.

9:2 how can man be righteous with God Job answers Bildad through chapter 10. Eliphaz asked nearly this (4:17), meaning no man is pure. Job means: how can a man win his case before God? He pictures a courtroom where God could ask a thousand questions and he could not answer one (9:3). The New Testament answers it. We are justified, declared righteous, by faith in Christ as a free gift of grace (Rom 3:24-26; 5:1).

9:5 the One who removes mountains, and they do not know God moves mountains, shakes the earth's pillars, and seals up the stars (9:5-7). Job is not doubting God's power. He knows God better than his friends think. The trouble is that he sees that power turned against him.

9:8 treads on the high places of the sea To tread on the sea means God rules it. Many have thought of Jesus walking on the Sea of Galilee (Mark 6:48-50). Only God walks on the sea.

and treads on the high places of the sea; 9 who makes the Bear, Orion, and the Pleiades, and the chambers of the south; 10 who does great things until there is no searching, and wonders until there is no number. 11 Look, He passes by me, and I do not see Him; and He passes on, and I do not perceive Him. 12 Look, He snatches away; who can turn Him back? Who will say to Him, 'What are You doing?' 13 God will not turn back His anger; under Him the helpers of Rahab (Rahav) bowed down. 14 How much less I, that I should answer Him, that I should choose my words with Him, 15 I who, though I am righteous, will not answer; to my Judge I will plead for favor. 16 If I called and He answered me, I would not believe that He was giving ear to my voice, 17 He who crushes me with a storm and multiplies my wounds without cause. 18 He does not allow me to bring back my breath, for He fills me with bitter things. 19 If it is a matter of power, look, He is mighty! And if of justice, who will summon me? 20 Though I am righteous, my mouth will declare me guilty; I am blameless, and it declares me perverse. 21 I am blameless; I do not know my soul; I reject my life. 22 It is one thing; therefore I say, 'The blameless and the wicked He brings to an end.' 23 If a scourge kills suddenly, He mocks at the despair of the innocent. 24 The earth has been given into the hand of a wicked man; he covers the faces of its judges. If not, then who is it?

No Mediator Between Us

25 And my days are swifter than a runner; they flee, they do not see good. 26 They pass on with ships of reed, like an eagle that swoops on food. 27 If I say, 'I will forget my complaint, I will leave off my sad face and be cheerful,' 28 I dread all my pains; I know that You will not acquit me. 29 I will be guilty; why then should I labor in vain? 30 If I wash myself in snow water and cleanse my hands with lye, 31 then You will plunge me into the pit, and my clothes will abhor me. 32 For He is not a man like me, that I should answer Him, that we should come together in judgment. 33 There is no arbiter between us, who might lay his hand on the two of us. 34 Let Him remove His rod from on me, and let His dread not terrify me. 35 Then I will speak and not fear Him; for I am not so with myself.

9:9 the Bear, Orion, and the Pleiades Star groups in the night sky: the Bear in the north, Orion the hunter, the small cluster of the Pleiades. The chambers of the south may be the southern stars. God names them again in 38:31-32. Job's words in 9:10 nearly match Eliphaz's in 5:9. They agree that God's works are beyond counting.
9:12 Who will say to Him, What are You doing God took away Job's children and goods, and no one could stop Him or demand an explanation. He passes by unseen (9:11).
9:13 the helpers of Rahab bowed down Not the woman of Jericho. In Hebrew poetry Rahab is a great sea monster, a picture of proud chaos, and sometimes a name for Egypt (Ps 89:10; Isa 51:9). Even the proudest powers bow to God. How could Job stand before Him?
9:15 to my Judge I will plead for favor The tension of the book. Job believes he is in the right, not sinless, but undeserving of this. Yet he knows he could never win against God, only beg for mercy. His pain has even shaken his confidence that God listens (9:16).
9:17 multiplies my wounds without cause Job knows nothing of Satan, but he is right. "Without cause" is the same Hebrew word God used, "for nothing" (2:3). He cannot win by strength, and who would summon God to court (9:19)? Even if right, his own mouth would trip him up (9:20). He feels trapped.
9:22 The blameless and the wicked He brings to an end Here Job goes too far. He is right that the wicked often seem to win and the good sometimes die with the bad, which his friends would not admit. But he is wrong to say God does not care or mocks the innocent (9:23-24). God was proud of Job (1:8; 2:3). Later God says Job darkened counsel "by words without knowledge" (38:2), and Job takes his words back (42:3-6). These are a true record of what a man says in agony, not true teaching about God, who is "very compassionate and merciful" (James 5:11).
9:26 They pass on with ships of reed Light papyrus boats that skimmed along the Nile. His days rush past like a runner (9:25) and a swooping eagle.
9:28 I know that You will not acquit me To acquit is to declare not guilty. He tried putting on a brave face (9:27), but he feels God has already decided against him. Why labor in vain (9:29)? This is the voice of hopelessness.
9:30 If I wash myself in snow water and cleanse my hands with lye Lye was a strong soap of plant ashes. Scrub as he might, God would plunge him into a pit until his own clothes would not touch him (9:31). Job stumbles on a deep truth: no one can wash away his own sin. David asked God to do it (Ps 51:7), and God does it through the blood of Christ (1 John 1:7).
9:32 He is not a man like me, that I should answer Him The core of Job's problem. If God were a man, they could go to court as equals. But there is an endless gap between them.
9:33 There is no arbiter between us, who might lay his hand on the two of us An arbiter is a go-between who judges and brings two sides together, perhaps laying a hand on each as a sign of authority over both. Job says there is no such one. But God had one in mind: "one mediator of God and men, the man Christ Jesus" (1 Tim 2:5). Job said, "He is not a man like me." In Jesus, God became a man like us, so He can lay His hand on both. He knows God because He is God, and knows us because He was tempted in every way, yet without sin (Heb 4:15). He gave Himself to make peace (Heb 9:15).
9:34 Let Him remove His rod from on me Job asks that God stop striking him and that His terror not overwhelm him, so he could speak freely (9:35; 13:21). In Christ we have that. We come to God's throne with confidence, not terror (Heb 4:16), not because God is less holy, but because our Mediator has made peace.
10:1 My soul loathes my life Job will not hold back (7:11). He wants a fair trial.
10:2 Make known to me on what grounds You contend with me A man accused in court has the right to know the charge. Job feels punished without ever being told why. We know what he could not: there was no charge. The test came because he was righteous, not guilty (1:8; 2:3).

God, 'Do not declare me guilty; make known to me on what grounds You contend with me. 3 Is it good for You that You oppress, that You reject the toil of Your hands, and on the counsel of the wicked You shine forth? 4 Do You have eyes of flesh? Or do You see as man sees? 5 Are Your days like the days of man, or Your years like the days of a man, 6 that You seek for my iniquity and search for my sin, 7 in spite of Your knowledge that I am not guilty, and there is no deliverer from Your hand? 8 Your hands shaped me and made me, together all around; and You have swallowed me!
9 Remember, please, that like the clay You made me; and will You turn me back to dust? 10 Did You not pour me out like the milk, and curdle me like the cheese? 11 With skin and flesh You clothed me, and with bones and sinews You wove me together. 12 Life and steadfast love You have done with me, and Your care has kept my spirit. 13 And these things You hid in Your heart; I know that this was with You. 14 If I sinned, then You would watch me, and from my iniquity You would not acquit me. 15 If I am guilty, woe to me! And if I am righteous, I will not lift up my head, full of shame; and see my affliction! 16 And if it rises up, like the lion You hunt me, and You again show Yourself wonderful against me. 17 You renew Your witnesses before me, and You increase Your vexation with me; changes and an army are with me.

Why Did You Bring Me Out of the Womb?

18 And why did You bring me out from the womb? I would have expired, and no eye would have seen me. 19 I would have been as though I had not been; from the womb to the grave I would have been carried. 20 Are not my days few? And cease, and set Yourself away from me, so that I may be cheerful a little, 21 before I go, and I will not return, to the land of darkness and deep darkness, 22 a land of gloom like thick darkness, of deep darkness and no order, and it shines like thick darkness.'"

10:3 Is it good for You that You oppress Three bold questions. Does God enjoy crushing people, throw away what His hands made, smile on the wicked? They show how confused Job is, but also what he still believes: that God is good and should not favor the wicked. His complaint only makes sense because he knows God is just. He is shocked because this does not fit the God he knows.
10:4 Do You have eyes of flesh People see only the outside and hurry to judge. God looks on the heart (1 Sam 16:7) and has no lack of time. So why hunt for Job's sin "in spite of Your knowledge that I am not guilty" (10:7)? Job is wrong that God was hunting his sin, but right that God saw his heart perfectly.
10:8 Your hands shaped me and made me The hands that formed him now seem to destroy him. That is what hurts most, pain from the One who made him. God formed Adam from dust (Gen 2:7) and shapes us like a potter (Isa 64:8). Will He crush His own pottery (10:9)?
10:11 With skin and flesh You clothed me, and with bones and sinews You wove me together A picture of a child taking shape in the womb like milk thickening into cheese (10:10). David says, "You wove me together in the womb of my mother" (Ps 139:13). Every person, from the very beginning in the womb, is the careful work of God's hands.
10:12 Life and steadfast love You have done with me In the middle of his complaint, Job remembers God's hesed and His care all his days. That memory is what makes the present pain so confusing.
10:13 these things You hid in Your heart Job thinks God planned all along to make him, care for him, then crush him. He was right that God had a hidden purpose, but wrong about what it was: to show the truth of his faith and in the end to bless him.
10:15 If I am guilty, woe to me! And if I am righteous, I will not lift up my head Either way Job loses. Guilty, he is doomed; innocent, he is still covered with shame and misery. "See my affliction!"
10:16 like the lion You hunt me Each new pain feels like another witness against him and fresh troops sent into battle (10:17). That is what long suffering feels like. But feelings are not always facts. Job felt hunted. In truth God was holding Satan on a leash and watching over His servant.
10:18 why did You bring me out from the womb The question of chapter 3, now asked of God directly. We should not hurry past these words or argue someone out of feeling this way. But this very chapter shows the contrast. A life God shaped with such care and steadfast love (10:8-12) was not a mistake. Job's life still had a purpose. If you have wished you were never born, please talk to a pastor, a doctor or a crisis line today.
10:21 to the land of darkness and deep darkness Job asks God to let him alone a little before he goes (10:20), and piles up words for darkness as in chapter 3. Even the light there is darkness (10:22). This is the view of a man in deep pain without the full light of the gospel. Jesus said, "I am the resurrection and the life" (John 11:25). For the believer death is the doorway to being with Christ, and Job will begin to glimpse that hope.
11:1 Zophar the Naamathite answered and said The third friend, likely the youngest. He speaks last in each round and not at all in the third.
11:2 should a man of lips be righteous A man of lips is all talk. Zophar hears Job's pain and calls it mockery that needs shaming (11:3). That is hard to do to a suffering man. Be "swift to hear, slow to speak, slow to anger" (James 1:19). Zophar was the opposite.
11:4 I am clean in Your eyes Job had said he was innocent (9:21; 10:7). Zophar takes it as a claim to be sinless, which Job never made.
11:5 oh that God would speak, and open His lips with you In the end God does speak (38:1), but He rebukes the friends for speaking wrongly about Him (42:7). Be careful what you wish for when you are sure you are right.
11:6 God causes some of your iniquity to be forgotten for you God's wisdom has two sides, seen and hidden. Then the cruelest thing yet: you are getting off easy; you deserve worse. In one sense none of us gets what our sins deserve; that is God's mercy (Ps 103:10). But Zophar is not offering mercy. He is using a true doctrine as a club.

of your iniquity to be forgotten for you. 7 Will you find the searching of God? Or will you find out to the limit of the Almighty? 8 It is the heights of the heavens; what can you do? Deeper than Sheol; what can you know? 9 Its measure is longer than the earth, and broader than the sea. 10 If He passes on, and shuts up, and summons an assembly, then who can turn Him back? 11 For He knows men of worthlessness, and He sees wickedness, and will He not give attention to it? 12 And a hollow man will get understanding, and a colt of a wild donkey will be born a man.

Zophar Calls Job to Repent

13 If you direct your heart, and spread out your palms toward Him, 14 if wickedness is in your hand, put it far away, and do not let injustice dwell in your tents. 15 For then you will lift up your face without blemish, and you will be firmly established and will not fear. 16 For you will forget your trouble; like waters that have passed away you will remember it. 17 And your lifespan will rise more than noon; its gloom will become like the morning. 18 And you will be secure, for there is hope; and you will search around, and you will lie down in security. 19 And you will lie down, and there will be no one who makes you afraid; and many will entreat your face. 20 And the eyes of the wicked will fail, and escape will be lost from them, and their hope will be the breathing out of life."

Job Answers Zophar

1 And Job (Iyov) answered and said, 2 "Truly you are the people, and with you wisdom will die. 3 I also have a heart like you; I am not falling below you. And with whom are there not things like these? 4 A laughingstock to his friend I am, one who called to God and He answered him; a laughingstock is the righteous, blameless man. 5 There is contempt for disaster in the thought of one at ease, a blow for those slipping of foot. 6 The tents of destroyers are at peace, and securities belong to those who provoke God, to him who has brought God into his hand. 7 And yet ask, please, the animals, and they will teach you, and the birds of the heavens, and they will tell you; 8 or talk to the earth, and it will teach you, and the fish of the sea will recount to you. 9 Who does not know among all these that the hand of the LORD has done this, 10 in whose hand is the life of every living thing, and the breath of all the flesh of man? 11 Does not the ear test words, and the palate taste food for itself? 12 With aged men is wisdom, and with length of days understanding.

11:7 Will you find the searching of God True and wonderful words. God's wisdom is higher than heaven and deeper than Sheol (11:8-9). Paul says, "How unsearchable are His judgments and untraceable His ways!" (Rom 11:33; Isa 55:8-9). God will show Job this in chapters 38 to 41. But the irony is plain. Zophar says no one can search out God's wisdom, then speaks as if he knows exactly why Job suffers.
11:10 then who can turn Him back Answering Job's own words (9:12). Zophar agrees and tells Job to accept it. God sees all sin, even hidden (11:11; Heb 4:13), and Zophar means Job's hidden sin.
11:12 a colt of a wild donkey will be born a man Probably a saying of the time: a fool gets wisdom when a wild donkey gives birth to a man, that is, never. It is an insult dressed up as a proverb.
11:13 If you direct your heart, and spread out your palms toward Him Spread palms are the posture of prayer. For someone living in sin this is the right call (11:13-14). But it was the wrong word for Job. You cannot repent of a sin you did not commit. Had Job confessed a sin only to get his blessings back, he would have proved Satan right, that he served God only for what he got.
11:15 then you will lift up your face without blemish Job said he could not lift his head (10:15). Zophar says he will, if he gets right with God.
11:18 you will be secure, for there is hope Job said his days ended "with no hope" (7:6). Zophar offers hope on his own terms: trouble forgotten like passing waters (11:16) and many seeking his favor again (11:19; 29:7-11). God did restore Job and people came again (42:11), but by grace after God spoke, not as a reward for what Zophar wanted confessed.
11:20 the eyes of the wicked will fail Each friend ends the same way: a promise if Job turns and a threat if he does not (5:17-27; 8:20-22). Their speeches are well made and many lines are true. But they have one blind spot. They cannot imagine a righteous man suffering for reasons known only to God, and so all their true words add up to a false message.
12:2 Truly you are the people, and with you wisdom will die Job answers Zophar through chapter 14, closing the first round. This is sarcasm. Zophar called him a hollow man (11:12), and Job throws it back. In Hebrew the heart is the center of thinking too (12:3). Job has a mind, and they have told him nothing new.
12:4 A laughingstock is the righteous, blameless man A man of prayer, whom God called blameless (1:1), had become a joke.
12:5 There is contempt for disaster in the thought of one at ease The comfortable look down on the troubled and push those already slipping. When life goes well, it is easy to think strugglers brought it on themselves. Have compassion instead.
12:6 The tents of destroyers are at peace Robbers live untroubled. If the wicked always suffer and the good always prosper, how do the friends explain that?
12:7 ask, please, the animals, and they will teach you Even the animals, birds, earth and fish know what the friends are trying to teach (12:7-8).
12:9 the hand of the LORD has done this The only time in the speeches from chapter 3 to 37 that God is called by His personal name, the LORD. All creation knows He made it and rules it (Rom 1:20). Every breath is in His hand (12:10). Job has never denied God's power. That is why he is so troubled. If God holds everything, God allowed what happened to him.
12:11 Does not the ear test words As the tongue tests food, the ear tests words, and Job finds theirs lacking. Elihu repeats the saying (34:3).
12:12 With aged men is wisdom Perhaps a saying the friends lean on (8:8-10; 15:10). Yes, the old are supposed to be wise, but the next verse gives the real answer.
12:13 With Him are wisdom and might Wisdom finally belongs to God, not old men or tradition (Dan 2:20). When He tears down, no one rebuilds; drought and flood are both His (12:14-15).

and understanding. 14 Look, He tears down, and it will not be rebuilt; He shuts the door on a man, and it will not be opened. 15 Look, He holds back the waters, and they dry up; and He lets them loose, and they overturn the earth. 16 With Him are strength and sound wisdom; to Him belong the one who goes astray and the one who leads astray. 17 He leads away counselors barefoot, and judges He makes foolish. 18 He loosens the bonds of kings, and He binds a loincloth on their loins. 19 He leads away priests barefoot, and those long established He overturns. 20 He removes the lip of trusted ones, and takes away the discernment of elders. 21 He pours contempt on nobles, and loosens the belt of the strong. 22 He reveals deep things out of darkness, and He brings out deep darkness to the light. 23 He makes the nations great, and He destroys them; He spreads out the nations, and He leads them away. 24 He removes the heart of the heads of the people of the earth, and He makes them wander in a wasteland with no way. 25 They grope in darkness and not light, and He makes them wander like the drunkard.

Job Would Argue His Case With God

1 Look, my eye has seen all this; my ear has heard, and it has understood it. 2 As your knowledge is, I also know; I am not falling below you. 3 But I will speak to the Almighty, and I desire to argue my case with God. 4 But you are smearers of falsehood; physicians of worthlessness are all of you. 5 Oh that you would be completely silent, and it would be wisdom for you! 6 Hear, please, my argument, and pay attention to the contentions of my lips. 7 Will you speak injustice for God, and for Him will you speak deceit? 8 Will you show Him partiality? Or will you contend for God? 9 Will it be good when He searches you out? Or as one deceives a man, will you deceive Him? 10 He will surely rebuke you if in secret you show partiality. 11 Will not His majesty terrify you, and His dread fall on you? 12 Your memorials are proverbs of ashes; your defenses are defenses of clay.

Though He Slay Me

13 Be silent from me, and let me speak, I myself, and let whatever may come pass over me. 14 Why should I take my flesh in my teeth, and put my life in my palm? 15 Look, He will kill me; I will hope in Him. Nevertheless I will argue my ways to His face. 16 This also will be salvation for me, for a godless man will not come before Him. 17 Listen carefully to my speech, and let my declaration be in your ears. 18 Look, please, I have arranged my case; I know that I am righteous.

12:16 to Him belong the one who goes astray and the one who leads astray God does not cause anyone to sin. But no one, not even the worst deceiver, is outside His rule, and He will judge it all.
12:17 He leads away counselors barefoot Captives were led barefoot and stripped. Counselors, judges, kings, priests, elders and nobles all fall when God wills (12:17-21). To loosen a strong man's belt is to make him weak. The LORD brings low and lifts up (1 Sam 2:7). Job had been a great man brought down. Was it because he was wicked? God's ways with the great are beyond our neat explanations.
12:22 He reveals deep things out of darkness Nothing is hidden from God, and one day He will bring every secret into the open (1 Cor 4:5).
12:23 He makes the nations great, and He destroys them History is not random. God sets the times and boundaries of nations (Acts 17:26) and can make leaders wander lost like drunkards (12:24-25). Job knows God's sovereignty as well as his friends do. His complaint is that it does not fit their simple rule. God's ways are greater and deeper than that.
13:2 As your knowledge is, I also know Job already knows all they have said about God's power (12:3). They are not wiser. They have chosen a wrong explanation.
13:3 I will speak to the Almighty, and I desire to argue my case with God A turning point. Tired of talking to his friends, Job wants to go straight to God. That is the right direction, even when his tone is not. Better to bring our case to God than keep arguing with people who do not understand.
13:4 you are smearers of falsehood They plaster lies over the truth, like plaster over a crack, and came as doctors with useless medicine.
13:5 Oh that you would be completely silent, and it would be wisdom for you Even a silent fool is counted wise (Prov 17:28). Their best work was the seven silent days (2:13).
13:7 Will you speak injustice for God, and for Him will you speak deceit Job puts his friends on trial. They were so sure God must be punishing Job that they bent the facts to fit, acting as God's lawyers whatever the truth (13:8). A strong warning to anyone who teaches or defends the faith. God does not need us to lie for Him or invent answers we do not have. You can fool a man, not God (13:9). God confirms it: the friends did not speak what was right about Him (42:7). Their defense of God displeased God.
13:12 Your memorials are proverbs of ashes; your defenses are defenses of clay Job sits in ashes (2:8) and says their proverbs are no more solid than the ash heap, their arguments clay walls that crumble. God will rebuke them, and He did (13:10; 42:7-8).
13:14 Why should I take my flesh in my teeth, and put my life in my palm Sayings for risking one's life. Job knows speaking boldly to God could cost him his life, and he will do it anyway (13:13).
13:15 Look, He will kill me; I will hope in Him One of the great statements of faith in the Bible. Job thinks God may kill him, but he will go on hoping in Him. The Hebrew can be read two ways, and some translations take it darkly, as if he has no hope. The SLB follows the reading that he will hope in God, which fits the next line: "I will argue my ways to His face." Faith and honest wrestling are not enemies.
13:16 a godless man will not come before Him A godless man would not dare come before God. Job's longing to meet Him is evidence of his faith, and he believes that meeting will be his salvation.
13:18 I have arranged my case; I know that I am righteous Prepared like a lawyer. Not that he never sinned (7:21; 13:26), but that he has done nothing to deserve this. If anyone could prove him guilty, he would fall silent and die (13:19).

19 Who is he that will contend with me? For now I would be silent and expire.

Job Pleads for a Hearing

20 Only two things do not do to me; then I will not hide myself from before You. 21 Put Your hand far from on me, and let Your dread not terrify me. 22 And call, and I will answer; or let me speak, and respond to me. 23 How many iniquities and sins are mine? Make known to me my transgression and my sin. 24 Why do You hide Your face and consider me Your enemy? 25 Will You terrify a driven leaf? And will You pursue dry chaff? 26 For You write bitter things against me, and You make me inherit the iniquities of my youth. 27 And You put my feet in the stocks, and You watch all my paths; on the roots of my feet You engrave a mark. 28 And he wears out like rottenness, like a garment that a moth eats.

Man Born of Woman

1 Man born of a woman is short of days and full of turmoil. 2 Like a flower he comes forth, and he withers; and he flees like the shadow, and he does not remain. 3 Do You indeed open Your eyes on this one, and bring me into judgment with You? 4 Who can bring a clean thing out of an unclean? Not one. 5 If his days are determined, the number of his months is with You; You have appointed his limits, and he will not pass beyond. 6 Look away from him, that he may cease, until he takes pleasure in his day like a hired laborer.

If a Man Dies, Will He Live Again?

7 For there is hope for a tree: if it is cut down, it will sprout again, and its young shoots will not cease. 8 Though its root grows old in the ground, and its stump dies in the dust, 9 from the scent of water it will bud and make shoots like a plant. 10 And a man dies, and he is laid low; and man expires, and where is he? 11 Waters disappear from the sea, and a river is drained and dries up. 12 And a man lies down and will not arise; until the heavens are no more they will not awake, and they will not be roused from their sleep. 13 Oh that You would hide me in Sheol, that You would conceal me until Your anger turns back, that You would set a limit for me and remember me! 14 If a man dies, will he live again? All the days of my hard service I will wait, until my change comes. 15 You will call, and I will answer You; You will long for the work of Your hands. 16 For now You count my steps;

13:21 Put Your hand far from on me Two requests: stop the suffering long enough to think, and do not overwhelm me with Your terror (9:34). Then speak and I will answer, or let me speak and respond (13:22). Job wants a conversation. God does speak in the end (38:1), though not as Job expected.

13:23 Make known to me my transgression and my sin A fair and humble request, and a good prayer for any of us (Ps 139:23-24).

13:24 Why do You hide Your face and consider me Your enemy This hurts most, not the pain but the sense that God has turned His face away. God's face shining means His favor (Num 6:25). The word for enemy, oyeb, sounds very much like Job's name, Iyyob. Job may be asking whether God has turned Job into His foe. Why chase a driven leaf or dry chaff (13:25)?

13:26 You make me inherit the iniquities of my youth Job admits sins of his youth and feels God is writing them up against him. God does not bring up forgiven sins to punish us. He removes them as far as the east is from the west (Ps 103:12). We know from chapters 1 and 2 this was not the reason.

13:27 You put my feet in the stocks Stocks held a prisoner's feet. A mark on the soles may mean tracking a prisoner. Job feels under constant watch, and man wears out like a moth-eaten garment (13:28), which leads into chapter 14.

14:1 Man born of a woman is short of days and full of turmoil Job now speaks for all of us. Every person shares the same lot.

14:2 Like a flower he comes forth, and he withers A flower lasts days and a shadow moves on. Scripture often uses these pictures (Ps 103:15-16; James 1:10-11; 1 Pet 1:24). Life is beautiful, and life is brief.

14:4 Who can bring a clean thing out of an unclean? Not one Job admits that since the fall everyone born of a woman inherits a sinful nature (Ps 51:5; Rom 5:12), and no one can make himself clean. He is not claiming to be sinless. The answer is God alone. Jesus was born of a woman yet without sin, conceived by the Holy Spirit (Luke 1:35), and through Him God makes the unclean clean (1 John 1:7).

14:5 You have appointed his limits, and he will not pass beyond God has set the length of every life (Ps 139:16; Matt 6:27). So Job asks Him to look away and let him rest like a laborer at the end of his shift (14:6; 7:19; 10:20).

14:7 there is hope for a tree A stump can send up new shoots at the scent of water (14:8-9). A tree has hope. Does a man? The sprouting stump later pictures the Messiah, the shoot from the stump of Jesse (Isa 11:1), and in a far greater way Jesus was cut down in death and rose again.

14:12 until the heavens are no more they will not awake, and they will not be roused from their sleep Unlike the tree, man does not sprout again. To Job "until the heavens are no more" probably meant never. But the heavens will one day pass away (Ps 102:25-26; 2 Pet 3:10; Rev 21:1). And "sleep" is the New Testament picture for believers who have died, because they will wake (John 11:11; 1 Thess 4:13-14). Without fully knowing it, Job used words that point to the resurrection.

14:13 that You would set a limit for me and remember me Hope breaks through. What if God hid him safely in Sheol like a treasure until the hard time passed? When God remembers, He acts, as He remembered Noah (Gen 8:1).

14:14 If a man dies, will he live again One of the great questions of the Bible, asked by everyone who has stood beside a grave, and asked here by a man staring at death. Hard service is a soldier's duty again (7:1), and "my change" is the relief when a new guard takes over. Job will wait, even in death, for God to relieve him. The New Testament answers yes. The dead in Christ will be raised incorruptible, "and we will be changed" (1 Cor 15:52; 15:20).

14:15 You will call, and I will answer You; You will long for the work of Your hands Job pictures God calling him out of the grave because He longs for what His hands have made. Job had said God was destroying His handiwork (10:3, 8). Now he believes God would not leave it in the grave forever. All in the tombs will hear His voice (John 5:28-29). God will call, and we will answer.

You do not keep watch over my sin. 17 My transgression is sealed up in a bag, and You smear over my iniquity. 18 And yet a falling mountain crumbles away, and a rock moves from its place; 19 waters wear away stones; its overflowings wash away the dust of the earth; and You destroy the hope of man. 20 You overpower him forever, and he goes; changing his face, You send him away. 21 His sons are honored, and he does not know it; and they become insignificant, and he does not perceive it of them. 22 Only his flesh on him is in pain, and his soul on him mourns."

Eliphaz's Second Speech

1 And Eliphaz (Elifaz) the Temanite answered and said, 2 "Will a wise man answer with knowledge of wind, and fill his belly with the east wind, 3 arguing with a word that is of no use, and with words by which he does no good? 4 Indeed, you do away with fear, and you diminish meditation before God. 5 For your iniquity teaches your mouth, and you choose the tongue of the crafty. 6 Your mouth declares you guilty, and not I; and your lips testify against you. 7 Were you born the first man? And were you brought forth before the hills? 8 Have you listened in the council of God, and do you restrict wisdom to yourself? 9 What do you know, and we do not know? What do you understand, and it is not with us? 10 Both the gray-haired and the aged are among us, greater than your father in days. 11 Are the consolations of God too little for you, and a word spoken gently with you? 12 Why does your heart carry you away, and why do your eyes flash, 13 that you turn your spirit against God and bring out words from your mouth? 14 What is man, that he should be pure, and that one born of a woman should be righteous? 15 Look, He does not trust in His holy ones, and the heavens are not pure in His eyes; 16 how much less one who is abhorrent and corrupt, a man who drinks injustice like water!

The Fate of the Wicked

He knows that a day of darkness is ready at his 14:17 My transgression is sealed up in a bag, and You smear over my iniquity Verses 16-17 can be read as continuing the hopeful picture, with sins sealed away and covered as God forgives, or as Job's present complaint that God counts every step. In the hopeful reading, God casts our sins into the depths of the sea (Mic 7:19). When He forgives, He does not keep our sins on display.

14:19 You destroy the hope of man As water wears down stone, suffering wears away hope. That is how grief often works: a glimmer of hope, then the pain rushes back. Job is not a man with it all figured out, but a man holding on through the waves.

14:21 His sons are honored, and he does not know it The dead do not see what happens to their children. For Job, whose children had died, these words carry special sadness.

14:22 Only his flesh on him is in pain, and his soul on him mourns The first round ends in pain and mourning. But we know what Job did not fully know. Jesus has gone through death and come out the other side: "because I live, you also will live" (John 14:19). In chapter 19 Job himself will rise to a clearer hope.

15:2 fill his belly with the east wind The second round begins in the same order. The east wind off the desert was hot and harmful. Hot air, says Eliphaz. Bildad called Job's words wind (8:2), and Job will say the same of theirs (16:3). Each side thought the other full of empty talk.

15:4 you do away with fear, and you diminish meditation before God Eliphaz feared Job's complaints would destroy others' fear of God and devotion. He thought he was defending God's honor. Some believers feel this way when someone brings hard questions about suffering. But God did not condemn Job's honesty, and in the end said the friends had not spoken rightly (42:7).

15:6 Your mouth declares you guilty, and not I Job had said his own mouth would condemn him (9:20). Eliphaz turns it around: yes, your words condemn you.

15:7 Were you born the first man Sarcasm. Does Job think he is Adam, older than the hills?

15:8 Have you listened in the council of God An irony Eliphaz cannot see. The book began in God's council (1:6; 2:1). Job was not there, nor was Eliphaz. Only the reader knows what happened there. Had Eliphaz known, he would never have said what he said.

15:10 Both the gray-haired and the aged are among us Perhaps Eliphaz is older than Job's father, or means the elders of tradition. Age deserves respect (Lev 19:32), but age alone does not make anyone right.

15:11 Are the consolations of God too little for you Eliphaz sincerely thought his words were God's comfort. But telling a righteous sufferer he must have sinned is not God's comfort. The "God of all comfort" (2 Cor 1:3) comforts us so we can comfort others (2 Cor 1:4). True comfort comes alongside the sufferer. It does not stand over him. He reads Job's flashing eyes as rebellion (15:12-13), not the anguish of a man still holding to God.

15:16 a man who drinks injustice like water Back to his vision (4:17-19). All are sinners (Rom 3:23), and Job said much the same (14:4). But notice how Eliphaz has sharpened his words. In chapter 4 man was frail clay. Now he is "abhorrent and corrupt," and he means Job. He has moved from saying everyone is weak to saying Job is wicked.

15:18 what wise men have told, and have not hidden, from their fathers Wise men of a pure time, before foreign ideas mixed in (15:19). Learning from those before us is good, but it is still human wisdom, to be tested by what God has said. Eliphaz's tradition had a blind spot he could not see.

15:21 in peace the destroyer will come on him Pain, dread, a destroyer in a time of peace, darkness, wandering for bread (15:20-24). Eliphaz never says Job's name, but the picture is meant for him. Sin often brings fear and misery; "no peace, says the LORD, for the wicked" (Isa 48:22). But not everyone in misery is wicked.

hand. 24 Distress and anguish terrify him; it overpowers him like a king ready for the battle. 25 For he has stretched out his hand against God, and against the Almighty he makes himself mighty. 26 He runs against Him with a stiff neck, with the thick bosses of his shields. 27 For he has covered his face with his fat, and made fat on his loins. 28 And he has dwelt in desolate cities, in houses where they will not dwell, which are destined for heaps. 29 He will not be rich, and his wealth will not endure, and their gain will not stretch out on the land. 30 He will not depart from darkness; a flame will dry up his young shoots, and he will depart by the breath of his mouth. 31 Let him not trust in worthlessness; he has been led astray; for worthlessness will be his recompense.
32 Before his day it will be completed, and his palm branch will not grow luxuriant. 33 He will shake off his unripe grapes like the vine, and he will shed his blossom like the olive tree. 34 For the company of the godless is barren, and fire consumes the tents of bribery. 35 Conceiving trouble and giving birth to wickedness, and their belly prepares deceit."

Miserable Comforters

1 And Job (Iyov) answered and said, 2 "I have heard many things like these; comforters of trouble are all of you. 3 Is there an end to words of wind? Or what provokes you that you answer? 4 I also could speak like you, if your soul were in place of my soul; I could join together words against you, and shake my head at you. 5 I could strengthen you with my mouth, and the condolence of my lips would restrain your pain. 6 If I speak, my pain is not restrained; and if I cease, what goes from me? 7 Surely now He has made me weary; You have devastated all my company. 8 And You have seized me; it has become a witness; and my leanness has risen up against me; it testifies to my face. 9 His anger has torn me, and He has assailed me; He has gnashed at me with His teeth; my adversary sharpens His eyes against me. 10 They have opened wide their mouth against me; in scorn they have struck my cheeks; together they mass themselves against me. 11 God delivers me up to an unjust one, and casts me into the hands of the wicked. 12 I was at ease, and He broke me apart; and He took hold of my neck and shattered me; and He set me up as His target. 13 His archers surround me; He splits open my kidneys, and He does not have compassion; He pours out my gall on the ground. 14 He breaks through me, breach upon breach; He runs on me like a warrior. 15 I have sewn sackcloth over my skin, and I have thrust my horn into the dust. 16 My face is reddened from weeping, and on my eyelids is deep darkness, 17 although there is no violence in my hands, and my prayer is pure.

15:26 He runs against Him with a stiff neck, with the thick bosses of his shields Bosses were the metal knobs on a shield, a soldier charging at God head down. The wicked man is fat and comfortable like the rich fool (Luke 12:16-21). Eliphaz hints Job had been proud and defiant. The opposite was true. Job feared God (1:1) and prayed for his children (1:5). His bold words came after his suffering, not before.
15:30 a flame will dry up his young shoots The young shoots are his children. Job's flocks were burned by fire (1:16) and his children had died. Again the picture fits Job too closely.
15:33 He will shake off his unripe grapes like the vine Grapes dropped unripe and blossoms shed never bear fruit. The wicked conceive trouble and give birth to wickedness (15:35; Ps 7:14). God will judge the wicked (Rom 2:5-8). But Eliphaz insists judgment always comes in this life, quickly and visibly, and that anyone who suffers so must be wicked. That was not true of Job and is not true of many godly people today. Do not quietly decide, as Eliphaz did, that someone's suffering is the fate of the wicked.
16:2 comforters of trouble are all of you Job answers Eliphaz through chapter 17. They came to comfort (2:11), but their comfort only made his trouble worse, and Eliphaz's "wind" (15:2) comes back at him (16:3).
16:5 I could strengthen you with my mouth, and the condolence of my lips would restrain your pain Job could shake his head at them in scorn if they traded places (16:4; Ps 22:7). But he says he would use his words to strengthen them and ease their pain, as he used to do (4:3-4). That is what a true friend does.
16:6 If I speak, my pain is not restrained; and if I cease, what goes from me No relief either way.
16:8 my leanness has risen up against me; it testifies to my face His wasted body is like a witness in court. People look at him and conclude he must be guilty, as his friends had.
16:9 My adversary sharpens his eyes against me Job pictures God as a beast tearing its prey, the strongest words yet. He means God, as he feels it. But the reader knows there really was an adversary, Satan, whose name means the adversary, who struck Job by God's permission (1:12; 2:7). God was not tearing Job. He was holding Satan's leash.
16:10 in scorn they have struck my cheeks Striking the cheek was a deep insult, and he feels handed over to the wicked (16:11). These words sound like Psalm 22 and like Jesus' sufferings. Men struck Him on the face (Matt 26:67), and He was handed over to lawless men (Acts 2:23). Job's sufferings picture those of the only truly innocent man.
16:12 He set me up as His target Grabbed by the neck and shattered, then tied up for archers. The kidneys were the seat of the deepest feelings (16:13), and he is a wall breached again and again (16:14). Hard words, and the Bible does not hide them. Sometimes suffering feels like an attack from God Himself. If you have felt that, Job shows you can tell God so. He would rather hear your honest anguish than your silence.
16:15 I have sewn sackcloth over my skin, and I have thrust my horn into the dust Sackcloth was rough goat hair, sewn on as if never to come off. The horn pictured strength and dignity, now in the dust. His face is red from weeping (16:16).
16:17 there is no violence in my hands, and my prayer is pure The heart of his complaint. He has wronged no one, and his prayers are sincere. God said the same (1:8; 2:3).

Job's Witness in Heaven

18 O earth, do not cover my blood, and let there be no place for my outcry. 19 Even now, look, my witness is in the heavens, and the one who testifies for me is in the high places. 20 My companions are scoffing at me; my eye drips tears to God, 21 and let him argue for a man with God, and a son of man for his companion. 22 For years that can be numbered will come, and I will go a path from which I will not return.

Job's Hope Fades

1 My spirit has been destroyed; my days have been extinguished; graves are for me. 2 Surely mockeries are with me, and on their provoking my eye lodges. 3 Set it, please; be surety for me with Yourself. Who is he who will strike hands with my hand? 4 For You have hidden their heart from understanding; therefore You will not exalt them. 5 For a portion he informs on friends, and the eyes of his sons will fail. 6 And He has set me up for a byword of peoples, and I am a spitting in the face. 7 And my eye has grown dim from grief, and my members are like the shadow, all of them. 8 Upright ones are appalled at this, and the innocent rouses himself against the godless. 9 And the righteous holds to his way, and the clean of hands will increase strength. 10 But all of them, you may return, and come, please, and I will not find among you a wise man. 11 My days have passed; my plans have been torn apart, the desires of my heart. 12 Night into day they make; light is near before darkness. 13 If I hope for Sheol as my home, in the darkness I have spread out my bed, 14 to the pit I have called out, 'You are my father'; 'My mother and my sister' to the maggot, 15 and where then is my hope? And my hope, who will observe it? 16 To the bars of Sheol will they go down? Or together on the dust will we descend?"

18:2 Job 8:2; Job 11:2; Job 13:5,6

16:18 O earth, do not cover my blood Innocent blood cries out from the ground (Gen 4:10). Job speaks as if murdered and asks that his cry find no resting place but keep rising until he is vindicated, even after he dies.
16:19 Even now, look, my witness is in the heavens A burst of faith from the ash heap, mocked by friends and feeling attacked by God. Even now someone in heaven knows the truth and will testify for him. Some teachers think Job means God Himself, appealed to against God as Job feels Him. Others think a heavenly advocate. Many Christians have seen a longing only Jesus fully answers.
16:21 let him argue for a man with God, and a son of man for his companion I believe this points to Jesus Christ. In 9:33 Job longed for an arbiter; here he is sure of a witness. "We have an Advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ the Righteous One" (1 John 2:1), who intercedes for us at God's right hand (Rom 8:34). Job means a human being by "son of man," but Jesus took that title for Himself (Mark 10:45; Dan 7:13-14). Satan stood in heaven as accuser (Rev 12:10). In Christ the accuser is silenced, and the Advocate speaks for us.
16:22 I will go a path from which I will not return Job expects to die soon, so he needs his witness now. His hope is not yet the full hope of resurrection, but it is growing, and in chapter 19 it will rise higher.
17:1 My spirit has been destroyed; my days have been extinguished; graves are for me Three short lines, each heavier. His days are snuffed out like a lamp, and mockers surround him day and night (17:2).
17:3 be surety for me with Yourself To be surety is to put up a pledge, like co-signing a loan or paying bail. Striking hands sealed it (Prov 6:1; 11:15). No friend would, so Job asks God to guarantee his case before God. He reaches for a God who is both Judge and guarantee, like his witness in heaven (16:19). God did just that: "Jesus has become the guarantee of a better covenant" (Heb 7:22), putting up His own life as our pledge.
17:4 therefore You will not exalt them God had not given the friends understanding, so He would not let them win, and He did not (42:7-8). Verse 5 seems to be a proverb about betraying friends for a share, with the children paying for it.
17:6 He has set me up for a byword of peoples, and I am a spitting in the face A byword is a name people use as an example of disaster. Spitting in the face was the deepest insult. Jesus too was spit upon and mocked, though He had done nothing wrong (Matt 26:67; Isa 50:6).
17:7 my members are like the shadow, all of them Long grief wears down the body as well as the heart.
17:9 the righteous holds to his way, and the clean of hands will increase strength A striking verse in the middle of the darkness. Job may be speaking of himself. He will not let go. Suffering can make the righteous stronger, not weaker; those who wait for the LORD renew their strength (Isa 40:31). The upright would be on his side (17:8), but he finds no wise man among his friends (17:10).
17:11 my plans have been torn apart, the desires of my heart Anyone who has lost a child, a spouse, a career or health knows what it is to have the plans of the heart torn up.
17:12 Night into day they make The friends say the darkness is really light, that dawn will come soon if he repents (11:17). But it is still night for him.
17:14 My mother and my sister Job has lost his family, and now the grave and the worms seem his new family. Death feels closer than any living relative.
17:15 where then is my hope You keep telling me to hope, he says. Where is it? Will it go down with me behind the bars of Sheol (17:16)? A hard place to end, but in two chapters he will say, "I know that my Redeemer lives" (19:25). Hope does not travel in a straight line. "The hope does not put us to shame, because the love of God has been poured out in our hearts" (Rom 5:5), an anchor that holds us (Heb 6:19). If your hope seems to be going into the dust, please talk to a pastor, a doctor or a crisis line today.
18:2 Until when will you set snares for words Bildad's second speech. He thinks Job is hunting words to win. "Consider, and afterward we will speak" is good advice (James 1:19), but he does not follow it.
18:3 Why are we regarded like the cattle Job said the animals could teach them (12:7) and that there was no wise man among them (17:10). Bildad's pride is hurt.

The Light of the Wicked Goes Out

5 Also the light of the wicked will be extinguished, and the flame of his fire will not shine. 6 The light has grown dark in his tent, and his lamp above him will be extinguished. 7 The steps of his vigor will be restricted, and his own counsel will throw him down. 8 For he has been sent into a net by his feet, and on a network he walks about. 9 A trap will take hold on his heel; a snare will take hold on him. 10 His rope is hidden in the ground, and his trap on the path. 11 All around, terrors have terrified him, and they have scattered him at his feet. 12 Let his vigor be hungry, and disaster is prepared for his stumbling. 13 It will consume the parts of his skin; the firstborn of death will consume his parts. 14 He will be torn away from his tent, his trust, and it will make him march to the king of terrors. 15 It will dwell in his tent, from what is not his; sulfur will be scattered over his estate. 16 From beneath his roots will dry up, and from above his branches will wither. 17 His memory has perished from the earth, and there is no name for him on the face of the street. 18 They will thrust him from light into darkness, and from the world they will chase him away. 19 No offspring is his, and no progeny among his people, and there is no survivor in his sojourning places. 20 At his day those behind are appalled, and those before have taken hold of shuddering. 21 Surely these are the dwelling places of an unjust one, and this is the place of one who has not known God."

Job Forsaken by All

1 And Job (Iyov) answered and said, 2 "Until when will you torment my soul and crush me with words? 3 These ten times you have insulted me; you are not ashamed that you wrong me. 4 And even if truly I have erred, my error lodges with me. 5 If truly you will magnify yourselves against me, and argue against me my disgrace, 6 know then that God has wronged me, and has closed His net around over me. 7 Look, I cry out, 'Violence!' and I am not answered; I cry for help, and there is no justice. 8 He has walled up my way, and I will not pass; and on my paths He sets darkness. 9 He has stripped my glory from on me, and He has removed the 18:4 One tearing his soul in his anger Job said God tore him (16:9). No, says Bildad, you tear yourself. Should the earth be forsaken for your sake? The moral order where the wicked always suffer is as fixed as the rocks, he means. God's moral order is fixed, but Bildad's idea of it was too small. It had no room for the scene in heaven.

18:6 The light has grown dark in his tent, and his lamp above him will be extinguished A burning lamp meant a family alive and well (Prov 13:9; 24:20). Job's house had gone dark, his children dead. Bildad is describing Job's home.
18:7 his own counsel will throw him down The plans of the wicked often bring their own fall (Ps 7:15-16).
18:9 A trap will take hold on his heel Net, network, trap, snare, rope, trap: six words in three verses (18:8-10). Sin is a trap, and those who walk in it are often caught. But Bildad means Job walked into his suffering through sin. He had not. He was caught in something far beyond his own doing.
18:13 the firstborn of death will consume his parts The firstborn was the strongest son, so this is the deadliest disease, death's strongest child, eating away the skin. Bildad describes Job's sickness exactly (2:7; 7:5). This is cruel.
18:14 it will make him march to the king of terrors Death pictured as a dark ruler, with the wicked marched before him like a captive. For the believer death is no king of terrors. Through His death Jesus rendered powerless the one who holds the power of death and set free those enslaved by its fear (Heb 2:14-15).
18:15 sulfur will be scattered over his estate A sign of total destruction, as with Sodom (Gen 19:24; Deut 29:23). Fire had fallen on Job's flocks (1:16). Roots dry and branches wither (18:16): his line before him and his children after.
18:17 His memory has perished from the earth To be forgotten was one of the worst fates. How wrong Bildad was. Thousands of years later, believers still speak of "the endurance of Job" (James 5:11). God kept his name alive.
18:19 No offspring is his, and no progeny among his people The cruelest line, aimed at a man whose ten children had died (8:4). If you have lost a child, do not hear Bildad's words as God's verdict on you. The LORD said the friends had not spoken rightly (42:7). Job's children died in Satan's attack, for a purpose that had nothing to do with their father's sin, and God gave Job children again (42:13). If your grief is heavy, talk to a pastor or a trusted friend.
18:21 this is the place of one who has not known God Bildad's whole view: if this happens to you, you are unjust and do not know God. The opposite was true. There was none like Job on earth (1:8). God does judge sin, and sin leads to death (Rom 6:23). But Bildad used those warnings to condemn an innocent man and left no room for mercy or hope. A teaching about judgment with no mercy in it does not reflect the God of the Bible.
19:2 Until when will you torment my soul and crush me with words Bildad began with "Until when" (18:2), and Job throws it back. Words can crush as surely as blows: "Death and life are in the hand of the tongue" (Prov 18:21).
19:3 These ten times you have insulted me Ten times means again and again. They should be ashamed, and they are not.
19:4 my error lodges with me Not a confession. Even if he had erred, it would be his business and God's, not theirs. They have no right to make themselves his judges.
19:6 God has wronged me, and has closed His net around over me Bildad pictured the wicked walking into nets (18:8-10). No, says Job, God threw His net over me. Here his words go too far. God had not wronged him (34:12; 42:3-6). But Job is right about what Bildad would not accept: this came from beyond him, not from his own doing.
19:7 I cry out, Violence! and I am not answered Like a man robbed in the street shouting for help. He appealed to God's court, and it is silent. His road is walled up and darkened (19:8).
19:9 He has removed the crown of my head His glory was his honor among his people, where he had been like a king (29:25). Now he sits on the ash heap.

crown of my head. 10 He tears me down all around, and I am gone; and He has uprooted my hope like the tree. 11 And He has kindled His anger against me, and He has counted me for Himself as His foes. 12 Together His troops come, and they have built up their way against me, and they have encamped all around my tent. 13 My brothers He has put far from me, and those who know me surely have become strangers to me. 14 My near ones have ceased, and my familiar ones have forgotten me. 15 The sojourners of my house and my female servants count me as a stranger; a foreigner I have become in their eyes. 16 I call to my servant, and he does not answer; with my mouth I implore him. 17 My breath is loathsome to my wife, and I am repulsive to the sons of my womb. 18 Even young boys reject me; I rise, and they speak against me. 19 All the men of my council abhor me, and those whom I love have turned against me. 20 My bone clings to my skin and to my flesh, and I have escaped with the skin of my teeth. 21 Show me favor, show me favor, you my friends, for the hand of God has touched me. 22 Why do you pursue me like God, and are not satisfied from my flesh?

I Know That My Redeemer Lives

23 Oh that my words would then be written! Oh that they would be inscribed in the scroll, 24 with a stylus of iron and lead, forever in the rock they would be engraved! 25 And I, I know that my Redeemer lives, and last He will stand on the dust. 26 And after my skin has been struck off, this, and from my flesh I will see God, 27 whom I, I will see for myself, and my eyes will see, and not a stranger. My kidneys have failed within my bosom. 28 If you say, 'How will we pursue him?' and the root of the matter has been found in me, 29 be afraid for yourselves before the sword, for wrath brings the punishments of the sword, so that you may know there is a judgment."

19:10 He has uprooted my hope like the tree In 14:7 there was hope for a tree whose stump could sprout. Now he feels his hope pulled up by the roots. He pictures an army laying siege to one sick man's tent (19:12).
19:13 My brothers He has put far from me Brothers, acquaintances, close relatives, guests and servants all keep away (19:13-16). Job, the master, has to beg his own servant. This loneliness is one of the hardest parts of suffering. People pull away from the sick, grieving or disgraced, because they do not know what to say, are afraid, or decide the person deserves it. Jesus knew it too: His disciples left Him and fled (Mark 14:50).
19:17 My breath is loathsome to my wife Even his wife kept her distance. "The sons of my womb" is hard since his children had died. It may mean his brothers, sons of the same mother's womb, or the children of his household.
19:18 Even young boys reject me The young always stood when an elder like Job rose (29:8). Now little boys mock him. His closest friends abhor him (19:19).
19:20 I have escaped with the skin of my teeth Wasted to skin and bones. The phrase has become an English saying for barely escaping. Job is just barely alive.
19:21 Show me favor, show me favor, you my friends, for the hand of God has touched me A heartbreaking plea. He has argued and complained. Now he simply begs for pity, twice. God's hand has struck him, so do not strike him too. "Not satisfied from my flesh" (19:22) was a saying for slander, devouring a man with words. People in pain need mercy from their friends, not a lecture or a theory.
19:24 With a stylus of iron and lead, forever in the rock they would be engraved Kings carved records into rock with iron chisels and filled the letters with lead. Job wants his testimony to outlast him. God granted it far beyond his asking. His words are in the Word of God, read for thousands of years, and the words he most wanted to last come next.
19:25 I know that my Redeemer lives Abandoned by family, tormented by friends, wasting away, feeling God as his enemy, Job says, "And I, I know," not I hope. The Redeemer is the go'el, the nearest kinsman bound to stand up for family in trouble. He bought back sold land (Lev 25:25), freed a relative sold as a slave (Lev 25:47-49), saw justice done for the murdered (Num 35:19), and might marry a widow to carry on a name, as Boaz did (Ruth 3 to 4). Job has no one left, but he has a living Go'el who will take up his cause. God Himself is called the Redeemer of His people (Isa 41:14; 59:20). Some teachers think Job means a heavenly figure distinct from God, others only that God will clear his name in this life.
19:25 last He will stand on the dust A go'el had to be of the same flesh and blood. How could God be Job's kinsman? God the Son shared our flesh and blood (Heb 2:14) and paid the price "with the precious blood of Christ" (1 Pet 1:18-19). I believe this points to Jesus, both God and our Brother. He lives: "I was dead, and look, I am living to the ages of the ages" (Rev 1:18). "Last" can mean at the end, or be a title as in "I am first and I am last" (Isa 44:6). Either way, the Redeemer has the final word, standing on the earth, perhaps over Job's grave. He will come again, and His feet will stand on the Mount of Olives (Zech 14:4; Acts 1:11).
19:26 from my flesh I will see God After his skin is destroyed, after death has done its work, Job will see God. The Hebrew is hard, and good teachers differ. Many believe he speaks of the resurrection of the body, and I believe this points to that hope. Some think he means seeing God after death apart from the body, and others vindication before he dies. But "my eyes will see" fits bodily seeing best. Jesus rose with flesh and bones (Luke 24:39), and the body "is sown in corruption; it is raised in incorruption" (1 Cor 15:42).
19:27 my eyes will see, and not a stranger Job himself, not another, will see Him, and God will no longer seem a stranger or enemy. "We will see Him just as He is" (1 John 3:2). Job saw that day from afar by faith (Heb 11:13), and in a smaller way saw God before he died (42:5). The kidneys were the seat of the deepest feelings. His heart faints with longing, the longing of every believer who has buried a loved one in Christ. If you are grieving, hold on to these words. Your Redeemer lives.
19:29 so that you may know there is a judgment The friends kept looking for the root of the trouble in Job (19:28). He turns it around. Fear judgment yourselves for falsely accusing me. He was right. God's anger burned against them, and only Job's prayer spared them (42:7-8). God sees all and will set every wrong right (Acts 17:31).
20:2 because of my agitation within me Zophar's second and last speech. He will not speak in the third round.

because of my agitation within me. 3 I hear the correction of my insult, and a spirit from my understanding answers me. 4 Do you know this from of old, since mankind was set on the earth, 5 that the shout of joy of the wicked is short, and the gladness of the godless is for a moment? 6 Though his loftiness goes up to the heavens, and his head reaches to the cloud, 7 like his own dung he will perish forever; those who saw him will say, 'Where is he?' 8 Like a dream he will fly away, and they will not find him; and he will be chased away like a vision of the night. 9 The eye caught sight of him, and it will not do so again, and his place will no longer see him. 10 His sons will seek the favor of the poor, and his own hands will give back his wealth. 11 His bones were full of his youthful vigor, and it will lie down with him on the dust.

Job Answers: The Wicked Often Prosper

20:3 I hear the correction of my insult He feels insulted by Job's warning (19:29). Notice what he does not mention: "I know that my Redeemer lives" (19:25). He is so busy defending himself and his theory that he misses the heart of what Job said. We can be so busy arguing that we never hear the faith in another's words.
20:5 the shout of joy of the wicked is short True. Moses refused "the temporary enjoyment of sin" (Heb 11:25), and Psalms 37 and 73 teach that the wicked prosper only a while.
20:7 like his own dung he will perish forever Though his pride reaches the clouds like Babel (Gen 11:4), he ends like waste on the dung heap. A crude picture, meant to be, and Job sat on the ash heap where the town's waste was burned. It was not chosen by accident.
20:8 Like a dream he will fly away Success that vanishes like a dream at morning. Job had said almost these words of himself (7:8, 10), and Zophar turns them into a description of the wicked.
20:10 His sons will seek the favor of the poor His children will beg from the poor he oppressed, and he will give back what he stole.
20:12 Though evil is sweet in his mouth, and he hides it under his tongue One of the truest pictures of sin in the Bible. He savors it like candy and will not let it go (20:13), but in his stomach it turns to cobra venom (20:14). Sin is sweet at first. That is why it tempts. Then it turns deadly: "the sin, having been brought to completion, brings forth death" (James 1:15; Prov 20:17). A good warning for all of us. It just did not fit Job.
20:15 He has swallowed wealth, and he vomits it up Ill-gotten gain does not stay down.
20:17 torrents of honey and curds Signs of rich plenty, like "a land flowing with milk and honey" (Exod 3:8). The wicked man will lose it all.
20:19 he has crushed and neglected the poor; he has seized a house God cares deeply about this sin. The prophets thunder against those who take houses and fields from the poor (Isa 5:8; Mic 2:2), and James warns rich men who cheat their workers (James 5:1-6). But Job was not this man. He rescued the poor and was eyes to the blind (29:12-16). Eliphaz will accuse him of these very sins (22:6-9), and Job will deny them under oath (31:13-22).
20:20 he has not known quiet in his belly His greed was never satisfied, and the things he craved cannot save him.
20:23 He will send on him the burning of His anger He wanted to fill his belly with wealth. God fills it with His anger, rained down like fire on Sodom (Gen 19:24), and on Job's flocks (1:16). He escapes one weapon only to be pierced by another (20:24-25).
20:26 A fire that has not been fanned will consume him A fire no human lit, a fire from God.
20:27 The heavens will reveal his iniquity, and the earth will rise up against him Job called on earth and heaven to witness for him (16:18-19). Zophar turns it around: they will testify against the wicked.
20:29 This is the portion of a wicked man from God There will be a day of God's anger (Rom 2:5), and Zophar is not wrong about that. But his last word is judgment with no mercy, no hope, and no recognition of Job's faith. He never once heard what Job was saying. We can know true things about God's judgment and still fail completely to love the person in front of us.
21:2 Listen, listen to my speech, and let this be your consolations Job answers Zophar, ending the second round. Eliphaz offered the "consolations of God" (15:11). Job says the best comfort you could give is to listen. Really listen. Then mock if you want (21:3), he adds with bitter humor.

4 As for me, is my complaint to man? And if so, why should my spirit not be short? 5 Turn to me and be appalled, and put your hand over your mouth. 6 And if I remember, and I am dismayed, and shuddering takes hold of my flesh. 7 Why do the wicked live, grow old, also become mighty in strength? 8 Their offspring is established before them, with them, and their descendants before their eyes. 9 Their houses are peace, without fear, and the rod of God is not on them. 10 His bull breeds and does not fail; his cow calves and does not miscarry. 11 They send forth their young boys like the flock, and their children leap about. 12 They lift their voices with tambourine and lyre, and rejoice at the sound of a flute. 13 They complete their days in the good, and in a moment they go down to Sheol. 14 And they say to God, 'Depart from us, and the knowledge of Your ways we do not desire. 15 What is the Almighty, that we should serve Him? And what will we gain if we entreat Him?' 16 Look, their prosperity is not in their hand; the counsel of the wicked is far from me.

How Often Is the Lamp of the Wicked Put Out?

17 How often is the lamp of the wicked extinguished, and their calamity comes on them? How often does He apportion pains in His anger? 18 How often are they like straw before a wind, and like chaff that a storm-wind has stolen away? 19 God stores up his wickedness for his sons. Let Him repay to him, and he will know. 20 Let his eyes see his ruin, and let him drink from the rage of the Almighty. 21 For what is his pleasure in his household after him, and the number of his months has been cut off? 22 Will anyone teach God knowledge? And He judges the exalted ones. 23 This one will die in his very completeness, all of him at ease and quiet. 24 His pails are full of milk, and the marrow of his bones is watered. 25 And this one will die with a bitter soul, and he has not eaten of the good. 26 Together they will lie down on the dust, and the maggot will cover over them.

Job Rejects the Friends' Answers

27 Look, I know your thoughts, and the schemes by which you do violence against me. 28 For you say, 'Where is the house of the noble man? And where is the tent of the dwelling places of the wicked?' 29 Have you not asked those who pass by the road? And their signs do you not recognize, 30 that the evil man is spared for a day of calamity? For a day of furies they are brought forth. 31 Who will declare his way to his face? And what he has done, who will repay to him? 32 And he, to the graves he will be borne, and over the tomb he will keep watch. 33 The clods of the valley will be sweet to him, and after him every man will draw along, and before

21:5 put your hand over your mouth A sign of shock or awe. Look at me and be stunned silent. In the end Job will put his hand over his own mouth before God (40:4). His complaint is with God, not man (21:4), and it makes him shudder (21:6).

21:7 Why do the wicked live, grow old, also become mighty in strength Job's great question. Zophar said their joy is short (20:5). Job sees wicked men live long and grow in power. God's people have always asked this (Jer 12:1; Ps 73:3).

21:8 Their offspring is established before them Bildad said the wicked have no children left (18:19). Job says many have children and grandchildren all around them. You can hear the pain from a man whose own children were dead. Eliphaz said the wicked live in fear (15:21), but many live in peace untouched by God's rod (21:9).

21:13 They complete their days in the good, and in a moment they go down to Sheol Herds that never miscarry, children dancing to tambourine and flute (21:10-12), then a quick, peaceful death, while Job died slowly in agony. Anyone who has lived long has seen people mock God and seem to have an easy life and death. Job is honest about it. His friends were not.

21:15 What is the Almighty, that we should serve Him They openly reject God (21:14) because there is nothing in it for them. That is Satan's charge in reverse. Satan said Job served God for profit (1:9). These men refuse because they see no profit. Both think of God only in terms of gain. Job served Him when there was nothing in it for him.

21:16 the counsel of the wicked is far from me Their prosperity is in God's hand, not theirs, and Job wants nothing of their thinking. His faith is not for sale. Eliphaz repeats these words (22:18).

21:17 How often is the lamp of the wicked extinguished Bildad said it goes out (18:5-6). How often? The wicked are chaff before the wind (Ps 1:4), and Job believes it in the end (21:18). But how often do we see it in this life? Not as often as the friends claim.

21:19 God stores up his wickedness for his sons The friends hinted that if the wicked man escapes, his children pay (5:4; 18:19). Job says that is not enough. Let the man himself feel it (21:20). Once dead, what does he care (21:21)? God's Law later taught that children are not put to death for their fathers' sins (Deut 24:16; Ezek 18:20).

21:22 Will anyone teach God knowledge Job is not trying to teach God how to run the world. But we should not pretend to understand His ways better than we do.

21:26 Together they will lie down on the dust, and the maggot will cover over them One dies at ease and well fed (21:23-24), another bitter and poor (21:25), and both lie in the same dirt. You cannot tell from how a man lived or died whether he was righteous (Eccl 9:2-3). The friends' rule does not hold.

21:28 Where is the house of the noble man Job knows they are aiming at him (21:27). The rich man's house is gone, so he was wicked, they say. They meant Job's house.

21:30 the evil man is spared for a day of calamity Ask any traveler (21:29). The wicked are often spared when disaster strikes. It can also be read that they are kept for a day of calamity still to come. Either way, the friends' theory does not fit what people see.

21:32 to the graves he will be borne, and over the tomb he will keep watch No one dares confront him (21:31). He is buried with honor and crowds follow his funeral (21:33). If this life were all, wickedness would seem to pay. But "it is appointed to men to die once, and after this judgment" (Heb 9:27). Asaph struggled until he went into God's sanctuary and saw their end (Ps 73:17). Abraham told the rich man, "now he is comforted, and you are in anguish" (Luke 16:25). God's justice is sure, not always quick, and His patience gives time to repent (2 Pet 3:9).

Eliphaz's Third Speech

1 And Eliphaz (Elifaz) the Temanite answered and said, 2 "Will a man be of use to God? For a wise man will be of use to himself. 3 Is it a pleasure to the Almighty that you are righteous, or profit that you make your ways blameless? 4 Is it from your fear of Him that He reproves you, that He enters with you into judgment? 5 Is not your evil great, and is there no end to your iniquities? 6 For you take pledges from your brothers without cause, and you strip off the garments of the naked. 7 You have not given water to the weary to drink, and from the hungry you have withheld bread. 8 And the man of arm, the land is his, and the honored one dwells in it. 9 You have sent widows away empty, and the arms of the fatherless have been crushed. 10 Therefore snares are all around you, and sudden dread terrifies you, 11 or darkness, so that you do not see, and an abundance of water covers you. 12 Is not God in the height of the heavens? And look at the top of the stars, that they are high! 13 And you say, 'What does God know? Make Peace With God

21 Be reconciled, please, with Him, and be at peace; by them good will come to you. 22 Accept, please, instruction from His mouth, and put His words in your heart. 23 If you return to the Almighty, you will be built up; if you remove injustice from your tent, 24 and put gold on the dust, and Ophir (Ofir)

21:34 how will you comfort me with vanity Vanity is emptiness, breath. Their answers were unfaithful to the truth and to him. The lesson of the second round: God is just, but His justice works on a larger scale than one lifetime. Force every suffering into a neat formula and you become an unfaithful comforter. Hold to God's justice in the long run, as Job did, and you can be honest about injustice now and still trust Him.
22:1 Eliphaz the Temanite answered and said The third round begins and will be short. Bildad gives only a few lines (chapter 25), and Zophar does not speak at all. The friends have only one idea, and Job has answered it.
22:3 Is it a pleasure to the Almighty that you are righteous True in part. God does not need us and is not made richer when we do right (35:7; Acts 17:25). But Eliphaz uses it coldly: your goodness makes no difference to God. The book shows the opposite. God spoke of Job with joy (1:8). He does not need our righteousness, but He delights in it.
22:4 Is it from your fear of Him that He reproves you No one is punished for being godly, Eliphaz says, so it must be your sin. In a real sense, Job suffered precisely because he feared God. God pointed to his faith, and Satan attacked it.
22:5 Is not your evil great, and is there no end to your iniquities Now he says outright what he only hinted before.
22:6 you take pledges from your brothers without cause, and you strip off the garments of the naked A poor man's pledge was often his cloak, to be returned by night because it was his blanket (Exod 22:26-27). Eliphaz accuses Job of cruelty to the poor, the thirsty, widows and orphans (22:6-9). Where did he get these charges? Nowhere. He worked backward from Job's suffering and invented crimes to fit. A false theory begins by explaining a man's pain and ends by inventing his sins. The charges were false (1:1, 8). Job rescued the poor, made the widow's heart sing and was a father to the needy (29:12-16; 31:16-22).
22:9 You have sent widows away empty Widows and orphans had no defender, so turning them away crushed the weakest. Have you been accused of something you did not do by someone whose mind was made up? Jesus was: "many were bearing false testimony against Him" (Mark 14:56). God knows the truth. And if you are tempted to accuse because the facts would fit your theory, stop. A matter must be established by witnesses (Deut 19:15), not guesses.
22:10 snares are all around you, and sudden dread terrifies you Bildad's pictures of the wicked (18:7-11), applied to Job. The logic is a circle: Job suffers, so he is wicked; he is wicked, so he suffers. There is no room for anything God might be doing that Eliphaz cannot see.
22:13 What does God know? Through thick darkness will He judge Eliphaz puts words in Job's mouth. Job said the opposite. His complaint was that God watched him all too closely (7:19-20; 10:4-6). His struggle was not whether God sees but why the God who sees all was silent. It is easy to answer what we think someone meant instead of what he said. The circle of the heavens (22:14) is the dome of the sky as seen from earth (Isa 40:22).
22:16 a river was poured out on their foundation Wicked men of old snatched away before their time. Many teachers think Eliphaz means Noah's flood (Gen 6 to 7).
22:18 the counsel of the wicked is far from me Job said this to separate himself from the wicked (21:16). Eliphaz says it to separate himself from Job, a sharp, cold echo, after turning Job's description of the wicked (21:14-15) back on him (22:17).
22:19 The righteous see it and rejoice Scripture does speak of the righteous rejoicing at God's judgment (Ps 58:10; Rev 18:20). But fire had burned Job's flocks (1:16; 22:20), and Eliphaz says the righteous should rejoice over his ruin. That is cruel. "When your enemy falls, do not rejoice" (Prov 24:17), and Job never rejoiced at an enemy's ruin (31:29).
22:21 Be reconciled, please, with Him, and be at peace Good advice for anyone, and to store God's words in our hearts (22:22; Ps 119:11). But aimed wrongly. Had Job confessed the sins just listed, he would have confessed to lies and proved Satan right by repenting to get his blessings back. His integrity would not let him (27:5-6).
22:23 If you return to the Almighty, you will be built up Return is shub, the common Old Testament word for repentance. Eliphaz still assumes injustice in Job's tent.
22:24 Ophir gold among the rock of the wadis Ophir was famous for fine gold (1 Kgs 9:28). Throw your gold away like gravel in a dry streambed, he says, still thinking Job's sin was greed.

gold among the rock of the wadis, 25 then the Almighty will be your gold, and silver of heaps for you. 26 For then you will take delight in the Almighty, and you will lift up your face to God. 27 You will pray to Him, and He will hear you, and you will pay your vows. 28 And you will decree a matter, and it will be established for you, and on your ways light will shine. 29 When they bring you low, and you say, 'There is lifting up!' then He will save the lowly of eyes. 30 He will deliver one who is not innocent, and he will be delivered by the cleanness of your hands."

Job Longs to Find God

1 And Job (Iyov) answered and said, 2 "Even today my complaint is rebellion; my hand is heavy on my groaning. 3 Oh that I knew, and I would find Him; I would come to His place! 4 Let me set in order a case before Him, and let me fill my mouth with arguments. 5 I want to know the words with which He would answer me, and understand what He would say to me. 6 Would He contend with me in the greatness of power? 22:25 the Almighty will be your gold A beautiful line, and true. God is a better treasure than gold (Ps 73:25; Matt 6:19-21). The irony is that Job had already proved it. He lost all his gold in a day and still blessed the LORD's name (1:21).
22:27 You will pray to Him, and He will hear you Prayer heard, a clean conscience and light on the path (22:26-28) are real blessings for those who walk with God. But Eliphaz made it a bargain. Faith that turns to God only to get the blessings back is the faith Satan said Job had (1:9-11). True faith seeks God Himself.
22:29 then He will save the lowly of eyes The lowly of eyes are the humble, who do not look down on others. God gives grace to the humble (James 4:6).
22:30 He will deliver one who is not innocent, and he will be delivered by the cleanness of your hands Eliphaz had no idea how true this would be, or for whom. The LORD's anger burned against him, and He said, "Job My servant shall pray for you" (42:8). Eliphaz was the one not innocent, and he was spared by the prayer of the man he falsely accused. A picture of greater things: we are not innocent, and we are delivered by the cleanness of our Advocate, "Jesus Christ the Righteous One" (1 John 2:1).
23:2 Even today my complaint is rebellion; my hand is heavy on my groaning Job answers Eliphaz through chapter 24. After all the speeches nothing has changed. The word for rebellion can also mean bitterness. Job may be pressing down on his groans and still they come, or some read it as God's hand heavy on him. Either way, his pain is deeper than his words.
23:3 Oh that I knew, and I would find Him; I would come to His place The cry of Job's heart. He does not want an argument with his friends. He wants God. He would lay out his case like a man before a judge (23:4).
23:5 I want to know the words with which He would answer me Job wants to listen as well as speak. The friends talked about God; Job wanted to hear from God. In long trouble, prayer can feel like speaking into an empty room. It is not a sin to long for God to answer. "So my soul pants for You, God" (Ps 42:1). The longing itself is a kind of prayer.
23:6 Would He contend with me in the greatness of power? No, surely He would pay attention to me Earlier Job feared being overwhelmed (9:32-35; 13:21). Now he believes God would listen and he would be cleared (23:7). He was right that God is fair and hears an upright man. He was wrong to think he could argue as an equal. When God spoke, Job put his hand over his mouth (40:4).
23:8 I go forward, and He is not there; and backward, and I do not perceive Him Forward was east, backward west, left north, right south (23:8-9). Job has looked everywhere. David said there is nowhere to escape God's presence (Ps 139). Both are true. God is everywhere, but there are seasons when we cannot feel Him or see what He is doing. "Truly You are a God who hides Himself" (Isa 45:15).
23:10 He knows the way with me The turning point. I cannot find Him, but He knows exactly where I am. When we cannot see God, He still sees us. "The LORD knows the way of the righteous" (Ps 1:6). Hagar called Him "a God of seeing" (Gen 16:13). The Father numbers the hairs of our heads (Matt 10:29-30). We do not have to understand our road for it to be known.
23:10 He has tested me; like the gold I will come forth Tested means examined, as a refiner tries metal. Job sees what his friends never did: this is a test, not a sentence. The refiner melts gold, skims off the dross, and what is left is pure. The fire does not destroy gold. It proves it. Job does not say he will come out rich or healthy, but proved and pure. Our faith is "much more precious than gold that perishes though it is tested by fire" (1 Pet 1:7). The LORD sits as a refiner (Mal 3:3), close to the fire, leaving the metal no longer than it needs. Not every trial ends in this life, but those who belong to Him still come forth as gold (2 Cor 4:17). Job did, and God called him "My servant" four times (42:7-8).
23:12 more than my portion I have treasured up the words of His mouth His portion is his daily food. Living long before the Law of Moses, Job stored up every word he knew from God like treasure (23:11-12). This is not a claim to be sinless (9:2; 14:4) but an answer to false charges. "Man will not live by bread alone" (Matt 4:4; Jer 15:16). Most of us would never skip food for a week. How many skip God's Word for a week without noticing?
23:13 He is in one mind, and who will turn Him back God is unchanging and does what He wills. He works "all things according to the counsel of His will" (Eph 1:11), and He will finish what He planned for Job (23:14). A comfort to believers, but to Job in that moment it was frightening.
23:15 Therefore I am terrified before Him Right after one of the strongest statements of faith in the book, Job admits he is terrified. Faith does not always remove fear. He trusts God and fears Him at the same time.
23:17 I have not been destroyed before darkness Hard Hebrew. It may mean darkness is not what terrifies him most, God is, or that he is still crying out though gloom covers his face. He has not gone silent or walked away. In the dark he still says, "He knows the way with me." That is faith, even when it trembles.

from my face gloom covers.

Why Does God Delay Judgment?

1 Why are times not stored up by the Almighty, and those who know Him do not see His days? 2 They move back boundaries; they seize flocks and pasture them. 3 They drive away the donkey of the fatherless; they take the ox of the widow as a pledge. 4 They thrust the needy aside from the path; the poor of the earth are made to hide together. 5 Look, as wild donkeys in the wilderness they go forth to their work, seeking for prey; the desert plain is food for him, for the children. 6 In the field they harvest his fodder, and they glean the vineyard of the wicked. 7 They spend the night naked, without clothing, and there is no covering in the cold. 8 They are wet from the rain of the mountains, and for lack of shelter they embrace the rock. 9 They tear away the fatherless from the breast, and on the poor they take pledges. 10 They go about naked, without clothing, and hungry they carry a sheaf. 11 Between their rows they press out oil; they tread winepresses, and they thirst. 12 From the city men groan, and the soul of the wounded cries for help, and God does not charge it as folly.

Those Who Rebel Against the Light

13 They are among those who rebel against the light; they do not recognize its ways, and they do not dwell in its paths. 14 At the light the murderer rises; he kills the poor and the needy, and in the night he is like the thief. 15 And the eye of the adulterer watches for twilight, saying, 'No eye will observe me,' and he puts a covering on his face. 16 In the darkness he digs into houses; by day they seal themselves up; they do not know light. 17 For morning is deep darkness to them together, for he is acquainted with the terrors of deep darkness. 18 He is swift on the face of the waters; their portion is cursed in the land; he does not turn by the way of vineyards. 19 Drought and also heat snatch away the waters of snow; Sheol those who have sinned. 20 The womb forgets him; the maggot sucks sweetly on him; he is no longer remembered, and injustice is broken like the tree. 21 He feeds on the barren woman who does not give birth, and he does not do good to the widow. 22 And He draws along the mighty by His power; He rises, and one does not trust in life. 23 He gives security to him, and he leans on it; and His eyes are on their ways. 24 They are exalted a little while, and he is not; and they are brought low; like everyone they are gathered up, and like the head of grain they wither. 25 And if not then, who will prove me a liar and make my speech into 24:1 Why are times not stored up by the Almighty, and those who know Him do not see His days Times and days are set days of judgment. Why does God not fix days of reckoning, so those who love Him can see Him put things right? Job asks about God's timing, not His justice. God's patience gives time to repent (2 Pet 3:9), and He has set a day (Eccl 3:17), when Christ will judge the world (Acts 17:31).

24:2 They move back boundaries; they seize flocks and pasture them Boundary stones marked land, and moving one quietly stole a neighbor's field. The Law later forbade it (Deut 19:14).
24:3 They drive away the donkey of the fatherless; they take the ox of the widow as a pledge The orphan's one donkey and the widow's one ox. These are the very sins Eliphaz falsely charged to Job (22:6-9). Job agrees they are wicked. His point is that those who really do them often go unpunished, while the poor hide (24:4).
24:5 as wild donkeys in the wilderness they go forth to their work The poor scrape food from the wasteland for their children and glean the rich man's vineyard (24:6).
24:8 for lack of shelter they embrace the rock No clothes against the cold (24:7), no home, huddled against the rocks in the mountain rain. This is the man who was "a father to the needy" (29:16). God's Word sees the homeless man shivering by the rock.
24:9 They tear away the fatherless from the breast Probably to sell the child as a slave for a debt.
24:10 hungry they carry a sheaf The poor carry grain and go hungry, tread winepresses and thirst (24:11), surrounded by food and drink that is not theirs.
24:12 God does not charge it as folly The hardest line in the chapter. The dying groan and the wounded cry out, and God does not seem to step in. Job does not soften it, and neither should we. But God does hear: of the mistreated widow and orphan He said, "I will surely hear his cry" (Exod 22:23), and the cries of cheated workers "have entered into the ears of the Lord of armies" (James 5:4). He does not always act when we want, but He has not stopped listening, and He will judge.
24:13 those who rebel against the light People who hate the light because it exposes them: the murderer before dawn, the thief at night (24:14).
24:15 the eye of the adulterer watches for twilight, saying, No eye will observe me He hides his face at dusk (Prov 7:9). Thieves dig through mud-brick walls at night and hide by day (24:16), and morning is what they dread (24:17). "Men loved the darkness rather than the Light; for their works were evil" (John 3:19). Sin loves to hide, but no creature is hidden from God (Heb 4:13).
24:18 He is swift on the face of the waters; their portion is cursed in the land Verses 18-24 sound like the friends: the wicked are quickly cut off, snatched away by Sheol as heat dries up snow (24:19), forgotten even by the womb (24:20). How do we read them? Some believe Job quotes his friends, since Hebrew had no quotation marks. Some think the verses were displaced from a friend's speech. Others, taking the text as Job's own words, say he believes God will judge the wicked in the end, only not as quickly as the friends claim. Read as it stands, that fits best.
24:23 He gives security to him, and he leans on it; and His eyes are on their ways God may let the wicked feel safe for a time, but His patience is not blindness. Asaph learned it: "Surely You set them on slippery places" (Ps 73:18).
24:24 They are exalted a little while, and he is not The key to how Job sees the wicked. They are not always cut off early. They often rise high, but only a little while, and then they are cut like heads of grain. God's slow judgment is mercy giving time to turn: "the kindness of God leads you to repentance" (Rom 2:4).
24:25 who will prove me a liar Prove me wrong, Job says. No one could, because everyone has seen it. Bildad's six verses in the next chapter do not touch what Job said. Sometimes the most faithful thing a believer can do is tell the truth about what he sees, bring it to God, and refuse easy answers.

26:13 Rev 12:9; Isa 27:1; Gen 1:2

25:1 Bildad the Shuhite answered and said His third speech, and very short. Zophar, who should come next, never speaks. Scripture does not say why. Most likely the friends had nothing left. Their one idea, that suffering always comes from sin, had been answered every time. Some teachers think parts of chapters 26 and 27 were first spoken by Bildad or Zophar and the order was mixed up long ago, but no ancient copy has a different order. I take the text as it stands. The silence of Zophar is part of the story: the friends' case has run dry.

25:2 Dominion and dread are with Him; He makes peace in His heights God rules all, and in heaven all is order under His command. Some think Bildad means God putting down rebellion in the heavens.

25:3 Is there a number to His troops? And on whom does His light not rise God's armies of angels and stars cannot be counted (Isa 40:26), and His sun rises on the evil and the good (Matt 5:45). True and beautiful, but Job had said it more fully (9:4-10; 12:13-25). Bildad tells Job what he already knows.

25:4 how can man be righteous with God The question asked again and again (4:17; 9:2; 15:14). True and important. All have sinned (Rom 3:23), and Job never claimed to be sinless, only innocent of their charges. Bildad gives no answer and only makes man feel small. The gospel answers it: "being justified freely by His grace through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus" (Rom 3:24). God has made a way, through the Redeemer Job longed for (19:25). Job, like Abraham, was right with God by faith, offering sacrifices for sin (1:5).

25:5 the stars are not pure in His eyes Beside God's glory even the moon seems dark (4:18; 15:15).

25:6 How much less man, a maggot, and a son of man, a worm True in one sense; David said, "I am a worm and not a man" (Ps 22:6). When God calls His people "worm of Jacob" (Isa 41:14), He adds at once that He will help them. Bildad stops at the worm, and says it to a man with worms in his sores (7:5) who had called the maggot his mother (17:14). That is one more blow, not comfort. True humility before God's greatness (Isa 6:5; 42:6) always leads to grace, not despair. Never stop at telling hurting people they are small. Go on to say that God is near and helps the small.

26:2 How you have helped him who has no power Job answers Bildad, a reply that runs through chapter 31 with new starts at 27:1 and 29:1. This is bitter irony. Bildad had not helped at all, and his six verses gave Job only what he knew (26:3).

26:4 whose breath has gone out from you Whose spirit speaks through you, God's or your own? Eliphaz claimed a spirit spoke to him (4:15-16). A fair question for anyone who claims to speak for God. Is it God's Word, or our opinion with His name on it?

26:5 The shades are made to tremble beneath the waters Job goes deeper than Bildad, beginning with the depths. The shades are the spirits of the dead, pictured below the earth and seas. Even they tremble before God.

26:6 Sheol is naked before Him, and there is no covering for Abaddon Abaddon means destruction, another name for the place of the dead (Prov 15:11; Rev 9:11). Job had longed for death and wondered what lay beyond (3:13-19; 14:13-14). Here he says the world of the dead is not outside God's rule. Death does not take us out of God's sight. For the believer it takes us into His presence (2 Cor 5:8).

26:7 He hangs the earth on nothing Formlessness is tohu, the same word as in "the earth was formlessness and emptiness" (Gen 1:2). The north may be the northern sky or the far north. Many ancient peoples thought the earth rested on pillars or a great animal. Job says it hangs on nothing. We should not make Job a modern scientist, since he speaks in poetry of God's power. But his words fit what we now know. And we know who holds it: "in Him all things hold together" (Col 1:17; Heb 1:3).

26:8 He binds up waters in His clouds, and the cloud is not split open under them A cloud holds tons of water and floats without bursting. Job sees God's hand in it, like water wrapped in a skin bottle.

26:9 He encloses the face of the throne God hides His throne behind clouds. We cannot see Him, but He is there. The Hebrew words for throne and full moon are very close, and many versions read it as God veiling the full moon. Either way, God controls what we see in the sky.

26:10 He has drawn a circle, a limit, on the face of the waters From the shore the horizon looks like a circle where sea meets sky and light meets darkness. God set the sea its limit (Prov 8:29), as He will tell Job from the storm (38:8-11).

26:12 by His understanding He shattered Rahab The pillars of heaven are probably the great mountains, shaking at His rebuke (26:11). The sea often stands for chaos. Rahab is a name for a proud power of the sea, and also for Egypt (Ps 87:4; 89:10).

26:13 His hand pierced the fleeing serpent Isaiah uses the same words: "Leviathan the fleeing serpent" (Isa 27:1), whom the LORD will slay. The nations told myths of gods fighting sea monsters, and some scholars think the Bible borrowed them. I do not believe the Bible teaches those myths. It uses pictures people knew to say the true God has no rivals. Sea, storm and every proud power, in nature, among nations or in the spiritual world, are under His hand. He does not struggle to win. Many teachers also see Satan, "the ancient serpent" (Rev 12:9), whom God will finally crush.

the fleeing serpent. 14 Look, these are the ends of His ways, and what a whisper of a word we hear of Him! And the thunder of His mighty deeds, who will understand?"

Job Holds Fast to His Integrity

1 And Job (Iyov) again took up his discourse and said, 2 "As God lives, who has taken away my right, and the Almighty, who has made my soul bitter, 3 for all the while my breath is in me, and the spirit of God is in my nostrils, 4 my lips will not speak injustice, and my tongue will not utter deceit. 5 Far be it from me that I should declare you right; until I expire I will not put away my integrity from me. 6 I have held fast to my righteousness, and I will not let it go; my heart will not reproach me for any of my days. 7 Let my enemy be like the wicked, and the one who rises up against me like the unjust. 8 For what is the hope of the godless when He cuts him off, when God takes away his life? 9 Will God hear his cry when distress comes on him? 10 Or will he take delight in the Almighty? Will he call on God at all times? 11 I will instruct you in the hand of God; what is with the Almighty I will not hide. 12 Look, you, all of you, have seen it; and why is this, that you become vain with vanity?

The Portion of the Wicked

13 This is the portion of a wicked man with God, and the inheritance of ruthless men, which they receive from the Almighty. 14 If his sons multiply, it is for the sword, and his descendants will not be satisfied with bread. 15 His survivors will be buried by death, and his widows will not weep. 16 Though he heaps up silver like the dust, and prepares clothing like the clay, 17 he may prepare it, and the righteous will wear it, and the innocent will divide the silver. 18 He has built his house like the moth, and like a booth that a watchman has made. 19 He lies down rich, and he will not be gathered; he opens his eyes, and he is not. 20 Terrors overtake him like the waters; at night a storm-wind steals him away. 21 An east wind lifts him up, and he goes, and it whirls him away from his place. 22 And it throws itself at him and does not spare; from its hand he surely flees. 23 One claps their hands at him, and hisses at him from his place.

27:23 Lam 2:15; Zeph 2:15; Esth 9:22-25

26:14 these are the ends of His ways, and what a whisper of a word we hear of Him One of the great verses in Job. All that wonder is only the edges, the hem of His garment, a whisper. Who could understand His thunder? Bildad thought he could sum God up in six verses. No one can. We often make God a slightly bigger version of ourselves (Rom 11:33). Yet this God speaks. Job will hear Him from the storm, and God has spoken to us most clearly "in a Son" (Heb 1:2).
27:1 Job again took up his discourse Discourse is mashal, a proverb or formal speech. Zophar's turn has passed in silence, so Job makes a solemn statement. The same phrase opens his final defense (29:1).
27:2 As God lives, who has taken away my right The strongest form of oath. Job swears by the very God he feels has wronged him and made him bitter. He has not turned to any other god or given up on the living God. His breath is God's gift (27:3; Gen 2:7).
27:4 My lips will not speak injustice, and my tongue will not utter deceit The lie the friends wanted was a confession of sins he had not committed. Some think the humble thing is to admit to anything to keep the peace. False confession is not humility. It is lying. Job would rather suffer than lie.
27:5 until I expire I will not put away my integrity from me Integrity is the key word of the book. God said Job held fast to it (2:3); his wife said let it go (2:9). Now Job says it himself. Satan said his faith would break. It bent and cried out, but did not break.
27:6 my heart will not reproach me for any of my days Not a claim to be sinless (1:5; 14:4), but a clear conscience about their charges. A good conscience does not stop accusers but lets us stand firm (1 Pet 3:16). Yet there was a danger in it. Elihu was angry that Job "justified himself more than God" (32:2), and the LORD will ask, "Will you condemn Me so that you may be justified?" (40:8). Job was right not to confess false sins, but in defending himself he came close to accusing God. That is where he will repent (42:6).
27:7 Let my enemy be like the wicked Let my false accusers be treated as wicked. A false accuser deserved the punishment of the crime he charged (Deut 19:16-19).
27:8 what is the hope of the godless when He cuts him off The godless are hypocrites with no hope in death (8:13).
27:10 Will he call on God at all times The godless man prays only in trouble and takes no delight in God (27:9-10). Job has cried out to God the whole book, even angrily, talking to God and not about Him behind His back. His constant prayer is evidence he is not godless. Satan said he would curse God. He never stopped calling on Him.
27:12 why is this, that you become vain with vanity Now Job will teach them (27:11). You have all seen God's ways, so why fill your speeches with empty breath?
27:13 This is the portion of a wicked man with God Close to Zophar's words (20:29). As in chapter 24, teachers read 27:13-23 differently. Some think it is Zophar's missing third speech, misplaced long ago. Others think Job repeats the friends' view to show he knows it. Taking the text as it stands, these are Job's own words. He never said the wicked escape God, only that they often prosper long. The difference between Job and his friends was never whether God judges the wicked. It was whether every sufferer is wicked.
27:15 His survivors will be buried by death Plague was often called death. His children fall to sword and hunger (27:14), and his widows do not weep.
27:17 the righteous will wear it, and the innocent will divide the silver Wealth piled up like dust goes to others: "the wealth of a sinner is stored up for the righteous" (Prov 13:22).
27:18 He has built his house like the moth, and like a booth that a watchman has made A cocoon is fragile, and a watchman's booth was a rough shelter of branches left to fall apart after harvest.
27:19 He lies down rich, and he will not be gathered He goes to bed rich and wakes to find it gone, or he himself is gone, with no honored burial. "Fool! This night they are demanding your soul from you" (Luke 12:20). Wealth without God does not last the night.
27:21 An east wind lifts him up, and he goes Terror like a flash flood (27:20), the hot desert wind sweeping him from his place.
27:23 One claps their hands at him, and hisses at him from his place Signs of scorn (Lam 2:15). A great wind had struck the house where Job's children died (1:19). He knew what a storm could do, yet he does not say it proves he was wicked. The wicked will face God's storm in the end, and Job is not wicked. Both are true, and the friends could only hold one. The only shelter from that storm is Christ, who took God's judgment on Himself for all who trust Him (Rom 5:9).

Treasures Mined From the Earth

1 For there is a mine for the silver, and a place for the gold which they refine. 2 Iron is taken from the dust, and stone is poured out as copper. 3 He puts an end to the darkness, and to every outermost limit he is searching out the stone of gloom and deep darkness. 4 He breaks open a shaft away from where the sojourner is; the ones forgotten by the foot, they hang down, away from mortals they swing. 5 The earth, from it comes forth bread, and under it is turned over like fire. 6 Its stones are a place of sapphire, and dusts of gold belong to it. 7 A path which the bird of prey does not know, and the eye of the falcon has not caught sight of it. 8 The sons of pride have not trodden it; the fierce lion has not passed over it. 9 He stretches out his hand on the flint; he overturns mountains from the root. 10 He splits open channels in the rocks, and his eye sees every precious thing. 11 He binds up rivers from weeping, and the hidden thing he brings out to light.

Where Can Wisdom Be Found?

12 And the wisdom, from where will it be found? And where is this, the place of understanding? 13 A mortal does not know its value, and it is not found in the land of the living. 14 The deep says, 'It is not in me,' and the sea says, 'It is not with me.' 15 Fine gold will not be given in its place, and silver will not be weighed out as its price. 16 It will not be valued with the gold of Ophir (Ofir), with precious onyx and sapphire. 17 Gold and glass will not compare with it, and its exchange is not a vessel of pure gold. 18 Corals and crystal will not be mentioned, and the price of wisdom is above pearls. 19 The topaz of Cush (Kush) will not compare with it; it will not be valued with pure gold. 20 And the wisdom, from where does it come? And where is this, the place of understanding? 21 And it has been concealed from the eyes of every living thing, and from the birds of the heavens it has been hidden. 22 Abaddon and death say, 'With our ears we have heard a report of it.'

God Knows the Way to Wisdom

23 God understands its way, and He knows its place. 24 For He looks to the ends of the earth; He sees under all the heavens, 25 to make a weight for the wind, and He has measured out the waters by measure. 26 When He made a decree for the rain, and a way for the lightning of the thunders, 27 then He saw it and recounted it; He established it, and also He searched it out. 28 And He said to mankind, 'Look, the fear of the Lord, that is wisdom, and to turn aside from evil is

28:1 there is a mine for the silver, and a place for the gold which they refine Who speaks? Nothing marks a new speaker, so it reads naturally as Job continuing from 27:1. But its tone is so different that many teachers see a poem from the book's author, stepping back to sum up the debate. Either way, its message is clear. It begins with mining.

28:2 Iron is taken from the dust, and stone is poured out as copper Copper ore was melted until the metal poured out. Sinai and the Arabah had copper mines worked long before Moses.

28:3 He puts an end to the darkness The miner carries his lamp into the earth to the farthest limits of the dark. Shafts far from travelers, men let down on ropes, swinging in the dark (28:4). People will go to great lengths and great danger for something valuable.

28:5 The earth, from it comes forth bread, and under it is turned over like fire Farmers grow bread on top, and below miners turn the earth over, perhaps with fire to crack the rock. The sapphire of 28:6 may be lapis lazuli, often flecked with gold.

28:7 A path which the bird of prey does not know, and the eye of the falcon has not caught sight of it The sharpest eyes in creation have never seen those tunnels, and no lion has walked them (28:8). Man goes where no animal can.

28:11 the hidden thing he brings out to light He tunnels through flint, brings down mountains, dams underground streams, and brings hidden treasure to light (28:9-11). Man is amazing. Men have walked on the moon, split the atom and mapped the body. But the next verse asks what all our skill cannot answer.

28:12 the wisdom, from where will it be found The question of the chapter and the whole book. Wisdom in the Bible is more than facts. It is the skill of living rightly, seeing life as God sees it. Job and his friends have argued about it for twenty-four chapters, each sure he had it. Man does not know its worth, and neither the deep nor the sea holds it (28:13-14).

28:15 silver will not be weighed out as its price There were no coins; silver was weighed on scales. Gold of Ophir, onyx, sapphire, costly glass, coral, pearls, topaz of Cush (28:16-19): none compares (Prov 8:11; 16:16). Job had been one of the richest men in the east and lost it all. He never lost what matters most, because wisdom was never something gold could buy.

28:20 the wisdom, from where does it come The refrain returns (28:12). No living thing sees it, and death has only heard a rumor (28:21-22). Wisdom is not found by dying either.

28:23 God understands its way, and He knows its place The answer. Only God knows where wisdom is, for He sees under all the heavens (28:24). The miner sees every precious thing in his tunnel (28:10); God sees every corner of the universe. If we are to have wisdom it must come from Him: "let him ask from God, who gives to all generously" (James 1:5).

28:26 When He made a decree for the rain, and a way for the lightning of the thunders God weighed the wind and measured the waters (28:25). The world runs by His decrees.

28:27 Then He saw it and recounted it; He established it Wisdom was with God at creation, built into how He made the world (Prov 8:27-31). It is fully revealed in Christ, "the wisdom of God" (1 Cor 1:24), in whom "all the treasures of wisdom and of knowledge are hidden" (Col 2:3). What no miner could dig up or rich man buy has come to us in a Person.

28:28 the fear of the Lord, that is wisdom, and to turn aside from evil is understanding The climax of the chapter and a key verse of the book. Man cannot search out all of God's wisdom, but God has told us what wisdom is for us (Deut 29:29). Lord here is Adonai, Master, its only use for God in Job. The fear of the Lord is not cringing terror but reverent awe that honors, trusts and obeys Him (Prov 1:7; Ps 111:10; Eccl 12:13), and it shows in turning from evil (Prov 3:7). These are the very words used of Job (1:1, 8; 2:3). By God's own definition, Job was wise. The friends thought wisdom meant an explanation for everything, and they were wrong. Job had no explanation, and God called him wise. Wisdom is not having all the answers. It is fearing God when you do not have them.

Job Remembers His Former Days

1 And Job (Iyov) again took up his discourse and said, 2 "Who will make me like the months of long ago, like the days when God watched over me, 3 when He made His lamp shine over my head, and by His light I walked through darkness; 4 just as I was in the days of my prime, when the intimate counsel of God was over my tent; 5 when the Almighty was still with me, and my lads were around me; 6 when my steps were bathed in curds, and the rock beside me poured out streams of oil;

29:2 like the days when God watched over me Job's closing statement begins (29:1). His first longing is not for wealth but for God's nearness, the hedge Satan spoke of (1:10). Now he feels it is gone.
29:3 When He made His lamp shine over my head, and by His light I walked through darkness God's favor lit his way through the dark. "The LORD my God illumines my darkness" (Ps 18:28).
29:4 when the intimate counsel of God was over my tent God's close friendship, the word of Ps 25:14. Job felt God was a friend in his home.
29:5 my lads were around me His children. One of the most painful lines in the book. Anyone who has lost a child or spouse knows how sharp such a memory can be. Curds and streams of oil picture rich blessing (29:6). It is not a sin to remember with longing (Ps 42:4), though we should not get stuck asking why the former days were better (Eccl 7:10). Job will move forward, but only after God meets him.
29:7 When I went out to the gate by the town The elders judged at the city gate (Ruth 4:1-2). Young men stepped back, old men stood, princes fell silent (29:8-10). Now little boys mock him (19:18). Job is not boasting. He shows how far he has fallen.
29:12 I rescued the afflicted who cried for help, and the fatherless and him who had no helper Here is why people blessed him (29:11). He did not take from the poor, as Eliphaz claimed (22:6-9). He rescued them.
29:13 I made the heart of a widow sing for joy Eliphaz said he sent widows away empty (22:9). Job made them sing. "Religion pure and undefiled" (James 1:27) is to visit orphans and widows in their trouble.
29:14 I put on righteousness, and it clothed me He wore righteousness like clothing, and his justice was the robe and turban of a judge, his badge of office.
29:15 I was eyes to the blind, and feet to the lame was I Whatever someone lacked, Job tried to supply.
29:16 the case of one whom I did not know, I investigated it A father to the needy, and careful about strangers who could do nothing for him.
29:17 I broke the jaws of the unrighteous, and from his teeth I threw out the prey Real love for the weak sometimes means confronting the strong. Jesus did this perfectly, anointed to preach good news to the poor and free the oppressed (Luke 4:18), and what we do for the least of His brothers we do for Him (Matt 25:40).
29:18 With my nest I will expire, and like the sand I will multiply days He expected to die at home, with family, after days as many as the sand. Some versions read phoenix, a legendary bird, since the Hebrew word can mean that, but the SLB reads sand, which fits the many verses using sand for number.
29:19 My root is opened to the waters Like the righteous man of Psalm 1:3. Job had come to assume the good would last, perhaps thinking, like his friends, that righteousness always brings a peaceful old age. His suffering shattered it. Hope is not in riches but "in the living God" (1 Tim 6:17).
29:23 they opened their mouth wide for the spring rain People longed for Job's counsel as farmers long for spring rain. His friends would not listen to him at all.
29:25 as one who comforts mourners When people lost heart he smiled on them (29:24), and he led like a king among troops. Job had been the comforter. Now he is the mourner, and no one comforts him. His greatness was not his money but his compassion. God "comforts us in all our affliction, so that we may be able to comfort those in every affliction" (2 Cor 1:4). If God has comforted you, you have something to give.
30:1 And now they have laughed at me, those younger than I in days "And now" turns from chapter 29. Young men once stepped aside for him (29:8). Job's words about their fathers sound harsh, but he is not looking down on the poor, whom he cared for (29:12-16). These were men known to be worthless and untrustworthy. The point is how far he has fallen.

them vigor has perished. 3 In poverty and in hunger they are barren, the ones who gnaw the dry region, the yesterday of ruin and desolation, 4 the ones who pluck mallow among the bushes, and the root of broom plants is their food. 5 From the community they are driven away; they shout over them as over the thief, 6 to dwell on the slope of wadis, in holes of the ground and in rocks. 7 Between bushes they bray; under nettles they are joined together. 8 Sons of a fool, also sons without a name, they have been scourged from the land. 9 And now I have become their taunt song, and I have become a byword to them. 10 They abhor me; they are distant from me, and from my face they have not withheld spittle. 11 For He has loosened my cord and afflicted me, and they have sent away the halter from before me. 12 On my right a brood arises; they have sent away my feet, and they have piled up against me the paths of their disaster. 13 They have torn down my pathway; they promote my destruction; there is no helper for them. 14 Like a wide breach they come; under the devastation they have rolled themselves in. 15 Sudden terrors have been turned on me; it pursues my dignity like the wind, and my salvation has passed away like a cloud.

Job's Present Pain

30:4 the root of broom plants is their food Mallow is a salty desert plant and broom root is bitter, food only for the most desperate. They were driven out of town like thieves, lived in holes in dry streambeds, and brayed among the bushes like wild donkeys (30:2-8). Even the outcasts of the outcasts now look down on Job.

30:9 now I have become their taunt song They make mocking songs about him, keep away, and spit in his face (30:10), one of the worst insults in that culture.

30:11 He has loosened my cord and afflicted me Perhaps the cord of his tent or the string of his bow. Because God has brought him low, these men have thrown off all restraint, like a horse with no bridle. Think of Jesus, "despised and rejected by men" (Isa 53:3), who did not hide His face from spitting (Isa 50:6; Matt 27:30). The difference is that Jesus endured it willingly, for us.

30:12 On my right a brood arises The right hand was the place of an accuser in court. The rabble is pictured as an army tripping his feet, building siege ramps, and pouring in through a broken wall (30:12-14).

30:15 my salvation has passed away like a cloud Terror has turned on him, his honor blown away by the wind, his safety vanished like a cloud.

30:17 Night has pierced my bones from on me, and my gnawing pains do not lie down At night the pain gets worse. Anyone who lives with chronic pain knows how long the nights can be. Verse 18 is hard; his clothes may no longer fit his changed body, or may cling to his sores like a tight collar.

30:19 I have become like dust and ashes A phrase for something worthless. Job sits in ashes (2:8) and feels he has become ashes. Abraham used the words to humble himself (Gen 18:27), and Job will use them when he repents (42:6).

30:20 I cry for help to You, and You do not answer me Now he speaks straight to God. He cries and stands to pray, and God only looks at him.

30:21 You have changed Yourself into one cruel to me One of the hardest things Job says, and he is wrong. God is never cruel. "He has not afflicted from His heart" (Lam 3:33). God limited Satan's attack and was proud of Job the whole time, and Job will admit he spoke of what he did not understand (42:3). But he said it to God, not about Him to others. That is still prayer, and God did not strike him for it. He was patient and answered.

30:23 the house of appointed meeting for every living thing Death, where every living thing is gathered at last. The psalms hold prayers like this (Ps 22:1; 88:18), and Jesus prayed Psalm 22 from the cross (Matt 27:46). If all you can pray is a complaint, pray it to God. He can handle your honesty and will not leave you there. If you or someone you love is longing for death, please talk to a pastor, a doctor or a crisis line today. Job's friends failed him. Do not let that happen to the people God has put near you.

30:25 Did I not weep for the one who was hard of day Verse 24 is hard. It may mean no one strikes a ruined man who cries for help, so why does God keep striking? Job wept for others in hard times (Rom 12:15). Now no one weeps with him.

30:26 I waited for good, and evil came; and I waited for light, and darkness came The heart of Job's struggle. His experience did not match what he thought he knew of God. Many of us have prayed and waited and seen the opposite come. Job's honesty gives us permission to say so to God.

30:29 I have become a brother to jackals, and a companion to daughters of the ostrich Jackals howl at night and ostriches cry mournfully, lonely sounds in empty places. His skin is black and peeling and his body burns with fever (30:30).

30:31 my lyre has become mourning, and my flute the sound of those who weep Music once meant feasting in his home (1:4). Now it plays only funeral songs. The lament ends with no bright turn. Sometimes life is like that for a while. But God will speak, and Job's mourning will be turned to joy (42:10-17). The LORD gives "oil of joy instead of mourning" (Isa 61:3).

and my flute the sound of those who weep.

Job's Oath of Innocence

1 I have made a covenant for my eyes; and how would I look attentively at a virgin? 2 And what is the portion of God from above, and the inheritance of the Almighty from the heights? 3 Is not calamity for the unrighteous, and misfortune for the workers of evil? 4 Does He not see my ways, and count all my steps? 5 If I have walked with falsehood, and my foot has hurried to deceit, 6 let Him weigh me in balances of righteousness, and let God know my integrity. 7 If my step has turned aside from the way, and my heart has gone after my eyes, and a blemish has stuck to my hands, 8 let me sow, and let another eat, and let my produce be rooted up. 9 If my heart has been enticed by a woman, and I have lain in wait at the doorway of my neighbor, 10 let my wife grind for another, and let others bow down over her. 11 For that is wickedness, and that is an iniquity for judges. 12 For that is a fire which devours as far as Abaddon, and it would root up all my produce.

Justice for Servants and the Poor

13 If I rejected the case of my male servant and my female servant in their complaint with me, 14 and what will I do when God arises? And when He visits, what will I answer Him? 15 Did not He who made me in the belly make him? And did not One fashion us in the womb? 16 If I withheld anything from the desire of the poor, and caused the eyes of the widow to fail, 17 and ate my morsel alone, and the fatherless did not eat from it 18 (for from my youth he grew up with me as with a father, and from my mother's womb I guided her); 19 if I saw one perishing for lack of clothing, and no covering for the needy, 20 if his loins did not bless me, and if he did not warm himself from the fleece of my lambs; 21 if I brandished my hand against the fatherless, because I saw my help in the gate, 22 let my shoulder fall from its shoulder blade, and let my arm be broken from its shaft. 23 For calamity from God was a dread to me, and because of His majesty I could not do so.

No Trust in Gold, No Hidden Sin

24 If I have made gold my confidence, and to pure gold I have said, 'My security,' 25 if I rejoiced because my wealth was great, and because my hand had found much, 26 if I saw the light when it shone, and the moon going in splendor, 27 and my heart was enticed in secret, and my hand kissed my mouth, 28 that also would be an iniquity for judgment, for I would have denied God above. 29 If I rejoiced in the disaster

31:1 I have made a covenant for my eyes; and how would I look attentively at a virgin Job's oath of innocence begins. A covenant is a binding promise. Long before Jesus said that looking with lust is adultery of the heart (Matt 5:28), Job knew sin starts in the eyes and heart, and he decided ahead of time. In a world where temptation is a click away, we need a covenant for our eyes as much as he did.
31:4 Does He not see my ways, and count all my steps He guarded his eyes because God judges sin (31:2-3) and sees everything. The truth that frightened him in suffering (7:19-20) had kept him pure in good days.
31:6 let Him weigh me in balances of righteousness The first "if" of the oath. Job is so sure of his honesty he asks to be weighed on God's scales.
31:7 my heart has gone after my eyes Feet off the road, heart following the eyes, dirt on the hands. John warns of "the lust of the eyes" (1 John 2:16). If guilty, let another eat his harvest (31:8).
31:9 If my heart has been enticed by a woman, and I have lain in wait at the doorway of my neighbor Adultery, waiting at a neighbor's door for the husband to leave.
31:10 Let my wife grind for another Grinding grain was a servant's work. A very strong curse: if he dishonored another man's marriage, let his own be dishonored.
31:12 that is a fire which devours as far as Abaddon Adultery is a crime for judges (31:11) and a fire that burns all the way to the grave (Prov 6:27-32). Every pastor has seen what it does to a family. It burns far more than one marriage.
31:13 If I rejected the case of my male servant and my female servant Servants had few rights, and a master could ignore their complaints. Job listened, knowing he must answer to God (31:14).
31:15 Did not He who made me in the belly make him One of the most important verses in the chapter. Master and servant were made by the same God in the womb, equal in worth. An amazing thing to say when servants were treated as property. Masters are to be fair, "knowing that you also have a Master in the heavens" (Col 4:1). Every person bears God's image (Gen 1:27). How we treat those under us shows what we believe about God.
31:16 caused the eyes of the widow to fail Eliphaz said he sent widows away empty (22:9). Job never let a widow's eyes grow dim waiting for help, and never ate while orphans went hungry (31:17). From his youth he raised orphans like a father and guided widows (31:18). It was the pattern of his whole life.
31:20 if he did not warm himself from the fleece of my lambs Eliphaz said Job stripped the naked (22:6). Job clothed them with wool from his own flocks (31:19-20).
31:21 because I saw my help in the gate He had powerful friends at the town court and could have wronged an orphan safely. He never did. If he had, let his arm be torn off (31:22).
31:23 because of His majesty I could not do so He feared God. That is wisdom as 28:28 defines it, and Job lived it.
31:24 If I have made gold my confidence He was very rich but did not trust or gloat in it (31:25). We know it, because he lost it all in a day and blessed the LORD (1:21). "You are not able to serve God and wealth" (Matt 6:24). The test is not how much we have but where our heart rests.
31:27 my hand kissed my mouth Many worshiped the sun and moon by kissing their hand toward the sky (31:26). Job never did, even in secret (Deut 4:19). It would have denied God above (31:28).
31:29 If I rejoiced in the disaster of one who hated me Eliphaz said the righteous rejoice at the wicked's fall (22:19). Job was more gracious. He never cursed his enemy's life (31:30), living long before Jesus' word, "love your enemies, bless those cursing you" (Matt 5:44).

of one who hated me, and roused myself when evil found him 30 (and I have not permitted my palate to sin by asking for his life with a curse); 31 if the men of my tent have not said, 'Who will give one who has not been satisfied from his meat?' 32 The sojourner did not lodge in the street; I opened my doors to the road. 33 If I have covered my transgressions like Adam, by hiding my iniquity in my bosom, 34 because I feared the great multitude, and the contempt of clans dismayed me, and I kept silent and did not go out of the door—

Job Signs His Defense

35 Who will grant me one listening to me! Look, my mark; let the Almighty answer me! And the document that the man of my case has written, 36 surely I would carry it on my shoulder; I would bind it on as crowns for myself. 37 I would tell Him the number of my steps; like a noble I would approach Him. 38 If my land has cried out against me, and its furrows have wept together, 39 if I have eaten its strength without money, and have caused the life of its owners to breathe out, 40 instead of wheat let thorns come forth, and instead of barley foul weeds." The words of Job (Iyov) are finished.

Elihu's Anger

1 And these three men ceased from answering Job (Iyov), for he was righteous in his own eyes. 2 And the anger of Elihu the son of Barachel (Barakhel) the Buzite, from the clan of Ram, burned; against Job his anger burned because he justified himself more than God. 3 And against his three friends his anger burned, because they had not found an answer, and they had condemned Job. 4 And Elihu had waited for Job with words, for they were older than he in days. 5 And Elihu saw that there was no answer in the mouth of the three men, and his anger burned.

Elihu Begins to Speak

6 And Elihu the son of Barachel the Buzite answered and said, "I am young in days, and you are aged; therefore I was timid, and I was afraid to tell you my knowledge. 7 I said, 'Let days speak, and let abundance of years make wisdom known.' 8 Surely it is the spirit in a mortal, and the breath of the Almighty, that gives them understanding. 9 It is not the many who are wise, nor the old who understand justice. 10 Therefore I say, 'Listen to me; I will tell my knowledge, even I.' 11 Look, I waited for your words; I gave ear to your understandings, while you searched out words. 12 And I paid attention to you, and look, there was no one rebuking Job, answering his words, from among you. 13 Lest you say, 'We have found wisdom; let God drive him away, not man.' 14 And he has not arranged words against me, and with your 31:32 The sojourner did not lodge in the street; I opened my doors to the road No one left his table hungry (31:31), and no traveler slept in the street. "Do not forget hospitality" (Heb 13:2), as Abraham showed (Gen 18).

31:33 If I have covered my transgressions like Adam Adam hid from God and blamed Eve (Gen 3:8-12). Adam can also mean man, so some read it as men do. Job never claimed to be sinless. He claimed he never covered up his sin. "He who covers his transgressions will not prosper" (Prov 28:13). A godly person is not one who never sins but one who does not hide it from God, and Job did not hide for fear of what people would think (31:34).
31:35 Look, my mark; let the Almighty answer me My mark is taw, the last Hebrew letter, shaped like an X in the old script and used to sign a document. Here is my signature; I rest my case. He wishes his accuser would write down the charges. He was never told what they were.
31:37 like a noble I would approach Him He would wear the charges like a crown (31:36) and come to God standing tall. Here Job goes too far. He was innocent of his friends' charges, but no one approaches the holy God like a noble on his own record. When God answers, Job will say, "I am insignificant" (40:4). Paul said, "I am conscious of nothing against myself, yet I am not justified by this" (1 Cor 4:4). We come to God with confidence only through Christ's righteousness (Heb 4:16; 2 Cor 5:21).
31:40 The words of Job are finished If he took land unjustly or crops without paying, as Ahab did Naboth (1 Kgs 21), let thorns grow, the curse of Gen 3:17-18 (31:38-40). The last line is the writer's: Job has rested his case. Then Elihu, and at last God. Job's oath shows what a righteous life looks like, reaching to eyes, heart, servants, strangers, money, secret worship and enemies. Few of us could swear it. That should humble us and drive us to Christ, who alone lived it perfectly and forgives our failures (1 John 1:9).
32:1 these three men ceased from answering Job, for he was righteous in his own eyes The debate is over. The friends could not prove their charges, and Job would not confess. That does not make them right; God said Job was blameless (1:8). But it points to something real. In defending his innocence, Job had begun to put his own righteousness at the center and to speak as if God owed him an answer. Elihu takes this up.
32:2 Elihu the son of Barachel the Buzite, from the clan of Ram The only speaker whose family line is named. Elihu means He is my God; Barachel, God blesses. Buz was a nephew of Abraham (Gen 22:21). His first complaint was fair: Job "justified himself more than God," more concerned to be proved right than to see God proved right. God says something like it (40:8).
32:3 because they had not found an answer, and they had condemned Job His second complaint is against the friends. They condemned Job but never answered him. Anger or burning comes four times in verses 2-5. Whether his anger serves him well is part of the question about him.
32:4 Elihu had waited for Job with words, for they were older than he in days The young were expected to let their elders speak first. When the older men had nothing left, he could not stay silent (32:5).
32:6 I am young in days, and you are aged He begins politely, admitting he is young. He had thought age would speak wisdom (32:7), and Scripture honors the old (Lev 19:32).
32:8 it is the spirit in a mortal, and the breath of the Almighty, that gives them understanding True. Wisdom comes from God, not age alone. Daniel was young when God gave him wisdom beyond Babylon's wise men (Dan 1:17-20). "Let no one despise your youth" (1 Tim 4:12). Being old or in the majority does not guarantee being right (32:9). The friends were older and three against one, and they were wrong.
32:12 there was no one rebuking Job, answering his words, from among you He listened carefully (32:11). They attacked Job but never answered him. He warns them not to say only God can deal with Job now (32:13) and promises not to use their arguments (32:14). Whether he keeps that promise is a question teachers ask.

words I will not respond to him. 15 They are dismayed; they have not answered again; words have moved away from them. 16 And shall I wait, because they do not speak, because they have stood still, they have not answered again? 17 I will answer, even I, my part; I will tell my knowledge, even I. 18 For I am full of words; the spirit of my belly has constrained me. 19 Look, my belly is like wine that is not opened; like new wineskins it will be split open. 20 Let me speak, and let it be relieved for me; let me open my lips and answer. 21 Let me not, please, show partiality to any man, and to man I will not use flattery. 22 For I do not know how to use flattery; in a little while my Maker would carry me away.

Elihu Speaks to Job

1 And however, please hear my speech, Job (Iyov), and give ear to all my words. 2 Look, please, I have opened my mouth; my tongue has spoken in my palate. 3 My words are the uprightness of my heart, and the knowledge of my lips they speak purely. 4 The Spirit of God has made me, and the breath of the Almighty gives me life. 5 If you are able, respond to me; arrange your words before me; take your stand. 6 Look, I am like you toward God; from clay I also was nipped off. 7 Look, dread of me will not terrify you, and my pressure will not be heavy on you. 8 Surely you have spoken in my ears, and I heard the sound of words: 9 'I am pure, without transgression; I am innocent, and I have no iniquity. 10 Look, He finds occasions against me; He considers me as an enemy to Him. 11 He puts my feet in the stocks; He watches all my paths.' 12 Look, in this you are not right; I will answer you, for God is greater than a mortal. 13 Why have you contended against Him, that He does not answer all his words?

God Speaks to Man

14 For God speaks once, and twice, yet one does not perceive it, 15 in a dream, a vision of the night, when deep sleep falls on men, in slumbers on the bed. 16 Then He uncovers the ear of men, and He seals their discipline, 17 to turn man aside from his deed, and He covers pride from a man. 18 He keeps back his soul from the pit, and his life from passing away by the weapon.

32:17 I will answer, even I, my part Notice how often Elihu says "I." Some hear self-importance, others a young man working up courage. The friends stand dismayed and silent (32:15-16).

32:19 like new wineskins it will be split open Fermenting wine in a sealed skin builds pressure until it bursts. Jeremiah felt God's word "like a burning fire shut up in my bones" (Jer 20:9). Is Elihu's pressure like that, from God, or a young man's eagerness to have his say? The text does not tell us.

32:22 in a little while my Maker would carry me away Elihu promises no partiality or flattery (32:21), knowing he must answer to God. Anyone who teaches God's Word should feel that (James 3:1). Teachers read Elihu two ways. Many see a helpful forerunner who prepares Job for God. God does not rebuke him in 42:7, he does not repeat the friends' main charge, he teaches that God uses suffering to warn and keep a man from pride (33:14-30; 36:8-15), and his storm leads into the LORD's speech (38:1). Others see a fourth mistaken friend who talks much about himself, at times echoes their charges (34:7, 37), and may be meant by "Who is this who darkens counsel" (38:2), though most take that as aimed at Job. I believe the fairest reading is to keep what agrees with the rest of Scripture and set aside what does not. God neither commends nor condemns him.

33:1 please hear my speech, Job Elihu speaks to Job by name, which the three friends never did in their speeches. A small thing, but it shows he means to speak to Job as a person.

33:4 The Spirit of God has made me, and the breath of the Almighty gives me life Elihu is a creature too, like Adam given "the breath of life" (Gen 2:7). Whatever understanding he has comes from God (32:8).

33:6 from clay I also was nipped off A potter pinches off clay to make a pot. Elihu and Job came from the same clay, equals before God.

33:7 dread of me will not terrify you Job wanted an arbiter whose terror would not frighten him (9:34; 13:21). I am only a man, Elihu says. Answer me freely (33:5).

33:9 I am pure, without transgression Elihu sums up Job fairly (9:21; 10:7; 16:17). God counts me His enemy and puts my feet in the stocks (33:10-11; 13:24, 27; 19:11). Unlike Eliphaz, who put words in Job's mouth (22:13), Elihu repeats what Job really said.

33:12 in this you are not right; I will answer you, for God is greater than a mortal Elihu's first answer. Job was wrong to speak as if God were his enemy and owed him an explanation. The friends said Job suffered for past sin. Elihu says Job is wrong in how he speaks about God now. That is a different and fairer charge, and God will say something similar (38:2; 40:2, 8).

33:14 God speaks once, and twice, yet one does not perceive it Job complained God would not answer (19:7; 30:20; 33:13). God is not silent, says Elihu. He speaks in His own ways.

33:15 In a dream, a vision of the night, when deep sleep falls on men God did speak in dreams in those days, to Abimelech (Gen 20:3), Jacob (Gen 28:12) and Joseph (Gen 37:5). Eliphaz claimed such a vision too (4:13).

33:17 To turn man aside from his deed, and He covers pride from a man God seals His warning on a man like a seal on a document (33:16), to turn him from wrong and keep pride out of his life.

33:18 He keeps back his soul from the pit The pit is the grave, and the weapon a spear or arrow. God's warnings are acts of mercy. He speaks to save. Today He speaks fully in His Son and His written Word (Heb 1:1-2; 2 Tim 3:16-17), with the same purpose.

33:19 he is rebuked with pain on his bed The second way God speaks: through pain. He cannot eat, his bones stick out, he draws near death (33:20-22). This is a picture of Job (7:5; 19:20; 30:17). God may be speaking through it, not to punish past crime but to teach and save from pride. That can be true: "whom the Lord loves He disciplines" (Heb 12:6; Ps 119:71; 2 Cor 12:7). Discipline here is training, as a coach makes an athlete strong. But Elihu does not know about chapters 1 and 2. Job's suffering was mainly a test of whether he would trust God for nothing. Still, Elihu is closer than the friends, and God did use it to bring Job to deeper humility (42:5-6).

of his bones is constant. 20 And his life loathes bread, and his soul the food of desire. 21 His flesh wastes away from sight, and his bones, which were not seen, are laid bare. 22 And his soul draws near to the pit, and his life to those who bring death. 23 If there is over him an angel, a mediator, one of a thousand, to tell man his uprightness, 24 then He is gracious to him and says, 'Deliver him from going down to the pit; I have found a ransom.' 25 His flesh has become fresher than in childhood; he returns to the days of his youth. 26 He prays to God, and He accepts him, and he sees His face with a shout of joy, and He restores to mortal man his righteousness. 27 He looks on men and says, 'I have sinned and perverted what was upright, and it was not repaid to me.' 28 He has ransomed his soul from passing into the pit, and his life will look on the light. 29 Look, God does all these things two times, three times with a man, 30 to bring back his soul from the pit, to be lighted with the light of life. 31 Pay attention, Job; listen to me; keep quiet, and I will speak. 32 If there are words, respond to me; speak, for I desire to justify you. 33 If not, you listen to me; keep quiet, and I will teach you wisdom."

Elihu Defends God's Justice

1 And Elihu answered and said, 2 "Hear my words, you wise men, and give ear to me, you who know. 3 For the ear tests words, and the palate tastes to eat. 4 Let us choose justice for ourselves; let us know among ourselves what is good. 5 For Job (Iyov) has said, 'I am righteous, and God has taken away my right. 6 Concerning my right, should I lie? My arrow is incurable without transgression.' 7 Who is a man like Job, who drinks mockery like water, 8 and travels in company with workers of evil, and walks with men of wickedness? 9 For he has said, 'It does not profit a man when he delights himself with God.' 10 Therefore, men of heart, listen to me: far be it from God to do wickedness, and from the Almighty to do unrighteousness. 11 For the work of a man He repays to him, and according to the way of a man He causes him to find it. 12 Truly also, God does not act wickedly, and the Almighty does not pervert justice. 13 Who appointed the earth to Him? And who set the whole world in place? 14 If He sets His heart on him, and gathers to Himself his spirit and his breath, 33:22 his life to those who bring death Perhaps angels of death, or simply the forces of death.

33:23 If there is over him an angel, a mediator, one of a thousand, to tell man his uprightness One of the most hopeful verses in the book. The angel is a messenger, a mediator who stands between God and man, a rare one in a thousand, to show the man what is right. Job longed for just this: an arbiter (9:33), a witness in heaven (16:19), a living Redeemer (19:25).
33:24 Deliver him from going down to the pit; I have found a ransom A ransom is a price paid to set someone free, sometimes to save a life (Exod 21:30; 30:12). Elihu does not say what it is, and we should not say more than the text. Some teachers think he means an interceding angel, some the man's repentance, some a general picture of God's provision. But Christians cannot help seeing Christ, the one "mediator of God and men, the man Christ Jesus" (1 Tim 2:5), "who gave Himself as a ransom for all" (1 Tim 2:6; Mark 10:45). I believe God let these words point ahead to the Mediator who did not merely find a ransom but became it. A picture, not a quoted prophecy, but a beautiful one.
33:25 His flesh has become fresher than in childhood The sick man is healed, like Naaman, whose flesh became like a little child's (2 Kgs 5:14).
33:26 he sees His face with a shout of joy He prays, God receives him, and he knows God's favor again.
33:27 I have sinned and perverted what was upright, and it was not repaid to me The testimony of every forgiven sinner: "He has not done to us according to our sins" (Ps 103:10). God ransomed his soul, and he will see the light (33:28), as Job did see God (42:5).
33:30 to be lighted with the light of life God works two or three times with a man (33:29), always to bring him back from the pit. "The one following Me will certainly not walk in the darkness, but will have the light of life" (John 8:12). Job saw his suffering only as hostility. Elihu says it may be mercy. Not the whole answer, but a true and hopeful part of it.
33:32 speak, for I desire to justify you Elihu wants Job cleared, not condemned. Job does not answer. Whether because Elihu was right or because Job saw no point, we are not told.
34:2 Hear my words, you wise men Elihu's second speech, to a wider group, perhaps the three friends or others listening.
34:3 the ear tests words, and the palate tastes to eat Job's own saying (12:11). Let us decide together what is good (34:4). God's people are to test what they hear (1 Thess 5:21).
34:5 I am righteous, and God has taken away my right A fair quote (13:18; 27:2), with his incurable arrow wound (34:6; 6:4). And that is the problem. Job stood for his innocence so strongly that he ended up accusing God. If Job is right, God must be wrong. Elihu will not accept that.
34:7 Who is a man like Job, who drinks mockery like water Harsh. Job had mocked his friends at times (12:2; 26:2-3), but he was also the one mocked.
34:8 travels in company with workers of evil Here Elihu goes too far. He means Job's words put him in the camp of the wicked, very close to the friends' charge, and it was not true of Job's life.
34:9 It does not profit a man when he delights himself with God Job never said it in those words. He described how things look (9:22) and how the wicked talk (21:15), but he never stopped delighting in God or praying. Elihu treats Job's description as Job's belief, which is not quite fair.
34:10 far be it from God to do wickedness "Men of heart" are men of understanding. Elihu's main point, and absolutely true. God never does wrong.
34:11 the work of a man He repays to him True in the end, at the final judgment (Rom 2:6; Rev 20:12). The friends' mistake was to say it always happens at once in this life. Elihu does not say when.
34:12 the Almighty does not pervert justice "Will not the Judge of all the earth do justice?" (Gen 18:25; Deut 32:4). Hold on to this when life makes no sense. If something looks unjust, it is because we do not see all of it. "Is there unrighteousness with God? May it not be!" (Rom 9:14).
34:14 If He sets His heart on him, and gathers to Himself his spirit and his breath No one put God in charge; He made the world (34:13). If He took back His breath, all flesh would return to dust (34:15; Ps 104:29). Every breath is a gift. A God who keeps giving breath to people who rebel against Him is not an unjust God.

15 all flesh would expire together, and mankind would return to dust.

God Rules With Justice

16 And if you have understanding, hear this; give ear to the sound of my words. 17 Will even one who hates justice govern? And will you condemn the righteous, mighty One? 18 Is it fitting to say to a king, 'Worthless one,' and to nobles, 'Wicked'? 19 How much less to Him who does not show partiality to princes, and does not regard the rich before the poor, for all of them are the work of His hands. 20 In a moment they die, and at the middle of the night a people are shaken and pass away, and they remove the mighty, not by a hand. 21 For His eyes are on the ways of a man, and He sees all his steps. 22 There is no darkness, and there is no deep darkness, for the workers of evil to hide themselves there. 23 For He does not set it again on a man to go to God in judgment. 24 He breaks the mighty without inquiry, and He sets others in their place. 25 Therefore He knows their deeds, and He overturns them in the night, and they are crushed. 26 As wicked men He strikes them in the place of those who see, 27 because they turned aside from after Him, and they did not consider any of His ways, 28 so as to cause the outcry of the poor to come to Him; and He hears the outcry of the afflicted. 29 And when He keeps quiet, who will condemn? And when He hides His face, who will see Him? And He is over a nation and over a man alike, 30 from the reigning of a godless man, from being snares of a people.

Elihu Rebukes Job

31 For has anyone said to God, 'I have borne punishment; I will not act corruptly. 32 Apart from what I see, You teach me; if I have done unrighteousness, I will not do it again'? 33 Should He repay it from with you, because you have rejected it? For you must choose, and not I; and what you know, speak. 34 Men of heart will say to me, and a wise man who listens to me, 35 'Job speaks without knowledge, and his words are without insight.' 36 Oh that Job were tested to the end, because of his answers among men of evil! 37 For he adds transgression to his sin; he claps his hands among us, and he multiplies his words to God."

35:6 Prov 8:36; Jer 7:19; Prov 9:12

34:17 Will even one who hates justice govern One who hates justice could not rule the world without it falling apart. So how can Job condemn Him?
34:19 does not regard the rich before the poor, for all of them are the work of His hands No one would call a king worthless to his face (34:18), yet God shows no partiality (Acts 10:34), as Job himself said of his servant (31:15). He can bring down the mighty at midnight without a human hand (34:20), as with Egypt's firstborn (Exod 12:29) and Sennacherib's army (2 Kgs 19:35).
34:21 His eyes are on the ways of a man, and He sees all his steps "In every place are the eyes of the LORD" (Prov 15:3). The dark of chapter 24 hides no one from Him (34:22).
34:23 He does not set it again on a man to go to God in judgment Job wanted a court date (23:3-7). God needs no hearing to learn the facts. He knows, and He breaks the mighty without inquiry (34:24). "He removes kings and sets up kings" (Dan 2:21).
34:28 He hears the outcry of the afflicted The wicked oppressed the poor, and their cry reached God. Job said God did not seem to act on it (24:12). Elihu says He hears.
34:29 when He keeps quiet, who will condemn An important answer to Job's great complaint. If God chooses silence or hides His face, who has the right to condemn Him? His silence is His own right and does not mean He is unjust.
34:32 Apart from what I see, You teach me Verses 31-32 are hard, but Elihu seems to give Job words to say: I have suffered; teach me what I cannot see; if I have done wrong, I will not do it again. It confesses no crimes he did not commit. It is a prayer any of us can pray (Ps 139:23). You must choose, Job, he adds (34:33).
34:35 Job speaks without knowledge, and his words are without insight On this point Elihu is right. God will say, "Who is this who darkens counsel by words without knowledge?" (38:2), and Job will admit it (42:3).
34:36 Oh that Job were tested to the end Here Elihu becomes harsh, wishing the testing would go on to the end for a man who has lost everything. He does not know the test was ordered in heaven or that God was proud of Job. Here many readers hear a fourth friend.
34:37 he adds transgression to his sin Clapping the hands was scorn (27:23). There is truth in it; Job had said too much. But Elihu says it without mercy. The LORD will correct Job differently, showing him His glory and then restoring him. Defend God's justice with all your heart, but do not forget His kindness. Truth spoken without love becomes a club (Eph 4:15).
35:2 You have said, My righteousness is more than God's Elihu's third speech. Job never said these words, but Elihu sees where they lead. If Job is innocent and God took away his right (27:2), then Job claims to be more just than God. The LORD will ask, "Will you condemn Me so that you may be justified?" (40:8).
35:3 What will I gain more than from my sin Job said things close to this (9:22; 30:26), but never turned from righteousness. He only struggled to understand why it had not protected him. Many believers have felt it: "Surely in vain I have kept my heart pure" (Ps 73:13), until he went into God's sanctuary. The feeling is real, but following God is never in vain.
35:5 Look at the heavens and see The clouds are far above Job, and God higher still.

transgressions are many, what do you do to Him? 7 If you are righteous, what do you give to Him? Or what does He receive from your hand? 8 Your wickedness is for a man like yourself, and your righteousness for a son of man. 9 Because of the multitude of oppressions they cry out; they cry for help because of the arm of the great. 10 And no one says, 'Where is God my Maker, who gives songs in the night, 11 who teaches us more than the animals of the earth, and makes us wiser than the birds of the heavens?' 12 There they cry out, and He does not answer, because of the pride of evil men. 13 Surely God does not hear emptiness, and the Almighty does not observe it. 14 How much less when you say that you do not observe Him, that the case is before Him, and you must wait for Him! 15 And now, because His anger has not punished, and He does not greatly know folly, 16 and Job (Iyov) opens his mouth with vapor; he multiplies words without knowledge."

God Is Mighty and Just

1 And Elihu added and said, 2 "Wait for me a little, and I will show you, for there are still words for God. 3 I will carry my knowledge from afar, and to my Maker I will ascribe righteousness. 4 For truly my words are not falsehood; one complete in knowledge is with you. 5 Look, God is mighty, and He does not reject; He is mighty in strength of heart. 6 He does not keep the wicked alive, and He gives the justice of the afflicted. 7 He does not withdraw His eyes from the righteous, and with kings on the throne, and He has seated them forever, and they are exalted. 8 And if they are bound in fetters, they are caught in cords of affliction, 9 and He tells them their work and their transgressions, that they were behaving proudly. 10 And He uncovers their ear to discipline, and He says that they shall turn back from wickedness. 11 If they hear and serve Him, they will finish their days in good, and their years in pleasant things. 12 And if they do not hear, they will pass away by the weapon, and they will expire without knowledge. 13 And the godless of heart lay up anger; they do not cry for help when He has bound them. 14 Their soul dies in youth, and their life among the cult prostitutes. 15 He rescues the afflicted by his affliction, and 35:7 If you are righteous, what do you give to Him God is so high that our sin does not harm Him nor our righteousness enrich Him (35:6; 22:2-3). "Who has first given to Him?" (Rom 11:35). Job cannot demand a reward as if earned: "We are unworthy slaves" (Luke 17:10). But this is only part of the truth. God does not need our righteousness, but He delights in it and grieves over sin (Gen 6:6). Elihu's God above the clouds needs the God of chapter 1, who said, "Have you set your heart on My servant Job?" (1:8).

35:8 Your wickedness is for a man like yourself Our sin hurts others, and our goodness helps them.
35:10 Where is God my Maker, who gives songs in the night Many cry out under oppression because they hurt (35:9), but do not seek their Maker. A cry for relief is not the same as a prayer that seeks God. "Who gives songs in the night" is one of the loveliest phrases in Job. "In the night His song is with me" (Ps 42:8). Paul and Silas, beaten and in stocks, were singing hymns at midnight (Acts 16:25). Many believers find God's presence sweetest in their darkest hours: a hymn in a hospital room, a verse at a graveside.
35:11 who teaches us more than the animals of the earth Even animals cry out in pain. Man was made to know God.
35:12 There they cry out, and He does not answer, because of the pride of evil men They want God to fix their problem but do not want God. He does not hear empty prayers (35:13; Isa 59:2; James 4:3). True, but Elihu seems to hint Job's prayers were empty, and that was unfair. They were full of pain and some bitterness, but they sought God Himself (23:3), and God did answer. Not every unanswered prayer is a sign of pride.
35:14 the case is before Him, and you must wait for Him Elihu means: how much less will God answer you, talking as if God were on trial. Yet his words carry hidden comfort. That is exactly right. Job's case was before God, and the right thing was to wait. "Wait for the LORD; be strong" (Ps 27:14). Job waited, and God came.
35:16 he multiplies words without knowledge Verse 15 is hard and runs into 16. Elihu seems to say Job took God's patience for weakness. Vapor is emptiness. Again Elihu says what God will say (38:2), and Job will admit it (42:3). But God will correct him differently. Elihu called Job's words empty. God will show Job His glory, and Job will fall silent on his own.
36:3 to my Maker I will ascribe righteousness Elihu's last speech runs through 37:24. His goal is to show God is righteous, a good goal for every believer.
36:4 one complete in knowledge is with you Bold. Some hear pride; others think he means only that his words are sincere and well thought out. The same phrase is used of God (37:16). Only God is truly complete in knowledge. We know in part (1 Cor 13:12).
36:5 God is mighty, and He does not reject Great men often despise small people. God, greatest of all, despises no one. "The one coming to Me I will certainly not cast out" (John 6:37).
36:7 He does not withdraw His eyes from the righteous He lifts them to sit with kings (1 Sam 2:8). Job felt God's eyes were on him only to find fault (7:17-20). Elihu says they are on the righteous for their good, as they were on Job in chapter 1.
36:8 if they are bound in fetters, they are caught in cords of affliction What if the righteous end up in chains? God uses it to show them their sins, especially pride (36:9). Many of us have found that hard times show what is really in our hearts.
36:10 He uncovers their ear to discipline As in 33:16. If they hear, they finish their days in good (36:11), and in a way this came true for Job (42:10-17). If not, they die without learning (36:12). Elihu's main teaching goes a step beyond the friends. Punishment looks back at what you did; discipline looks ahead to what you will become, "so that we may share His holiness" (Heb 12:10). Still, he assumes Job has pride God is correcting, not knowing the test in heaven. Truer than the friends, but not the whole answer.
36:13 the godless of heart lay up anger They store up anger against God instead of crying to Him, and die young among the cult prostitutes of pagan temples (36:14), a picture of a wasted life. Job did cry out, again and again. His complaints were prayers. By Elihu's own standard, Job was not godless.
36:15 He rescues the afflicted by his affliction The key verse of the chapter. God rescues not only from affliction but by it, opening ears through trouble. "It was good for me that I was afflicted" (Ps 119:71). We would never choose suffering, but God can use it to rescue us from worse things: pride, self-reliance and a shallow faith.

He uncovers their ear by oppression. 16 And also He has lured you from the mouth of distress to a broad place, where there is no constraint under it; and the quietness of your table was full of fatness. 17 And you are full of the judgment of the wicked; judgment and justice take hold of you. 18 For beware of rage, lest it entice you into mockery; and let not the greatness of the ransom turn you aside. 19 Will your riches set things in order, so that you are not in distress, and all the efforts of strength? 20 Do not long for the night, for peoples to go up in their place. 21 Take heed; do not turn to wickedness, for this you have chosen rather than affliction.

God's Greatness in the Rain

22 Look, God is exalted in His power; who is a teacher like Him? 23 Who has appointed His way for Him? And who has said, 'You have done unrighteousness'? 24 Remember that you should magnify His work, of which men have sung. 25 All mankind has looked on it; man gazes from afar. 26 Look, God is great, and we do not know Him; the number of His years—and there is no searching it out. 27 For He draws up drops of water; they distill rain into its mist, 28 which the skies pour down; they drip on mankind abundantly. 29 Also, can anyone understand the spreadings of the thick cloud, the crashings of His pavilion? 30 Look, He spreads His light over it, and He covers the roots of the sea. 31 For by them He judges peoples; He gives food in abundance. 32 Over His palms He covers the light, and He commands it against the one it strikes. 33 Its roar tells about Him; the livestock also, concerning what comes up.

36:16 He has lured you from the mouth of distress to a broad place Elihu holds out hope. God wants to draw Job from the narrow place into freedom and a full table. "He brought me out into a broad place" (Ps 18:19). But Job is caught up arguing about justice (36:17).
36:18 let not the greatness of the ransom turn you aside Do not let anger lead to mocking God. Ransom is the word of 33:24. It may mean the great price Job pays in suffering, or a bribe he thinks could buy his way out. Riches and strength cannot save him (36:19). Only God can.
36:20 Do not long for the night Job had longed for death again and again (3:20-22; 6:8-9; 7:15). Good counsel. God has a purpose for his life still, and Job did not die in the ashes. God met him there. If death seems better than life to you now, God has not finished with you. Please talk to a pastor, a doctor or a crisis line today.
36:21 do not turn to wickedness, for this you have chosen rather than affliction Do not turn to sin as an escape from suffering.
36:22 who is a teacher like Him Elihu turns to praise. No one teaches like God, no one appoints His way or may accuse Him (36:23), the line Job had come close to crossing.
36:24 magnify His work, of which men have sung Instead of arguing, praise. All have seen His works from afar (36:25; Rom 1:20).
36:26 God is great, and we do not know Him He is eternal, with no beginning or end. His years cannot be counted.
36:27 He draws up drops of water The water cycle: drops drawn up into mist and cloud, then poured down as rain (36:28). Every shower is God's work. He "did not leave Himself without witness, doing good, giving us rains from heaven" (Acts 14:17).
36:29 the crashings of His pavilion A pavilion is a tent. The storm clouds are God's tent and the thunder its noise.
36:31 by them He judges peoples; He gives food in abundance The same storms can flood in judgment or water crops for food. God holds the lightning in His hands and aims it (36:32), and even the cattle sense the storm (36:33). It seems a real storm is rising as Elihu speaks, and out of it the LORD will speak (38:1).
37:1 at this my heart trembles, and it leaps from its place It seems a real storm has come up while Elihu speaks.
37:2 Listen, listen to the raging of His voice Thunder is like God's voice: "the God of glory thunders" (Ps 29:3). At Sinai there were thunders and lightnings, and all the people trembled (Exod 19:16). Lightning flashes to the corners of the earth, then the roar (37:3-4).
37:5 God thunders with His voice wondrously, doing great things, and we do not know them Elihu's theme, which God takes up in chapters 38 to 41. We do not understand even the weather. How can we expect to understand all God does?
37:6 to the snow He says, Fall on the earth God commands snow and rain, and they obey.
37:7 He puts a seal on the hand of every man, for all the men of His work to know it Heavy snow and rain stop work in the fields. God seals up their hands so people will stop and know He is God. A snowstorm that shuts down a city reminds us we are not in control. Even the animals take shelter (37:8).
37:10 From the breath of God He gives ice The storm wind comes from its chamber (37:9). God will ask Job about the storehouses of snow (38:22). When God breathes, wide waters lock in ice.
37:12 it is turning round about by His guidance The clouds swirl where He directs and do what He commands. The weather is not random.

the earth. 13 Whether for a rod, or for His land, or for steadfast love, He causes it to arrive.

Consider the Wonders of God

14 Give ear to this, Job (Iyov); stand still and consider the wonders of God. 15 Do you know when God lays His charge on them, and makes the light of His cloud shine forth? 16 Do you know about the balancings of the thick cloud, the wondrous works of the One complete in knowledge, 17 you whose garments are hot when the earth is still from the south? 18 Will you, with Him, spread out the skies, strong like a cast mirror? 19 Make known to us what we shall say to Him; we cannot set our words in order because of darkness. 20 Will it be recounted to Him that I would speak? Or has a man said that he would be swallowed up? 21 And now they do not see the light; it is bright in the skies, and the wind has passed by and has cleansed them. 22 From the north gold comes; on God is awesome majesty. 23 The Almighty—we have not found Him; He is great in power, and justice and abundance of righteousness He does not violate.

24 Therefore men fear Him; He does not regard any of the wise of heart."

The LORD Answers Job From the Storm

1 And the LORD answered Job (Iyov) from the storm, and He said, 2 "Who is this who darkens counsel by words without knowledge? 3 Gird up your loins now like a man, and I will ask you, and you make it known to Me.

37:13 Whether for a rod, or for His land, or for steadfast love, He causes it to arrive A key verse. God sends storms for different purposes: a rod to correct, simply to water His land, or out of hesed, His loyal covenant love. The friends thought every hardship was a rod. The same storm can serve different ends, and so can our trials. We cannot always tell which is which, but we can trust the God who sends them.

37:14 stand still and consider the wonders of God When life is hard we run in circles around our problems. Sometimes the best thing is to stop, look up, and see how great God is. Our problems do not shrink, but they look different beside Him.

37:16 the wondrous works of the One complete in knowledge Clouds hold vast water yet float balanced in the air. Who knows how? Elihu called himself "complete in knowledge" (36:4). Here he gives the title where it belongs. These are the kinds of questions God will ask in chapter 38.

37:17 You whose garments are hot when the earth is still from the south When the desert south wind blows, the air is heavy and clothes feel hot. You cannot even keep cool. How can you understand God's ways?

37:18 strong like a cast mirror Mirrors were polished bronze. The cloudless summer sky looks like a great shining bronze mirror. Did Job help God spread it out? This is poetry describing how the sky looks to us.

37:19 we cannot set our words in order because of darkness Job wanted to set his case in order before God (23:4). No one can, Elihu says, because we are in the dark compared to Him.

37:20 has a man said that he would be swallowed up To demand a hearing with God is like asking to be destroyed. Job said he would approach God like a noble (31:37). Elihu warns that is far too bold.

37:22 From the north gold comes; on God is awesome majesty Gold may be golden splendor as the storm clears, or gold from the north. Men cannot look at the sun in a clear sky (37:21). How could they look at God, who dwells "in unapproachable light" (1 Tim 6:16)? Yet God will come to Job, and Job will say, "now my eye has seen You" (42:5).

37:23 He is great in power, and justice and abundance of righteousness He does not violate We cannot find the Almighty or bring Him to court. But He never violates justice. These two truths together answer Job's struggle. God is far beyond us, so we cannot understand all He does. God is perfectly just, so we can trust Him when we do not understand. Job held the first and nearly let go of the second.

37:24 Therefore men fear Him; He does not regard any of the wise of heart God is not impressed by those wise in their own eyes. Elihu ends where chapter 28 ended (28:28). He has said true things: God speaks through dreams and pain, disciplines to save, gives songs in the night, rescues the afflicted by their affliction. He was also harsh and too sure of himself. But his last words point Job right: see God's majesty and fear Him. Then the storm becomes the place where God speaks (38:1). Elihu said "we have not found Him." God was about to find Job.

38:1 the LORD answered Job from the storm For the first time since the opening chapters, the narrator uses God's covenant name, the LORD. The God who speaks is the One who called Job "My servant." He answers Job, not the friends or Elihu. Job had said, "let the Almighty answer me!" (31:35), and now He does. God often speaks from storm, fire and cloud (Exod 19:16-19; 1 Kgs 19:11-12; Ezek 1:4). A great wind had killed Job's children (1:19). Now out of a storm the LORD speaks to him in mercy.

38:2 Who is this who darkens counsel by words without knowledge Counsel is God's wise plan. Job's words that God was cruel (30:21), had wronged him (19:6) and was his enemy (19:11) darkened it, because he did not know chapters 1 and 2. Some think this is aimed at Elihu, but verse 3 speaks to Job, and Job repeats it of himself (42:3). Notice God does not call Job wicked or accuse him of the friends' charges. He says Job spoke without knowledge. A much smaller charge, and true.

38:3 Gird up your loins now like a man Tuck the long robe into the belt to work or fight: brace yourself. Job wanted to question God (13:22; 23:4-5). God turns it around. This is not cruel. God treats Job as a man worth talking to. He does not strike him down. He engages him.

38:4 Where were you when I founded the earth The first of God's great questions. No man was there. Only God knows how it was done, measuring it out like a builder with his line (38:5).

38:6 who laid its cornerstone The first stone set the lines for the rest. The One who laid the world's cornerstone laid the cornerstone of our salvation. All things were made through the Son (John 1:3; Col 1:16), and Christ is the cornerstone laid in Zion: "the one who believes on Him will by no means be put to shame" (1 Pet 2:6).

38:7 When the morning stars sang together, and all the sons of God shouted for joy The sons of God are the angels of 1:6 and 2:1, present at creation. The morning stars may be angels too, or the stars pictured as joining the song. Creation was a celebration. Job's world had become mourning (30:31), and God takes him back to the beginning, when the universe rang with joy.

38:8 who shut in the sea with doors, when it burst forth and came out from the womb The sea pictured chaos and danger. God pictures its birth like a baby, wrapped in clouds as swaddling bands (38:9). The mighty sea is like a newborn in His hands.

Or who has fathered the drops of dew? 29 From whose womb did the ice come forth? And the frost of the heavens, who has given birth to it? 30 Like stone the waters hide themselves, and the face of the deep is seized. 31 Can you bind the bonds of the Pleiades, or loosen the cords of Orion? 32 Can you lead out Mazzaroth in its season, and guide the Bear with her young ones? 33 Do you know the statutes of the heavens? 38:11 As far as here you shall come, and you shall not add God set the sea its bar and doors (Jer 5:22). Job's suffering had felt like a flood with no limits. But God set limits on Satan too: "only against him do not stretch out your hand" (1:12), "only guard his life" (2:6). The forces that seemed to overwhelm Job were on God's leash. When Jesus stilled the storm, the disciples asked, "Who then is this, that even the wind and the sea obey Him?" (Mark 4:41). Only the LORD rules the sea.
38:12 Have you, since your days began, commanded the morning Every morning God commands the dawn, and it comes.
38:13 To take hold of the corners of the earth, and the wicked be shaken out of it Dawn grabs the earth's edges like a blanket and shakes out the wicked who love the dark (24:13-17). The landscape takes shape like clay under a seal (38:14), and the night that was the wicked's "light" is taken away (38:15). God answers part of chapter 24. Every morning He limits the wicked. Job does not see all God does to hold back evil.
38:16 Have you gone to the springs of the sea No one in Job's day had, and even today most of the deep sea has never been seen by human eyes. God knows every part.
38:17 Have the gates of death been revealed to you Job spoke often of death (3:13-19; 10:21-22) as though he knew what lay beyond. Only God knows. The risen Jesus said, "I have the keys of Hades and of Death" (Rev 1:18).
38:21 You know, for then you were born, and the number of your days is many Do you know where light lives, or could you lead darkness home (38:19-20)? Gentle irony, not mockery meant to wound, the kind a father uses with a son who thinks he knows more than he does. Job is a creature of a few years. God is eternal.
38:23 which I have kept back for a time of distress, for a day of battle and war Snow and hail stored up ready for God's use (38:22). He sent hail on Egypt (Exod 9:23-26) and on Israel's enemies (Josh 10:11), and great hail falls in the last judgments (Rev 16:21).
38:26 to bring rain on a land where there is no man God waters empty desert so grass can grow where no human will see it (38:27). The world is not only about us. God cares for the wild places for their own sake. Job, like most of us, had seen the world mainly in terms of how it treated him. If God cares for grass in an empty wilderness, will He not care for Job?
38:28 Does the rain have a father God is the Father of rain, dew, ice and frost (38:28-29). For people in a warm land, water turned hard as stone was a wonder (38:30).
38:31 Can you bind the bonds of the Pleiades, or loosen the cords of Orion Job had named them himself (9:9). The LORD made them (Amos 5:8).
38:32 Can you lead out Mazzaroth in its season, and guide the Bear with her young ones Mazzaroth may be the zodiac constellations or a particular star group; the Bear is probably the Big Dipper. God "counts the number of the stars" (Ps 147:4).
38:33 Do you know the statutes of the heavens Seasons, tides and stars follow His laws. That does not mean the stars control our lives. Scripture forbids reading the stars for the future (Deut 18:10-12; Isa 47:13-14).
38:35 Can you send out lightnings, so that they go and say to you, Here we are Can you call lightning like a servant reporting for duty? God can, and He can shout rain from the clouds (38:34).
38:36 Who has put wisdom in the inner parts Even Job's mind is God's gift. The words are uncertain, and some versions read birds that sense coming weather. Either way, all wisdom comes from God. Who tips the waterskins of the heavens onto cracked ground (38:37-38)? Only God.
38:39 Can you hunt prey for the lion God turns to the animals, through chapter 39. He feeds the fiercest hunters (38:40).

JOB 39

The Wild Goats and the Wild Donkey

1 Do you know the time of the bearing of the mountain goats of the rock? Do you watch the giving birth of the does? 2 Can you count the months that they fulfill, and do you know the time of their bearing? 3 They kneel down; they bring forth their young; they send away their labor pains. 4 Their young become strong; they grow in the open field; they go forth and do not return to them. 5 Who let the wild donkey go free? And the fetters of the wild ass, who loosened them, 6 whose home I appointed the desert plain, and its dwelling places the salt land? 7 It laughs at the tumult of the town; it does not hear the shoutings of the driver. 8 It explores the mountains as its pasture, and it searches after every green thing. 9 Is the wild ox willing to serve you? Or will it spend the night at your feeding trough? 10 Can you bind the wild ox in the furrow with its rope? Or will it harrow the valleys behind you? 11 Will you trust in it because its strength is great, and will you leave your toil to it? 12 Will you believe in it, that it will bring back your seed, and gather it to your threshing floor?

The Ostrich

13 The wing of the ostriches flaps joyously; but is it the pinion of the stork, and its plumage? 14 For she abandons her eggs to the earth, and on the dust she keeps them warm, 15 and she has forgotten that a foot may crush them, and the animal of the field may trample them. 16 She treats her young roughly, as if they were not hers; her labor is in vain, without dread, 17 because God has made her forget wisdom, and He has not given her a share in understanding. 18 At the time she lifts herself on high, she laughs at the horse and at its rider.

The War Horse

19 Do you give the horse strength? Do you clothe its neck with a mane? 20 Do you make it leap like the locust? The majesty of its snorting is terror. 21 They paw in the valley, and it rejoices in strength; it goes out to meet the weapons.
22 It laughs at dread, and it is not dismayed; and it does not turn back from before the sword. 23 On it the quiver rattles, the flame of the spear and the javelin. 24 With shaking and turmoil it swallows the ground, and it does not stand firm at the sound of the horn. 25 As often as the horn sounds, it says, 'Aha!' And from afar it smells the battle, the thunder of the commanders, and the battle cry.

38:41 when its young ones cry for help to God The raven was unclean (Lev 11:15), a scavenger no one valued, yet God hears its young. Job felt God did not hear his cries (19:7; 30:20). "Consider the ravens" (Luke 12:24), Jesus said, for "God feeds them. How much more valuable are you than the birds!" (Luke 12:24). God did not answer Job's question "Why?" He answered a deeper one: "Who?" Who rules sea, morning, snow, stars, lion and raven? If He rules all that with wisdom and care, Job can trust Him without knowing why. So can we. "He who indeed did not spare His own Son, but handed Him over for us all, how will He not also with Him freely give us all things?" (Rom 8:32).
39:1 Do you know the time of the bearing of the mountain goats of the rock The ibex lived high on cliffs, and no one had seen them give birth. God knows how long they carry their young (39:2) and attends every birth where no human eye sees (39:3-4). Job's children were gone, and he had cursed his own birth (3:3). Here God shows He is present at the birth of a goat on a cliff. Not one sparrow falls apart from the Father (Matt 10:29). If He watches the birth of a wild goat, He watched over Job's children, in their births and their deaths.
39:5 Who let the wild donkey go free A fast, tough desert animal no one could tame, given the salt land for its home (39:6).
39:7 It laughs at the tumult of the town The tame donkey carries loads while its driver shouts. The wild donkey roams free and finds its own food (39:8). God made some creatures to serve man and others to be free. Not everything in God's world exists for our use, a humbling thought for people who measure everything by how it serves them.
39:9 Is the wild ox willing to serve you A huge, powerful animal, larger than any tame ox and now extinct. No one could tie it to a plow or trust it with a harvest (39:10-12). There are powers in God's world man cannot tame. Only God rules them.
39:13 The wing of the ostriches flaps joyously She flaps proudly but cannot fly like the stork, known for caring for its young.
39:14 she abandons her eggs to the earth To ancient watchers she seemed to leave her eggs in the sand where a foot might crush them, and to treat her young roughly (39:15-16), a picture of cruelty in Lam 4:3. This is poetry describing how she looked, not a lesson in zoology.
39:17 God has made her forget wisdom God says He made her this way, and her kind goes on.
39:18 she laughs at the horse and at its rider For all her foolishness, she can outrun a horse. It is almost funny. God's world is full of things that do not make sense to us, yet they work because He made them. If God has His reasons for the ostrich, He has them for what He allows in Job's life, even when they look foolish or careless from the ash heap.
39:19 Do you give the horse strength The war horse, one of the most magnificent animals of the ancient world, leaping like a locust, snorting terror (39:20).
39:22 It laughs at dread, and it is not dismayed It paws the valley and charges toward the weapons (39:21), unafraid of the sword.
39:25 As often as the horn sounds, it says, Aha Quivers rattle and spears flash (39:23). It swallows the ground and cannot stand still at the trumpet (39:24), smelling the battle from afar. Its courage is God's gift. Yet "the horse is a deception for salvation" (Ps 33:17), and "the victory belongs to the LORD" (Prov 21:31).
39:26 Is it by your understanding that the hawk soars, that it spreads its wings toward the south Some hawks migrate south as seasons change. God put that knowledge in them.

spreads its wings toward the south? 27 Or is it at your mouth that the eagle mounts up, and that it sets its nest on high? 28 It dwells on the rock and spends the night on the tooth of the rock and the stronghold. 29 From there it spies out food; its eyes look from afar. 30 And its young ones suck up blood; and where the slain are, there it is."

Job Has No Answer

1 And the LORD answered Job (Iyov), and He said, 2 "Will a faultfinder contend with the Almighty? Let the one who rebukes God answer it." 3 And Job answered the LORD, and he said, 4 "Look, I am insignificant; what shall I reply to You? I have put my hand on my mouth. 5 Once I have spoken, and I will not answer; and twice, and I will not add more."

The LORD's Second Speech

6 And the LORD answered Job from the storm, and He said, 7 "Gird up your loins now like a man; I will ask you, and you make it known to Me. 8 Will you even annul My justice? Will you condemn Me so that you may be justified? 9 And do you have an arm like God? 39:27 is it at your mouth that the eagle mounts up The eagle nests on the highest crag, a tooth of rock no enemy can reach (39:28), and spots prey from far away (39:29).
39:30 where the slain are, there it is The eagle or vulture feeds its young on flesh. Jesus used a like saying (Matt 24:28). God does not hide death from Job. Creation now is under the curse (Rom 8:20-22), but even there God provides, and nothing is outside His rule. Goat, deer, wild donkey, wild ox, ostrich, horse, hawk and eagle: God knows and cares for every creature (Ps 104:24); Job can neither control nor understand most of them; and in showing His world, God shows Himself. He did not answer Job's question, but He answered Job's need. Job needed to see God, and now he is beginning to.
40:2 Will a faultfinder contend with the Almighty A faultfinder is a critic. Job wanted to argue God in court (13:3; 23:4). Here I am, answer Me. Not a trap but an invitation. Yet after seeing God's glory, Job no longer wants to argue.
40:4 Look, I am insignificant; what shall I reply to You? I have put my hand on my mouth Insignificant means small, of little weight. Job said he would approach God like a noble (31:37). Now he feels very small, as anyone does who truly meets God (Isa 6:5; Rev 1:17). He had told his friends to put their hands over their mouths (21:5), and princes had done it before him (29:9). Now he does it before God.
40:5 Once I have spoken, and I will not answer He has said enough. He does not yet say he was wrong; that comes in chapter 42. Silence is sometimes the first step of repentance. "Let go, and know that I am God" (Ps 46:10).
40:7 Gird up your loins now like a man The words of 38:3. God speaks again from the storm (40:6). Job's silence is a start, but God wants to take him further.
40:8 Will you condemn Me so that you may be justified The heart of the second speech and the real issue between God and Job. Job was right that he was innocent, but in insisting on it he came to say God was unjust (19:6; 27:2; 30:21). For Job to be right, God had to be wrong. He did not need to choose. Both were true. There was a third thing he could not see: the test in heaven and God's purpose in it. When we suffer without understanding, we are tempted to think either that we must be guilty or that God must be unfair. Often the answer is that there is something we cannot see, and God is still good. "Let God be true, and every man a liar" (Rom 3:4).
40:9 do you have an arm like God? And can you thunder with a voice like His If you would judge God, do you have His power?
40:10 Adorn yourself now with majesty and dignity Gentle irony: put on God's royal robes and try being God for a while.
40:12 See every proud one and humble him, and tread down the wicked in their place Job complained God does not punish the wicked (21:7-33; 24:1-25). All right, you do it. Humble every proud person and bury them all (40:11-13). Judging all the wicked justly, at the right time and in the right way, is beyond any man. Job could not even begin.
40:14 your right hand can save you No one can save himself by his own right hand. That is why we need a Savior: "His own arm brought salvation to Him" (Isa 59:16). God will judge the wicked through His Son (Acts 17:31; Rev 20:11-15), and He saves those who humble themselves: "Be humbled before the Lord, and He will exalt you" (James 4:10).
40:15 Look now, Behemoth, which I made with you; it eats grass like the ox Behemoth is the plural of beast, the beast of beasts. God made it just as He made Job. Teachers identify it differently. Many say the hippopotamus, which eats grass, lives among reeds and lotus, and is unmoved by floods. Others say the elephant. Some believe it was an extinct creature such as one of the great long-necked plant-eating dinosaurs, since a hippo's or elephant's tail is not "like a cedar." Others take it as a poetic picture of the greatest power on land, as Leviathan is of the sea. What is certain: God made it. It is His creature, not a god or a monster of pagan myth. If Job stands in awe of a creature, how much more of its Creator?
40:17 It sways its tail like a cedar Strength in its loins and belly (40:16), a stiff tail, knotted thighs, bones like bronze tubes and iron rods (40:18).
40:19 It is the first of the ways of God The first means the chief, the masterpiece among God's land creatures. Only its Maker can come near it with a sword. No man can master it.
40:20 every animal of the field plays there Though so powerful, it eats grass from the hills, and other animals play nearby without fear.
40:21 Under the lotus plants it lies, in the hiding place of the reed and the swamp Shaded by lotus and the poplars of the streambed (40:22). This fits the hippopotamus well.

Leviathan

1 Can you draw out Leviathan with a fishhook, and with a cord hold down its tongue? 2 Can you put a rush cord in its nose, and pierce its jaw with a hook? 3 Will it multiply supplications to you? Will it speak soft words to you? 4 Will it make a covenant with you? Will you take it for a slave forever? 5 Will you play with it like the bird, and will you bind it for your girls? 6 Will partners bargain over it? Will they divide it among the merchants? 7 Can you fill its hide with harpoons, and its head with a fish spear? 8 Put your hand on it; remember the battle; do not do it again! 9 Look, his hope is proved a lie; is he not thrown down even at the sight of it? 10 No one is so fierce that he would rouse it; and who is he who can take his stand before Me? 11 Who has confronted Me, that I should repay him? 40:23 it is confident though the Jordan bursts forth to its mouth Even a flooding river like the Jordan does not alarm it.
40:24 By its eyes will anyone take it No one can capture it or lead it by a nose ring. If you cannot master a creature I made alongside you, how can you put Me on trial or run the world in My place? God is not mocking Job. He shows him where he stands: a creature, small and loved, before a Creator great beyond measure. That is not a place of despair but of rest. We do not have to run the universe or understand everything. We can be small and trust Him.
41:1 Can you draw out Leviathan with a fishhook In some Bibles the chapter begins at what is 41:9 here, because the Hebrew divides the chapters differently; the SLB follows the English numbering. Job had spoken of rousing Leviathan (3:8). Can you catch it like a fish, with a cord through its jaw (41:2)?
41:3 Will it multiply supplications to you Will it beg for mercy like a captive?
41:4 Will it make a covenant with you Gentle irony. Job wanted God to come to terms with him. Can he even bring Leviathan to terms?
41:5 Will you play with it like the bird A pet on a string for your daughters? God formed Leviathan to play in the sea (Ps 104:26). God can play with it. Job cannot. Nor can merchants sell it or harpoons wound it (41:6-7).
41:8 Put your hand on it; remember the battle; do not do it again Touch it once and you will never forget the fight. Just seeing it throws a man down (41:9).
41:10 who is he who can take his stand before Me The point of the whole description. No man dares rouse Leviathan. If you cannot stand before a creature, who can stand before its Maker? Job wanted to stand before God and argue (13:3; 23:3-7; 31:35-37).
41:11 Who has confronted Me, that I should repay him? Under all the heavens, it is Mine God owes no one anything. "Who has first given to Him, and it will be repaid to him?" (Rom 11:35). Job could not demand an answer as if God owed it. Yet God, who owes nothing, gave Job more than an answer. He gave Job Himself.
41:12 the grace of its arrangement God will not keep silent about its body, power and form. He is proud of this creature, as an artist of his best work.
41:14 The doors of its face, who has opened them? Around its teeth is terror The doors of its face are its jaws. No one can strip its armor or bridle its double row of teeth (41:13).
41:15 Pride is in the rows of shields, shut up with a tight seal Scales so close that not even air comes between them (41:16-17). No weapon can find a gap.
41:18 Its sneezings flash forth light, and its eyes are like the eyelids of the dawn Fire from its mouth and smoke from its nostrils like a boiling pot (41:19-21). Some take this as poetry: a great creature's spray catching the sun like sparks, its breath like smoke on a cool morning. Others believe God describes a real creature, now extinct, that could produce something like fire, as some insects make a burning spray. Scripture does not say. Either way, Leviathan is terrifying beyond anything Job could face.
41:22 before it dismay dances Terror runs ahead of it. Its flesh is firm as cast metal (41:23).
41:24 Its heart is hard like a stone, and hard like a lower millstone The lower millstone was the hardest stone, taking the weight. It knows no fear or pity, and even the mighty are afraid when it rises (41:25).
41:27 It counts iron as straw, bronze as rotten wood Sword, spear and dart glance off (41:26). The son of the bow is the arrow, and sling stones are chaff to it (41:28). It laughs at the javelin (41:29), as the war horse laughs at fear (39:22).
41:30 it spreads out a threshing sledge on the mud Its underside of sharp scales leaves marks like a threshing sledge, a heavy board set with sharp stones dragged over grain.

spreads out a threshing sledge on the mud. 31 It makes the depths boil like the pot; it makes the sea like the ointment pot. 32 Behind it, it makes a path shine; one would think the deep to be gray hair. 33 On the dust there is not its likeness, one made without terror. 34 It sees every lofty thing; it is king over all the sons of pride."

Job Repents

1 And Job (Iyov) answered the LORD, and he said, 2 "I know that You are able to do everything, and no purpose is withheld from You. 3 'Who is this who conceals counsel without knowledge?' Therefore I have told, and I did not understand, things too wonderful for me, and I did not know them. 4 'Listen now, and I will speak; I will ask you, and you make it known to Me.' 5 By the hearing of the ear I had heard of You, and now my eye has seen You. 6 Therefore I reject it, and I repent on dust and ashes."

The LORD Rebukes the Friends

7 And it was after the LORD had spoken these words to Job, and the LORD said to Eliphaz (Elifaz) the Temanite, "My anger has burned against you and against your two friends, for you have not spoken concerning Me what is right, as My servant Job has. 8 And now, take for yourselves seven bulls and seven rams, and go to My servant Job, and offer up a burnt offering for yourselves; and Job My servant shall pray for you, for surely his face I will lift up, so as not to do with you according to your folly; for you have not spoken concerning Me what is right, as My servant Job has." 9 And Eliphaz the Temanite and Bildad the Shuhite and Zophar (Tsofar) the Naamathite went, and they did as the LORD had spoken to them; and the LORD lifted up the face of Job.

Job Restored

41:31 It makes the depths boil like the pot The sea churns like boiling ointment, and its white wake looks like gray hair on the deep (41:32).
41:33 On the dust there is not its likeness, one made without terror Nothing on earth is like it, but "made" is the key word. It is not a god. It is a creature.
41:34 it is king over all the sons of pride The sons of pride are the proud beasts (28:8). God ends without a lesson and lets Job draw it. God told Job to humble every proud one (40:11-12). Job cannot even catch the king of the proud. God made it, rules it and plays with it. Many say Leviathan is the crocodile, armored, toothed and feared in Egypt. Some think a whale, since it is in the sea where ships go (Ps 104:26), and some an extinct sea reptile or dinosaur-like creature. Others see a poetic picture of chaos and pride. The psalmist says God "crushed the heads of Leviathan" (Ps 74:14) at the Red Sea, and will slay "Leviathan the fleeing serpent" (Isa 27:1), which some see as Satan, "the ancient serpent" (Rev 12:9). The nations told myths of a sea monster the gods fought, but in Job 41 Leviathan is no rival. It is God's creature. We cannot tame the pride in our own hearts, but God can, and no man can stand against Satan alone. But the Son of God came "so that He might destroy the works of the devil" (1 John 3:8), triumphed at the cross (Col 2:15), and "the God of peace will crush Satan under your feet quickly" (Rom 16:20).
42:2 I know that You are able to do everything, and no purpose is withheld from You Job's last speech begins with God, not himself. He said this before with fear (9:12; 23:13). Now he says it with trust. If God's purposes cannot be stopped, His purpose in Job's suffering will be carried out, and it will be good.
42:3 I have told, and I did not understand, things too wonderful for me Job repeats God's first question (38:2) and answers it: I am the one. The heart of his repentance. Not the friends' charges or a secret crime; God called him blameless (1:8; 2:3). His sin was speaking beyond his knowledge, calling God unjust, cruel and his enemy, and demanding an answer as if God owed it. Every one of us has judged God by the little we can see. Job's confession is a good one to make our own.
42:4 Listen now, and I will speak Job quotes God's words back (38:3; 40:7). You told me to listen and answer. Here is my answer.
42:5 By the hearing of the ear I had heard of You, and now my eye has seen You One of the most important verses in the book. Before, Job knew God faithfully but secondhand. Now he has met Him, His glory in the storm and His heart in coming to speak. God never told Job why he suffered, but once he saw God he no longer needed the explanation. Knowing God was better than knowing why. Many Christians say they knew God most deeply in their darkest season. Job's hope of 19:26-27 had begun to come true, and it will fully: "we will see Him just as He is" (1 John 3:2; Matt 5:8).
42:6 I reject it, and I repent on dust and ashes The Hebrew does not say what Job rejects. Many versions read that he abhors himself. Most likely he takes back his bold words and his proud demand to be proved right. He is not saying he is worthless. He sat in ashes in grief (2:8); now in repentance, as Abraham called himself dust and ashes (Gen 18:27). Let me say it plainly: Job did not repent of the friends' charges or confess that his suffering was punishment. He repented of darkening God's counsel and condemning God to justify himself (40:8). His suffering came first, for reasons in heaven. His repentance came at the end, for what he said in it. Do not let anyone tell you your trouble proves hidden sin, and do not fear bringing God what you said in your pain. "A broken and crushed heart, God, You will not despise" (Ps 51:17).
42:7 you have not spoken concerning Me what is right, as My servant Job has The LORD's verdict, in prose again, and it is stunning. The friends said many true things but built them on one false idea: great suffering always means great sin. They made God a machine and used that false picture to slander an innocent man (22:5-9). God takes it seriously when people misrepresent Him, even in His defense. Not every word Job spoke was right (38:2; 40:8). But he refused to say his suffering proved guilt, would not lie about God or himself, told the truth about the world, kept speaking to God, hoped in his Redeemer, and humbled himself when God spoke. Honest faith that wrestles with God is closer to the truth than a tidy theology that slanders Him. Some read it as what the friends had not spoken to God. Elihu is not mentioned.
42:8 Job My servant shall pray for you "My servant" four times in two verses (42:7-8), as in 1:8. Satan's charge failed. Seven bulls and seven rams showed their sin was serious, and Job acts as priest, as in 1:5. To lift up his face is to accept him. These men had called Job wicked and said his children got what they deserved (8:4). Now Job must forgive and pray for them, and Eliphaz is the guilty man delivered by Job's clean hands (22:30). Job pictures Christ, who prayed for His accusers, "Father, forgive them" (Luke 23:34), and is "always living to intercede for them" (Heb 7:25). And Job is our model: "pray for those mistreating you" (Matt 5:44).
42:10 the LORD turned back the captivity of Job when he prayed for his friends God restored his fortunes and doubled them. Notice when: as he prayed for the men who wounded him. Forgiveness often opens the door to healing.
42:11 all the evil that the LORD had brought on him Family and friends who had kept away (19:13-19) came back, ate with him, and finally did what the three came to do (2:11). Satan was the instrument, but God allowed it and controlled it (1:12; 2:6), and Job knew it (1:21; 2:10). Scripture never pretends God is not sovereign over our suffering. The God who allowed the trouble also brought the restoration, here partly through the kindness of others' gifts.

sisters and all who had known him before came to him, and they ate bread with him in his house; and they showed him sympathy and comforted him over all the evil that the LORD had brought on him; and they gave him each one a piece of money, and each one a ring of gold. 12 And the LORD blessed the latter part of Job more than his beginning; and he had fourteen thousand sheep and six thousand camels and a thousand pairs of oxen and a thousand female donkeys. 13 And he had seven sons and three daughters. 14 And he called the name of the first Jemimah (Yemima), and the name of the second Keziah (Qetsi'a), and the name of the third Keren-happuch (Qeren-Hapukh). 15 And women as beautiful as the daughters of Job were not found in all the land; and their father gave them an inheritance among their brothers. 16 And Job lived after this a hundred and forty years, and he saw his sons and the sons of his sons, four generations. 17 And Job died, old and satisfied with days.

42:14 James 5:11
42:15 James 5:11; Num 27:7; Ps 144:12
42:16 James 5:11; Gen 50:23; Ps 128:6
42:17 James 5:11; Gen 25:8; Job 5:26

42:12 the LORD blessed the latter part of Job more than his beginning Every number in 1:3 exactly doubled. Should we expect God always to restore double in this life? No. That would be the friends' mistake upside down. It was grace, not payment. Many faithful believers die without seeing their losses restored here (Heb 11:39-40). For those in Christ, full restoration is still ahead (Rom 8:18).
42:13 he had seven sons and three daughters The animals were doubled; the children were not. Ten again, not twenty. Many teachers see a quiet hope. Animals that die are gone, but Job's first ten were not lost forever, and he had prayed and sacrificed for each (1:5). I believe this points to a quiet hope for grieving parents that death does not end a family's story for those who belong to Him. Others see only a full family restored. David said of his son who died, "I am going to him" (2 Sam 12:23), and I believe little children who die are safe with God. We do not grieve as those "who have no hope" (1 Thess 4:13). The new children did not replace the ones he lost. No child can. But God gave new joy alongside the grief.
42:14 he called the name of the first Jemimah, and the name of the second Keziah, and the name of the third Keren-happuch Jemimah probably means dove; Keziah is cassia, a fragrant spice; Keren-happuch, a horn of eye paint. Peace, fragrance and beauty filled a home of ashes and sores.
42:15 their father gave them an inheritance among their brothers Daughters usually did not inherit when there were sons. It shows his generosity and love, and recalls the daughters of Zelophehad (Num 27:7).
42:16 Job lived after this a hundred and forty years Long life like the patriarchs, one reason many place Job near Abraham's time. He had wanted to die. God let him see four generations.
42:17 Job died, old and satisfied with days The words used of Isaac (Gen 35:29), nearly those of Abraham (Gen 25:8). The man who cursed his birth (3:1-3) died satisfied. "You have heard of the endurance of Job, and you have seen the outcome of the Lord, that the Lord is very compassionate and merciful" (James 5:11). His endurance was not perfect patience, but he never let go of God, and God never let go of him. We may not know why we suffer or see our losses restored here. But our Redeemer lives, and He "will wipe away every tear from their eyes" (Rev 21:4).

Introduction

Title

The Hebrew title of the book means "praises." Our English name comes from the Greek translation of the Old Testament, where a psalm is a song sung to stringed instruments. Psalms is the longest book in the Bible, with 150 psalms and 2,461 verses. It was Israel's song book and prayer book, and believers have prayed and sung it for about three thousand years. Jesus prayed the psalms too, even on the cross (Matt 27:46).

Many psalms open with a title, such as "A psalm of David." In the Hebrew Bible the title is part of the psalm, so the SLB prints it as verse 0. Titles name a writer, an occasion or a direction for the music. Some musical words in them, such as Maskil and Miktam, and the word Selah inside many psalms, are old terms whose exact meaning is not certain. The notes say so when we come to them.

Author and Date

The Psalms have many writers. The titles name David on 73 psalms. Others come from Asaph, one of David's chief musicians (Psalm 50 and Psalms 73-83), and the sons of Korah, a family of Levites who served in worship (including 42, 46 and 84). Two are connected to Solomon (72 and 127), one to Moses (90), one to Heman (88) and one to Ethan (89). About fifty name no writer at all. The phrase "of David" can also mean for David or belonging to David, but I read the titles as naming the writer, as Jesus and the apostles did when they quoted David's psalms by name (Mark 12:36; Acts 2:25; Rom 4:6).

The psalms were written over about a thousand years. The oldest is probably the prayer of Moses (Psalm 90), from the wilderness years, about 1410 B.C. Most of David's psalms come from around 1000 B.C., and many more from the time of Solomon. Some, such as Psalm 137, were written during or after the exile in Babylon, after 586 B.C. The collection was gathered and arranged over time, probably reaching its final form after the return from exile that began in 538 B.C.

Background and Setting

The psalms were written for the people of Israel, first for worship before the ark in David's day, then at the temple, and for personal prayer. God kept these songs for His people in every age, including us.

The book is arranged in five books: Book One (1-41), Book Two (42-72), Book Three (73-89), Book Four (90-106) and Book Five (107-150). Each of the first four ends with a short blessing of praise to God (41:13; 72:18-19; 89:52; 106:48), and Psalm 150 closes the whole collection with nothing but praise. A note at 72:20 marks the end of an earlier collection of David's prayers. Smaller groups sit inside the books: the psalms of the sons of Korah (42-49), the psalms of Asaph (73-83), the psalms that praise the LORD as King (93-100), the Hallel sung at Passover (113-118), the Songs of Ascents sung by pilgrims going up to Jerusalem (120-134), and the Hallelujah Psalms that end the book (146-150).

Hebrew poetry does not depend on rhyme. Its main feature is parallel lines. A writer says something, then says it again in other words, or builds on it, or sets its opposite beside it: "The LORD is my light and my salvation; whom shall I fear?" (27:1). Once you see this, the psalms become much easier to read, because the second line often explains the first. They are poetry, so a shepherd, a rock, wings and a fortress are pictures that tell us something true about God. But they are also tied to real people and real events, and I take what they say about God, His Messiah and His people Israel at its word.

The psalms come in several kinds, and many mix more than one: songs of praise, cries for help (often called laments), songs of thanksgiving, wisdom psalms that teach how to live, royal psalms about the king God chose, psalms of confession, and the pilgrim songs. A few acrostic psalms begin each verse or stanza with the next letter of the Hebrew alphabet (such as 25, 34, 111, 112, 119 and 145).

A note on the names of God. In the SLB, LORD in capital letters stands for God's personal name, YHWH (often written Yahweh), which He made known to Moses (Exod 3:14-15). Lord in regular letters usually translates Adonai, a title meaning Master. When the two come together, the SLB prints Lord GOD, with GOD standing for the personal name. God usually translates Elohim, the general Hebrew word for God.

Themes

The psalms cover every part of life with God: praise, thanks, sorrow, fear, guilt, anger and hope. They give us words when we have none. Some cry out for help, some confess sin, some celebrate God's Law, and some look ahead to the King God promised to David. Many begin in the depths and end in praise, and they teach us that we may bring every feeling to God honestly.

Through them all, God is the Creator who spoke the world into being (33:6), the King who reigns over all nations (47:7), the Judge who will set the world right (96:13), and the Shepherd who leads His people (23:1). His steadfast love, His loyal covenant love, is forever (136:1). He is a refuge in trouble (46:1), He forgives the one who confesses (32:5), and His Word is a lamp to our feet (119:105).

The psalms also hold God to His promises to Israel and to David's house. God chose Zion, swore an oath to David, and promised that a Son of David would reign forever (89:3-4; 132:11). I believe those promises will be fulfilled to the letter when Jesus returns and reigns on the earth from Jerusalem, and that God still has a future for Israel (Rom 11:26). The book ends with a call to everything that has breath to praise the LORD (150:6).

Key verses: 1:1-2; 23:1; 46:1; 51:10; 119:105.

Christ in Psalms

Jesus said that "all the things which are written concerning Me in the law of Moses and the prophets and the psalms must be fulfilled" (Luke 24:44). The New Testament quotes the psalms more than any other Old Testament book, and many of those quotes point to Him.

Psalm 2 shows the Son as the King God sets on Zion, and Psalm 110 shows Him seated at God's right hand as King and as a priest forever in the order of Melchizedek. Jesus used 110:1 to show that David's Son is also David's Lord (Matt 22:41-45). Psalm 22 describes His suffering on the cross, from the cry of forsakenness (22:1) to the pierced hands and the divided clothes (22:16-18), and it ends in praise and in the nations turning to the LORD. Psalm 16 foretells His resurrection, as Peter preached at Pentecost (Acts 2:25-31). Psalm 118 speaks of the rejected stone that became the head of the corner (118:22), which Jesus applied to Himself (Matt 21:42).

Other psalms show Him too. Psalm 8 speaks of the Son of Man crowned with glory (Heb 2:6-9). Psalm 40 speaks of the One who came to do God's will (Heb 10:5-7). Psalm 45 calls the King God (Heb 1:8). Psalm 69 speaks of the zeal that consumed Him and the vinegar He was given (John 2:17; 19:28-29). Psalm 23 points to the Good Shepherd who lays down His life for the sheep (John 10:11). And the royal psalms look ahead to the day when He will reign over the whole earth (72:8-11).

Hard Passages

Some psalms ask God to punish enemies in strong words, or say the writer hates those who hate God (for example 58:6-9; 69:22-28; 109:6-20; 137:8-9; 139:19-22). These are often called the imprecatory psalms. How should a Christian read them? First, these lines are prayers, not actions. The writer hands his enemies over to God instead of taking revenge himself, and he asks God to do what is right. Second, they come from people who were really wronged, often by those who hated God and His people, and they show how seriously God takes evil. Third, the New Testament teaches the same handing over. Paul tells us not to avenge ourselves but to "give place to the wrath" (Rom 12:19), because the Lord says, "Vengeance is Mine, I will repay" (Rom 12:19). And Jesus told us to "love your enemies" (Matt 5:44) and to "pray for those mistreating you and persecuting you" (Matt 5:44). So we can tell God plainly about the wrong done to us, long for Him to set things right, and still pray for those who hurt us. Many notes point back here.

The hardest of these is 137:9, the blessing on one who repays Babylon by seizing its infants. It is a cry of raw grief from people who had seen this done in Jerusalem, and the prophets had already foretold the same judgment on Babylon (Isa 13:16). It is not a pattern for us. I believe little children who die are safe with God.

Psalm 22:16 has a text question. The standard Hebrew text reads like a lion, while the Greek and a Dead Sea scroll read a verb that most take as pierced. The SLB follows pierced, and the note explains both.

Psalm 82:6 calls human judges gods. Jesus quoted it (John 10:34), and the note explains how. Psalm 45:6 calls the King God, and Hebrews applies it to the Son (Heb 1:8).

Psalm 51:5 says David was brought forth in iniquity. It does not mean his mother sinned in conceiving him. It means every person is born with a sinful nature.

Psalm 88 ends in darkness with no turn to praise. It shows that God's Word has room for the darkest seasons of a believer's life, and that we can keep praying in them.

Some of the musical terms in the titles, and a few hard lines, have more than one reading. Where that is so, the notes give the main views.

1:1 How blessed is the man The Hebrew word for "blessed" means happy, deeply well off. It describes the life God approves and smiles on. Psalm 1 has no heading and reads like a door into the whole book: before we learn to pray the psalms, we are told where a blessed life begins.
1:1 has not walked in the counsel of the wicked, and in the way of sinners has not stood, and in the seat of mockers has not sat Walk, stand, sit. Sin draws a person in a step at a time. First he listens to the advice of the wicked, then he stops in the path sinners take, and at last he sits down at home among the mockers. This is Hebrew parallel poetry, where each line builds on the one before it.
1:2 his delight is in the law of the LORD "Law" is the Hebrew torah, instruction or teaching. It includes the commands of Moses but is broader than rules: it is everything God has taught His people. The blessed man does more than put up with God's Word. He delights in it.
1:2 he meditates by day and night The word for "meditate" was used for a low murmur, like someone reading half aloud to himself. Biblical meditation is filling the mind with God's Word: read it, repeat it, chew on it, come back to it. We become what we take in.
1:3 like a tree planted by streams of water In a dry land a wild tree might wither every summer, but a tree planted by a channel stayed green all year. "Planted" suggests someone put it there on purpose. Jeremiah uses the same picture for the man who trusts in the LORD (Jer 17:7-8).
1:3 all that he does prospers This is not a promise that a believer will be rich or never suffer. Many psalms are full of godly people in trouble. It means a life rooted in God bears the fruit God intends, "in its season," and is never wasted.
1:4 like the chaff which the wind drives away At harvest, farmers tossed crushed grain into the air. The heavy grain fell back to the threshing floor, and the light husks, the chaff, blew away. A tree has roots, weight and fruit. Chaff has none. A life without God may look full for a moment, but it has nothing to hold it down.
1:5 the wicked will not stand in the judgment They chose to stand in the path of sinners (1:1). In the end they will not be able to stand before God, and when He gathers His people, they will not be among "the congregation of the righteous."
1:6 the LORD knows the way of the righteous To "know" in the Bible often means to care for and watch over, a close relationship. God knows every step of His people's road. The road of the wicked leads to ruin. Jesus spoke of the same two ways (Matt 7:13-14). Many see in this psalm a portrait only Jesus fully lived out, and God counts as righteous those who trust Him (Ps 32:1-2; Rom 4:6-8).
2:1 Why do nations rage Psalm 2 has no heading, but the early church said God spoke it "through the mouth of Your servant David" (Acts 4:25), so we read it as David's. Nations and peoples, kings and rulers: each line enlarges the picture until the whole world seems lined up against God. Their plans are "vanity," empty and doomed.
2:2 against the LORD and against His Anointed "Anointed" is one who had oil poured on his head to set him apart for a task from God, as Samuel anointed David (1 Sam 16:13). The Hebrew mashiach gives us "Messiah," and the Greek christos gives us "Christ." The early church saw this verse fulfilled when Herod, Pilate, the Gentiles and the peoples of Israel gathered against Jesus (Acts 4:25-27).
2:3 Let us tear apart their bonds To the rebels, God's rule feels like chains. That is how the human heart has seen God's authority ever since Eden.
2:4 He who sits in the heavens laughs God is not pacing the floor. He is seated on His throne, and the plots of kings are so small next to Him that He laughs. "The Lord" here is the title Master. The rebels want to throw off their Master, but He is still the Master.
2:5 Then He speaks to them in His anger God's anger is His settled, holy opposition to evil, not a fit of temper. One word from Him terrifies those who thought they could defy Him.
2:6 I have installed My King on Zion, the mountain of My holiness Zion was first the fortress David captured, the City of David (2 Sam 5:7). Later the name came to mean the temple hill and all Jerusalem, the place God chose to dwell. The nations say they will break free, and God answers that He has already crowned His King. I believe God still has a future for Zion and Israel, and Paul says the Deliverer will come from Zion (Rom 11:26).
2:7 You are My Son; I, today I have begotten You God promised that David's royal son would be His son (2 Sam 7:14), but no king of Judah ruled the ends of the earth. Paul says God fulfilled this "having raised up Jesus" (Acts 13:33), and Hebrews 1:5 says God never said it to any angel. "Today" does not mean the Son began to exist (John 1:1). It points to the day God publicly declared and installed His Son as King, tied to the resurrection (Rom 1:4).
2:8 I will make nations Your inheritance The nations that rebelled in verse 1 will belong to the Son, to "the ends of the earth." This was always God's plan: all the families of the earth would be blessed through Abraham (Gen 12:3).

PSALMS 3

A psalm of David, when he fled from before Absalom (Avshalom) his son. 1 LORD, how my adversaries have multiplied! Many are rising up against me. 2 Many are saying of my soul, "There is no salvation for him in God." Selah. 3 And You, LORD, are a shield about me, my glory, and the One who lifts up my head. 4 With my voice I called out to the LORD, and He answered me from the mountain of His holiness. Selah. 5 I, I lay down and slept; I awoke, for the LORD sustains me. 6 I will not be afraid of ten thousands of people who have set themselves all around against me. 7 Arise, LORD! Save me, my God! For You have struck all my enemies on the jaw; the teeth of the wicked You have broken. 8 Salvation belongs to the LORD; Your blessing is on Your people. Selah.

PSALMS 4

To the choirmaster, with stringed instruments. A psalm of David. 1 When I call, answer me, O God of my righteousness! In the distress You have made it wide for me; be gracious to me, and hear my prayer. 2 Sons of man, how long will my glory be turned into shame? How long will you love vanity and seek a lie? Selah. 3 And know that the LORD has set apart the godly one for Himself; the LORD will hear when I call to Him. 4 Tremble, and do not sin; speak in your heart on your bed, and be silent. 2:9 You will break them with a rod of iron A rod of iron is a rule no one can resist; clay pots smashed by it cannot be mended. The Hebrew says "break." The Greek Old Testament read the same letters as "shepherd" or "rule," and Revelation follows it (Rev 2:27; 12:5). I believe the church will be caught up to meet the Lord before the Tribulation (1 Thess 4:16-17), and this verse points to Christ's return at its end, when "He Himself will shepherd them with a rod of iron" (Rev 19:15) and reigns on the earth. Judgment is His, not ours.
2:10 And now, O kings, act prudently After the warning comes an offer. The kings are not yet destroyed. God speaks before He strikes and gives time to be wise.
2:11 rejoice with trembling Joy and trembling go together. Serving God is a joy, but He is not to be treated lightly. This is the fear of the LORD (19:9).
2:12 Kiss the Son The word for "Son" here is bar, the Aramaic form, not the Hebrew ben of verse 7, and translators have read the line in different ways (kiss His feet, or worship in purity). The SLB reads "the Son," tying back to verse 7, and I take it that way. People kissed a king's hand or the ground at his feet to show loyalty. The rebels are told to bow.
2:12 How blessed are all who take refuge in Him "Perish in the way" echoes 1:6, and this closing "blessed" echoes 1:1. The two psalms belong together. The King who will judge the rebels is also the safe place for anyone who runs to Him, and that invitation is still open today.
3:0 when he fled from before Absalom his son This is the first psalm with a heading, and it ties the prayer to a real day in David's life (2 Sam 15:13-17). His own son had stolen the hearts of Israel and taken the throne, and David left Jerusalem weeping. Few pains are deeper than betrayal by your own child.
3:2 There is no salvation for him in God The enemies' cruelest line was not that David would lose, but that God had given up on him. "Selah" appears here for the first time. Its exact meaning is not certain. Many think it marks a pause or a musical break, a moment to stop and think.
3:3 a shield about me, my glory, and the One who lifts up my head David had lost his city, his throne and his honor. God was all three for him: his protection, his glory, and the One who would lift the head of a man walking barefoot and ashamed.
3:5 I lay down and slept; I awoke, for the LORD sustains me With an army hunting him, David slept. Peace like that does not come from safe circumstances but from knowing who is holding you. Every morning we wake is His gift.
3:8 Salvation belongs to the LORD The enemies said there was no salvation for him in God (3:2). David answers that salvation belongs to no one else. He ends by praying for God's blessing on "Your people," even the nation that had followed Absalom.
4:0 To the choirmaster The choirmaster was the leader of the music in Israel's worship. The heading means the psalm was given to him to be sung by God's people together, here "with stringed instruments."
4:1 In the distress You have made it wide for me Distress in Hebrew is a tight, narrow place. David remembers how God made room for him before, and that memory gives him courage to ask again.
4:4 Tremble, and do not sin Be stirred, even angry, but do not let it carry you into sin. Paul uses the same words, "be angry and do not sin" (Eph 4:26). David tells his enemies to lie awake and talk with their own hearts before God, and be still.
4:7 You have put joy in my heart The crowd asks, "Who will show us good?" and measures good by full barns. David has a joy that a good harvest cannot give and a bad one cannot take away.
4:8 In peace I will both lie down and sleep Not just lie down, but actually sleep. The safety does not come from walls or guards. "You, LORD, alone" make him dwell safely. Psalm 3 is a morning prayer (3:5) and this one an evening prayer.
5:3 in the morning I set it in order for You, and I keep watch The word for setting in order was used for laying out wood or a sacrifice on the altar. David lays his prayer before God at the start of the day and then watches for the answer, the way a watchman waits for the dawn.

5:4 You are not a God delighting in wickedness God is holy. Evil cannot be His guest. The boastful, the liars and the violent cannot stand before Him. That is bad news for every sinner until we see the next verse.
5:7 in the abundance of Your steadfast love I will enter Your house "Steadfast love" is the Hebrew hesed, God's loyal covenant love that keeps its promises and goes beyond them. David does not come into God's presence on his own merit. He comes because God's love is so great. That is the only way any of us can come.
5:9 their throat is an open grave Paul quotes this line in his proof that "There is not a righteous one, not even one" (Rom 3:10, 13). Words that pour from the wicked carry the smell of death.
5:10 Hold them guilty, O God This is the first of the prayers for judgment in the Psalms. David does not take revenge. He asks God to judge rightly, because "they have rebelled against You." See the introduction on the hard lines in the Psalms.
5:12 like a shield You surround him with favor The shield here is the large kind that covered a soldier's whole body. God's favor is around the righteous on every side.
6:0 on the Sheminith Sheminith means the eighth. It may name an instrument with eight strings or a lower octave for the music. No one is sure. Christians have long counted Psalm 6 as the first of the seven penitential psalms, the psalms of sorrow over sin.
6:1 do not rebuke me in Your anger David does not ask God never to correct him. He asks God not to discipline him in anger. A child of God may be corrected, but he can ask for the Father's mercy in it (Heb 12:5-11).
6:3 And You, LORD, how long? The prayer breaks off in the middle. Sometimes pain does not have full sentences. God hears unfinished prayers too.
6:5 in Sheol who will give thanks to You Sheol is the Hebrew name for the place of the dead, the grave and the world beyond it. The Old Testament saints saw only dimly what lies past death. David's point is that the dead can no longer praise God among the living, so he asks God to spare him to do it. Christ has since brought "life and incorruptibility to light" (2 Tim 1:10).
6:6 every night I make my bed swim This is honest grief, not weakness. God does not ask His people to hide their tears from Him.
6:8 the LORD has heard the sound of my weeping Suddenly the psalm turns. Nothing outside has changed yet, but David knows God has heard. Tears have a sound in heaven.
7:0 A Shiggaion of David Shiggaion is a rare musical word, perhaps a song full of strong feeling. Cush the Benjaminite is not named anywhere else. He was most likely one of Saul's men, from Saul's own tribe, who spread lies about David.
7:3 if I have done this, if there is injustice in my hands David does not claim to be sinless. He claims to be innocent of this charge, and he is willing to have God search him. When we are falsely accused, we can bring our case to the One who knows the truth.
7:9 the One who tests hearts and kidneys In Hebrew thinking the kidneys stood for the deepest feelings and the heart for the thoughts and will. God sees all the way down. Nothing can be hidden from the righteous Judge.

One who tests hearts and kidneys, O righteous God. 10 My shield is on God, the One who saves the upright of heart. 11 God is a righteous judge, and God is indignant every day. 12 If one does not repent, He will sharpen His sword; He has bent His bow and prepared it. 13 And for him He has prepared weapons of death; He makes His arrows into burning shafts. 14 Look, he is in labor with iniquity, and he has conceived mischief and brought forth falsehood. 15 He has dug a hole, and he has hollowed it out; and he has fallen into the pit that he made. 16 His mischief returns on his own head, and on his crown his violence comes down. 17 I will give thanks to the LORD according to His righteousness, and I will sing praise to the name of the LORD Most High.

7:11 God is a righteous judge, and God is indignant every day God is never neutral about evil. But verse 12 opens with "If one does not repent." He bends His bow and waits, giving time to turn.
7:15 he has fallen into the pit that he made Sin carries its own judgment. The trap the wicked man digs for others becomes his own grave. Haman was hanged on the gallows he built for Mordecai (Esth 7:10).
7:17 the LORD Most High Most High is the Hebrew Elyon, a name that sets God over every power in heaven and on earth. It goes back to Melchizedek, "priest of God Most High" (Gen 14:18).
8:0 on the Gittith A musical term whose meaning is uncertain. Because it sounds like Gath, a Philistine city, some think it was a lyre or tune from Gath. Others link it to the Hebrew word for a winepress and think it was a harvest song. Psalms 81 and 84 use the same term.
8:1 LORD, our Lord The first word is God's personal name, the second the title Master. David speaks to the God who made a covenant with Israel. A covenant is a binding agreement God makes and commits Himself to keep, as at Sinai (Exod 24:7-8) and in the new covenant through Jesus (Luke 22:20). This great God belongs to His people.
8:1 how majestic is Your name in all the earth God's name stands for who He is, His character and His fame. His greatness can be seen everywhere on earth, and His splendor reaches higher still, "above the heavens." The sky is not big enough to hold His glory.
8:2 From the mouth of infants and nursing babies You have established strength God does not need the mighty to defeat His enemies. He delights to use small things to put down proud things (1 Cor 1:27). When children cried "Hosanna" in the temple, Jesus quoted this verse (Matt 21:15-16). He followed the Greek Old Testament, a translation made by Jewish scholars before His birth, which reads "praise" where the Hebrew has "strength." The two fit: the praise of children was a strength the proud could not answer.
8:3 the works of Your fingers The heavens are vast, and God made them with His fingers, as if they were delicate handwork. David may first have felt this as a shepherd boy lying under the stars.
8:4 what is man that You remember him Next to the moon and stars, a human being seems so small. "Son of man" here simply means a human being. We know the universe is far bigger than David imagined, which makes his question stronger. And the answer is the same: God does take thought of us.
8:5 You have made him lack a little from God The Hebrew word is elohim. It usually means God but can mean heavenly beings. The Greek Old Testament read "angels," and Hebrews 2:7 follows it. Either way, man stands just below the heavenly realm, crowned like a king, made in God's image to rule the earth (Gen 1:26-28). Every human being carries this God-given dignity.
8:6 You have put everything under his feet To rule does not mean to abuse. Adam was placed in the garden to work it and keep it (Gen 2:15). But sin brought death, and Hebrews admits "we do not yet see all things subjected to him" (Heb 2:8). Instead we see Jesus, made a little lower and now crowned (Heb 2:9). He is the true Man of Psalm 8. Paul applies the verse to Christ, who will destroy even death (1 Cor 15:26-27).
8:7 sheep and oxen David lists the creatures in groups: farm animals, wild animals, birds and fish. From the field to the sky to "the paths of the seas," God put it all under man's care as His steward.
8:9 LORD, our Lord, how majestic is Your name The psalm ends where it began. David started with God's glory, marveled at man's place, and came back to God's glory. That is the right order. Our dignity is real, but it is a gift, and the praise belongs to God.
9:0 on Muth-labben The words seem to mean death of the son, most likely the name of a tune. No one knows for sure. Psalms 9 and 10 together form a broken acrostic, a poem whose lines begin with the letters of the Hebrew alphabet in order, so many think they were first one psalm.
9:1 I will give thanks to the LORD with all my heart Not half a heart. David decides to thank God and to "recount all Your wonders," telling others what God has done. Gratitude grows when it is spoken.
9:7 the LORD sits enthroned forever Kings rise and their names are wiped out (9:5-6), but the LORD's throne stands forever. He has set it up "for judgment," and He will judge the world with fairness. The wrongs of history will not stay unanswered (Acts 17:31).

sits enthroned forever; He has established His throne for judgment. 8 And He, He will judge the world in righteousness; He will judge the peoples with uprightness. 9 And let the LORD be a high refuge for the oppressed, a high refuge for times of trouble. 10 And those who know Your name will trust in You, for You have not forsaken those who seek You, LORD. 11 Sing praises to the LORD, who dwells in Zion (Tsiyon); declare His deeds among the peoples. 12 For He who seeks blood has remembered them; He has not forgotten the cry of the humble. 13 Be gracious to me, LORD; see my affliction from those who hate me, You who lift me up from the gates of death, 14 so that I may recount all Your praises in the gates of the daughter of Zion; I will rejoice in Your salvation. 15 Nations have sunk into the pit that they made; in the net which they hid their own foot has been caught. 16 The LORD has made Himself known; He has executed judgment; in the work of his hands He is snaring the wicked. Higgaion. Selah. 17 The wicked will return to Sheol, all the nations forgetful of God. 18 For the needy will not be forgotten forever; the hope of the afflicted will not perish forever. 19 Arise, LORD; let not man prevail; let the nations be judged before Your face. 20 Set terror for them, LORD; let the nations know that they are men. Selah.

1 Why, LORD, do You stand at a distance? Why do You hide Yourself in times of trouble? 2 In the pride of the wicked he hotly pursues the afflicted; they are caught in the schemes which they have devised. 3 For the wicked boasts of the desire of his soul, and the one greedy for gain blesses; he spurns the LORD. 4 The wicked, according to the haughtiness of his nose, does not seek Him; "There is no God" are all his schemes. 5 His ways endure at all times; Your judgments are on high, away from before him; all his adversaries, he puffs at them. 6 He says in his heart, "I will not be shaken; to generation and generation I am one who will not be in adversity." 7 His mouth is full of cursing and deceits and oppression; under his tongue are mischief and iniquity. 8 He sits in the ambush of the villages; in the hiding places he kills the innocent; his eyes lie hidden watching for the helpless. 9 He lies in wait in the hiding place like a lion in its lair; he lies in wait to seize the afflicted; he seizes the afflicted when he draws him into his net. 10 He is crushed, he bows down, and a host of disheartened ones falls by his mighty ones. 11 He says in his heart, "God has forgotten; He has hidden His face; He will never see." 12 Arise, LORD! O God, lift up Your hand! Do not forget the humble. 13 Why has the wicked spurned God? He has said in his heart, "You will not seek it out." 14 You have seen it, for You, You look on mischief and vexation, to put it in Your hand; on You the helpless one leaves himself; of the fatherless You, You have been the helper. 15 Break the arm of the wicked; and the evil one, You will seek out his wickedness, You will not find it. 16 The LORD is King forever and ever; nations have perished from His land. 17 The desire of the humble You have heard, LORD; You will establish their heart; You will make Your ear pay attention, 18 to judge the fatherless and the oppressed, so that man who is from the earth will no longer strike terror.

9:9 a high refuge for the oppressed A high refuge is a secure height, a stronghold out of the enemy's reach. Those who are crushed by others can run there "in times of trouble."
9:10 those who know Your name will trust in You To know God's name is to know who He is. The more we know Him, the easier it is to trust Him, because He has never once forsaken those who seek Him.
9:12 He who seeks blood has remembered them God is the avenger of innocent blood (Gen 9:5). The powerful may forget the poor they crushed, but God does not forget "the cry of the humble."
9:16 Higgaion. Selah Higgaion seems to mean a quiet murmur or meditation, perhaps a soft musical interlude. Put together with Selah, it calls us to stop and think about what we just read: the wicked are caught in their own traps.
9:20 let the nations know that they are men Proud nations forget that they are made of dust. David asks God to remind them. Every empire is only men, and God alone is God.
10:1 Why, LORD, do You stand at a distance Psalm 10 has no heading, which fits the view that it once belonged with Psalm 9. It begins with one of the most honest questions in the Bible. God does not rebuke the question. He gave it to us to pray.
10:4 There is no God The wicked man may not say it out loud, but it is the plan behind all his schemes. He lives as if no one will ever call him to account. Practical atheism is more common than the spoken kind.
10:9 like a lion in its lair The wicked man is pictured as a hunter: lying in ambush, waiting in the hiding place, drawing the helpless into his net. Paul gathers 10:7 into his description of a world under sin (Rom 3:14).
10:14 of the fatherless You, You have been the helper The wicked say God will never see (10:11). David answers, You have seen it. The helpless one leaves himself in God's hands. God has always taken the side of the orphan and the widow (Deut 10:18).
10:16 The LORD is King forever and ever The psalm that began with God seeming far away ends with God on His throne. Nothing about the wicked had changed yet, but David's eyes had. The King hears "the desire of the humble" (10:17).
11:1 Flee to your mountain as a bird Friends urged David to run and hide. The bows were bent and the arrows were on the string. David had already taken refuge in the LORD, so why run to the hills?

2 for look, the wicked bend a bow; they have prepared their arrow on the string, to shoot in darkness at the upright of heart. 3 When the foundations are torn down, what has the righteous done?" 4 The LORD is in the temple of His holiness; the LORD, in the heavens is His throne; His eyes see, His eyelids test the sons of man. 5 The LORD tests the righteous, and the wicked and the one who loves violence His soul hates. 6 Let Him rain snares on the wicked; fire and sulfur and a wind of scorching heat will be the portion of their cup. 7 For the LORD is righteous; He loves righteous deeds; the upright will see His face.

PSALMS 12

To the choirmaster, on the Sheminith. A psalm of David. 1 Save, LORD, for the godly one has come to an end; for the faithful have vanished from the sons of man. 2 They speak emptiness, each with his neighbor; with a lip of flatteries, with a heart and a heart they speak. 3 May the LORD cut off all lips of flatteries, the tongue that speaks great things, 4 who have said, "With our tongue we will prevail; our lips are with us; who is lord over us?" 5 "Because of the devastation of the afflicted, because of the groaning of the needy, now I will arise," says the LORD; "I will set in safety him who pants for it." 6 The words of the LORD are pure words, silver refined in a furnace on the earth, purified sevenfold. 7 You, LORD, will keep them; You will guard him from this generation forever. 8 The wicked walk about on every side, when vileness is exalted among the sons of man.

To the choirmaster. A psalm of David. 1 How long, LORD? Will You forget me forever? How long will You hide Your face from me? 2 How long will I set counsels in my soul, with sorrow in my heart by day? PSALMS 14

To the choirmaster. Of David. 1 A fool has said in his heart, "There is no God." They have acted corruptly; they have done abominable deeds; there is none who does good. 2 The LORD has looked down from the heavens on the sons of man to see whether there is anyone who acts prudently, who seeks God. 3 All have turned aside; together they have become corrupt; there is none who does good, there is not even one. 4 Do all who work iniquity not know, who eat up My people as they eat bread? They have not called on the LORD. 5 There they have dreaded a dread, for God is with a righteous generation. 6 You would put to shame the counsel of the afflicted, for the LORD is his refuge. 7 Oh, that from Zion (Tsiyon) the salvation of Israel (Yisra'el) would come! 11:3 When the foundations are torn down, what has the righteous done This is the friends' question: when law and order fall apart, what can a godly man do? David's answer is the next verse. The foundations of earth may shake, but the LORD's throne does not.
11:4 His eyelids test the sons of man The picture is of narrowed eyes looking closely. God is not only in His heavens. He watches every person on earth, and He tests the righteous to refine them (11:5).
11:7 the upright will see His face The wicked get "fire and sulfur," the judgment that fell on Sodom (Gen 19:24). The upright get the greatest reward there is: to see God's face. Jesus said the pure in heart will see God (Matt 5:8).
12:1 the godly one has come to an end David felt alone, as if the faithful had vanished from the earth. Elijah felt the same (1 Kgs 19:10), but God had seven thousand who had not bowed to Baal.
12:2 with a heart and a heart they speak A double heart: one thing in the mouth and another inside. Flattery and boasting fill the air, and the liars think their tongues answer to no one (12:4).
12:6 The words of the LORD are pure words Against all the lying words of men stand the words of God. Silver refined seven times has no dross left, and seven is the number of completeness. Every word God speaks is true and can be trusted.
13:1 How long, LORD Four times David asks it. He feels forgotten and his prayers seem to hit the ceiling. The Bible gives us this psalm so we know such feelings are not the end of faith. It is faith that keeps asking God, not walking away.
13:3 give light to my eyes, lest I sleep in death Dull eyes were a sign of sickness or despair. David asks God to put the light back in them. He feels he is near death, and only God can renew his strength.
13:5 in Your steadfast love I have trusted The turn comes with "And I." Nothing outside has changed, but David chooses to trust God's hesed, His loyal covenant love. In six short verses he moves from "How long?" to "I will sing." Feelings follow faith, not the other way around.
14:1 A fool has said in his heart, There is no God In the Bible a fool is not someone with a weak mind but someone with a rebellious heart. He lives as if God is not there. Psalm 53 repeats this psalm with small changes.
14:3 there is none who does good, there is not even one God looks down on all mankind, and the verdict is total. Paul quotes this psalm to show that Jew and Gentile alike are under sin (Rom 3:10-12). No one is saved by being good enough. We all need a Savior.
14:7 Oh, that from Zion the salvation of Israel would come David longs for God's salvation to come out of Zion. "Turns back the captivity" can mean bringing home exiles or, more broadly, restoring good fortunes. Paul says "The One who delivers will come out of Zion" (Rom 11:26), and I believe God will yet save and restore Israel.

PSALMS 15

A psalm of David. 1 LORD, who will sojourn in Your tent? Who will dwell on the mountain of Your holiness? 2 He who walks blameless, and does righteousness, and speaks truth in his heart; 3 he does not slander with his tongue; he does not do evil to his neighbor, and he does not lift up a reproach against his relative; 4 in his eyes a rejected one is despised, and those who fear the LORD he honors; he swears to his own harm and does not change; 5 his money he does not give at interest, and a bribe against the innocent he does not take. 16:10 Acts 2:31; Acts 13:35; John 20:9
16:11 Acts 2:28; Col 1:27; Rev 7:15-17

15:1 LORD, who will sojourn in Your tent David is thinking of the tent he pitched in Jerusalem for the ark of the covenant (2 Sam 6:17), while Moses' older tabernacle stood at Gibeon (1 Chr 16:39). The ark was the gold-covered chest that held the tablets of the Ten Commandments, the sign of God's presence with Israel. To stay in God's tent is to live near God as His welcome guest. What kind of person may do that?

15:2 He who walks blameless Blameless means whole, the same person in private as in public. He does what is right in God's eyes, and he "speaks truth in his heart." His honesty starts on the inside. He does not lie even to himself.

15:3 he does not slander with his tongue The word pictures someone going around spreading stories. Much of this psalm is about speech. The tongue is small but can set a forest on fire (James 3:5-6). The godly guard their mouths, especially about someone who is not in the room.

15:4 in his eyes a rejected one is despised The rejected one is a person who has turned from God and lives wickedly. This does not tell us to hate people. It means the godly do not admire wickedness, even in the rich and powerful. They honor "those who fear the LORD," holding faithful believers above famous ones.

15:4 he swears to his own harm and does not change He keeps his promise even when it costs him. Jesus wants our yes to mean yes and our no to mean no (Matt 5:37).

15:5 his money he does not give at interest The Law told Israel not to charge interest to a poor fellow Israelite who needed a loan (Exod 22:25; Lev 25:35-37), though it allowed it to foreigners (Deut 23:20). The heart of it: the godly do not get rich off someone else's desperation, and they cannot be bought.

15:5 He who does these things will not be shaken forever None of us lives this perfectly. Psalm 15 is not a list of ways to earn a place in God's house. It describes the life God's grace produces. Only Jesus lived it fully, and through Him we are welcomed into God's presence.

16:0 A Miktam of David The meaning of Miktam is uncertain. Some link it with a word for gold and think it means a precious psalm. Others think it means an inscription, a poem to be engraved and remembered. Six psalms carry the title (16; 56-60), all connected with David.

16:1 Keep me, O God, for I have taken refuge in You The prayer is short and the reason simple. David runs to God the way someone runs into a shelter when a storm hits. The psalm does not dwell on the danger. It dwells on God.

16:2 my good is not beyond You David has made his choice: the LORD is his Master. Every good thing he has comes from God, and nothing is truly good to him apart from God.

16:3 the holy ones who are in the land The holy ones, or saints, are people set apart for God. In the Bible every true believer is a saint. The world may not think much of them, but to David they are "the majestic ones," nobles. If God is your highest good, His people will become your joy too (1 John 4:20-21).

16:4 those who have hurried after another god They ran after idols, and the chase only multiplied their sorrows. Idols always take more than they give. David will not even take their names on his lips (Exod 23:13).

16:5 The LORD is the portion of my share and my cup When Israel entered Canaan, each tribe received land by lot, but the priests and Levites got none. God Himself was their portion (Num 18:20; Deut 18:1-2). David says the same of himself. Whatever he owns, his real inheritance is God.

16:6 Lines have fallen to me in pleasant places The lines were measuring cords that marked off property. David looks at his share and calls it beautiful. That is contentment. We often measure our lot by what we lack. David measured his by Whom he had.

16:7 in the nights my kidneys have instructed me In Hebrew thought the kidneys stood for the inner self, the feelings and conscience. When David lies awake, God's counsel is still at work in him.

16:8 I have set the LORD before me continually Faith includes a daily choice to keep looking to God. The right hand was the place of a defender (Ps 121:5). Peter quotes verses 8-11 (Acts 2:25-28) and says "David says concerning Him" (Acts 2:25), meaning the Messiah.

16:9 my flesh will dwell in safety "My glory" probably means the inner being, and Peter, following the Greek Old Testament, reads "my tongue" (Acts 2:26). David's whole self rejoices, and even his body rests secure in God's care. The next verse tells why that safety reaches past death.

16:10 You will not abandon my soul to Sheol Sheol is the place of the dead. It can mean simply the grave, or the realm of the dead beyond it (Gen 37:35). The Greek word for it is Hades. The Old Testament does not give a full picture of life after death, but psalms like this already hold the hope that God will not leave His own there.

16:10 You will not give Your godly one to see the pit The word for "the pit" can also mean decay, and Peter quoted the Greek reading, "Holy One to see decay" (Acts 2:27). David died and was buried, and his tomb was still in Jerusalem (Acts 2:29). So Peter says David spoke as a prophet "concerning the resurrection of the Christ" (Acts 2:31). Paul makes the same argument (Acts 13:35-37). The words were true for David in a lesser way, but they were fulfilled fully only in Jesus, whose body did not decay.

16:11 You will make known to me the path of life Psalm 1 showed two ways. Here God Himself shows the road to life. For Jesus that path led through death, out of the tomb, to the Father's right hand (Acts 2:28, 33). The deepest joy is not in what God gives but in being with Him, and the joys at His right hand never end.

PSALMS 17

A prayer of David. 1 Hear righteousness, LORD; pay attention to my cry; give ear to my prayer, without lips of deceit. 2 Let my judgment come forth from before You; let Your eyes see uprightness. 3 You have tested my heart; You have visited me by night; You have refined me, You will not find anything; I have resolved that my mouth will not transgress. 4 As for the deeds of man, by the word of Your lips I, I have guarded myself from the paths of the violent. 5 My steps have held fast in Your tracks; my footsteps have not been shaken. 6 I, I have called on You, for You will answer me, O God; incline Your ear to me; hear my word. 7 Make Your steadfast loves wonderful, O Savior of those who take refuge from those who rise up against them, by Your right hand. 8 Keep me like the pupil of the daughter of the eye; hide me in the shadow of Your wings, 9 from before the wicked who have assailed me, my enemies who surround me for my life. 10 Their fat they have closed up; with their mouth they have spoken with pride. 11 Our steps, now they have surrounded us; their eyes they set to bend us down to the earth. 12 His likeness is like a lion that longs to tear, and like a young lion sitting in hiding places. 13 Arise, LORD; confront his face; make him bow down; deliver my soul from the wicked, Your sword, 14 from men, Your hand, LORD, from men of the world, whose portion is in life, and whose belly You fill with Your treasured things; they are satisfied with sons, and they leave their abundance to their infants. 15 I, in righteousness I will see Your face; I will be satisfied, when I awake, with Your form.

PSALMS 18

To the choirmaster. Of the servant of the LORD, of David, who spoke to the LORD the words of this song on the day when the LORD rescued him from the hand of all his enemies and from the hand of Saul (Shaul). 1 And he said, "I love You, LORD, my strength. 2 The LORD is my crag and my stronghold and my deliverer; my God is my rock in whom I take refuge, my shield and the horn of my salvation, my high refuge. 3 I call on the LORD, who is to be praised, and I am saved from my enemies. 4 The cords of death encompassed me, and the torrents of worthlessness terrified me. 5 The cords of Sheol surrounded me; the snares of death confronted me. 6 In my distress I called on the LORD, and to my God I cried for help; He heard my voice from His temple, and my cry for help before Him came into His ears. 7 And the earth shook and quaked, and the foundations of the mountains trembled, and they shook back and forth, for it burned with anger in Him. 8 Smoke went up in His nose, and fire from His mouth consumed; coals burned from Him. 9 And He bent the heavens and came down, and thick darkness was under His feet. 10 And He rode on a cherub and flew, and He soared on the wings of the wind. 11 He made darkness His covering, His canopy around Him, darkness of waters, dark clouds of the skies. 12 From the brightness before Him His dark clouds passed on, hail and coals of fire. 13 And the LORD thundered in the heavens, and the Most High gave forth His voice, hail and coals of fire. 14 And He sent out His arrows and scattered them, and He shot lightnings and routed them. 15 And the 17:1 Hear righteousness, LORD David brings a just case to the Judge. He prays "without lips of deceit." He is not claiming to be sinless, only that his prayer is honest and his cause is right.

17:3 You have tested my heart; You have visited me by night God has searched David in the quiet hours and refined him like metal. He invites God to look again. A clear conscience before God is a strong place to pray from.
17:8 Keep me like the pupil of the daughter of the eye The pupil is the tender center of the eye, the part we guard by instinct (Deut 32:10). "The shadow of Your wings" pictures a mother bird covering her young. Jesus used the same picture of Himself and Jerusalem (Matt 23:37).
17:14 men of the world, whose portion is in life The wicked have their share now: full bellies, many children, money to leave behind. That is all they will ever have. David's portion is different, as the next verse shows.
17:15 I will be satisfied, when I awake, with Your form The worldly are satisfied with sons and riches (17:14). David will be satisfied with God Himself. Some read "when I awake" as each new morning in God's care, others as waking from death to see God's face. Either way, nothing less than God will satisfy him.
18:0 on the day when the LORD rescued him from the hand of all his enemies and from the hand of Saul This psalm also appears, with small changes, in 2 Samuel 22, near the end of David's life. It looks back over years of running from Saul and fighting Israel's enemies. David calls himself "the servant of the LORD," the same title given to Moses and Joshua.
18:1 I love You, LORD, my strength The word for love here is a tender one, often used for a mother's love. It is rare for a man to say it to God in the Old Testament. Before David tells the story, he tells God how he feels about Him.
18:2 my crag and my stronghold David piles up pictures from his years in the wilderness: the high rocks where he hid, the fortress, the shield. "The horn of my salvation" pictures the horn of a strong animal, a sign of power. Zechariah uses the phrase for Jesus (Luke 1:69).
18:6 He heard my voice from His temple "Temple" here means God's heavenly dwelling. David's cry rose from a place of death (18:4-5) and reached God's throne. No pit is too deep for a prayer to rise from it.
18:7 And the earth shook and quaked Verses 7-15 describe God coming to rescue David in the language of a great storm and earthquake, like His coming down at Sinai (Exod 19:16-18). Scripture does not record a storm like this in David's battles. The poetry shows what was happening unseen: heaven itself moved to save one servant.
18:10 He rode on a cherub and flew A cherub is a mighty angel who guards God's holiness (Gen 3:24). Cherubim were carved over the ark (Exod 25:18-22). God is pictured riding to the rescue like a King in His war chariot.

channels of water appeared, and the foundations of the world were uncovered at Your rebuke, LORD, at the blast of the wind of Your nose. 16 He sent from on high; He took me; He drew me out of many waters. 17 He rescued me from my strong enemy and from those who hate me, for they were stronger than I. 18 They confronted me in the day of my calamity, and the LORD became a support to me. 19 And He brought me out into a broad place; He set me free, for He delighted in me. 20 The LORD has dealt with me according to my righteousness; according to the cleanness of my hands He has repaid me. 21 For I have kept the ways of the LORD, and I have not acted wickedly away from my God. 22 For all His judgments were before me, and His statutes I did not remove from me. 23 And I was blameless with Him, and I kept myself from my iniquity. 24 And the LORD has repaid me according to my righteousness, according to the cleanness of my hands before His eyes. 25 With the godly one You show Yourself loyal; with the blameless man You show Yourself blameless; 26 with the pure You show Yourself pure, and with the crooked You show Yourself shrewd. 27 For You, You save an afflicted people, and eyes that are lifted up You bring low. 28 For You, You light my lamp; the LORD my God illumines my darkness. 29 For by You I run against a raiding band, and by my God I leap over a wall. 30 As for God, His way is blameless; the word of the LORD is refined; He is a shield to all who take refuge in Him. 31 For who is God except the LORD? And who is a rock besides our God? 32 The God who girds me with strength, and He has made my way blameless; 33 He makes my feet like the does, and on my high places He makes me stand; 34 He trains my hands for the battle, and my arms bend a bow of bronze. 35 And You have given me the shield of Your salvation, and Your right hand has supported me, and Your humility has made me great. 36 You have enlarged my steps under me, and my ankles have not slipped. 37 I pursued my enemies and overtook them, and I did not turn back until they were destroyed. 38 I shattered them, and they were not able to rise; they fell under my feet. 39 And You girded me with strength for the battle; You made those who rose against me bow down under me. 40 And my enemies, You have given me their neck, and those who hate me, I destroyed them. 41 They cried for help, and there was no one to save; to the LORD, and He did not answer them. 42 And I crushed them like dust on the face of the wind; like the mud of the streets I emptied them out. 43 You delivered me from the strivings of the people; You made me the head of nations; a people whom I have not known serve me. 44 At the hearing of the ear they obey me; sons of a foreign land cringe before me. 45 Sons of a foreign land wither, and they come trembling out of their strongholds. 46 The LORD lives, and blessed be my rock, and let the God of my salvation be exalted, 47 the God who gives vengeance to me, and has subdued peoples under me, 48 who delivers me from my enemies; yes, above those who rise against me You exalt me; from a man of violence You rescue me. 49 Therefore I will give thanks to You among the nations, LORD, and I will sing praises to Your name. 50 He makes great the salvations of His king, and shows steadfast love to His anointed, to David and to his offspring forever."

18:50 Luke 1:69; Acts 2:34; Rom 1:3

18:16 He drew me out of many waters The Hebrew verb for drawing out is the word used to name Moses, drawn out of the water (Exod 2:10). Deep waters are a picture of overwhelming trouble.
18:19 He set me free, for He delighted in me The reason God rescued David was not his strength but God's delight. That is grace.
18:20 according to my righteousness David is not claiming to be sinless, and this psalm comes from the years before his sin with Bathsheba. He means that in his conflict with Saul he had kept God's ways and not raised his hand against the LORD's anointed (1 Sam 24:6). God was faithful to the one who was faithful to Him.
18:25 With the godly one You show Yourself loyal God meets people according to their hearts. To the faithful He is faithful, and to the crooked He shows Himself shrewd, outwitting their twisted ways. God does not change, but how we meet Him depends on how we come.
18:28 You light my lamp A burning lamp was a sign of life and of a family that would go on. God had promised David that a lamp would always remain for him (1 Kgs 11:36).
18:31 For who is God except the LORD There is no other rock. Every other source of strength will crumble.
18:33 He makes my feet like the does A doe can stand on steep, rocky heights without slipping. God gives His servant sure footing in dangerous places (Hab 3:19).
18:35 Your humility has made me great God's greatness stoops down to lift the lowly. The God of heaven bent down to raise a shepherd boy to the throne. He bent lower still when His Son became a man (Phil 2:6-8).
18:43 You made me the head of nations David's victories brought foreign peoples under his rule (2 Sam 8). This points beyond David to his greater Son, who will rule all nations.
18:49 I will give thanks to You among the nations Paul quotes this line to show that God always meant for the Gentiles to praise Him for His mercy (Rom 15:9).
18:50 to David and to his offspring forever The psalm ends with God's covenant with David, the promise of a forever throne (2 Sam 7:12-16). That promise is kept in Jesus, the Son of David, who will reign forever (Luke 1:32-33).

PSALMS 19

To the choirmaster. A psalm of David. 1 The heavens are recounting the glory of God, and the expanse is declaring the work of His hands. 2 Day to day pours forth speech, and night to night declares knowledge. 3 There is no speech, and there are no words; their voice is not heard. 4 Into all the earth their line has gone out, and their sayings to the end of the world. For the sun He has set a tent in them, 5 and it is like a bridegroom going forth from his chamber; it rejoices like a mighty man to run its course. 6 Its going forth is from the end of the heavens, and its circuit to their ends; and there is nothing hidden from its heat. 7 The law of the LORD is perfect, restoring the soul; the testimony of the LORD is reliable, making wise the simple. 8 The precepts of the LORD are upright, making the heart glad; the commandment of the LORD is clean, giving light to the eyes. 9 The fear of the LORD is pure, enduring forever; the judgments of the LORD are truth; they are righteous altogether. 10 They are more desirable than gold, and than much fine gold; and sweeter than honey and the drippings of the honeycombs. 11 Also Your servant is warned by them; in keeping them there is great reward. 12 Errors, who will discern them? Acquit me from hidden faults. 13 Also from presumptuous sins keep back Your servant; let them not rule over me; then I will be blameless, and I will be acquitted of great transgression. 14 Let the words of my mouth and the meditation of my heart be acceptable before You, LORD, my rock and my redeemer.

To the choirmaster. A psalm of David. 1 May the LORD answer you in the day of trouble; may the name of the God of Jacob (Ya'aqov) set you on high. 2 May He send your help from the holy place, and from Zion (Tsiyon) may He support you. 3 May He remember all your grain offerings, and may He regard your burnt offering as fat. Selah. 4 May He give to you according to your heart, and may He fulfill all your counsel. 5 Let us shout for joy at your salvation, and in the name of our God we will set up a banner. May the LORD fulfill all your requests. 6 Now I know that the LORD has saved His anointed; He will answer him from the heavens of His holiness with the mighty deeds of the salvation of His right hand.

19:1 The heavens are recounting the glory of God The sky is like a preacher who never stops. The expanse is the wide dome of the sky (Gen 1:6-8). In verses 1-6 David calls Him El, God the Creator. In verses 7-14 he uses "the LORD," the covenant name, seven times. Creation shows that God exists and is powerful. His Word shows us His name and His heart.
19:2 Day to day pours forth speech The picture is a spring that never runs dry. Each day hands the message to the next. The sky makes no sound (19:3), yet its message is clear. It speaks without words.
19:4 Into all the earth their line has gone out The line may be a measuring line marking out the whole earth, or it may mean their voice. Either way no people is left without a witness to God's glory, and so all are "without excuse" (Rom 1:20). Paul borrows this verse to show how far the gospel has gone (Rom 10:18).
19:5 like a bridegroom going forth from his chamber The sun comes out each morning bright and full of joy, and runs its course like an athlete who loves to race. Many of Israel's neighbors worshiped the sun. David treats it as a creature God made and placed in the sky. Nothing hides from its heat (19:6), and nothing in us hides from God's Word.
19:7 The law of the LORD is perfect, restoring the soul Verses 7-9 give six names for God's Word, each with a quality and an effect. The law, God's instruction, is complete and lacking nothing, and it brings a weary or wandering soul back to life. His testimony, His own witness about Himself, makes "the simple," the naive and easily led, wise. No degree is required. The way to wisdom is to listen to God.
19:8 The precepts of the LORD are upright, making the heart glad Precepts are God's specific instructions. They are straight like a good road, and they bring joy. Many think God's commands steal our happiness. David found the opposite. His commandment is clean, with nothing false mixed in, and it gives light to see life clearly (Ps 119:105).
19:9 The fear of the LORD is pure, enduring forever The fear of the LORD is the reverent awe that takes God seriously as holy and great, and leads us to trust, worship and obey Him. It is more than fear of punishment. It draws near with humble respect, the way a child honors a good and mighty father, and it is "the beginning of wisdom" (Ps 111:10). Here it stands for the Word that teaches that awe. Fashions change, and God's Word stays the same.
19:10 more desirable than gold Gold was the most valuable thing people owned, and honey the sweetest thing they knew. God's Word is better than both. Sometimes we read the Bible more as a duty than a delight. David's words can become our prayer: Lord, make Your Word precious and sweet to me.
19:11 Your servant is warned by them God's Word warns us of danger before we walk into it, and keeping it brings great reward. God is glad to bless those who walk in His ways.
19:12 Acquit me from hidden faults No one can see all his own faults (Jer 17:9). We spot the sins of others and miss many of our own. Hidden faults are sins we have done without knowing it. This humble prayer admits we need forgiveness for more than we can name.
19:13 from presumptuous sins keep back Your servant Presumptuous sins are proud, willful sins, done with eyes wide open. Sin wants to be our master, and willful sin repeated becomes a chain. Blameless does not mean sinless. It means whole and sincere before God, with no hidden rebellion in the heart.
19:14 Let the words of my mouth and the meditation of my heart be acceptable before You The heavens speak without words, and David wants his own words, and even his thoughts, to please God. A redeemer in Israel was a close relative who paid to set a family member free or bought back lost land (Lev 25:25, 47-49). God went that far for us, buying us back with the precious blood of Christ (1 Pet 1:18-19). Many believers pray this verse before reading or teaching Scripture.
20:1 May the LORD answer you in the day of trouble Psalms 20 and 21 are royal psalms, songs about Israel's king. In Psalm 20 the people pray for the king as he goes out to battle. In Psalm 21 they thank God for the victory. "The God of Jacob" reminds them He is the God who stayed faithful to a weak and wandering man.
20:3 your burnt offering A burnt offering was a sacrifice burned whole on the altar, a sign of complete devotion to God. Before battle the king offered sacrifices (1 Sam 13:9-12), and the people ask God to accept them.
20:5 in the name of our God we will set up a banner A banner was a flag lifted to rally troops and to mark a victory. Israel's flag was not a symbol of its own strength but the name of its God (Exod 17:15).

7 These trust in chariotry and these in horses, and we, we will make mention of the name of the LORD our God. 8 They, they have bowed down and fallen, and we, we have risen and stood upright. 9 LORD, save the king! May He answer us in the day we call.

To the choirmaster. A psalm of David. 1 LORD, in Your strength the king rejoices, and in Your salvation how greatly he exults! 2 The desire of his heart You have given to him, and the request of his lips You have not withheld. Selah. 3 For You meet him with blessings of good; You set on his head a crown of pure gold. 4 Life he asked from You; You gave it to him, length of days forever and ever. 5 Great is his glory in Your salvation; splendor and majesty You place on him. 6 For You set him as blessings forever; You make him glad with joy in Your presence. 7 For the king is trusting in the LORD, and in the steadfast love of the Most High he will not be shaken. 8 Your hand will find all Your enemies; Your right hand will find those who hate You. 9 You will make them like a furnace of fire at the time of Your presence. The LORD in His anger will swallow them up, and fire will consume them. 10 Their fruit You will destroy from the earth, and their seed from the sons of man. 11 For they have stretched out evil against You; they have devised a scheme; they will not prevail. 12 For You will make them turn their shoulder; on Your bowstrings You will make ready Your arrows against their faces. 13 Be exalted, LORD, in Your strength! Let us sing and sing praises to Your might.

To the choirmaster, on "The Doe of the Dawn." A psalm of David. 1 My God, my God, why have You forsaken me? You are far from my salvation, from the words of my roaring. 2 My God, I call out by day, and You do not answer; and by night, and there is no silence for me. 3 And You are holy, sitting on the praises of Israel (Yisra'el). 4 In You our fathers trusted; they trusted, and You delivered them. 5 To You they cried out and escaped; in You they trusted and were not ashamed. 6 And I am a worm and not a man, a reproach of mankind and despised by the people. 7 All who see me mock at me; they open wide with the lip; they shake the head: 8 "Roll it to the LORD; let Him deliver him; let Him rescue him, for He delights in him." 9 For You are the One who drew me out from the belly, who made me trust on the breasts of my mother. 10 On You I was cast from the womb; from the belly 20:7 These trust in chariotry and these in horses Chariots were the tanks of the ancient world, and Israel had few. The nations trusted their weapons. Israel was to trust the LORD (Deut 20:1; Isa 31:1). What do we lean on when the day of trouble comes?

21:1 in Your strength the king rejoices The prayers of Psalm 20 have been answered. The king does not boast in his own strength. His joy is in God's strength and God's salvation.
21:4 length of days forever and ever For an earthly king this meant a long life and a lasting line, as God promised David (2 Sam 7:16). The words reach beyond any man who died. They find their full meaning in the Messiah, the Son of David who lives and reigns forever.
21:7 in the steadfast love of the Most High he will not be shaken Here is the secret of the king's strength: he trusts the LORD, and God's loyal love holds him steady.
21:9 You will make them like a furnace of fire Verses 8-12 turn to God's judgment on His enemies. These are not personal grudges but God's justice against those who "have stretched out evil against You." In the end, every enemy of God's King will be put down (1 Cor 15:25).
21:13 Be exalted, LORD, in Your strength The psalm began with the king rejoicing in God's strength and ends with the people praising it. The glory goes to God, not the king.
22:0 on The Doe of the Dawn The Hebrew words are Aijeleth Hashshahar. Their meaning is not certain, but most scholars take them as the name of a tune the psalm was sung to.
22:1 My God, my God, why have You forsaken me David still says "my God." He has not stopped believing, but he feels left alone. The psalm does not name his crisis, and as we read on it goes far beyond anything we know David suffered. Faith sometimes sounds like "Why?" David brought his question to God, not away from Him.
22:1 why have You forsaken me On the cross, about three in the afternoon, Jesus cried these words (Matt 27:46; Mark 15:34). God made Him who knew no sin to be sin for us (2 Cor 5:21). Jesus bore our sins and felt the separation from God that sin deserves. The Son did not stop being the Son, and the Father did not stop loving Him. He entered the darkness we deserved so we would never be forsaken. Many believe He was also pointing to the whole psalm, which ends in victory.
22:2 I call out by day, and You do not answer Day and night David prays, and heaven seems silent. Psalm 22 does not pretend that silence is easy. It also shows that God's silence does not mean God's absence. David keeps talking to Him.
22:3 And You are holy, sitting on the praises of Israel In the middle of his pain David says what he knows: God has not become less than God. The ark was called the place where God sat enthroned above the cherubim (1 Sam 4:4). Here God's throne is the worship of His people.
22:4 In You our fathers trusted Three times: they trusted, they cried out, they were delivered. When we feel alone, remembering what God has done for others, and for us, helps us hold on.
22:6 I am a worm and not a man Crushed and worthless, something people step on. Isaiah says the same of the Servant of the LORD, despised and rejected by men (Isa 53:3).
22:7 they shake the head Curled lips and shaking heads were gestures of scorn. At the cross "those passing by were blaspheming Him, wagging their heads" (Matt 27:39).
22:8 Roll it to the LORD; let Him deliver him The mockers throw his faith back in his face. The chief priests and elders used almost these very words at the cross: "He has trusted in God; let Him deliver Him now, if He wants Him" (Matt 27:43). They did not seem to realize they were acting out Psalm 22 as they said it.
22:10 from the belly of my mother You have been my God David answers the mockers by remembering his story with God. God's care for a person starts before birth. Then the plea: trouble is near, God feels far, and "there is no helper" (22:11).

of my mother You have been my God. 11 Do not be far from me, for trouble is near, for there is no helper. 12 Many bulls have surrounded me; mighty ones of Bashan have encircled me. 13 They have opened their mouth against me, a lion tearing and roaring. 14 Like water I have been poured out, and all my bones have come apart; my heart has become like wax; it has melted in the midst of my inward parts. 15 My strength has dried up like a potsherd, and my tongue is made to cling to my jaws; and to the dust of death You set me. 16 For dogs have surrounded me; a company of evildoers has encircled me; they pierced my hands and my feet. 17 I count all my bones; they look, they gaze at me. 18 They divide my garments among themselves, and for my clothing they cast a lot. 19 And You, LORD, do not be far off; my strength, hurry to my help! 20 Rescue my soul from the sword, my only one from the hand of a dog. 21 Save me from the mouth of a lion; and from the horns of wild oxen You have answered me. 22 I will recount Your name to my brothers; in the midst of the assembly I will praise You. 23 You who fear the LORD, praise Him! All you seed of Jacob (Ya'aqov), glorify Him, and be afraid of Him, all you seed of Israel. 24 For He has not despised and He has not detested the affliction of the afflicted, and He has not hidden His face from him; and when he cried for help to Him, He heard. 25 From You comes my praise in the great assembly; my vows I will pay before those who fear Him. 26 The humble will eat and be satisfied; those who seek Him will praise the LORD. Let your heart live forever! 27 All the ends of the earth will remember and turn to the LORD, and all the families of the nations will bow down before You. 28 For the kingship belongs to the LORD, and He is ruling over the nations. 29 All the fat ones of the earth have eaten and have bowed down; before Him will bow all who go down to the dust, and he who has not kept his soul alive. 30 A seed will serve Him; it will be recounted of the Lord to the generation. 31 They will come and declare His righteousness to a people yet to be born, that He has done it.

22:12 mighty ones of Bashan Bashan was the rich grazing land east of the Jordan and the Sea of Galilee, famous for strong, well-fed cattle (Amos 4:1). The bulls crowd him, and the lion wants to tear him apart. At the cross Jesus was surrounded by priests, rulers and soldiers.
22:14 Like water I have been poured out, and all my bones have come apart His strength drains away, his frame is pulled apart, his courage melts. A man hanging on a cross would feel his joints pulled out of place and a terrible thirst (22:15). As far as we know, crucifixion was not practiced in Israel in David's day. Yet David wrote words that fit it closely.
22:15 my tongue is made to cling to my jaws A potsherd is a broken piece of clay pot, dry and brittle. Near the end Jesus, "so that the Scripture might be accomplished" (John 19:28), said, "I am thirsty" (John 19:28). John does not name the passage. Many see Psalm 69:21, and many see this verse behind it too.
22:16 dogs have surrounded me In Israel dogs were not pets. They roamed in packs and fed on garbage and even dead bodies. Later Jews sometimes used "dogs" for Gentiles (compare Matt 15:26).
22:16 they pierced my hands and my feet The standard Hebrew text, the Masoretic Text preserved by Jewish scribes, has a word meaning like a lion, which fits verses 13 and 21. The Greek Old Testament reads they dug, which many take as pierced, and a scroll found at Nahal Hever near the Dead Sea also seems to read a verb. The two Hebrew readings differ by one small letter that looks much like the other. The SLB follows "pierced," as most English Bibles do. Christians have long seen the nails of the cross here (Luke 24:39-40; John 20:25-27).
22:18 They divide my garments among themselves In Hebrew poetry the two lines would usually mean the same thing, but at the cross both came true separately. The soldiers split His outer garments four ways, then cast lots for the tunic woven in one piece, "so that the Scripture might be fulfilled" (John 19:24). They were only gambling for a dying man's clothes, but every detail was in God's plan.
22:21 You have answered me The animals come back in reverse order, dogs, lion, wild oxen, and then the psalm turns on a few sudden words at the end of the verse. From here on there is no more crying for help. Everything after this is praise. For Jesus we know the answer: God raised Him on the third day (Acts 2:24, 32).
22:22 I will recount Your name to my brothers The man who was mocked and alone now stands among his brothers praising God. Hebrews says Jesus "is not ashamed to call them brothers" (Heb 2:11) and gives this verse as His own words (Heb 2:12). After He rose He said, "go to My brothers" (John 20:17). When the church worships, Jesus is the One we praise and the One leading our praise.
22:24 He has not despised and He has not detested the affliction of the afflicted In verse 1 it seemed God had turned away. Now David says God was listening all along. Your feelings may tell you God has turned away. This psalm says He has not despised your affliction, and He hears.
22:25 my vows I will pay In trouble an Israelite often vowed a thank offering when God delivered him, and part of it was eaten in a feast (Lev 7:16). So "The humble will eat and be satisfied" (22:26). The rescued man shares his joy with others who are hurting. Many Christians hear an echo of the Lord's Supper here. Either way, the poor fed at God's table is a picture of the gospel.
22:27 All the ends of the earth will remember and turn to the LORD God promised that all the families of the earth would be blessed through Abraham (Gen 12:3), and here that promise flowers. Psalm 2 showed the nations raging. Psalm 22 shows them turning to worship, until the kingdom of the world becomes the kingdom of our Lord and of His Christ (Rev 11:15).
22:29 before Him will bow all who go down to the dust From the rich ("the fat ones") to the dying, no one is left out. Every knee will bow and every tongue confess that Jesus Christ is Lord (Phil 2:10-11).
22:31 that He has done it Every generation will tell the next what God has done, even "a people yet to be born." That includes us. Many see a link with Jesus' cry, "It has been finished" (John 19:30). The words differ and the Gospel does not tie them together, but the thought is the same: the work is done.
23:1 The LORD is my shepherd David knew sheep. He kept his father's flock and rescued lambs from lions and bears (1 Sam 17:34-35). The almighty Creator of Psalm 19 leads one man like a shepherd. Kings were often called shepherds, yet King David says he is a sheep: unable to find pasture, prone to wander, defenseless. We need a Shepherd.
23:1 I will not lack Not everything I want, but nothing I truly need (Phil 4:19). Jesus said, "I am the good shepherd. The good shepherd lays down His life for the sheep" (John 10:11). Anyone who knew this psalm would have heard the claim. Hebrews calls Him "the great Shepherd of the sheep" (Heb 13:20).

2 In pastures of grass He makes me lie down; beside waters of rest He leads me. 3 He restores my soul; He guides me in tracks of righteousness for the sake of His name. 4 Even when I walk in a valley of deep darkness, I will not fear evil, for You are with me; Your rod and Your staff, they comfort me. 5 You arrange a table before me in front of my adversaries; You have anointed my head with oil; my cup is overflowing. 6 Surely goodness and steadfast love will pursue me all the days of my life, and I will return to dwell in the house of the LORD for length of days.

PSALMS 24

Of David. A psalm. 1 To the LORD belongs the earth and its fullness, the world and those who dwell in it. 2 For He has founded it on the seas, and on the rivers He established it. 3 Who will go up on the mountain of the LORD? And who will stand in the place of His holiness? 4 He who is innocent of hands and pure of heart, who has not lifted up My soul to falsehood and has not sworn to deceit. 5 He will lift up a blessing from the LORD and righteousness from the God of his salvation. 6 This is the generation of those who seek Him, who seek Your face, Jacob (Ya'aqov). Selah. 7 Lift up, gates, your heads, and be lifted up, everlasting doors, and the King of glory will come in. 8 Who is this King of glory? The LORD, strong and mighty, the LORD, mighty in battle. 9 Lift up, gates, your heads, and lift them up, everlasting doors, and the King of glory will come in. 10 Who is He, this King of glory? The LORD of armies, He is the King of glory. Selah.

PSALMS 25

Of David. 1 To You, LORD, I lift up my soul. 2 My God, in You I trust; let me not be ashamed; let not my enemies exult over me. 3 Also all who wait for You will not be ashamed; those who act treacherously without cause will be ashamed.

23:2 In pastures of grass He makes me lie down Shepherds say a sheep will not lie down while it is hungry or afraid. In the dry hills of Judea, green pasture had to be found, and the shepherd knew where. "He makes me" suggests He sometimes has to make us rest. The shepherd walked ahead, and the sheep followed his voice (John 10:4).
23:3 He restores my soul "Restores" means to bring back. He refreshes the weary and goes after the one who wandered. Both are true of our Shepherd.
23:3 for the sake of His name The tracks of righteousness are right paths, and paths of right living. Why does He lead us there? For the sake of His own name. God's care rests on who He is, more than on how good we are. He has put His name on His people.
23:4 Even when I walk in a valley of deep darkness Many Bibles read the shadow of death, and the word carries that sense. It covers every dark time, and death is the darkest. Judea had deep ravines where the sun barely reached. Faith does not keep us out of the valley, but the Shepherd goes through it with us.
23:4 for You are with me At the darkest point David stops talking about God and starts talking to Him: no longer "He" but "You." In the valley we need God Himself more than information about Him. Jesus promised, "I am with you all the days, until the consummation of the age" (Matt 28:20). The rod was a short club to drive off wild animals, and the staff a long crook to guide and rescue. One protects, the other guides.
23:5 You arrange a table before me in front of my adversaries The picture changes to a banquet. God is the host and David the honored guest. In the ancient Near East a host took responsibility to protect the guest at his table. The enemies can see him but cannot touch him. Oil on the head was a host's welcome (Luke 7:46), and the cup is filled until it runs over.
23:6 goodness and steadfast love will pursue me Hesed, steadfast love, is one of the key words of the Old Testament: love that has bound itself by a promise and keeps it, even when the one loved has failed. God named Himself "great in steadfast love and faithfulness" (Exod 34:6). "Pursue" means to chase. Enemies pursue David in other psalms. Here God's love chases him every day of his life.
23:6 I will return to dwell in the house of the LORD for length of days In David's day God's house was the tent where the ark rested in Jerusalem, and later the temple. "Length of days" is a long life in God's presence. The New Testament shows the full meaning: "In the house of My Father are many dwelling places" (John 14:2). The sheep's journey ends at home with the Shepherd.
24:1 To the LORD belongs the earth and its fullness Everything belongs to God, including you and me. We are managers of what is His. Paul quotes this to free believers to eat any food sold in the market (1 Cor 10:26). The verse lets us enjoy God's world with thanks and reminds us we will give account for how we use it.
24:2 He has founded it on the seas Many ancient peoples feared the sea as a power of chaos. God set the dry land in place over the waters (Gen 1:9-10). Nothing is outside His rule.
24:3 Who will go up on the mountain of the LORD The hill is Zion, where David pitched the tent for the ark. The question sounds like Psalm 15. Innocent hands mean right actions, and a pure heart right motives. Jesus said the pure in heart will see God (Matt 5:8).
24:4 who has not lifted up My soul to falsehood The written Hebrew reads "My soul," as though the LORD speaks of Himself, and many Hebrew copies read his soul. To lift up the soul to something is to long for it or worship it, and falsehood includes empty idols. Who can claim such a record? None of us. We need someone with clean hands to go up the hill for us.
24:5 righteousness from the God of his salvation Even the worshiper with clean hands does not earn righteousness. He receives it as a gift from the God who saves him.
24:6 who seek Your face, Jacob To seek God's face is to want God Himself. Selah, as at 3:2, is most likely a musical sign. The Greek Old Testament translated it with a word that probably means an interlude. It is also a good call to stop and let the words sink in.
24:7 Lift up, gates, your heads The old city gates are pictured as too small for so great a King and told to stand tall. Many think the psalm was sung when David brought the ark up to Jerusalem (2 Sam 6). If so, the ark stood for the LORD's presence entering His city as the warrior King who fought for Israel (Exod 15:3).
24:10 The LORD of armies, He is the King of glory Many Bibles say LORD of hosts, and a host is an army. He commands the angels ("Bless the LORD, all His armies," Ps 103:21), the armies of Israel (1 Sam 17:45) and even the stars (Isa 40:26). Paul calls Jesus "the Lord of glory" (1 Cor 2:8). Many see this psalm as a picture of His ascension, and of His return in glory (Matt 25:31). Have we opened the gates of our own hearts to Him?
25:1 To You, LORD, I lift up my soul Psalm 25 is an acrostic, a poem whose lines begin with the letters of the Hebrew alphabet in order, though a few letters are missing or repeated. To lift up the soul to God is to set your longing and trust on Him alone (compare 24:4).
25:3 all who wait for You will not be ashamed To wait for the LORD is to look to Him with hope and patience, trusting Him to act in His time. Those who wait on Him will never find their trust was misplaced.

4 Make me know Your ways, LORD; teach me Your paths.
5 Lead me in Your truth and teach me, for You are the God of my salvation; for You I have waited all the day. 6 Remember Your compassions, LORD, and Your steadfast loves, for they are from of old. 7 The sins of my youth and my transgressions do not remember; according to Your steadfast love remember me, You, for the sake of Your goodness, LORD.
8 Good and upright is the LORD; therefore He instructs sinners in the way. 9 He leads the humble in justice, and He teaches the humble His way. 10 All the paths of the LORD are steadfast love and faithfulness to those who keep His covenant and His testimonies. 11 For the sake of Your name, LORD, You will forgive my iniquity, for it is great. 12 Who is this, the man who fears the LORD? He will instruct him in the way that he will choose. 13 His soul will lodge in good, and his seed will possess the land. 14 The counsel of the LORD is for those who fear Him, and His covenant, to make them know it. 15 My eyes are continually toward the LORD, for He,
He will bring my feet out from the net. 16 Turn to me and be gracious to me, for I am alone and afflicted. 17 The troubles of my heart have grown wide; bring me out from my distresses. 18 See my affliction and my trouble, and forgive all my sins. 19 See my enemies, for they have become many, and with a hatred of violence they have hated me. 20 Guard my soul and rescue me; let me not be ashamed, for I have taken refuge in You. 21 Let integrity and uprightness preserve me, for I have waited for You. 22 Ransom Israel (Yisra'el), God, from all his troubles.

PSALMS 26

Of David. 1 Judge me, LORD, for I, I have walked in my integrity, and in the LORD I have trusted; I will not slip.
2 Test me, LORD, and try me; refine my kidneys and my heart. 3 For Your steadfast love is before my eyes, and I walk about in Your truth. 4 I have not sat with men of falsehood, and with those who conceal themselves I will not go in. 5 I have hated the assembly of evildoers, and with the wicked I will not sit. 6 I wash my hands in innocence, and I go around Your altar, LORD, 7 to make it heard with a voice of thanksgiving and to recount all Your wonders. 8 LORD, I love the habitation of Your house and the place of the tabernacle of Your glory. 9 Do not gather my soul with sinners, and my life with men of bloodshed, 10 in whose hands is wickedness, and their right hand is full of a bribe. 11 And I, I will walk in my integrity; ransom me and be gracious to me. 12 My foot has stood on level ground; in the assemblies I will bless the LORD.

PSALMS 27

Of David. 1 The LORD is my light and my salvation; whom shall I fear? The LORD is the stronghold of my life; of whom shall I be in dread? 2 When evildoers drew near against me to devour my flesh, my adversaries and my enemies against me, they stumbled and fell. 3 Though a camp encamps against me, my heart will not fear; though war rises against me, in 25:4 Make me know Your ways, LORD David does not only ask God to get him out of trouble. He asks God to teach him how to live. Rescue and guidance go together in this psalm.

25:7 The sins of my youth and my transgressions do not remember David asks God to forget his sins and remember him. Not by his record, but "according to Your steadfast love." When God forgives, He chooses not to hold our sins against us again (Jer 31:34).
25:11 You will forgive my iniquity, for it is great A strange reason, until we see that the plea rests "for the sake of Your name." David does not shrink his sin. He enlarges his view of God's mercy.
25:14 The counsel of the LORD is for those who fear Him "Counsel" here means close friendship, the kind of trust where secrets are shared. God makes Himself known to those who revere Him. Jesus called His disciples friends because He made known to them what He heard from His Father (John 15:15).
25:16 for I am alone and afflicted Loneliness, trouble, enemies and guilt all press on David at once (25:16-19). He brings them all to God in one prayer.
25:22 Ransom Israel, God, from all his troubles The acrostic is finished, and this last line stands outside it. David widens his prayer from himself to the whole people of God. To ransom is to set free by paying a price.
26:1 Judge me, LORD, for I, I have walked in my integrity David is not claiming to be sinless. He asks God to vindicate him against false charges, because he has lived with integrity, wholeheartedly loyal to God.
26:2 Test me, LORD, and try me David invites God to examine him the way a metalworker refines silver, down to his "kidneys," his deepest feelings, and his heart. Only someone who trusts God's mercy dares to pray this.
26:6 I wash my hands in innocence Priests washed before serving at the altar (Exod 30:19-21). David uses the picture for a clean life. Pilate later washed his hands to claim innocence he did not have (Matt 27:24).
26:8 I love the habitation of Your house David loves the place where God's glory dwells, because he loves the God who dwells there. Worship with God's people was his joy, not his duty (26:12).
27:1 The LORD is my light and my salvation; whom shall I fear Light shows the way and drives off the fear darkness brings. Salvation here is rescue, and the New Testament fills the word with its deepest meaning, rescue from sin and death through Jesus. A stronghold is a fortress. If God is all three, no one is big enough to make me afraid. Paul asks almost the same question (Rom 8:31). Jesus said, "I am the light of the world" (John 8:12).
27:2 they stumbled and fell David remembers enemies who came at him like wild animals, and God brought them down. Past rescues give present courage.
27:3 Though a camp encamps against me, my heart will not fear David is not saying war is easy or that he never feels afraid. His confidence is anchored in something bigger than the size of the threat.

this I am trusting. 4 One thing I have asked from the LORD; it I will seek: that I may dwell in the house of the LORD all the days of my life, to look on the pleasantness of the LORD and to inquire in His temple. 5 For He will conceal me in His shelter in a day of trouble; He will hide me in the hiding place of His tent; on a rock He will lift me high. 6 And now my head will be high above my enemies around me, and I will sacrifice in His tent sacrifices of shouting; I will sing and sing praises to the LORD. 7 Hear, LORD, my voice when I call, and be gracious to me and answer me. 8 To You my heart has said, "Seek My face." Your face, LORD, I will seek. 9 Do not hide Your face from me; do not turn Your servant aside in anger; You have been my help; do not abandon me and do not forsake me, God of my salvation. 10 For my father and my mother have forsaken me, and the LORD will gather me in. 11 Instruct me, LORD, in Your way, and lead me in a path of level ground because of my enemies. 12 Do not give me over to the desire of my adversaries, for witnesses of falsehood have risen against me, and one who breathes out violence. 13 Unless I had believed to see the goodness of the LORD in the land of the living— 14 Wait for the LORD; be strong, and let your heart take courage; and wait for the LORD.

Of David. 1 To You, LORD, I call; my rock, do not be deaf to me, lest You be silent to me and I become like those who go down to the pit. 2 Hear the voice of my supplications when I cry for help to You, when I lift up my hands toward the inner sanctuary of Your holiness. 3 Do not drag me away with the wicked and with those who work iniquity, who speak peace with their neighbors, and evil is in their heart. 4 Give to them according to their work and according to the evil of their deeds; according to the work of their hands give to them; return their recompense to them. 5 For they do not discern the deeds of the LORD and the work of His hands; He will tear them down and will not build them up. 6 Blessed be the LORD, for He has heard the voice of my supplications. 7 The LORD is my strength and my shield; in Him my heart has trusted, and I was helped; and my heart exults, and with my song I will give thanks to Him. 8 The LORD is strength for them, and He is the stronghold of salvations for His anointed. 9 Save Your people and bless Your inheritance, and shepherd them and carry them forever.

27:4 One thing I have asked from the LORD The heart of the psalm. Of all he could ask, safety, victory, long life, David names one thing: to be near God, to look on His pleasantness and reflect on Him in His presence. Jesus told Martha there was "need of one thing" (Luke 10:42), and Mary had chosen it. If you could ask God for one thing, what would it be?
27:4 to inquire in His temple Solomon's temple came after David. The Hebrew word can mean a palace or holy house and was used for the tabernacle at Shiloh (1 Sam 1:9). In David's day the ark rested in his tent in Jerusalem. David means the place where God met His people.
27:5 He will hide me in the hiding place of His tent The place David longs to be is also the place he is safe. God shelters His people like a host protecting the guest in his tent (23:5), and lifts them high on a rock, out of reach of flood or enemy.
27:8 To You my heart has said, Seek My face God speaks first, inviting His people to seek Him, and David's heart repeats God's words back to Him and answers. Prayer is our response to God's invitation. We do not have to talk God into listening. He asked us to come.
27:9 Do not hide Your face from me To seek God's face is to seek His presence and favor. For Him to hide it would mean He had turned away. David pleads from what God has already been: "You have been my help."
27:10 For my father and my mother have forsaken me, and the LORD will gather me in The Hebrew can be read as something that has happened or as something that might happen. We have no record that David's parents abandoned him. Either way, God's love is more faithful than the closest human love. Some who read this were neglected or hurt by those who should have loved them most. God sees, and He is "a father of the fatherless" (Ps 68:5).
27:12 witnesses of falsehood have risen against me Their words are weapons. Jesus faced false witnesses at His trial (Matt 26:59-60). If people are telling lies about you, ask God to teach you His way and defend you, instead of fighting back with lies of your own.
27:13 Unless I had believed to see the goodness of the LORD in the land of the living In Hebrew the sentence breaks off, and many Bibles finish it with I would have despaired. What held David was faith. He hoped for heaven, but he also believed he would see God's goodness in this life.
27:14 Wait for the LORD Waiting for the LORD is active: trusting Him and looking to Him with hope while He works in His time. It takes strength, so David says it twice. The psalm that began with bold confidence ends with patient hope. Both are faith.
28:1 my rock, do not be deaf to me David fears God's silence more than his enemies. If God does not answer, he will be like those who "go down to the pit," the grave.
28:2 when I lift up my hands toward the inner sanctuary of Your holiness Lifting the hands was a common posture of prayer. The inner sanctuary was the most holy place, where the ark rested and God's presence dwelt.
28:3 who speak peace with their neighbors, and evil is in their heart Smiling faces and hidden knives. David asks not to be dragged off with them. Verse 4 asks God to repay them by their deeds, handing justice to Him rather than taking it himself.
28:6 Blessed be the LORD, for He has heard The prayer turns to praise in the middle of the psalm. David knows he has been heard before he sees the answer.
28:9 shepherd them and carry them forever David ends by praying for the whole people. A good shepherd does more than lead. He picks up the weak lamb and carries it (Isa 40:11).
29:1 Ascribe to the LORD, sons of gods To ascribe is to give God the honor that is His due. "Sons of gods" most likely means the angels or heavenly beings, called to worship before the storm comes. Heaven and earth together give Him glory.

of holiness. 3 The voice of the LORD is over the waters; the God of glory thunders; the LORD is over many waters. 4 The voice of the LORD is in power; the voice of the LORD is in majesty. 5 The voice of the LORD breaks cedars, and the LORD shatters the cedars of Lebanon (Levanon). 6 And He makes them skip like a calf, Lebanon and Sirion (Siryon) like a young wild ox. 7 The voice of the LORD hews out flames of fire. 8 The voice of the LORD makes the wilderness tremble; the LORD makes the wilderness of Kadesh (Qadesh) tremble. 9 The voice of the LORD makes the does writhe in birth, and it strips forests bare; and in His temple all of it says, "Glory!" 10 The LORD sat at the flood, and the LORD sits as King forever. 11 The LORD will give strength to His people; the LORD will bless His people with peace.

PSALMS 30

A psalm, a song of the dedication of the house, of David. 1 I will exalt You, LORD, for You have drawn me up and have not made my enemies rejoice over me. 2 LORD my God, I cried for help to You, and You healed me. 3 LORD, You brought up my soul from Sheol; You kept me alive from going down to the pit. 4 Sing praises to the LORD, His godly ones, and give thanks to the remembrance of His holiness. 5 For a moment is in His anger, life is in His favor; in the evening weeping lodges, and at the morning, a shout of joy. 6 And I, I said in my ease, "I will not be shaken forever." 7 LORD, in Your favor You made strength stand for my mountain; You hid Your face; I was dismayed. 8 To You, LORD, I called, and to the Lord I made supplication: 9 "What profit is in my blood, in my going down to the pit? Will dust give thanks to You? Will it declare Your faithfulness? 10 Hear, LORD, and be gracious to me; LORD, be a helper to me." 11 You have turned my mourning into dancing for me; You have loosed my sackcloth and girded me with joy, 12 so that glory may sing praises to You and not be silent. LORD my God, forever I will give thanks to You.

29:3 The voice of the LORD is over the waters Seven times the psalm says "the voice of the LORD." David describes a thunderstorm rolling in from the Mediterranean Sea, crashing over the cedars of Lebanon in the north and sweeping down to the desert of Kadesh in the south. The Canaanites gave thunder to Baal, their storm god. David says the storm belongs to the LORD.

29:6 Lebanon and Sirion like a young wild ox Sirion is the Sidonian name for Mount Hermon (Deut 3:9). Even the mountains seem to leap at His voice.

29:9 in His temple all of it says, Glory While the storm shakes the earth, everyone in God's heavenly temple cries "Glory!" The same voice that frightens the world draws worship from those who know Him.

29:10 The LORD sat at the flood The Hebrew word for flood is used elsewhere only for Noah's flood. God sat as King over that judgment, and He still reigns. The psalm ends not in thunder but in peace for His people (29:11).

30:0 a song of the dedication of the house Which house is not certain. It may be David's palace (2 Sam 5:11), the site he chose for the temple (1 Chr 22:1), or the temple itself, where the psalm was later sung. Jews later sang it at Hanukkah, the feast of the rededication of the temple.

30:3 You brought up my soul from Sheol David had been close to death, perhaps from sickness (30:2), and God pulled him back from the edge of the grave.

30:5 in the evening weeping lodges, and at the morning, a shout of joy Weeping is pictured as a guest that stays for the night and then leaves. God's discipline lasts a moment, His favor a lifetime. For the believer, every night of tears has a morning (Rev 21:4).

30:6 I said in my ease, I will not be shaken forever When life was easy, David trusted his own security. Then God hid His face, and he was dismayed (30:7). Prosperity can make us forget the One who gave it.

30:9 Will dust give thanks to You David's plea: if I die, I can no longer praise You among the living. He wants to live in order to praise God.

30:11 You have turned my mourning into dancing Sackcloth was rough cloth worn in grief. God took it off him and dressed him in joy. Only God can make that kind of change.

31:2 be for me a rock of stronghold David again uses the pictures of his wilderness years: rock, fortress, crag. And he asks for help "quickly." It is all right to tell God we are in a hurry.

31:5 Into Your hand I commit my spirit On the cross Jesus prayed these words just before He died: "Father, into Your hands I will commit My spirit" (Luke 23:46). Stephen prayed, "Lord Jesus, receive my spirit" (Acts 7:59). For David it meant, I trust You with my life. For Jesus it meant, I give My life into Your keeping, even in death. For us it can be a prayer for every day and for the last day.

31:10 my strength has stumbled because of my iniquity David admits that part of his trouble came from his own sin. Godly people suffer for many reasons, and sometimes the honest answer is that we brought it on ourselves.

uity, and my bones have wasted away. 11 Because of all my adversaries I have become a reproach, and to my neighbors exceedingly, and a dread to my acquaintances; those who see me in the street flee from me. 12 I have been forgotten like a dead man out of the heart; I have become like a vessel that is perishing. 13 For I have heard the slander of many, terror on every side, when they consult together against me; they plot to take my life. 14 And I, I trust in You, LORD; I say, "You are my God." 15 My times are in Your hand; rescue me from the hand of my enemies and from those who pursue me. 16 Make Your face shine on Your servant; save me in Your steadfast love. 17 LORD, let me not be ashamed, for I have called on You; let the wicked be ashamed; let them be silent to Sheol. 18 Let the lips of falsehood be mute, which speak arrogance against the righteous with pride and contempt. 19 How great is Your goodness, which You have stored up for those who fear You, which You have worked for those who take refuge in You before the sons of man! 20 You hide them in the hiding place of Your presence from the conspiracies of man; You conceal them in a shelter from the strife of tongues. 21 Blessed be the LORD, for He has made His steadfast love wonderful to me in a city of siege. 22 And I, I said in my alarm, "I have been cut off from before Your eyes." Nevertheless, You heard the voice of my supplications when I cried for help to You. 23 Love the LORD, all His godly ones! The LORD preserves the faithful and repays abundantly the one who acts with pride. 24 Be strong, and let your heart take courage, all who wait for the LORD.

PSALMS 32

Of David. A Maskil. 1 How blessed is he whose transgression is forgiven, whose sin is covered! 2 How blessed is the man to whom the LORD does not count iniquity, and in whose spirit there is no deceit! 3 When I kept silent, my bones wore out through my roaring all the day. 4 For day and night Your hand was heavy on me; my moisture was changed by the dry heat of summer. Selah. 5 My sin I made known to You, and my iniquity I did not cover; I said, "I will confess my transgressions to the LORD," and You, You forgave the iniquity of my sin. Selah. 6 For this let every godly one pray to You at a time of finding; surely, at a flood of many waters, they will not reach him. 7 You are a hiding place for me; from distress You will preserve me; with shouts of deliverance You will surround me. Selah. 8 I will instruct you and teach you in the way which you should go; I will counsel you; My eye will be on you. 9 Do not be like a horse, like a mule, which has no understanding, with bit and bridle, its trappings, to restrain 31:11 those who see me in the street flee from me Enemies slander him, neighbors scorn him, friends avoid him. Jeremiah used the same phrase, "terror on every side" (31:13; Jer 20:10). Jesus knew this loneliness when His disciples fled (Mark 14:50).

31:15 My times are in Your hand Every season of life, its length and its turns, is held by God. This is the same hand into which David committed his spirit (31:5). Our enemies' hands are not the last word.
31:19 How great is Your goodness, which You have stored up for those who fear You God keeps a treasure stored up for His people, some given now, more waiting (1 Pet 1:4).
31:22 I said in my alarm, I have been cut off from before Your eyes In panic David thought God had lost sight of him. He was wrong. God heard him all along. Our fears are not always true.
31:24 Be strong, and let your heart take courage, all who wait for the LORD David ends by turning his own lesson into encouragement for everyone who is still waiting (27:14).
32:0 A Maskil Maskil comes from a Hebrew word for wisdom or understanding, so many think it marks a teaching psalm or one written with special skill. The meaning is uncertain. The heading does not name the sin David had in mind. Many connect this psalm with Bathsheba and Uriah and with Psalm 51, but we can't be sure.
32:1 How blessed is he whose transgression is forgiven, whose sin is covered David uses three words for wrong. Transgression is rebellion, stepping over God's line. Sin is missing the mark. Iniquity is something twisted, and it carries guilt. And three pictures for what God does: transgression is forgiven, lifted off and carried away; sin is covered, put out of sight; iniquity is not counted, not charged to our account.
32:2 to whom the LORD does not count iniquity Paul quotes verses 1-2 for the blessing of the man God credits with righteousness apart from works (Rom 4:6-8). David lived under the Law, yet no sacrifice could undo what he had done. He was forgiven by God's mercy, received by faith. We now know how God covers sin justly: Jesus bore it (Isa 53:5). "No deceit" does not mean sinless. It means he has stopped pretending before God.
32:3 When I kept silent, my bones wore out David tried saying nothing and went on as if all was well. Hidden sin did not stay hidden. Guilt wore on his body, his sleep and his strength.
32:4 Your hand was heavy on me God loved him too much to leave him comfortable in his sin (Heb 12:6). Not every illness comes from sin (John 9:2-3), and we should never tell a sufferer it does. But if your conscience is heavy, that weight may be God's kindness calling you home.
32:5 My sin I made known to You, and my iniquity I did not cover The same three words return, and David names them all. To confess is to agree with God about our sin, without excuses. He said "I will confess," and the next thing we read is that God forgave. "He who confesses and forsakes them will be shown mercy" (Prov 28:13; 1 John 1:9). The road back to God is shorter than you think.
32:6 at a time of finding While God may be found. Isaiah says the same: seek the LORD while He lets Himself be found (Isa 55:6). Don't wait for your heart to grow hard. The forgiven are not promised a life without floods, but the waters will not sweep them away.
32:7 You are a hiding place for me A lovely reversal. Before, David hid his sin from God. Now he hides in God, ringed by songs of rescue.
32:8 I will instruct you and teach you in the way which you should go Most teachers believe God Himself answers here, since He says "My eye will be on you." Others think David is now the teacher, keeping his promise to teach sinners God's ways (51:13). Either way, the forgiven are not left to figure out life alone.
32:9 Do not be like a horse, like a mule A mule must be dragged with bit and bridle. God would rather have children who listen and come willingly. David had been stubborn, and it cost him dearly. We can learn from his story without repeating it.

32:10 steadfast love will surround him Sin promises happiness but pays out pain. In verse 7 songs of deliverance surround the forgiven man, and here God's hesed surrounds him. He is hemmed in by grace.
32:11 Rejoice in the LORD and be glad, righteous ones The righteous here are forgiven sinners, not people who never failed. A psalm that began with a man groaning under guilt ends with God's people shouting for joy.
33:1 Shout for joy in the LORD, righteous ones Psalm 33 has no heading and picks up where Psalm 32 ended (32:11). Praise is "fitting" for the upright. It suits them, the way good clothes suit the person wearing them.
33:3 Sing to Him a new song A new song is fresh praise for fresh mercies. God's people are not meant to worship only with old words. In heaven they sing a new song to the Lamb (Rev 5:9).
33:6 By the word of the LORD the heavens were made God spoke, and it was (33:9). This is Genesis 1 in a song. "Breath" is the same Hebrew word as spirit. John begins his Gospel with the Word through whom all things were made (John 1:1-3).
33:10 The LORD has made void the counsel of the nations Nations make their plans, and God overturns them. But His own plan "stands forever" (33:11). History does not belong to the powerful. It belongs to God.
33:12 How blessed is the nation whose God is the LORD First of all this is Israel, the people God chose as His inheritance. It is also true of any people who honor the LORD, and of the church, God's own people from every nation (1 Pet 2:9).
33:16 The king is not saved by the greatness of an army Armies, warriors and war horses are not where safety comes from. God's eye is on those who fear Him (33:18). He alone can rescue a soul from death.
33:20 Our soul waits for the LORD The psalm ends with a quiet resolve: we will wait, rejoice and trust. And a prayer: let Your steadfast love be on us as we hope in You.
34:0 when he changed his sense before Abimelech To change his sense is to act as if he had lost his mind. Running from Saul, David went to Gath, was recognized, and saved himself by scribbling on the gate and drooling into his beard (1 Sam 21:10-15). There the king is called Achish. Many think Abimelech was a royal title for Philistine kings, as Pharaoh was for Egypt's. Others think the king had two names, and some that the names were mixed up. I take the heading and 1 Samuel as the same event.
34:1 I will bless the LORD at every time Psalm 34 is nearly an acrostic, each verse starting with the next Hebrew letter. To bless the LORD is to praise Him and speak well of Him. David does not boast in his cleverness at Gath. He boasts in the LORD.
34:3 Magnify the LORD with me To magnify God is not to make Him bigger. He is already infinitely great. It is to make Him look as big to others as He really is. And David does not want to praise alone.
34:4 from all my fears He rescued me David was afraid in Gath (1 Sam 21:12). God did more than get him out of the city. He delivered him from the fear itself.
34:5 They looked to Him and were radiant Those who look to God in trouble come away with shining faces, like Moses after he had been with God (Exod 34:29). People who trust the LORD will not end up disappointed.
34:6 This afflicted one called, and the LORD heard The anointed future king was at that moment a hunted refugee with nothing. He called, and that was enough.

34:7 The angel of the LORD encamps around those who fear Him God's angel sets up camp around His people like an army guarding them (2 Kgs 6:15-17). Many believe the angel of the LORD was the Son of God appearing before He was born in Bethlehem. Others see a created angel sent by God. Either way, God's people are not as alone as they feel.
34:8 Taste and see that the LORD is good David does not ask us to take his word for it. You can read a menu, but you don't know how good the food is until you taste it. Peter borrows the verse and applies it to Jesus: "you have tasted that the Lord is kind" (1 Pet 2:3). David ran to Gath for safety and found danger. The safest place was the LORD.
34:10 those who seek the LORD do not lack any good thing Young lions are strong hunters, yet even they go hungry. Strength does not guarantee supply. God decides what is good for us, and our Father knows what we need (Matt 6:32-33). Believers may go without things they want. They will not go without His care.
34:11 I will teach you the fear of the LORD David speaks like a father. Verse 9 told us to fear the LORD. Now he shows what it looks like in daily life.
34:14 seek peace and pursue it Four plain commands: guard your tongue, don't lie, turn from evil and do good, chase peace. Peace does not just happen. Peter quotes verses 12-16 to mistreated believers, telling them not to repay evil for evil (1 Pet 3:9-12). David lived it, twice sparing Saul's life (1 Sam 24; 26).
34:16 The face of the LORD is against those who do evil God watches and listens to the righteous (34:15), but He is not neutral about evil.
34:18 The LORD is near to the broken of heart A word to hold on to in grief. When your heart is broken, God comes close. You may feel crushed, but you are not abandoned. Jesus came to heal the brokenhearted (Isa 61:1; Luke 4:16-21).
34:19 Many are the evils of a righteous man, and from them all the LORD rescues him Fearing God does not mean an easy life. Sometimes God delivers us out of trouble, sometimes through it, and for those who die in faith, finally in the resurrection.
34:20 He keeps all his bones; not one of them is broken For David this meant God protects the whole person. When the soldiers found Jesus already dead, they did not break His legs, and John says this fulfilled the Scripture, "A bone of His will not be broken" (John 19:36). John may also have had the Passover lamb in mind (Exod 12:46). Jesus is the Righteous One and the Lamb of God (John 1:29).
34:22 none who take refuge in Him will be held guilty To ransom is to pay the price to set someone free. For those in Christ Jesus there is "now no condemnation" (Rom 8:1). David began this psalm a frightened refugee. He ends it sure that the LORD ransoms those who hide in Him.
35:1 Contend, LORD, with those who contend with me David pictures God as both his lawyer in court and his warrior in battle. He does not fight his own fight. He asks God to take up his case.
35:3 say to my soul, I am your salvation More than rescue, David wants to hear God say it. Assurance from God's own word steadies the heart in the middle of the attack.
35:4 Let them be ashamed and humiliated who seek my life Verses 4-8 and 26 are prayers for judgment on men who sought David's life "without cause" (35:7). David leaves the outcome to God and the angel of the LORD. See the introduction on the hard lines in the Psalms.
35:13 when they were sick, my clothing was sackcloth This is what makes the betrayal so painful. When his accusers were sick, David fasted and prayed for them as if for a brother or his own mother. Now they repay him "evil instead of good" (35:12). Jesus knew this too: He healed and fed people who later cried for His death.

as for a brother to me, I went about; like one mourning for a mother, I bowed down in mourning. 15 And at my stumbling they rejoiced and gathered; stricken ones gathered against me, and I did not know them; they tore at me and were not silent. 16 Like godless mockers for a cake, they gnashed their teeth at me. 17 Lord, how long will You look on? Let them not say, "We have swallowed him up." 26 Let them be ashamed and abashed altogether who rejoice at my evil; let them be clothed with shame and humiliation who magnify themselves against me. 27 Let them shout for joy and rejoice who delight in my righteousness, and let them say continually, "Let the LORD be great, who delights in the peace of His servant." 28 And my tongue will utter Your righteousness, Your praise all the day.

To the choirmaster. Of the servant of the LORD, of David. 1 An utterance of transgression to the wicked is in the midst of my heart: there is no dread of God before his eyes. 2 For he flatters himself in his own eyes, to find his iniquity, to hate it. 3 The words of his mouth are iniquity and deceit; he has ceased to act wisely, to do good. 4 Iniquity he devises on his bed; he sets himself on a way that is not good; evil he does not reject. 5 LORD, Your steadfast love is in the heavens, Your faithfulness to the clouds. 6 Your righteousness is like the mountains of God; Your judgments are a great deep; man and beast You save, LORD. 7 How precious is Your steadfast love, God! And the sons of man take refuge in the shadow of Your wings. 8 They drink their fill from the fatness of Your house, and You give them drink from the river of Your delights. 9 For with You is a fountain of life; in Your light we see light. 10 Draw out Your steadfast love to those who know You, and Your righteousness to the upright of heart. 11 Let not the foot of pride come to me, and let not the hand of the wicked make me wander. 12 There those who work iniquity have fallen; they have been thrust down and have not been able to rise.

35:19 nor let those who hate me without cause wink the eye Jesus said His enemies fulfilled the word written in their Law, "They hated Me without cause" (John 15:25). The words are found here and in Psalm 69:4.
35:21 Aha! Aha! Our eye has seen it The mockers gloat over his fall. David answers that God has seen too (35:22), and God's seeing is the one that counts.
35:27 Let the LORD be great, who delights in the peace of His servant God takes pleasure in the well-being of His people. He is not a reluctant helper.
36:1 there is no dread of God before his eyes David looks into the heart of the wicked man and finds no fear of God at all. Paul uses this line to close his description of human sin (Rom 3:18). When people stop fearing God, nothing holds them back.
36:4 Iniquity he devises on his bed The godly meditate on God's Word at night (1:2). The wicked man lies awake planning evil.
36:5 Your steadfast love is in the heavens Suddenly David turns from the wicked to God. His steadfast love reaches higher than the sky, His righteousness stands like the great mountains, and His judgments go down deeper than the sea. No measure on earth can hold Him.
36:7 in the shadow of Your wings People of every kind may run to God and find refuge, like chicks under a mother bird's wings.
36:9 For with You is a fountain of life; in Your light we see light God is the source of all life and all true understanding. Apart from Him we see nothing rightly. Jesus offered living water (John 4:14) and said He is the light of the world (John 8:12).
37:1 Do not fret yourself because of evildoers David wrote this when he was old (37:25). Like Psalm 34 it is an acrostic. The word behind "fret" means to burn or get heated, the slow burn we feel watching dishonest people prosper. Fretting and jealousy feed each other: we get angry at the wicked, and part of us wishes we had what they have.
37:2 like grass they will quickly wither In Israel the grass turns green after the winter rains and dies in the summer heat. The wicked look fresh now, but they will not last (Isa 40:6-8).
37:3 Trust in the LORD and do good Trust comes first. When we trust God to deal with the wicked, we are free to spend our energy doing good instead of stewing. "Graze" is a shepherd's word: stay in the pasture where God has put you and feed on faithfulness day after day.
37:4 take delight in the LORD, and He will give you the requests of your heart This is not a promise that God gives whatever we want if we are religious enough. The order matters. When God Himself becomes our joy, our desires begin to change. We start wanting what He wants, and above all He gives us Himself. The one who delights in God is never disappointed in the end.

LORD, and He will give you the requests of your heart. 5 Roll your way on the LORD, and trust in Him, and He Himself will act. 6 And He will bring forth your righteousness like the light, and your justice like the noonday. 7 Be still before the LORD and wait longingly for Him; do not fret yourself because of one who makes his way prosper, because of a man who carries out plots. 8 Refrain from anger and forsake rage; do not fret yourself, only to do evil. 9 For evildoers will be cut off, and those who wait for the LORD, they will possess the land. 10 And yet a little while, and there will be no wicked one; and you will look carefully at his place, and he will not be there. 11 And the humble will possess the land, and they will take delight in the abundance of peace. 12 The wicked plots against the righteous and gnashes his teeth at him. 13 The Lord laughs at him, for He sees that his day will come. 14 The wicked have drawn a sword and have bent their bow, to make the afflicted and the needy fall, to slaughter those upright of way. 15 Their sword will enter into their own heart, and their bows will be broken. 16 Better is the little of the righteous than the abundance of many wicked. 17 For the arms of the wicked will be broken, and the LORD sustains the righteous. 18 The LORD knows the days of the blameless, and their inheritance will be forever. 19 They will not be ashamed in a time of evil, and in days of famine they will be satisfied. 20 For the wicked will perish, and the enemies of the LORD will be like the splendor of the pastures; they will come to an end; in smoke they will come to an end. 21 The wicked borrows and does not repay, and the righteous shows favor and gives. 22 For those blessed by Him will possess the land, and those cursed by Him will be cut off. 23 From the LORD the steps of a man are established, and He delights in his way. 24 When he falls, he will not be thrown down, for the LORD supports his hand. 25 I have been young, and also I am old, and I have not seen the righteous forsaken, and his offspring seeking bread. 26 All the day he shows favor and lends, and his offspring are for a blessing. 27 Turn away from evil and do good, and dwell forever. 28 For the LORD loves justice, and He will not forsake His godly ones; they are preserved forever, and the offspring of the wicked is cut off. 29 The righteous will possess the land and will dwell on it for all time. 30 The mouth of the righteous utters wisdom, and

37:5 Roll your way on the LORD The Hebrew means just that, to roll. Picture rolling a heavy load off your back onto God: your plans, your problems, your future. "He Himself will act."
37:6 He will bring forth your righteousness like the light The good name of the righteous may be hidden now, like the sun behind clouds. God will bring the truth out as bright as noon. We do not have to fight to defend our reputation.
37:7 Be still before the LORD and wait longingly for Him Waiting is hard. We want God to act now. Waiting means trusting His timing, even when the wicked's plots seem to succeed.
37:8 do not fret yourself, only to do evil The third "do not fret" carries a warning. Anger at evil can turn into evil. Bitterness makes us harsh, and envy makes us copy the people we resent. "The anger of a man does not produce the righteousness of God" (James 1:20; Eph 4:26).
37:9 those who wait for the LORD, they will possess the land The first of five promises about possessing the land (37:9, 11, 22, 29, 34). In David's day the land was Canaan, promised to Abraham's descendants, a place to live in peace and pass on to your children.
37:10 yet a little while, and there will be no wicked one From where we stand, the wicked seem to last a long time. From God's point of view their time is short.
37:11 the humble will possess the land The humble do not grab or push. They trust God instead of their own power. Jesus said, "Blessed are the meek, for they will inherit the earth" (Matt 5:5). The Hebrew word for "land" can also mean earth, and Jesus widens the promise. I believe this will be fulfilled when Christ returns and reigns on the earth with His people (Rev 5:10). The land was promised to Abraham's seed "for an everlasting possession" (Gen 17:8), and "the gifts and the calling of God are irrevocable" (Rom 11:29).
37:13 The Lord laughs at him, for He sees that his day will come The threats of the wicked are small to God (2:4). They plot, but He already sees their day of judgment.
37:15 Their sword will enter into their own heart Evil turns back on itself, as Haman was hanged on the gallows he built for Mordecai (Esth 7:10).
37:16 Better is the little of the righteous than the abundance of many wicked A small income with a clean conscience and God's blessing is better than a fortune gained by wrong. A man's "life is not from his possessions" (Luke 12:15).
37:18 The LORD knows the days of the blameless God knows every day of our lives, good and hard. The wicked have their wealth a few years. The righteous have an inheritance forever, and God feeds them even in famine, as He fed Elijah (1 Kgs 17:2-16).
37:20 like the splendor of the pastures The wildflowers cover the hills in spring and are gone in weeks, and smoke rises and vanishes. So the wicked come to an end.
37:21 The wicked borrows and does not repay, and the righteous shows favor and gives The wicked take, the righteous give. How we handle money shows what is in our hearts. The one who trusts God can afford to be generous.
37:24 When he falls, he will not be thrown down, for the LORD supports his hand The righteous do fall, into trouble and sometimes into sin. Picture a father walking with a small child over rough ground. The child may trip, but the father's grip keeps him from falling flat. His hand is stronger than our stumbling.
37:25 I have not seen the righteous forsaken, and his offspring seeking bread David tells what he saw over a long life. Faithful believers do go hungry, and some were destitute (Heb 11:37). This is not a promise that no believer will ever be poor. It is the general pattern of God's care, and where it seems to fail in this life, God will make it right in the next. If you are in need, it is not a sign God has rejected you.
37:28 He will not forsake His godly ones; they are preserved forever God is not indifferent when the wicked hurt people, and He does not abandon His own. Jesus said no one will snatch His sheep out of His hand (John 10:28). The promise grows here from a lifetime to forever, which only God's eternal kingdom can fulfill.

his tongue speaks justice. 31 The law of his God is in his heart; his steps do not slip. 32 The wicked watches for the righteous and seeks to kill him. 33 The LORD will not forsake him in his hand, and He will not condemn him when he is judged. 34 Wait for the LORD and keep His way, and He will exalt you to possess the land; when the wicked are cut off, you will see it. 35 I have seen a wicked man, ruthless, and spreading himself like a luxuriant native tree. 36 And he passed away, and look, he was not there; and I sought him, and he was not found. 37 Watch the blameless and see the upright, for there is a future for a man of peace. 38 And transgressors will be destroyed altogether; the future of the wicked will be cut off. 39 And the salvation of the righteous is from the LORD, their place of refuge in a time of trouble. 40 And the LORD has helped them and has delivered them; He delivers them from the wicked and saves them, for they have taken refuge in Him.

A psalm of David, to bring to remembrance. 1 LORD, do not rebuke me in Your wrath, and do not discipline me in Your rage. 2 For Your arrows have sunk into me, and Your hand has come down on me. 3 There is no soundness in my flesh because of Your indignation; there is no peace in my bones because of my sin. 4 For my iniquities have passed over my head; like a heavy burden they are too heavy for me. 5 My wounds stink; they fester because of my folly. 6 I am bent down; I am bowed down exceedingly; all the day I have gone about mourning. 7 For my loins are full of burning, and there is no soundness in my flesh. 8 I am numb and I am crushed exceedingly; I roar because of the groaning of my heart. 9 Lord, all my desire is before You, and my sighing is not hidden from You. 10 My heart throbs; my strength has left me; and the light of my eyes, even they are not with me. 11 My loved ones and my companions stand off from before my plague, and my near ones have stood far away. 12 And those who seek my life set traps, and those who seek out my harm have spoken destruction, and they devise deceits all the day. 13 And I, like a deaf man, do not hear, and I am like a mute man who does not open his mouth. 14 And I have become like a man who does not hear, and in whose mouth there are no reproofs. 15 For I have waited for You, LORD; You Yourself will answer, Lord my God. 16 For I said, "Lest they rejoice over me; when my foot slips, they magnify themselves against me." 17 For I am prepared for stumbling, and my pain is before me continually. 18 For I declare my iniquity; I am anxious because of my sin. 19 And my enemies are living and are numerous, and those who hate me falsely are many. 20 And those who repay evil in place of good accuse me, because of my pursuing good. 21 Do not forsake me, LORD; my God, do not be far from me. 22 Hurry to my help, Lord, my salvation.

38:22 Ps 40:13,17; Ps 27:1; Ps 70:1,5

37:31 The law of his God is in his heart; his steps do not slip His mouth speaks wisdom because God's Word lives in his heart, not only on a shelf. "In my heart I have treasured Your word, so that I will not sin against You" (Ps 119:11).
37:33 He will not condemn him when he is judged God may let the righteous suffer for a time, but He will not abandon them. Even if a human court rules against him, God's court will not. Stephen was condemned on earth and welcomed in heaven (Acts 7).
37:34 when the wicked are cut off, you will see it David does not tell us to bring about their end. God does that. Our part is to wait, keep His way, and pray they turn to Him before that day. See the introduction on the hard lines.
37:35 spreading himself like a luxuriant native tree David saw a ruthless man who looked rooted and growing, and then he was gone. His success was real, and short. Remember the rich fool: "This night they are demanding your soul from you" (Luke 12:20).
37:37 there is a future for a man of peace "Future" can mean descendants or a good end. Both point the same way: the life of the blameless ends well.
37:40 for they have taken refuge in Him Helps, delivers, delivers, saves: four things God does in one verse. Not because His people were stronger or smarter than the wicked, but because they ran to Him. So when you see evil prosper, don't fret. Their day is short, and God's people have a future that lasts forever.
38:0 to bring to remembrance Perhaps a psalm used with an offering of remembrance, or a prayer asking God to remember the one who prays. Psalm 70 has the same words. Psalm 38 is one of the seven penitential psalms.
38:3 there is no peace in my bones because of my sin David is sick in body and sick at heart, and he knows the two are tied together this time. Not every illness comes from sin (John 9:2-3), but David does not hide behind that truth. He owns his.
38:4 like a heavy burden they are too heavy for me Sin promised to be light and turned out to be crushing. Jesus invites the weary and heavy-laden to come to Him for rest (Matt 11:28).
38:9 Lord, all my desire is before You Even his sighs are not hidden from God. When we cannot find words, God still knows what we long for (Rom 8:26).
38:11 My loved ones and my companions stand off from before my plague Friends kept their distance, as people did from the sick in those days. Sin and suffering can make a person very lonely. Jesus did not stand far off from the sick. He touched them.
38:13 like a mute man who does not open his mouth David does not answer his accusers. He leaves his defense with God (38:15). Jesus kept silent before His accusers too (Isa 53:7; Matt 27:12-14), though He had no sin to confess.
38:18 For I declare my iniquity The way back is the same as in Psalm 32: honest confession. The psalm ends not with healing yet, but with David clinging to God: "Hurry to my help, Lord, my salvation."

To the choirmaster, for Jeduthun (Yedutun). A psalm of David. 1 I said, "I will keep my ways from sinning with my tongue; I will keep a muzzle for my mouth while the wicked is still before me." 2 I was mute in silence; I kept silent from good, and my pain was stirred up. 3 My heart became hot within me; in my musing a fire burned; I spoke with my tongue: 4 "LORD, make me know my end, and the measure of my days, what it is; let me know how fleeting I am. 5 Look, You have made my days handbreadths, and my lifespan is like nothing before You; surely all mankind that stands is all vanity." Selah. 6 Surely a man walks about as an image; surely in vanity they are in turmoil; he heaps up and does not know who will gather them. 7 And now, what do I wait for, Lord? My hope, it is in You. 8 Deliver me from all my transgressions; do not make me a reproach of the foolish. 9 I am mute; I do not open my mouth, for You Yourself have acted. 10 Remove Your plague from on me; I have come to an end from the hostility of Your hand. 11 With reproofs for iniquity You have disciplined a man, and You have melted like the moth what he desires; surely all mankind is vanity. PSALMS 40

To the choirmaster. Of David. A psalm. 1 I waited intently for the LORD, and He inclined to me and heard my cry for help. 2 And He brought me up from a pit of roaring, from the mud of the mire, and He set my feet on a rock; He established my steps. 3 And He put a new song in my mouth, praise to our God; many will see and fear, and will trust in the LORD. 4 How blessed is the man who has made the LORD his trust, and has not turned to the proud and to those who turn aside to falsehood. 5 Many, LORD my God, You Yourself have done: Your wonders and Your plans toward us; there is none to compare to You; I would declare and I would speak, but they are too numerous to recount. 6 Sacrifice and grain offering You did not desire; ears You have dug for me; burnt offering and sin offering You did not ask for. 7 Then I said, "Look, I have come; in the scroll of the book it is written about me. 8 I delight to do Your will, my God, and Your law is in the midst of my inward parts." 9 I have proclaimed good news of righteousness in the great assembly; look, I do not restrain my 39:0 for Jeduthun Jeduthun was one of David's chief musicians, a Levite who led worship with Asaph and Heman (1 Chr 16:41-42; 25:1).

39:1 I will keep a muzzle for my mouth while the wicked is still before me David did not want to complain about God in front of unbelievers and give them cause to mock. Holding it in only made the fire burn hotter (39:3). So he took it to God instead.
39:4 LORD, make me know my end, and the measure of my days A handbreadth is the width of four fingers, about three inches. That is how short life is next to God (39:5). Knowing how brief our days are teaches us to live wisely (90:12).
39:6 he heaps up and does not know who will gather them We work, worry and pile up wealth, and someone else will sort through it when we are gone (Eccl 2:18-19). "Vanity" here is a breath or vapor, something that passes quickly.
39:7 My hope, it is in You The turn of the psalm. If life is a breath, what is worth waiting for? Only God. He alone does not pass away.
39:12 I am a sojourner with You, a resident alien like all my fathers A sojourner lived in a land that was not his own. The patriarchs lived as strangers in Canaan, looking for a better country (Heb 11:13-16). Believers are pilgrims here too (1 Pet 2:11).
39:13 Look away from me, that I may be cheerful before I go and am not A startling ending. David feels the weight of God's discipline and asks for relief before he dies. The psalm ends in the dark, and God still put it in His book. He lets us pray honestly even when we cannot yet see the light.
40:1 I waited intently for the LORD The Hebrew says, in effect, waiting, I waited. David kept on waiting, and it was not wasted. To incline is to lean down, like a parent bending low to hear a small child.
40:2 from the mud of the mire, and He set my feet on a rock A pit was often a cistern cut into rock to hold rainwater, with thick mud at the bottom when dry. Jeremiah sank into one (Jer 38:6). You cannot climb out of a pit like that. Someone has to pull you out. God lifted David from sinking mud to solid rock.
40:3 He put a new song in my mouth God gave the song as well as the rescue. When He rescues one person, others hear and trust Him too. Your story of what God has done may be what helps someone else believe.
40:4 How blessed is the man who has made the LORD his trust The proud trust themselves, and others chase lies and false gods. The blessed man puts his whole weight on the LORD.
40:5 they are too numerous to recount God works wonders and also has plans for His people's good. David would run out of time before he ran out of reasons to praise. Try counting your own blessings and see.
40:6 Sacrifice and grain offering You did not desire God Himself commanded these offerings. David means God never wanted them as empty ritual. He wanted obedient hearts (1 Sam 15:22). "For steadfast love I desire, and not sacrifice" (Hos 6:6).
40:6 ears You have dug for me God gave David ears to hear and obey. Some link it with the servant whose ear was pierced (Exod 21:6), though the Hebrew word differs. Hebrews quotes the Greek Old Testament here: "a body You prepared for Me" (Heb 10:5). God prepared a body for His Son so He could obey the Father fully, all the way to the cross.
40:7 in the scroll of the book it is written about me For David the scroll was probably the Law of Moses, which described the king God wanted (Deut 17:18-20). He was saying, here I am, ready to be what Your Word calls me to be.
40:8 I delight to do Your will, my God Obedience was David's joy, with God's Law written on his heart as God promised for the new covenant (Jer 31:33). Hebrews says these words find their full meaning in Jesus: "Look, I have come to do Your will, O God" (Heb 10:9). David could only partly live them. Jesus lived them completely (John 4:34; Matt 26:39). We are made holy "through the offering of the body of Jesus Christ once for all" (Heb 10:10). That is why we no longer bring animals to an altar.
40:9 I have proclaimed good news of righteousness in the great assembly The Law was in David's heart to shape his life, but he did not hide God's goodness there to keep it private. He told it. What has God done for you that you have never told anyone?

lips; LORD, You Yourself know. 10 Your righteousness I have not concealed in the midst of my heart; Your faithfulness and Your salvation I have told; I have not hidden Your steadfast love and Your truth from the great assembly. 11 You, LORD, will not withhold Your compassion from me; Your steadfast love and Your truth will continually preserve me. 12 For evils have surrounded me until there is no number; my iniquities have overtaken me, and I am not able to see; they are more numerous than the hairs of my head, and my heart has forsaken me. 13 Be pleased, LORD, to deliver me; LORD, hurry to my help. 14 Let them be ashamed and let them be abashed altogether, those who seek my life to snatch it away; let them be turned backward and let them be humiliated, those who desire my harm. 15 Let them be appalled as the consequence of their shame, those who say to me, "Aha! Aha!" 16 Let all who seek You exult and rejoice in You; let those who love Your salvation say continually, "Let the LORD be great." 17 And I am afflicted and needy; let the Lord think of me. You are my help and my deliverer; my God, do not delay.

PSALMS 41

To the choirmaster. A psalm of David. 1 How blessed is he who considers the poor; in a day of harm the LORD will deliver him. 2 The LORD will keep him and preserve him alive, and he will be called blessed in the land; and do not give him into the desire of his enemies. 3 The LORD will sustain him on a couch of illness; all his bed You have changed in his sickness. 4 I myself said, "LORD, be gracious to me; heal my soul, for I have sinned against You." 5 My enemies speak evil of me: "When will he die, and his name perish?" 6 And if one comes to see me, he speaks falsehood; his heart gathers wickedness for itself; he goes out to the outside and speaks. 7 All who hate me whisper together against me; against me they plot harm for me: 8 "A thing of worthlessness has been poured out on him, and since he has lain down, he will not rise again." 9 Even the man of my peace, in whom I trusted, who ate my bread, has made his heel great against me. 10 And You, LORD, be gracious to me and raise me up, that I may repay them. 11 By this I know that You delight in me: that my enemy does not shout in triumph over me. 12 And I, in my integrity You have upheld me, and You have set me before Your face forever.

Closing Praise of Book One

40:12 my iniquities have overtaken me In verse 5 God's wonders were too many to count. Now David's troubles and sins seem too many. A believer can sing a new song one day and feel overwhelmed the next. The New Testament applies verses 6-8 to Jesus but not this verse, and we should not either. Jesus had no sins of His own (Heb 4:15). This is David's confession, and often ours.
40:13 LORD, hurry to my help Verses 13-17 appear again, with small changes, as Psalm 70. This prayer seems to have been used on its own too.
40:14 Let them be ashamed and let them be abashed altogether David asks God to deal with men who want him dead, and leaves the outcome there. "Aha! Aha!" is the sound of gloating. We can pray that God stops those who hurt us and turns their hearts. See the introduction on the hard lines.
40:17 And I am afflicted and needy; let the Lord think of me The king calls himself poor and needy. He has nothing to bring but his need, and that is enough. He began content to wait and ends asking God to hurry. God makes room for both prayers.
41:1 How blessed is he who considers the poor To consider the poor is to pay attention to them and act wisely for their good. God watches over the one who watches over the weak. Jesus said the merciful will be shown mercy (Matt 5:7).
41:4 heal my soul, for I have sinned against You David is sick and admits his sin in the same breath. He does not claim his illness is undeserved. He asks for mercy.
41:5 When will he die, and his name perish His enemies visit his sickbed with kind words and then go out and gossip, hoping he will not recover (41:6-8).
41:9 Even the man of my peace, in whom I trusted, who ate my bread, has made his heel great against me To share bread was a pledge of friendship. To lift the heel was to kick, or to turn and walk away in contempt. David may have had Ahithophel in mind (2 Sam 15:12). Jesus quoted this line of Judas: "The one feeding on the bread with Me lifted up his heel against Me" (John 13:18).
41:10 raise me up, that I may repay them As king, David was responsible to put down rebellion and judge treachery. Jesus, the greater Son of David, was raised from the dead and will judge all men in righteousness (Acts 17:31).
41:13 Blessed be the LORD, the God of Israel, from everlasting and to everlasting. Amen and Amen This blessing closes Book One of the Psalms (1-41). Each of the first four books ends with a word of praise like this (72:18-19; 89:52; 106:48). "Amen" means so be it, it is true.
42:0 A Maskil of the sons of Korah The sons of Korah were a family of Levites. Korah rebelled against Moses and died under God's judgment (Num 16), but his sons did not die (Num 26:11). Their descendants became singers in Israel's worship (1 Chr 6:31-37). Eleven psalms carry their name. God took a family with a dark past and gave it a song. Psalm 42 opens Book Two (42-72).
42:1 As a deer pants for channels of water, so my soul pants for You, God Many believe Psalms 42 and 43 were first one psalm. They share a refrain, and Psalm 43 has no heading. Picture a deer in dry country searching for a stream. The writer does not just want a better mood. He wants God Himself.
42:2 for the living God The gods of the nations were wood and stone. Only a living God can satisfy a thirsty soul. "If anyone thirsts, let him come to Me and drink" (John 7:37). To appear before God meant going up to His house at the feasts, and the writer cannot go.

Why do I go about mourning because of the oppression of an enemy? 3 Send Your light and Your truth; let them lead me; let them bring me to the mountain of Your holiness and to Your dwelling places. 4 And I will go to the altar of God, to the God of the joy of my rejoicing, and I will give thanks to You with a lyre, God, my God. 5 Why are you bowed down, my soul, and why are you in turmoil within me? Wait for God, for I will yet give thanks to Him, the salvation of my face and my God.

To the choirmaster. Of the sons of Korah (Qorach). 42:3 Where is your God He cries so much he has lost his appetite, and people keep asking why his God does not help. That question hurts most when we are already asking it ourselves.
42:4 These things I will remember He once led the festival crowd up to God's house with shouts of joy. Memories can make the present feel emptier. They also remind us that God has been good before, and He has not changed.
42:5 Why are you bowed down, my soul The refrain (42:5, 11; 43:5). The writer talks to himself. He does not deny his sadness, but he refuses to let it have the last word. "Wait for God" means waiting with hope. Depression is real, and some also need help from doctors or counselors. That is no shame. If despair ever turns to thoughts of ending your life, tell someone today, a pastor, a friend or a doctor. Jesus knew sorrow of soul too: "My soul is very sorrowful, even to death" (Matt 26:38).
42:6 from the land of the Jordan and the Hermons, from Mount Mizar Mount Hermon is the high mountain on Israel's northern edge, about 120 miles north of Jerusalem, where the Jordan begins. Mizar means small, and no one knows which hill it was. The writer is far from Jerusalem. We aren't told why.
42:7 Deep calls to deep at the sound of Your waterfalls Streams pour down from Hermon in waterfalls. The water that should speak of quenched thirst now feels like it is drowning him. But he calls them "Your" waves. Even his suffering is under God's control.
42:8 By day the LORD will command His steadfast love God gives orders to His loyal love, the way a king issues a decree, and in the long night He gives a song. Only here does the writer use LORD, the covenant name. In his darkest place he remembers that God has bound Himself to His people.
42:9 I will say to God my rock, Why have You forgotten me Faith and doubt side by side in one sentence. God does not reject that kind of prayer. The writer is still talking to God, and that matters.
42:11 the salvation of my face and my God The refrain again. Nothing outside has changed. He has lost his home, his place in worship and his joy, but not his God. The battle with discouragement is often not won in one round. He had to tell his soul to hope twice in eleven verses, and once more in Psalm 43.
43:1 Vindicate me, God, and argue my case Psalm 43 has no heading and continues Psalm 42, with the same refrain (43:5). Now the writer asks God to take his side against ungodly people and a deceitful man.
43:3 Send Your light and Your truth; let them lead me He pictures God's light and truth as two guides sent to bring him home to God's holy mountain. The way back to God's presence is lit by His own truth.
43:4 to the God of the joy of my rejoicing His goal is not only the altar but God Himself, his deepest joy. The one who cried "Where is your God?" (42:3) now says "my God."
44:1 our fathers have recounted to us the work that You worked in their days Psalm 44 is a lament for the nation after a defeat. It opens by remembering how God gave Israel the land. The victory was His, not theirs (44:3).
44:6 For not in my bow do I trust The people still trust God, not weapons. That is what makes the next section so hard.

9 Yet You have rejected us and humiliated us, and You do not go out with our armies. 10 You make us turn back from the adversary, and those who hate us have plundered for themselves. 11 You make us like sheep for food, and among the nations You have scattered us. 12 You sell Your people for no wealth, and You have not made it great by their price. 13 You make us a reproach to our neighbors, a mockery and derision to those around us. 14 You make us a byword among the nations, a shaking of the head among the peoples. 15 All the day my disgrace is before me, and the shame of my face has covered me, 16 because of the voice of one who taunts and reviles, because of an enemy and avenger. 17 All this has come on us, and we have not forgotten You, and we have not dealt falsely with Your covenant. 18 Our heart has not turned back, and our steps have not turned aside from Your path, 19 for You have crushed us in a place of jackals and covered us over with deep darkness. 20 If we had forgotten the name of our God and spread out our hands to a strange god, 21 would not God search this out? For He knows the secrets of the heart. 22 For on account of You we have been killed all the day; we have been regarded like sheep for slaughter. 23 Rouse Yourself! Why do You sleep, Lord? Awake! Do not reject us perpetually. 24 Why do You hide Your face, and forget our affliction and our oppression? 25 For our soul has sunk down to the dust; our belly has clung to the earth. 26 Arise, a help for us, and ransom us for the sake of Your steadfast love.

PSALMS 45

To the choirmaster, on "Lilies." Of the sons of Korah (Qorach). A Maskil. A song of loves. 1 My heart overflows with a good word; I am speaking my works to the King; my tongue is the stylus of a skilled scribe. 2 You are more handsome than the sons of mankind; grace has been poured on Your lips; therefore God has blessed You forever. 3 Gird Your sword on the thigh, mighty one, Your splendor and Your majesty. 4 And in Your majesty prosper; ride on for the cause of truth and humility and righteousness, and let Your right hand teach You awesome things. 5 Your arrows are sharpened; peoples will fall under You; they are in the heart of the enemies of the King. 6 Your throne, God, is forever and ever; a scepter of uprightness is the scepter of Your kingdom. 7 You have loved righteousness and hated wickedness; therefore God, Your God, has anointed You with the oil of joy above Your companions. 8 Myrrh and aloes and cassia are all Your garments; from palaces of ivory stringed instruments have made You glad. 9 Daughters of kings are among Your noble women; a queen consort stands at Your right hand in the gold of Ophir (Ofir). 10 Listen, daughter, and see, and incline your ear, and forget your people and the house of your father. 11 And let the King desire your beauty; for He is your Lord, and bow down to Him. 12 And the daughter of Tyre (Tsor) will come with a gift; the rich of the people will entreat your face. 13 All glorious is the daughter of the King within; her clothing is of settings of gold. 14 In embroidered robes she is led to the King; virgins after her, her companions, are being brought to You. 15 They are led with joy and rejoicing; they enter into the palace of the King. 16 In place of Your fathers will be Your sons; You will make them princes in all the earth. 17 I will cause Your name to be remembered in every generation and generation; therefore peoples will give thanks to You forever and ever.

44:9 Yet You have rejected us and humiliated us Israel had been faithful (44:17-18), and still they lost. Not every defeat is punishment for sin. This psalm gives words to God's people when suffering makes no sense, and it does not explain the mystery away.
44:22 For on account of You we have been killed all the day They suffer because they belong to God. Paul quotes this verse and answers it: "But in all these things we more than conquer through the One who loved us" (Rom 8:36-37). Nothing can separate us from God's love in Christ.
44:23 Why do You sleep, Lord God does not sleep (121:4), but it can feel that way. The psalm ends with bold prayer, resting on God's steadfast love (44:26), the only ground any of us has.
45:0 A song of loves A royal wedding song. "Lilies" is most likely a tune. The first meaning is a wedding of a king from David's line. But the words reach far beyond any earthly king, and the New Testament applies them to Christ.
45:2 grace has been poured on Your lips The King is beautiful in person and gracious in speech. The people "were marveling at the words of grace" (Luke 4:22) that came from Jesus' mouth.
45:4 ride on for the cause of truth and humility and righteousness The King goes to war for good causes, not for gain. Jesus, the Faithful and True, rides out, and "in righteousness He judges and makes war" (Rev 19:11).
45:6 Your throne, God, is forever and ever Here the King is called God. Hebrews quotes verses 6-7 of the Son, "But to the Son" (Heb 1:8), and shows the Son is far above the angels (Heb 1:8-9). The Father calls the Son God. Only Jesus fits these words: God, yet anointed by "God, Your God" (45:7).
45:10 forget your people and the house of your father The bride is told to leave her old home and give her loyalty to the King. Scripture pictures God's people as the bride of Christ (Eph 5:25-27; Rev 19:7). Following Him means a new first loyalty.
45:16 In place of Your fathers will be Your sons The King's line will go on, and His name will be remembered in every generation (45:17). In Christ that promise has no end.

PSALMS 46

To the choirmaster. Of the sons of Korah (Qorach). On Alamoth. A song. 1 God is a refuge and strength for us, a help in troubles, found abundantly. 2 Therefore we will not fear when the earth changes and when mountains shake in the heart of the seas. 3 Its waters will roar and foam; mountains will quake at its swelling. Selah. 4 There is a river whose streams make glad the city of God, the holy place of the dwellings of the Most High. 5 God is in her midst; she will not be shaken; God will help her at the turning of the morning. 6 Nations roared; kingdoms shook; He gave forth with His voice; the earth melts. 7 The LORD of armies is with us; a high refuge for us is the God of Jacob (Ya'aqov). Selah. 8 Come, see the works of the LORD, who has set desolations on the earth. 9 He makes wars cease to the end of the earth; the bow He breaks and cuts the spear in two; carts He burns with fire. 10 Let go, and know that I am God; I will be exalted among the nations; I will be exalted on the earth. 11 The LORD of armies is with us; a high refuge for us is the God of Jacob. Selah.

PSALMS 47

To the choirmaster. Of the sons of Korah (Qorach). A psalm. 1 Strike the palm, all the peoples; shout for joy to God with the sound of a ringing cry. 2 For the LORD Most High is to be feared, a great King over all the earth. 3 He subdues peoples under us and nations under our feet. 4 He chooses our inheritance for us, the pride of Jacob (Ya'aqov) whom He loved. Selah. 5 God has gone up with a shout, the LORD with the sound of a ram's horn. 6 Sing praises to God, sing praises; sing praises to our King, sing praises. 7 For God is the King of all the earth; sing praises with a Maskil. 8 God reigns over nations; God sits on the throne of His holiness. 9 The nobles of peoples have gathered, the people of the God of Abraham (Avraham); for the shields of the earth belong to God; He is greatly exalted.

46:0 On Alamoth The word means young women. 1 Chronicles 15:20 mentions harps tuned to Alamoth, so many think it called for high voices or high instruments. The meaning is uncertain.
46:1 God is a refuge and strength for us, a help in troubles, found abundantly Many scholars connect this psalm with Jerusalem's rescue from the Assyrian army about 701 B.C., when the angel of the LORD struck the camp and in the morning "all of them were dead corpses" (Isa 37:36). The heading does not name the occasion. A refuge is a safe place, and strength is power to keep going. God is both, and He is a help easily found, already present when trouble comes.
46:2 Therefore we will not fear when the earth changes To ancient people the mountains were the most solid things there were, and the sea a picture of chaos. If the mountains fell into the sea, the world would be coming apart. We know what it is when our world shakes: a diagnosis, a death, a betrayal. The psalm never promises the shaking won't come, only that God is our refuge when it does. We are "receiving a kingdom that cannot be shaken" (Heb 12:28).
46:4 There is a river whose streams make glad the city of God Jerusalem had no great river. It depended on the Gihon spring and channels. The river is a picture of God's presence refreshing His people while the sea rages outside. Scripture follows this river to the end: from the temple (Ezek 47:1-12), out of Jerusalem (Zech 14:8), to "a pure river of water of life" (Rev 22:1) flowing from the throne of God and of the Lamb.
46:5 God is in her midst; she will not be shaken The city is safe not because its walls are strong but because God lives inside them. Help comes "at the turning of the morning." I believe God still has a future for Zion, when the Messiah reigns from Jerusalem (Isa 2:2-4; Rom 11:1-2). And every believer can take this personally: God now lives in His people by His Spirit.
46:6 He gave forth with His voice; the earth melts Nations roar and shake like the raging sea. God only has to speak, and they melt like wax.
46:7 The LORD of armies is with us The commander of heaven's armies is "with us." That is the meaning of Immanuel, "God with us" (Matt 1:23). And why the God of Jacob? Jacob was a schemer who often failed, but God made promises to him and kept them (Gen 28:15). If God was faithful to Jacob, He will be faithful to us.
46:9 He makes wars cease to the end of the earth God breaks the bow, snaps the spear and burns the chariots. We do not see that yet. The prophets look ahead to the day when "they will beat their swords into plowshares" (Isa 2:4). I believe this will happen when Christ returns and reigns on the earth. Every war God stops now is a small preview.
46:10 Let go, and know that I am God Many Bibles say "Be still." The words mean to let go, stop fighting, drop your hands. God speaks first to the raging nations. His people need the same word: we strive and worry and try to hold everything together. It is a call to quiet trust and a call to surrender. One day every knee will bow (Phil 2:10-11).
46:11 a high refuge for us is the God of Jacob The refuge of verse 1 is still standing in verse 11. In between, the earth shook, the seas roared and the nations raged, and none of it changed who God is or where He is. If your world is shaking, read this psalm out loud and make the refrain your own.
47:1 Strike the palm, all the peoples All the nations are called to clap and shout to Israel's God. He is not a tribal god. He is "a great King over all the earth" (47:2).
47:5 God has gone up with a shout The ram's horn, the shofar, sounded at a king's coronation. The picture may be the ark going up to Zion, God ascending His throne. Many Christians have read it on Ascension Day, as Christ went up and sat down at the Father's right hand.
47:9 the people of the God of Abraham The nobles of the nations gather as one people with Abraham's descendants. This is the promise that in Abraham all the families of the earth would be blessed (Gen 12:3), and it comes true in Christ (Gal 3:8, 29).
48:2 Mount Zion, the far sides of the north Zion is not very high, but in God's eyes it is lofty and beautiful, the town of the great King. Jesus called Jerusalem "the city of the great King" (Matt 5:35). "The far sides of the north" was a phrase the Canaanites used for the mountain of their gods. The true mountain of God is Zion.

has made Himself known as a high refuge. 4 For look, the kings assembled; they passed on together. 5 They themselves saw; so they were astonished; they were terrified; they hurried away. 6 Trembling seized them there, anguish like a woman giving birth. 7 With an east wind You shatter the ships of Tarshish. 8 As we have heard, so we have seen in the city of the LORD of armies, in the city of our God; God will establish her forever. Selah. 9 We have reflected, God, on Your steadfast love in the midst of Your temple. 10 Like Your name, God, so is Your praise over the ends of the earth; Your right hand is full of righteousness. 11 Mount Zion will rejoice; the daughters of Judah (Yehuda) will be glad because of Your judgments. 12 Go around Zion and circle her; count her towers. 13 Set your heart on her rampart; walk through her citadels, so that you may recount it to a later generation. 14 For this is God, our God forever and ever; He Himself will guide us over death.

To the choirmaster. Of the sons of Korah (Qorach). A psalm. 1 Hear this, all the peoples; give ear, all inhabitants of the world, 2 both sons of mankind and sons of man, together rich and needy. 3 My mouth will speak wisdom, and the meditation of my heart will be understanding. 4 I will incline my ear to a proverb; I will open my riddle with a lyre. 5 Why should I fear in days of evil, when the iniquity of my heels surrounds me, 6 those who trust in their wealth and boast in the abundance of their riches? 7 No man will by any means ransom a brother; he will not give to God his ransom price, 8 for the redemption of their soul is costly, and he will cease forever, 9 that he should live on perpetually and not see the pit. 10 For he will see that wise men die; the fool and the stupid alike perish, and they leave their wealth to others. 11 Their inner thought is that their houses are forever, their dwelling places to generation and generation; they have called their lands by their names. 12 And mankind in honor will not remain; he is like the animals that are destroyed. 13 This is their way; folly is theirs; and after them men take pleasure in their mouth. Selah. 14 Like sheep they are appointed for Sheol; death will shepherd them; and the upright rule over them in the morning, and their form is for Sheol to wear away, away from his lofty abode. 15 Surely God will ransom my soul from the hand of Sheol, for He will take me. Selah. 16 Do not fear when a man becomes rich, when the glory of his house increases. 17 For in his death he will not take anything; his glory will not go down after him. 18 For in his life he blesses his soul, and they praise you when you do well for yourself; 19 it will go to the generation of his fathers; they will not see light perpetually. 20 Mankind in honor, and who does not understand, is like the animals that are destroyed.

PSALMS 50

A psalm of Asaph (Asaf). 1 God, God, the LORD, has spoken, and He has summoned the earth from the rising of the sun to its setting. 2 From Zion (Tsiyon), the perfection of beauty, God has shone forth. 3 Our God comes, and He will not be silent; fire consumes before Him, and around Him it storms exceedingly. 4 He summons the heavens above and the earth, to judge His people: 5 "Gather to Me My godly ones, those who 48:4 the kings assembled; they passed on together Enemy kings came to attack, took one look, and fled in terror. The city did not need to fight. God was in her citadels (48:3).

48:8 As we have heard, so we have seen What their fathers told them about God, they have now seen with their own eyes. God will establish His city forever. I believe God still has a future for Zion (Isa 2:2-4).
48:12 Go around Zion and circle her; count her towers Walk around the city and look closely, so you can tell the next generation. The real point is not the towers but the God who keeps them (48:14).
48:14 He Himself will guide us over death God guides His people all their days and does not abandon them even at death. The words may mean until death or beyond death, but either way, the God of Zion is our God forever.
49:1 Hear this, all the peoples A wisdom psalm for everyone, rich and poor alike. Its riddle is one every person must face: what can money do against death?
49:7 No man will by any means ransom a brother No amount of money can buy a life back from death. The price of a soul is too high for anyone to pay. Only God can pay it, and He did in Christ, who gave His life "a ransom for many" (Mark 10:45).
49:12 he is like the animals that are destroyed The rich man names lands after himself (49:11), yet he dies like any animal. Honor without understanding does not last (49:20).
49:14 death will shepherd them A chilling reversal of Psalm 23. Those who trust in wealth have death for their shepherd. "The upright rule over them in the morning," a hint of the morning when God sets all things right.
49:15 Surely God will ransom my soul from the hand of Sheol, for He will take me What no man can pay (49:7), God will. "He will take me" is the word used of Enoch, whom God took (Gen 5:24). Here is an Old Testament hope that reaches past the grave, fulfilled in Christ's resurrection (1 Cor 15:55-57).
49:17 in his death he will not take anything You can't take it with you (1 Tim 6:7). So do not fear or envy the rich (49:16).
50:0 A psalm of Asaph Asaph was a Levite, one of David's chief musicians, who led worship with cymbals (1 Chr 16:4-5). Twelve psalms carry his name: 50 and 73-83.
50:1 God, God, the LORD, has spoken Three names for God: El, Elohim, the LORD. He calls all the earth to court, from sunrise to sunset, and the case is against His own people (50:4).

PSALMS 51

To the choirmaster. A psalm of David, when Nathan (Natan) the prophet came to him, after he had gone in to Bathsheba (Bat-Sheva). 1 Be gracious to me, God, according to Your 50:8 Not for your sacrifices do I rebuke you Israel's sacrifices were offered faithfully. The trouble was that they thought God needed them. God owns "the animals on a thousand hills" (50:10). He is not hungry. He wants thankful, trusting hearts (50:14).

50:15 call to Me in a day of trouble; I will rescue you, and you will glorify Me This is what God wants: not to be fed, but to be trusted. We call, He rescues, we give Him glory. That is the whole shape of a life with God.
50:16 What is it to you to recount My decrees God turns to the wicked who say the right words and live the wrong way. They quote His Law and hate His discipline. Religion on the lips without obedience in the life is what God rebukes most sharply.
50:21 you imagined that I was exactly like you God's silence was patience, and they took it as approval. We always shrink God when we sin. But He will not stay silent forever.
50:23 He who sacrifices a thank offering glorifies Me The psalm ends where verse 14 pointed: a thankful heart and a life set on God's way. To him God will show "the salvation of God."
51:0 when Nathan the prophet came to him, after he had gone in to Bathsheba The account is in 2 Samuel 11-12. David stayed home from the war, saw Uriah's wife bathing, and had her brought to the palace. He was the king, and nothing suggests she was free to refuse. When she was pregnant, he arranged Uriah's death in battle. God sent Nathan with the story of a rich man who took a poor man's only lamb, and said, you are the man. We should not soften any of this. David used his power to take what was not his and destroy a faithful man. Psalm 51 is the prayer of a man who finally stopped hiding.
51:0 A psalm of David God's forgiveness was real: Nathan said the LORD had taken away his sin. But it did not undo every consequence, and the child died (2 Sam 12:13-14). The child died because of David's sin, not his own. David said, "I am going to him, and he will not return to me" (2 Sam 12:23). I believe little children who die are safe with God. If you have lost a child, your loss is not God's verdict on your sin.
51:1 according to Your steadfast love David has no claim on God and does not list his good deeds. He appeals only to God's character, His hesed and the abundance of His compassion. "Wipe out" is the language of wiping a record clean. "Wash" pictures scrubbing dirty clothes. "Cleanse" is the word for being made clean to come back to worship.
51:3 my sin is before me continually David cannot stop seeing what he did. That is what an awakened conscience feels like.
51:4 Against You, You alone, I have sinned Did he not sin against Bathsheba and Uriah too? Yes, terribly. They mattered. But all sin at its root is against God, who made them and gave the commands David broke (Gen 39:9). David does not argue with God's verdict. Paul quotes this line: "let God be true, and every man a liar" (Rom 3:4).
51:5 in iniquity I was brought forth, and in sin my mother conceived me He does not mean his mother sinned in conceiving him. He means sin goes back as far as he does. Sin entered through Adam and spread to all (Rom 5:12), and most Christians read this to mean every person is born with a sinful nature. We sin because we are sinners. That is why David needs more than a fresh start. He needs a new heart. The same heart is in all of us.
51:6 You desire truth in the inward parts David spent months living a lie. God wanted the opposite: truth all the way down, in the hidden places no one else can see.
51:7 You will purify me from sin with hyssop Hyssop was a small bushy plant used to put the Passover blood on the doorposts (Exod 12:22) and to sprinkle blood or water in cleansing rites (Lev 14; Num 19). David asks God Himself to do the sprinkling. "They will become white like snow" (Isa 1:18). The blood of animals could not take away sins (Heb 10:4), but the blood of Christ cleanses the conscience (Heb 9:14).
51:8 let the bones that You have crushed rejoice Sin always takes our joy. Guilt hurt like broken bones (32:3-4), but the God who wounded his conscience can heal it, and broken bones can dance again.

ness; let the bones that You have crushed rejoice. 9 Hide Your face from my sins, and wipe out all my iniquities. 10 Create for me a pure heart, God, and renew a steadfast spirit within me. 11 Do not cast me away from before You, and do not take the Spirit of Your holiness from me. 12 Restore to me the joy of Your salvation, and a willing spirit will sustain me. 13 I will teach transgressors Your ways, and sinners will return to You. 14 Deliver me from bloodguilt, God, the God of my salvation; my tongue will shout for joy of Your righteousness. 15 Lord, You will open my lips, and my mouth will declare Your praise. 16 For You do not desire sacrifice, or I would give it; You are not pleased with burnt offering. 17 The sacrifices of God are a broken spirit; a broken and crushed heart, God, You will not despise. 18 Do good in Your favor to Zion (Tsiyon); You will build the walls of Jerusalem (Yerushalayim). 19 Then You will delight in sacrifices of righteousness, burnt offering and whole offering; then they will offer young bulls on Your altar.

51:9 Hide Your face from my sins When God forgives, He does not keep a file to open later. He casts our sins into the depths of the sea (Mic 7:19).
51:10 Create for me a pure heart, God The heart of the psalm. "Create" is the word of Genesis 1:1, and when it means create, God is always the one who does it. David cannot try harder and become clean. God promised this very thing: "I will give you a new heart, and a new spirit I will put within you" (Ezek 36:26). In Christ we are a new creation (2 Cor 5:17). If you have tried and failed to change yourself, make this your prayer. God still makes new hearts.
51:11 do not take the Spirit of Your holiness from me More than his throne, David fears losing God. He had seen the Spirit come on him and depart from Saul (1 Sam 16:13-14), and Saul's life fell apart. In the Old Testament the Spirit came on kings and prophets for their work. Since Pentecost He lives in every believer (Acts 2:38; Eph 4:30). We can still pray this as a cry never to grieve the Spirit or drift from God.
51:12 Restore to me the joy of Your salvation Sin robbed David of the gladness of walking with God. He does not trust himself to stay faithful, so he asks God for a willing spirit to hold him up.
51:13 I will teach transgressors Your ways David's sin will not end his usefulness to God. A forgiven sinner makes a good teacher of grace. Peter denied Jesus, wept, was restored and preached at Pentecost (Luke 22:61-62; John 21:15-17). Your worst failure, forgiven, may be the story God uses to bring someone else home.
51:14 Deliver me from bloodguilt David names it plainly: Uriah's blood is on his hands, and the Law allowed no ransom for a murderer (Num 35:31). Yet he sings of God's righteousness. At the cross God's justice and mercy meet, and He is righteous when He forgives (Rom 3:26).
51:16 For You do not desire sacrifice, or I would give it The Law offered no sacrifice for deliberate adultery and murder (Lev 20:10). David cannot buy his way out, and God never wanted sacrifices without a heart behind them (40:6).
51:17 a broken and crushed heart, God, You will not despise Proud people despise a broken heart. God does not. He dwells "with the contrite and lowly of spirit" (Isa 57:15). The tax collector prayed, "God, be propitious to me, the sinner!" (Luke 18:13), and went home justified. To those hurt by someone else's sin: God's forgiveness of the sinner does not mean your pain does not matter. True repentance accepts the consequences and does not demand trust it has not earned.
51:18 You will build the walls of Jerusalem A king's sin harms his people, so David prays for the city. Some scholars think verses 18-19 were added after the walls fell in 586 B.C. The heading gives the psalm to David, and David was building up Jerusalem in his day, so it fits him too.
51:19 Then You will delight in sacrifices of righteousness Once the heart is right, the offerings are right. For us the one sacrifice for sin is already made (Heb 10:10). Our offerings now are our lives (Rom 12:1) and "a sacrifice of praise" (Heb 13:15). The psalm that began with a guilty man begging for mercy ends with God's people at His altar, worshiping again.
52:0 when Doeg the Edomite came and told Saul Doeg saw David receive bread and Goliath's sword from Ahimelech the priest, told Saul, and then killed eighty-five priests and the town of Nob when Saul's own men refused (1 Sam 21:7; 22:9-19). David felt the weight of it: "I have caused the death of every soul of the house of your father" (1 Sam 22:22).
52:1 Why do you boast in evil, O mighty man Doeg was proud of what he had done. David answers with a contrast: the wicked man's power lasts a moment, but "the steadfast love of God is all the day."
52:2 Your tongue devises destruction, like a sharpened razor Doeg killed with a sword, but it began with his tongue. Words can do terrible harm (James 3:6).
52:7 the man who did not make God his refuge Here is the root of it. He trusted his riches and his strength instead of God. The righteous "laugh" (52:6), not with cruel glee but in awe at how God brings the proud down.
52:8 like a luxuriant olive tree in the house of God The olive tree lives for centuries and stays green. Doeg will be uprooted (52:5). David, who trusts God's steadfast love, will be planted and fruitful (1:3).
53:1 A fool has said in his heart, There is no God Psalm 53 is nearly the same as Psalm 14. The main change is that it uses "God" (Elohim) where Psalm 14 uses "the LORD," as most psalms in Book Two do. Mahalath may be a tune or a word for sickness or sorrow; no one is sure. God thought this truth worth saying twice: all have turned aside (Rom 3:10-12).

53:5 God has scattered the bones of him who encamps against you Here Psalm 53 differs most from Psalm 14 (14:5-6). It looks at an enemy army struck down and its dead left unburied, perhaps a particular victory God gave His people.
54:0 when the Ziphites came and said to Saul The people of Ziph, a town in Judah, twice betrayed David's hiding place to Saul (1 Sam 23:19; 26:1). They were his own tribe. Betrayal by your own people cuts deep.
54:1 God, save me by Your name God's name stands for all He is. David has no army to call on, only God's character and might.
54:4 Look, God is my helper The turn of the psalm. Strangers seek his life, but God is on his side. Saul had to break off the chase when the Philistines raided (1 Sam 23:27-28).
54:6 With a freewill offering I will sacrifice to You A freewill offering was not required by the Law. It was given out of a glad heart. David promises thanks before the rescue is complete.
55:4 the terrors of death have fallen on me David is not calm here. Fear and trembling have covered him. Scripture lets God's people be honest about panic.
55:6 Oh, that I had a wing like the dove Who has not wished to fly away from trouble? David longs for escape. In the end he finds it not in the wilderness but in God (55:16, 22).
55:12 it is not an enemy who taunts me The hardest wound is from a friend, a companion who worshiped beside him in God's house (55:13-14). Many think David had Ahithophel in mind, his trusted counselor who joined Absalom (2 Sam 15:12, 31). Jesus knew this pain with Judas.
55:15 let them go down to Sheol alive A hard line, echoing the judgment on Korah's rebels, who went down alive into the earth (Num 16:30-33). David asks God to judge treachery. See the introduction on the hard lines.
55:17 Evening and morning and noon I will complain and moan David prays all day long, with groans as well as words. Daniel prayed three times a day too (Dan 6:10). God hears groaning prayers.
55:21 his words were softer than oil, and they were drawn swords The betrayer's words were smooth as cream while his heart was at war. Judas betrayed Jesus with a kiss (Luke 22:48).

22 Cast your burden on the LORD, and He will sustain you; He will never permit the righteous to be shaken. 23 And You, God, will bring them down to the well of the pit; men of bloodshed and deceit will not reach half their days; and I will trust in You.

Selah. God will send His steadfast love and His faithfulness. 4 My soul is in the midst of lions; I lie down among those who blaze, the sons of man, their teeth are a spear and arrows, and their tongue a sharp sword. 5 Be exalted above the heavens, God; let Your glory be over all the earth. 6 They prepared a net for my steps; my soul was bowed down; they dug a pit before me; they have fallen into its midst. Selah. 7 My heart is steadfast, God, my heart is steadfast; I will sing, and I will sing praises. 8 Awake, my glory! Awake, harp and lyre! I will awaken the dawn. 9 I will give thanks to You among the peoples, Lord; I will sing praises to You among the nations. 10 For Your steadfast love is great to the heavens, and Your faithfulness to the clouds. 11 Be exalted above the heavens, God; let Your glory be over all the earth.

55:22 Cast your burden on the LORD, and He will sustain you David turns from his own story to every reader. Whatever has been given to you to carry, throw it on Him. Peter says the same: "having cast all your anxiety on Him, because He cares about you" (1 Pet 5:7).
56:0 when the Philistines seized him in Gath The same time in Gath as Psalm 34 (1 Sam 21:10-15). Psalm 34 is the thanks afterward, Psalm 56 the prayer while he was afraid. "A Dove of Distant Terebinths" is most likely a tune.
56:3 In the day I fear, I will trust in You David does not say he never feels afraid. He says what he does when fear comes. Faith is not the absence of fear. It is where we take our fear.
56:4 What will flesh do to me Next to God, every enemy is only flesh, weak and passing. Hebrews uses the same thought: "The Lord is my helper, and I will not be afraid; what will man do to me?" (Heb 13:6).
56:8 put my tears in Your skin bottle; are they not in Your book A skin bottle held wine or water. David pictures God collecting his tears and writing down his wanderings. Not one tear of His people is lost or forgotten. One day He will wipe every tear away (Rev 21:4).
56:9 this I know, that God is for me David cannot see the outcome yet, but he knows this. Paul builds on the same truth: if God is for us, who is against us (Rom 8:31)?
56:13 to walk before God in the light of life God saved David's life so he could walk with God. Rescue is never only from something. It is for something.
57:0 when he fled from before Saul in the cave Either the cave of Adullam (1 Sam 22:1) or the cave at En-gedi, where David spared Saul's life (1 Sam 24:3). "Do Not Destroy" is likely the name of a tune, and it fits a man who refused to destroy the LORD's anointed.
57:1 in the shadow of Your wings I will take refuge until destruction passes by Hidden in a cave, David knows the real shelter is God. The storm has not passed yet, but he knows it will.
57:5 Be exalted above the heavens, God; let Your glory be over all the earth The refrain (57:5, 11). In the middle of lions and spears (57:4), David's greatest wish is not his own safety but God's glory.
57:7 My heart is steadfast, God Fixed, settled, ready. David decides to sing before the danger is gone. Verses 7-11 appear again in Psalm 108:1-5.
57:8 I will awaken the dawn David will be up before the sun, waking the morning with praise instead of waiting for the morning to wake him.
58:1 Do you indeed speak righteousness in silence David addresses unjust rulers and judges, "sons of man" who should uphold justice and instead weigh out violence (58:2).
58:4 like a deaf cobra that shuts its ear Snake charmers played to cobras. These men are like a snake that will not listen. They refuse every warning.

58:6 God, break down their teeth in their mouth Psalm 58 is one of the hardest prayers for judgment. The wicked are pictured as lions, and David asks God to take away their power to tear. He asks God to do it, not his own hand. See the introduction on the hard lines.
58:10 he will bathe his feet in the blood of the wicked A picture from the battlefield of total victory over evil. The point is not cruel delight but that justice is finally done, so that "man will say" there is a God who judges (58:11). Revelation shows the same longing answered (Rev 19:1-2). Until that day, we pray for our enemies (Matt 5:44).
59:0 when Saul sent, and they watched the house to kill him Saul's men surrounded David's house at night, and his wife Michal let him down through a window (1 Sam 19:11-17).
59:6 they growl like the dog and go around the city Wild dogs roamed the streets at night looking for scraps. That is how David saw the men prowling around his house.
59:11 Do not kill them, lest my people forget David asks God not to wipe his enemies out at once, but to humble them, so that the lesson of God's justice is not forgotten. Even in judgment, he wants God's glory known (59:13).
59:16 I will sing joyfully of Your steadfast love in the morning They prowl at evening (59:14). David sings in the morning. He came through the night.
60:0 Joab returned and struck Edom in the Valley of Salt The battles are in 2 Samuel 8:3-14 and 1 Chronicles 18:12. The numbers differ (12,000 here, 18,000 in 1 Chr 18:12; compare 2 Sam 8:13). Several commanders fought, and the totals may count different parts of the campaign.
60:1 God, You have rejected us While David fought in the north, Edom seems to have struck from the south and Israel suffered a defeat. The psalm begins in that shock.
60:6 I will divide up Shechem God speaks as the owner of the land. The places named are His: Shechem and Succoth, Gilead and Manasseh. Moab is His washbasin, and over Edom He throws His sandal, a sign of taking possession. Verses 5-12 appear again in Psalm 108:6-13.

throw My sandal; over Me shout aloud, Philistia (Peleshet)." 9 Who will bring me to a city of fortification? 60:12 In God we will do valiantly Human help is worthless (60:11). With God they will fight bravely, and He will win the battle.
61:2 lead me on a rock that is higher than I David feels far away, "from the end of the earth," and too weak to climb to safety. He needs a rock higher than he can reach, and God has to lead him there.
61:4 Let me sojourn in Your tent forever David longs to live as God's guest and hide under His wings. That is the safest place in the world.
61:6 You will add days to the days of the king A prayer for the king's long life and throne. The words "forever" (61:7) reach beyond David to the Son of David who reigns forever.
62:0 on Jeduthun Jeduthun was one of David's chief musicians (1 Chr 16:41-42; 25:1). "On Jeduthun" may mean the psalm was given to his choir or followed a style or tune connected with him. Many connect the psalm with Absalom's revolt (2 Sam 15), but it does not say.
62:1 Only toward God is my soul in silence David is not silent because he has nothing to say. He pours out his heart in verse 8. He is silent because he has stopped arguing, scheming and trying to save himself, and is waiting for God to act. "In keeping quiet and in trust will be your strength" (Isa 30:15).
62:2 Only He is my rock and my salvation, my high refuge "Only" runs through the psalm. A rock is solid, and a high refuge is a stronghold up high. Not greatly shaken: David may be rattled, but he will not be knocked down.
62:3 like a leaning wall, a fence pushed down His enemies see him as a wall about to fall and want to give it the last push. They bless with their mouths and curse inside (62:4). David does not answer with schemes of his own.
62:5 Only for God be silent, my soul In verse 1 his soul was silent. Now he commands it to be. Even a man of faith has to tell his soul to be still more than once.
62:6 I will not be shaken Verse 2 said not greatly shaken. Verse 6 drops the word "greatly." His confidence has grown as he prayed. The longer we look at God, the steadier we become.
62:8 pour out your heart before Him David turns to the people. Trust Him not only in emergencies but "at every time." Silence before God does not mean keeping everything inside. We tell Him everything, fear, anger, hurt, and then rest and let Him act. "My refuge" (62:7) becomes "a refuge for us."
62:9 in the balances they go up Low and high alike: put all humanity on one side of a merchant's scale, and it rises, lighter than a breath. Nations are "like the dust of the scales" (Isa 40:15). Trust in people instead of God, and they will let us down.
62:10 wealth, if it bears fruit, do not set your heart on it Riches are not evil, but do not lean your heart on them. Beware the one "who treasures up for himself and is not rich toward God" (Luke 12:21; Matt 6:24).
62:11 Once God has spoken; twice I have heard this A Hebrew way of saying something is sure. Strength belongs to God, and so does steadfast love. Power without love would terrify us, and love without power could not help us. He has both, so we can wait for Him.
62:12 You repay a man according to his work God "will render to each according to his works" (Rom 2:6; Matt 16:27). We are saved by grace through faith, not by works (Eph 2:8-9), but true faith shows itself in what we do. For the believer, the judgment of works is not about whether we are saved but how we lived as those who are. David does not need to repay the two-faced men himself.
63:0 when he was in the wilderness of Judah David was in that wilderness twice: hiding from Saul (1 Sam 23-24), and as king fleeing Absalom (2 Sam 15:23-28). Verse 11 calls him "the king," so many think it is the Absalom years. Either setting fits.

(Yehuda). 1 God, You are my God; I seek You earnestly; my soul thirsts for You; my flesh longs for You in a dry and weary land without water. 2 So I have gazed on You in the holy place, to see Your strength and Your glory. 3 For Your steadfast love is better than life; my lips will extol You. 4 So I will bless You in my life; in Your name I will lift up my hands. 5 As with fat and fatness my soul will be satisfied, and with lips of joyful cries my mouth will praise You. 6 When I have remembered You on my bed, in the night watches I meditate on You. 7 For You have been a help to me, and in the shadow of Your wings I will sing for joy. 8 My soul clings after You; Your right hand holds me fast. 9 And they, for destruction they seek my life; they will go into the lower parts of the earth. 10 They will pour him out on the hands of the sword; they will be the portion of foxes. 11 And the king will rejoice in God; everyone who swears by Him will boast, for the mouth of those who speak falsehood will be shut.

PSALMS 64

To the choirmaster. A psalm of David. 1 Hear my voice, God, in my complaint; You will preserve my life from dread of an enemy. 2 You will hide me from the secret counsel of evildoers, from the scheming of those who work wickedness, 3 who sharpen their tongue like the sword; they bend their arrow, a bitter word, 4 to shoot from the secret places at the blameless; suddenly they shoot at him and do not fear. 5 They strengthen for themselves an evil matter; they talk of hiding snares; they say, "Who will see them?" 6 They search out injustices: "We have finished a searched-out plot." 63:1 God, You are my God; I seek You earnestly The word is tied to the dawn. David seeks God first. He looks at the cracked ground and empty riverbeds and thinks, my soul is like that without God. We all thirst for something, and only Jesus gives water that satisfies (John 4:14).
63:2 So I have gazed on You in the holy place David remembers worship at the tent in Jerusalem, where he saw God's strength and glory. That memory carries him through the dry place. The times we meet God in worship store up strength for the times we feel far from Him.
63:3 For Your steadfast love is better than life Running for his life, David says God's loyal love is worth more. He could lose his life. He could not lose God's love. Nothing, not even death, can separate us from it (Rom 8:35-39).
63:4 in Your name I will lift up my hands Lifting the hands was a posture of prayer and praise, reaching out to God. David cannot go to the sanctuary, but he can worship where he is.
63:5 As with fat and fatness my soul will be satisfied Hungry in the wilderness, David feels as if he has been to a banquet. God Himself satisfies him.
63:6 in the night watches I meditate on You The night was divided into watches, shifts when guards stayed awake. David lies awake, perhaps from danger, and fills the hours with God instead of worry. When you can't sleep, try what David did.
63:7 in the shadow of Your wings I will sing for joy A mother bird covering her young from heat and danger. Ruth came to take refuge under the LORD's wings (Ruth 2:12), and Jesus longed to gather Jerusalem like a hen gathers her chicks (Matt 23:37).
63:8 My soul clings after You; Your right hand holds me fast "Clings" is the word of Genesis 2:24 for a man joined to his wife. David clings to God, and God holds David. Both are true, and David needs both.
63:9 they will go into the lower parts of the earth Hard lines. The lower parts of the earth mean the grave, and "foxes" may mean jackals that scavenged battlefields. But look at how David treated these men: he spared Saul (1 Sam 24) and wept over Absalom (2 Sam 18:5, 33). These are the words of a king who put the outcome in God's hands. See the introduction on the hard lines.
63:11 the king will rejoice in God Not in his enemies' fall, but in God. David started thirsty and ends with a full heart, and the ground around him is just as dry. He has found that God is enough.
64:3 who sharpen their tongue like the sword The enemies attack with words: secret plots, bitter lies shot from hiding. They think no one sees (64:5).
64:7 And God shot at them with an arrow The turn is sudden. They shot arrows of words, and God shoots back. Their own tongues bring them down (64:8). God sees what they thought was hidden.
64:9 And all mankind feared, and they declared the work of God When God judges, people take notice and think about His ways. The righteous do not boast in themselves but rejoice and take refuge in the LORD (64:10).
65:1 To You silence is praise, God, in Zion Some read it as praise waits for You. Either way, worship begins in quiet awe before God, then becomes vows kept and songs sung. Psalm 65 is a harvest song of thanksgiving.
65:2 You who hear prayer, to You all flesh will come God's name here is the One who hears prayer. People from every nation will come to Him (Isa 56:7).
65:3 our transgressions, You, You make atonement for them Before David praises the harvest, he praises forgiveness. To atone is to cover sin so the sinner is reconciled to God. Our sins overpower us, but God covers them. In Christ He has done it once for all (Rom 3:25).
65:4 How blessed is he whom You choose and bring near The greatest blessing is not the harvest but being brought near to God, to live in His courts and be satisfied with Him.

tains by His strength, being girded with might, 7 who calms the roar of the seas, the roar of their waves, and the tumult of the peoples. 8 And those who dwell at the ends feared because of Your signs; You make the goings out of morning and evening shout for joy. 9 You have visited the earth and made it overflow; You greatly enrich it; the stream of God is full of water; You prepare their grain, for so You prepare it, 10 watering its furrows abundantly, settling its ridges; You soften it with showers; You bless its growth. 11 You have crowned the year of Your goodness, and Your tracks drip with fatness. 12 The pastures of the wilderness drip, and the hills gird themselves with rejoicing. 13 The meadows are clothed with the flock, and the valleys cover themselves with grain; they shout for joy; yes, they sing.

PSALMS 66

To the choirmaster. A song, a psalm. 1 Shout for joy to God, all the earth; 2 sing praises to the glory of His name; make His praise glory. 3 Say to God, "How awesome are Your deeds! In the greatness of Your strength Your enemies cringe before You. 4 All the earth bows down to You and sings praises to You; they sing praises to Your name." Selah. 5 Come and see the works of God, awesome in His deed toward the sons of man. 6 He turned the sea into dry land; they passed through the river on foot; there let us rejoice in Him, 7 who rules by His might forever; His eyes keep watch on the nations; let not the rebellious exalt themselves. Selah. 8 Bless our God, peoples, and make the sound of His praise heard, 9 who has set our soul in life, and has not let our foot slip. 10 For You have tested us, God; You have refined us as silver is refined. 11 You have brought us into the net; You have laid affliction on our loins. 12 You have made man ride over our head; we have gone through fire and through water, and You have brought us out to abundance. 13 I will come into Your house with burnt offerings; I will pay to You my vows, 14 which my lips opened to utter, and my mouth spoke when I was in distress. 15 Burnt offerings of fatlings I will offer up to You, with the smoke of rams; I will offer cattle with goats. Selah. 16 Come, hear, all who fear God, and let me recount what He has done for my soul. 17 To Him I called with my mouth, and exaltation was under my tongue. 18 If I had regarded wickedness in my heart, the Lord would not listen.
19 Nevertheless, God has heard; He has paid attention to the voice of my prayer. 20 Blessed be God, who has not turned aside my prayer, nor His steadfast love from me.

PSALMS 67

To the choirmaster, with stringed instruments. A psalm, a song. 1 May God be gracious to us and bless us; may He make His face shine with us, Selah, 2 that Your way may be known on the earth, Your salvation among all nations. 3 Let the peoples give thanks to You, God; let the peoples give thanks to You, all of them. 4 Let the nations rejoice and sing for joy, for You will judge the peoples with uprightness, and the nations on the earth, You will guide them. Selah. 5 Let the peoples give thanks to You, God; let the peoples give thanks to You, all of them. 6 The earth has given its produce; God, our God, will bless us. 7 God will bless us, and all the ends of the earth will fear Him.

65:7 who calms the roar of the seas The God who stills the sea also quiets the restless nations. Jesus calmed the storm with a word, and His disciples asked who this could be (Mark 4:39-41).
65:9 You have visited the earth and made it overflow Rain in Israel was never taken for granted. The farmer plows, but God waters the furrows, softens the ground and makes the grain grow. Every harvest is His gift (Acts 14:17).
65:13 they shout for joy; yes, they sing The meadows and valleys, covered with flocks and grain, are pictured as singing. Creation praises its Maker when it does what He made it to do.
66:1 Shout for joy to God, all the earth The psalm begins with the whole world and ends with one man's testimony (66:16-20). God's great acts for nations and His care for one soul belong together.
66:6 He turned the sea into dry land The Red Sea (Exod 14:21-22) and the Jordan (Josh 3:14-17). "There let us rejoice in Him": every generation of God's people shares in what He did then.
66:10 You have refined us as silver is refined Israel went "through fire and through water" (66:12). Hard times were not wasted. God used them to purify His people, as a refiner heats silver to burn off the dross (1 Pet 1:6-7). And He brought them out "to abundance."
66:13 I will pay to You my vows Promises made "when I was in distress" (66:14) are kept when the trouble is over. It is easy to make vows in a crisis and forget them later.
66:18 If I had regarded wickedness in my heart, the Lord would not listen Cherished, unconfessed sin blocks prayer (Isa 59:2). The writer had not held on to sin, and God heard him. This is not a call to be sinless before we pray, but to be honest and turn from what we know is wrong.
67:1 May God be gracious to us and bless us; may He make His face shine with us These words echo the priestly blessing God gave Aaron (Num 6:24-26).
67:2 that Your way may be known on the earth, Your salvation among all nations Here is why God blesses His people: so the nations will know Him. Israel was blessed to be a blessing (Gen 12:2-3). The church has the same calling (Matt 28:19).
67:4 You will judge the peoples with uprightness The nations can rejoice at God's judgment, because He judges fairly and guides them. I believe that will be seen fully when Christ reigns over the nations from Zion (Isa 2:3-4).

PSALMS 68

To the choirmaster. Of David, a psalm, a song. 1 Let God arise; let His enemies be scattered, and let those who hate Him flee from before Him. 2 As smoke is driven away, drive them away; as wax melts before the fire, let the wicked perish before God. 3 And let the righteous be glad; let them exult before God, and let them rejoice with gladness. 4 Sing to God, sing praises to His name; lift up a highway for Him who rides through the deserts, His name is the LORD, and exult before Him. 5 A father of the fatherless and a judge of widows is God in the dwelling place of His holiness. 6 God causes the solitary to dwell in a house; He brings out prisoners into prosperity; only the rebellious dwell in a parched land. 7 God, when You went out before Your people, when You marched through the desolate place, Selah, 8 the earth quaked; the heavens also dropped rain before God, this Sinai (Sinay), before God, the God of Israel (Yisra'el). 9 A rain of freewill gifts You shed abroad, God; Your inheritance, when it was weary, You, You established it. 10 Your community dwelt in it; You prepared in Your goodness for the poor, God. 11 The Lord gives the word; the women who bear the news are a great host: 12 "Kings of armies flee, they flee, and she who dwells in the house divides the spoil. 13 Though you lie down between the sheepfolds, the wings of a dove are covered with silver, and its pinions with greenish gold." 14 When the Almighty scatters kings in it, it snows on Mount Zalmon (Tsalmon). 15 A mountain of God is the mountain of Bashan; a mountain of peaks is the mountain of Bashan. 16 Why do you watch with envy, mountains of peaks, the mountain God desired for His dwelling? Yes, the LORD will dwell in it forever. 17 The chariots of God are twice ten thousand, thousands repeated; the Lord is among them, Sinai in holiness. 18 You have gone up to the height; You have taken captive captivity; You have received gifts among mankind, and even among the rebellious, that the LORD God may dwell there. 19 Blessed be the Lord; day by day He bears a load for us, the God, our salvation. 68:1 Let God arise; let His enemies be scattered These are the words Moses spoke whenever the ark set out in the wilderness (Num 10:35). Psalm 68 is a great march of God from Sinai to Zion. Many think it was sung when David brought the ark to Jerusalem (2 Sam 6).
68:4 Him who rides through the deserts, His name is the LORD The Canaanites called Baal the rider on the clouds. David says the true Rider is the LORD, who led Israel through the desert (68:33).
68:5 A father of the fatherless and a judge of widows is God The mighty God of the march stops for the weakest. He gives the lonely a home and frees prisoners (68:6). God's people are to care for the same people (James 1:27).
68:8 the earth quaked; the heavens also dropped rain before God, this Sinai The psalm recalls God coming down on Mount Sinai with earthquake and storm (Exod 19:16-18), and then providing for His people in the land.
68:11 the women who bear the news are a great host In Israel women sang the news of victory (Exod 15:20-21; 1 Sam 18:6-7). Kings flee, and those who stayed home divide the spoil.
68:15 A mountain of God is the mountain of Bashan The high, many-peaked mountains of Bashan, likely including Hermon, are pictured looking with envy at little Zion (68:16). God did not choose the tallest mountain. He chose the one He desired. God often chooses what the world overlooks (1 Cor 1:27-28).
68:17 The chariots of God are twice ten thousand, thousands repeated God's heavenly army is beyond counting, and He comes with it from Sinai to His sanctuary (Deut 33:2; 2 Kgs 6:17).
68:18 You have gone up to the height; You have taken captive captivity The picture is a conquering king going up to his capital with captives in his train and receiving tribute. Paul applies it to Christ: "Having ascended on high, He took captivity captive, and He gave gifts to men" (Eph 4:8). The risen Lord went up in triumph and now gives gifts to His church. Paul follows the sense of giving found in some old Jewish and Greek readings of the verse.
68:19 day by day He bears a load for us Our God carries our burdens daily, not just once in a great while.
68:20 to GOD the Lord belong the escapes from death Only God holds the keys of death. Christ, risen, says, "I have the keys of Hades and of Death" (Rev 1:18).
68:21 Surely God will shatter the head of His enemies Verses 21-23 picture total victory in the language of ancient war. They are hard lines, but the enemies are those who go on in their guilt (68:21). See the introduction on the hard lines.
68:24 They have seen Your processions, God A worship procession into the holy place: singers, musicians, young women with tambourines, and the tribes from little Benjamin to Judah and the northern tribes (68:25-27).
68:29 kings will bring a gift to You The psalm looks beyond Israel. Egypt and Cush, far to the south, will stretch out their hands to God (68:31). All the kingdoms of the earth are called to sing to Him (68:32).

wars. 31 Envoys will come from Egypt (Mitsrayim); Cush (Kush) will make its hands run to God. 32 Kingdoms of the earth, sing to God, sing praises to the Lord, Selah, 33 to Him who rides in the heavens of the heavens of old; look, He gives forth with His voice a voice of strength. 34 Ascribe strength to God; His majesty is over Israel, and His strength is in the clouds. 35 Awesome are You, God, from Your sanctuaries; the God of Israel, He gives strength and power to the people. Blessed be God.

PSALMS 69

To the choirmaster, on "Lilies." Of David. 1 Save me, God, for the waters have come to my neck. 2 I have sunk in the mire of the depth, and there is no foothold; I have come into the depths of waters, and a flood has overflowed me. 3 I have grown weary with my calling out; my throat has become parched; my eyes have failed, waiting for my God. 4 Those who hate me without cause are more than the hairs of my head; those who would destroy me are mighty, my enemies by falsehood; what I did not steal, then I must restore. 5 God, You, You know my folly, and my guilty deeds are not hidden from You. 6 Let not those who wait for You be ashamed through me, Lord GOD of armies; let not those who seek You be humiliated through me, God of Israel (Yisra'el). 7 For on account of You I have borne reproach; ignominy has covered my face. 8 I have become estranged to my brothers, and a foreigner to the sons of my mother. 9 For the zeal of Your house has consumed me, and the reproaches of those who reproach You have fallen on me. 10 And I wept with fasting of my soul, and it became reproaches to me. 11 And I made sackcloth my clothing, and I became a byword to them. 12 Those who sit in the gate talk about me, and the songs of the drinkers of strong drink are about me. 13 And I, my prayer is to You, LORD, at a time of favor; God, in the greatness of Your steadfast love, answer me in the faithfulness of Your salvation. 14 Deliver me from the mud, and let me not sink; let me be delivered from those who hate me and from the depths of waters. 15 Let not a flood of waters overflow me, and let not the depth swallow me up, and let not the pit close its mouth over me. 16 Answer me, LORD, for Your steadfast love is good; according to the greatness of Your compassion, turn to me. 17 And do not hide Your face from Your servant, for I am in distress; hurry, answer me. 18 Draw near to my soul; redeem it; because of my enemies, ransom me. 19 You, You know my reproach and my shame and my ignominy; all my adversaries are before You. 20 Reproach has broken my heart, and I am sick; and I waited for one to show sympathy, and there was none, and for comforters, and I did not find any. 21 And they put poison in my food, and for my thirst they gave me vinegar to drink. 22 Let their table before them become a trap, and for those at peace, a snare. 23 Let their eyes grow dark from seeing, and make their loins shake continually. 24 Pour out on them Your indignation, and let the burning of Your anger overtake them. 25 Let their encampment be made desolate; in their tents let there be no one dwelling. 26 For the one whom You, You struck, they have pursued, and about the pain of Your wounded ones they recount. 27 Put iniquity on their iniquity, and let them not 69:1 Save me, God, for the waters have come to my neck David is drowning in trouble, sinking in mud with no foothold. Psalm 69 is quoted in the New Testament more than almost any psalm except 22 and 110, and many of its lines are applied to Jesus.

69:4 Those who hate me without cause are more than the hairs of my head Jesus said, "They hated Me without cause" (John 15:25), quoting this verse or 35:19. "What I did not steal, then I must restore": the innocent is made to pay for what he did not take.

69:5 God, You, You know my folly David confesses his own sins here, and this line the New Testament does not apply to Jesus, who had no sin (Heb 4:15). The psalm is David's, and parts of it point beyond him to Christ.

69:8 I have become estranged to my brothers, and a foreigner to the sons of my mother Jesus' brothers did not believe in Him at first (John 7:5). They were the later children of Mary and Joseph (Matt 13:55). After the resurrection they believed, and James became a leader of the church (Acts 1:14; Gal 1:19).

69:9 For the zeal of Your house has consumed me When Jesus drove the sellers out of the temple, "His disciples remembered that it is written, The zeal of Your house has consumed Me" (John 2:17). Paul quotes the second line: "The reproaches of those reproaching You fell on Me" (Rom 15:3). Jesus bore the insults aimed at God.

69:13 at a time of favor David brings his prayer to God and leaves the timing with Him, resting on "the greatness of Your steadfast love."

69:20 I waited for one to show sympathy, and there was none In Gethsemane Jesus' friends slept, and at His arrest they fled (Matt 26:40, 56).

69:21 for my thirst they gave me vinegar to drink At the cross they offered Jesus "sour wine mixed with gall" (Matt 27:34), and later sour wine on a sponge (Matt 27:48). Jesus said "I am thirsty" (John 19:28) so that the Scripture would be accomplished.

69:22 Let their table before them become a trap Verses 22-28 are among the hardest prayers for judgment in the Psalms. Paul quotes verses 22-23 for the hardening that has come on part of Israel for a time, "until the fullness of the Gentiles has come in" (Rom 11:9-10, 25). That hardening is not final: "all Israel will be saved" (Rom 11:26). See the introduction on the hard lines.

69:25 Let their encampment be made desolate Peter applied this verse to Judas, whose place became empty (Acts 1:20).

come into Your righteousness. 28 Let them be wiped out from the book of life, and with the righteous let them not be written. 29 And I am afflicted and in pain; let Your salvation, God, set me on high. 30 I will praise the name of God with a song, and I will magnify Him with thanksgiving. 31 And it will be better to the LORD than an ox, a young bull horned and hoofed. 32 The humble have seen; they will rejoice; you who seek God, let your heart live. 33 For the LORD listens to the needy, and His prisoners He has not despised. 34 Let heaven and earth praise Him, the seas and everything that moves in them. 35 For God will save Zion (Tsiyon) and will build the cities of Judah (Yehuda), and they will dwell there and possess it. 36 And the offspring of His servants will inherit it, and those who love His name will dwell in it.

PSALMS 70

To the choirmaster. Of David, to bring to remembrance. 1 God, hurry to deliver me; LORD, hurry to my help! 2 Let them be ashamed and abashed who seek my life; let them be turned back and humiliated who delight in my harm. 3 Let them turn back on account of their shame, those who say, "Aha! Aha!" 4 Let all who seek You exult and rejoice in You; and let those who love Your salvation say continually, "Let God be magnified!" 5 And I am afflicted and needy; God, hurry to me! You are my help and my rescuer; LORD, do not delay.

PSALMS 71

1 In You, LORD, I have taken refuge; let me not be ashamed forever. 2 In Your righteousness You will deliver me and rescue me; incline Your ear to me and save me. 3 Become for me a rock of dwelling, to come to continually; You have commanded to save me, for You are my crag and my fortress. 4 My God, rescue me from the hand of the wicked, from the palm of the unjust and ruthless. 5 For You are my hope, Lord GOD, my confidence from my youth. 6 On You I have leaned from the womb; from the inward parts of my mother You are the One who cut me out; in You is my praise continually. 7 I have become like a portent to many, and You are my strong refuge. 8 My mouth is filled with Your praise, all the day with Your splendor. 9 Do not cast me away at the time of old age; when my strength fails, do not forsake me. 10 For my enemies have spoken about me, and those who watch my life have consulted together, 11 saying, "God has forsaken him; pursue and seize him, for there is no deliverer." 12 God, do not be far from me; my God, hurry to my help! 13 Let them be ashamed, let them come to an end, the accusers of my soul; let them cover themselves with reproach and ignominy, those who seek my harm. 14 And I, I will wait continually, and I will add to all Your praise. 15 My mouth will recount Your righteousness, all the day Your salvation, for I do not know their numbers. 16 I will come with the mighty deeds of the Lord GOD; I will bring to remembrance Your righteousness, Yours alone. 17 God, You have taught me from my youth, and until now I declare Your wonders. 18 And even to old age and gray hair, God, do not forsake me, until I declare Your arm to a generation, Your might to everyone who will come. 19 And Your righteousness, God, is to the height, You who have done great things; God, who is like You? 20 You who have made me see many troubles and calamities will again revive me, and from the depths of the earth You will again bring me up. 21 May You increase my greatness and

69:28 Let them be wiped out from the book of life The book of life is God's record of the living, and in the New Testament of those who belong to Him (Phil 4:3; Rev 20:15). David asks God to judge those who persecute the one God has struck (69:26). Jesus, on the cross, prayed for His enemies' forgiveness (Luke 23:34).
69:30 I will praise the name of God with a song The psalm turns from lament to praise. A thankful song pleases God more than a fine young bull on the altar (69:31; 50:14).
69:35 For God will save Zion and will build the cities of Judah The psalm ends with hope for the whole nation. I believe God will yet restore Israel in the land, and the children of His servants will live there (Rom 11:26-29).
70:1 God, hurry to deliver me; LORD, hurry to my help Psalm 70 repeats Psalm 40:13-17 with small changes. It seems this short, urgent prayer was kept on its own for times when there is no time for a long one.
70:5 And I am afflicted and needy; God, hurry to me Sometimes the most honest prayer is the shortest: I am needy, You are my help, please hurry.
71:1 In You, LORD, I have taken refuge Psalm 71 has no heading. It is the prayer of an old man (71:9, 18) who has trusted God all his life. Its opening lines echo Psalm 31:1-3.
71:6 On You I have leaned from the womb God has carried him since before he could know it. A lifetime of God's faithfulness is the best ground for trusting Him in old age.
71:7 I have become like a portent to many His long life of trouble and rescue has made him a sign to others, whether of warning or of God's protection. People watch how believers suffer.
71:9 Do not cast me away at the time of old age When strength fails, the fear of being set aside grows. The enemies say God has forsaken him (71:11). God answers with a promise: "to old age I am He, and to gray hair I, I will bear you" (Isa 46:4).
71:18 until I declare Your arm to a generation The old man does not ask to be spared so he can rest. He asks to live long enough to tell the next generation what God has done. Older believers have something younger ones need.
71:20 from the depths of the earth You will again bring me up God sent him many troubles, and God will lift him up again. This hope reaches past every grave (1 Thess 4:16).

turn around and comfort me. 22 I also, I will give thanks to You with an instrument of a harp, for Your faithfulness, my God; I will make music to You with a lyre, Holy One of Israel (Yisra'el). 23 My lips will sing for joy when I make music to You, and my soul, which You have ransomed. 24 Also my tongue all the day will utter Your righteousness, for they are ashamed, for they are abashed, those who seek my harm.

PSALMS 72

Of Solomon (Shelomo). 1 God, give Your judgments to the king, and Your righteousness to the son of the king. 2 He will judge Your people with righteousness, and Your afflicted with justice. 3 The mountains will bear peace to the people, and the hills, in righteousness. 4 He will judge the afflicted of the people; he will save the sons of the needy, and he will crush the oppressor. 5 They will fear You with the sun and before the moon, generation of generations. 6 He will come down like rain on mown grass, like copious showers, a sprinkling of the earth. 7 In his days the righteous will flourish, and abundance of peace, until there is no moon. 8 And let him have dominion from sea to sea, and from the River to the ends of the earth. 9 Before him the desert dwellers will bow down, and his enemies will lick dust. 10 The kings of Tarshish and of the coastlands will render tribute; the kings of Sheba (Sheva) and Seba (Seva) will bring near a gift. 11 And let all kings bow down to him; all nations will serve him. 12 For he will deliver the needy who cries for help, and the afflicted, and him who has no helper. 13 He will have pity on the poor and needy, and the lives of the needy he will save. 14 From oppression and from violence he will redeem their life, and their blood will be precious in his eyes. 15 And let him live, and let one give to him of the gold of Sheba; and let one pray for him continually; all the day let one bless him. 16 Let there be abundance of grain in the land, on the top of the mountains; let its fruit wave like Lebanon (Levanon); and let them blossom from the city like the vegetation of the earth. 17 Let his name be forever; before the sun let his name increase; and let them bless themselves by him; all nations, let them call him blessed.

Closing Praise of Book Two

18 Blessed be the LORD God, the God of Israel (Yisra'el), who does wonders, He alone. 19 And blessed be the name of His glory forever, and let all the earth be filled with His glory. Amen and amen. 20 The prayers of David, son of Jesse (Yishay), are finished.

Book Three: The Psalms of Asaph

A psalm of Asaph (Asaf). 1 Surely God is good to Israel (Yisra'el), to the pure of heart. 2 And I, my feet had almost turned aside; my steps had nearly been poured out. 3 For I was jealous of the boasters, as I saw the peace of the wicked. 4 For there are no pangs at their death, and their body is fat. 5 In the trouble of mortals they are not, and with mankind they are not stricken. 6 Therefore pride is a necklace for them; a garment of violence covers them. 7 Their eye comes out from fat; the imaginations of the heart pass beyond bounds. 8 They mock and speak in evil; of oppression from on 72:0 Of Solomon Psalm 72 is a prayer for the king, either by Solomon or for him, perhaps written by David for his son (72:20). It describes the ideal king of David's line.

72:1 God, give Your judgments to the king The first request for a king is not wealth or power but justice. Solomon asked God for wisdom to judge the people (1 Kgs 3:9).
72:4 He will judge the afflicted of the people The mark of a good king is how he treats the poor and needy. This king defends them and crushes the oppressor (72:12-14).
72:6 He will come down like rain on mown grass After the grass was cut, rain made it grow again. A righteous king refreshes his land like that.
72:8 let him have dominion from sea to sea No king of Israel ruled the ends of the earth, and Solomon's kingdom did not last forever. These words point beyond Solomon to the Messiah. I believe Christ will reign over all the earth in His kingdom (Zech 9:10; Rev 11:15).
72:10 the kings of Sheba and Seba will bring near a gift The queen of Sheba brought gifts to Solomon (1 Kgs 10:1-10). The wise men brought gifts to the child Jesus (Matt 2:11). One day all kings will bow to Him (72:11).
72:17 Let his name be forever All nations will be blessed in Him. This is God's promise to Abraham (Gen 12:3), fulfilled in Christ (Gal 3:8).
72:18 Blessed be the LORD God, the God of Israel, who does wonders, He alone This blessing closes Book Two (42-72). The book ends with a prayer that all the earth be filled with His glory (Num 14:21; Hab 2:14).
72:20 The prayers of David, son of Jesse, are finished This note marks the end of an earlier collection of David's psalms. More psalms of David appear later in the book, so the note is about how the Psalms were gathered, not the end of David's writing.
73:0 A psalm of Asaph Asaph was the Levite David put in charge of music before the ark (1 Chr 16:4-5). His family led worship for generations, so some Asaph psalms may come from his sons who carried on his name, but the heading ties this one to him. Psalm 73 opens Book Three (73-89).
73:1 Surely God is good to Israel, to the pure of heart Asaph starts with the conclusion, so we will not lose our way while he tells about the time he nearly lost his. The pure of heart are those turned toward God (Matt 5:8).
73:3 For I was jealous of the boasters, as I saw the peace of the wicked His feet nearly slipped. The wicked seemed to have shalom, peace, and he did not. Asaph says out loud what many believers only think: the coworker who cheats gets the promotion. Scripture lets us say it.
73:4 there are no pangs at their death Or, as some read it, no pains until their death. They seem healthy, well fed and free of ordinary troubles. Pride is worn like a necklace (73:6), and they talk against heaven as if they owned the earth (73:9).

high they speak. 9 They have set their mouth in the heavens, and their tongue walks on the earth. 10 Therefore his people turn back here, and full waters are drained out by them. 11 And they say, "How does God know? 73:10 Therefore his people turn back here, and full waters are drained out by them A hard verse in Hebrew, and the meaning is uncertain. Many take it that ordinary people are drawn to the wicked and drink in their words like water, because success makes even cruel people popular. Some take "his people" as God's people turning aside.
73:11 How does God know They believe God exists but live as though He does not see or care.
73:13 Surely in vain I have kept my heart pure You pray, obey and give, and life gets harder while people who ignore God have it easy. Asaph felt that too, and God put his words in the Bible. Doubt brought to God does not have to be the end of faith.
73:15 I would have dealt treacherously with the generation of Your sons Asaph did not hide his struggle from God, but he did not broadcast it to pull others down. It is not betrayal to tell a mature believer you are struggling. That is often how God brings us into the sanctuary. Still, he could not reason his way out alone (73:16).
73:17 until I went into the sanctuaries of God; then I discerned their end The turn. In Asaph's day the sanctuary was David's tent for the ark in Jerusalem, where Asaph led worship (1 Chr 16:37). The psalm does not say what happened there. He had looked only at how the wicked live. In God's presence he saw how their story ends. In prayer, God's Word and worship, things upside down start to look right side up.
73:18 Surely You set them on slippery places Asaph worried about his own feet (73:2). Now he sees the wicked are the ones on slippery ground, and it can all be gone in a moment (Luke 12:20).
73:20 Like a dream after awaking A dream feels real while it lasts. The success of the wicked will look like that when God rises to judge. We can wait for His justice instead of envying them.
73:22 I was like beasts with You An animal sees only what is in front of it. Asaph had judged everything by what he could see today. When God shows us we have been wrong, the best thing to do is agree with Him.
73:23 You have taken hold of my right hand Even while Asaph was bitter and foolish, God had not let go. Picture a father holding a child's hand on a slippery path.
73:24 afterward You will take me to glory Many read this as looking beyond this life: when his days are done, God will take him to Himself. Others take it as honor later in this life. "Take" is the word used of Enoch, "God took him" (Gen 5:24). Asaph has something better than the wicked: God now and God forever.
73:25 Whom have I in the heavens Asaph had envied the rich. Now God Himself is what he wants most. Nothing in heaven or on earth compares.
73:26 God is the rock of my heart and my portion forever Faith does not make us immune to weakness or death. A portion was a share of the inheritance. The Levites got no land, because the LORD was their portion (Num 18:20; Deut 10:9). Asaph was a Levite and understood. Paul counted all things loss next to knowing Christ (Phil 3:8). If we have God, we have our portion forever.
73:28 the nearness of God is good for me "And I" again, as in verse 2, but now with a different ending. The wicked have their goods. Asaph has his good, and it is God. Afraid in verse 15 of hurting God's people, he now has something to tell that will help them: this psalm.
74:1 Why, God, have You rejected us perpetually Psalm 74 mourns the burning of God's sanctuary (74:7). That fits the Babylonian destruction of Jerusalem and the temple in 586 B.C. (2 Kgs 25:8-9), so it was most likely written then by one of Asaph's descendants, who kept his name as temple singers (Ezra 2:41).
74:2 Remember Your congregation, which You acquired of old The plea rests on what God has already done: He bought this people, redeemed them and dwelt among them on Zion. Will He let His own possession lie in ruins?
74:4 Your adversaries have roared in the midst of Your meeting place Enemy soldiers shouted in the holy place, hacked the carved woodwork like woodcutters in a forest (74:5-6), and set it on fire. The writer saw it happen.

fire; to the ground they have profaned the tabernacle of Your name. 8 They said in their heart, "Let us oppress them together." They burned all the meeting places of God in the land. 9 Our signs we have not seen; there is no longer a prophet, and there is none with us who knows how long. 10 How long, God, will the adversary taunt? Will the enemy spurn Your name forever? 11 Why do You draw back Your hand, even Your right hand? From the midst of Your bosom, destroy them! 12 And God is my King from of old, working salvations in the midst of the earth. 13 You, You divided the sea by Your strength; You shattered the heads of the monsters on the waters. 14 You, You crushed the heads of Leviathan; You gave him as food to a people, to desert dwellers. 15 You, You broke open spring and torrent; You, You dried up ever-flowing rivers. 16 To You belongs the day; also to You belongs the night; You, You established the luminary and the sun. 17 You, You set all the boundaries of the earth; summer and winter, You, You formed them.
18 Remember this: the enemy has taunted, LORD, and a foolish people has spurned Your name. 19 Do not give the soul of Your turtledove to the wild beast; the life of Your afflicted do not forget forever. 20 Look to the covenant, for the dark places of the land are full of habitations of violence. 21 Let not the oppressed turn back humiliated; let the afflicted and needy praise Your name. 22 Arise, God, contend for Your cause; remember Your reproach from a fool all the day. 23 Do not forget the voice of Your adversaries, the uproar of those who rise against You, which goes up continually.

74:9 there is no longer a prophet, and there is none with us who knows how long The worst of it was the silence. No sign, no prophet's word. Jeremiah had in fact spoken of seventy years (Jer 25:11; 29:10), but in the darkness of those days few understood it.
74:12 And God is my King from of old The turn of the psalm. The writer looks past the ruins to God's past works: dividing the sea and creating day and night, summer and winter (74:13-17).
74:14 You crushed the heads of Leviathan Leviathan was a great sea monster, a picture of chaos and of proud enemies. Here it most likely stands for Egypt, whose army God crushed at the Red Sea (Isa 51:9-10). The God who did that can deal with Babylon.
74:19 Do not give the soul of Your turtledove to the wild beast God's people are pictured as a small, defenseless dove among beasts of prey.
74:20 Look to the covenant The final appeal is to God's covenant promises. He bound Himself to His people, and He does not break His word (Lev 26:44-45).
75:1 Your name is near God is close to His people and active. They have seen His wonders and tell of them.
75:2 When I take the appointed time, I, I will judge with uprightness God speaks. He sets the time for judgment, and it will come exactly when He chooses. Even when the earth seems to melt, He holds its pillars steady (75:3).
75:4 Do not lift up a horn A horn stood for strength and pride, like a bull tossing its head. Promotion does not come from east or west or anywhere on earth (75:6). God brings one down and lifts another up (75:7; 1 Sam 2:7).
75:8 For a cup is in the hand of the LORD The cup of foaming wine is a picture of God's wrath that the wicked must drink to the dregs (Jer 25:15; Rev 14:10). In Gethsemane Jesus spoke of the cup He would drink (Matt 26:39). He drank the cup of wrath for all who trust in Him.
76:2 His lair was in Salem, and His den in Zion Salem is an old name for Jerusalem (Gen 14:18). God is pictured as a lion who has made Zion His home and defends it.
76:5 The stout of heart were plundered; they slumbered their sleep The enemy army fell into a sleep from which it did not wake. The Greek Old Testament heading ties this psalm to the Assyrians, and many see the night the angel of the LORD struck their camp (2 Kgs 19:35).

76:10 For the wrath of mankind will praise You Even human rage ends up serving God's purpose and bringing Him glory. The rulers raged against Jesus, and God turned the cross into salvation (Acts 4:27-28).
77:2 my soul refused to be comforted Asaph prays all night, and nothing helps. Thinking about God at first only makes him moan (77:3). Some seasons of grief are like that.
77:7 Will the Lord reject forever Six questions in three verses (77:7-9). Has His steadfast love ended? Has He forgotten to be gracious? Asaph asks what every sufferer fears. The right answer to each is no, but he has to get there.
77:10 the years of the right hand of the Most High The turning point, though the line is hard to translate. Asaph decides to look back at the years when God's right hand worked for His people. Memory becomes his medicine.
77:11 I will remember the deeds of the LORD Asaph stops looking only at his trouble and starts looking at God's works. When feelings fail, the facts of what God has done still stand.
77:19 In the sea was Your way God led Israel through the Red Sea on a path no one could see before He made it, and no one could trace after. His ways are often hidden, but He leads His people safely, like a flock, by the hand of His shepherds (77:20).
78:1 Give ear, my people, to my law Psalm 78 is a history lesson in song, from Egypt to David. "Law" here is teaching. Asaph tells the story so each generation will learn from the failures of the last.
78:2 I will open my mouth in a parable A parable here is a lesson drawn from history, with riddles about why Israel kept failing. Matthew says Jesus' teaching in parables fulfilled this verse: "I will open My mouth in parables" (Matt 13:35).
78:4 We will not hide them from their sons God commanded parents to teach their children His works (Deut 6:6-7). Faith is passed down by telling the story. Children need to hear what God has done, so they will "set their confidence in God" (78:7).
78:9 The sons of Ephraim, armed, shooters of the bow, turned back on the day of battle Ephraim was the leading tribe of the north, where the tabernacle stood at Shiloh. Well armed, they still turned and ran, because they had forgotten God's covenant (78:10-11). Weapons cannot replace faithfulness.

them. 12 Before their fathers He did wonders in the land of Egypt (Mitsrayim), the field of Zoan (Tso'an). 13 He split open the sea and brought them through, and He made the waters stand like a heap. 14 And He guided them by the cloud by day, and all the night by the light of fire. 15 He split open rocks in the wilderness, and He gave them drink as from deeps, abundantly. 16 And He brought out streams from a crag, and He made waters flow down like rivers. 17 And they added again to sin against Him, rebelling against the Most High in the dry land. 18 And they tested God in their heart by asking food for their appetite. 19 And they spoke against God; they said, "Is God able to arrange a table in the wilderness? 20 Look, He struck a rock, and waters flowed out, and torrents overflowed; is He able also to give bread? Or will He prepare meat for His people?" 21 Therefore the LORD heard and was furious, and fire was kindled against Jacob, and also anger went up against Israel, 22 for they did not believe in God, and did not trust in His salvation. 23 And He commanded the skies above, and the doors of heaven He opened. 24 And He rained down on them manna to eat, and the grain of heaven He gave to them. 25 Each man ate the bread of mighty ones; He sent them provision to satiety. 26 He made an east wind set out in the heavens, and by His strength He drove the south wind. 27 And He rained down on them meat like the dust, and winged birds like the sand of the seas. 28 And He made them fall in the midst of his camp, all around his dwellings. 29 And they ate and were satisfied exceedingly, and their desire He brought to them. 30 They were not estranged from their desire; their food was still in their mouth, 31 and the anger of God went up against them, and He killed among their robust ones, and the young men of Israel He made bow down. 32 In all this they sinned still, and did not believe in His wonders. 33 And He brought their days to an end in futility, and their years in sudden terror. 34 When He killed them, then they sought Him, and they returned and sought God earnestly. 35 And they remembered that God was their rock, and God Most High their redeemer. 36 And they deceived Him with their mouth, and with their tongue they lied to Him. 37 And their heart was not steadfast with Him, and they were not faithful in His covenant. 38 And He, compassionate, would make atonement for iniquity and not destroy; and many times He turned back His anger and did not stir up all His rage. 39 And He remembered that they were flesh, a wind that goes and does not return. 40 How often they rebelled against Him in the wilderness and grieved Him in the wasteland! 41 And again they tested God, and they pained the Holy One of Israel. 42 They did not remember His hand, the day when He ransomed them from the adversary, 43 when He set His signs in Egypt, and His portents in the field of Zoan. 44 And He turned their canals into blood, and their streams, they could not drink. 45 He sent among them swarms, and they devoured them, and frogs, and they destroyed them. 46 And He gave their produce to the grasshopper, and their toil to the locust. 47 He killed their vines with hail, and their sycamore figs with frost. 48 And He delivered up their cattle to the hail, and their livestock to the flames. 49 He sent on them the burning of His anger, fury and indignation and distress, a band of angels of harm. 50 He leveled a path for His anger; He did not withhold their soul from death, and their life He delivered up to the pestilence. 51 And He struck every firstborn in Egypt, the beginning of their vigor in the tents of 78:12 the field of Zoan Zoan was a city in the eastern Nile delta, the region where Israel lived in Egypt.

78:15 He split open rocks in the wilderness God gave water from the rock (Exod 17:6; Num 20:11). Paul says "the rock was the Christ" (1 Cor 10:4), the source of life for His people.
78:19 Is God able to arrange a table in the wilderness After seeing the sea split and water flow from rock, they still doubted. Unbelief has a short memory. Testing God means demanding that He prove Himself on our terms.
78:24 He rained down on them manna to eat, and the grain of heaven He gave to them The crowd quoted this to Jesus, and He answered that His Father gives "the true bread out of heaven" (John 6:31-32). Jesus is the bread of life.
78:27 He rained down on them meat like the dust God gave the quail they craved, and judgment fell while the meat was still in their mouths (Num 11:31-34). Getting what we demand from God is not always a blessing.
78:34 When He killed them, then they sought Him They turned to God when disaster struck, but only with their lips (78:36-37). Repentance that lasts only as long as the trouble is not true repentance.
78:38 And He, compassionate, would make atonement for iniquity and not destroy Here is the heart of the psalm. Israel kept failing, and God kept forgiving. He remembered they were frail flesh, a passing breath (78:39; 103:14).
78:41 they pained the Holy One of Israel Sin grieves God. "Holy One of Israel" is Isaiah's favorite name for God. Paul warns believers not to grieve the Holy Spirit (Eph 4:30).
78:44 He turned their canals into blood Verses 43-51 recall the plagues on Egypt, ending with the death of the firstborn (Exod 7-12). "A band of angels of harm" (78:49) were messengers of God's judgment. The plagues were God's justice on a nation that enslaved and drowned Israel's sons and refused to let them go.

Ham (Cham). 52 And He led out His people like sheep, and drove them like a flock in the wilderness. 53 And He guided them in security, and they did not dread; and the sea covered their enemies. 54 And He brought them to the territory of His holiness, the mountain which His right hand had acquired. 55 And He drove out nations before them, and allotted them by a line of inheritance, and made the tribes of Israel dwell in their tents. 56 And they tested and rebelled against God Most High, and His testimonies they did not keep. 57 And they turned away and acted treacherously like their fathers; they were turned like a bow of deceit. 58 And they provoked Him to anger with their high places, and with their carved images they made Him jealous. 59 God heard and was furious, and He rejected Israel exceedingly. 60 And He abandoned the tabernacle of Shiloh (Shilo), the tent which He had pitched among mankind. 61 And He gave His strength to captivity, and His splendor into the hand of an adversary. 62 And He delivered up His people to the sword, and against His inheritance He was furious. 63 Fire consumed its young men, and its virgins were not praised. 64 Its priests fell by the sword, and its widows did not weep. 65 And the Lord awoke like one asleep, like a warrior overcome by wine. 66 And He struck His adversaries backward; He gave them an everlasting reproach. 67 And He rejected the tent of Joseph (Yosef), and the tribe of Ephraim He did not choose. 68 And He chose the tribe of Judah (Yehuda), the mountain of Zion (Tsiyon), which He loved. 69 And He built His sanctuary like the heights, like the earth which He has founded forever. 70 And He chose David His servant, and took him from the folds of the sheep. 71 From after the nursing ewes He brought him to shepherd Jacob His people, and Israel His inheritance. 72 And he shepherded them according to the integrity of his heart, and with the skill of his hands he guided them.

PSALMS 79

A psalm of Asaph (Asaf). 1 God, the nations have come into Your inheritance; they have made the temple of Your holiness unclean; they have made Jerusalem (Yerushalayim) into heaps of ruins. 2 They have given the corpses of Your servants as food to the birds of the heavens, the flesh of Your faithful ones to the living things of the earth. 3 They have poured out their blood like water all around Jerusalem, and there is no one burying them. 4 We have become a reproach to our neighbors, a mockery and derision to those around us. 5 Until when, LORD? Will You be angry forever? Will Your jealousy burn like fire? 6 Pour out Your rage on the nations that do not know You, and on the kingdoms that have not called on Your name. 7 For one has devoured Jacob (Ya'aqov), and they have devastated his habitation. 8 Do not remember against us former iniquities; let Your compassion come quickly to meet us, for we have been brought very low. 9 Help us, God of our salvation, on account of the glory of Your name; and deliver us, and make atonement for our sins for the sake of Your name. 10 Why should the nations say, "Where is their God?" Let the vengeance of the blood of Your servants which has been poured out be known among the nations before our eyes. 11 Let the groaning of the prisoner come before You; according to the greatness of Your arm, leave remaining the sons of death. 12 And repay to our neighbors sevenfold into their bosom their reproach with which they have reproached You, Lord. 13 And we, Your people and the sheep of Your pasture, will give thanks to You forever; to generation and generation we will recount Your praise.

78:52 He led out His people like sheep After all the judgment comes the Shepherd. God brought His flock safely through the wilderness to His holy land (78:54).
78:60 He abandoned the tabernacle of Shiloh When Israel turned to idols, God let the Philistines capture the ark (1 Sam 4). The priests Hophni and Phinehas fell, and Phinehas' widow died giving birth (1 Sam 4:11, 19-22). Later Shiloh was a ruin (Jer 7:12). God's presence is not a lucky charm.
78:65 the Lord awoke like one asleep A bold picture. God seemed inactive while His people suffered, and then He rose up and struck their enemies (1 Sam 5-7).
78:68 He chose the tribe of Judah, the mountain of Zion, which He loved God moved the center of worship from Ephraim's Shiloh to Judah's Zion. This was His choice of grace, not Judah's merit.
78:70 He chose David His servant, and took him from the folds of the sheep The story ends with a shepherd boy made king (1 Sam 16:11-13), who shepherded Israel with integrity and skill. David points to his greater Son, the Good Shepherd and King, who will never fail His flock (John 10:11; Ezek 34:23).
79:1 the nations have come into Your inheritance Like Psalm 74, this is a lament over Jerusalem's fall to Babylon in 586 B.C. The temple was defiled, the city was rubble and the dead lay unburied (79:2-3).
79:6 Pour out Your rage on the nations that do not know You A prayer for judgment on the nations that destroyed God's people and mocked His name. Jeremiah prays almost the same words (Jer 10:25). The concern is God's honor: "Why should the nations say, Where is their God?" (79:10). See the introduction on the hard lines.
79:8 Do not remember against us former iniquities The people know the fall of Jerusalem came because of sin. They do not plead innocence. They plead for mercy "for the sake of Your name" (79:9).
79:13 Your people and the sheep of Your pasture Even in ruins, they still belong to their Shepherd. The psalm ends in a promise to praise Him through every generation.

PSALMS 80

To the choirmaster, on "Lilies," a testimony. Of Asaph (Asaf), a psalm. 1 Shepherd of Israel (Yisra'el), give ear, You who lead Joseph (Yosef) like a flock; You who sit above the cherubim, shine forth! 2 Before Ephraim (Efrayim) and Benjamin (Binyamin) and Manasseh (Menashe), stir up Your might, and come for salvation for us. 3 God, restore us, and make Your face shine, and let us be saved. 4 LORD God of armies, until when have You smoked with anger against the prayer of Your people? 5 You have fed them the bread of tears, and You have made them drink tears by the third measure. 6 You make us a contention to our neighbors, and our enemies mock among themselves. 7 God of armies, restore us, and make Your face shine, and let us be saved. 8 You uprooted a vine from Egypt (Mitsrayim); You drove out nations and planted it. 9 You cleared the ground before it, and it made its roots take root, and it filled the land. 10 The mountains were covered with its shade, and its branches were like the cedars of God. 11 It stretched out its branches to the sea, and its young shoots to the River. 12 Why have You broken down its walls, so that all who pass by on the road pluck it? 13 The boar from the forest eats it away, and the moving creatures of the field graze on it. 14 God of armies, return, please; look from heaven and see, and attend to this vine, 15 and the root which Your right hand planted, and look on the son whom You made strong for Yourself. 16 It is burned with fire; it is cut down; they perish from the rebuke of Your face. 17 Let Your hand be on the man of Your right hand, on the son of mankind whom You made strong for Yourself. 18 And we will not turn back from You; give us life, and we will call on Your name. 19 LORD God of armies, restore us; make Your face shine, and let us be saved.

PSALMS 81

To the choirmaster, on the Gittith. Of Asaph (Asaf). 1 Sing for joy to God our strength; shout for joy to the God of Jacob (Ya'aqov). 2 Lift up music, and sound a tambourine, a pleasant lyre with a harp. 3 Blow a ram's horn at the new moon, at the full moon, for the day of our festival. 4 For it is a statute for Israel (Yisra'el), an ordinance of the God of Jacob. 5 He set it as a testimony in Joseph (Yehosef) when He went out over the land of Egypt (Mitsrayim). I heard a language I did not know: 6 "I removed his shoulder from the burden; his hands passed away from the basket. 7 In the distress you called, and I rescued you; I answered you in the hiding place of thunder; I tested you at the waters of Meribah (Meriva). Selah. 8 Hear, My people, and let Me testify against you; Israel, if you would listen to Me! 9 There shall not be a strange god among you, and you shall not bow down to a foreign god. 10 I am the LORD your God, who brought you up from the land of Egypt; open your mouth wide, and I will fill it. 11 And My people did not listen to My voice, and Israel was not willing toward Me. 12 And I gave them over to the stubbornness of their heart; they walked in their own counsels. 13 If only My people were listening to Me, if Israel would walk in My ways! 14 In a little while I would subdue their enemies, and against their adversaries I would turn My hand. 15 Those who hate the LORD would cringe before Him, and their time would be forever. 16 And He would feed him from the fat of the wheat, and from the rock I would satisfy you with honey."

80:1 Shepherd of Israel, give ear Psalm 80 prays for the northern tribes, Joseph, Ephraim, Manasseh and Benjamin (80:2), probably when Assyria was crushing the north before Samaria fell in 722 B.C. God sits "above the cherubim," enthroned over the ark.
80:3 God, restore us, and make Your face shine, and let us be saved The refrain grows each time: God, God of armies, LORD God of armies (80:3, 7, 19). It echoes the priestly blessing (Num 6:25). Salvation comes when God turns His face toward us in favor.
80:8 You uprooted a vine from Egypt Israel is pictured as God's vine, brought out of Egypt and planted in Canaan until it filled the land (Isa 5:1-7). Now its walls are broken and wild animals trample it (80:12-13). Jesus said, "I am the true vine" (John 15:1). He is the faithful Israel, and we bear fruit by abiding in Him.
80:17 on the son of mankind whom You made strong for Yourself The man of God's right hand may be the king of Israel, or Israel itself as God's son (80:15; Exod 4:22). Many also see a hint of the Messiah, the true Son of Man at God's right hand.
81:3 Blow a ram's horn at the new moon, at the full moon The ram's horn, the shofar, announced the feasts. The seventh month opened with trumpets at the new moon, and the Feast of Booths began at the full moon (Lev 23:24, 34). The psalm was likely sung at these feasts.
81:6 I removed his shoulder from the burden God speaks. He set Israel free from the bricks and baskets of slavery in Egypt (Exod 1:11-14).
81:10 open your mouth wide, and I will fill it God, who brought them out of Egypt, promised to give them all they needed. Like baby birds, they only needed to open wide and trust Him.
81:11 And My people did not listen to My voice God's sorrow is plain. He let them go their own way (81:12). Paul describes the same judgment: God gave them over to what they wanted (Rom 1:24).
81:16 from the rock I would satisfy you with honey If they had listened, God would have given them the best of the land. What we miss by not listening to God is far more than we know.

PSALMS 82

A psalm of Asaph (Asaf). 1 God takes His stand in the congregation of God; in the midst of the gods He judges. 2 Until when will you judge with injustice and lift up the face of the wicked? Selah. 3 Judge for the poor and the fatherless; do justice to the afflicted and the destitute. 4 Rescue the poor and the needy; deliver them from the hand of the wicked. 5 They do not know, and they do not understand; they walk about in darkness; all the foundations of the earth are shaken. 6 I, I said, "You are gods, and sons of the Most High, all of you. 7 Nevertheless, like mankind you will die, and like one of the princes you will fall." 8 Arise, God, judge the earth, for You will inherit among all the nations.

PSALMS 83

A song, a psalm of Asaph (Asaf). 1 God, let there be no silence for You; do not be silent, and do not be still, God. 2 For look, Your enemies are in an uproar, and those who hate You have lifted up the head. 3 Against Your people they make crafty counsel, and they consult together against Your treasured ones. 4 They have said, "Come, and let us wipe them out from being a nation, and the name of Israel (Yisra'el) will not be remembered anymore." 5 For they have consulted together with one heart; against You they make a covenant: 6 the tents of Edom and the Ishmaelites, Moab (Mo'av) and the Hagrites, 7 Gebal (Geval) and Ammon (Amon) and Amalek (Amaleq), Philistia (Peleshet) with the inhabitants of Tyre (Tsor). 8 Assyria (Ashur) also has joined with them; they have become an arm for the sons of Lot. Selah. 9 Do to them as to Midian (Midyan), as to Sisera (Sisra), as to Jabin (Yavin) at the wadi of Kishon (Qishon), 10 who were destroyed at En-dor; they became dung for the ground. 11 Make their nobles like Oreb (Orev) and like Zeeb (Ze'ev), and like Zebah (Zevach) and like Zalmunna (Tsalmuna) all their princes, 12 who said, "Let us take possession for ourselves of the pastures of God." 13 My God, make them like the whirling dust, like chaff before a wind. 14 Like fire that burns a forest, and like a flame that sets the mountains ablaze, 15 so pursue them with Your tempest, and terrify them with Your storm wind. 16 Fill their faces with dishonor, and let them seek Your name, LORD. 17 Let them be ashamed and dismayed forever and ever, and let them be abashed and perish, 18 and let them know that You, whose name is the LORD, You alone, are the Most High over all the earth.

Psalms of the Sons of Korah

To the choirmaster, on the Gittith. Of the sons of Korah (Qorach), a psalm. 1 How lovely are Your dwelling places, LORD of armies! 2 My soul has longed, and also has wasted away, for the courts of the LORD; my heart and my flesh shout for joy to the living God. 3 Even a bird has found a home, and a swallow a nest for herself, where she has put her young: Your 82:1 in the midst of the gods He judges God holds court. "Gods" here most likely means human rulers and judges, who stood in God's place to judge His people (Exod 21:6; 22:8-9). Some teachers see heavenly powers behind the nations. God charges these judges with injustice.

82:3 Judge for the poor and the fatherless This is what God expects of everyone with power: defend the weak, rescue the needy. Rulers who favor the wicked shake the foundations of a society (82:5).
82:6 You are gods, and sons of the Most High, all of you Jesus quoted this line when He was accused of making Himself God: "Is it not written in your law, I said, you are gods?" (John 10:34). If Scripture called judges "gods" because God's word came to them, how much more is the One the Father sent rightly called the Son of God (John 10:35-36)?
82:8 Arise, God, judge the earth Human judges fail and die like other men (82:7). The psalm ends by calling on God, the true Judge, to rule all nations. I believe that will happen when Christ returns to reign (Acts 17:31; Rev 19:11).
83:1 God, let there be no silence for You The last Asaph psalm. A whole ring of nations has made a covenant to wipe Israel off the map (83:4-8). The occasion may be Jehoshaphat's day, when Moab, Ammon and others came against Judah (2 Chr 20), though the psalm does not say.
83:4 let us wipe them out from being a nation The enemies' goal is that Israel's name be remembered no more. That hatred has appeared again and again in history. God has kept His people, and I believe He will keep His promises to Israel (Jer 31:35-37; Rom 11:1-2).
83:9 Do to them as to Midian, as to Sisera, as to Jabin The psalmist recalls the victories of the judges: Gideon over Midian and its princes Oreb, Zeeb, Zebah and Zalmunna (Judg 7-8), and Deborah and Barak over Sisera and Jabin at the Kishon (Judg 4-5).
83:16 Fill their faces with dishonor, and let them seek Your name, LORD Even in this prayer for judgment there is a hope: that the enemies will be humbled and seek the LORD. The goal is that all will know He alone is Most High over all the earth (83:18). See the introduction on the hard lines.
84:0 Of the sons of Korah Psalm 84 is a pilgrim's song by the Levite family we met at Psalm 42. Some of the family were doorkeepers of God's house (1 Chr 9:19). On "Gittith," see 8:0.
84:1 How lovely are Your dwelling places, LORD of armies The word for "dwelling places" is plural, probably the whole temple area with its courts. "Lovely" means dear or beloved. What the writer loves about the place is that God is there.
84:2 My soul has longed, and also has wasted away, for the courts of the LORD To waste away is to faint with longing. He wants to be there so badly it wears him out, and what he wants most is "the living God."
84:3 Even a bird has found a home Sparrows and swallows are as common and unimportant as birds get, yet they nested near God's altars. Even a sparrow was closer to God's house than he was. Not one sparrow falls apart from the Father (Matt 10:29). If God makes room for sparrows, He has room for you.

altars, LORD of armies, my King and my God. 4 How blessed are those who dwell in Your house! They are still praising You. Selah. 5 How blessed is the man whose strength is in You, in whose heart are highways! 6 Passing through the valley of Baca (Bakha), they make it a spring; the early rain also covers it with blessings. 7 They go from strength to strength; each appears before God in Zion (Tsiyon). 8 LORD God of armies, hear my prayer; give ear, God of Jacob (Ya'aqov). Selah. 9 Our shield, see, God, and look on the face of Your anointed. 10 For a day in Your courts is better than a thousand; I have chosen to stand at the threshold in the house of my God rather than to dwell in the tents of wickedness. 11 For the LORD God is a sun and a shield; the LORD gives favor and glory; He does not withhold good from those who walk in blamelessness. 12 LORD of armies, how blessed is the man who trusts in You!

PSALMS 85

To the choirmaster. Of the sons of Korah (Qorach), a psalm. 1 LORD, You have shown favor to Your land; You have turned back the captivity of Jacob (Ya'aqov). 2 You have lifted away the iniquity of Your people; You have covered all their sin. Selah. 3 You have withdrawn all Your fury; You have turned back from the burning of Your anger. 4 Restore us, God of our salvation, and break off Your vexation with us. 5 Will You be angry with us forever? Will You draw out Your anger to generation and generation? 6 Will You not return and give us life, so that Your people may rejoice in You? 7 Show us, LORD, Your steadfast love, and give us Your salvation. 8 Let me hear what God the LORD will speak, for He will speak peace to His people and to His faithful ones; and let them not return to folly. 9 Surely His salvation is near to those who fear Him, that glory may dwell in our land. 10 Steadfast love and truth have met together; righteousness and peace have kissed. 11 Truth springs up from the earth, and righteousness looks down from heaven. 12 Also the LORD will give what is good, and our land will give its produce.
13 Righteousness will go before Him, and will make His footsteps into a way.

84:4 How blessed are those who dwell in Your house The priests and Levites who served there spent their work in worship. God's dwelling is no longer one building. Jesus dwelt among us (John 1:14), and God now lives by His Spirit in His people (Eph 2:22). Through Jesus we can draw near (Heb 10:19).
84:5 in whose heart are highways Three times a year faithful Israelites went up to Jerusalem for the feasts (Deut 16:16). The road to Zion ran through their hearts before they packed a bag. What road is in your heart? What we dream about and plan for shows what we love.
84:6 Passing through the valley of Baca, they make it a spring No one knows where Baca was. The word sounds like weeping, and it may also name a tree that grows in dry places. Faith turned a hard stretch of road into a place of blessing, and God sent the early rain. He does not always take us around valleys of weeping, but He can bring springs in them.
84:7 They go from strength to strength Travelers usually grow weaker on a long journey. These grew stronger the closer they came to God (Isa 40:31). And they all made it.
84:9 look on the face of Your anointed "Our shield" and "Your anointed" most likely mean the king, who protected the people. Anointed is the word behind Messiah and Christ. Many see a longing here that reaches past David's line to Jesus, the Anointed One.
84:10 For a day in Your courts is better than a thousand One day near God is worth nearly three years anywhere else. The threshold was the doorway of God's house, and some of Korah's family kept it (1 Chr 9:19, 22). He would choose a humble place at God's door over comfort in the tents of wickedness. Would we rather have a small place near God or a big place far from Him?
84:11 For the LORD God is a sun and a shield The sun gives light, warmth and life, and a shield protection. God gives grace now and glory in the end. A good father does not hand a child everything he asks for, but God never holds back what is truly good. He "did not spare His own Son" (Rom 8:32).
84:12 how blessed is the man who trusts in You The third "blessed" in the psalm (84:4, 5, 12). Not everyone could live at the temple or make the journey. Some were too old, poor or far away. But anyone can trust God, and the blessing is open to all who do.
85:1 You have turned back the captivity of Jacob The psalm remembers a past restoration, most likely the return from exile in Babylon after 538 B.C. (Ezra 1). God had forgiven and brought His people home.
85:4 Restore us, God of our salvation Even after the return, life was hard and the people felt God's displeasure still (Hag 1:5-11). They pray, "Will You not return and give us life?" (85:6). Revival is something only God can give.
85:8 Let me hear what God the LORD will speak The writer stops and listens. God speaks peace to His people, with a warning not to go back to folly. Forgiveness is never permission to repeat the sin.
85:10 Steadfast love and truth have met together; righteousness and peace have kissed A beautiful picture of God's qualities meeting like friends. Mercy and truth, justice and peace, seem as if they must pull apart, but in God they embrace. They met fully at the cross, where God is both "righteous and the One justifying" (Rom 3:26) the one who has faith in Jesus.
85:11 Truth springs up from the earth, and righteousness looks down from heaven Heaven and earth answer each other. Many Christians have seen here a picture of the coming of Christ, the Truth who came to earth from heaven.
86:1 Incline Your ear, LORD, answer me, for I am afflicted and needy The only psalm in Book Three that bears David's name. Much of it is built from phrases found in other psalms and in Exodus 34:6. David prays Scripture back to God.
86:5 For You, Lord, are good and ready to forgive God is not reluctant to forgive. He is ready, eager, and great in steadfast love to all who call on Him.

prayer, and pay attention to the voice of my supplications. 7 In the day of my distress I call on You, for You will answer me. 8 There is none like You among the gods, Lord, and there are none like Your works. 9 All the nations whom You have made will come and bow down before You, Lord, and they will glorify Your name. 10 For You are great and do wonders; You are God, You alone. 11 Teach me Your way, LORD; I will walk in Your truth; unite my heart to fear Your name. 12 I will give thanks to You, Lord my God, with all my heart, and I will glorify Your name forever. 13 For Your steadfast love is great toward me, and You have delivered my soul from the lowest Sheol. 14 God, arrogant men have risen up against me, and a company of ruthless men have sought my life, and they have not set You before them. 15 And You, Lord, are a God compassionate and gracious, slow to anger, and great in steadfast love and faithfulness. 16 Turn to me and be gracious to me; give Your strength to Your servant, and save the son of Your maidservant. 17 Make with me a sign for good, and let those who hate me see it and be ashamed, because You, LORD, have helped me and comforted me.

PSALMS 87

Of the sons of Korah (Qorach), a psalm, a song. 1 His foundation is on the mountains of holiness. 2 The LORD loves the gates of Zion (Tsiyon) more than all the dwelling places of Jacob (Ya'aqov). 3 Glorious things are spoken of you, city of God. Selah. 4 I will make mention of Rahab (Rahav) and Babylon (Bavel) among those who know Me; look, Philistia (Peleshet) and Tyre (Tsor), with Cush (Kush): "This one was born there." 5 And of Zion it will be said, "Man and man was born in her"; and the Most High Himself will establish her. 6 The LORD will count when He records the peoples: "This one was born there." Selah. 7 And singers as well as pipers say, "All my springs are in you."

A song, a psalm of the sons of Korah (Qorach). To the choirmaster, on Mahalath, to sing. A Maskil of Heman the Ezrahite. 1 LORD, God of my salvation, by day I have cried out, in the night, before You. 2 Let my prayer come before You; incline Your ear to my cry. 3 For my soul is filled with troubles, and my life has reached Sheol. 4 I am counted with those who go down to the pit; I have become like a man without strength, 5 free among the dead, like the slain who lie in the grave, whom You remember no more, and they are cut off from Your hand. 6 You have put me in the pit of the lowest parts, in dark places, in the depths. 7 Your rage has lain heavy on me, and with all Your breakers You have afflicted me. Selah. 8 You have removed my acquaintances far from me; You have made me an abomination to them; I am shut in, and I cannot go out. 9 My eye languishes because of affliction; I have called on You, LORD, every day; I have spread out my hands to You. 10 Will You do wonders for the dead? Will the shades arise and give thanks to You? Selah. 11 Will Your steadfast love be recounted in the grave, Your faithfulness in Abaddon? 12 Will Your wonders be known in the darkness, and Your righteousness in the land of forgetfulness? 13 And I, to You, LORD, cry for help, and in the morning my prayer comes to meet You. 14 Why, LORD, do You reject my soul? Why do You hide Your face from me? 15 I am afflicted and 86:9 All the nations whom You have made will come and bow down before You God made all nations, and all will one day worship Him (Rev 15:4).

86:11 unite my heart to fear Your name A divided heart wants God and other things too. David asks God to make his heart one, wholly given to Him. That is a prayer every believer needs.
86:15 a God compassionate and gracious, slow to anger, and great in steadfast love and faithfulness These are God's own words about Himself to Moses (Exod 34:6). David's whole prayer rests on what God said He is.
87:2 The LORD loves the gates of Zion Psalm 87 is a short song in praise of Zion, the city of God (87:3), loved more than any other place in Israel.
87:4 I will make mention of Rahab and Babylon among those who know Me Rahab here is a poetic name for Egypt (Isa 30:7). Egypt, Babylon, Philistia, Tyre and Cush, Israel's old enemies, are listed among those who know the LORD and are counted as born in Zion. A stunning picture: the nations enrolled as citizens of God's city. It looks ahead to the gospel going to all peoples (Gal 3:28-29) and to the day when the nations come to Jerusalem to worship (Isa 2:2-3; Zech 14:16).
87:6 The LORD will count when He records the peoples God keeps the register of His city. To be written down as born there is to belong to Him. Paul says "the Jerusalem above is free, which is the mother of us all" (Gal 4:26).
87:7 All my springs are in you The singers and dancers say that every source of their joy is found in Zion, that is, in God who dwells there.
88:0 A Maskil of Heman the Ezrahite Heman was one of David's chief musicians, from Korah's line (1 Chr 6:33; 15:19). He was famous for wisdom (1 Kgs 4:31). On Mahalath, see 53:0.
88:1 LORD, God of my salvation Psalm 88 is the darkest psalm in the Bible. It has no turn to praise and ends in darkness. Yet its first words hold on: he still calls God "God of my salvation" and keeps praying day and night.
88:5 free among the dead He feels already counted among the dead, cut off and forgotten. "Abaddon" (88:11) means destruction, another name for the place of the dead.
88:8 You have removed my acquaintances far from me Friends have pulled away, perhaps because of a long illness that has lasted since his youth (88:15). Loneliness is part of his suffering.
88:10 Will the shades arise and give thanks to You "Shades" are the departed. The questions expect the answer no: the dead do not praise God among the living. The full hope of resurrection was not yet made plain. Christ has now brought it to light (1 Cor 15:20).
88:13 in the morning my prayer comes to meet You Even with no answer, he gets up and prays again. That is faith, not the lack of it.

about to die from my youth; I have borne Your terrors; I am helpless. 16 Your burning angers have passed over me; Your terrors have destroyed me. 17 They have surrounded me like water all the day; they have encircled me altogether. 18 You have removed far from me lover and friend; my acquaintances are darkness.

PSALMS 89

A Maskil of Ethan (Etan) the Ezrahite. 1 I will sing of the steadfast loves of the LORD forever; to generation and generation I will make known Your faithfulness with my mouth. 2 For I have said, "Steadfast love will be built up forever; the heavens, You establish Your faithfulness in them." 3 "I have made a covenant with My chosen one; I have sworn to David My servant: 4 'I will establish your offspring forever, and I will build your throne to generation and generation.'" Selah. 5 And the heavens will praise Your wonders, LORD, also Your faithfulness in the assembly of the holy ones. 6 For who in the clouds can be compared to the LORD? Who is like the LORD among the sons of gods, 7 a God greatly dreaded in the council of the holy ones, and feared above all who are around Him? 8 LORD God of armies, who is mighty like You, LORD? And Your faithfulness is all around You. 9 You rule over the swelling of the sea; when its waves rise, You calm them. 10 You crushed Rahab (Rahav) like one slain; with the arm of Your strength You scattered Your enemies. 11 The heavens are Yours; the earth also is Yours; the world and its fullness, You founded them. 12 North and south, You created them; Tabor (Tavor) and Mount Hermon (Chermon) shout for joy in Your name. 13 Yours is an arm with might; Your hand is strong; Your right hand is exalted. 14 Righteousness and justice are the foundation of Your throne; steadfast love and truth go before Your face. 15 How blessed is the people who know the shout of joy! LORD, they walk in the light of Your face. 16 In Your name they rejoice all the day, and in Your righteousness they are exalted. 17 For You are the splendor of their strength, and in Your favor our horn is exalted. 18 For our shield belongs to the LORD, and our King to the Holy One of Israel (Yisra'el). 19 Then You spoke in a vision to Your faithful ones, and You said, "I have placed help on a mighty one; I have exalted one chosen from the people. 20 I have found David My servant; with the oil of My holiness I have anointed him, 21 with whom My hand will be established; My arm also will strengthen him. 22 An enemy will not deceive him, and a son of injustice will not afflict him. 23 And I will crush his adversaries before him, and those who hate him I will strike down. 24 And My faithfulness and My steadfast love will be with him, and in My name his horn will be exalted. 25 And I will set his hand on the sea and his right hand on the rivers. 26 He will call to Me, 'You are my Father, my God, and the rock of my salvation.' 27 I also will make him the firstborn, the highest of the kings of the earth. 28 Forever I will keep My steadfast love for him, and My covenant will be faithful to him. 29 And I will establish his offspring forever, and his throne like the days of the heavens. 30 If his sons forsake My law and do not walk in My judgments, 31 if they profane My statutes and do not keep My commandments, 32 then I will punish their transgression with a rod and their iniquity with plagues. 33 But My steadfast love I will not break off from him, and I will not deal 88:18 my acquaintances are darkness The psalm ends with the word darkness. God put this psalm in the Bible for those whose prayers seem to go unanswered for a long time. It tells them they are not alone, and that it is right to keep bringing the darkness to God. Jesus also cried out in darkness on the cross (Matt 27:45-46), and the darkness did not have the last word.

89:0 A Maskil of Ethan the Ezrahite Ethan, like Heman (88:0), was a musician and wise man of David's and Solomon's day (1 Kgs 4:31; 1 Chr 15:19). Psalm 89 closes Book Three. It celebrates God's covenant with David and then laments that the throne seems lost.

89:1 I will sing of the steadfast loves of the LORD forever Steadfast love and faithfulness are the two key words of the psalm, each used seven times. Ethan builds his whole prayer on God's character.

89:3 I have made a covenant with My chosen one; I have sworn to David My servant God's covenant with David promised that his offspring would sit on his throne forever (2 Sam 7:12-16). The rest of the psalm wrestles with that promise.

89:10 You crushed Rahab like one slain Rahab here is a poetic name for Egypt or for the sea monster of chaos (87:4; Isa 51:9). The God who rules the raging sea can keep His word.

89:14 Righteousness and justice are the foundation of Your throne God's throne rests on what is right. Steadfast love and truth go before Him like heralds.

89:20 I have found David My servant; with the oil of My holiness I have anointed him Samuel anointed the shepherd boy with oil (1 Sam 16:13). Paul quotes this line in his sermon at Antioch, adding that from David's offspring God brought "a Savior, Jesus" (Acts 13:22-23).

89:26 You are my Father, my God, and the rock of my salvation The king of David's line would call God Father (2 Sam 7:14). Jesus, the Son of David, called God Father in a way no king before Him could.

89:27 I also will make him the firstborn, the highest of the kings of the earth Firstborn here means the one with the highest rank and the full inheritance. John calls Jesus "the firstborn from the dead, and the ruler of the kings of the earth" (Rev 1:5).

89:30 If his sons forsake My law God warned that disobedient kings would be disciplined, but the covenant itself would stand (89:33-34). Sin would bring the rod, not the end of the promise.

falsely with My faithfulness. 34 I will not profane My covenant, and what has gone out from My lips I will not change. 35 Once I have sworn by My holiness: I will not lie to David. 36 His offspring will be forever, and his throne like the sun before Me. 37 Like the moon it will be established forever, and a witness in the clouds is faithful." Selah. 38 And You, You have spurned and rejected; You have been furious with Your anointed. 39 You have repudiated the covenant of Your servant; You have profaned his crown to the ground. 40 You have broken through all his walls; You have made his strongholds a ruin. 41 All who pass by on the road have plundered him; he has become a reproach to his neighbors. 42 You have exalted the right hand of his adversaries; You have made all his enemies rejoice. 43 Also You turn back the flint of his sword, and You have not made him stand in the battle. 44 You have made him cease from his luster, and You have hurled his throne to the ground. 45 You have shortened the days of his youth; You have wrapped him with shame. Selah. 46 Until when, LORD? Will You hide Yourself forever? Will Your rage burn like fire? 47 Remember, as for me, what my lifespan is; for what emptiness have You created all the sons of mankind! 48 What man will live and not see death? Who will deliver his soul from the hand of Sheol? Selah. 49 Where are Your former steadfast loves, Lord, which You swore to David in Your faithfulness? 50 Remember, Lord, the reproach of Your servants, how I bear in my bosom the reproach of all the many peoples, 51 with which Your enemies have reproached, LORD, with which they have reproached the footsteps of Your anointed.

Closing Praise of Book Three

52 Blessed be the LORD forever. Amen and amen.

Book Four: The Prayer of Moses

A prayer of Moses (Moshe), the man of God. 1 Lord, You have been a dwelling place for us in generation and generation. 2 Before the mountains were born, and You brought forth the earth and the world, even from everlasting to everlasting, You are God. 3 You return man to crushed dust, and You say, "Return, sons of mankind." 4 For a thousand years in Your eyes are like yesterday when it passes, and like a watch in the night. 5 You sweep them away like a flood; they are like sleep; in the morning they are like grass that sprouts again. 6 In the morning it flourishes and sprouts again; toward evening it withers and dries up. 7 For we are consumed by Your anger, and by Your rage we are terrified. 8 You have set our iniquities before You, our hidden sins in the light of Your face. 9 For all our days have turned away in 89:35 Once I have sworn by My holiness: I will not lie to David God swore by Himself, because there is no one greater (Heb 6:13). His throne will last like the sun and moon (89:36-37). Gabriel told Mary that God would give her Son "the throne of David His father" (Luke 1:32).

89:38 And You, You have spurned and rejected The psalm turns sharply. The king has been defeated and humiliated, his crown thrown to the ground. It seems God has broken His covenant. This may reflect the fall of Jerusalem in 586 B.C. or an earlier defeat of a king of Judah.

89:46 Until when, LORD? Will You hide Yourself forever Ethan does not pretend. He holds God's promise in one hand and the painful facts in the other, and he brings both to God. Faith can live with unanswered questions, as long as it keeps talking to God.

89:49 Where are Your former steadfast loves, Lord, which You swore to David The answer came in Jesus, born of David's line, who rose from the dead and will reign forever (Acts 2:30-31). I believe He will sit on David's throne and reign on the earth when He returns. God did not lie to David.

89:52 Blessed be the LORD forever. Amen and amen This blessing closes Book Three (73-89). Even after the darkest questions, the book ends in praise.

90:0 A prayer of Moses, the man of God Deuteronomy 33:1 gives Moses the same title, a name for a prophet. Many conservative scholars take the heading at face value, as I do, and place the psalm in the forty years in the wilderness, when a whole generation died outside the promised land. Others date it later. If Moses wrote it, it is probably the oldest psalm in the book. Psalm 90 opens Book Four (90-106).

90:1 Lord, You have been a dwelling place for us Moses grew up in a palace, fled to Midian and spent his last forty years in tents. Yet he says Israel always had a home: God Himself (Deut 33:27). Houses change and are sold or torn down. God does not change.

90:2 from everlasting to everlasting, You are God Mountains seem permanent, but God was there before them. He did not start, and He will not stop. Moses begins with God's eternity before he says a word about our frailty. Our weakness is easier to face when we know He is our home.

90:3 You return man to crushed dust God told Adam he would return to the ground (Gen 3:19). One generation goes back to the dust and another takes its place. Even death is under God's command.

90:4 a thousand years in Your eyes are like yesterday when it passes To God a thousand years are like a day just ended, or a watch in the night, a few hours that pass in your sleep. Peter uses this to answer those who mocked the promise of Christ's return: God is not slow but patient, giving time to repent (2 Pet 3:8-9).

90:5 You sweep them away like a flood A flash flood in a dry riverbed comes without warning and carries everything off. And people are like grass that is green in the morning and withered by evening (90:6; Isa 40:6-8). We are not built to last on our own.

90:7 For we are consumed by Your anger Death came because of sin (Gen 3; Rom 5:12). Moses watched the wilderness generation die, funeral after funeral (Num 14:29-34). He speaks of the human race and that rebellious generation, not saying each illness is God's anger at that person (John 9:2-3; Luke 13:1-5). For those in Christ, the anger sin deserves has already fallen on Him.

90:8 our hidden sins in the light of Your face God sees every sin, even those we hide from everyone and sometimes from ourselves. We cannot understand God's mercy until we face the truth about our sin, and Moses tells that truth because he is about to ask for grace.

Your fury; we have finished our years like a sigh. 10 The days of our years in them are seventy years, and if by strength, eighty years; yet their pride is toil and trouble, for it passes quickly, and we fly away. 11 Who knows the strength of Your anger, and Your fury according to the fear of You? 12 So teach us to count our days, that we may bring in a heart of wisdom. 13 Return, LORD! Until when? And have compassion on Your servants. 14 Satisfy us in the morning with Your steadfast love, that we may shout for joy and rejoice all our days. 15 Make us rejoice according to the days in which You have afflicted us, the years in which we have seen evil. 16 Let Your work appear to Your servants, and Your majesty to their sons. 17 And let the pleasantness of the Lord our God be on us; and establish the work of our hands on us; yes, the work of our hands, establish it.

90:10 The days of our years in them are seventy years, and if by strength, eighty years The usual measure of a life. Moses himself lived to 120 (Deut 34:7). Even the best years are full of toil, and they pass quickly. Our life is "a vapor" (James 4:14). Ask anyone who is seventy whether it felt long.
90:12 So teach us to count our days, that we may bring in a heart of wisdom To count our days is to remember they are limited and each one matters. What would change if you believed your days were numbered? You might forgive sooner, pray more and spend less time on what will not last. Moses does not ask for more days. He asks for wisdom to use the ones he has.
90:13 have compassion on Your servants The word can mean to relent. Moses used it after the golden calf, asking God to turn from destroying Israel (Exod 32:12), and God heard him (Exod 32:14).
90:14 Satisfy us in the morning with Your steadfast love Fresh each day, like the manna. Life is short and hard, but a life filled with God's love can be glad all the way through.
90:15 Make us rejoice according to the days in which You have afflicted us A bold prayer: as many years of gladness as of slavery and wandering. God does more than balance the scales. Our light affliction is producing "an eternal weight of glory" (2 Cor 4:17).
90:16 Your majesty to their sons The wilderness generation would die before entering the land. Moses prays that their children would see God's work. We pray the same for our children and grandchildren.
90:17 establish the work of our hands on us; yes, the work of our hands, establish it Moses has spent the whole psalm saying people pass like grass. Now he asks God to make their work last anyway, and says it twice. When God's favor rests on what we do, it outlasts the worker. Our "toil is not empty in the Lord" (1 Cor 15:58).
91:1 He who dwells in the shelter of the Most High will lodge in the shadow of the Almighty The psalm has no heading. The Greek Old Testament adds David's name, and some old Jewish teachers thought Moses wrote it. Four names for God appear in two verses: Most High, Almighty (Shaddai), LORD and my God. "Dwells" and "lodge" mean to live somewhere. The promise is for the one who makes God home, not only a place to run in emergencies.
91:2 My refuge and my stronghold, my God, in whom I trust A refuge is a place to run to, and a stronghold a fortress no enemy can break. The writer says it out loud. Trust has to be spoken and lived.
91:3 He will deliver you from the snare of the fowler A fowler hid snares to catch birds. These are dangers we do not see coming. God sees them. He also delivers from the plagues that swept through ancient towns with no cure.
91:4 under His wings you will take refuge A mother bird spreading her wings over her chicks (Matt 23:37). His faithfulness, His keeping His word, is our shield and wall. Our safety rests on His character.
91:5 You will not be afraid of the dread of night Night and day, seen and unseen, the psalm names dangers at every hour. They may be real, but the one who lives in God's shelter does not have to live in fear of them. Many lie awake with worries. This psalm tells us who is watching while we sleep.
91:7 A thousand will fall at your side People fall all around, as in a battle or a plague, and the one who trusts God is kept. Verse 8 adds that he will see the payback of the wicked, as Israel was spared while the plagues struck Egypt (Exod 12:13, 22-23). It gives no one permission to enjoy another's suffering. God will set things right, and those who trust Him will be safe when He does.
91:9 You have made the Most High your dwelling place The voices change. It may be a priest encouraging a worshiper, or the writer encouraging himself. The promise is for the one who has made the LORD his home.
91:10 No evil will befall you Do these words mean a believer will never be sick, hurt or die young? They cannot. Paul was beaten and shipwrecked (2 Cor 11:23-27), James was killed with the sword (Acts 12:2), and faithful believers today get cancer and lose children. Their suffering is not a sign they lacked faith. God protects His people far more often than we know, and the promise reaches past this life: "The one believing in Me, even if he dies, will live" (John 11:25).
91:11 He will command His angels concerning you, to guard you in all your ways Angels are "ministering spirits" (Heb 1:14) sent to serve God's people. Satan quoted verses 11-12 to Jesus on the temple pinnacle (Matt 4:5-6) and left out "in all your ways." The promise is for those walking in God's ways, not those who leap into danger to force God's hand. Jesus answered, "You shall not test the Lord your God" (Matt 4:7). Satan can quote the Bible. A verse pulled out of context to push us toward folly is not God speaking.
91:13 you will trample the young lion and the serpent Lions and snakes were real dangers, the strong enemy and the hidden one. Many see Satan, the old serpent, here (Gen 3:15). Jesus gave His disciples authority "to tread upon serpents and scorpions" (Luke 10:19), and God will soon crush Satan under our feet (Rom 16:20). Satan stopped quoting one verse too soon.

14 "Because he has set his love on Me, I will deliver him; I will set him on high, because he knows My name. 15 He will call on Me, and I will answer him; I will be with him in trouble; I will rescue him and honor him. 16 With length of days I will satisfy him, and I will show him My salvation."

PSALMS 92

A psalm, a song for the day of the Sabbath. 1 It is good to give thanks to the LORD, and to sing praises to Your name, Most High; 2 to declare Your steadfast love in the morning, and Your faithfulness in the nights, 3 on a ten-stringed instrument and on a harp, on a melody with a lyre. 4 For You have made me rejoice, LORD, by Your deeds; in the works of Your hands I sing for joy. 5 How great are Your works, LORD! Your thoughts are very deep. 6 A senseless man does not know, and a fool does not understand this: 7 when the wicked sprout like vegetation, and all who work iniquity blossom, it is so that they may be destroyed forever and ever. 8 But You, LORD, are on high forever. 9 For look, Your enemies, LORD, for look, Your enemies will perish; all who work iniquity will be scattered. 10 And You have raised up my horn like that of a wild ox; I have been anointed with fresh oil. 11 And my eye has looked on my enemies; my ears have heard of the evildoers who rise up against me. 12 The righteous will flourish like the palm tree; he will grow like a cedar in Lebanon (Levanon). 13 Planted in the house of the LORD, they will flourish in the courts of our God. 14 They will still bear fruit in old age; they will be full of sap and fresh, 15 to declare that the LORD is upright; He is my rock, and there is no injustice in Him.

PSALMS 93

The LORD Reigns

1 The LORD reigns; He is clothed with majesty; the LORD is clothed; He has girded Himself with strength. Also the world is established; it will not be shaken. 2 Your throne has been established from of old; You are from everlasting. 3 The rivers have lifted up, LORD, the rivers have lifted up their voice; the rivers lift up their pounding. 4 More than the sounds of many waters, mighty breakers of the sea, the LORD on high is mighty. 5 Your testimonies are very faithful; holiness befits Your house, LORD, for length of days.

PSALMS 94

1 God of vengeance, LORD, God of vengeance, shine forth! 2 Lift Yourself up, Judge of the earth; return recompense on the proud. 3 Until when will the wicked, LORD, until when will the wicked exult? 4 They pour forth, they speak arrogance; all who work iniquity boast themselves. 5 Your people, LORD, they crush, and Your inheritance they afflict.

91:14 Because he has set his love on Me, I will deliver him Now God speaks. To set one's love is to cling to Him. To know His name is to know Him personally and trust His character. The safety this psalm promises flows from a relationship.
91:15 I will be with him in trouble Eight promises in three verses: deliver, set on high, answer, be with, rescue, honor, satisfy, show salvation. God expects trouble will come and promises to be in it with us. He did not keep Daniel's friends out of the furnace, but a fourth figure walked with them in the fire (Dan 3:25).
91:16 With length of days I will satisfy him, and I will show him My salvation Long life was a sign of blessing, and many believers do live long, full lives. Some die young, as Stephen and James did. For every believer, "My salvation" reaches beyond this life. The life God gives through Jesus does not end.
92:0 a song for the day of the Sabbath The only psalm headed for a particular day. The Sabbath was Israel's seventh day of rest (Exod 20:8-11), and this song of thanks was sung in worship on it. It is a fitting song for any day of rest.
92:2 to declare Your steadfast love in the morning, and Your faithfulness in the nights Begin the day with God's love and end it with His faithfulness. Both are worth singing about.
92:5 How great are Your works, LORD! Your thoughts are very deep God's plans run deeper than we can see. The fool looks only at the surface and envies the wicked (92:6-7).
92:7 when the wicked sprout like vegetation The wicked spring up like grass after rain, and like grass they will not last. Their success is short. The LORD is on high forever (92:8).
92:10 You have raised up my horn like that of a wild ox The wild ox was a symbol of strength. God has made the writer strong and refreshed him with fresh oil, like a guest honored at a feast.
92:12 The righteous will flourish like the palm tree The wicked are grass (92:7). The righteous are palms and cedars, tall, strong and long-lived. They grow because they are planted in God's house (92:13; 1:3).
92:14 They will still bear fruit in old age Getting older does not have to mean drying up. Those rooted in God stay fresh and fruitful, and their long lives declare that the LORD is upright.
93:1 The LORD reigns; He is clothed with majesty Psalm 93 begins a group of psalms (93-100) that celebrate the LORD as King. He is not becoming King. He has always reigned (93:2). Because He reigns, the world stands firm.
93:3 The rivers have lifted up, LORD The floods roar and pound like enemies rising against God. But the LORD on high is mightier than all the breakers of the sea (93:4). Whatever rises against Him, He is greater.
93:5 Your testimonies are very faithful The King's word can be trusted, and His house must be holy. A King this great deserves a holy people (1 Pet 1:15-16).
94:1 God of vengeance, LORD Vengeance here means God's just repayment, not personal spite. Because vengeance belongs to God, we do not have to take it ourselves (Deut 32:35; Rom 12:19). The writer asks the Judge to act against the proud who crush the weak.

6 The widow and the sojourner they kill, and orphans they murder. 7 And they said, "The LORD will not see, and the God of Jacob (Ya'aqov) will not perceive." 8 Understand, senseless ones among the people! And fools, when will you have insight? 9 He who plants the ear, does He not hear? Or He who forms the eye, does He not look? 10 He who disciplines nations, does He not rebuke, He who teaches mankind knowledge? 11 The LORD knows the thoughts of mankind, that they are vanity. 12 How blessed is the man whom You discipline, LORD, and from Your law You teach him, 13 to give him quiet from days of evil, until a pit is dug for the wicked. 14 For the LORD will not abandon His people, and His inheritance He will not forsake. 15 For judgment will return to righteousness, and after it will be all the upright of heart. 16 Who will rise up for me against evildoers? Who will take his stand for me against those who work iniquity? 17 If the LORD had not been a help to me, my soul would almost have dwelt in silence. 18 If I said, "My foot has slipped," Your steadfast love, LORD, supported me. 19 In the multitude of my anxious thoughts within me, Your consolations delight my soul. 20 Will a throne of destructions be joined with You, which forms trouble by statute? 21 They band together against the life of the righteous, and innocent blood they condemn. 22 And the LORD has become a high refuge for me, and my God the rock of my refuge. 23 And He has brought back on them their iniquity, and in their evil He will destroy them; the LORD our God will destroy them.

1 Come, let us sing for joy to the LORD; let us shout for joy to the rock of our salvation. 2 Let us come before His face with thanksgiving; with songs let us shout for joy to Him. 3 For the LORD is a great God, and a great King above all gods, 4 in whose hand are the depths of the earth, and the peaks of the mountains are His, 5 whose is the sea, and He made it, and the dry land His hands formed. 6 Come, let us bow down and bend low; let us kneel before the LORD our Maker. 7 For He is our God, and we are the people of His pasture and the flock of His hand. Today, if you will listen to His voice, 8 do not harden your heart as at Meribah (Meriva), as on the day of Massah (Masa) in the wilderness, 9 when your fathers tested Me; they tried Me, also they saw My work. 10 Forty years I loathed that generation, and I said, "They are a people who go astray in heart, and they have not known My ways." 11 So I swore in My anger, "They shall not enter into My rest."

94:6 The widow and the sojourner they kill, and orphans they murder God's law gave special care to the widow, the foreigner and the orphan (Exod 22:21-24). Those who prey on them, thinking God does not see (94:7), are His enemies.
94:9 He who plants the ear, does He not hear A simple, unanswerable argument. The One who made ears and eyes is not deaf or blind. God sees every wrong.
94:12 How blessed is the man whom You discipline, LORD God's discipline is a mark of His love, teaching us from His Word (Heb 12:5-11). It gives us quiet in evil days while He deals with the wicked.
94:14 the LORD will not abandon His people However dark things look, God will not forsake those who belong to Him. Paul uses these words: "God did not reject His people whom He foreknew" (Rom 11:2).
94:18 If I said, My foot has slipped, Your steadfast love, LORD, supported me The moment he felt himself falling, God's love caught him.
94:19 In the multitude of my anxious thoughts within me, Your consolations delight my soul Many anxious thoughts, and one God whose comfort is greater. When worry multiplies, turn to His comforts in His Word.
95:1 Come, let us sing for joy to the LORD The psalm has no heading, but Hebrews says God spoke it "through David" (Heb 4:7). Psalms 95-100 continue the songs of the LORD as King. "Let us" runs through the opening: worship is something we do together. "The rock of our salvation" may recall the rock that gave water in the wilderness (Exod 17:6), which returns in verse 8.
95:2 Let us come before His face with thanksgiving Israel's worship was loud and glad. Some of us are more reserved by nature, and that is fine. But God has given us something to shout about.
95:3 a great King above all gods The nations worshiped many gods. The next psalm says what they really are, "worthless idols" (96:5). Whatever powers people bow to, the LORD rules them all.
95:5 whose is the sea, and He made it The sea frightened ancient peoples, and some of Israel's neighbors told stories of gods fighting the sea. Israel knew the sea belongs to the LORD because He made it, and He shaped the land like a potter shaping clay. We worship Him first because of who He is.
95:6 let us bow down and bend low; let us kneel before the LORD our Maker Verse 1 called us to sing and shout. Now we bow and kneel. Worship holds both joy and reverence. The Hebrew word for worship means to bow low before someone greater.
95:7 we are the people of His pasture and the flock of His hand The King of creation is our Shepherd, caring for His sheep personally. "My sheep hear My voice" (John 10:27). That leads straight into the warning: singing to God and then ignoring what He says makes no sense. True worship includes hearing and obeying.
95:8 do not harden your heart as at Meribah, as on the day of Massah Meribah means quarreling, and Massah testing. With no water, Israel quarreled with Moses and asked whether the LORD was among them (Exod 17:1-7; Num 20:1-13). They had seen the plagues, the sea and the manna, and still did not trust Him. A hard heart grows one refusal at a time, so we encourage one another daily (Heb 3:13).
95:10 Forty years I loathed that generation Strong words of a grieved God. They had His law and His miracles but did not know His ways, because they did not want them.
95:11 They shall not enter into My rest The rest was Canaan, and that generation died in the wilderness, all but Joshua and Caleb (Num 14:20-35). Hebrews notes that the psalm still says "Today" long after Joshua, so the rest is more than Canaan: "there remains a Sabbath rest for the people of God" (Heb 4:9). It is the rest of trusting Christ instead of our own efforts, and in the end eternal rest with God. If God is speaking to you, respond today.

PSALMS 96

1 Sing to the LORD a new song; sing to the LORD, all the earth. 2 Sing to the LORD, bless His name; bring good news of His salvation from day to day. 3 Recount His glory among the nations, His wonders among all the peoples. 4 For the LORD is great and greatly to be praised; He is to be feared above all gods. 5 For all the gods of the peoples are worthless idols, and the LORD made the heavens. 6 Splendor and majesty are before Him; strength and beauty are in His sanctuary. 7 Ascribe to the LORD, families of peoples, ascribe to the LORD glory and strength. 8 Ascribe to the LORD the glory of His name; lift up an offering and come into His courts. 9 Bow down to the LORD in the adornment of holiness; tremble before Him, all the earth. 10 Say among the nations, "The LORD reigns; also the world is established; it will not be shaken; He will judge peoples with uprightness." 11 Let the heavens rejoice, and let the earth be glad; let the sea thunder, and its fullness. 12 Let the field exult, and all that is in it; then all the trees of the forest will shout for joy 13 before the LORD, for He is coming, for He is coming to judge the earth. He will judge the world in righteousness, and peoples in His faithfulness.

PSALMS 97

1 The LORD reigns; let the earth be glad; let the many coastlands rejoice. 2 Cloud and thick darkness are all around Him; righteousness and justice are the foundation of His throne. 3 Fire goes before Him, and it burns up His adversaries all around. 4 His lightnings light up the world; the earth sees, and it trembles. 5 The mountains melt like wax before the LORD, before the Lord of all the earth. 6 The heavens declare His righteousness, and all the peoples see His glory. 7 Let all who serve a carved image be ashamed, who boast themselves in worthless idols; bow down to Him, all gods. 8 Zion (Tsiyon) heard, and it rejoiced, and the daughters of Judah (Yehuda) were glad, because of Your judgments, LORD. 9 For You, LORD, are Most High over all the earth; You are exalted exceedingly above all gods. 10 You who love the LORD, hate evil! He guards the lives of His faithful ones; from the hand of the wicked He delivers them. 11 Light is sown for the righteous, and joy for the upright of heart. 12 Rejoice, righteous ones, in the LORD, and give thanks to the remembrance of His holiness.

96:1 Sing to the LORD a new song Nearly the same words appear in 1 Chronicles 16:23-33, part of the song David gave Asaph's family the day the ark came to Jerusalem. A new song is fresh praise for fresh mercies (Lam 3:22-23). In heaven the redeemed sing "a new song" to the Lamb (Rev 5:9).
96:2 bring good news of His salvation from day to day The Greek Old Testament uses the word that later gives us "gospel." God's people are to announce His salvation every day.
96:3 Recount His glory among the nations Israel was never meant to keep God to itself (Gen 12:3). Jesus sent His disciples to "make disciples of all the nations" (Matt 28:19). Every believer has a part, by going, sending, giving or praying. Who in your life has not yet heard?
96:5 all the gods of the peoples are worthless idols The Hebrew word for idols sounds like the word for God but means nothings. The nations' gods are no-gods, like scarecrows that cannot speak (Jer 10:5). People today may not bow to statues, but money, success and self are just as worthless. Only the Maker of heaven deserves worship.
96:6 strength and beauty are in His sanctuary Some think of God's power as harsh and His beauty as weak. In Him they are perfectly joined.
96:7 Ascribe to the LORD, families of peoples To ascribe is to give God the credit that is His. Psalm 29 called the heavenly beings. Here the nations are called, and even invited to bring offerings into His courts (96:8), a remarkable invitation that looks ahead to Gentiles brought near through Christ (Eph 2:13).
96:9 Bow down to the LORD in the adornment of holiness This may mean the priests' holy clothing, or the beauty of a life set apart for God. The joy of verses 1-3 and the trembling of verse 9 belong together. Many churches lean toward joy without reverence or reverence without joy. This psalm calls us to both.
96:10 Say among the nations, The LORD reigns This is the message to carry to the world. Because God reigns, the world is held steady, and He will judge fairly. Paul preached the same to Athens: God "has set a day in which He is about to judge the inhabited earth in righteousness" (Acts 17:31) by the Man He raised from the dead.
96:12 then all the trees of the forest will shout for joy Creation has been under a curse since Adam's sin (Gen 3:17-18) and groans waiting to be set free (Rom 8:19-22). When God comes to rule, it will finally be set right (Isa 55:12).
96:13 for He is coming, for He is coming to judge the earth He says it twice. I believe this points to the return of Jesus Christ, called Faithful and True, who judges in righteousness (Rev 19:11) and then reigns on the earth (Rev 20:4-6). He comes after the Great Tribulation and reigns over Israel and the nations. For those who know Him, the coming of the Judge is the day everything is made right. "Come, Lord Jesus" (Rev 22:20).
97:1 The LORD reigns; let the earth be glad The King's reign is good news for the whole world, even "the many coastlands," the farthest places people knew.
97:2 Cloud and thick darkness are all around Him God's coming is pictured as at Sinai, with cloud, fire and lightning (Exod 19:16-18). He is beyond our sight, yet His throne stands on righteousness and justice. We cannot see all of God, but what we know of Him is good.
97:7 Let all who serve a carved image be ashamed When the true King appears, idol worshipers will be embarrassed by what they trusted. "Bow down to Him, all gods": every power people worship must bow to the LORD. Hebrews 1:6 uses similar words of the angels worshiping the Son.
97:10 You who love the LORD, hate evil Love for God and hatred of evil go together. We cannot love the Holy One and be comfortable with what He hates (Rom 12:9). And He guards His faithful ones.
97:11 Light is sown for the righteous Like seed scattered in a field, light and joy are planted for God's people, and they will spring up in His time.

PSALMS 98

A psalm. 1 Sing to the LORD a new song, for He has done wonders; His right hand and the arm of His holiness have saved for Him. 2 The LORD has made known His salvation; to the eyes of the nations He has revealed His righteousness. 3 He has remembered His steadfast love and His faithfulness to the house of Israel (Yisra'el); all the ends of the earth have seen the salvation of our God. 4 Shout for joy to the LORD, all the earth; break forth, and sing for joy, and sing praises. 5 Sing praises to the LORD with a lyre, with a lyre and the sound of melody. 6 With trumpets and the sound of a ram's horn shout for joy before the King, the LORD. 7 Let the sea thunder, and its fullness, the world and those who dwell in it. 8 Let the rivers clap their hands; together let the mountains sing for joy 9 before the LORD, for He is coming to judge the earth; He will judge the world in righteousness, and peoples with uprightness.

PSALMS 99

1 The LORD reigns; let peoples tremble! He sits on the cherubim; let the earth quake! 2 The LORD in Zion (Tsiyon) is great, and He is exalted over all the peoples. 3 Let them give thanks to Your name, great and to be feared; holy is He. 4 And the strength of a King loves justice; You have established uprightness; justice and righteousness in Jacob (Ya'aqov) You have done. 5 Exalt the LORD our God, and bow down at the footstool of His feet; holy is He. 6 Moses (Moshe) and Aaron (Aharon) were among His priests, and Samuel (Shemu'el) among those who call on His name; they called to the LORD, and He answered them. 7 In a pillar of cloud He spoke to them; they kept His testimonies and the statute that He gave to them. 8 LORD our God, You answered them; a forgiving God You were to them, and One taking vengeance on their deeds. 9 Exalt the LORD our God, and bow down at the mountain of His holiness, for the LORD our God is holy.

98:1 Sing to the LORD a new song, for He has done wonders God's right hand has won the victory. Mary's song echoes this psalm: He has done mighty things and remembered His mercy to Israel (Luke 1:49-54).
98:3 He has remembered His steadfast love and His faithfulness to the house of Israel God's salvation for Israel is seen by all the nations. He keeps His promises to Israel, and through Israel's Messiah "all the ends of the earth have seen the salvation of our God" (98:3; Isa 52:10; Luke 2:30-32).
98:6 With trumpets and the sound of a ram's horn shout for joy before the King The music of a coronation. The whole earth is invited to the celebration.
98:8 Let the rivers clap their hands Creation joins the song, because the King is coming to set things right (98:9; 96:13). I believe that day comes when Christ returns to judge and reign.
99:1 He sits on the cherubim God was enthroned above the cherubim over the ark (Exod 25:22). The King of all the earth chose to dwell in Zion among His people.
99:3 holy is He The refrain of the psalm (99:3, 5, 9). God's holiness is His perfect purity and His being set apart from all sin. Isaiah heard the seraphim cry "Holy, holy, holy" (Isa 6:3).
99:5 bow down at the footstool of His feet The ark was called God's footstool (1 Chr 28:2). Even the place He rests His feet is holy ground.
99:6 Moses and Aaron were among His priests, and Samuel among those who call on His name These leaders prayed for the people, and God answered (Exod 32:11-14; 1 Sam 7:9). Prayer matters. God hears those who call on Him.
99:8 a forgiving God You were to them, and One taking vengeance on their deeds God forgave Moses and Aaron, yet He still disciplined them (Num 20:12). Forgiveness does not always remove the consequences. God is both merciful and just.
100:0 A psalm for thanksgiving The Hebrew word, todah, is also the name of the thank offering an Israelite brought for a particular blessing (Lev 7:12). The psalm may have been sung as worshipers came with those offerings. No other psalm has this heading.
100:1 Shout for joy to the LORD, all the earth The shout of a crowd welcoming a king. Once again the call goes to the whole earth, not just Israel.
100:2 Serve the LORD with joy The word for serve means both to work and to worship. Our work, worship and daily obedience are all service to God, and He wants it done gladly. A grumbling servant obeys, but a glad servant shows his master is good.
100:3 Know that the LORD, He is God; He made us, and we are His Worship starts with knowing who God is. We did not make ourselves. The Hebrew can be read two ways here, we are His or not we ourselves, and both are true. If God made me and I belong to Him, I do not have to prove my worth or carry my life alone. We are His flock, and the good shepherd lays down His life for the sheep (John 10:11).
100:4 Enter His gates with thanksgiving, His courts with praise Worshipers passed through the temple gates into the courts, each step taken with thanks. Before we bring God our requests, we thank Him (Phil 4:6). Through Jesus the way into God's presence is open (Heb 10:19). The question is whether we will come in thankful.
100:5 For the LORD is good; His steadfast love is forever Three reasons for every shout and song: God is good, His hesed never ends, and He keeps His word from generation to generation. When feelings say otherwise, this verse is a good place to stand. Psalm 100 is the basis of the hymn All People That on Earth Do Dwell, sung to the tune Old Hundredth.
101:1 Of steadfast love and justice I will sing Psalm 101 is a king's pledge. David promises to rule his house and his kingdom with integrity, guided by the steadfast love and justice he sees in God.

You, LORD, I will sing praises. 2 I will give attention to a blameless way. When will You come to me? I will walk about in the integrity of my heart in the midst of my house. 3 I will not set before my eyes a thing of worthlessness; the doing of deviations I hate; it will not cling to me. 4 A perverse heart will depart from me; evil I will not know. 5 Whoever slanders his neighbor in secret, him I will destroy; the haughty of eyes and arrogant of heart, him I will not be able to endure. 6 My eyes will be on the faithful of the land, to dwell with me; he who walks in a blameless way, he will serve me. 7 He who does deceit will not dwell in the midst of my house; he who speaks lies will not be established before my eyes. 8 Morning by morning I will destroy all the wicked of the land, to cut off from the city of the LORD all who work iniquity.

A prayer of an afflicted one, when he grows faint and pours out his complaint before the LORD. 1 LORD, hear my prayer, and let my cry for help come to You. 2 Do not hide Your face from me in the day when distress comes to me; incline Your ear to me; in the day when I call, hurry, answer me. 3 For my days have come to an end in smoke, and my bones have been burned like a hearth. 4 My heart has been struck like vegetation, and it has withered, for I have forgotten to eat my bread. 5 From the sound of my groaning my bones cling to my flesh. 6 I am like a desert owl of the wilderness; I have become like an owl of the waste places. 7 I lie awake, and I have become like a bird alone on a roof. 8 All the day my enemies have taunted me; those who mock me have sworn by me. 9 For I have eaten ashes like bread, and my drinks I have mixed with weeping, 10 because of Your indignation and Your wrath, for You have lifted me up, and You have thrown me away. 11 My days are like a stretched-out shadow, and I wither like vegetation. 12 And You, LORD, sit forever, and Your remembrance is to generation and generation. 13 You will arise; You will have compassion on Zion (Tsiyon), for it is time to show favor to her, for the appointed time has come. 14 For Your servants take pleasure in her stones, and they show favor to her dust. 15 And nations will fear the name of the LORD, and all the kings of the earth Your glory. 16 For the LORD has built Zion; He has appeared in His glory. 17 He has turned to the prayer of the destitute, and He has not despised their prayer. 18 Let this be written for a later generation, and a people to be created will praise the LORD. 19 For He has looked down from the height of His holiness; the LORD has looked from heaven to earth, 20 to hear the groaning of the prisoner, to set free the sons of death, 21 to recount in Zion the name of the LORD, and His praise in Jerusalem (Yerushalayim), 22 when peoples are gathered together, and kingdoms, to serve the LORD. 23 He has afflicted my strength in the way; He has cut short my days. 24 I said, "My God, do not take me up in the middle of my days; Your years are in a generation of generations. 25 Of old You founded the earth, and the heavens are the work of Your hands. 26 They will perish, and You will endure; and all of them will wear out like a garment; like clothing You will change them, and they will pass away. 27 And You are He, and Your years will not come to an end. 28 The sons of Your servants will dwell, and their offspring will be established before You."

101:2 I will walk about in the integrity of my heart in the midst of my house Integrity starts at home, where no crowd is watching. "When will You come to me?" shows David knows he needs God's help to keep his vow.
101:3 I will not set before my eyes a thing of worthlessness What we look at shapes what we become. David refuses to put anything worthless or wicked in front of his eyes. In a world of screens, that is a vow worth making.
101:5 Whoever slanders his neighbor in secret, him I will destroy A king was responsible to protect his people from liars and the proud. David would not let slanderers and arrogant men run his court. The faithful would be his advisers (101:6).
101:8 Morning by morning I will destroy all the wicked of the land In Israel the king held court in the morning (2 Sam 15:2; Jer 21:12). David vows to deal with evil every day, not let it pile up. Only Christ will fully keep this vow, when He reigns in righteousness (Isa 11:3-5).
102:0 A prayer of an afflicted one, when he grows faint The heading names no writer. It describes the person who should pray it: anyone worn out and pouring out his heart to God. Psalm 102 is one of the seven penitential psalms.
102:3 my days have come to an end in smoke He feels his life burning away. He forgets to eat (102:4) and lies awake alone, like a lonely bird on a rooftop (102:7). Deep grief can be that consuming.
102:12 And You, LORD, sit forever The turn. His days are like a lengthening shadow (102:11), but God is on His throne forever. Our brief lives look different when set beside the eternal King.
102:13 You will arise; You will have compassion on Zion The psalmist looks for the time God will restore Jerusalem, perhaps at the end of the exile. God's servants love even the dust and stones of the ruined city (102:14). I believe God will yet build up Zion and the nations will fear His name (102:15-16).
102:18 Let this be written for a later generation The writer knew his prayer was for people not yet born. Here we are, reading it.
102:25 Of old You founded the earth, and the heavens are the work of Your hands Hebrews 1:10-12 quotes verses 25-27 and says they speak of the Son. The Son is the Creator, who will outlast the universe He made. Heaven and earth will wear out like clothes, but He is the same forever (Heb 13:8).
102:28 The sons of Your servants will dwell Because God does not change, the children of His people have a future. His faithfulness passes from generation to generation.

PSALMS 103

Of David. 1 Bless the LORD, my soul, and all my inward parts, the name of His holiness. 2 Bless the LORD, my soul, and do not forget all His benefits, 3 who forgives all your iniquity, who heals all your diseases, 4 who redeems your life from the pit, who crowns you with steadfast love and compassion, 5 who satisfies your ornament with good; your youth renews itself like the eagle. 6 The LORD does righteous acts and judgments for all who are oppressed. 7 He made known His ways to Moses (Moshe), His deeds to the sons of Israel (Yisra'el). 8 The LORD is compassionate and gracious, slow to anger and great in steadfast love. 9 He will not contend perpetually, and He will not keep His anger forever. 10 He has not done to us according to our sins, and He has not repaid us according to our iniquities. 11 For as the heavens are high above the earth, His steadfast love is strong toward those who fear Him. 12 As the east is far from the west, He has removed our transgressions far from us. 13 As a father has compassion on his sons, the LORD has compassion on those who fear Him. 14 For He knows our frame; He remembers that we are dust. 15 Man, his days are like grass; like the flower of the field, so he flourishes. 16 For a wind passes over it, and it is no more, and its place will not recognize it again. 17 And the steadfast love of the LORD is from everlasting and to everlasting upon those who fear Him, and His righteousness to the sons of sons, 18 to those who keep His covenant, and to those who remember His precepts to do them. 19 The LORD has established His throne in the heavens, and His kingdom rules over all. 20 Bless the LORD, His angels, mighty ones of strength, who do His word, obeying the voice of His word. 21 Bless the LORD, all His armies, His ministers who do His will. 22 Bless the LORD, all His works, in all places of His dominion. Bless the LORD, my soul.

104:1 Heb 8:1; Ps 93:1; Ps 104:35
104:2 Isa 40:22; Dan 7:9; Matt 17:2

103:1 Bless the LORD, my soul David speaks to himself. Sometimes we need to preach to our own hearts, because feelings drift and thanks grow cold. He wants every part of him, mind, heart and will, to praise God. Half-hearted praise is not enough for a God this good.
103:2 do not forget all His benefits We remember our problems and forget God's kindness. One simple practice is to count His benefits on purpose, even to write them down. Forgetfulness is a quiet enemy of faith.
103:3 who forgives all your iniquity, who heals all your diseases Forgiveness comes first, and it is all, not some. David knew it after Bathsheba (2 Sam 12:13). God heals in many ways, through medicine, the body's recovery and answered prayer (James 5:14-15). Yet He does not heal every sickness in this life, and when healing does not come, it is not because someone lacked faith. The full answer comes at the resurrection (Phil 3:21; Rev 21:4).
103:4 who redeems your life from the pit, who crowns you with steadfast love and compassion Redemption is rescue at a cost, and for us the cost was the blood of Christ (1 Pet 1:18-19). God lifts us out of the pit and puts a crown on our heads. He treats forgiven sinners like royalty.
103:5 your youth renews itself like the eagle "Ornament" is hard to pin down; many take it as the whole person or the years of life. The eagle pictures strength and soaring flight (Isa 40:31). The body grows old, but God renews the spirit. Many elderly believers are young in spirit.
103:7 He made known His ways to Moses, His deeds to the sons of Israel Israel saw God's acts. Moses was shown His ways, the character behind the acts, because he asked, "let me know, please, Your ways" (Exod 33:13). Some see only what God does. Others come to know who God is.
103:8 The LORD is compassionate and gracious, slow to anger and great in steadfast love God's own words about Himself after the golden calf (Exod 34:6), repeated through the Old Testament (Num 14:18; Joel 2:13; Jonah 4:2). Compassionate, tender like a mother. Gracious, giving favor to the undeserving. Slow to anger, patient. Many picture God as harsh and quick to punish. That is not how He describes Himself.
103:10 He has not done to us according to our sins That is grace. If God gave us what our sins deserve, none of us could stand. He can forgive and still be just because Christ took our punishment (Rom 3:25-26). David received it looking forward, and we look back to the cross.
103:11 as the heavens are high above the earth Try to measure how high the sky goes. You cannot. God's love toward those who fear Him is like that.
103:12 As the east is far from the west, He has removed our transgressions far from us North and south meet at the poles, but east and west never meet. God does not keep our sins nearby to bring up later. "Their sins and their lawless deeds I will certainly not remember any more" (Heb 8:12). If God has forgiven you, you don't need to keep your sin in front of you either.
103:13 As a father has compassion on his sons The father in Jesus' story saw his son far off and "was moved with compassion" (Luke 15:20). If your own father was harsh or absent, the picture may hurt. God is the Father every earthly father should have imitated.
103:14 He remembers that we are dust God made us from the ground (Gen 2:7) and knows how we are built. He does not expect more from us than dust can do, and He gives us the strength we lack.
103:15 Man, his days are like grass A hot desert wind could wither wildflowers in a day, and the place forgets they grew there (90:5-6). Our lives are short, so we need something that lasts longer than we do.
103:17 the steadfast love of the LORD is from everlasting and to everlasting Man is grass, but God's love had no beginning and has no end, and His faithfulness reaches to our grandchildren. Keeping His covenant (103:18) describes those who have received His love, not a way to earn it. Grace comes first, and obedience follows.
103:19 His kingdom rules over all This verse holds the psalm together. The God who forgives, heals and pities us is the King over everything. His love has all a King's strength behind it, and His power is always used with love.
103:20 Bless the LORD, His angels, mighty ones of strength, who do His word The angels are powerful, yet they live to obey. We pray that God's will be done on earth as in heaven (Matt 6:10).
103:22 Bless the LORD, my soul After calling angels, armies and all creation, David comes back to himself. All heaven is praising God, and he does not want to be left out. Neither should we.
104:1 Bless the LORD, my soul. LORD my God, You are very great Psalm 104 begins and ends like Psalm 103. That psalm praised God for His mercy. This one praises Him for His creation, following much the order of Genesis 1: light, sky, waters, land, plants, sun and moon, sea creatures, man.
104:2 wrapping Yourself in light like a garment, stretching out the heavens like a tent curtain God puts on light the way we put on a coat, and spreads out the sky as easily as a man pitching a tent.

Yourself in light like a garment, stretching out the heavens like a tent curtain, 3 who lays the beams of His upper rooms in the waters, who makes clouds His chariot, who walks on the wings of the wind, 4 who makes His messengers winds, His ministers a flaming fire. 5 He founded the earth on its foundations; it will not be shaken forever and ever. 6 With the deep like clothing You covered it; the waters stood above the mountains. 7 From Your rebuke they fled; from the sound of Your thunder they hurried away. 8 They went up mountains; they went down valleys, to the place that You founded for them. 9 You set a boundary that they will not pass over; they will not return to cover the earth. 10 He sends forth springs into the ravines; between the mountains they go. 11 They give drink to every living thing of the field; wild donkeys break their thirst. 12 By them the flying things of the heavens dwell; from among the branches they give voice. 13 He waters the mountains from His upper rooms; from the fruit of Your works the earth is satisfied. 14 He causes grass to sprout for the livestock, and vegetation for the labor of mankind, to bring forth bread from the earth, 15 and wine that makes glad the heart of man, to make his face shine with oil, and bread that sustains the heart of man. 16 The trees of the LORD are satisfied, the cedars of Lebanon (Levanon) which He planted, 17 where the birds make nests; the stork, the cypresses are her home. 18 The high mountains are for the mountain goats; the crags are a refuge for the rock badgers. 19 He made the moon for appointed times; the sun knows its setting. 20 You make darkness, and it becomes night; in it every living thing of the forest moves about. 21 The young lions roar for the prey, and to seek their food from God. 22 The sun rises; they withdraw, and in their dens they lie down. 23 Man goes out to his work and to his labor until evening. 24 How many are Your works, LORD! In wisdom You have made all of them; the earth is full of Your possessions. 25 This sea, great and broad in extent, there are moving things, and there is no number to them, living things small along with great. 26 There the ships go about, and Leviathan, which You formed to play in it. 27 All of them wait for You, to give their food in its time. 28 You give to them; they gather it up; You open Your hand; they are satisfied with good. 29 You hide Your face; they are terrified; You withdraw their breath; they die, and to their dust they return. 30 You send forth Your Spirit; they are created, and You renew the face of the ground. 31 Let the glory of the LORD be forever; let the LORD rejoice in His works, 32 who looks at the earth, and it trembles; He touches the mountains, and they smoke. 33 I will sing to the LORD in my life; I will sing praises to my God while I still exist. 34 Let my meditation be pleasing to Him; I, I will rejoice in the LORD. 35 Let sinners be consumed from the earth, and let the wicked be no more. Bless the LORD, my soul. Praise the LORD!

104:4 who makes His messengers winds, His ministers a flaming fire Wind and fire obey Him like servants. Hebrews quotes this of the angels, to show that the Son is far greater than they (Heb 1:7).
104:6 the waters stood above the mountains At creation the deep covered the earth (Gen 1:2, 9). At God's rebuke the waters fled to the place He set for them, and He fixed a boundary they will not cross (104:9). He kept that promise after the flood (Gen 9:11).
104:14 He causes grass to sprout for the livestock, and vegetation for the labor of mankind God feeds animals and people alike. Bread, wine and oil (104:15) were the basic gifts of the land. Every meal is from His hand.
104:15 wine that makes glad the heart of man Scripture counts wine among God's good gifts, while warning plainly against drunkenness (Prov 20:1; Eph 5:18).
104:19 He made the moon for appointed times Israel's calendar and feasts were set by the moon. Sun and moon keep the times God gave them (Gen 1:14).
104:21 The young lions roar for the prey, and to seek their food from God Even a lion's hunt is a kind of prayer. Night belongs to the beasts, and day to man and his work (104:22-23). God orders it all.
104:24 How many are Your works, LORD! In wisdom You have made all of them The more we learn about creation, the more reason we have to praise its Maker's wisdom (Prov 3:19).
104:26 Leviathan, which You formed to play in it Elsewhere Leviathan is a fearsome monster (74:14). Here it is a great sea creature God made to play, like a pet in His ocean. What terrifies us is a plaything to God.
104:29 You withdraw their breath; they die All life depends on God moment by moment. He gives breath, and when He takes it, creatures return to dust (Gen 3:19).
104:30 You send forth Your Spirit; they are created The same word means breath and Spirit. God's Spirit was at work in creation (Gen 1:2), and He renews the earth every spring.
104:35 Let sinners be consumed from the earth The only dark line in the psalm. Sin is the one thing spoiling God's good creation, and the writer longs for the day it will be gone (Rev 21:27). "Praise the LORD" here is Hallelujah, the first time it appears in the Psalms.
105:1 Give thanks to the LORD; call on His name; make known His deeds among the peoples Verses 1-15 also appear in 1 Chronicles 16:8-22, sung when the ark came to Jerusalem. Psalm 105 tells Israel's story as a story of God's faithfulness, from Abraham to the promised land.

Praise the LORD!

105:8 He has remembered His covenant forever The covenant with Abraham, Isaac and Jacob promised the land of Canaan "as an everlasting covenant" (105:10-11; Gen 17:7-8). "A thousand generations" means forever. I believe God still keeps this promise to Israel (Rom 11:28-29).
105:15 Do not touch My anointed ones, and do not do harm to My prophets The patriarchs were few and wandering, but God protected them, even rebuking kings like Pharaoh and Abimelech (Gen 12:17; 20:3-7). "Anointed ones" here means the patriarchs, set apart by God, not later kings.
105:17 He sent a man before them; Joseph was sold as a slave What his brothers meant for evil, God meant for good, to keep His people alive (Gen 45:5; 50:20). Joseph's chains were part of God's plan.
105:19 until the time that his word came; the word of the LORD refined him Joseph waited years in prison while God's word tested him. God's promises often take longer than we expect, and the waiting shapes us.
105:25 He turned their heart to hate His people God was sovereign even over Egypt's hatred, using it to bring about the exodus. That does not excuse Egypt's cruelty, which God judged.
105:28 He sent darkness The psalm lists eight of the ten plagues, not in Exodus order, as a poet would (Exod 7-12). Each showed the LORD's power over the gods of Egypt (Exod 12:12).
105:37 He brought them out with silver and gold Israel left with the wealth of Egypt (Exod 12:35-36), and none was too weak to travel. God brought them out whole.
105:42 For He remembered the word of His holiness, Abraham His servant The whole story turns on this: God remembered His promise. The goal was that His people would keep His ways (105:45). Grace comes first, then obedience.
106:1 Praise the LORD! Give thanks to the LORD, for He is good; for His steadfast love is forever Psalm 106 tells the same history as Psalm 105, but from the other side: Israel's unfaithfulness. Psalm 105 shows God never failed. Psalm 106 shows His people often did, and He kept loving them.

blessed are those who keep justice, the one who does righteousness at every time! 4 Remember me, LORD, with the favor of Your people; visit me with Your salvation, 5 to look on the good of Your chosen ones, to rejoice in the joy of Your nation, to boast with Your inheritance. 6 We have sinned with our fathers; we have acted perversely; we have acted wickedly. 7 Our fathers in Egypt (Mitsrayim) did not consider Your wonders; they did not remember the abundance of Your steadfast loves, and they rebelled at the sea, at the Red Sea. 8 And He saved them for the sake of His name, to make known His might. 9 And He rebuked the Red Sea, and it dried up; and He led them through the deeps as through the wilderness. 10 And He saved them from the hand of the one who hated them, and He redeemed them from the hand of the enemy. 11 And the waters covered their adversaries; not one of them was left. 12 And they believed in His words; they sang His praise. 13 They hastened, they forgot His works; they did not wait for His counsel. 14 And they craved a craving in the wilderness, and they tested God in the desert. 15 And He gave them their request, and He sent leanness into their soul. 16 And they were jealous of Moses (Moshe) in the camp, of Aaron (Aharon), the holy one of the LORD. 17 The earth opened, and it swallowed Dathan (Datan), and it covered over the company of Abiram (Aviram). 18 And fire burned in their company; a flame set the wicked ablaze. 19 They made a calf at Horeb (Chorev), and they bowed down to a molten image. 20 And they exchanged their glory for the likeness of an ox that eats plants. 21 They forgot God their Savior, who did great things in Egypt, 22 wonders in the land of Ham (Cham), awesome things at the Red Sea. 23 And He said He would destroy them, had not Moses His chosen one stood in the breach before Him, to turn back His wrath from destroying. 24 And they rejected the land of desire; they did not believe His word. 25 And they grumbled in their tents; they did not listen to the voice of the LORD. 26 And He lifted His hand to them, to make them fall in the wilderness, 27 and to make their offspring fall among the nations, and to scatter them among the lands. 28 And they joined themselves to Baal of Peor, and they ate sacrifices of the dead. 29 And they provoked Him to anger with their deeds, and a plague broke out among them. 30 And Phinehas (Pinchas) stood up and intervened, and the plague was restrained. 31 And it was reckoned to him for righteousness, to generation and generation, until forever. 32 And they provoked Him to wrath at the waters of Meribah (Meriva), and it went badly for Moses because of them, 33 for they rebelled against His Spirit, and he spoke rashly with his lips. 34 They did not destroy the peoples, as the LORD had said to them, 35 and they mingled with the nations, and they learned their works. 36 And they served their idols, and they became a snare to them. 37 And they sacrificed their sons and their daughters to the demons. 38 And they shed innocent blood, the blood of their sons and their daughters, whom they sacrificed to the idols of Canaan (Kena'an); and the land was polluted with the blood. 39 And they became unclean by their works, and they played the prostitute by their deeds. 40 And the anger of the LORD burned against His people, and He abhorred His inheritance. 41 And He gave them into the hand of the nations, and those who hated them ruled over them. 42 And their enemies oppressed them, and they were humbled under their hand. 43 Many times He delivered them, and 106:6 We have sinned with our fathers The writer does not blame only the past. He confesses that his own generation shares the guilt. Honest confession says "we," not only "they" (Dan 9:5; Neh 9:33).

106:8 He saved them for the sake of His name Israel rebelled even at the Red Sea (Exod 14:11-12), and God saved them anyway. He did it for His own name, not because they deserved it.
106:15 He gave them their request, and He sent leanness into their soul They demanded meat and got it, with judgment (Num 11:31-34). Getting what we want can leave the soul starved. It is better to want what God wants.
106:20 they exchanged their glory for the likeness of an ox that eats plants At Sinai they traded the living God, their true glory, for a golden calf (Exod 32). Paul says all mankind made the same trade (Rom 1:23).
106:23 had not Moses His chosen one stood in the breach before Him A breach is a gap in a city wall. Moses stood in the gap and prayed, and God spared Israel (Exod 32:11-14). God still looks for those who will pray for others (Ezek 22:30). Jesus is the perfect intercessor who stands in the gap for us (Heb 7:25).
106:24 they rejected the land of desire; they did not believe His word At Kadesh they refused to enter Canaan (Num 14), and that generation died in the wilderness. Unbelief kept them out (Heb 3:19).
106:30 Phinehas stood up and intervened, and the plague was restrained When Israel joined in the worship of Baal of Peor and its immorality, Phinehas the priest acted to stop it (Num 25:1-13). His zeal for God "was reckoned to him for righteousness," the same words used of Abraham's faith (Gen 15:6). His act showed a heart wholly for God.
106:33 he spoke rashly with his lips Even Moses failed at Meribah and was kept out of the land (Num 20:10-12). The people's rebellion provoked him, but he was still responsible for his words.
106:37 they sacrificed their sons and their daughters to the demons The lowest point of Israel's sin: child sacrifice to the gods of Canaan (2 Kgs 17:17; Jer 7:31). Behind the idols were demons (1 Cor 10:20). God hated this, and it polluted the land.

they, they rebelled in their counsel, and they sank in their iniquity. 44 And He saw, when distress came to them, when He heard their cry. 45 And He remembered for them His covenant, and He relented according to the abundance of His steadfast loves. 46 And He gave them to compassion before all their captors. 47 Save us, LORD our God, and gather us from the nations, to give thanks to the name of Your holiness, to glory in Your praise.

Closing Praise of Book Four

48 Blessed be the LORD, the God of Israel (Yisra'el), from everlasting and to everlasting. And all the people shall say, "Amen." Praise the LORD!

Book Five: The Redeemed Give Thanks

1 Give thanks to the LORD, for He is good; for His steadfast love is forever. 2 Let the redeemed of the LORD say so, whom He has redeemed from the hand of the adversary, 3 and from the lands He has gathered them, from east and from west, from north and from the sea. 4 They wandered in the wilderness, in a desert way; a city of dwelling they did not find. 5 Hungry, also thirsty, their soul fainted within them. 6 And they cried out to the LORD when distress came to them; from their troubles He delivered them. 7 And He led them by a straight way, to go to a city of dwelling. 8 Let them give thanks to the LORD for His steadfast love, and His wonders to the sons of man. 9 For He has satisfied a longing soul, and a hungry soul He has filled with good. 10 Those who sat in darkness and deep darkness, prisoners of affliction and iron, 11 for they had rebelled against the words of God, and the counsel of the Most High they had spurned. 12 And He humbled their heart with toil; they stumbled, and there was no helper. 13 And they cried out to the LORD when distress came to them; from their troubles He saved them. 14 He brought them out from darkness and deep darkness, and their bonds He tore apart. 15 Let them give thanks to the LORD for His steadfast love, and His wonders to the sons of man. 16 For He has broken doors of bronze, and bars of iron He has cut down. 17 Fools, because of the way of their transgression and because of their iniquities, were afflicted. 18 All food their soul loathed, and they reached to the gates of death. 19 And they cried out to the LORD when distress came to them; from their troubles He saved them. 20 He sent His word and healed them, and He rescued them from their pits. 21 Let them give thanks to the LORD for His steadfast love, and His wonders to the sons of man. 22 And let them sacrifice sacrifices of thanksgiving, and let them recount His works with a shout of joy. 23 Those who go down to the sea in ships, who do work on many waters, 24 they have seen the works of the LORD, and His wonders in the deep. 25 And He spoke and raised up a wind of storm, and it lifted up its waves. 26 They went up to the heavens, they went down to the deeps; their soul melted in trouble. 27 They reeled and staggered like the drunkard, and all their skill was swallowed up. 28 And they cried out to the LORD when distress came to them, and from their troubles He brought them out. 29 He settled the storm into a calm, and their waves were hushed. 30 And they rejoiced because they were quiet, and He guided them to the harbor of their desire. 31 Let them give thanks to the LORD for His steadfast love, and His wonders to the 106:45 He remembered for them His covenant, and He relented Again and again God delivered them. His steadfast love was greater than their unfaithfulness. That is the gospel in the Old Testament.

106:47 gather us from the nations A prayer from exile, or from a scattered people. I believe God will gather Israel from the nations, as the prophets promised (Ezek 36:24).

106:48 Blessed be the LORD, the God of Israel, from everlasting and to everlasting This blessing closes Book Four (90-106). The people answer "Amen" and "Praise the LORD!" (1 Chr 16:36).

107:1 Give thanks to the LORD, for He is good; for His steadfast love is forever Psalm 107 opens Book Five (107-150). It picks up right where Book Four ended, with God gathering His people from the lands (106:47; 107:3).

107:2 Let the redeemed of the LORD say so If God has rescued you, say so. Testimony is part of thanksgiving. The psalm then gives four pictures of people in trouble who cried out and were saved.

107:4 They wandered in the wilderness The first picture: lost travelers, hungry and thirsty, with no city to call home. God led them by a straight way. He satisfies the longing soul (107:9). Jesus is the bread of life for every hungry heart (John 6:35).

107:6 they cried out to the LORD when distress came to them The refrain comes four times (107:6, 13, 19, 28), each followed by a call to give thanks for His steadfast love (107:8, 15, 21, 31). Trouble, a cry, rescue, thanks: that is the pattern of the whole psalm.

107:10 Those who sat in darkness and deep darkness, prisoners of affliction and iron The second picture: prisoners who had rebelled against God and brought their chains on themselves. Even so, when they cried out, He broke the bars of iron (107:16). Jesus came to proclaim freedom to captives (Luke 4:18).

107:17 Fools, because of the way of their transgression The third picture: people sick because of their own sin, so ill they loathed food. "He sent His word and healed them" (107:20). God's word has power to heal and save.

107:23 Those who go down to the sea in ships The fourth picture: sailors in a storm, tossed until their skill was gone. God stilled the storm and brought them to harbor (107:29-30). Jesus did the same on the Sea of Galilee, and His disciples asked, "Who then is this?" (Mark 4:39-41).

sons of man. 32 And let them exalt Him in the assembly of the people, and in the seat of the elders let them praise Him. 33 He makes rivers into a wilderness, and springs of water into thirsty ground, 34 a land of fruit into saltiness, because of the evil of those who dwell in it. 35 He makes a wilderness into a pool of water, and a land of dryness into springs of water. 36 And He made the hungry dwell there, and they established a city of dwelling. 37 And they sowed fields, and they planted vineyards, and they made fruit of produce. 38 And He blessed them, and they multiplied greatly, and their livestock He did not make few. 39 And they became few, and they were bowed down by the oppression of trouble and sorrow. 40 He pours contempt on nobles, and He made them wander in formlessness, where there is no way. 41 And He set the needy on high from affliction, and He made their families like the flock. 42 The upright see, and they rejoice, and all injustice shuts its mouth. 43 Who is wise? Then let him keep these things, and let them consider the steadfast loves of the LORD.

A song. A psalm of David. 1 My heart is steadfast, God; I will sing, and I will sing praises, also my glory. 2 Awake, harp and lyre! I will awaken the dawn. 3 I will give thanks to You among the peoples, LORD, and I will sing praises to You among the nations. 4 For Your steadfast love is great above the heavens, and Your faithfulness to the clouds. 5 Be exalted above the heavens, God, and let Your glory be over all the earth. 6 So that Your beloved ones may be rescued, save with Your right hand, and answer me. 7 God has spoken in His holiness: "I will exult; I will divide up Shechem (Shekhem), and I will measure off the valley of Succoth (Sukot). 8 Gilead (Gilad) is Mine, Manasseh (Menashe) is Mine, and Ephraim (Efrayim) is the protection of My head; Judah (Yehuda) is My ruler's staff. 9 Moab (Mo'av) is the pot of My washing; over Edom I will throw My sandal; over Philistia (Peleshet) I will shout aloud." 10 Who will bring me to a city of fortification? 107:33 He makes rivers into a wilderness God can turn a fruitful land to salt because of its people's wickedness, and turn a desert into springs for the hungry (107:35). He lifts up the needy and brings down the proud (107:40-41).
107:43 Who is wise? Then let him keep these things, and let them consider the steadfast loves of the LORD The wise person thinks about these stories and sees God's loyal love in them. Look back over your own life. Where has God brought you out of trouble?
108:1 My heart is steadfast, God Psalm 108 joins two earlier psalms: verses 1-5 are 57:7-11, and verses 6-13 are 60:5-12. God's people sometimes put old prayers together for new needs. Praise comes first, then the request.
108:12 the deliverance of man is worthlessness The lesson of both parent psalms: human help fails, but "In God we will do valiantly" (108:13).
109:1 God of my praise, do not be silent Psalm 109 is the harshest of the prayers for judgment. David is falsely accused by people he had loved and prayed for (109:4-5).
109:4 In return for my love they accuse me, and I am prayer The Hebrew says simply, and I, prayer. When attacked, David does not strike back. He becomes all prayer. That is the right first response.
109:6 Appoint a wicked man over him, and let an accuser stand at his right hand Verses 6-19 call down judgment on one enemy. Most read these as David's own prayer, handing his case to God the Judge. Some think David is quoting what his enemies said against him, since he speaks of "them" before and after (109:2-5, 20) and of "him" here. Either way, the curses return on the one who "loved cursing" (109:17). See the introduction on the hard lines.
109:8 Let his days be few; let another take his office Peter applied this verse to Judas, the betrayer, whose place among the apostles had to be filled (Acts 1:20).

15 Let them be before the LORD continually, and let Him cut off their memory from the earth, 16 because he did not remember to do steadfast love, and he pursued an afflicted and needy man, and the disheartened in heart, to put him to death. 17 And he loved cursing, and it came to him; and he did not delight in blessing, and it was far from him. 18 And he put on cursing like his garment, and it came like water into his inner parts, and like oil into his bones. 19 Let it be to him like a garment that he wraps himself in, and for a belt that he girds on continually. 20 This is the wages of my accusers from the LORD, and of those who speak evil against my soul. 21 And You, GOD the Lord, deal with me for the sake of Your name; for Your steadfast love is good, deliver me. 22 For I am afflicted and needy, and my heart is pierced within me. 23 Like a shadow when it stretches out, I have gone; I have been shaken off like the locust. 24 My knees have stumbled from fasting, and my flesh has grown lean, without fatness. 25 And I, I have become a reproach to them; they see me, they shake their head. 26 Help me, LORD my God; save me according to Your steadfast love, 27 and they will know that this is Your hand; You, LORD, You have done it. 28 They, they will curse, and You, You will bless; they have arisen, and they have been put to shame, and Your servant will rejoice. 29 Let my accusers be clothed with dishonor, and let them be wrapped with their shame like the robe. 30 I will give thanks to the LORD greatly with my mouth, and in the midst of many I will praise Him. 31 For He stands at the right hand of the needy, to save him from those who judge his soul.

109:16 because he did not remember to do steadfast love, and he pursued an afflicted and needy man The reason for the judgment: he showed no mercy and hunted the weak. God gives the merciless what they gave others (James 2:13).
109:21 deal with me for the sake of Your name; for Your steadfast love is good David turns from his enemy to God. He rests his own case not on his innocence but on God's name and love.
109:28 They, they will curse, and You, You will bless Let them curse. If God blesses, their words cannot harm. Jesus, cursed and mocked, prayed, "Father, forgive them, for they do not know what they are doing" (Luke 23:34). We are to bless those who curse us (Luke 6:28).
109:31 For He stands at the right hand of the needy The accuser stood at the right hand of the wicked man (109:6). God stands at the right hand of the needy as his defender.
110:0 Of David. A psalm Jesus' argument about this psalm depends on David being its writer (Matt 22:43). Some read the heading as "for David," a court singer writing about the king as his lord. I take it as naming David, as Jesus and Peter did, and no one in the crowd disputed it (Matt 22:46).
110:1 The LORD declares to my Lord The first word is God's personal name. The second is adoni, my lord, a title for a master or superior. No king in Israel stood above David, so who could be David's lord? Jesus asked, "How then does David in the Spirit call Him Lord?" (Matt 22:43). The Messiah is David's son and David's Lord, human and divine.
110:1 Sit at My right hand until I make Your enemies a footstool for Your feet The right hand was the place of highest honor and shared rule. Peter preached that God has made Jesus "both Lord and Christ" (Acts 2:34-36). After one sacrifice for sins He sat down, "from then on waiting until His enemies are placed as a footstool for His feet" (Heb 10:12-13). The cross is finished. The full defeat of His enemies is still to come. Many count this as the Old Testament verse most often cited in the New.
110:2 rule in the midst of Your enemies The staff is the king's rod of authority. Jesus reigns now at the Father's right hand while the world still opposes Him. I believe He will return at the end of the Tribulation and rule the nations from Zion, when His feet stand on the Mount of Olives and "the LORD will be King over all the earth" (Zech 14:4, 9). God has not finished with Israel (Rom 11:26, 29).
110:3 Your people will be freewill offerings in the day of Your power The King's people are not forced into His army. They offer themselves gladly (Rom 12:1). The rest of the verse is hard in Hebrew. "The dew of Your youth" seems to picture His young warriors coming out fresh and many like dew at dawn. Some take it as the King's own renewed youth.
110:4 You are a priest forever according to the order of Melchizedek God swore it with an oath (Heb 7:20-21). In Israel kings came from Judah and priests from Levi, and King Uzziah was struck with leprosy for taking a priest's work (2 Chr 26:16-21). Melchizedek was king of Salem, an early name for Jerusalem, and priest of God Most High (Gen 14:18-20). His name means king of righteousness, and Salem means peace (Heb 7:2). Abraham gave him a tenth, so his priesthood is greater than Levi's. Jesus, from Judah, is King and Priest, "always living to intercede for them" (Heb 7:25). Right now He is praying for His people.
110:5 He has shattered kings in the day of His anger The Lord fights at the King's right hand, or the King Himself goes out to battle. These are hard words of victory over rebel rulers (110:6). The same King who gave His life for sinners will judge those who refuse Him when He returns (Rev 19:15). That judgment is His, not ours. Our part while He waits is to tell everyone the good news.
110:7 From the brook on the way He will drink; therefore He will lift up the head The meaning is debated. Most picture a king refreshed at a stream as he pursues his enemies, pressing on to victory. Many also see the King who bowed His head on the cross (John 19:30) and now has His head lifted high in glory.

111:1 Praise the LORD! I will give thanks to the LORD with all my heart Psalms 111 and 112 are twin acrostics, each line beginning with the next letter of the Hebrew alphabet. Psalm 111 praises what God is like. Psalm 112 shows what the man who fears Him becomes.

111:2 Great are the works of the LORD, studied by all who delight in them Those who love God's works study them, in creation and in history. Many scientists have taken this verse as a reason to search out the wonders of God's world.

111:4 A remembrance He has made for His wonders God gave Israel feasts like Passover so they would remember what He had done (Exod 12:14). The Lord's Supper is a remembrance for us (1 Cor 11:24-25).

111:9 Redemption He has sent to His people God redeemed Israel from Egypt. Zechariah sang that God had "visited and has worked redemption for His people" (Luke 1:68) in sending Jesus.

111:10 The fear of the LORD is the beginning of wisdom Wisdom starts with taking God seriously (Prov 9:10). Without that starting point, all our learning stands on sand.

112:1 How blessed is the man who fears the LORD, who delights greatly in His commandments Psalm 111:10 ended with the fear of the LORD. Psalm 112 picks it up and shows the life it produces.

112:4 Light has risen in the darkness for the upright Godly people still face dark times, but light dawns for them. The words "gracious and compassionate" were used of God in 111:4. The one who fears God starts to resemble Him.

112:7 He will not be afraid of bad news; his heart is steadfast, trusting in the LORD Bad news will come. The difference is a heart fixed on God. Many believers have leaned on this verse waiting for a phone call or a test result.

112:9 He has scattered, he has given to the needy The righteous man gives freely. Paul quotes this verse to encourage generous giving (2 Cor 9:9).

113:1 Praise, servants of the LORD Psalms 113-118 are called the Hallel, from the Hebrew word for praise. Jewish families sang them at Passover and the other pilgrim feasts. See the note at 118:29.

113:5 Who is like the LORD our God, who makes Himself high to sit God is enthroned so high that He must stoop even to look at the heavens (113:6). Yet this exalted God bends down to the poor.

113:7 He raises up the poor from the dust; from the ash heap He lifts up the needy The ash heap was the town dump where beggars sat. God lifts them to sit with princes. Hannah sang these words (1 Sam 2:8), and Mary echoed them (Luke 1:52-53). It is what God did for us in Christ (Eph 2:4-6).

113:9 He makes the barren woman of the house dwell as a joyful mother of children Sarah, Rebekah, Rachel, Hannah and Elizabeth all knew this grief and God's answer. God sees those who long for children.

114:1 When Israel went out from Egypt A short poem of the exodus. Judah became God's holy place, the people among whom He lived (114:2).

2 Judah (Yehuda) became His holy place, Israel His dominion.
3 The sea saw and fled; the Jordan (Yarden) turned back.

114:3 The sea saw and fled; the Jordan turned back The Red Sea parted (Exod 14:21), and the Jordan stopped flowing (Josh 3:16). The psalmist teases the sea and the mountains: what is wrong with you? The answer is the presence of the Lord (114:7).
114:8 who turns the rock into a pool of water The God who made water flow from flint (Exod 17:6) can bring life from the hardest places.
115:1 Not to us, LORD, not to us, but to Your name give glory A prayer for every success. The glory belongs to God, because of His steadfast love and faithfulness, not our worth.
115:4 Their idols are silver and gold, the work of the hands of man The nations mock, "Where, now, is their God?" (115:2). The answer: our God is in heaven and does all He pleases. Their gods have mouths, eyes and ears and cannot use any of them.
115:8 Like them will be those who make them We become like what we worship. Worship a dead idol and the heart grows deaf and blind. Worship the living God, and we are changed into His likeness (2 Cor 3:18).
115:9 Israel, trust in the LORD Three groups are called: Israel, the priests of Aaron's house, and "you who fear the LORD" (115:11), which may include Gentiles who worshiped Israel's God. All find in Him their help and shield.
115:17 The dead do not praise the LORD While we live, we are to praise Him. "And we, we will bless the LORD from now and to forever" (115:18), a forever that Christ has opened beyond the grave.
116:1 I love, for the LORD hears my voice The writer had been near death (116:3) and God rescued him. His first words: I love Him, because He heard me.
116:7 Return, my soul, to your rest After the storm, he tells his soul to settle down again in God's care.
116:10 I believed, for I spoke Even in deep trouble he kept believing, and so he spoke. Paul quotes this, "I believed, therefore I spoke" (2 Cor 4:13), and says we also believe and therefore speak (2 Cor 4:13).
116:12 What shall I return to the LORD for all His benefits toward me We can never repay God. What He asks is that we receive more, lifting "a cup of salvations," calling on His name and keeping our promises (116:13-14).
116:15 Precious in the eyes of the LORD is the death of His godly ones God does not treat the death of His people lightly. It is costly in His sight, and He is present in it. Jesus called death for believers falling asleep (John 11:11).

ing, and on the name of the LORD I will call. 18 My vows to the LORD I will pay, now, before all His people, 19 in the courts of the house of the LORD, in your midst, Jerusalem (Yerushalayim). Praise the LORD!

117:1 Praise the LORD, all nations; extol Him, all the peoples The shortest psalm and the shortest chapter in the Bible. It calls every nation to praise Israel's God. Paul quotes it to show that God always meant the Gentiles to glorify Him for His mercy (Rom 15:11).

117:2 For His steadfast love has prevailed over us His love is strong and has won out over us, and His faithfulness never ends. Two short verses hold the whole gospel for the nations.

118:1 Give thanks to the LORD, for He is good; for His steadfast love is forever God is good, and His hesed never runs out. Three groups are called to say it: all Israel, the priests of Aaron's house, and "those who fear the LORD," which some think includes Gentiles who worshiped Israel's God (115:9-13). Picture a leader calling a line and the crowd answering. Whatever your place among God's people, you have the same reason to give thanks.

118:5 From the distress I called on the LORD; the LORD answered me in the broad place Distress is a tight, hemmed-in place. God answered with the opposite: room to breathe.

118:6 The LORD is for me; I will not fear; what can man do to me Hebrews quotes this to teach contentment and trust (Heb 13:6). If God is for us, who is against us (Rom 8:31)? "I will look on those who hate me" (118:7) means seeing God vindicate him, leaving any payback in God's hands.

118:8 It is better to take refuge in the LORD than to trust in man Verse 9 narrows it: not even the most powerful people can carry the full weight of our trust. God often uses people to help us, but people fail, change their minds and die (146:3-4).

118:10 All nations surrounded me Four times in three verses: surrounded, surrounded, surrounded, like bees. He was trapped, and they burned out like dry thorns. The victory came "in the name of the LORD." The psalm names no occasion. Some link it to a king's victory, others to the return from exile (Ezra 3:11 uses its refrain).

118:13 You surely pushed me to fall, and the LORD helped me He was going down. God caught him.

118:14 My strength and song is the LORD, and He has become salvation for me These are the words Moses and Israel sang after the Red Sea (Exod 15:2). The speaker sees his rescue as one more chapter of the same story. God did more than send help. He Himself is the help.

118:15 The right hand of the LORD does valiantly Said three times. The right hand stands for strength in action, the same hand that shattered the enemy at the sea (Exod 15:6). The speaker gives God all the credit.

118:17 I will not die, but I will live, and I will recount the deeds of the LORD He had expected to die. Now he has a reason to live: to tell what God has done. Martin Luther is reported to have written this verse on his wall at Coburg in 1530. We are kept alive to speak of Him.

118:18 The LORD has surely disciplined me He does not blame everything on his enemies. God allowed the trouble and used it to train him, because He loves His children (Heb 12:5-11). Hard seasons are not proof that God has abandoned you.

118:19 Open to me the gates of righteousness The procession reaches the temple, and the gatekeepers answer that only the righteous may enter (118:20; 15:1; 24:3). Jesus said, "I am the door" (John 10:9). He makes us righteous so we can enter and give thanks.

118:22 A stone which the builders rejected has become the head of the corner Builders set aside stones they judged not good enough. In the psalm the rejected stone is the speaker, whom God set in the most important place. "Head of the corner" may be the cornerstone at the base or the top stone that locks a corner. Jesus applied it to Himself (Matt 21:42). Peter told the council Jesus is the stone "treated with contempt by you, the builders" (Acts 4:11; 1 Pet 2:7), and Paul calls Him "the cornerstone" (Eph 2:20). What will you do with that stone?

118:23 From the LORD this has come; it is wonderful in our eyes No human planner would choose the rejected stone. Only God turns rejection into honor.

118:24 This is the day which the LORD has made Every day is God's gift, and that is true. But in the psalm, "the day" is the day God lifted up the rejected one. For Christians it points to the day God raised Jesus from the dead (Acts 4:10-11).

118:25 Please, LORD, save now In Hebrew, hoshi'ah na, save, please. That is where "Hosanna" comes from. When Jesus rode into Jerusalem, the crowds shouted it with palm branches (Matt 21:9; John 12:13). A cry for help became a welcome to the One who came to save.

118:26 Blessed is the one who comes in the name of the LORD The priests welcomed the king's procession with these words, and the crowds welcomed Jesus with them (Matt 21:9). Days later Jesus said Jerusalem would not see Him again "until you say, Blessed is the One coming in the name of the Lord" (Matt 23:39). I believe that is a promise as well as a warning. When Jesus returns, Israel will greet Him with this psalm (Rom 11:26).

118:27 bind the festival sacrifice with cords up to the horns of the altar The horns were the corner points of the altar. The line is hard to translate. The SLB reads it as tying the sacrifice to the altar, and others read a festival procession with branches. Many see a picture of Christ, the true sacrifice, though the New Testament doesn't draw it, so I hold it lightly.

118:29 Give thanks to the LORD, for He is good The last verse repeats the first, and everything in between has proved it true. Psalms 113-118 are the Hallel, which Jewish tradition says was sung at Passover. Jesus and His disciples sang a hymn after the Last Supper (Matt 26:30). If it was this psalm, He sang on the way to the cross, knowing He was the rejected stone, that the LORD is good and His steadfast love is forever.

119:1 How blessed are the blameless of way, those who walk in the law of the LORD This is the longest psalm and the longest chapter in the Bible. It is an acrostic of 22 stanzas, one for each letter of the Hebrew alphabet, and all eight verses of a stanza begin with the same letter. The writer is not named. Some think David wrote it, and others a later teacher of the Law such as Ezra. It opens like Psalm 1, and blameless here means whole, with no double life.

119:2 with all their heart they seek Him God's Word is never only a rulebook. The person who keeps His testimonies is looking for God Himself. The psalm uses eight words for God's Word: law (teaching), testimonies (what God bears witness to), precepts (charges given with care), statutes (from a root for carving, things fixed), commandments, judgments (His rulings), word, and saying or promise. Almost every verse has one of them.

119:4 You, You have commanded Your precepts, to keep them exceedingly From here on the writer speaks to God directly through nearly the whole psalm. That is worth noticing. This is not a lecture about the Bible. It is a long prayer to the God who gave it. God gave the commands, and He meant them to be kept with great care.

119:5 O that my ways may be established to keep Your statutes This is a sigh. He knows the standard, and he knows he falls short. He asks God to make his steps steady. The next line explains why: shame comes when we are caught living against what we know, and the one who walks in God's commandments can look at them without flinching.

119:8 Your statutes I will keep; do not forsake me utterly The first stanza ends with resolve and a plea side by side. He means to obey, but he knows he cannot do it without God. Jesus told His disciples that apart from Him they could do nothing (John 15:5).

119:9 By what will a youth keep his path pure? By keeping it according to Your word Young people hear many voices and face strong pull. A pure life has to be guarded, and the guard is God's Word, not willpower alone. I have found this true at every age, not only in youth.

119:11 In my heart I have treasured Your word, so that I will not sin against You To treasure is to store away like hidden wealth. Memorizing Scripture and thinking on it puts God's Word where temptation strikes, in the heart. When Satan tempted Jesus in the wilderness, He answered each time with Scripture (Matt 4:1-11).

119:12 Blessed are You, LORD; teach me Your statutes He praises first and then asks to be taught. The God who gave the Word is its best Teacher. Jesus opened His disciples' minds to understand the Scriptures (Luke 24:45), and the Holy Spirit still does that for us. The request teach me Your statutes comes back again and again in this psalm.

119:14 In the way of Your testimonies I have exulted, as over all wealth Picture the joy of someone who just came into a fortune. That is how he feels about God's Word. The next verses give two habits, meditating on it and keeping his eyes on it, and then join delight and memory. We remember what we love.

119:18 Uncover my eyes, and let me look at wonderful things from Your law This is a good prayer to pray before you open your Bible. The wonders are already there. What we need is eyes to see them. Without God's help we can read the words and miss the glory.

119:19 I am a sojourner on the earth A sojourner is a foreigner living in a land that is not home. The people of faith confessed they were strangers and sojourners on the earth (Heb 11:13). Because this world is not our home, we need God's directions, so he asks God not to hide His commandments from him.

119:21 You have rebuked the arrogant, the cursed, who stray from Your commandments Pride is the root of wandering. The arrogant think they need no direction from God, and they live under His rebuke. The arrogant show up again and again in this psalm as the ones who mock and oppress the writer.

119:23 Also officials have sat; against me they have spoken together Powerful people were meeting to plot against him, and he answered by going deeper into God's Word. Then he says God's testimonies are the men of my counsel. When others take counsel against you, God's Word becomes your own counsel, and it is a better set of advisers.

119:25 My soul clings to the dust; keep me alive according to Your word The fourth stanza goes low. He feels pressed to the ground, perhaps near death. He asks God to give him life again, as He has promised. Keep me alive is one of the key prayers of this psalm.

119:28 My soul weeps from grief; raise me up according to Your word The Bible lets believers cry. This writer loves God's Word with his whole heart, and he still weeps. Faith and grief live side by side in many of God's people, and there is no shame in that.

119:30 The way of faithfulness I have chosen; Your judgments I have set before me He sees two ways, a way of falsehood and the way of God's law, and he chooses. He asks God to take the false way out of his path and to grant His law graciously. Even the law is a gift of grace. He keeps God's Word in front of him like a map.

119:31 I have clung to Your testimonies Verse 25 used the same Hebrew word: his soul clung to the dust. Now he clings to God's Word instead. What we hold onto decides where we end up.

119:32 The way of Your commandments I will run, for You will enlarge my heart Earlier he lay in the dust. Now he is running. God enlarging his heart means giving him freedom, joy and more room to love Him. Obedience becomes a race run gladly instead of a load dragged along.

119:33 Instruct me, LORD, in the way of Your statutes, and I will observe it to the end Nearly every verse of this stanza begins with a request: instruct me, give me understanding, make me tread, incline my heart, turn away my eyes. He wants a devotion that lasts to the end, and he knows it must come from God.

119:35 Make me tread in the pathway of Your commandments, for in it I take pleasure He already delights in God's way, and still he asks God to make him walk in it. Desire is not enough. We need God's power to follow through, and God works in us both to will and to work (Phil 2:13).

119:36 Incline my heart to Your testimonies, and not to unjust gain Our hearts always lean toward something. He names the pull he feels most, money gained the wrong way, and asks God to tilt his heart toward His Word. Jesus said we cannot serve God and wealth (Matt 6:24).

119:37 Turn away my eyes from looking at worthlessness Worthlessness means things that are empty and of no value. What we look at shapes what we want. In a world full of screens, this may be one of the most needed prayers in the psalm.

119:38 Confirm to Your servant Your word, which is for the fear of You He asks God to make His promise stand. The purpose is reverence. When God keeps His word, people fear and honor Him.

119:41 And let Your steadfast loves come to me, LORD, Your salvation according to Your word Steadfast love is God's loyal covenant love (see 23:6). Here it is plural, many acts of that love, and it is tied to salvation and to God's promise. With that in hand he can answer the one who taunts him. Peter tells us to be ready to give an answer for our hope (1 Pet 3:15).

119:45 And I will walk about in a broad place, for Your precepts I have sought We might expect God's precepts to feel like walls. He says they are freedom, like walking in a wide, open space. Jesus said that those who continue in His word will know the truth and be set free (John 8:31-32).

119:46 And I will speak of Your testimonies before kings, and I will not be ashamed He is ready to speak God's Word to the most powerful people around. Paul did that before King Agrippa (Acts 26), and Jesus told His disciples they would stand before kings for His sake (Matt 10:18).

119:47 And I will delight myself in Your commandments, which I have loved Love appears twice in these two verses. He loves God's commands because he loves the God who gave them. Jesus tied the two together when He said that those who love Him will keep His commandments (John 14:15). Lifting up the hands was a posture of prayer, and he reaches toward God's Word like a worshiper.

119:49 Remember the word to Your servant, on which You have made me hope When God remembers, He acts on His promise. He reminds God of what He said, not because God forgets, but because that is how faith prays. It holds God to His word.

119:50 This is my comfort in my affliction, that Your word has kept me alive He doesn't say God took the affliction away. He says God's Word kept him alive in the middle of it. Many believers in hospital rooms and hard seasons have found the same thing.

119:52 I have remembered Your judgments from of old, LORD, and I have comforted myself Mockers laughed at him, and he kept walking. He looked back at what God had said and done in the past, and it steadied him. Remembering God's faithfulness, in the Bible's history and in our own lives, is one way God comforts us.

119:53 Burning indignation has seized me because of the wicked, who forsake Your law His anger is grief that people would throw away God's good Word and the life it brings. Later the same writer weeps streams of tears for the same reason (119:136). Zeal for God's honor and tears for people belong together. See the introduction on the hard lines.

119:54 Your statutes have been songs to me in the house of my sojournings The house of his sojournings is wherever he lives during his life on earth, a temporary stop. Travelers sing to pass the miles, and God's Word has become his music for the road. At night, the time of fear and sleeplessness, he remembers God's name.

119:56 This has been mine, that I have observed Your precepts The Hebrew is brief and has been read in more than one way. It may mean that keeping God's precepts has become his own portion and blessing, or that comfort came to him because he kept them. Either way, obedience has become part of who he is.

119:57 My portion is the LORD When Israel divided the land, each tribe received a portion, but the priestly tribe of Levi received none, because the LORD was their inheritance (Num 18:20; Deut 10:9). The writer says the same of himself. God is what he gets, and that is enough (see 73:26).

119:59 I have thought about my ways, and I have turned my feet to Your testimonies This is what repentance looks like. He stopped, took a hard look at his life, and changed direction. Then he hurried and did not delay. Delayed obedience is easy to excuse, and it often turns into no obedience at all.

119:62 At the middle of the night I rise to give thanks to You The cords of the wicked had wrapped him like a snare, and still he got up at midnight to thank God. Paul and Silas did the same in the Philippian jail, praying and singing hymns at about midnight (Acts 16:25).

119:63 I am a companion of all who fear You Love for God's Word draws him to God's people. We need friends who fear God and keep His Word, and we need to be that kind of friend.

119:64 Of Your steadfast love, LORD, the earth is full; teach me Your statutes The eighth stanza ends with a wide view. Everywhere he looks he sees God's loyal love. His last request is the one he has made again and again. After sixty-four verses he still wants to learn.

119:67 Before I was afflicted, I was erring; and now I keep Your word From here on the notes are lighter. This stanza is about the good that suffering did him. Before trouble came he was wandering. Hardship brought him back. He says it again: It was good for me that I was afflicted (119:71). God does not waste our pain.

119:72 The law of Your mouth is better for me than thousands of gold and silver He weighs God's Word against a fortune, and the Word wins. Compare 19:10, where the judgments of the LORD are more desirable than gold.

119:73 Your hands made me and established me; give me understanding The God who made him knows how he works, so He is the right One to teach him. It is like going back to the maker for the instructions.

standing, and let me learn Your commandments. 74 Those who fear You will see me and rejoice, for I have hoped in Your word. 75 I know, LORD, that Your judgments are righteousness, and in faithfulness You have afflicted me. 76 Let Your steadfast love, please, be to comfort me, according to Your word to Your servant. 77 Let Your compassion come to me, and I will live, for Your law is my delight. 78 Let the arrogant be ashamed, for with falsehood they have subverted me; I, I will meditate on Your precepts. 79 Let those who fear You turn to me, and those who know Your testimonies. 80 Let my heart be blameless in Your statutes, so that I will not be ashamed.

119:75 in faithfulness You have afflicted me This is a bold confession. He does not say his suffering happened in spite of God's faithfulness. He says it came from it. A loving Father disciplines His children for their good (Heb 12:10-11).

119:83 For I have become like a wineskin in smoke A skin bottle hung in the smoke of a tent dried out, shriveled and turned black. That is how worn out he feels. He is spent from waiting, asking how many days are left and when God will act. Still he has not forgotten God's statutes.

119:89 Forever, LORD, Your word stands firm in the heavens The twelfth stanza turns from his trouble to God's unchanging Word. It is settled in heaven, beyond the reach of every enemy. Jesus said heaven and earth will pass away, but His words will not pass away (Matt 24:35).

119:91 for all things are Your servants The same Word that is fixed in heaven holds the earth in place. Creation stands by God's rulings and serves Him. The God who keeps the world running can keep His promises to me.

119:92 Unless Your law had been my delight, then I would have perished in my affliction He is honest about how close he came to going under. What kept him was not his own strength but God's Word, which he loved.

119:94 I am Yours; save me This is one of the shortest and best prayers in the Bible. He belongs to God, so he asks God to take care of what is His.

119:96 Of all perfection I have seen an end; Your commandment is exceedingly broad Everything in this world that looks complete has a limit. He has seen the edge of it all. God's commandment has no such edge. It reaches farther than anything he can measure.

119:97 How I love Your law! All the day it is my meditation This stanza is a love song to God's Word. Because he meditates on it, he is wiser than his enemies, has more insight than his teachers and more understanding than the aged. Years and schooling help, but they cannot match a heart that takes God's Word in.

119:103 How smooth Your word is to my palate, more than honey to my mouth God's Word has a taste, and he finds it sweet. Compare 19:10. People who only read the Bible as a duty may never taste this, but it is there for those who keep coming back.

119:105 A lamp to my foot is Your word, and a light to my pathway Picture a small oil lamp on a dark road at night. It doesn't light up the whole journey, only the next step. That is often how God guides us. His Word shows us enough to walk forward in obedience today.

119:106 I have sworn, and I have confirmed it He has made a promise to keep God's righteous judgments, and then he has made it again. It is good to renew our commitments to God, not only to make them once.

119:109 My life is in my hand continually This is an old way of saying his life is always at risk. The wicked have set a snare, and still he has not gone astray from God's precepts.

119:113 The half-hearted I hate, and Your law I love Half-hearted is a word for people divided in mind, wavering between God and something else. He wants an undivided heart. James warns against being double-minded (Jas 1:8).

119:114 My hiding place and my shield are You God is both a place to hide and a shield to hold up. When he is under attack, he has somewhere to go and something to protect him.

119:119 As dross You have made all the wicked of the earth cease Dross is the scum skimmed off when metal is melted down. God will remove the wicked the way a refiner removes waste. The next verse adds that this makes him tremble. God's judgments are not only for others.

119:122 Be surety for Your servant for good A surety is one who guarantees a debt or stands in for another. He asks God to step in and stand for him against the arrogant. I think of Jesus, who has become the guarantee of a better covenant (Heb 7:22).

119:126 It is a time to act for the LORD; they have broken Your law When people break God's law openly, he asks God to act. The next verse says that is exactly why he loves God's commandments more than gold. The darker the times, the more precious the Word.

119:130 The opening of Your words gives light, giving understanding to the simple The simple are those who are easily led and lack wisdom. When God's Word is opened up and explained, light comes in. You don't need a degree to understand the Bible. You need God's Word opened and a heart willing to receive it.

119:136 Streams of water have gone down my eyes, because they have not kept Your law Earlier his indignation burned (119:53). Here he weeps. Both come from the same love for God and for people. Jesus wept over Jerusalem (Luke 19:41).

119:139 My zeal has destroyed me His zeal for God's words burns him up because his foes have forgotten them. Compare 69:9, where zeal for God's house consumes the writer, a verse the disciples remembered about Jesus (John 2:17).

119:140 Your word is refined exceedingly Refined means tested in fire and found pure, with no dross in it (compare 12:6). God's Word has been tried by every generation, and it holds.

119:147 I have gone before the twilight and cried for help He is up before dawn and awake through the night watches to pray and meditate. This is the second time this psalm mentions the night (119:62). Some of the best time with God is the quiet before the day starts.
119:151 Near are You, LORD, and all Your commandments are truth The wicked draw near to hurt him (119:150), but God is nearer. That is the comfort of every believer under attack.
119:160 The sum of Your word is truth Not only each part, but the whole of God's Word added together, is truth. We read the Bible best when we let all of it speak, not only the parts we like.
119:162 I am exulting over Your word like one who finds much plunder Plunder is what a winning army carries home after battle. Finding treasure in God's Word feels like that. Even officials pursuing him cannot take this joy away.
119:164 Seven times in the day I praise You Seven is a number of fullness. He means that praise fills his whole day. Later believers took this verse as a pattern for set times of prayer.
119:165 Great peace belongs to those who love Your law, and there is no stumbling block for them Love for God's Word brings peace, and it keeps us from tripping over the things that make others fall away.
119:176 I have gone astray like a lost sheep; seek Your servant After 175 verses of love for God's Word, the psalm ends with a confession. He has still wandered. He doesn't say he will find his way back. He asks God to come and find him. Jesus is the Shepherd who leaves the ninety-nine to seek the one lost sheep (Luke 15:4). That is a good place for any believer to end.
120:0 A song of the ascents This title begins a group of fifteen psalms (120-134), all called songs of the ascents. Jerusalem sits high in the hills, so people always spoke of going up to it. Many think pilgrims sang these on the road to the three great feasts (Deut 16:16). The group starts far from home, in a land of lies, and ends in the house of the LORD (134:1).
120:2 LORD, deliver my soul from a lip of falsehood, from a tongue of deceit The writer is surrounded by people who lie about him. Words can wound as deeply as swords. He asks the tongue what it will gain, and the answer is that God will repay it with a warrior's sharp arrows and the hot coals of broom wood, which burn a long time.

5 Woe to me, that I have sojourned in Meshech (Meshekh), that I have dwelt with the tents of Kedar (Qedar)! 6 Long has my soul dwelt with one who hates peace. 7 I am peace, and when I speak, they are for war.

PSALMS 121

A song for the ascents. 1 I lift up my eyes to the mountains; from where will my help come? 2 My help is from the LORD, Maker of heaven and earth. 3 May He not let your foot slip; may your Keeper not slumber. 4 Look, He will not slumber and He will not sleep, the Keeper of Israel (Yisra'el). 5 The LORD is your Keeper; the LORD is your shade at your right hand. 6 By day the sun will not strike you, and the moon in the night. 7 The LORD will keep you from all evil; He will keep your soul. 8 The LORD will keep your going out and your coming in, from now and until forever.

PSALMS 122

A song of the ascents. Of David. 1 I rejoiced in those who said to me, "Let us go to the house of the LORD." 2 Our feet were standing in your gates, Jerusalem (Yerushalayim), 3 Jerusalem, which is built like a city that is joined together to itself, 4 where the tribes went up, the tribes of the LORD, as a testimony to Israel (Yisra'el), to give thanks to the name of the LORD. 5 For there thrones have sat for judgment, thrones of the house of David. 6 Ask for the peace of Jerusalem; may those who love you be at ease. 7 Let there be peace in your rampart, ease in your fortresses. 8 For the sake of my brothers and my friends let me speak, please: "Peace be in you." 9 For the sake of the house of the LORD our God let me seek good for you.

PSALMS 123

A song of the ascents. 1 To You I have lifted up my eyes, You who sit in the heavens. 2 Look, as the eyes of slaves are to the hand of their masters, as the eyes of a female slave are to the hand of her mistress, so our eyes are to the LORD our God, until He is gracious to us. 3 Be gracious to us, LORD, be gracious to us, for greatly we have been sated with contempt. 4 Greatly our soul has been sated with the mockery of the self-confident, the contempt of the proud oppressors.

120:5 Woe to me, that I have sojourned in Meshech, that I have dwelt with the tents of Kedar Meshech was far to the north near the Black Sea, and Kedar was a desert tribe of Arabia to the southeast. He likely did not live in both. He uses them as names for wild, hostile people far from God's house. He feels like a foreigner among people who love war.
120:7 I am peace, and when I speak, they are for war The pilgrim life starts with being tired of a world at odds with God. That longing for peace turns the heart toward Jerusalem. Jesus said the peacemakers are blessed (Matt 5:9).
121:1 I lift up my eyes to the mountains; from where will my help come The traveler looks at the hills he must cross. Some think the hills look threatening, with steep paths, robbers and the high places where false gods were worshiped. Others think he is looking toward the hills of Jerusalem, where God's house stood. Either way he admits he needs help. Faith often starts with a question like that.
121:2 My help is from the LORD, Maker of heaven and earth The hills cannot help him. His help comes from the One who made them. If God made heaven and earth, no road is outside His reach. God uses money, doctors, friends and planning, but the psalm wants us to look past all of them to the One who made them.
121:3 May He not let your foot slip; may your Keeper not slumber Now a second voice speaks to the traveler, and through him to us. On rocky paths one slip could mean a broken leg. A watchman might doze off. God never does. Elijah mocked Baal's prophets by saying their god might be asleep (1 Kgs 18:27). When we lie awake with worry, Someone else is awake too.
121:4 the Keeper of Israel The God who watches over one traveler is the same God who has watched over His whole people for centuries. The word keep is used six times in these eight verses. I believe He is still keeping Israel today, and He has a future for them (Rom 11:1-2).
121:5 the LORD is your shade at your right hand In that dry land the midday sun could be dangerous. The right hand was the side of help, where a bodyguard would stand. God stands that close. Sun by day and moon by night together mean all the time. There is no hour when God stops keeping you.
121:7 The LORD will keep you from all evil; He will keep your soul Believers still get sick, lose loved ones and suffer harm, and the psalmists knew it well. The second line explains the first. God may let us walk through trouble, but our very life before Him is in His keeping. Jesus said no one will snatch His sheep out of His hand (John 10:28).
121:8 The LORD will keep your going out and your coming in, from now and until forever Going out and coming in is a Hebrew way of saying your whole life, every trip and every day from start to finish. The pilgrim would one day reach Jerusalem, but God's keeping does not end when the trip ends. If you are starting something new or hard, take this psalm with you.
122:1 I rejoiced in those who said to me, Let us go to the house of the LORD David remembers the joy of being invited to worship. Now the pilgrims stand inside the gates. Going to God's house with God's people is meant to be a joy, not a chore.
122:3 built like a city that is joined together to itself Jerusalem was packed tight on its hills, with walls and houses close together. The picture also fits the people. The tribes came up together, united in giving thanks to the LORD's name. The thrones of the house of David were there, where the king gave justice.
122:6 Ask for the peace of Jerusalem The Hebrew name Jerusalem sounds like the word for peace, shalom. Pilgrims prayed for the city's peace for the sake of their brothers and for the sake of God's house. Believers still pray for Jerusalem. I believe its full peace will come when the Son of David reigns there (Isa 2:3-4).
123:1 To You I have lifted up my eyes, You who sit in the heavens In 121:1 the pilgrim lifted his eyes to the hills. Here he lifts them higher, to God's throne. A slave watched his master's hand for a signal, waiting for what it would give. God's people watch Him that way, until He is gracious to us.
123:3 Be gracious to us, LORD, be gracious to us, for greatly we have been sated with contempt They have had their fill of being looked down on by the proud and comfortable. They do not answer the mockers. They take it to God and ask for grace, twice.

PSALMS 124

A song of the ascents. Of David. 1 If it had not been the LORD who was for us, let Israel (Yisra'el) say, please, 2 if it had not been the LORD who was for us, when man rose up against us, 3 then they would have swallowed us alive, when their anger burned against us; 4 then the waters would have overflowed us; a torrent would have passed over our soul; 5 then the raging waters would have passed over our soul. 6 Blessed be the LORD, who has not given us as prey to their teeth. 7 Our soul has escaped like a bird from a snare of fowlers; the snare is broken, and we, we have escaped. 8 Our help is in the name of the LORD, Maker of heaven and earth.

124:1 If it had not been the LORD who was for us, let Israel say, please David calls the whole people to say it with him. If God had not been on their side, enemies would have swallowed them whole like a monster, or swept them away like a flash flood in a dry valley. Looking back at what could have happened makes us thankful for what God prevented.
124:7 Our soul has escaped like a bird from a snare of fowlers; the snare is broken A bird in a trap cannot free itself. Someone has to break the snare. That is a picture of every rescue God gives, and most of all of our salvation. We did not break free. He broke the trap.
124:8 Our help is in the name of the LORD, Maker of heaven and earth This echoes 121:2. The same God who keeps the single traveler is the help of the whole nation. Many churches have opened their worship with this verse.
125:1 Those who trust in the LORD are like the mountain of Zion, which will not be shaken Mount Zion does not move. Those who trust in God share that steadiness, not because they are strong, but because of the One they lean on. Jerusalem is ringed by higher hills, and in the same way the LORD is around His people forever.
125:3 For the scepter of wickedness will not rest on the lot of the righteous A scepter is a ruler's rod. Wicked rule will not last forever over the land God gave His people. If it did, even the righteous might be tempted to give up and join in evil. God limits how long the wicked can press on His people (1 Cor 10:13).
125:5 Peace be on Israel The psalm closes with two paths. God does good to the upright in heart, and those who turn aside to crooked ways will be led away with the evildoers. The last word is a blessing on God's people. Paul ends Galatians with a similar blessing on the Israel of God (Gal 6:16).
126:1 When the LORD brought back the restoration of Zion, we were like those who dream This likely looks back to the return from exile in Babylon after 538 B.C. It seemed too good to be true, like a dream. Their mouths filled with laughter, and even the nations said the LORD had done great things for them. God's people agreed and were glad.
126:4 Bring back our captivity, LORD, like streams in the Negeb The Negeb is the dry south of Judah. Its stream beds sit empty most of the year, then fill suddenly when the rains come. The first return had happened, but there was more to be restored. They ask God to send it like a flash flood in the desert.
126:5 Those who sow with tears will reap with a shout of joy Sowing seed in a hungry year was hard. A farmer might weep as he threw seed he could have eaten. But the harvest comes, and he returns singing with his arms full. Tears spent in faithful work for God are never wasted (Gal 6:9). The weeping does not last, and the joy does.
127:0 Of Solomon I take this as authorship, as with the other psalm titles. Solomon was David's son, who built the temple in Jerusalem (1 Kgs 6). This is another of the songs of the ascents, the pilgrim songs (see 120:0).
127:1 If the LORD does not build a house, in vain its builders have toiled on it The man who built God's house says the real Builder is God. House can mean a building, a household or a family line. God promised to build David a house, meaning a lasting dynasty (2 Sam 7:11), and the second half of the psalm is about children. Walls and watchmen matter, but a career, a marriage or a church built without God will not stand.
127:2 It is in vain for you who rise early to get up, who delay sitting down, who eat the bread of toils Picture someone up before dawn and still working at midnight, eating meals made bitter by worry. The psalm does not condemn hard work. Proverbs praises the diligent (Prov 6:6-11). It warns against anxious striving that thinks everything depends on us.
127:2 so He gives to His beloved sleep Some read this as God giving to His beloved even while they sleep. Either way He provides while His people rest. Sleep is an act of trust. Beloved may be a play on Solomon's other name, Jedidiah, beloved of the LORD (2 Sam 12:25). Whether he meant that or not, every child of God is His beloved.

His beloved sleep. 3 Look, the inheritance of the LORD is sons; a reward is the fruit of the womb. 4 Like arrows in the hand of a warrior, so are the sons of one's youth. 5 How blessed is the man who has filled his quiver with them; they will not be ashamed when they speak with enemies in the gate.

PSALMS 128

A song of the ascents. 1 How blessed is everyone who fears the LORD, who walks in His ways. 2 For you will eat the labor of your hands; how blessed are you, and it will be good for you. 3 Your wife will be like a fruitful vine in the innermost parts of your house; your sons like shoots of olive trees around your table. 4 Look, for thus will a man be blessed who fears the LORD. 5 May the LORD bless you from Zion (Tsiyon); and see the good of Jerusalem (Yerushalayim) all the days of your life. 6 And see sons of your sons. Peace be on Israel (Yisra'el).

PSALMS 129

A song of the ascents. 1 Greatly they have harassed me from my youth, let Israel (Yisra'el) say, please; 2 greatly they have harassed me from my youth; yet they have not prevailed against me. 3 On my back plowers have plowed; they have made their furrows long. 4 The LORD is righteous; He has cut the cord of the wicked. 5 Let them be ashamed and turned backward, all who hate Zion (Tsiyon). 6 Let them be like grass of the roofs, which withers before it shoots up, 7 with which the reaper has not filled his hand, and the binder of sheaves his bosom. 8 And those who pass by have not said, "The blessing of the LORD be on you; we bless you in the name of the LORD."

PSALMS 130

A song of the ascents. 1 From the depths I have called to You, LORD. 2 Lord, hear my voice; let Your ears be attentive to the voice of my supplications. 3 If You keep iniquities, LORD, Lord, who will stand? 4 For with You is forgiveness, so that You may be feared. 5 I wait for the LORD; my soul waits, and for His word I hope. 6 My soul waits for the Lord more than watchmen for the morning, watchmen for the morning.

127:3 Look, the inheritance of the LORD is sons; a reward is the fruit of the womb The word sons often means children in general. Children are not a cost to cut or a product to design. They are a gift. If you have longed for children and never had them, or lost a child, please do not read this as a verdict on you. When a gift does not come, that is not a punishment. Sarah, Rachel and Hannah waited long years.

127:3 a reward is the fruit of the womb Some of God's faithful servants never had children. Jeremiah was told not to marry (Jer 16:2), and Paul lived single and called Timothy his true child in the faith (1 Tim 1:2). To eunuchs God promised "a name better than sons and than daughters" (Isa 56:5). God's love for you does not rise or fall with the size of your family.

127:4 Like arrows in the hand of a warrior, so are the sons of one's youth Arrows go where the warrior cannot. Children carry their parents' lives and values into places and years the parents will never reach. Arrows also need aiming. We cannot control where our children land, but we can point them toward God.

127:5 How blessed is the man who has filled his quiver with them The psalm sets no number. A full quiver is whatever God gives. The city gate was where elders sat and cases were settled (Ruth 4:1-11). Grown sons standing with a man gave him support when someone accused him. The psalm began with work and ends with family, and both rest on God.

128:1 How blessed is everyone who fears the LORD, who walks in His ways This psalm pairs with 127. It shows the blessing of a home where God is feared. A man eats the fruit of his own work, his wife is like a fruitful vine at the heart of the house, and his children are like young olive shoots around the table. These are pictures of the normal blessing of a godly home, not promises that every faithful family will look this way.

128:5 May the LORD bless you from Zion The blessing of the home is tied to the blessing of God's city and people. A family that lives long enough to see grandchildren and peace on Israel has seen God's goodness spread across the generations.

129:1 Greatly they have harassed me from my youth, let Israel say, please Israel speaks as one person who has been attacked since youth, from slavery in Egypt onward. Yet they have not prevailed against me. No nation has been hated as long as Israel, and none has been kept like Israel. God keeps His promises (Jer 31:35-37).

129:3 On my back plowers have plowed; they have made their furrows long Israel's back has been torn by whips as deep as plow furrows. But the LORD is righteous, and He has cut the cord, the harness that tied the oxen to the plow. He stops the oppressor's work.

129:6 Let them be like grass of the roofs, which withers before it shoots up Flat roofs of packed dirt sprouted thin grass that died in the sun before it amounted to anything. No reaper could gather it. The prayer is that those who hate Zion would come to nothing, never receiving the blessing harvesters gave one another. See the introduction on the hard lines.

130:1 From the depths I have called to You, LORD The depths are deep waters, the picture of being in over your head and unable to save yourself. Jonah prayed from the deep in the same way (Jonah 2:2-3). Verse 3 shows that his sin is a big part of what pulled him down. Christians have long counted this among the seven penitential psalms, a church tradition, not part of the text.

130:3 If You keep iniquities, LORD, Lord, who will stand To keep iniquities is to keep a record of them, the way a merchant marks every debt in his book. The answer is no one. All have sinned and fall short of the glory of God (Rom 3:23). He does not compare himself with worse sinners. Admitting that is where real hope starts.

130:4 For with You is forgiveness, so that You may be feared Everything turns on this line. Forgiveness belongs to who God is. We might expect it to make people careless. The opposite is true. People forgiven much stand in awe of God, because they know what it cost. Jesus took the record of our sins and nailed it to the cross (Col 2:13-14), so God is just when He forgives (Rom 3:26).

130:6 My soul waits for the Lord more than watchmen for the morning, watchmen for the morning Picture a guard on the wall in the last cold hours of the night. He cannot make the sun rise. He can only watch the eastern sky, sure that morning will come. The repeated line shows how long the wait is. If you are waiting on God in guilt or grief, the night may be long, but the morning is certain.

7 Hope, Israel (Yisra'el), in the LORD, for with the LORD is steadfast love, and with Him is abundant redemption. 8 And He, He will ransom Israel from all his iniquities.

130:7 with the LORD is steadfast love, and with Him is abundant redemption What he found for himself he now offers to the whole people. God's loyal love has more than enough to buy back and set free all who come to Him. No one's sin is too great for it.
130:8 And He, He will ransom Israel from all his iniquities The iniquities of verse 3 come back. God is no longer counting them. He is ransoming Israel from them. Jesus was named because "He Himself will save His people from their sins" (Matt 1:21), and He gave Himself "that He might redeem us from all lawlessness" (Titus 2:14). I believe this also looks ahead to the day when all Israel will be saved (Rom 11:26).
131:1 LORD, my heart has not been lofty, and my eyes have not been raised up David, a king, says he has not reached for things too great and too wonderful for him. This is not a lack of ambition. It is a man who knows his limits before God and is content to leave to God what belongs to God.
131:2 like a weaned child on his mother A nursing baby cries and grabs for milk. A weaned child sits on his mother's lap, content just to be with her. David has quieted his soul like that. He wants God, not only what God gives. This calm did not come by itself. He says, I have calmed and quieted my soul.
131:3 Hope, Israel, in the LORD, from now and until forever What David learned for himself he passes on to the whole nation. A quiet, humble trust is the way for all God's people to wait for Him.
132:1 Remember, LORD, for David all his being afflicted The psalm recalls David's hardships and his vow not to rest until he found a place for the LORD to dwell (2 Sam 7:1-2). He longed to build God a house. God did not let him build the temple, but He honored the longing.
132:6 we heard of it in Ephrathah; we found it in the fields of Jaar It means the ark. Ephrathah is the area of Bethlehem, David's hometown, where they first heard of it. The fields of Jaar likely point to Kiriath-jearim, the town where the ark stayed for twenty years before David brought it up to Jerusalem (1 Sam 7:1-2; 2 Sam 6).
132:8 Arise, LORD, to Your resting place, You and the ark of Your strength These words echo Moses' cry when the ark set out in the wilderness (Num 10:35). Solomon prayed them when he dedicated the temple (2 Chr 6:41-42). God's people ask Him to come and settle among them, and they ask that the priests be clothed with righteousness.
132:11 The LORD swore to David in faithfulness; He will not turn back from it David swore to God (132:2), and now God swears to David. God's oath is the one that matters. He promised that one of David's own descendants would sit on his throne (2 Sam 7:12-16). Peter said David knew this oath pointed to the Christ (Acts 2:30).
132:12 If your sons keep My covenant and My testimonies Each king's own reign depended on his faithfulness, and many failed, until the line seemed cut off in the exile. But God's promise did not fail. It came to rest on Jesus, the faithful Son of David, who will sit on David's throne forever (Luke 1:32-33).
132:13 For the LORD has chosen Zion; He has desired it for a dwelling place for Himself God chose a man, David, and a place, Zion. He says this is His resting place forever. He promises to bless its food, satisfy its poor and clothe its priests with salvation. God's answers are bigger than the prayers. They asked for righteousness (132:9), and He gives salvation.
132:17 There I will make a horn sprout for David; I have arranged a lamp for My anointed A horn is a picture of strength, and to sprout is to grow like a branch. The prophets called the coming King the Branch of David (Jer 23:5). Zechariah praised God for raising up a horn of salvation in the house of David (Luke 1:69). The lamp means David's line would not go out. I believe this will be fully seen when Jesus reigns from Zion.

133:1 Look, how good and how pleasant is the dwelling of brothers, also together Look means pay attention. Unity is good, right before God, and pleasant, a joy to live in. Picture the feasts, when families from every tribe camped together in Jerusalem. David knew how rare that was, since the tribes had been split between his house and Saul's (2 Sam 2-3).

133:1 the dwelling of brothers, also together For Christians, the brothers and sisters are all who belong to Christ. Jesus prayed "that they all may be one" (John 17:21), and Paul urged believers to be "diligent to keep the unity of the Spirit in the bond of peace" (Eph 4:3). The Spirit gives the unity. Our job is to guard it.

133:2 It is like the good oil on the head, running down on the beard, the beard of Aaron When Aaron became high priest, Moses poured the holy anointing oil on his head (Lev 8:12). It was made by God's own recipe and set apart for holy use (Exod 30:22-33). It was poured so generously that it ran down to the opening of his robes. Unity is like that, fragrant and holy.

133:2 that runs down on the mouth of his robes The mouth of his robes is the opening at the neck. The high priest carried the names of the twelve tribes on his shoulders and over his heart (Exod 28:9-12, 21). Many teachers see the oil reaching those names, a picture of God's blessing covering all His people together. The psalm itself only says the oil reached his robes.

133:3 like the dew of Mount Hermon that runs down on the mountains of Zion Hermon is the high mountain on Israel's northern edge, often capped with snow and known for heavy dew. In a dry land dew kept plants alive all summer. Hermon's dew did not really fall on Zion, about 120 miles south. The picture is poetry. Unity refreshes everyone it touches.

133:3 For there the LORD has commanded the blessing: life until forever God commands blessing where His people are united. That doesn't mean we agree on everything. It means love, forgiveness and putting up with one another (Col 3:13-14). Peace is not pretending, and it does not mean going back into an unsafe relationship. Paul says "if possible, so far as it is from you, being at peace with all men" (Rom 12:18).

134:1 Look, bless the LORD, all servants of the LORD, who stand in the house of the LORD in the nights This is the last song of the ascents. Pilgrims, perhaps leaving for home, call on the priests and Levites who keep watch in the temple at night to keep praising God. The servants answer with a blessing on the people. The journey that began far away in 120 ends with blessing from Zion.

134:3 May the LORD bless you from Zion, Maker of heaven and earth The God who chose a small hill in Jerusalem is the Maker of everything. The songs of the ascents have said this before (121:2; 124:8). The pilgrims go home blessed by the God of all the earth.

135:1 Praise the LORD! Praise the name of the LORD; praise, servants of the LORD This psalm picks up where 134 ended, with the servants in God's house. It is a mosaic of lines from other Scriptures, from Exodus, Deuteronomy and other psalms. It praises God as the One who chose Israel, rules creation, and rescued His people.

135:4 For Jacob the LORD has chosen for Himself, Israel for His treasured possession Treasured possession is the word God used at Sinai (Exod 19:5). A king's personal treasure was what he kept for himself. Israel was chosen out of love, not because they were great (Deut 7:6-8). Peter uses the same idea for believers in Christ (1 Pet 2:9), but God has not cast off Israel.

135:6 All that the LORD desires He does, in the heavens and on the earth, in the seas and all deeps God is not limited to one land the way the nations imagined their gods were. He runs the weather, the seas and history. He struck Egypt's firstborn and gave Israel the land of kings like Sihon and Og (Num 21:21-35).

135:15 The idols of the nations are silver and gold, the work of the hands of man These lines are close to 115:4-8. An idol has a mouth, eyes and ears, and it cannot use any of them. Those who trust in idols become like them, deaf and blind to God. We become like what we worship.

19 House of Israel, bless the LORD; house of Aaron (Aharon), bless the LORD; 20 house of the Levites, bless the LORD; you who fear the LORD, bless the LORD. 21 Blessed be the LORD from Zion (Tsiyon), who dwells in Jerusalem (Yerushalayim). Praise the LORD!

135:19 House of Israel, bless the LORD; house of Aaron, bless the LORD The call to praise goes out to the whole nation, the priests, the Levites and all who fear the LORD. Then it comes home to Zion, where God chose to dwell.
136:1 Give thanks to the LORD, for He is good, for His steadfast love is forever Jewish tradition calls this psalm the Great Hallel, and it came to be used at Passover. Picture a leader calling out each line and the whole crowd answering with the refrain. Even a child could join in. The same words were sung when God's glory filled Solomon's temple (2 Chr 5:13) and when the exiles laid the second temple's foundation (Ezra 3:11).
136:2 Give thanks to the God of the gods The first three verses give God three titles: the LORD, the God of the gods, and the Lord of the lords. He is above every so-called god the nations worshiped and above every ruler on earth. The psalm starts with who God is before it says what He has done.
136:5 to Him who made the heavens by understanding Verses 4-9 follow Genesis 1. Proverbs also says the LORD made the heavens by understanding (Prov 3:19). Creation itself is an act of God's steadfast love.
136:8 the sun for rule in the day Egypt and other nations bowed to the sun and moon as gods. Israel sang that the LORD made them and gave them jobs to do. They rule only because He put them there. Every sunrise is a reminder that His love has not run out.
136:10 to Him who struck down Egypt in their firstborn This was the last plague, when Israel's homes were spared by the blood of the Passover lamb (Exod 12). It is a heavy line to sing with the refrain, and Scripture does not ask us to sing it lightly. Pharaoh had ordered Hebrew baby boys thrown into the Nile (Exod 1:22). God's judgment fell where his cruelty began. Saving the oppressed meant stopping the oppressor.
136:13 to Him who cut the Red Sea into pieces God split the sea, led Israel through on dry ground, and shook off Pharaoh's army like a man shaking dust from his clothes (Exod 14). Then for forty years He fed them with manna and led them with the cloud and fire, teaching them that man does not live by bread alone (Deut 8:2-3).
136:19 Sihon, king of the Amorites Sihon and Og came out to fight Israel east of the Jordan before Israel entered Canaan, and God gave Israel the victory (Num 21:21-35). Israel remembered these two wins for generations as proof that God keeps His promises (Neh 9:22). Then He gave the land as an inheritance, as He had promised Abraham (Gen 15:18-21).
136:23 who remembered us in our low condition The story comes close to home. The psalm does not say which low time it means. It may be the judges or the exile. It fits every low time God's people have known, including yours.
136:25 who gives food to all flesh The circle widens to the whole world. The God who parted the sea is the same God who puts food on your table. Twenty-six times the people answer that His steadfast love is forever. Try writing down your own story with God line by line, and after each line say the refrain. It is still true.
137:1 By the rivers of Babylon, there we sat; also we wept when we remembered Zion This psalm was written after Babylon destroyed Jerusalem in 586 B.C. and carried its people away. Babylon was full of rivers and canals. The exiles sat beside them and wept. They hung their harps on the trees because they could not bring themselves to play.
137:3 Sing for us one of the songs of Zion Their captors mocked them, asking for a happy song about the city they had burned. The songs of Zion praised the LORD who dwelt there. Singing them for entertainment in a pagan land felt like betraying them.

137:5 If I forget you, Jerusalem, let my right hand forget A harpist plays with his right hand and sings with his tongue. He asks that his hand lose its skill and his tongue stick to the roof of his mouth before he forgets Jerusalem. Jerusalem stands for God's presence and promises. The exiles would not trade them for comfort in Babylon.

137:7 Remember, LORD, against the sons of Edom the day of Jerusalem Edom came from Esau, Jacob's brother. When Babylon sacked Jerusalem, Edom cheered and helped, shouting to tear it down to the ground. The prophet Obadiah condemned Edom for exactly this (Obad 10-14). Note that the writer asks God to remember. He leaves the matter in God's hands.

137:8 Daughter of Babylon, who is to be devastated Daughter of Babylon means the city and its people. God had already said through the prophets that Babylon would be judged for what it did (Jer 51:24; Isa 13:1). The writer calls blessed the one who repays Babylon with the same treatment it gave Jerusalem. Persia conquered Babylon in 539 B.C.

137:9 How blessed is he who seizes and smashes your infants against the rock This may be the hardest line in the Psalms. Conquering armies did this in war, and Babylon had likely done it in Jerusalem. Isaiah foretold the same for Babylon (Isa 13:16). This is a cry of raw grief, asking for justice in kind. It is a prayer, not an act, and it leaves vengeance with God (Rom 12:19). Jesus calls us to love our enemies (Matt 5:44). I believe little children who die are safe with God. See the introduction on the hard lines.

138:1 I will give thanks to You with all my heart; before the gods I will sing praises to You David praises the LORD openly, in front of the so-called gods of the nations, or perhaps in front of earthly rulers. He is not embarrassed by his God. He bows toward God's holy temple, which may mean the tabernacle in his day.

138:2 for You have made Your word great above all Your name The Hebrew here is hard. It seems to mean that God has magnified His promise even beyond everything He was already known for. What God says He will do, He does, and that makes His name greater still.

138:3 In the day I called, and You answered me; You made me bold in my soul with strength God did not always change David's circumstances right away. Sometimes He answered by making David strong inside to face them. That is a real answer to prayer.

138:4 All the kings of the earth will give thanks to You, LORD David looks ahead to a day when every king on earth will hear God's words and sing of His ways. I believe this will be fulfilled when Christ reigns and the nations come to worship Him (Isa 2:2-3; Rev 21:24).

138:6 For the LORD is exalted, and the lowly He sees; and the lofty He knows from a distance God is high above all, yet He draws near to the humble and keeps the proud at arm's length. Peter says God opposes the proud but gives grace to the humble (1 Pet 5:5).

138:8 The LORD will complete it for me God finishes what He starts. David asks Him not to abandon the works of His hands. Paul had the same confidence that He who began a good work in us will complete it (Phil 1:6).

139:0 To the choirmaster. Of David. A psalm The choirmaster was the leader of the music in Israel's worship (see 4:0). So this very personal psalm was meant to be sung by God's people together, not only prayed alone.

139:1 LORD, You have searched me and known me To search is to dig through carefully, the way you would search a house or a field. God has gone through David's whole life and knows all of it. David says this without fear, speaking directly to God. The rest of the psalm unpacks this one verse.

139:2 You understand my thought from a distance God knows our ordinary moments, sitting down and getting up, going out and lying down. He sifts our ways the way grain is sifted. He does not need to be close to read our minds. He knows our thoughts from heaven.

139:4 For there is not a word on my tongue; look, LORD, You know all of it God knows what we will say before we say it. Jesus said "your Father knows what things you have need of before you ask Him" (Matt 6:8). That humbles us, since He hears the unkind words we hold back. It also comforts us when we cannot find words to pray.

139:5 Behind and in front You have hemmed me in, and You have placed Your palm on me That could sound like being trapped, but David means being protected. God's hand on him is a hand of care. He cannot get his mind around such knowledge, so instead of trying to figure it out, he worships.

139:7 Where shall I go from Your Spirit? And where shall I flee from Your presence Spirit and presence are two words for one idea. David has no plan to run. His point is that there is no place where God is not. Jonah tried to flee from the LORD on a ship to Tarshish (Jonah 1:3), and God met him in the storm and in the sea.

Spirit? And where shall I flee from Your presence? 8 If I ascend to the heavens, You are there; and if I make my bed in Sheol, look, You are there. 9 If I take up the wings of dawn, if I dwell at the end of the sea, 10 even there Your hand will lead me, and Your right hand will grasp me. 11 And I said, "Surely darkness will crush me, and the light around me will be night," 12 even darkness is not dark to You, and night shines like the day; the darkness is as the light. 13 For You, You created my kidneys; You wove me together in the womb of my mother. 14 I will give thanks to You, because in awesome ways I am distinguished; wonderful are Your works, and my soul knows it exceedingly. 15 My frame was not hidden from You when I was made in the secret place, woven in the lower parts of the earth. 16 Your eyes saw my unformed substance, and on Your scroll all of them were written, the days that were formed, and to it was one among them. 17 And to me, how precious are Your thoughts, God! How vast are their sums! 18 I will count them; they are more numerous than sand. I awake, and I am still with You. 19 If only You would slay the wicked, God! And men of bloodshed, depart from me! 20 They speak of You for wicked scheming; lifted up for falsehood are Your enemies. 21 Do I not hate those who hate You, LORD? 139:8 if I make my bed in Sheol, look, You are there Sheol is the place of the dead (see 16:10). The highest place and the lowest both belong to God. Even death cannot take us out of His reach.
139:9 If I take up the wings of dawn, if I dwell at the end of the sea The dawn rises in the east, and for Israel the sea lay to the west. Even if David could fly with the morning light from one end of the world to the other, God would already be there, His hand leading and holding him. A believer far from home or in a hospital bed is never beyond God's hand.
139:12 even darkness is not dark to You, and night shines like the day Darkness hides sins from people, and it can also mean seasons of depression, grief or fear when we feel lost. God sees in the dark as well as in the light. No one can hide sin from Him, and no one is lost so deep He cannot see them. "There is no creature hidden before Him" (Heb 4:13).
139:13 For You, You created my kidneys; You wove me together in the womb of my mother God knows David so well because He made him. The kidneys stood for the deepest inner life. God wove him like cloth, thread by thread. The child in the womb is a person God is forming, which is why Christians have long treated unborn life as precious. God told Jeremiah "Before I formed you in the belly I knew you" (Jer 1:5).
139:13 You wove me together in the womb of my mother If you have lost a child through miscarriage or stillbirth, that loss was not your fault, and God does not hold it against you. He formed your little one and knew him or her, and I believe little children who die are safe with God. If you carry guilt over a past abortion, there is forgiveness with God (130:4). He does not turn away anyone who comes to Him.
139:14 I will give thanks to You, because in awesome ways I am distinguished Distinguished means set apart, made with care. This is a good word for anyone who struggles with how they look or what others have said about them. God made you with care. We still suffer in our bodies in a fallen world, but your worth comes from your Maker, not your appearance or abilities.
139:15 My frame was not hidden from You when I was made in the secret place Frame means the bones. No one could see inside the womb in David's day, but God could. The lower parts of the earth is a poetic way to describe that hidden place, and woven is a word used for fine embroidery.
139:16 Your eyes saw my unformed substance, and on Your scroll all of them were written Before David had a shape, God saw him, and every one of his days was written down before one of them came. God is not surprised by your hard season. That is true even of the little one who lived only a few days, or none outside the womb. Not one of those days was hidden from God.
139:17 And to me, how precious are Your thoughts, God! How vast are their sums David tries to count God's thoughts toward him, and they outnumber the sand. I awake, and I am still with You may mean he fell asleep counting, or that every morning God is still there. Both carry the same comfort, and it will hold when we wake on the other side of death.
139:19 If only You would slay the wicked, God After so much wonder, the turn can shock us. But if God sees everything, He sees the violent and cruel too. David's main concern is God's honor. These men use God's name for lies, and David wants His justice upheld.
139:21 Do I not hate those who hate You, LORD David does not pick up a sword. He brings his anger to the God who just searched his heart and leaves judgment with Him (Rom 12:19). Jesus took us further. He told us to love our enemies (Matt 5:44) and prayed for those who crucified Him (Luke 23:34). We can hate evil and still pray for evildoers to repent. See the introduction on the hard lines.
139:23 Search me, God, and know my heart He began by saying God had searched him. Now he asks for it. To test is to try, like metal in a fire. Right after speaking of the wicked, David admits evil can hide in his own heart. Before we ask God to deal with others, we ask Him to deal with us.
139:24 And see if there is a way of pain in me, and lead me in the everlasting way A way of pain is a hurtful way that grieves God and others. The everlasting way is the path of life with God that goes on forever. He wants to be searched, and then led. We can pray these last two verses every day.
140:1 Rescue me, LORD, from an evil man; from a man of violence preserve me David faces men who plan evil and stir up fights. Their words poison like a snake's venom. Paul quotes 140:3 among the lines showing all are under sin (Rom 3:13).
140:5 The proud have hidden a trap for me, and cords Like hunters, his enemies set nets and snares along the path. David does not set traps back. He says to the LORD, You are my God, and asks Him to listen.

140:7 You have covered my head in the day of weaponry God was David's helmet in battle. The same God who protected him before can protect him now from schemes as well as swords.

140:10 Let burning coals be dropped on them David asks that the evil his enemies planned would fall back on their own heads. It is a prayer for justice handed to God, not a plan of his own. See the introduction on the hard lines.

140:12 I know that the LORD will execute the cause of the afflicted, the justice of the needy This is the ground of his prayer. God takes up the case of the weak. The psalm ends with the upright dwelling in God's presence.

141:2 Let my prayer be established as incense before You, the lifting up of my palms as an evening offering Incense rose from the altar every morning and evening (Exod 30:7-8). David asks that his prayer rise to God the same way. In Revelation the prayers of the saints go up with the incense before God (Rev 8:4).

141:3 Set, LORD, a guard for my mouth; keep watch over the door of my lips David asks God to post a guard at his mouth. James says no one can tame the tongue on his own (Jas 3:8). This is a good prayer before a hard conversation.

141:5 Let a righteous one strike me: steadfast love; and let him rebuke me: oil for the head David would rather be corrected by a godly friend than enjoy the delicacies of wicked men. A true friend's rebuke is a kindness, like soothing oil. Proverbs says the wounds of a friend are faithful (Prov 27:6).

141:8 For to You, GOD the Lord, are my eyes; in You I take refuge His enemies have traps set, and his people are scattered like broken ground. David keeps his eyes fixed on God and asks Him to let the wicked fall into their own nets while he passes by safely.

142:0 A Maskil of David, when he was in the cave. A prayer David hid in caves while Saul hunted him, at Adullam (1 Sam 22:1) and at En-gedi (1 Sam 24:3). Psalm 57 has a similar title. A Maskil is likely a psalm meant to teach or give insight (see 32:0).

142:2 I pour out my complaint before Him David does not hide his distress or dress it up. He pours it out before God like water from a jar. God invites that kind of honesty. Peter tells us to cast all our anxiety on Him (1 Pet 5:7).

142:4 Look to the right and see, and there is no one who recognizes me The right hand was where a helper or defender would stand in court. David looks there and no one is standing with him. No one seems to care whether he lives. Many believers have felt that alone. David's answer is in the next verse.

142:5 You are my refuge, my portion in the land of the living With no one beside him, David says God is enough. He is both shelter now and David's share in this life, not only in the next. Prison in 142:7 may be the cave itself. He looks ahead to the day the righteous gather around him again.

143:1 in Your faithfulness answer me, in Your righteousness David appeals to God's own character, His faithfulness to His promises and His righteousness. He does not appeal to his own goodness, as the next verse shows. Christians have long counted this among the seven penitential psalms.

143:2 And do not enter into judgment with Your servant, for no one living is righteous before You If God took David to court on his own record, he would lose, and so would everyone. Paul echoes this line when he says no flesh will be justified before Him by works of law (Rom 3:20; Gal 2:16). We are saved by grace through faith.

vant, for no one living is righteous before You. 3 For the enemy has pursued my soul; he has crushed my life to the ground; he has made me dwell in dark places like those dead long ago. 4 And my spirit faints within me; my heart is appalled in my midst. 5 I have remembered the days from of old; I have meditated on all Your deeds; on the work of Your hands I muse. 6 I have spread out my hands to You; my soul is like an exhausted land to You. 143:5 I have remembered the days from of old; I have meditated on all Your deeds Crushed and in the dark, David looks back at what God has done. Memory feeds hope. Then he spreads out his hands, thirsty for God like dry ground waiting for rain.
143:8 Make me hear Your steadfast love in the morning He asks to wake up to a fresh word of God's love, and to be shown the way he should go. This is a fine prayer to begin a day.
143:10 Teach me to do Your will, for You are my God; let Your good Spirit lead me in a land of level ground David asks not only to know God's will but to be taught to do it. Level ground is a path without stumbling places. God's good Spirit still leads His people (Rom 8:14).
143:12 And in Your steadfast love You will cut off my enemies God's love for His servant includes stopping those who are trying to destroy him. David leaves the cutting off to God. See the introduction on the hard lines.
144:1 Blessed be the LORD, my rock, who trains my hands for war, my fingers for battle Much of this psalm echoes Psalm 18. David the warrior king credits God with his skill in battle. Whatever skills we have for our work, God gave and trained them.
144:3 LORD, what is man, that You know him, a son of man, that You consider him This recalls 8:4. Here the stress is on how short life is. Man is like a breath, and his days are like a passing shadow. That God would notice such a creature at all is a wonder. James says our life is a vapor (Jas 4:14).
144:5 LORD, bend down Your heavens and come down David asks God to come down in power, as at Sinai when the mountain smoked (Exod 19:18). He wants God to rescue him from foreign enemies whose oaths are lies. The right hand raised to swear an oath was a hand of deception.
144:9 God, a new song I will sing to You A new rescue calls for a new song. A lyre of ten strings was a harp-like instrument. God gives victory to kings, and David knows his own deliverance came from Him.
144:12 that our sons may be like plants grown large in their youth David pictures a nation at peace: strong sons, daughters as graceful as the carved pillars of a palace, full barns, growing flocks, and no breach in the walls or cry of alarm in the streets. All of it is God's gift.
144:15 How blessed is the people whose God is the LORD Full barns are good, but the greatest blessing is not the harvest. It is belonging to the LORD. A people can have much and still miss this, or have little and still have everything.
145:0 A praise of David This is the only psalm whose title uses this word for praise, tehillah. Its plural, Tehillim, Praises, became the Hebrew name of the whole book. The psalm is an acrostic, an A to Z of praise, each verse starting with the next letter of the Hebrew alphabet.
145:1 I will exalt You, my God, the King David was Israel's king, but he calls God the King. He knew his own throne belonged to a greater King. Every day he will bless God, on ordinary days as much as feast days, and forever.
145:3 Great is the LORD and greatly to be praised, and of His greatness there is no searching We will never reach the bottom of who God is. We can study Him all our lives and still find more. That means worship will never get old, now or in eternity.

greatness there is no searching. 4 Generation to generation will extol Your works, and Your mighty deeds they will declare. 5 The splendor of the glory of Your majesty and the matters of Your wonders I will meditate on. 6 And the might of Your awesome deeds they will tell, and Your greatness, I will recount it. 7 The remembrance of the abundance of Your goodness they will pour forth, and of Your righteousness they will shout for joy. 8 The LORD is gracious and compassionate, slow to anger and great in steadfast love. 9 The LORD is good to all, and His compassions are over all His works. 10 All Your works will give thanks to You, LORD, and Your faithful ones will bless You. 11 The glory of Your kingdom they will tell, and Your might they will speak of, 12 to make known to the sons of mankind His mighty deeds and the glory of the splendor of His kingdom. 13 Your kingdom is a kingdom of all ages, and Your dominion is in every generation and generation. 14 The LORD sustains all who fall and raises up all who are bowed down. 15 The eyes of all wait for You, and You give them their food in its time. 16 You open Your hand and satisfy every living thing with desire. 17 The LORD is righteous in all His ways and faithful in all His works. 18 The LORD is near to all who call on Him, to all who call on Him in truth. 19 The desire of those who fear Him He will do, and their cry for help He will hear, and He will save them. 20 The LORD keeps all who love Him, and all the wicked He will destroy. 21 My mouth will speak the praise of the LORD, and let all flesh bless the name of His holiness forever and ever.

145:4 Generation to generation will extol Your works Faith is meant to be handed down. Grandparents tell parents, and parents tell children. Are we passing ours on? Our children and the younger believers in our churches need to hear what God has done in our lives.
145:7 The remembrance of the abundance of Your goodness they will pour forth Pour forth pictures words bubbling up like a spring. When people remember God's goodness, they cannot keep quiet about it. Some praise is quiet meditation, and some is spoken out loud.
145:8 The LORD is gracious and compassionate, slow to anger and great in steadfast love These are the words God spoke about Himself to Moses at Sinai (Exod 34:6; see 103:8), and the Bible comes back to them often (Joel 2:13; Jonah 4:2). Gracious means He gives what we do not deserve. Slow to anger means He is patient. God does get angry at sin, but slowly, and His love abounds.
145:9 The LORD is good to all, and His compassions are over all His works God's goodness reaches every creature, believers and unbelievers alike. Jesus said the Father "makes His sun rise on evil and good" (Matt 5:45).
145:11 The glory of Your kingdom they will tell God's faithful ones speak of His kingdom so that all people will know His mighty acts. Praise is meant to be overheard. When believers talk about God, the world is listening.
145:13 Your kingdom is a kingdom of all ages Earthly kingdoms rise and fall, and even David's line lost its throne for a time. God's kingdom never ends. I look ahead to the day when "The kingdoms of the world have become those of our Lord and of His Christ, and He will reign to the ages of the ages" (Rev 11:15).
145:13 and Your dominion is in every generation and generation The standard Hebrew text has no verse for the letter nun, which should come here. One Dead Sea Scroll and the ancient Greek translation have a line like 145:17, and some English versions print it. The SLB follows the standard Hebrew text. Nothing the psalm teaches about God is lost either way.
145:14 The LORD sustains all who fall and raises up all who are bowed down Earthly kings often ignore the weak. This King stoops to lift them. If you have fallen, or life has bent you low, He is the One who helps you stand again.
145:15 The eyes of all wait for You, and You give them their food in its time Picture every creature looking up to the One who feeds it. Every meal is a gift from God's open hand. Christians have long prayed 145:15-16 before meals, and Martin Luther put them in the mealtime prayer of his Small Catechism.
145:18 The LORD is near to all who call on Him, to all who call on Him in truth The great King of verse 1 is not far away. But David adds in truth. God is near to those who call on Him sincerely, not those who only use His name. Those who fear Him come to want what He wants, and He gives it.
145:20 The LORD keeps all who love Him, and all the wicked He will destroy God's love and His justice stand side by side. He keeps His people safe, and He will bring an end to evil. The wicked are those who will not turn to Him, and the door is still open, since He is near to all who call on Him in truth.
145:21 let all flesh bless the name of His holiness forever and ever David's own praise opened the psalm and closes it. Then it becomes a call to the whole world. Psalm 145 opens the door to the last five psalms, where all creation joins in.
146:1 Praise the LORD! Praise the LORD, my soul In Hebrew the first words are Hallelu Yah, which gives us hallelujah. Hallelu is a call to a group to praise, and Yah is a short form of God's name. Psalms 146-150 all begin and end with it, and many call them the Hallelujah Psalms. The writer is not named. The old Greek translation links it with Haggai and Zechariah, but that is not in the Hebrew. Before he calls others, he stirs up his own soul.
146:2 I will sing praises to my God while I still exist He commits his whole life to praise, as long as he has breath. That sets up the warning that follows. His life will end, and so will everyone else's.
146:3 Do not trust in nobles, in a son of man, who has no deliverance Nobles are princes and rulers, the powerful of the world. The psalm does not call them all evil. It says they cannot save. We should pray for our leaders (1 Tim 2:1-2), and good government matters. But when we look to a human being as our savior, we will be let down.
146:4 His breath goes out; he returns to his ground; in that day his plans perish The most powerful ruler will breathe his last and be buried. God told Adam "you are dust, and to dust you shall return" (Gen 3:19). His promises and big ideas end at his grave.
146:5 How blessed is he whose help is the God of Jacob The God of Jacob kept His promises to a flawed man (see 46:7), and He will be faithful to us. Princes rule a small piece of land for a short time. This God made heaven, earth and sea, and He keeps faithfulness forever.

146:7 who executes justice for the oppressed, who gives food to the hungry. The LORD sets free the prisoners These are the people princes often ignored or even crushed. The LORD is a King of a different kind. He cares for the people at the bottom.
146:8 the LORD opens the eyes of the blind; the LORD raises up those who are bowed down The LORD's name begins line after line. It is hard to read this without thinking of Jesus. He opened blind eyes and straightened a woman bent over for eighteen years (Luke 13:10-13). When John the Baptist asked if He was the One, Jesus pointed to these kinds of works (Matt 11:4-5). Jesus did what this psalm says the LORD does.
146:9 the LORD watches over the sojourners; the fatherless and widow He helps up Sojourners were foreigners with no land or family to protect them, and the fatherless and widow had lost their protector. God's law told Israel to care for all three (Deut 10:18-19), because He does. James says pure religion includes visiting orphans and widows (Jas 1:27). The road of the wicked looks smooth, but God turns it to ruin.
146:10 The LORD will reign forever, your God, Zion, to generation and generation Princes die, and their kingdoms pass away. The LORD's reign never ends. I believe that reign will be seen by all when Christ returns and rules over the earth (Rev 11:15). God has not forgotten Zion.
147:1 Praise the LORD! For it is good to sing praises to our God Praise is good for us, pleasant to God, and fitting, the right response to who He is. This psalm likely comes from after the exile, when the walls of Jerusalem were rebuilt (Neh 12:27).
147:2 The LORD is the builder of Jerusalem; the banished ones of Israel He gathers God brought the exiles home and rebuilt the city. I believe He will do this again in full at the end, gathering Israel from all the nations (Isa 11:12).
147:3 who heals the broken of heart and binds up their wounds The same God who counts and names every star stoops to bandage a broken heart. Great power and gentle care go together in Him. Jesus came to heal the broken (Luke 4:18).
147:4 He counts the number of the stars; to all of them He calls names There are more stars than anyone can count, and God knows each one by name. If He knows the stars, He knows you. His understanding has no number.
147:9 who gives to the animal its food, to the young of the raven, which call out Ravens were unclean birds, and their young cry loudly for food. God feeds them anyway. Jesus said the same about ravens to show that God will care for us (Luke 12:24).
147:10 Not in the strength of the horse does He delight; not in the legs of the man does He take pleasure Horses were the war machines of the day, and a runner's legs were a sign of strength. God is not impressed by military power or human ability. He takes pleasure in those who fear Him and hope in His steadfast love.
147:15 who sends His utterance to the earth; His word runs very quickly God's word is like a fast messenger. He speaks, and snow falls like wool and frost like ashes. He speaks again, and it melts and the waters flow. The weather does what He says.
147:19 He declares His words to Jacob, His statutes and His judgments to Israel Israel's greatest gift was not the land or the harvest, but God's Word. Paul says the Jews were entrusted with the oracles of God (Rom 3:2). No other nation had received it the way Israel did. Through Israel, that Word has now come to the world.
148:1 Praise the LORD from the heavens; praise Him in the heights The psalm starts as high as it can go. The first voices called are His angels and His armies, the hosts of heaven (see 24:10). Angels already praise God day and night (Isa 6:3; Rev 4:8). The psalm invites them to keep going.
148:3 Praise Him, sun and moon; praise Him, all stars of light The sun, moon and stars cannot speak, so they praise God by shining, by doing what He made them to do. Psalm 19 says the heavens recount God's glory without a word (19:1-3).

148:4 and the waters which are above the heavens This goes back to Genesis 1:6-8, when God separated the waters above the expanse from those below. Whatever exactly those upper waters are, every part of the sky, as high as anyone can imagine, belongs to God and owes Him praise.
148:5 for He, He commanded, and they were created God needed no tools or help. He spoke, and the universe came to be (Gen 1:3; Heb 11:3). John tells us all things came into being through the Word, the Son of God (John 1:1-3).
148:6 a decree He gave, and it will not pass away God made the heavens and keeps them in place. The Son is "upholding all things by the word of His power" (Heb 1:3). The sun rises every morning because God set its course. The order of the universe is a daily sign of His faithfulness.
148:7 Praise the LORD from the earth, sea monsters and all deeps Sea monsters are the great creatures of the ocean. In Israel's world the deep sea was a place of fear and danger. Even it is called to praise. Nothing is outside God's rule.
148:8 fire and hail, snow and smoke, wind of storm doing His word Even the weather obeys God. A storm that frightens us is still doing what He says. When Jesus calmed the sea, His disciples asked who He was, "that even the winds and the sea obey Him" (Matt 8:27).
148:9 the mountains and all hills, fruit trees and all cedars The list walks through the days of creation, from land to trees to animals and birds. A cedar praises God by growing tall, and a bird by flying and singing. When we enjoy a mountain view, we are watching creation praise its Maker.
148:11 kings of the earth and all peoples, princes and all judges of the earth Finally come people, young and old, men and women, rulers and ordinary folk. Nobody is too important to praise God, and nobody is too small. One day every tongue will confess "that Jesus Christ is Lord, to the glory of God the Father" (Phil 2:11).
148:13 for His name alone is exalted; His splendor is above earth and heavens The call of verse 5 comes again with a second reason. God made all things, and God alone is supreme. The psalm has walked through earth and heaven, and His splendor is higher than all of it.
148:14 And He has raised up a horn for His people A horn is a picture of strength. Many see a hint of the Messiah here. Zacharias praised God, who "has raised up a horn of salvation for us in the house of David His servant" (Luke 1:69). Israel is called a people near to Him. Through Israel's Messiah, those once far off have been brought near too (Eph 2:13).
148:14 for the sons of Israel, a people near to Him God has not forgotten Israel. Paul says they are still "beloved on account of the fathers" (Rom 11:28), because "the gifts and the calling of God are irrevocable" (Rom 11:29). From the highest angel to the smallest child, the call is the same: Praise the LORD!
149:1 Sing to the LORD a new song, His praise in the assembly of faithful ones The faithful ones are God's loyal people, gathered together. A new song fits a new act of God. Israel rejoices in its Maker and its King, with dancing, tambourine and harp.
149:4 For the LORD takes pleasure in His people; He adorns the humble with salvation God does more than put up with His people. He delights in them. He dresses the humble in salvation like beautiful clothes. That is why they shout for joy even on their beds, at rest and at night.
149:6 Let the high praises of God be in their throat, and a sword of two edges in their hand Praise and a sword together can trouble us. In Israel's history God did use His people to judge nations, as in the conquest. This is not a command for believers today to take up arms for the faith. Our sword now is the word of God (Eph 6:17; Heb 4:12).
149:9 to execute on them the judgment written The judgment is already written. It is God's decision, not theirs. I believe the full meaning lies ahead, when Christ returns to judge the nations (Rev 19:15) and His saints share in His reign. Paul says "the saints will judge the world" (1 Cor 6:2). See the introduction on the hard lines.
150:1 Praise God in His holy place; praise Him in the expanse of His strength The holy place may be the temple in Jerusalem or God's heavenly dwelling. The expanse is the word used for the sky God made on the second day (Gen 1:6-8). Either way, praise rises from the temple floor and fills the sky, on earth where His people gather and in heaven where He reigns.
150:2 Praise Him for His mighty deeds; praise Him according to the abundance of His greatness We praise God for what He has done, from creation and the exodus to sending His Son to die and rise again. We also praise Him for who He is. Our praise should fit how great He is. That is a high standard, and eternity will not exhaust it.

150:6 Rev 5:13; Rev 19:5; Ps 103:22

150:3 Praise Him with a blast of the ram's horn; praise Him with harp and lyre The ram's horn is the shofar, blown for feasts and to call God's people together (81:3; Lev 25:9). The lyre and harp were plucked stringed instruments. David played the lyre for King Saul (1 Sam 16:23).
150:4 Praise Him with tambourine and dancing The tambourine was a small hand drum. Miriam took one and led the women in dancing after the Red Sea (Exod 15:20-21). David danced before the LORD with all his might when the ark came to Jerusalem (2 Sam 6:14).
150:5 Praise Him with cymbals of sound; praise Him with cymbals of shouting We don't know exactly how these two kinds of cymbals differed. Perhaps one was clear and the other a loud crash. The psalm does not give rules about which instruments a church must use. Organ, guitar or no instruments at all, the call is the same: praise Him with what you have and with all your heart.
150:6 Let everything that has breath praise the LORD. Praise the LORD God breathed life into Adam (Gen 2:7), and He is "giving to all life and breath and all things" (Acts 17:25). If you have breath, you have a reason to praise and the means to do it. The book began with the blessed man in Psalm 1 and passed through every kind of sorrow, but it ends here. One day every creature will give praise to the One on the throne and to the Lamb (Rev 5:13).

PROVERBS

Introduction

Title

The Hebrew title comes from the book's first words, "The proverbs of Solomon" (1:1). The word for proverb, mashal, means a comparison or a saying that sets one thing beside another. In our English Bibles Proverbs stands among the poetic and wisdom books, right after Psalms. In the Hebrew Bible it belongs to the Writings. The wisdom books deal with how to live under God and with the hard questions of life. Proverbs teaches how life usually works under God. Job and Ecclesiastes look at what happens when life does not seem to work that way. We need all three.

Author and Date

The book names its main author three times (1:1; 10:1; 25:1). Solomon most likely gave the long talks of chapters 1 to 9, the sayings of 10:1 to 22:16, and chapters 25 to 29. God gave him wisdom beyond anyone of his day, and he spoke three thousand proverbs (1 Kgs 4:29-34). Two shorter collections come from wise men who are not named (22:17-24:22; 24:23-34). Chapter 30 gives the words of Agur, and chapter 31 the words of King Lemuel, which his mother taught him. We know nothing more of Agur or Lemuel. Some Jewish teachers thought Lemuel was another name for Solomon, but the text does not say so.

Solomon reigned about 970 to 930 B.C. Hezekiah reigned about 715 to 686 B.C., and his men copied more of Solomon's proverbs about 700 B.C. (25:1). The book was likely put in its final form in Hezekiah's day or not long after. Many modern scholars believe the book grew over many centuries and was finished long after Solomon. I take the headings at their word. The book tells us plainly where each part came from.

Background and Setting

Most of the book comes from the best years of Israel's kingdom: peace on every side, the temple built in Jerusalem, and visitors from other nations coming to hear the king's wisdom. Over and over the book says "my son." It was written first for young men in Israel, likely including the king's sons and young men trained to serve, but it speaks to anyone willing to listen (1:4-5), and the mother's teaching stands beside the father's (1:8; 31:1). Its world is ordinary life: the home, the field, the market, the king's court and the city gate where the elders judged cases. People have changed very little, so it still speaks plainly to us.

The book has a cast of characters. The wise person fears the LORD and listens to correction. The simple (peti) is naive and easily led but can still learn. The fool (kesil, sometimes 'ewil) will not learn and despises wisdom. The scoffer or mocker (lets) laughs at correction. The sluggard always has an excuse. Wisdom is pictured as a noble woman calling in the street, and folly as a loud woman calling people to death (9:13-18).

Most of the book is Hebrew poetry. Its lines come in pairs, and the second line often repeats the first in other words, adds to it, or says the opposite. This is called parallelism, and seeing it helps us read each saying. A proverb packs a general truth into a few words. It describes how life usually works in God's world, not a promise that comes true in every case. Wise people usually prosper, but some godly people stay poor (16:8). The notes show this reading where a proverb sounds like a promise (3:2; 10:27; 22:6).

Themes

The theme is wisdom, the skill of living God's way in the real world. The Hebrew word hokmah was used of a craftsman's skill, and in Proverbs it means a life well built. The key verse is "The fear of the LORD is the beginning of knowledge" (1:7), said again at 9:10 and 15:33. The fear of the LORD is not terror. It is the awe, trust and reverence that take God seriously and want to please Him, and it shows itself in hating evil (8:13).

The book sets two ways before us at every turn: wisdom and folly, the righteous and the wicked, the diligent and the lazy, Wisdom's house and Folly's house. It speaks to speech, money, work, friendship, marriage, sexual purity, anger, pride, parents and children, the poor, and the use of power. Under it all is the LORD's rule over every plan, word and lot (16:1, 9, 33), and His care for the poor, the widow and the fatherless (14:31; 23:10-11).

Christ in Proverbs

Proverbs is not a book of prophecy, but it points to Jesus. He said that "something greater than Solomon is here" (Matt 12:42). Solomon taught wisdom but did not always live it (1 Kgs 11:4). Jesus is the wise Son who lived every line of this book, growing in wisdom and favor with God and men (Luke 2:52). The New Testament calls Christ the wisdom of God (1 Cor 1:24, 30), in whom "all the treasures of wisdom and of knowledge are hidden" (Col 2:3). When wisdom speaks in chapter 8 of being with God before the world was made, many teachers see a picture that points to Christ, through whom all things were made (John 1:1-3), though the passage is a poem about wisdom and does not teach that the Son was created. Agur's question about the name of God's Son (30:4) finds its answer in Him, and the way of wisdom leads, in the end, to Him.

Hard Passages

Do the promises of long life and riches always come true (3:2, 9-10; 10:27; 22:4)? They are general truths about how wisdom usually works, and they are fully true in eternity. The notes name counterexamples the Bible itself gives, such as Abel, Stephen and the poor widow, and answer the use of these verses as a formula for wealth.

Does 22:6 guarantee that a well-trained child will never wander? No. It is a general truth, not a verdict on parents whose grown children have turned away. The notes give the main readings of "according to his way" and a word of hope for those parents.

The rod sayings (13:24; 22:15; 23:13-14; 29:15) are read as loving correction that never excuses anger or abuse (Eph 6:4). Godly parents today differ on spanking, and the notes do not take a side. The warnings about adultery (chapters 5 to 7) are handled plainly and modestly, with married love honored and mercy offered to the fallen.

Wisdom's words in 8:22-31 are read as poetry, with the picture of Christ many teachers see, and a plain word that the passage does not teach the Son was created. Other hard spots: wisdom laughing at calamity (1:26), answering and not answering a fool (26:4-5), sayings about slaves (29:19-21), and the wife of strength, who is a real ideal and not a checklist to shame women (31:10-31).

PROVERBS 1

The Purpose of Proverbs

1 The proverbs of Solomon (Shelomo), son of David, king of Israel (Yisra'el): 2 to know wisdom and discipline, to discern sayings of understanding, 3 to receive the discipline of wise dealing, righteousness and justice and uprightness, 4 to give to simple ones prudence, to a youth knowledge and discretion. 5 Let a wise one hear and increase learning, and let a discerning one acquire guidance, 6 to discern a proverb and an enigma, the words of wise ones and their riddles. 7 The fear of the LORD is the beginning of knowledge; wisdom and discipline fools have despised.

A Warning Against Violent Men

8 Hear, my son, the discipline of your father, and do not forsake the instruction of your mother; 9 for they are a wreath of grace for your head and necklaces for your neck. 10 My son, if sinners entice you, do not consent. 11 If they say,
"Come with us; let us lie in wait for blood; let us lurk for the innocent without cause; 12 let us swallow them alive like Sheol, and whole, like those who go down to the pit; 13 we will find all precious wealth; we will fill our houses with plunder; 14 you will cast your lot in our midst; one purse will be for all of us," 15 my son, do not walk in the way with them; hold back your foot from their path; 16 for their feet run to evil, and they hurry to shed blood. 17 For in vain the net is spread out in the eyes of every owner of a wing; 18 and they lie in wait for their own blood; they lurk for their own lives. 19 So are the paths of everyone who gains unjust gain; it takes the life of its owners.

Wisdom Calls in the Street

20 Wisdom cries aloud in the street; in the squares she gives her voice; 21 at the head of the noisy streets she calls out; at the entrances of the gates, in the city, she says her sayings:

1:1 The proverbs of Solomon, son of David, king of Israel Solomon was the son God promised would build His house (2 Sam 7:12-13). He asked God for an understanding heart, and God gave him wisdom beyond anyone of his day (1 Kgs 3:9-12; 4:29-34). The Hebrew word for proverb, mashal, means a comparison, a saying that sets one thing beside another. Solomon's own later years remind us that knowing wisdom is not the same as walking in it (1 Kgs 11:1-6).
1:2 to know wisdom and discipline Wisdom is skill for living God's way. Discipline means training and correction, the kind a father gives a son. Verses 2-6 give the purpose of the whole book in a string of overlapping words.
1:3 righteousness and justice and uprightness Wisdom in Proverbs is never only clever thinking. It is moral. It shows up in how we treat people: being right with God, fair with others and straight in our dealings.
1:4 to give to simple ones prudence The simple are the naive, the easily led, people whose minds are open in the wrong way. Prudence is the good sense to see trouble coming. Discretion is the ability to think a thing through before acting. Young people face the biggest choices with the least experience, and this book was written with them in mind.
1:5 Let a wise one hear and increase learning Proverbs is not only for beginners. A truly wise person is always still learning. The word for guidance comes from a word used for steering a ship. Wisdom helps us steer through life.
1:6 an enigma, the words of wise ones and their riddles Some sayings are plain. Others make us stop and think. God did not give us a book to skim. He gave us one to chew on.
1:7 The fear of the LORD is the beginning of knowledge This is the key verse of the book. The fear of the LORD is not the terror of a slave (1 John 4:18), but it is more than respect. It is deep awe of God that takes Him seriously, hates what He hates and trusts what He says. "Beginning" means both the starting point and the first and most important part. You cannot begin to be wise without it, and you never move past it (9:10; Job 28:28; Ps 111:10).
1:7 wisdom and discipline fools have despised The fool in Proverbs is not someone slow of mind. He is someone who will not bow to God. He does not lack the chance to learn. He looks down on it. This verse divides the human race into two kinds of people, and every chapter shows the difference. For us, the fear of the LORD leads to Christ, in whom all the treasures of wisdom are hidden (Col 2:3).
1:8 Hear, my son, the discipline of your father The first of many times the father says "my son." The home is the first school of wisdom, and the mother's teaching stands right beside the father's (Deut 6:6-7).
1:9 a wreath of grace for your head and necklaces for your neck A wreath or a neck chain was a sign of honor. Godly teaching, received and lived, makes a life beautiful. Not every reader had godly parents, but God can be a Father to the fatherless (Ps 68:5), and His Word can give what a home did not.
1:10 if sinners entice you, do not consent The father warns ahead of time. Temptation will come. The answer is short: say no.
1:12 let us swallow them alive like Sheol Sheol is the Hebrew name for the grave, the place of the dead. The gang speaks of its victims the way death speaks of its prey.
1:14 one purse will be for all of us The gang's pitch has two hooks: money (v. 13) and belonging. Many young people are drawn into sin less by the sin itself than by the group. The father names it so his son can see it.
1:15 do not walk in the way with them The best way to avoid falling into sin is not to walk down the road that leads to it (Ps 1:1).
1:16 their feet run to evil, and they hurry to shed blood These men do not drift into sin. They run to it. Paul uses words very close to these from Isaiah 59:7 to describe the whole human race (Rom 3:15). This is what the heart can become without God.
1:17 in vain the net is spread out in the eyes of every owner of a wing A bird that sees the net being set will not fly into it. These men are less wise than birds. The trap they set for others is really set for themselves (v. 18).
1:19 it takes the life of its owners Greed eats up the greedy. Money gained by hurting others does not bring the life it promised. It takes life away (1 Tim 6:10).
1:20 Wisdom cries aloud in the street Wisdom is pictured as a woman, a teacher calling out in public. This word picture is called personification, where something that is not a person is described as if it were one. The Hebrew word for wisdom is feminine, which fits the picture.
1:21 at the entrances of the gates The city gate was where business was done, cases were judged and people came and went. Wisdom does not hide in a classroom for the few. God's truth is offered openly to everyone.

22 "Until when, simple ones, will you love simplicity? And scoffers have delighted for themselves in scoffing, and fools hate knowledge? 23 Turn back at my reproof; look, I will pour out my spirit to you; I will make my words known to you. 24 Because I called and you refused, I stretched out my hand and no one was paying attention, 25 and you neglected all my counsel, and my reproof you did not want, 26 I also will laugh at your calamity; I will mock when your dread comes, 27 when your dread comes like a devastation, and your calamity arrives like a whirlwind, when trouble and distress come on you. 28 Then they will call me, and I will not answer; they will seek me earnestly, and they will not find me; 29 because they hated knowledge, and the fear of the LORD they did not choose; 30 they did not consent to my counsel; they spurned all my reproof. 31 And they will eat from the fruit of their way, and from their own devices they will be filled. 32 For the turning away of simple ones will kill them, and the complacency of fools will destroy them. 33 And he who listens to me will dwell in security, and will be at ease from dread of evil."

PROVERBS 2

Seeking Wisdom Like Silver

1 My son, if you receive my sayings and treasure my commandments with you, 2 to make your ear attentive to wisdom, if you incline your heart to understanding; 3 for if you call out to discernment, if you give your voice to understanding, 4 if you seek her like silver and search for her like hidden treasures, 5 then you will discern the fear of the LORD and find the knowledge of God. 6 For the LORD gives wisdom; from His mouth come knowledge and understanding. 7 He stores up sound wisdom for the upright; He is a shield to those who walk in integrity, 8 to guard the paths of justice; and He preserves the way of His faithful ones. 9 Then you will understand righteousness and justice and uprightness, every good course. 10 For wisdom will come into your heart, and knowledge will be pleasant to your soul;
11 discretion will watch over you; understanding will preserve you,

2:12 2 Cor 6:17; 1 Cor 15:33; Prov 13:20

1:22 simple ones Wisdom names three kinds of people. The simple (peti) love being naive. The scoffers (lets) delight in mocking. The fools (kesil) hate knowledge. Each is a step further from God than the last. The simple can still learn. The scoffer laughs at learning. The fool hates it.
1:23 Turn back at my reproof To turn back means to repent, to change direction. God is always ready to give more light to those who respond to the light they have (Matt 13:12).
1:26 I also will laugh at your calamity We must read this as the poetry it is. They laughed at wisdom's warnings, and now the warnings have come true. Her laughter is the laughter of being proven right, not delight in pain. God takes no pleasure in the death of the wicked (Ezek 33:11).
1:27 your calamity arrives like a whirlwind Judgment that seems slow for a long time can come suddenly at the end. That is why the time to listen is now.
1:28 Then they will call me, and I will not answer One of the most sobering verses in the book. There can come a time when it is too late. This cry is not repentance. It is the cry of people who want to escape the consequences, not people who want God.
1:29 the fear of the LORD they did not choose The fear of the LORD is a choice, and these people made theirs. God's patience is long, but it is not wise to treat it as if it will always wait: "now is a day of salvation" (2 Cor 6:2).
1:31 they will eat from the fruit of their way Often the punishment for sin is simply getting what we chose (Gal 6:7-8).
1:32 the complacency of fools will destroy them Complacency means being careless and at ease, sure nothing bad will happen. That false comfort is deadly.
1:33 he who listens to me will dwell in security Wisdom does not only warn. She invites. This does not mean nothing hard will ever happen. It means the one who listens does not live in dread, because his life is built on solid ground (Matt 7:24-25).
2:1 if you receive my sayings and treasure my commandments with you The chapter starts with a big "if." Wisdom is a gift, but it is not forced on anyone. To treasure the father's commands is to store them up like something valuable so they cannot be lost (Ps 119:11).
2:2 to make your ear attentive to wisdom, if you incline your heart to understanding The ear hears, and the heart leans in. It is possible to hear words without taking them in. The father wants a son whose heart is turned toward the truth.
2:3 if you call out to discernment This is not casual interest. It is a cry, like someone calling for help. If anyone lacks wisdom, he should ask God, who gives generously (James 1:5).
2:4 if you seek her like silver and search for her like hidden treasures Men have dug deep and moved tons of rock to find silver (Job 28:1-11). The father says to search for wisdom that way. How much effort do we give to God's Word compared to what we give to earning money?
2:5 then you will discern the fear of the LORD and find the knowledge of God The prize of the search is God Himself. The fear of the LORD is both the beginning of wisdom (1:7) and its reward. The more we know God, the deeper our reverence for Him grows.
2:6 For the LORD gives wisdom; from His mouth come knowledge and understanding We do not find wisdom by our own cleverness. God gives it, and it comes "from His mouth," through what He has spoken. For us that means the Bible.
2:7 He is a shield to those who walk in integrity Integrity means being whole, the same on the inside as on the outside. God protects such people.
2:8 His faithful ones The word is related to hesed, steadfast love. These are people loyal to God because He has been loyal to them. He watches over their road.
2:9 every good course A good course is a well-worn path, a track a wagon wheel can run in. Wisdom teaches us how to live: what is right, what is fair and what is straight.
2:10 knowledge will be pleasant to your soul At first learning God's ways can feel like hard work. When wisdom comes into the heart, what once felt like a duty becomes a delight.
2:11 discretion will watch over you Wisdom is like a guard posted at the door, keeping us from choices we would regret.
2:12 from a man who speaks perverse things Perverse means twisted, turned upside down. These men call good evil and evil good (Isa 5:20).

perverse things, 13 those who forsake the paths of uprightness to walk in the ways of darkness, 14 who are glad to do evil; they exult in the perverse things of evil, 15 whose paths are twisted, and who are devious in their tracks; 16 to deliver you from a strange woman, from a foreign woman who has made her sayings smooth, 17 who forsakes the close companion of her youth and has forgotten the covenant of her God; 18 for her house sinks down to death, and her tracks to the shades; 19 all who go in to her will not return, and they will not reach the paths of life; 20 so that you may walk in the way of good ones and keep the paths of righteous ones. 21 For upright ones will dwell in the land, and blameless ones will remain in it; 22 and wicked ones will be cut off from the land, and treacherous ones will be torn away from it.

Trust in the LORD

1 My son, do not forget my instruction, and let your heart keep my commandments; 2 for length of days and years of life and peace they will add to you. 3 Do not let steadfast love and faithfulness forsake you; bind them on your neck; write them on the tablet of your heart, 4 and find grace and good insight in the eyes of God and mankind. 5 Trust in the LORD with all your heart, and on your own understanding do not lean. 6 In all your ways know Him, and He will make your paths straight. 7 Do not be wise in your own eyes; fear the LORD and turn aside from evil. 8 Let it be healing to your navel and refreshment to your bones. 9 Honor the LORD from your wealth, and from the first of all your yield; 10 and your storehouses will be filled with plenty, and your wine

3:10 Deut 28:8; Prov 11:24,25; Eccl 11:1,2

2:13 those who forsake the paths of uprightness to walk in the ways of darkness They once knew a better way and left it. They do not just slip into sin; they enjoy it (v. 14). People love darkness rather than light because their deeds are evil (John 3:19). Wisdom helps us see such men for what they are, even when they are charming or successful.
2:16 a strange woman, from a foreign woman We meet her here for the first time, and again in chapters 5, 6 and 7. "Strange" means outside the bounds: another man's wife or a woman who lives outside God's law. She may or may not be foreign by birth. She lives as an outsider to God's covenant. Some teachers also see a picture of idolatry. Her weapon is smooth, flattering words.
2:17 who forsakes the close companion of her youth and has forgotten the covenant of her God The close companion is her husband. Marriage is a covenant, a solemn binding agreement, made before God (Mal 2:14). Adultery breaks faith with a spouse and with God at the same time.
2:18 her tracks to the shades The shades are the dead in Sheol. Sexual sin promises life and pleasure, but the road ends in ruin. There is forgiveness for those who repent (1 Cor 6:9-11), but the scars can last, and many never turn back (v. 19).
2:20 so that you may walk in the way of good ones Wisdom does not only keep us from bad company. It leads us into good company.
2:21 upright ones will dwell in the land For Israel, the land God promised Abraham was the sign of His blessing (Deut 30:19-20). The wicked being "cut off from the land" (v. 22) came true in the exiles, Israel to Assyria in 722 B.C. and Judah to Babylon in 586 B.C. Jesus echoed the promise: the gentle will inherit the earth (Matt 5:5).
3:1 do not forget my instruction The word for instruction is torah, the same word used for God's Law. A father's teaching grounded in God's Word was meant to be kept in the heart, not only in memory.
3:2 for length of days and years of life and peace they will add to you Read as the general truth it is, this says a wise life tends to be longer and more peaceful, because wise choices avoid much of what cuts life short. Godly people sometimes die young, and the Bible knows it (Isa 57:1). Peace is shalom: wholeness and well-being, not only the absence of war.
3:3 Do not let steadfast love and faithfulness forsake you Steadfast love is hesed, loyal covenant love; faithfulness means being true and reliable. The two are often used of God Himself (Exod 34:6). Worn like a necklace, they are seen by everyone; written on the heart, they go deep. God promised to write His law on His people's hearts (Jer 31:33).
3:4 find grace and good insight in the eyes of God and mankind Luke says almost the same of the boy Jesus (Luke 2:52).
3:5 Trust in the LORD with all your heart To trust is to lean your whole weight on someone, like leaning on a strong wall. The object is the LORD, a Person who has proved Himself faithful, not trust itself or a good feeling. In the Bible the heart is the center of a person: mind, will and desires. God does not want part of our trust while we keep a back-up plan in the other hand.
3:5 on your own understanding do not lean Our understanding is not worthless. God gave us minds. But it is limited, and it is bent by sin. We do not see the end from the beginning. God does. To trust the LORD is to let His Word have the final say, even when we cannot see how things will work out.
3:6 In all your ways know Him The Hebrew word is the simple word "know." It means to recognize God and bring Him into every part of life: work, money, family, plans and leisure. Many of us bring God into the big decisions and leave Him out of the small ones. "All your ways" leaves nothing out.
3:6 He will make your paths straight To make straight is to level the road, clear the obstacles and bring it to its goal. It does not promise an easy path. Joseph's path went through a pit and a prison before the palace (Gen 37-41). But the one who trusts God will not be lost. This looks like praying before we decide, doing what the Word says when our reasoning argues the other way, and being willing to wait.
3:7 Do not be wise in your own eyes This is verse 5 put another way. Pride is the enemy of wisdom (26:12). The fear of the LORD shows itself in turning from evil, as with Job (Job 1:1).
3:8 healing to your navel and refreshment to your bones The navel and the bones stand for the whole body, inside and out. Pride, worry and sin wear a person down. Trust and obedience bring rest.
3:9 Honor the LORD from your wealth, and from the first of all your yield Israel brought the firstfruits of the harvest to God (Exod 23:19; Deut 26:1-11). Giving God the first, not the leftovers, said that everything belonged to Him. We honor Him when our giving comes off the top, cheerfully and with thanks (2 Cor 9:7).
3:10 your storehouses will be filled with plenty This fits God's covenant blessings on Israel's land (Deut 28:1-14), and as a proverb it says God honors those who honor Him. It is not a formula to get money from God. Paul knew hunger and plenty (Phil 4:12), and the widow Jesus praised stayed poor (Mark 12:41-44). God's blessing may be in our barns, or in our hearts and in eternity.

vats will burst open with new wine. 11 The discipline of the LORD, my son, do not reject, and do not loathe His reproof; 12 for whom the LORD loves He reproves, and like a father a son in whom he is pleased.

Wisdom More Precious Than Jewels

13 How blessed is the man who has found wisdom, and the man who obtains understanding! 14 For better is her profit than the profit of silver, and her yield than gold. 15 She is more precious than jewels, and all your desires do not compare with her. 16 Length of days is in her right hand; in her left hand are riches and honor. 17 Her ways are ways of pleasantness, and all her paths are peace. 18 She is a tree of life to those who take hold of her, and those who hold her fast are called blessed. 19 The LORD by wisdom founded the earth; He established the heavens by understanding. 20 By His knowledge the depths were split open, and the clouds drip dew. 21 My son, let them not depart from your eyes; keep sound wisdom and discretion, 22 and they will be life to your soul and grace to your neck. 23 Then you will walk your way in security, and your foot will not stumble. 24 If you lie down, you will not dread; and you will lie down, and your sleep will be pleasant. 25 Do not be afraid of sudden dread, and of the devastation of wicked ones when it comes; 26 for the LORD will be your confidence, and He will keep your foot from capture.

Doing Good to Your Neighbor

27 Do not withhold good from its owners, when it is in the power of your hand to do it. 28 Do not say to your neighbor, "Go, and come back, and tomorrow I will give it," and it is with you. 29 Do not devise evil against your neighbor, and he is dwelling in security with you. 30 Do not contend with a man without cause, if he has not dealt evil to you. 31 Do not be envious of a man of violence, and do not choose any of his ways; 32 for an abomination of the LORD is a devious one, and His intimate counsel is with upright ones. 33 The curse of the LORD is in the house of a wicked one, and the dwelling of righteous ones He blesses. 34 Surely He scoffs at the scoffers, and to humble ones He gives grace. 35 Wise ones will inherit honor, and fools are lifting up shame.

3:35 Prov 4:8; 1 Sam 2:30; Ps 73:24
4:1 Prov 1:8; Ps 34:11; 1 Thess 2:11,12

3:11 The discipline of the LORD, my son, do not reject God corrects us through His Word, through other people and through hard times. We are tempted to resent it or give up. The father says not to.
3:12 for whom the LORD loves He reproves God's correction is a sign of His love, not His rejection. Hebrews 12:5-11 quotes these verses: God disciplines His children for their good, that they may share His holiness. Not every hard thing is punishment for a particular sin, as Job shows. But God can use every hard thing to train us if we receive it.
3:13 How blessed is the man who has found wisdom Blessed means truly happy, well off in God's eyes (Ps 1:1). Riches can be lost, stolen or left behind at death. Wisdom shapes who we are, and the wisdom that comes from God lasts forever (vv. 14-15).
3:16 Length of days is in her right hand; in her left hand are riches and honor Wisdom holds gifts in both hands. These are the usual fruits of a wise life, not a guarantee in every case, while folly tends to destroy them.
3:17 Her ways are ways of pleasantness God's way is not a grim road of misery. It is the good way, the way we were made for.
3:18 She is a tree of life to those who take hold of her The tree of life stood in Eden (Gen 2:9), and after the fall man was barred from it (Gen 3:22-24). Wisdom gives back some of what was lost: life as God meant it (11:30; 13:12; 15:4). In the end the tree of life appears again in the new Jerusalem (Rev 22:2, 14).
3:19 The LORD by wisdom founded the earth The wisdom the father offers is the wisdom by which God made the world. That is why it works. When we live wisely, we live with the grain of the world God made. When we live foolishly, we go against it, and it hurts. Chapter 8 says much more.
3:22 they will be life to your soul and grace to your neck Wisdom is life inside and beauty outside.
3:24 you will lie down, and your sleep will be pleasant Many lie awake with guilt, worry or fear. A clear conscience and trust in God bring a rest money cannot buy (Ps 4:8).
3:25 Do not be afraid of sudden dread The father does not say disaster will never come. He says not to be afraid of it, because the LORD is our confidence. He keeps His people's feet from the trap (v. 26).
3:27 Do not withhold good from its owners The owners of good are those to whom it is owed: a worker who has earned his wages, a neighbor we promised to help, someone in need we are able to help.
3:28 tomorrow I will give it Putting off a neighbor when we have what he needs right now is a quiet selfishness (James 2:15-16). Delayed kindness is often no kindness at all.
3:29 he is dwelling in security with you It is especially wicked to plot against someone who trusts you and lives beside you without suspicion.
3:30 Do not contend with a man without cause Some people love a fight. Wisdom does not. As far as it depends on us, we are to be at peace with all people (Rom 12:18).
3:31 Do not be envious of a man of violence Violent men sometimes seem to get ahead (Ps 37; 73). But the devious one is an abomination to the LORD, something He finds disgusting, while "His intimate counsel is with upright ones" (v. 32; Ps 25:14). The violent may have power for a while. The upright have God's friendship.
3:33 The curse of the LORD is in the house of a wicked one The difference between the houses is not their size. It is whether God's curse or His blessing rests on them.
3:34 to humble ones He gives grace James 4:6 and 1 Peter 5:5 quote this verse in its Greek form. God resists the one who sets himself against Him, but pours out grace on the one who bows low.
3:35 fools are lifting up shame The wise inherit honor. Fools hold up only their shame for all to see. The chapter ends, as Proverbs often does, by showing us the end of two roads.
4:1 Hear, sons, the discipline of a father This time the father speaks to more than one son, perhaps his own children, perhaps young men he was training. Listening is the first step in learning.

wisdom is: acquire wisdom; and with all your acquiring acquire understanding. 8 Prize her highly, and she will exalt you; she will honor you when you embrace her. 9 She will put on your head a wreath of grace; a crown of beauty she will bestow on you."

Two Paths

10 Hear, my son, and receive my sayings, and the years of life will be many for you. 11 In the way of wisdom I have taught you; I have led you in tracks of uprightness. 12 When you walk, your step will not be hampered; and if you run, you will not stumble. 13 Take hold of discipline; do not let go; keep her, for she is your life. 14 Do not enter the path of wicked ones, and do not walk straight on in the way of evil ones.
15 Avoid it; do not pass over on it; turn away from it and pass on. 16 For they do not sleep unless they have done evil, and their sleep is taken away unless they make someone stumble.
17 For they eat the bread of wickedness, and the wine of violence they drink. 18 And the path of righteous ones is like the light of brightness, going on and shining until the day is established. 19 The way of wicked ones is like deep darkness; they do not know over what they stumble.

Guard Your Heart

20 My son, pay attention to my words; incline your ear to my sayings. 21 Let them not depart from your eyes; keep them in the midst of your heart; 22 for they are life to those who find them, and healing to all his flesh. 23 More than all guarding, guard your heart, for from it are the outflows of life.
24 Remove from yourself crookedness of mouth, and put deviousness of lips far from yourself. 25 Let your eyes look straight ahead, and let your eyelids look straight before you.
26 Make level the track of your foot, and let all your ways be established. 27 Do not turn right or left; remove your foot from evil.

4:2 for good teaching I have given to you The father is not passing on opinions. He is passing on what he learned from God's Word and from life. Every parent who teaches children the Scriptures can say the same.
4:3 tender and an only one before my mother If this is Solomon, his father was David and his mother Bathsheba. She had other sons (1 Chr 3:5), so "only one" likely means dearly loved, treasured as if he were the only one.
4:4 And he taught me Here is David, the man after God's own heart, teaching his young son. We hear some of that charge in 1 Kings 2:1-4 and 1 Chronicles 28:9. Faith passes from one generation to the next through parents who teach their children (Deut 6:6-7; Ps 78:4-7).
4:5 Acquire wisdom; acquire understanding Acquire means to buy, to get. Wisdom is worth paying for.
4:7 The beginning of wisdom is: acquire wisdom The first step to wisdom is to decide you want it and go after it. Whatever else you get in life, get understanding, even if it costs all you have. Some things are worth everything (Matt 13:45-46).
4:8 Prize her highly, and she will exalt you The picture is of a man who loves and honors his bride. Wisdom returns honor to those who honor her, crowning them with grace and beauty (v. 9).
4:10 the years of life will be many for you As in 3:2, a general truth about the fruit of wisdom, not a promise that no wise person will die young.
4:11 I have led you in tracks of uprightness The father has not only told his son the way. He has walked ahead of him. Our example teaches as much as our words.
4:12 if you run, you will not stumble Wisdom frees us. The one who lives wisely does not get tangled in the mess folly creates.
4:13 Take hold of discipline; do not let go The picture is of someone gripping a rope. Instruction and correction are not something to put up with. They are life itself.
4:15 Avoid it; do not pass over on it; turn away from it and pass on The commands pile up. The best way to deal with the path of evil is to stay off it altogether. Do not stand at the edge and look. Turn around and walk the other way.
4:16 For they do not sleep unless they have done evil Sin has become their habit and their hunger. Evil is their daily bread and wine (v. 17). When sin becomes what we feed on, it takes over.
4:18 the path of righteous ones is like the light of brightness Think of the dawn. The sky grows gray, then light appears at the edge of the world, then the sun rises until it is full day. The life of the righteous is not perfect at the start, but it grows brighter as they walk with God, until the full day when we see Him face to face (1 John 3:2).
4:19 they do not know over what they stumble The wicked keep falling and do not know why. They blame bad luck, others or God, but they are walking in the dark. Whoever follows Jesus will not walk in darkness (John 8:12).
4:21 keep them in the midst of your heart The ear, the eyes and the heart all take in the father's words. Hearing is not enough. God's words are not a burden. They are medicine (v. 22).
4:23 More than all guarding, guard your heart, for from it are the outflows of life A key verse of Proverbs. The heart is the inner control center: what we think, love and choose. Like a spring feeding a river, everything flows from it (Matt 15:18-19; Luke 6:45). We guard it by watching what we let in, filling it with God's Word (Ps 119:11) and confessing sin quickly (1 John 1:9). Only God can make a heart new, through faith in Christ (Ezek 36:26; 2 Cor 5:17). After that, guarding it is our daily work.
4:24 Remove from yourself crookedness of mouth Lies, twisted words, flattery and gossip start in the heart and come out the mouth. The tongue is small but can set a forest on fire (James 3:5-6).
4:25 Let your eyes look straight ahead Many fall because they look to the side, at what someone else has or at a temptation. Fix your eyes on Jesus (Heb 12:2).
4:27 Do not turn right or left The same charge was given to Joshua (Josh 1:7). Notice the order of verses 23-27: heart, mouth, eyes, feet. The whole person is kept for God, from the inside out.

PROVERBS 5

Warning Against Adultery

1 My son, pay attention to my wisdom; incline your ear to my understanding, 2 to keep discretion, and your lips will guard knowledge. 3 For the lips of a strange woman drip honey, and her palate is smoother than oil; 4 and her end is bitter like wormwood, sharp like a double-edged sword. 5 Her feet go down to death; her steps take hold of Sheol. 6 Lest she make level the path of life, her tracks wander; she does not know.
7 And now, sons, listen to me, and do not turn aside from the sayings of my mouth. 8 Keep your way far from her, and do not draw near to the entrance of her house, 9 lest you give your splendor to others, and your years to a cruel one; 10 lest strangers be satisfied with your strength, and your toils be in the house of a foreigner; 11 and you groan at your end, when your flesh and your body waste away, 12 and you say, "How I hated discipline, and my heart spurned reproof! 13 And I did not listen to the voice of my teachers, and to my instructors I did not incline my ear. 14 I was almost in all evil in the midst of the assembly and congregation."

Rejoice in the Wife of Your Youth

15 Drink water from your own cistern, and flowing water from the midst of your own well. 16 Should your springs be scattered outside, streams of water in the squares? 17 Let them be for you alone, and not for strangers with you. 18 Let your fountain be blessed, and rejoice in the wife of your youth, 19 a doe of loves and a mountain goat of grace; let her breasts satisfy you at all times; in her love may you be lost continually. 20 And why should you be lost, my son, with a strange woman, and embrace the bosom of a foreign woman?
21 For before the eyes of the LORD are the ways of a man, and all his tracks He makes level. 22 His iniquities will capture him, the wicked one, and by the cords of his sin he will be held. 23 He will die without discipline, and in the greatness of his folly he will be lost.

5:2 to keep discretion The father wants his son's own words guarded by wisdom, so that when temptation speaks, his answer is ready.
5:3 the lips of a strange woman drip honey As in 2:16, the strange woman is an adulteress. She flatters and makes sin sound attractive and harmless. Temptation never shows its true face at the start.
5:4 her end is bitter like wormwood Wormwood was a very bitter plant, and it became a word for grief (Lam 3:15, 19). What begins sweet ends bitter. Adultery wounds a marriage, children, families, churches and the one who commits it.
5:5 Her feet go down to death; her steps take hold of Sheol Under the Law adultery could bring a death sentence (Lev 20:10), or a husband's rage (6:34). Even apart from that, it brings the death of trust, of a home and of a good name.
5:6 her tracks wander; she does not know She does not think about where she is going. A person caught in sexual sin often stops thinking about the end of the road, so the father makes his son think about it now.
5:8 Keep your way far from her He does not say go near and be strong. He says stay far away; do not even walk down her street. Paul says to flee sexual sin (1 Cor 6:18), and Joseph ran (Gen 39:12). Today that may mean ending a friendship going the wrong way, not being alone with someone, or guarding a phone. The wise man does not test how close he can get to the fire.
5:9 lest you give your splendor to others The best years of a man's life, his strength and his honor, can be thrown away on sin and on people who do not care about him.
5:10 your toils be in the house of a foreigner Adultery can bring financial ruin, through payments, lawsuits, a lost job, divorce or the cost of a double life.
5:11 you groan at your end This may mean disease, the toll of sin on the body, or simply growing old full of regret.
5:12 How I hated discipline, and my heart spurned reproof Some of the saddest words in Proverbs. The man knew better. He had been taught. His ruin came close to complete, and it was public before the assembly (v. 14). The father lets his son hear this now so that he will never have to say it himself.
5:15 Drink water from your own cistern In a dry land a cistern or well was precious. Water meant life. Here it pictures a man's wife and the joy of married love. God made husband and wife to satisfy each other's desire for love and closeness.
5:16 Should your springs be scattered outside Should a man's love, meant for his wife, be poured out in the streets? Some take the springs as a picture of children born outside marriage. Either way, married love is precious and not to be wasted.
5:17 Let them be for you alone Marriage is exclusive: one man and one woman, joined by God, for life (Gen 2:24; Matt 19:4-6).
5:18 rejoice in the wife of your youth God blesses married love. A man is to keep rejoicing in the wife he married when young as they grow old together.
5:19 a doe of loves and a mountain goat of grace Tender love poetry, pictures of beauty and grace in that world. Faithfulness is not only saying no to others. It is saying yes, again and again, to your own spouse. For singles, this shows that God's commands about sex are not because He is against pleasure. He made it, and He made marriage its home. The Song of Songs celebrates the same gift.
5:20 why should you be lost, my son, with a strange woman The word for "lost" is used in verse 19 for being captivated by a wife's love. Why trade a spring of living water for a poisoned cup?
5:21 before the eyes of the LORD are the ways of a man The adulterer thinks no one sees. God sees everything (Heb 4:13). David thought he had covered his sin, but the LORD sent Nathan (2 Sam 12:1-12).
5:22 by the cords of his sin he will be held The man who thinks he is free ends up tied by his own choices, habits and lies. Everyone who practices sin is a slave of sin (John 8:34).
5:23 in the greatness of his folly he will be lost "Lost" comes a third time: lost in a wife's love, in an adulteress's arms, or at last in his own folly. Is there hope for one who has fallen? Yes. David confessed and was forgiven (Ps 51; 2 Sam 12:13). Jesus told the woman caught in adultery to go and sin no more (John 8:11). The consequences may remain, but the guilt can be washed away by the blood of Christ (1 Cor 6:11).

PROVERBS 6

Warnings Against Surety and Laziness

1 My son, if you have become surety for your neighbor, if you have struck your palms for the stranger, 2 you have been snared by the sayings of your mouth; you have been caught by the sayings of your mouth. 3 Do this then, my son, and deliver yourself, for you have come into the palm of your neighbor: go, humble yourself, and press your neighbor hard. 4 Do not give sleep to your eyes, and slumber to your eyelids; 5 deliver yourself like a gazelle from the hand, and like a bird from the hand of a fowler. 6 Go to the ant, slug-gard; consider its ways, and be wise, 7 which has no commander, officer, and ruler; 8 it prepares its bread in the summer; it gathers its food at the harvest. 9 Until when, slug-gard, will you lie down? When will you rise from your sleep?
10 A little sleep, a little slumber, a little folding of the hands to lie down, 11 and your poverty will come like a wanderer, and your need like a man with a shield.

Things the LORD Hates

12 A man of worthlessness, a man of wickedness, is one walking with crookedness of mouth, 13 winking with his eyes, scraping with his feet, pointing with his fingers; 14 perversities are in his heart; he is devising evil at every time; he sends out contentions. 15 Therefore his calamity will come suddenly; in an instant he will be broken, and there is no healing. 16 These six things the LORD hates, and seven are an abomination of His soul: 17 haughty eyes, a tongue of falsehood, and hands shedding innocent blood, 18 a heart devising plans of wickedness, feet hurrying to run to evil, 19 a witness of falsehood who breathes out lies, and one sending out contentions between brothers.

The Cost of Adultery

20 Keep, my son, the commandment of your father, and do not forsake the instruction of your mother; 21 bind them on your heart continually; tie them on your neck. 22 When you walk about, it will lead you; when you lie down, it will watch over you; and when you awake, it will talk with you. 23 For a lamp is the commandment, and the instruction is a light, and the reproofs of discipline are a way of life, 24 to keep you from a woman of evil, from the smoothness of the tongue of a foreign woman. 25 Do not desire her beauty in your heart, and do not let her take you with her eyelids; 26 for the price of a woman who is a prostitute is up to a loaf of bread, and

6:25 Matt 5:28; 2 Kgs 9:30; James 1:14,15
6:26 Prov 29:3,8; Prov 5:10; 1 Sam 2:36

6:1 if you have become surety for your neighbor To become surety is to promise to pay someone else's debt if he does not, much like co-signing a loan today. Striking palms sealed the deal, like a handshake. Helping with money is not always wrong (Deut 15:7-8; Matt 5:42). The warning is against promising more than you can pay and putting your family at risk for a debt you do not control, especially for a stranger (11:15; 17:18; 22:26-27).
6:3 go, humble yourself, and press your neighbor hard If you have made such a promise, swallow your pride. Go and plead to be released, or urge him to pay what he owes.
6:5 deliver yourself like a gazelle from the hand A trapped gazelle or bird fights with everything to get free. Unwise promises should be dealt with quickly. It is better to admit a mistake and fix it than to let it grow.
6:6 Go to the ant, sluggard A sluggard is a lazy man, one who will not work. Proverbs mocks him often, sometimes with humor. Here he is sent to school, and his teacher is an ant.
6:7 which has no commander, officer, and ruler No one stands over the ant with a whip, and yet it works hard, works ahead and works without being told (v. 8). God made us to work before sin ever came (Gen 2:15; 2 Thess 3:10). This is not about those who cannot work because of sickness or age, but about those who will not.
6:10 A little sleep, a little slumber, a little folding of the hands to lie down The father imitates the sluggard's excuse. He never plans to be lazy forever. He just wants a little more rest, again and again.
6:11 your poverty will come like a wanderer, and your need like a man with a shield Poverty sneaks up like a drifter and then arrives like an armed robber. Laziness ruins a person a little at a time, and then all at once (24:33-34).
6:12 A man of worthlessness The Hebrew is a man of belial, a worthless, good-for-nothing person, always twisting the truth with his mouth.
6:13 winking with his eyes, scraping with his feet, pointing with his fingers Secret signals to his partners, mocking someone behind his back or setting someone up. It all starts with the perversity in his heart (v. 14), and he loves to stir up fights.
6:15 in an instant he will be broken, and there is no healing The troublemaker who plots against others will one day fall, and fast. God sees what he is doing.
6:16 These six things the LORD hates, and seven A Hebrew poetic way of making a list: six, then seven. The seventh gets the place of emphasis. An abomination is something God finds disgusting.
6:17 haughty eyes, a tongue of falsehood, and hands shedding innocent blood Pride comes first, at the root of many other sins. The list moves through the body: eyes, tongue, hands, heart, feet, and then the whole person. We tend to rank lying and pride as small sins. God puts them on the same list as murder.
6:19 one sending out contentions between brothers The seventh sin, stirring up division in a family or among God's people, gets the emphasis. God loves unity (Ps 133:1), and Jesus prayed that His followers would be one (John 17:21). The one who breaks up families, friendships or churches with gossip and division does what the LORD hates.
6:22 When you walk about, it will lead you These words echo Deuteronomy 6:7. God's Word is meant to go with us all day, every day: guiding as we go, guarding as we sleep, speaking when we wake.
6:23 For a lamp is the commandment, and the instruction is a light In the dark a lamp shows where to step (Ps 119:105). Even correction, which we do not enjoy, is the road to life.
6:25 Do not desire her beauty in your heart Adultery begins in the heart long before it happens in the body. Jesus said lustful looking is already adultery in the heart (Matt 5:28). The battle has to be won there first.
6:26 the wife of a man hunts a precious life Sin with a prostitute can bring a man down to a loaf of bread. Sin with another man's wife hunts his very life. Both are wrong. The cost is higher than he imagines.

the wife of a man hunts a precious life. 27 Can a man scoop up fire in his bosom, and his garments not be burned? 28 Or can a man walk on the burning coals, and his feet not be scorched? 29 So is he who goes in to the wife of his neighbor; everyone who touches her will not go unpunished. 30 They do not despise the thief if he steals to fill his appetite when he is hungry; 31 and if he is found, he will repay sevenfold; all the wealth of his house he will give. 32 He who commits adultery with a woman lacks sense; he who destroys his own soul, he does it. 33 A wound and shame he will find, and his reproach will not be wiped away. 34 For jealousy is the rage of a man, and he will not spare in the day of vengeance. 35 He will not accept any ransom, and he will not be willing though you multiply the bribe.

Treasure Wisdom

1 My son, keep my sayings, and treasure my commandments with you. 2 Keep my commandments and live, and my instruction like the pupil of your eyes. 3 Bind them on your fingers; write them on the tablet of your heart. 4 Say to wisdom, "You are my sister," and you will call understanding a relative, 5 to keep you from a strange woman, from a foreign woman who has made her sayings smooth.

The Youth Lacking Sense

6 For at the window of my house, through my lattice, I looked down, 7 and I saw among the simple ones, I discerned among the sons, a youth lacking sense, 8 passing in the street near her corner, and he strides along the way to her house, 9 in the twilight, in the evening of the day, in the pupil of the night and darkness. 10 And look, a woman to meet him, in the garment of a prostitute, and guarded of heart. 11 She is boisterous and rebellious; her feet do not stay in her house; 12 now outside, now in the squares, and beside every corner she lies in wait. 13 And she takes hold of him and kisses him; she has made her face bold, and she says to him,

14 "Sacrifices of peace offerings are on me; today I have paid my vows. 15 Therefore I have come out to meet you, to seek your face earnestly, and I have found you. 16 With coverings I have spread my couch, colored fabrics, linen of Egypt (Mitsrayim). 17 I have sprinkled my bed with myrrh, aloes, and cinnamon. 18 Come, let us take our fill of lovemaking until the morning; let us delight ourselves with loves. 19 For the man is not in his house; he has gone on a journey far

6:27 Can a man scoop up fire in his bosom, and his garments not be burned Of course not. Fire burns. Many think they can be the exception, keep it secret or handle the consequences. No one can (v. 29). Sin has consequences built into it, and beyond them God Himself will judge adulterers (Heb 13:4).
6:30 They do not despise the thief if he steals to fill his appetite when he is hungry People may pity a starving man who steals bread. That does not make it right, and he still must repay.
6:31 he will repay sevenfold The Law required a thief to repay two, four or five times what he took (Exod 22:1-4). Sevenfold here likely means full and complete payment, whatever it costs. Some take it as an actual amount set by custom. Either way, the thief can pay, and the matter is settled.
6:32 He who commits adultery with a woman lacks sense The adulterer is not driven by hunger. He has no excuse, and he does not just lose money. He destroys himself.
6:33 his reproach will not be wiped away The thief can pay back what he took. The adulterer cannot undo what he did. Even when God forgives, as He does those who repent, people remember, trust is slow to rebuild and scars can last.
6:34 For jealousy is the rage of a man In Israel the Law set death as the penalty for adultery (Lev 20:10; Deut 22:22), and a betrayed husband's anger could be fierce.
6:35 He will not accept any ransom The thief could pay his way out. The adulterer cannot. Some damage cannot be bought back. To the betrayed, these verses say the pain is real and God takes it seriously. To the fallen, God's mercy is greater than our sin (Ps 51:1-2; 1 John 1:9).
7:2 my instruction like the pupil of your eyes The pupil is the tender part of the eye we protect without thinking. God guards His people that way (Deut 32:10). The son is to guard his father's teaching just as carefully.
7:3 Bind them on your fingers; write them on the tablet of your heart The fingers are always in view, and the heart is where we live. God's Word belongs both before our eyes and deep inside.
7:4 Say to wisdom, "You are my sister," In Hebrew love poetry "sister" was also a tender word for a bride (Song 4:9). The best protection against a wrong love is a stronger right love.
7:6 through my lattice, I looked down A lattice was a wooden screen over a window that let in air and kept people from seeing inside. The father watched the street below and now tells what he saw.
7:7 a youth lacking sense "Lacking sense" is in Hebrew "lacking heart." He is naive and easily led, with no inner guard.
7:8 he strides along the way to her house He is not dragged there. He walks there. He knows where her house is. Most falls begin with small steps in the wrong direction.
7:9 in the pupil of the night and darkness The time moves from dusk into deep night. Sin loves the dark (John 3:20). He thinks no one sees, but the father sees from his window, and the LORD sees everything (5:21).
7:10 in the garment of a prostitute, and guarded of heart She is a married woman (v. 19), dressed to draw a man's eye. "Guarded of heart" means she hides what she really wants. Her heart is closed and scheming.
7:12 beside every corner she lies in wait She is loud, restless and will not stay home (v. 11). She is a hunter looking for prey.
7:13 she has made her face bold She does not wait for him to move. Temptation is often bolder and faster than we expect.
7:14 Sacrifices of peace offerings are on me; today I have paid my vows A peace offering was a sacrifice of thanks or for a vow, and the worshiper ate most of the meat that day or the next (Lev 7:15-16). She has a feast at home. She is also using religion to cover sin. Religion without a changed heart can live beside gross sin (Matt 15:8).
7:15 to seek your face earnestly, and I have found you She flatters him, as if she had been looking for him alone. She has likely said the same to others.
7:17 myrrh, aloes, and cinnamon Costly spices, like the Egyptian linen of verse 16. She appeals to every sense and makes sin sound beautiful, luxurious and harmless. The father lets his son hear her words so he will recognize them.
7:19 For the man is not in his house She does not call him her husband, only "the man." She has already put him out of her heart.

away. 20 He has taken the bag of money in his hand; at the day of the full moon he will come to his house." 21 She turns him with the greatness of her persuasion; with the smoothness of her lips she drives him. 22 He goes after her suddenly, like an ox that goes to the slaughter, and like a fetter to the discipline of a fool, 23 until an arrow pierces his liver; like a bird hurries into a trap, and he does not know that it is for his life. 24 And now, sons, listen to me, and pay attention to the sayings of my mouth. 25 Do not let your heart turn away to her ways; do not go astray in her paths; 26 for many are the slain she has made fall, and numerous are all those killed by her. 27 Her house is the ways of Sheol, going down to the chambers of death.

Wisdom Calls Out

1 Does not wisdom call out, and understanding give her voice? 2 At the top of the heights, beside the way, between the paths she takes her stand; 3 beside the gates, at the mouth of the town, at the entrance of the doorways, she cries aloud: 4 "To you, men, I call, and my voice is to the sons of mankind. 5 Understand prudence, simple ones; and fools, understand sense. 6 Hear, for I will speak noble things, and the opening of my lips will be uprightness; 7 for my palate will utter truth, and wickedness is an abomination of my lips. 8 All the sayings of my mouth are in righteousness; there is nothing twisted and crooked in them. 9 All of them are straightforward to the one who discerns, and upright to those who find knowledge. 10 Take my discipline and not silver, and knowledge rather than choice gold; 11 for wisdom is better than jewels, and all desires do not compare with her. 12 I, wisdom, dwell with prudence, and I find knowledge of discretion. 13 The fear of the LORD is to hate evil; pride and arrogance and a way of evil and a mouth of perversities I hate. 14 Counsel and sound wisdom are mine; I am understanding; strength is mine. 15 By me kings reign, and rulers decree righteousness; 16 by me princes rule, and nobles, all the judges of righteousness. 17 I love those who love me, and those who seek me earnestly find me. 18 Riches and honor are with me, enduring wealth and righteousness. 19 My fruit is better than gold, and than pure gold, and my yield than choice silver. 20 I walk in the path of righteousness, in the midst of the paths of justice, 21 to cause those who love me to inherit substance, and I fill their treasuries.

7:20 at the day of the full moon he will come to his house He took money for a long trip and will be gone for days. That is the lie of sexual sin: no one will know. But your sin will find you out (Num 32:23).
7:22 like an ox that goes to the slaughter An ox led to the butcher has no idea what is coming. The next line, "like a fetter to the discipline of a fool," is hard in Hebrew. It seems to picture a fool led in chains to his punishment. Many translations read it differently.
7:23 until an arrow pierces his liver The liver was thought of as a seat of life, so this is a deadly wound. The bird sees the bait, not the snare. The young man sees the pleasure, not the price.
7:25 Do not let your heart turn away to her ways First the heart turns, then the feet go astray. The young man's fall began when his heart started to wander (4:23).
7:26 many are the slain she has made fall Strong, wise and godly men have fallen this way: Samson (Judg 16), David (2 Sam 11), Solomon himself (1 Kgs 11:3-4). No one is too strong to fall (1 Cor 10:12).
7:27 Her house is the ways of Sheol Her house looks like a place of pleasure. It is a road to the grave. Today the danger may be an online relationship, a coworker or an image on a screen. The road is the same. God provides a way out (1 Cor 10:13), often simply not walking down that street. For one who has gone through that door, the way back is still open (28:13; 1 John 1:9).
8:2 between the paths she takes her stand Wisdom stands at the crossroads, where people choose which way to go, and at the city gate, the busiest place in town (v. 3). Compare the woman of chapter 7, who whispered in the dark at a corner. Sin hides. Truth stands in the open (Rom 1:20).
8:4 my voice is to the sons of mankind Wisdom's call is for everyone, not only for Israel, not only for the clever or the religious.
8:5 Understand prudence, simple ones; and fools, understand sense Even the simple and the fools are invited. No one is too far gone to be called (Luke 5:32).
8:7 wickedness is an abomination of my lips Wisdom cannot lie. Her words have nothing twisted in them (v. 8), the opposite of the smooth words of the strange woman (7:21) and the evil man (2:12).
8:9 All of them are straightforward to the one who discerns The problem is not that God's truth is too hard. The problem is that some do not want it.
8:10 Take my discipline and not silver If you had to choose between a bag of silver and wisdom, which would you take? Solomon chose wisdom, and God gave him riches too (1 Kgs 3:11-13). Verse 11 repeats 3:15.
8:13 The fear of the LORD is to hate evil One of the clearest definitions in the Bible. The fear of the LORD is not only awe. It is a moral stance: to hate what God hates. You cannot love God and love evil at the same time. Pride comes first in the list, as haughty eyes did in 6:17. The proud man fears no one. The wise man bows before God.
8:15 By me kings reign Good government depends on wisdom. Solomon asked God for wisdom to govern His people (1 Kgs 3:9). Leaders in nations, businesses, churches and homes need the same, and we should pray for those in authority (1 Tim 2:1-2).
8:17 those who seek me earnestly find me "Earnestly" can also mean early, seeking first thing. God promises the same (Jer 29:13; Matt 7:7). Compare 1:28, where those who refused wisdom seek her and do not find her. Those who love wisdom seek her because they want her. Those who hated her seek her only when trouble comes.
8:18 enduring wealth and righteousness Wisdom's wealth is the kind that lasts, and it comes together with righteousness. Wealth gained by wickedness does not last (10:2).
8:19 My fruit is better than gold The best things wisdom gives are not things at all: good character, a right relationship with God and a life that pleases Him.
8:21 to cause those who love me to inherit substance As a general truth, wise and righteous living tends to bring blessing. But the true treasure of wisdom is treasure in heaven that moth and rust cannot destroy (Matt 6:19-21).

Wisdom at Creation

22 The LORD possessed me at the beginning of His way, before His works of old. 23 From long ago I was installed, from the beginning, from the earliest times of the earth.
24 When there were no deeps I was brought forth, when there were no springs heavy with water. 25 Before the mountains were settled, before the hills, I was brought forth, 26 while He had not yet made the earth and the open places, and the first of the dusts of the world. 27 When He established the heavens, I was there; when He marked out a circle on the face of the deep, 28 when He made firm the clouds above, when the springs of the deep became strong, 29 when He set for the sea its limit, and the waters would not pass beyond His command, when He marked out the foundations of the earth, 30 then I was beside Him as an artisan, and I was His delight day by day, playing before Him at every time, 31 playing in the world of His earth, and my delights were with the sons of mankind.

Blessed Are Those Who Listen

32 And now, sons, listen to me, and how blessed are those who keep my ways! 33 Hear discipline and be wise, and do not neglect it. 34 How blessed is the man who listens to me, keeping watch at my doors day by day, guarding the door-posts of my doorways! 35 For he who finds me finds life, and obtains favor from the LORD. 36 And he who misses me does violence to his own soul; all who hate me love death."

Wisdom's Feast

1 Wisdom has built her house; she has hewn out her seven pillars. 2 She has slaughtered her meat; she has mixed her wine; also she has arranged her table. 3 She has sent out her young women; she calls out on the elevations of the heights of the town: 4 "Who is simple? Let him turn aside here!" One lacking sense, she says to him, 5 "Come, eat of my bread, and drink of the wine I have mixed. 6 Forsake simple ones and live, and walk straight on in the way of understanding. 7 He who disciplines a scoffer receives shame for himself, and he who reproves a wicked one, his blemish. 8 Do not reprove a scoffer, lest he hate you; reprove a wise one, and he will love you. 9 Give to a wise one, and he will be wiser still; make known to a righteous one, and he will increase learning.

8:22 The LORD possessed me at the beginning of His way Now Wisdom speaks of her place before creation. The Hebrew word qanah usually means get, own or acquire, and in a few places may mean create, so some translations say "created." Either way, Wisdom belonged to the LORD from the very start. This is poetry. Wisdom is pictured as a woman, and the poet is saying God never lacked wisdom. He did not have to learn how to make the world (3:19).
8:23 From long ago I was installed "Installed" is a word used of setting up a king (Ps 2:6). Wisdom was in place before the world began.
8:24 I was brought forth The language of birth. Wisdom is pictured as born before the oceans, the springs and the mountains (v. 25).
8:27 when He marked out a circle on the face of the deep God drew the horizon, the line where sky meets sea.
8:29 when He set for the sea its limit God told the sea how far it could go, and it obeyed (Job 38:8-11). The whole picture is of a wise Builder laying out His work with care. Creation shows order, design and limits. That is wisdom at work.
8:30 then I was beside Him as an artisan An artisan is a master craftsman. Some translate the word as little child or nursling, which fits the delight and play that follow. Creation was not hard labor for God. It was a delight.
8:31 my delights were with the sons of mankind God's wisdom delights in the world He made, and especially in people. That is why she calls out in the streets. Many Bible teachers see in 8:22-31 a picture pointing to Christ, "the wisdom of God" (1 Cor 1:24), through whom all things were made (John 1:1-3; Col 1:16-17).
8:31 playing in the world of His earth We must be careful. This is a poem about wisdom pictured as a woman, not a direct statement about the Son, and it does not teach that the Son was created. The New Testament never quotes it of Jesus. The Son is eternal (John 1:3; Mic 5:2). In the A.D. 300s Arius used verse 22 to claim the Son was created, and the church rightly rejected him. Pressed that far, the poem would mean God was once without wisdom. The fullness of God's wisdom has come to us in a Person, Jesus Christ (1 Cor 1:30).
8:34 keeping watch at my doors day by day Like one waiting eagerly at the door of the one he loves, or a servant at his master's door each morning. Contrast the young man of chapter 7, who went to the wrong door at night.
8:35 For he who finds me finds life, and obtains favor from the LORD The greatest promise of the chapter. Jesus is the way, the truth and the life (John 14:6), and whoever has the Son has life (1 John 5:12).
8:36 all who hate me love death No one sets out to love death, but those who reject God's wisdom choose the road that leads there. Moses set the same choice before Israel: choose life (Deut 30:19).
9:1 Wisdom has built her house; she has hewn out her seven pillars Hewn stone pillars show a strong, beautiful house. Seven is often a number of completeness. Some have tried to name the seven pillars, but the text does not. Wisdom's house lacks nothing.
9:2 she has arranged her table Mixed wine was blended with spices, or with water as was the custom. Everything is ready. The guests have only to come. This points ahead to the gospel invitation (Matt 22:1-4).
9:4 Who is simple? Let him turn aside here Her invitation is for the simple, the very people most in danger, those who know they need help. Jesus came to call sinners (Luke 5:32).
9:5 Come, eat of my bread, and drink of the wine I have mixed Isaiah gives a similar call (Isa 55:1), and Jesus said, "I am the bread of life" (John 6:35).
9:6 Forsake simple ones and live Accepting her invitation means leaving something behind: foolish ways and perhaps foolish friends. Coming to wisdom always means turning from folly. That is repentance.
9:7 He who disciplines a scoffer receives shame for himself Correct a mocker and you get insults in return. He will try to stain your name.
9:8 Do not reprove a scoffer, lest he hate you; reprove a wise one, and he will love you One of the clearest tests of wisdom: how do you respond when corrected? There are times when correcting one who will only mock is wasted breath (Matt 7:6). This does not mean we never speak the truth. It means we use wisdom about when and how.
9:9 Give to a wise one, and he will be wiser still The wise are always teachable. The one who most needs correction is often least willing to receive it.

10 The beginning of wisdom is the fear of the LORD, and the knowledge of the Holy One is understanding. 11 For by me your days will be many, and they will add to you years of life. 12 If you are wise, you are wise for yourself; and if you scoff, you alone will bear it."

The Woman of Folly

13 The woman of folly is boisterous; she is simplicity, and she does not know anything. 14 And she sits at the doorway of her house, on a seat at the heights of the town, 15 to call to those who pass along the way, who are making their paths straight: 16 "Who is simple? Let him turn aside here!" And one lacking sense, she says to him, 17 "Stolen waters are sweet, and bread of secrecy is pleasant." 18 And he does not know that the shades are there, her invited ones in the depths of Sheol.

PROVERBS 10

The Proverbs of Solomon

1 The proverbs of Solomon (Shelomo). A wise son makes a father glad, and a foolish son is the grief of his mother. 2 Treasures of wickedness do not profit, and righteousness delivers from death. 3 The LORD does not let the soul of the righteous hunger, and the craving of the wicked He thrusts away. 4 Poor is he who works with a slack palm, and the hand of the diligent makes rich. 5 He who gathers in the summer is a son who acts prudently; he who sleeps in the harvest is a son who acts shamefully. 6 Blessings are for the head of the righteous, and the mouth of the wicked conceals violence. 7 The memory of the righteous is for a blessing, and the name of the wicked will rot. 8 The wise of heart will accept commandments, and a fool of lips will be ruined. 9 He who walks in integrity walks in security, and he who perverts his ways will become known. 10 He who winks an eye gives sorrow, and a fool of lips will be ruined. 11 The mouth of a righteous one is a fountain of life, and the mouth of the wicked conceals violence. 12 Hatred stirs up contentions, and love covers over all transgressions. 13 On the lips of a discerning one wisdom is found, and a rod is for the back of one lacking sense. 14 Wise ones store up knowledge, and the mouth of a fool is ruin near. 15 The wealth of a rich man is the town of his strength; the ruin of the poor is their poverty.

9:10 The beginning of wisdom is the fear of the LORD Part One began with this truth (1:7) and now ends with it. The Holy One is God, set apart, pure and perfect, Isaiah's favorite title. To know Him, not just know about Him, is true understanding. Eternal life is to know the only true God and Jesus Christ whom He sent (John 17:3).
9:12 if you scoff, you alone will bear it Each person is responsible for his own choice (Ezek 18:20). We cannot ride into heaven on our parents' faith. Each of us must answer Wisdom's call.
9:13 The woman of folly is boisterous Folly is loud and restless like the adulteress of 7:11, and she knows nothing.
9:14 on a seat at the heights of the town Folly copies Wisdom, calling from the same heights (9:3). Sin rarely announces itself as sin. But Wisdom worked: she built, hewed, slaughtered, mixed and sent messengers. Folly just sits. She has prepared nothing.
9:16 Who is simple? Let him turn aside here Folly uses the very same words as Wisdom (9:4). Both invitations sound the same at first. That is why we need discernment.
9:17 Stolen waters are sweet, and bread of secrecy is pleasant Folly has nothing of her own. She offers what belongs to someone else and says it tastes better because it is forbidden. In chapters 5-7 the stolen water points to adultery (5:15), but it fits every sin. The serpent made the one forbidden tree seem most desirable of all (Gen 3:1-6).
9:18 the shades are there, her invited ones in the depths of Sheol Her earlier guests are not at the table. They are in the grave. Part One ends with two houses: Wisdom's leads to life (9:6), Folly's to death. We all hear both voices. Jesus ended the Sermon on the Mount the same way, with two roads and two houses (Matt 7:13-14, 24-27).
10:1 A wise son makes a father glad, and a foolish son is the grief of his mother "The proverbs of Solomon" is the book's second heading (1:1). From here most sayings stand alone, two lines set side by side. Often the second line says the opposite of the first, and the contrast makes the point. This one is about the home: our choices affect the people who love us most.
10:2 Treasures of wickedness do not profit Money gained by evil does not give what it promised (1:19), and it cannot save anyone from death. Righteousness can, because the righteous belong to God.
10:3 The LORD does not let the soul of the righteous hunger God provides for His people (Ps 37:25). This is the general rule. Godly people have gone hungry at times (Heb 11:37; 2 Cor 11:27), and God was with them even then. The deepest hunger, the hunger of the soul, He always satisfies.
10:4 Poor is he who works with a slack palm Laziness usually leads to poverty and steady work to plenty. Not every poor person is lazy, and Proverbs knows it (13:23). But the lazy will almost always be poor.
10:5 he who sleeps in the harvest is a son who acts shamefully Harvest time is short. Miss it and the year is lost. Some opportunities come only once.
10:7 the name of the wicked will rot When the righteous die, people remember them with thanks. The names of the wicked spoil like rotting food. What will people say about you when you are gone?
10:9 He who walks in integrity walks in security A person of integrity has nothing to hide, so he does not live in fear of being found out. The one who twists his ways will be exposed sooner or later (Num 32:23).
10:10 He who winks an eye gives sorrow The wink is a sign of secret scheming (6:13). The second line repeats verse 8: the fool's chatter undoes him.
10:11 The mouth of a righteous one is a fountain of life The words of the righteous refresh people like a spring in the desert. The words of the wicked cover plans to harm.
10:12 love covers over all transgressions Hatred digs up old wrongs and keeps the fight going. Love lets them go. Peter draws on this verse (1 Pet 4:8). It does not mean love hides crimes or ignores abuse. It means love forgives, does not keep score and does not spread a person's faults around (17:9).
10:13 a rod is for the back of one lacking sense The fool will not learn from words, so he learns from pain.
10:14 Wise ones store up knowledge The wise keep knowledge for the right time. The fool says everything he thinks, and ruin is never far away.
10:15 The wealth of a rich man is the town of his strength An observation, not a command. Money gives a kind of protection, like a walled town, and poverty leaves people exposed to every trouble. Proverbs also warns that wealth is a false security if we trust in it (11:28; 18:11).

16 The wages of the righteous is for life; the produce of the wicked is for sin. 17 A path to life is he who keeps discipline, and he who forsakes rebuke leads astray.

The Lips of the Righteous

18 He who conceals hatred has lips of falsehood, and he who brings out slander, he is a fool. 19 In a multitude of words transgression does not cease, and he who restrains his lips acts prudently. 20 The tongue of the righteous is choice silver; the heart of the wicked is like a little thing. 21 The lips of the righteous feed many, and fools die by lack of heart. 22 The blessing of the LORD, it makes rich, and He does not add sorrow with it. 23 To do a wicked scheme is like sport for a fool, and wisdom for a man of understanding. 24 The dread of the wicked, it will come to him, and the desire of the righteous will be given. 25 When a storm-wind passes by, then the wicked is no more; and a righteous one is an everlasting foundation. 26 Like vinegar to the teeth and like smoke to the eyes, so is the sluggard to those who send him. 27 The fear of the LORD adds days, and the years of the wicked will be short. 28 The expectation of the righteous is joy, and the hope of the wicked will perish. 29 The way of the LORD is a stronghold for integrity, and ruin for those who do evil. 30 The righteous will never be shaken, and the wicked will not dwell in the land. 31 The mouth of a righteous one will bear fruit of wisdom, and a tongue of perversities will be cut off. 32 The lips of the righteous know what is acceptable, and the mouth of the wicked knows perversities.

PROVERBS 11

Honest Scales and Integrity

1 Scales of deceit are an abomination of the LORD, and a perfect weight is His delight. 2 Pride comes, and shame comes; and with the modest is wisdom. 3 The integrity of the upright guides them, and the crookedness of the treacherous destroys them. 4 Wealth does not profit in the day of fury, and righteousness delivers from death. 5 The righteousness of a blameless one makes his way straight, and by his wickedness a wicked one falls. 6 The righteousness of the upright delivers them, and by the craving of the treacherous they are caught. 7 At the death of a wicked man hope will perish, and the expectation of strength has perished. 8 A righteous one is delivered from distress, and a wicked one comes in his place. 9 By the mouth a godless one ruins his neighbor, and by knowledge the righteous are delivered. 10 In the prosperity of the righteous a town rejoices, and when the wicked perish

10:16 the produce of the wicked is for sin What the righteous earn goes to good use. What the wicked gain feeds more sin (Rom 6:23).
10:17 he who forsakes rebuke leads astray The one who accepts correction walks the path of life and shows it to others. The one who refuses leads others astray with him.
10:18 he who brings out slander, he is a fool Whether you hide hatred behind a smile or spread it with gossip, both are wrong.
10:19 In a multitude of words transgression does not cease The more we talk, the more likely we are to sin with words. Be quick to hear and slow to speak (James 1:19).
10:21 The lips of the righteous feed many Godly words nourish people like food. Fools cannot even feed themselves.
10:22 The blessing of the LORD, it makes rich, and He does not add sorrow with it Riches gained by our own scheming often bring worry and pain. What God gives comes without that sting. This does not mean every believer will be wealthy. God's riches may be money or things money cannot buy: peace, family, joy and a clear conscience.
10:23 To do a wicked scheme is like sport for a fool The fool treats sin as a game. What we enjoy shows who we are.
10:25 a righteous one is an everlasting foundation When the storm came, only the house on the rock stood (Matt 7:24-27).
10:26 Like vinegar to the teeth and like smoke to the eyes A worker who cannot be trusted is a constant irritation to the one who depends on him.
10:27 The fear of the LORD adds days This shows how to read a proverb. As a general rule a God-fearing life avoids much that shortens life: violence, drunkenness, sexual sin, reckless anger and guilt. But it is not a promise for every case. Abel was murdered young (Gen 4:8), Stephen and James were killed early (Acts 7:59-60; 12:2), and some wicked men live long (Ps 73:3-12). Proverbs describes how God's world usually works. In the deepest sense the verse is always true: the one who fears the LORD has eternal life.
10:29 The way of the LORD is a stronghold for integrity, and ruin for those who do evil The same way of the LORD is safety for the upright and destruction for the wicked. God's ways do not change. What changes is how we stand toward them.
10:30 the wicked will not dwell in the land For Israel, staying in the land was the sign of God's blessing (2:21-22).
10:32 The lips of the righteous know what is acceptable The righteous know what is fitting to say: what will help, encourage or heal. By our words we will be justified or condemned (Matt 12:37).
11:1 Scales of deceit are an abomination of the LORD Goods were weighed on a balance against stone weights. A dishonest merchant might carry a heavy set for buying and a light set for selling. The Law forbade it (Lev 19:35-36; Deut 25:13-16). Cheating a customer, padding a bill or cutting corners on a job is not small to God.
11:2 Pride comes, and shame comes Pride and shame arrive together. Everyone who exalts himself will be humbled (Luke 14:11). The humble are wise because they are willing to learn.
11:3 The integrity of the upright guides them A person of integrity does not have to figure out each day which lie to tell. His character guides him.
11:4 Wealth does not profit in the day of fury The day of fury is the day God's judgment falls. No money can buy a way out then (Zeph 1:18).
11:6 by the craving of the treacherous they are caught Their desires become their snare.
11:7 At the death of a wicked man hope will perish Everything he lived for stays behind. For the believer, death is not the end of hope but the door to it (Phil 1:21).
11:8 a wicked one comes in his place Haman built gallows for Mordecai and was hanged on them himself (Esth 7:10).

there is a shout of joy. 11 By the blessing of the upright a town is exalted, and by the mouth of the wicked it is torn down. 12 He who despises his neighbor is lacking sense, and a man of understanding keeps quiet. 13 He who goes about as a slanderer reveals a secret, and one faithful of spirit conceals a matter. 14 When there is no guidance, a people falls, and victory is in a multitude of counselors. 15 He will surely be harmed, for he has stood surety for a stranger; and he who hates those who strike hands is secure.

Kindness and Generosity

16 A woman of grace lays hold of honor, and ruthless ones lay hold of wealth. 17 A man of steadfast love deals bountifully with his own soul, and a cruel one troubles his own body. 18 A wicked one makes wages of falsehood, and he who sows righteousness has a reward of truth. 19 True righteousness is for life, and he who pursues evil is for his own death. 20 Those perverse of heart are an abomination of the LORD, and those blameless of way are His delight. 21 Hand to hand, an evil one will not go unpunished, and the seed of the righteous will be delivered. 22 As a ring of gold in the nose of a pig, so is a woman beautiful and turning aside from discretion. 23 The desire of the righteous is only good; the hope of the wicked is fury. 24 There is one who scatters, and he is increased still; and one who withholds from uprightness, only to poverty. 25 A soul of blessing will be made fat, and he who gives water, he also will be given water. 26 He who withholds grain, the people curse him, and a blessing is for the head of him who sells grain. 27 He who diligently seeks good seeks favor, and he who seeks evil, it will come to him. 28 He who trusts in his wealth, he will fall, and like the leaf the righteous will bud. 29 He who troubles his household will inherit wind, and a fool will be a servant to the wise of heart. 30 The fruit of the righteous is a tree of life, and he who takes souls is wise. 31 Look, a righteous one is repaid on the earth; how much more a wicked one and a sinner!

11:11 By the blessing of the upright a town is exalted Godly people bless their cities by prayer, work and example. Wicked words tear a city apart. Believers are to seek the good of the place where they live (Jer 29:7).
11:13 He who goes about as a slanderer reveals a secret The gossip carries stories from house to house. A faithful friend can be trusted with what you tell him. Which kind of friend are you?
11:14 victory is in a multitude of counselors Rehoboam rejected the older men's counsel and lost most of his kingdom (1 Kgs 12:6-16). None of us sees everything. Families, churches and businesses need others' counsel too.
11:15 he has stood surety for a stranger The warning of 6:1-5 again. The one who refuses careless promises keeps himself safe.
11:16 A woman of grace lays hold of honor, and ruthless ones lay hold of wealth Both get what they go after, but honor is worth more (22:1). She is the opposite of the loud woman of chapters 7 and 9.
11:17 A man of steadfast love deals bountifully with his own soul Kindness blesses the one who shows it, and cruelty comes back on the cruel (Matt 5:7).
11:18 he who sows righteousness has a reward of truth The wages of the wicked look real but do not last. Righteousness is like seed sown, bringing a true and lasting harvest.
11:21 Hand to hand, an evil one will not go unpunished "Hand to hand" means you can count on it, as sure as a handshake. God's justice may seem slow, but it is sure.
11:22 As a ring of gold in the nose of a pig A gold nose ring was jewelry in that world. On a pig it is wasted. Beauty without good sense is the same, for women and for men. The beauty that matters to God is the hidden person of the heart (1 Pet 3:3-4).
11:24 There is one who scatters, and he is increased still It sounds backward, but generous people tend to be blessed, and stingy people often end up poorer in money, friends and joy (2 Cor 9:6). These are general truths, and the blessing comes in many forms, not only money. We do not give to get. We give because God has given to us (Luke 6:38).
11:25 he who gives water, he also will be given water The one who refreshes others will be refreshed.
11:26 He who withholds grain, the people curse him In a famine a merchant might hoard grain to drive up the price. God cares how we use what we have when others are in need.
11:28 He who trusts in his wealth, he will fall Money can disappear overnight. The rich are not to set their hope on uncertain riches but on God (1 Tim 6:17). The righteous are like a green leaf (Ps 1:3).
11:29 He who troubles his household will inherit wind The man who brings trouble on his own family through anger, folly or bad money choices ends up with nothing, like grabbing at the wind.
11:30 he who takes souls is wise The righteous life is like a tree of life, giving food and shade to others (3:18). "He who takes souls" here means one who wins people over, drawing them to wisdom and life. For believers this points to bringing people to Christ (Dan 12:3). The phrase can elsewhere mean taking a life, and some read it differently.
11:31 a righteous one is repaid on the earth; how much more a wicked one and a sinner If even the righteous are disciplined here, how much more will the wicked be judged? Peter quotes this verse in its Greek form (1 Pet 4:18). No one escapes God's justice. That is why we all need His mercy in Christ.
12:1 he who hates rebuke is stupid The word for stupid describes one like a dumb animal, who will not learn. If you want to grow, you have to welcome correction. It is a hard word, but a loving one.
12:3 the root of the righteous will not be shaken Wickedness may build something that looks strong, but it has no roots. The righteous are like a tree with deep roots (Ps 1:3; Jer 17:7-8).
12:4 A wife of strength is the crown of her husband The same phrase is used in 31:10: a woman of noble character, strong in faith, wisdom and work. She brings her husband honor. A wife who brings shame eats at him from the inside like a disease in the bones. The same is true of husbands. A godly spouse is one of God's greatest gifts.

The Tongue of the Wise

15 The way of a fool is right in his own eyes, and he who listens to counsel is wise. 16 A fool, his vexation is known on the day, and he who conceals shame is prudent. 17 He who breathes out faithfulness declares righteousness, and a witness of lies, deceit. 18 There is one who speaks rashly like thrusts of a sword, and the tongue of the wise is healing. 19 A lip of truth will be established forever, and a tongue of falsehood only for a moment. 20 Deceit is in the heart of those who devise evil, and for counselors of peace is joy. 21 No trouble will happen to the righteous, and the wicked are full of evil. 22 Lips of falsehood are an abomination of the LORD, and doers of faithfulness are His delight. 23 A prudent man conceals knowledge, and the heart of fools proclaims folly. 24 The hand of the diligent will rule, and slackness will be for forced labor. 25 Anxiety in the heart of a man bows it down, and a good word makes it glad. 26 A righteous one is more excellent than his neighbor, and the way of the wicked leads them astray. 27 Slackness does not roast its game, and the precious wealth of a man is diligence. 28 In the path of righteousness is life, and in the way of its pathway there is no death.

PROVERBS 13

Guarding the Mouth

1 A wise son hears the discipline of a father, and a mocker does not listen to rebuke. 2 From the fruit of the mouth of a man he eats good, and the soul of the treacherous is violence.

13:2 Prov 12:14; Prov 18:20; Prov 1:11-13,18,31

12:6 The words of the wicked are to lie in wait for blood Wicked words set traps, like the gang in chapter 1. The words of the upright rescue people.
12:9 Better is one lightly esteemed who has a servant than one who honors himself and lacks bread One of many "better" sayings. It is better to be ordinary with enough to live on than a show-off who cannot feed his family. Pride often spends what it does not have.
12:10 A righteous one knows the life of his animal The Law gave animals Sabbath rest (Exod 23:12) and forbade muzzling an ox at work (Deut 25:4). God cares for His creatures (Jonah 4:11), and those who love Him do too. How we treat those who cannot speak for themselves shows our heart.
12:11 he who pursues worthless things is lacking sense Steady, ordinary work puts food on the table. Chasing get-rich-quick schemes shows a lack of sense.
12:13 In the transgression of the lips is an evil snare A lie leads to another lie until the liar is trapped. Those who speak the truth find their way out of trouble.
12:14 the dealing of the hands of a man will be returned to him Our words and our work both come back to us (Gal 6:7).
12:15 The way of a fool is right in his own eyes The fool never doubts himself, so he never asks for advice. The wise man knows he can be wrong, so he listens.
12:16 he who conceals shame is prudent The fool shows his anger the moment he feels it. The prudent man can take an insult without striking back. That is not weakness. It is strength under control (16:32).
12:18 There is one who speaks rashly like thrusts of a sword, and the tongue of the wise is healing Most of us remember something cruel said to us years ago. Wise words can bind up a wound. Let only what builds up come out of our mouths (Eph 4:29).
12:19 a tongue of falsehood only for a moment Lies may work for a while, but they do not last. In the end God's truth will stand.
12:20 for counselors of peace is joy Blessed are the peacemakers (Matt 5:9).
12:21 No trouble will happen to the righteous Read alone, it sounds like a promise that nothing bad will happen to the godly. But Job lost almost everything (Job 1), Jesus said we will have trouble in the world (John 16:33), and Paul suffered greatly (2 Cor 11:23-27). As a general truth, the righteous avoid much of the harm the wicked bring on themselves. In the deepest sense no harm can destroy a child of God, and even trials work for our good (Rom 8:28, 38-39).
12:22 Lips of falsehood are an abomination of the LORD Lying is on the list of things the LORD hates (6:17, 19). God cannot lie (Titus 1:2), and Satan is the father of lies (John 8:44). When we lie, we act like the enemy.
12:23 A prudent man conceals knowledge The wise man does not have to show off all he knows. He waits for the right time.
12:24 slackness will be for forced labor Hard workers rise to lead. Joseph worked faithfully as a slave and a prisoner, and God raised him to rule Egypt (Gen 39:2-6, 22-23; 41:41).
12:25 Anxiety in the heart of a man bows it down, and a good word makes it glad Many carry anxiety no one else can see. A kind word can lift that weight. Who needs a good word from you today? And we can cast our own cares on the Lord, because He cares for us (1 Pet 5:7).
12:26 A righteous one is more excellent than his neighbor The Hebrew of this line can be read more than one way. The SLB says the righteous man is more excellent than his neighbor: his life stands out from the people around him. Others read that he guides his neighbor or chooses friends with care. Either way, the righteous are careful about relationships.
12:27 Slackness does not roast its game The lazy hunter catches something and is too lazy to cook it. He starts things and never finishes. A man's most precious possession is the habit of hard work and follow-through.
12:28 in the way of its pathway there is no death Some see here one of the Old Testament's glimpses of life beyond the grave. I believe it is true in its fullest sense in Christ, who said whoever believes in Him will never die (John 11:25-26). Some scholars read it only as long life in this world.
13:1 a mocker does not listen to rebuke The difference between the wise son and the mocker is not how smart they are. It is whether they listen.

3 He who guards his mouth keeps his soul; he who opens wide his lips, ruin is for him. 4 The soul of a sluggard craves, and there is nothing, and the soul of the diligent will be made fat. 5 A righteous one hates a word of falsehood, and a wicked one acts odiously and acts shamefully. 6 Righteousness guards integrity of way, and wickedness subverts sin.
7 There is one who makes himself rich, and there is not anything; one who makes himself poor, and there is great wealth. 8 The ransom of the life of a man is his riches, and a poor one does not hear rebuke. 9 The light of the righteous

Walking With the Wise

12 Expectation deferred makes the heart sick, and a tree of life is desire that comes. 13 He who despises a word will be in pledge to it, and he who fears a commandment, he will be repaid. 14 The instruction of a wise one is a fountain of life, to turn aside from the snares of death. 15 Good insight gives favor, and the way of the treacherous is hard. 16 Every prudent one acts with knowledge, and a fool spreads out folly.
17 A wicked messenger falls into evil, and an envoy of faithfulness is healing. 18 Poverty and shame are for him who ignores discipline, and he who keeps rebuke is honored.
19 Desire fulfilled is sweet to the soul, and to turn aside from evil is an abomination of fools. 20 He who walks with wise ones will become wise, and he who associates with fools will be harmed. 21 Calamity pursues sinners, and good repays the righteous. 22 A good one leaves an inheritance to children of children, and the wealth of a sinner is stored up for the righteous. 23 Abundance of food is in the fallow ground of poor ones, and there is what is swept away for lack of justice.
24 He who withholds his rod hates his son, and he who loves him seeks him early with discipline. 25 A righteous one eats to the satisfying of his soul, and the belly of the wicked will lack.

13:3 He who guards his mouth keeps his soul Many have ruined a marriage, a friendship or a career with a few careless words. David prayed for a guard over his mouth (Ps 141:3).
13:4 The soul of a sluggard craves, and there is nothing The lazy man wants many things, but wanting is all he does. Wishing is not working.
13:6 wickedness subverts sin Righteousness guards the one who walks straight. "Sin" here stands for the sinner himself. His own wickedness brings him down.
13:7 one who makes himself poor, and there is great wealth Some pretend to be rich and have nothing but debt. Others live simply and have more than anyone knows. A person can be rich in this world and poor toward God, or poor here and rich in faith (Luke 12:21; James 2:5).
13:8 The ransom of the life of a man is his riches Riches make a man a target for robbers and kidnappers. The poor man has nothing anyone wants. Wealth has its own troubles.
13:9 the lamp of the wicked will be put out A lamp burning in a house meant someone lived there. A lamp put out meant the family was gone.
13:10 Only through pride does one give contention Pride is behind most quarrels. The proud must always be right. If you are in many fights, look for pride first, starting with your own.
13:11 Wealth from vanity will diminish Easy money from schemes, gambling or dishonest gain tends to slip away as fast as it came. Money gathered little by little by honest work tends to grow.
13:12 Expectation deferred makes the heart sick, and a tree of life is desire that comes Waiting for a child, for healing, for a prodigal to come home: the Bible does not pretend it is easy. Our greatest hope, Christ's return, seems long delayed to us, but it will surely come, and every longing will be satisfied (2 Pet 3:8-9; Rev 21:4).
13:13 He who despises a word will be in pledge to it The one who despises God's Word will have to pay for it, like a debtor on a pledge.
13:14 The instruction of a wise one is a fountain of life Almost the same words are used of the fear of the LORD in 14:27.
13:15 the way of the treacherous is hard The way of the treacherous is rough going, and it wears a person down. Either way, they do not win the favor good insight brings.
13:16 a fool spreads out folly Like a peddler laying out his goods, the fool puts his folly on display.
13:17 an envoy of faithfulness is healing In a world without phones or mail, a bad messenger could ruin a deal or start a war. The church is called to be faithful messengers of the good news (2 Cor 5:20).
13:19 to turn aside from evil is an abomination of fools Fools so love their evil that turning from it is unbearable, even to gain what would truly satisfy them.
13:20 He who walks with wise ones will become wise We become like the people we spend time with (1 Cor 15:33). Who are you walking with? Who are your children walking with? This does not mean we never spend time with unbelievers. Jesus ate with sinners to reach them (Luke 15:1-2). It means we choose carefully whose voices shape us most.
13:21 Calamity pursues sinners Trouble follows sinners like a hunter. This is the general pattern now, and in eternity it will be true without exception.
13:22 A good one leaves an inheritance to children of children A good man thinks of his grandchildren and leaves more than money: a good name and a godly example.
13:23 there is what is swept away for lack of justice The fields of the poor could produce plenty, but injustice takes it away. Proverbs does not blame all poverty on laziness. Sometimes others cheat the poor or deny them justice. God sees, and He cares (14:31; 22:22-23).
13:24 He who withholds his rod hates his son The rod was a picture of correction, and the father did use physical discipline. The point is love. A father who never corrects his child is failing him (3:11-12; Heb 12:6). This verse must never excuse anger, cruelty or abuse. Discipline in Proverbs is controlled and for the child's good (Eph 6:4). Godly parents differ on spanking today, but agree a loving parent must correct firmly and patiently. Anyone hurt as a child in the name of this verse should hear that it was wrong and not what God meant.
13:25 the belly of the wicked will lack The wicked never have enough. Contentment is a gift God gives to those who trust Him (Phil 4:11-13).

PROVERBS 14

The Wise Woman Builds Her House

1 The wise of women builds her house, and folly tears it down with her hands. 2 He who walks in his uprightness fears the LORD, and he who is devious in his ways despises Him. 3 In the mouth of a fool is a shoot of pride, and the lips of the wise will keep them. 4 When there are no cattle, the trough is clean, and abundance of produce is by the strength of an ox. 5 A witness of faithfulness will not lie, and a witness of falsehood breathes out lies. 6 A mocker seeks wisdom, and there is none, and knowledge is easy for a discerning one. 7 Go from before a man who is a fool, and you will not have known lips of knowledge. 8 The wisdom of a prudent one is to discern his way, and the folly of fools is deceit. 9 Fools mock guilt, and among the upright is favor. 10 A heart knows the bitterness of its own soul, and in its joy a stranger does not share. 11 The house of the wicked will be destroyed, and the tent of the upright will flourish. 12 There is a way right before a man, and its end is ways of death. 13 Even in laughter a heart is in pain, and its end, joy, is grief. 14 The backslider of heart will be satisfied from his ways, and a good man from himself. 15 A simple one believes every word, and a prudent one considers his step. 16 A wise one fears and turns aside from evil, and a fool is arrogant and confident. 17 One short of anger does folly, and a man of evil devices is hated. 18 The simple inherit folly, and the prudent surround themselves with knowledge. 19 Evil ones bow before good ones, and wicked ones at the gates of a righteous one.

The Poor and the Fear of the LORD

20 Even by his neighbor a poor one is hated, and those who love a rich one are many. 21 He who despises his neighbor sins, and he who shows favor to the humble, how blessed is he! 22 Do they not go astray, those who devise evil? And steadfast love and truth are for those who devise good. 23 In all toil there is profit, and a word of lips leads only to poverty. 24 The crown of the wise is their riches; the folly of fools is folly. 25 A witness of truth delivers souls, and he who breathes out lies is deceit. 26 In the fear of the LORD is confidence of strength, and for his children it will be a refuge. 27 The fear of the LORD is a fountain of life, to turn aside

14:27 Acts 9:31; Prov 13:14; Isa 33:6

14:1 The wise of women builds her house, and folly tears it down with her hands Most homes are not destroyed from outside. They are torn down from within, one choice at a time, and the same is true of husbands. Every day we are either building our homes or tearing them down.
14:2 he who is devious in his ways despises Him How we live shows what we think of God, whatever we say with our lips.
14:3 In the mouth of a fool is a shoot of pride Pride grows out of the fool's mouth like a shoot from a stump. His boasting and insults show what is inside.
14:4 When there are no cattle, the trough is clean No oxen, no mess, but also no one to plow. A clean barn means an empty harvest. A family, church or business that bears fruit will have some disorder. That is no reason to avoid it.
14:6 A mocker seeks wisdom, and there is none The mocker may go looking for wisdom but never finds it, because his heart is not humble enough to receive it.
14:7 Go from before a man who is a fool Do not stay around a fool hoping to learn something. Walk away (13:20).
14:9 Fools mock guilt Fools laugh at sin and make light of wrongdoing. A culture that mocks guilt is a culture of fools.
14:10 A heart knows the bitterness of its own soul No one else knows exactly how deep our grief goes or how high our joy rises, so we should be slow to say we know just how someone feels. But God sees every hidden sorrow (Ps 56:8), and Jesus our High Priest sympathizes with our weaknesses (Heb 4:15).
14:11 the tent of the upright will flourish The house will fall and the tent will flourish. What lasts is whether God's blessing is on a dwelling, not how strong it looks.
14:12 There is a way right before a man, and its end is ways of death Repeated word for word in 16:25. The way looks good and feels right, and many may walk it, but our hearts can deceive us (Jer 17:9). Many believe they will reach God by being good or following a religion. It seems right. But Jesus said, "No one comes to the Father except through Me" (John 14:6), and the broad way leads to destruction (Matt 7:13-14).
14:13 Even in laughter a heart is in pain A smile can hide a broken heart. Be gentle with people. Their laughter may not tell the whole story.
14:14 The backslider of heart will be satisfied from his ways The backslider turns away from God. He will get his fill of the way he chose (1:31).
14:15 A simple one believes every word The simple believe every rumor, sales pitch and story online. The prudent check before they step (1 John 4:1).
14:16 a fool is arrogant and confident The wise see danger and step back. The fool charges ahead, sure of himself.
14:17 One short of anger does folly The hot-tempered do foolish things in the heat of the moment. The schemer who plots coldly is hated. Neither is the way of wisdom.
14:19 Evil ones bow before good ones In the end evil bows to good. Joseph's brothers bowed before him (Gen 42:6), and one day every knee will bow before Jesus (Phil 2:10-11).
14:20 Even by his neighbor a poor one is hated An honest observation of human nature, not praise for it. People avoid the poor and crowd around the rich.
14:21 He who despises his neighbor sins Right after the observation comes God's verdict. Looking down on a neighbor, especially a poor one, is sin (James 2:1-9).
14:23 a word of lips leads only to poverty Hard work pays. Talk does not. Some spend all their energy talking about what they will do and never do it.
14:24 the folly of fools is folly Fools end where they began. Folly produces nothing but more folly.
14:25 A witness of truth delivers souls A truthful witness can save an innocent life. A lying witness's words can kill.
14:26 for his children it will be a refuge The fear of the LORD does not make a person timid. It makes him secure. A parent who fears the LORD gives his children a safe place to grow.
14:27 The fear of the LORD is a fountain of life Almost the same as 13:14, where the teaching of the wise is the fountain.

from the snares of death. 28 In the multitude of a people is the splendor of a king, and in the lack of people is the ruin of a ruler. 29 One long of anger is great of understanding, and one short of spirit exalts folly. 30 A heart of healing is the life of the flesh, and jealousy is rottenness of bones. 31 He who oppresses a poor one reproaches his Maker, and he who shows favor to a needy one honors Him. 32 By his evil a wicked one is thrust down, and a righteous one seeks refuge in his death. 33 In the heart of a discerning one wisdom rests, and in the inner part of fools it is made known.

A Soft Answer

1 A soft answer turns away rage, and a word of pain raises anger. 2 The tongue of the wise makes knowledge good, and the mouth of fools pours forth folly. 3 In every place are the eyes of the LORD, watching evil ones and good ones. 4 Healing of tongue is a tree of life, and perverseness in it is a breaking in spirit. 5 A fool spurns the discipline of his father, and he who keeps rebuke is prudent. 6 In the house of a righteous one is great wealth, and in the income of a wicked one is trouble. 7 The lips of the wise scatter knowledge, and the heart of fools is not right. 8 The sacrifice of the wicked is an abomination of the LORD, and the prayer of the upright is His delight. 9 The way of a wicked one is an abomination of the LORD, and he who pursues righteousness He loves. 10 Discipline is bad for him who forsakes the path; he who hates rebuke will die. 11 Sheol and Abaddon are before the LORD; how much more the hearts of the sons of mankind! 12 A mocker does not love one reproving him; to the wise he will not go. 13 A glad heart makes a face good, and by sorrow of heart a spirit is stricken. 14 A discerning heart seeks knowledge, and the mouth of fools feeds on folly. 15 All the days of an afflicted one are evil, and he who is good of heart has a feast continually.

14:28 In the multitude of a people is the splendor of a king A king's glory is in the people he rules, so good leaders serve them well. Jesus, the King of kings, will rule a great multitude from every nation (Rev 7:9).
14:29 One long of anger is great of understanding Long of anger means slow to anger, patient. God Himself is described this way (Exod 34:6). A quick temper puts folly on display.
14:30 jealousy is rottenness of bones A calm heart is good for the body. Envy eats at a person from the inside. Our inner life affects our health.
14:31 He who oppresses a poor one reproaches his Maker One of the strongest verses in Proverbs about the poor. Every poor person is made in God's image (Gen 1:27). To oppress them insults the God who made them. Whatever we do for the least of Jesus' brothers, we do for Him (Matt 25:40).
14:32 a righteous one seeks refuge in his death The righteous have a refuge even in death. This is one of the places in Proverbs that looks beyond the grave. For believers, death means being with the Lord (2 Cor 5:8).
14:33 in the inner part of fools it is made known Wisdom rests quietly in the wise. Fools cannot keep anything inside. The line is hard, and some read it to mean that even among fools wisdom makes itself known.
14:34 Righteousness exalts a nation, and sin is a shame to peoples A word for every nation. God raises nations and brings them down (Dan 2:21). Justice, honesty and care for the weak lift a nation up. Corruption, violence and injustice bring shame and in time ruin. Believers should pray for their nation and live righteously in it (1 Tim 2:1-2).
14:35 The favor of a king is for a servant who acts prudently Daniel served kings so well that they promoted him (Dan 6:3). Believers should be the best workers wherever they serve, because we serve the Lord Christ (Col 3:23-24).
15:1 A soft answer turns away rage A harsh reply throws fuel on a fire. Gideon calmed the angry men of Ephraim this way (Judg 8:1-3), and Abigail turned away David's wrath (1 Sam 25:23-35). A soft answer is not weakness. It takes more strength to answer gently than to lash out.
15:2 the mouth of fools pours forth folly The wise say things well, at the right time and in the right way. Words pour out of fools like water from a broken pipe.
15:3 In every place are the eyes of the LORD A warning to the wicked, who think they are hidden (Heb 4:13), and a comfort to the righteous, whose suffering and secret faithfulness God sees (Matt 6:4). Hagar called Him the God who sees (Gen 16:13).
15:4 Healing of tongue is a tree of life Some carry for years the wounds of a parent's or spouse's harsh words. Our tongues can give life or break hearts.
15:6 in the income of a wicked one is trouble The righteous may or may not have much money, but their house is rich in what matters.
15:8 The sacrifice of the wicked is an abomination of the LORD God hates even a costly offering from a heart that is not right (Isa 1:11-17; Amos 5:21-24). To obey is better than sacrifice (1 Sam 15:22). But the simple prayer of an upright person delights Him.
15:9 he who pursues righteousness He loves God hates the sacrifice of the wicked because He hates their way of life. Worship cannot cover living. "Pursues" shows that righteousness is something we go after (1 Tim 6:11).
15:11 Sheol and Abaddon are before the LORD Sheol is the place of the dead, and Abaddon means destruction, another name for it (Job 26:6). If God sees into the grave, He certainly sees into our hearts (Ps 139:1-4).
15:12 to the wise he will not go The mocker keeps around people who tell him what he wants to hear.
15:13 A glad heart makes a face good What is in our hearts shows on our faces. The Bible is honest that sorrow is real and it hurts.
15:14 the mouth of fools feeds on folly We all feed on something. What are you feeding your mind on?
15:15 he who is good of heart has a feast continually For the crushed, every day feels hard. A cheerful heart can turn even a plain day into a feast. Paul and Silas sang in prison (Acts 16:25). Joy in the Lord does not depend on what is happening around us (Phil 4:4).
15:16 Better is a little with the fear of the LORD than great treasure and turmoil with it A small income with God's peace is worth more than great wealth with worry. Godliness with contentment is great gain (1 Tim 6:6).

sure and turmoil with it. 17 Better is a portion of vegetables and love there than a fattened ox and hatred with it. 18 A man of rage stirs up strife, and one long of anger quiets a dispute. 19 The way of a sluggard is like a hedge of thorns, and the path of the upright is built up. 20 A wise son makes a father glad, and a fool of a man despises his mother. 21 Folly is joy to one lacking sense, and a man of understanding makes his walking straight. 22 Plans go wrong when there is no counsel, and in a multitude of counselors it is established. 23 Joy belongs to the man in the answer of his mouth, and a word in its time, how good! 24 The path of life is upward for one who acts prudently, so as to turn aside from Sheol beneath. 25 The house of the proud the LORD tears down, and He will establish the border of a widow. 26 The plans of an evil one are an abomination of the LORD, and words of pleasantness are clean. 27 He who gains unjust gain troubles his own house, and he who hates gifts will live. 28 The heart of a righteous one considers to answer, and the mouth of the wicked pours forth evil things. 29 The LORD is far from the wicked, and the prayer of the righteous He hears. 30 Light of eyes makes a heart glad; a good report fattens the bone. 31 An ear that hears the rebuke of life will remain in the midst of the wise. 32 He who ignores discipline rejects his own soul, and he who hears rebuke acquires heart. 33 The fear of the LORD is the discipline of wisdom, and before honor is humility.

15:17 Better is a portion of vegetables and love there than a fattened ox and hatred with it What makes a home rich is not what is on the table, but who is around it and how they treat each other.
15:18 one long of anger quiets a dispute Every family, church and workplace needs people who are slow to anger. Man's anger does not produce God's righteousness (James 1:20).
15:19 The way of a sluggard is like a hedge of thorns To the lazy man every task looks like a thorn bush, and there is always a reason it cannot be done. The road of the upright is a raised, smooth highway.
15:20 a fool of a man despises his mother The first line repeats 10:1. The second goes further: the fool looks down on his mother. Children of any age should honor their parents (Exod 20:12).
15:22 Plans go wrong when there is no counsel Plans checked with many wise counselors tend to succeed (11:14). Before a big decision, ask godly people what they think.
15:23 a word in its time, how good Timing matters. The right word at the right moment can change a life (25:11).
15:24 The path of life is upward for one who acts prudently The road of the wise leads up toward life, the road of the fool down to the grave. In the New Testament we learn the end of the wise is life with God forever (Col 3:1-4).
15:25 He will establish the border of a widow A greedy neighbor might move the boundary stones of a widow's field and steal her land. The Law forbade it (Deut 19:14). The LORD Himself guards her border. He is the defender of the weak (Ps 68:5).
15:27 he who hates gifts will live The gifts are bribes. Achan's greed brought death on his house (Josh 7:24-26). The one who refuses bribes keeps his life and his integrity.
15:28 The heart of a righteous one considers to answer The righteous weigh their words (1 Pet 3:15).
15:29 The LORD is far from the wicked, and the prayer of the righteous He hears God always hears the sinner who turns to Him in repentance (Luke 18:13-14). But those who live in rebellion should not expect Him to answer while they refuse to turn (Ps 66:18).
15:30 a good report fattens the bone Good news refreshes the whole body. The best news of all is the gospel.
15:32 he who hears rebuke acquires heart To refuse correction is to hurt yourself. To acquire heart is to gain sense.
15:33 before honor is humility The fear of the LORD is the school where wisdom is learned, and humility comes before honor. The way up is down. Jesus humbled Himself to the cross, and God highly exalted Him (Phil 2:8-9). Humble yourselves before the Lord, and He will lift you up (James 4:10).
16:1 from the LORD is the answer of the tongue We arrange our thoughts and plan what to say, but what comes out, and what it accomplishes, is in God's hands. Balaam set out to curse Israel and could only bless (Num 23:11-12).
16:2 the LORD weighs spirits We are good at seeing ourselves in the best light. God weighs our motives, the reasons behind what we do (1 Sam 16:7; 1 Cor 4:4-5).
16:3 Roll your works to the LORD Picture rolling a heavy load off your back onto someone stronger. This does not promise that every plan will succeed. Plans handed to God that fit His will are established (1 Pet 5:7).
16:4 also the wicked for a day of evil Everything God made has its purpose and end, and even the wicked do not escape His plan. God does not make anyone sin (James 1:13), and He takes no pleasure in the death of the wicked (Ezek 33:11). But He rules over evil, and the wicked will meet their day of judgment. Teachers in different traditions weigh this verse differently.
16:5 hand to hand, he will not go unpunished As sure as a handshake on a deal. The proud will be punished, even if they join hands with others to protect themselves (11:21).
16:6 By steadfast love and truth iniquity is atoned for To atone is to cover and pay for sin. In Israel atonement came through the sacrifices God gave, and they pointed ahead to the cross, where God's love and truth met and Jesus paid for sin once for all (Heb 10:10). Then the fear of the LORD keeps us turning from evil.
16:7 even his enemies He causes to be at peace with him God turned Esau's heart toward Jacob (Gen 33:4). This is the usual pattern, not a promise of no enemies. Jesus pleased His Father perfectly and was still crucified (2 Tim 3:12).

enemies He causes to be at peace with him. 8 Better is a little with righteousness than abundance of produce without justice. 9 The heart of a man plans his way, and the LORD directs his step. 10 Divination is on the lips of a king; in judgment his mouth will not act unfaithfully. 11 A balance and scales of justice belong to the LORD; all the weights of the bag are His work. 12 To do wickedness is an abomination of kings, for by righteousness a throne is established. 13 Lips of righteousness are the delight of kings, and he who speaks upright things he loves. 14 The rage of a king is messengers of death, and a wise man will appease it. 15 In the light of the face of a king is life, and his favor is like a cloud of spring rain.

Pride Before a Fall

16 To acquire wisdom, how much better than gold! And to acquire understanding is to be chosen more than silver. 17 The highway of the upright is to turn aside from evil; he who guards his way keeps his soul. 18 Before breaking is pride, and before stumbling, haughtiness of spirit. 19 Better is to be lowly of spirit with the humble than to divide plunder with the proud. 20 He who gives attention to a word will find good, and he who trusts in the LORD, how blessed is he! 21 The wise of heart will be called discerning, and sweetness of lips increases learning. 22 Prudence is a fountain of life to its owners, and the discipline of fools is folly. 23 The heart of a wise one gives insight to his mouth, and upon his lips it adds learning. 24 Words of pleasantness are a honeycomb of honey, sweet to the soul and healing to the bone. 25 There is a way right before a man, and its end is ways of death. 26 The soul of a laborer labors for him, for his mouth presses on him. 27 A man of worthlessness digs up evil, and on his lip it is like a scorching fire. 28 A man of perversities sends out strife, and a whisperer separates a close friend. 29 A man of violence entices his neighbor and leads him in a way that is not good. 30 He who shuts his eyes does so to devise perversities; he who purses his lips accomplishes evil. 31 Gray hair is a crown of splendor; in the way of righteousness it is found. 32 Better is one long of anger than a mighty one, and he who rules over his spirit than he who captures a city. 33 Into the lap the lot is thrown, and from the LORD is its every judgment.

16:8 Better is a little with righteousness This verse alone shows that Proverbs does not promise riches to the righteous. Sometimes they have little, but they have it with a clean conscience (15:16).
16:9 The heart of a man plans his way, and the LORD directs his step One of the clearest verses on God's sovereignty, His right and power to rule over everything. Both halves are true: man really plans, and God really directs. Plan humbly, saying "If the Lord wills" (James 4:13-15). When our plans fall apart, God has not lost control (Gen 50:20).
16:10 Divination is on the lips of a king Not sorcery, which the Law forbade (Deut 18:10), but a weighty decision, as if from God. A king's word was final, so he must judge rightly. This describes what a king ought to be. Many failed.
16:11 all the weights of the bag are His work Merchants carried stone weights in a bag. Cheating in business is cheating against God (11:1).
16:12 by righteousness a throne is established A good king hates wrong because his throne rests on justice, and he values advisers who tell him the truth (v. 13).
16:14 The rage of a king is messengers of death The wise know how to calm an angry ruler, as Daniel did (Dan 2:14-16).
16:15 his favor is like a cloud of spring rain The late spring rain ripened the grain before harvest. If an earthly king's favor matters so much, how much more the favor of the King of kings?
16:16 To acquire wisdom, how much better than gold Gold stays behind when we die. Wisdom shapes who we are forever (3:14; 8:10-11).
16:17 The highway of the upright is to turn aside from evil The upright walk a raised, well-made road that goes around evil, not through it.
16:18 Before breaking is pride The source of our saying that pride goes before a fall. Pharaoh, Haman, Nebuchadnezzar and Herod all show it (Esth 7:10; Dan 4:30-33; Acts 12:21-23). Pride blinds us to the edge we are walking toward.
16:19 Better is to be lowly of spirit with the humble Better humble and poor than sharing the gains of the proud. God opposes the proud and gives grace to the humble (James 4:6).
16:20 he who trusts in the LORD, how blessed is he Listening to God's word and trusting the LORD go together (Ps 1:1-2).
16:21 sweetness of lips increases learning Truth spoken harshly is often rejected. Truth spoken kindly is often heard.
16:23 The heart of a wise one gives insight to his mouth Wise words start in a wise heart (Luke 6:45).
16:24 Words of pleasantness are a honeycomb of honey Kind words taste good and do good, reaching the inner person and even helping the body. Who needs a sweet word from you this week?
16:25 There is a way right before a man Word for word as 14:12. Saying it twice makes it stronger. A road can look right, feel right and be popular, and still end in death. Only God's Word shows the true way (John 14:6).
16:26 The soul of a laborer labors for him Hunger keeps a worker working. Need teaches us to work (2 Thess 3:10).
16:27 A man of worthlessness digs up evil He goes digging for dirt on others, and his words burn like fire (James 3:6).
16:28 a whisperer separates a close friend A whisperer is a gossip. A few quiet words in the right ear can split the closest friends. Do not be the whisperer, and do not listen to one.
16:30 He who shuts his eyes does so to devise perversities Closed eyes and pressed lips are the face of a man plotting (6:13-14).
16:31 Gray hair is a crown of splendor Israel honored the aged (Lev 19:32). Our world chases youth. God honors age that has walked with Him. As with 10:27, this is a general truth.
16:32 he who rules over his spirit than he who captures a city Self-control takes more strength than winning a battle. A man can conquer a city and still be a slave to his temper (Gal 5:22-23).
16:33 Into the lap the lot is thrown, and from the LORD is its every judgment The lot was like casting dice or drawing straws. Israel used it to divide the land (Josh 18:10), and the apostles to choose Matthias (Acts 1:26). Nothing is chance with God. The chapter began with the LORD giving the answer of the tongue and ends with Him deciding the lot. This does not make us puppets, since the chapter also calls us to plan and choose wisely. But it lets us rest (Rom 8:28).

rule over a son who acts shamefully, and in the midst of brothers he will share the inheritance. 3 A crucible is for silver, and a furnace for gold, and the LORD tests hearts. 4 An evildoer pays attention to a lip of trouble; falsehood gives ear to a tongue of destructions. 5 He who mocks the poor reproaches his Maker; he who is glad at calamity will not go unpunished. 6 Children of children are the crown of old men, and the splendor of children is their fathers. 7 A lip of excellence is not fitting for a senseless one; how much less for a noble a lip of falsehood! 8 The bribe is a stone of favor in the eyes of its owners; to all that it turns, it prospers. 9 He who covers a transgression seeks love, and he who repeats a matter separates a close friend. 10 A rebuke goes deeper into one who understands than striking a fool a hundred times.
11 An evil one seeks only rebellion, and a cruel messenger will be sent against him. 12 Let a bear robbed of cubs meet a man, and not a fool in his folly. 13 He who returns evil for good, evil will not depart from his house.

A Friend Loves at Every Time

14 One who lets out water is the beginning of strife; and before the dispute breaks out, abandon it. 15 He who justifies the wicked and he who condemns the righteous, even both of them are an abomination of the LORD. 16 Why is this, a price in the hand of a fool to acquire wisdom, and there is no heart? 17 At every time the friend loves, and a brother is born for adversity. 18 A man lacking sense strikes a palm, pledging a pledge before his neighbor. 19 He who loves transgression loves contention; he who makes his entrance high seeks breaking. 20 One twisted of heart will not find good, and one perverted in his tongue will fall into trouble.
21 He who fathers a fool does so to his grief, and the father of a senseless one does not rejoice. 22 A glad heart makes healing good, and a stricken spirit dries up the bone. 23 A wicked one accepts a bribe from the bosom to turn aside the paths of justice. 24 Wisdom is before the face of one who has under-17:1 than a house full of sacrifices of strife The sacrifices are the feast after a peace offering, when the family ate meat together (7:14). Peace in the home is worth more than plenty in it (15:17).

17:2 A servant who acts prudently will rule over a son who acts shamefully Character counts for more than birth. Abraham once thought his servant Eliezer would be his heir (Gen 15:2-3). God honors faithfulness, whatever our station.

17:3 the LORD tests hearts A crucible is a pot that can take great heat. The refiner heats the metal until the impurities rise to be skimmed away. God tests our hearts through trials, not to destroy us but to purify us (1 Pet 1:6-7; Mal 3:3). If you are in the furnace, remember who is watching the fire.

17:4 An evildoer pays attention to a lip of trouble What we like to hear says a lot about us.

17:5 he who is glad at calamity will not go unpunished To mock the poor insults their Maker (14:31). To be glad when anyone suffers, even an enemy, invites God's judgment (24:17-18).

17:6 Children of children are the crown of old men Each generation can be a crown to the other. Fathers, live so that your children can be proud of you.

17:7 how much less for a noble a lip of falsehood Fine words do not fit a fool. Lies fit a leader even less.

17:8 The bribe is a stone of favor in the eyes of its owners An observation, not an approval. The briber thinks of his gift as a lucky charm that opens every door, and in a crooked world it often works. Verse 23 says what God thinks of it.

17:9 He who covers a transgression seeks love Covering a wrong means forgiving it and not bringing it up again (10:12). This is not about covering crime or abuse. It is about the small hurts every friendship has.

17:10 A rebuke goes deeper into one who understands than striking a fool a hundred times Which are you when someone corrects you?

17:12 Let a bear robbed of cubs meet a man, and not a fool in his folly A mother bear robbed of her cubs is about as dangerous as anything in nature (2 Sam 17:8). A fool in full folly is worse.

17:13 He who returns evil for good, evil will not depart from his house David repaid Uriah's loyalty with murder, and the sword never left his house (2 Sam 12:10). We are called to the opposite: return good for evil (Rom 12:17-21).

17:14 One who lets out water is the beginning of strife A small leak in a dam soon becomes a flood. The wise walk away before a quarrel begins. Not every hill is worth fighting on.

17:15 He who justifies the wicked and he who condemns the righteous To justify is to declare someone in the right, and judges who twist this are hateful to God (Deut 25:1; Isa 5:23). How then can God justify sinners? Paul answers: God is "righteous and the One justifying the one who is of faith of Jesus" (Rom 3:26). Our guilt was not ignored. Christ paid for it on the cross.

17:16 a price in the hand of a fool to acquire wisdom, and there is no heart "Heart" often means sense. Money cannot buy wisdom where there is no desire to learn (2:1-5).

17:17 At every time the friend loves, and a brother is born for adversity A true friend loves when you are up and when you are down, as Jonathan loved David (1 Sam 18:1-3; 20:17). Many see a picture of Jesus, who calls us friends (John 15:13-15) and is not ashamed to call us brothers (Heb 2:11). Am I that kind of friend to anyone?

17:18 A man lacking sense strikes a palm Striking hands guaranteed another's debt (6:1-5; 11:15). Helping the needy is not wrong. Promising to pay a debt you cannot afford is foolish.

17:19 he who makes his entrance high seeks breaking This may mean a man who builds a showy gate to display his wealth, or one who opens his mouth proudly. Either way, pride invites a crash.

17:21 He who fathers a fool does so to his grief Raising a child who rejects wisdom is one of life's deepest griefs. God knows it too (Isa 1:2).

17:22 A glad heart makes healing good A cheerful heart is good medicine. This is not a cure for every illness, and depression is not simply a lack of cheer. But joy in the Lord truly strengthens us (Neh 8:10).

17:23 A wicked one accepts a bribe from the bosom Slipped out of a fold in the robe, out of sight, to bend justice. Verse 8 told how bribes look to their users. This verse says what they are (Exod 23:8).

17:24 the eyes of a fool are on the end of the earth Wisdom is right in front of us, in the plain duties of today. The fool is always dreaming of somewhere far away and missing what is in front of him.

standing, and the eyes of a fool are on the end of the earth. 25 A son who is a fool is vexation to his father and bitterness to her who bore him. 26 Also to fine a righteous one is not good, nor to strike nobles for uprightness. 27 He who restrains his words knows knowledge, and one precious of spirit is a man of understanding. 28 Even a fool who keeps silent is considered wise; he who shuts his lips, discerning.

Words Like Deep Waters

1 One who separates himself seeks for his own desire; against all sound wisdom he breaks out. 2 A fool does not delight in understanding, but only in his heart revealing itself. 3 When a wicked one comes, contempt also comes, and with dishonor, reproach. 4 Deep waters are the words of the mouth of a man; a flowing torrent, a fountain of wisdom. 5 To lift up the face of a wicked one is not good, nor to turn aside a righteous one in judgment. 6 The lips of a fool go into strife, and his mouth calls for blows. 7 The mouth of a fool is ruin to him, and his lips are the snare of his soul. 8 The words of a whisperer are like delicacies, and they go down into the chambers of the belly. 9 Also one who shows himself slack in his work, he is a brother to a master of destruction.

The Name of the LORD Is a Tower

10 A tower of strength is the name of the LORD; into it a righteous one runs and is set on high. 11 The wealth of a rich man is the town of his strength, and like a wall set on high in his imagination. 12 Before breaking, the heart of a man is haughty, and before honor is humility. 13 He who returns a word before he hears, it is folly to him and shame. 14 The spirit of a man will sustain his sickness, and a stricken spirit, who will bear it? 15 A discerning heart acquires knowledge, and the ear of the wise seeks knowledge. 16 The gift of a man makes room for him, and it leads him before the great. 17 The first in his case is righteous, and his neighbor comes and examines him. 18 The lot causes contentions to cease, and it separates between the mighty. 19 A brother transgressed against is more than a town of strength, and contentions are like the bar of a fortress. 20 From the fruit of the mouth of a man his belly is satisfied; with the produce of his lips he is satisfied. 21 Death and life are in the hand of the tongue, and those who love it will eat its fruit. 22 He who

17:26 to fine a righteous one is not good Punishing people for doing right turns justice upside down. It happened most of all to Jesus (1 Pet 2:22-23).
17:27 one precious of spirit is a man of understanding The wise do not say everything they think. "Precious of spirit" may also be read cool of spirit, calm.
17:28 Even a fool who keeps silent is considered wise Almost funny, but true. Silence hides a lot of foolishness. If you are not sure what to say, sometimes the wisest thing is to say nothing (James 1:19).
18:1 One who separates himself seeks for his own desire The man who cuts himself off from others usually does it so no one can tell him no. God made us for community (Heb 10:24-25). Time alone with God is good. Cutting ourselves off from all counsel is not.
18:2 only in his heart revealing itself The fool only wants to air his own opinions. Some people do not listen in a conversation. They just wait for their turn to talk.
18:4 Deep waters are the words of the mouth of a man Words can have more meaning than appears on the surface. From a wise heart they are like a flowing stream that keeps refreshing those who hear (20:5).
18:5 To lift up the face of a wicked one is not good To lift up the face means to show favor. A judge must not favor the guilty or deny the innocent their rights (17:15; James 2:1-4).
18:7 his lips are the snare of his soul The fool's own words trap him. He is his own worst enemy.
18:8 The words of a whisperer are like delicacies Gossip tastes good, and once we swallow it, it goes deep and stays. It is hard to stop listening and hard to forget. The best cure is to refuse the first bite (26:22).
18:9 he is a brother to a master of destruction One tears down; the other lets things fall down. Neglect does as much damage as vandalism.
18:10 A tower of strength is the name of the LORD A strong tower was a city's last place of safety when enemies broke in. The name of the LORD stands for God Himself, all He has shown Himself to be (Exod 34:5-7). This does not promise that believers never suffer. It promises a refuge no enemy can finally reach (Ps 18:2; Rom 8:35-39). There is salvation in no other name than Jesus (Acts 4:12).
18:11 like a wall set on high in his imagination Set beside verse 10. The rich man has a tower too, his money. The first line is 10:15, but now his wall is high only in his imagination. Wealth cannot stop death or judgment (11:4; Luke 12:16-21). Two towers. Only one is real.
18:12 before honor is humility As in 16:18 and 15:33. God brings down the proud and lifts up the humble (1 Pet 5:5-6).
18:13 He who returns a word before he hears How many arguments happen because someone did not listen first? Listen to the end before you answer.
18:14 a stricken spirit, who will bear it Inner wounds can be harder to bear than outer ones. Be gentle with someone whose spirit is crushed. The Lord is near to the brokenhearted (Ps 34:18).
18:16 The gift of a man makes room for him A gift opens doors. It can be a bribe (17:23) or an honest present, as Jacob sent Esau (Gen 32:20) and Abigail brought David (1 Sam 25:27). Our motive decides whether it is right.
18:17 The first in his case is righteous The first to tell his side sounds right until the other side speaks. Wise counsel for judges, parents, church leaders and anyone who hears a complaint: never decide on one side of a story.
18:18 The lot causes contentions to cease When two strong men could not settle a matter, the lot ended the fight, because it was in God's hands (16:33).
18:19 A brother transgressed against is more than a town of strength It is easier to take a walled city than to win back a brother you have hurt. Be slow to offend and quick to make it right (Matt 5:23-24).
18:21 Death and life are in the hand of the tongue Words can crush a child's spirit or build it up, spread lies that ruin a man or the gospel that saves him. Those who love to talk will eat the fruit of their talk, sweet or bitter (James 3:5-6).
18:22 He who finds a wife finds a good thing Marriage is God's good gift (Gen 2:18). This does not mean every man must marry or that a single person lacks God's favor. Paul speaks well of singleness for those called to it (1 Cor 7:7-8). But a husband should thank God for his wife (19:14; 31:10).

finds a wife finds a good thing, and obtains favor from the LORD. 23 A poor one speaks supplications, and a rich one answers strong things. 24 A man of companions is to be shattered, and there is one who loves who clings more than a brother.

Wealth, Poverty and Friends

1 Better is a poor one who walks in his integrity than one perverse of his lips, and he is a fool. 2 Also without knowledge a soul is not good, and he who hastens with his feet misses. 3 The folly of a man subverts his way, and his heart rages against the LORD. 4 Wealth adds many friends, and a poor one is separated from his friend. 5 A witness of falsehoods will not go unpunished, and he who breathes out lies will not escape. 6 Many entreat the face of a noble, and everyone is the friend of a man of gift. 7 All the brothers of a poor one hate him; how much more do his companions go far from him! He pursues with words; they are to him. 8 He who acquires heart loves his soul; he who keeps understanding is to find good. 9 A witness of falsehoods will not go unpunished, and he who breathes out lies will perish. 10 Luxury is not fitting for a fool; how much less for a servant to rule over princes! 11 The prudence of a man makes his anger long, and his splendor is to pass over transgression. 12 A roaring like the young lion is the rage of a king, and like dew on vegetation is his favor. 13 Destructions to his father is a son who is a fool, and a continual dripping are the contentions of a wife. 14 House and wealth are an inheritance of fathers, and from the LORD is a wife who acts prudently.

The Counsel of the LORD Will Stand

15 Laziness makes deep sleep fall, and a soul of slackness will be hungry. 16 He who keeps a commandment keeps his soul; he who despises his ways will die. 17 A lender to the LORD is he who shows favor to a poor one, and his recompense He will repay to him. 18 Discipline your son, for there is hope, and do not lift up your soul to putting him to death. 19 One great of rage bears the penalty; for if you rescue him, then you will add again. 20 Listen to counsel and accept discipline, so that you may become wise in your end. 21 Many are the plans in the heart of a man, and the counsel of the LORD, it will stand. 22 The desire of a man is his steadfast love, and

19:22 Mark 12:43; Mark 14:6-8; 1 Chr 29:2,3,17

18:23 a rich one answers strong things An observation, not an approval. Money can make people hard. God hears the poor when others brush them off.
18:24 there is one who loves who clings more than a brother A man with many casual companions may still come to ruin, because they will not stand with him when it counts. Better one true friend who sticks closer than a brother. Many believers see the fullest such friend in Jesus (John 15:15; Heb 13:5).
19:1 Better is a poor one who walks in his integrity A man with little money and a clean life is richer than a smooth-talking fool (28:6).
19:2 he who hastens with his feet misses Zeal without knowledge is not good (Rom 10:2). Slow down long enough to learn the right way.
19:3 his heart rages against the LORD A man ruins his life by his own choices and then blames God. Adam blamed God for giving him Eve (Gen 3:12). Before we get angry at God for our trouble, we should ask whether we brought it on ourselves.
19:4 Wealth adds many friends This is how the world often works, not how it should.
19:5 A witness of falsehoods will not go unpunished Lying in court breaks the Ten Commandments (Exod 20:16). The liar may fool a judge but not God. Verse 9 repeats it with a stronger ending: he will perish.
19:6 everyone is the friend of a man of gift People crowd around the powerful and generous, often hoping to get something. Such friends are not true friends (18:24).
19:7 He pursues with words; they are to him The last line is hard in Hebrew. It seems to mean the poor man chases his friends with pleading words, but they are gone. Jesus was not like this. He drew near to the poor (Luke 4:18).
19:8 He who acquires heart loves his soul To get wisdom is to love yourself in the right way.
19:10 how much less for a servant to rule over princes Position without character is dangerous (30:21-22).
19:11 his splendor is to pass over transgression Good sense makes a man slow to anger, and it is his glory to overlook an offense. That does not mean pretending sin does not matter. It means not taking every slight personally and forgiving freely, as God forgave us (Eph 4:32).
19:12 like dew on vegetation is his favor A king's anger is as fearful as a lion's roar, his favor as refreshing as dew (16:14-15).
19:13 a continual dripping are the contentions of a wife Like a roof that drips and drips (27:15). The same is true of a quarrelsome husband. A home without peace wears everyone down.
19:14 from the LORD is a wife who acts prudently A man can inherit a house from his father. A wise wife is a gift only God can give (18:22).
19:15 Laziness makes deep sleep fall The lazy man drifts along until he wakes up hungry.
19:17 A lender to the LORD is he who shows favor to a poor one One of the most beautiful verses in Proverbs. Kindness to the poor is a loan to God, and God always pays back. Whatever we do for the least of Jesus' brothers, we do for Him (Matt 25:40; Luke 12:33). The repayment may come in this life or the next, in His own form and time. It is not a scheme to get rich, but a promise that God will not forget (Heb 6:10).
19:18 Discipline your son, for there is hope Correct a child while he is young. The second line may mean, do not let anger go so far that you harm him, or, do not by neglect let him go on to a road that ends in death. Either way it calls for loving, timely correction, not rage (Eph 6:4).
19:19 if you rescue him, then you will add again Bail out a hot-tempered man once and you will do it again and again. Sometimes love lets a person face the results of his choices so he can learn.
19:20 so that you may become wise in your end Wisdom grows over a lifetime of listening. The goal is to be wise at the end, not only clever at the start.
19:21 the counsel of the LORD, it will stand Like 16:9. It humbles us, because our plans may fail, and comforts us, because God's purpose never does (Isa 46:10). Plan, but hold your plans loosely.
19:22 The desire of a man is his steadfast love What people value most in a person is loyal kindness, so a poor man who is true beats a rich liar. The line may also mean that a man's real desire shows in his kindness.

PROVERBS 20

Wine Is a Mocker

1 Wine is a mocker, strong drink is noisy, and anyone who strays by it is not wise. 2 A roaring like the young lion is the terror of a king; he who infuriates him sins against his own life. 3 Honor to the man is ceasing from strife, and every fool breaks out. 4 From winter a sluggard does not plow; and he asks in the harvest, and there is nothing. 5 Counsel in the heart of a man is deep waters, and a man of understanding will draw it out. 6 A multitude of men, each proclaims his steadfast love; and a man of faithfulness, who will find? 7 A righteous one who goes about in his integrity, how blessed are his sons after him! 8 A king who sits on a throne of judgment winnows all evil with his eyes. 9 Who will say, "I have made my heart pure; I am clean from my sin"? 10 A weight and a weight, an ephah and an ephah, even both of them are an abomination of the LORD. 11 Even by his deeds a youth makes himself known, whether his work is pure and whether it is upright. 12 An ear that hears and an eye that sees, the LORD has made even both of them. 13 Do not love sleep, lest you become poor; open your eyes, be satisfied with bread. 14 "Bad, bad," says the buyer; and he goes his way, then he boasts. 15 There is gold and an abundance of jewels, and a vessel of preciousness are lips of knowledge.

20:17 Prov 9:17,18; Eccl 11:9; Heb 11:25

19:23 he will not be visited with evil A general truth. Believers face trouble (John 16:33), but no evil can finally harm one who belongs to God (Rom 8:28).
19:24 A sluggard hides his hand in the dish A funny picture on purpose. He is too lazy to lift the food to his mouth. Laziness can grow until it is ridiculous (26:15).
19:25 You strike a mocker, and a simple one becomes prudent The mocker may not learn from punishment, but the simple one watching does. The discerning learn from a word alone (21:11).
19:26 He who assaults a father and drives away a mother Honoring parents includes caring for them when they are old (Exod 20:12; 1 Tim 5:4, 8).
19:27 Cease, my son, to listen to discipline, to stray A sharp, almost ironic warning: stop listening to discipline and you will wander from knowledge. The father means, do not stop listening.
19:29 Judgments are prepared for the mockers Mockers laugh at judgment, but it is ready for them. God's justice may wait, but it comes (10:13; 26:3).
20:1 Wine is a mocker, strong drink is noisy Wine came from grapes; strong drink was beer or another drink from grain or fruit. Here they act like characters in the book: one a mocker, the other a brawler. "Strays by it" means staggers, led astray. Scripture plainly forbids drunkenness (Eph 5:18; 23:29-35). Believers differ on whether to drink in moderation (Ps 104:15; John 2:1-11) or not at all, for the dangers named here and the weaker brother (Rom 14:21). Both agree drink can deceive. If drink has a hold on you, get help. There is freedom in Christ.
20:3 Honor to the man is ceasing from strife Any fool can start a fight. The honorable thing is to stop one or stay out of it (Matt 5:9).
20:4 From winter a sluggard does not plow Plowing was done in the cold, rainy season. The lazy man stayed in, and at harvest there was nothing. Work done or not done in the hard season shows up later.
20:5 Counsel in the heart of a man is deep waters A person's true purposes can lie deep, like water in a well. A wise man draws them out with good questions and patient listening, a good word for parents, counselors and friends.
20:6 a man of faithfulness, who will find Many talk about how loyal they are. Few prove it. Faithfulness shows itself over time (31:10).
20:7 how blessed are his sons after him Children inherit a father's example, his good name and often God's kindness for his sake. The best thing a father can give his children is his own walk with God.
20:8 winnows all evil with his eyes A farmer winnowed grain by throwing it into the wind so the chaff blew away. A good king sees through evil and separates it out.
20:9 I have made my heart pure; I am clean from my sin No one honestly can say it. Placed right after the king who sees all evil, it humbles all of us (1 Kgs 8:46; Rom 3:23; 1 John 1:8). We cannot clean our own hearts. Only God can, through Christ. David prayed for a pure heart (Ps 51:10), and God forgives and cleanses those who confess (1 John 1:9).
20:10 A weight and a weight, an ephah and an ephah An ephah was a grain measure of a little over half a bushel. A dishonest merchant kept two sets, heavy for buying and light for selling. God hates cheating (Deut 25:13-16). The saying returns in verse 23.
20:11 Even by his deeds a youth makes himself known Even a child shows his character by what he does. Parents, watch what your children do, not only what they say.
20:12 An ear that hears and an eye that sees, the LORD has made even both of them The One who made ears and eyes surely hears and sees us (Ps 94:9). We should use them for Him.
20:14 "Bad, bad," says the buyer; and he goes his way, then he boasts A scene from the market. The buyer runs down the goods to get a lower price, then walks away bragging about his deal. Proverbs smiles, but it also exposes a small dishonesty most of us have practiced.
20:15 a vessel of preciousness are lips of knowledge Gold and jewels are common compared to wise words.
20:16 Take his garment, for he has stood surety for a stranger If a man is foolish enough to guarantee a stranger's debt, the lender should take his coat as a pledge, because he will probably end up owing (6:1-5; 27:13).
20:17 afterward his mouth will be filled with gravel Things gained by lying taste sweet at first and turn to gravel later. Sin always promises more than it gives.

filled with gravel. 18 Plans are established by counsel, and by guidance make war. 19 He who goes about as a slanderer reveals a secret, and with one who opens wide his lips do not get involved. 20 He who curses his father and his mother, his lamp will be put out in the pupil of darkness. 21 An inheritance gained hastily at the first, and its end will not be blessed. 22 Do not say, "I will repay evil"; wait for the LORD, and let Him save you. 23 An abomination of the LORD are a weight and a weight, and scales of deceit are not good. 24 From the LORD are the steps of a man; and mankind, how will he understand his way? 25 A snare to a man is that he says rashly, "Holy!" and after vows he begins to inquire. 26 A wise king winnows wicked ones, and he turns back a wheel over them. 27 The lamp of the LORD is the breath of mankind, searching all the chambers of the belly.
28 Steadfast love and truth preserve a king, and he sustains his throne by steadfast love. 29 The splendor of young men is their strength, and the majesty of old men is gray hair. 30 Stripes of a wound are a cleansing against evil, and blows, the chambers of the belly.

The King's Heart in the LORD's Hand

1 Streams of water is the heart of a king in the hand of the LORD; to all that He desires He turns it. 2 Every way of a man is upright in his eyes, and the LORD weighs hearts. 3 To do righteousness and justice is chosen by the LORD more than sacrifice. 4 Haughtiness of eyes and an arrogant heart, the lamp of wicked ones, is sin. 5 The plans of a diligent one are only to advantage, and everyone who hastens, only to poverty. 6 The acquiring of treasures by a tongue of falsehood is a vapor driven about, seekers of death. 7 The violence of wicked ones will drag them away, for they refuse to do justice. 8 Crooked is the way of a man who is guilty, and a pure one, his work is upright. 9 Better is to dwell on a corner of a roof than with a woman of contentions and a house of association. 10 The soul of a wicked one craves evil; his neighbor is not shown favor in his eyes. 11 When a mocker is punished, a simple one becomes wise; and when insight is given to a wise one, he receives knowledge. 12 A righteous

20:18 Plans are established by counsel Even the decision to go to war should be made with wise advice (15:22; 24:6; Luke 14:31).
20:19 with one who opens wide his lips do not get involved If he tells you other people's secrets, he will tell yours.
20:20 He who curses his father and his mother Under the Law cursing a parent was a capital crime (Exod 21:17). The lamp going out in deep darkness pictures a life and family line ending in ruin.
20:21 An inheritance gained hastily at the first Money grabbed early, as the prodigal grabbed his inheritance (Luke 15:12-13), or gained by schemes, usually does not end well.
20:22 Do not say, "I will repay evil"; wait for the LORD, and let Him save you Do not even say it. God will deliver you and deal with the wrong in His time (Rom 12:19). Leaving revenge to God is not weakness. It is faith.
20:24 From the LORD are the steps of a man We often cannot see why our lives go as they do. We do not have to understand every step to trust the One who orders them (16:9; Jer 10:23).
20:25 after vows he begins to inquire To call something holy was to set it apart for God as a gift or vow. The man promised quickly, then began asking whether he really had to keep it. Think first, promise second (Eccl 5:4). Jephthah is the sad example of a rash vow (Judg 11:30-35).
20:26 he turns back a wheel over them A threshing wheel was rolled over grain to break the husks. A wise ruler separates the wicked and deals with them firmly so evil does not spread (Rom 13:3-4).
20:27 The lamp of the LORD is the breath of mankind The human spirit, the breath God breathed into man (Gen 2:7), is a lamp God uses to search our inner parts. That inner light includes conscience. God sees into rooms of our hearts we hide even from ourselves (Heb 4:12-13), so we can never hide from Him, and we can ask Him to search us (Ps 139:23-24).
20:28 he sustains his throne by steadfast love A king lasts by loyal love and faithfulness, not force alone. The throne of Jesus, the Son of David, is established forever this way (Isa 16:5; Luke 1:32-33).
20:29 the majesty of old men is gray hair Each age has its glory: strength for the young, wisdom and experience for the old (16:31). A church needs both, and each should honor the other.
20:30 Stripes of a wound are a cleansing against evil Sometimes pain is what it takes to clean out evil, and hard correction reaches the inner person. God's discipline yields the fruit of righteousness (Heb 12:11). This speaks of the work of correction, not permission for cruelty.
21:1 Streams of water is the heart of a king in the hand of the LORD A farmer guided water to his crops through small channels, turning it with his hand. God turned the hearts of Pharaoh, Cyrus and Artaxerxes to carry out His plans (Exod 12:31; Ezra 1:1; Neh 2:8). Kings are responsible for their choices, yet God rules over them. No ruler is outside His reach, a comfort when we pray for leaders (1 Tim 2:1-2).
21:2 the LORD weighs hearts Close to 16:2. We all think we are right. God weighs what is really going on inside.
21:3 To do righteousness and justice is chosen by the LORD more than sacrifice God wanted the sacrifices offered, but never instead of obedience (1 Sam 15:22; Hos 6:6; Mic 6:6-8). Going to church does not cover a life of injustice.
21:4 the lamp of wicked ones, is sin Pride is the lamp the wicked walk by, first on the list of what the LORD hates (6:16-17).
21:5 everyone who hastens, only to poverty Careful planning usually pays. The get-rich-quick spirit usually ends in loss (28:20).
21:6 a vapor driven about, seekers of death Wealth gained by lying is mist blown by the wind. Those who chase it are chasing death.
21:7 The violence of wicked ones will drag them away The violence they use on others sweeps them away like fish dragged in a net.
21:9 Better is to dwell on a corner of a roof Flat roofs were used like a porch. Living alone in a corner up there in sun and rain beats sharing a house with a quarrelsome wife (25:24; v. 19). The same is true of a quarrelsome husband. These sayings are against strife, not against wives.
21:10 his neighbor is not shown favor in his eyes Sin makes a person cold toward others.
21:11 When a mocker is punished, a simple one becomes wise Close to 19:25. Better to be the one who learns from a word.
21:12 A righteous one gives attention to the house of a wicked one A hard verse. "A righteous one" may be God, the Righteous One, who watches the house of the wicked and brings them to ruin, or a righteous judge looking into their ways. Either way, the wicked do not get away with it.

one gives attention to the house of a wicked one, subverting wicked ones to evil. 13 He who shuts his ear from the cry of the poor, he also will call out and will not be answered. 14 A gift in secret subdues anger, and a bribe in the bosom, strong rage. 15 To do justice is a joy to the righteous, and ruin to those who work evil. 16 A man who wanders from the way of insight will rest in the assembly of the shades.

The Victory Belongs to the LORD

17 A man of poverty is he who loves joy; he who loves wine and oil will not become rich. 18 A ransom for the righteous is a wicked one, and in place of upright ones, one who acts treacherously. 19 Better is to dwell in a land of wilderness than with a woman of contentions and vexation. 20 Desirable treasure and oil are in the dwelling of a wise one, and a foolish man swallows it up. 21 He who pursues righteousness and steadfast love will find life, righteousness, and honor. 22 A wise one goes up to a city of warriors and brings down the strength of its confidence. 23 He who guards his mouth and his tongue guards his soul from troubles. 24 Proud, arrogant, "Mocker" is his name, he who acts in a fury of pride. 25 The desire of a sluggard kills him, for his hands refuse to work. 26 All the day he craves a craving, and a righteous one gives and does not hold back. 27 The sacrifice of wicked ones is an abomination; how much more when he brings it with a wicked scheme! 28 A witness of lies will perish, and a man who listens will speak forever. 29 A wicked man makes his face strong, and an upright one, he considers his way. 30 There is no wisdom and no understanding and no counsel opposite the LORD. 31 A horse is prepared for a day of battle, and the victory belongs to the LORD.

21:13 He who shuts his ear from the cry of the poor If we refuse to hear the poor, God may refuse to hear us (Luke 16:19-31; James 2:13).
21:14 A gift in secret subdues anger An observation. A quiet gift can calm an angry man, as Jacob's gifts calmed Esau (Gen 32:20). It does not approve bribes that bend justice (17:23).
21:16 will rest in the assembly of the shades The shades are the dead (2:18; 9:18). Wandering is how it starts. Death is where it ends.
21:17 he who loves wine and oil will not become rich Joy here means pleasure, the party life, and wine and oil were luxuries for feasts. Enjoying God's gifts is not sin (Eccl 9:7). Loving pleasure more than wisdom ruins a person (2 Tim 3:4).
21:18 A ransom for the righteous is a wicked one The trouble the wicked plan for the righteous falls on themselves, as with Haman (Esth 7:10; 11:8). This is not the gospel. Jesus is the true ransom, the righteous One who gave His life for the unrighteous (Mark 10:45; 1 Pet 3:18).
21:19 Better is to dwell in a land of wilderness Verse 9 said even more strongly. Husbands and wives, let us make our homes places of peace (1 Pet 3:7-8).
21:20 a foolish man swallows it up The wise save. The fool spends everything as fast as it comes (6:6-8).
21:21 He who pursues righteousness and steadfast love will find life Chase what is right and loyal love, and you find more than you looked for (Matt 6:33).
21:22 A wise one goes up to a city of warriors Wisdom is stronger than walls and warriors (Eccl 9:14-16; 2 Cor 10:4).
21:23 He who guards his mouth and his tongue guards his soul from troubles Much of our trouble comes from our mouths (13:3).
21:24 "Mocker" is his name Pride and scorn go together. When we find ourselves mocking others, pride is usually underneath.
21:25 The desire of a sluggard kills him He wants things but will not work. His wants eat him alive.
21:26 a righteous one gives and does not hold back The sluggard craves all day. The righteous works and then gives freely. One lives to get, the other to give (Acts 20:35).
21:27 how much more when he brings it with a wicked scheme Worse than worship from a wicked heart (15:8) is using religion to cover evil plans. God cannot be bribed.
21:29 A wicked man makes his face strong The wicked puts on a bold face and pushes ahead. The upright thinks about his path.
21:30 There is no wisdom and no understanding and no counsel opposite the LORD No plan can succeed against God (Ps 2). The greatest plot ever against Him was the cross, and He turned it into our salvation (Acts 4:27-28).
21:31 the victory belongs to the LORD Get the horse ready and train the army. Do your part. But victory comes from God (Ps 20:7). Work and trust go together. The chapter ends as it began: the LORD rules.
22:1 A name is to be chosen more than great riches A good name is a good reputation built on good character. "Grace" here means favor, being well thought of. Money can be lost and earned again. A ruined name is very hard to rebuild.
22:2 A rich one and a poor one meet together; the Maker of them all is the LORD Both were made by the same God. The rich should not look down on the poor, and the poor should not envy the rich. We all stand on level ground before our Maker (Job 31:15; James 2:1-5).
22:3 A prudent one sees evil and hides himself The prudent see trouble coming and take cover. The simple walk straight into it (27:12).
22:4 The consequence of humility, the fear of the LORD, is riches and honor and life Humility and the fear of the LORD go together, and their usual result is blessing. This is a general truth, not a promise that every humble believer will be wealthy. Jesus was humble and poor. The riches, honor and life come partly in this life and fully in the next (Matt 5:5; 1 Pet 5:6).
22:5 Thorns, snares are in the way of a perverse one Many troubles can be avoided simply by not going where they are.

soul will be far from them. 6 Train the youth according to his way; even when he is old he will not turn aside from it. 7 A rich one rules over poor ones, and a borrower is a servant to a man who lends. 8 He who sows unrighteousness will reap evil, and the rod of his fury will come to an end. 9 One good of eye, he will be blessed, for he gives from his bread to the poor. 10 Drive out a mocker, and strife will go out, and dispute and dishonor will cease. 11 He who loves purity of heart, the grace of his lips, a king is his friend. 12 The eyes of the LORD preserve knowledge, and He subverts the words of one who acts treacherously. 13 A sluggard says, "A lion is outside! In the midst of the squares I will be murdered!" 14 A deep pit is the mouth of strange women; one denounced by the LORD will fall there. 15 Folly is bound in the heart of a youth; the rod of discipline will put it far from him. 16 One who oppresses a poor one to make much for him, one who gives to a rich one, only to poverty.

The Words of the Wise

17 Incline your ear and hear the words of wise ones, and set your heart to my knowledge; 18 for it is pleasant if you keep them in your belly; they will be prepared together on your lips. 19 So that your trust may be in the LORD, I have made you know today, even you. 20 Have I not written for you excellent things in counsels and knowledge, 21 to make you know the certainty of words of truth, to bring back true words to those who send you? 22 Do not rob a poor one because he is poor, and do not crush an afflicted one in the gate; 23 for the LORD will plead their case, and He will despoil those who despoil them of life. 24 Do not associate with a master of anger, and with a man of rages do not go, 25 lest you learn his paths and take a snare for your soul.
26 Do not be among those who strike a palm, among those who stand surety for debts. 27 If you have nothing to pay, why should he take your bed from under you? 28 Do not displace an ancient boundary which your fathers made. 29 Do you see a man skilled in his work? Before kings he will stand;
he will not stand before obscure ones.

22:28 Prov 23:10; Deut 19:14; Deut 27:17
22:29 Prov 10:4; Prov 12:24; 1 Kgs 11:28

22:6 Train the youth according to his way; even when he is old he will not turn aside from it To train is to start a child off and dedicate him; the same word is used for dedicating a house or the temple (Deut 20:5; 1 Kgs 8:63). "According to his way" may mean the way he should go, God's way, or according to the child's own nature and stage of life. Both fit Scripture. A few read it as a warning: let a child go his own way and he will never leave it.

22:6 even when he is old he will not turn aside from it This is not a promise that a child raised well will always follow God. A proverb tells how life usually works (10:27). Every child grows up and makes his own choices before God (Ezek 18:20). God is the perfect Father, and Israel still rebelled (Isa 1:2). If your grown child has turned from the Lord, this verse is not a verdict against you. Keep praying, keep loving, keep the door open. The father of the prodigal kept watching the road (Luke 15:20).

22:7 a borrower is a servant to a man who lends The one who owes is under the power of the one he owes. Debt is a kind of slavery. The Bible does not forbid all borrowing, but warns against taking on that weight lightly (Rom 13:8).

22:8 He who sows unrighteousness will reap evil What we sow we reap (Gal 6:7). The rod the wicked used in anger will be broken.

22:9 One good of eye, he will be blessed A good eye is a generous eye, one that sees others' needs and is glad to help (19:17; 2 Cor 9:6-7).

22:10 Drive out a mocker, and strife will go out Sometimes one person is the cause of all the fighting. Church leaders and employers sometimes have to make that hard decision (Titus 3:10).

22:11 a king is his friend A pure heart and gracious words win the favor of good leaders, as Daniel and Nehemiah were trusted by kings.

22:13 A lion is outside The lazy man's excuses can be wild. A lion in the streets! So he stays in bed. We laugh, but we all have our own lions. What excuses keep you from the work God has given you? (26:13)

22:14 A deep pit is the mouth of strange women The adulteress's smooth talk is a trap dug for animals (5:3-5; 23:27). The one who falls in has already turned from God. Sexual sin is both a sin and a judgment on those who walk away from the LORD (Rom 1:24).

22:15 Folly is bound in the heart of a youth Children are not born wise. Folly is tied up tight in their hearts, and loving correction loosens it. As at 13:24, the rod pictures correction and included physical discipline. A loving parent does not leave a child alone with his folly, but correction must never come from rage or cross into abuse (Eph 6:4). Godly parents differ on spanking and agree children must be corrected with firmness and love.

22:16 One who oppresses a poor one to make much for him Squeezing the poor or giving to the rich to win favor are both ways of using people for gain, and both end in loss. This closes the collection that began at 10:1.

22:17 Incline your ear and hear the words of wise ones A new section, "the words of wise ones," runs to 24:22, with a short addition in 24:23-34. Parts of it are much like an Egyptian book of sayings called the Instruction of Amenemope. Many believe the inspired writer used and reshaped wisdom known in his day, under God's guidance, setting it on its true foundation, the fear of the LORD.

22:18 they will be prepared together on your lips Keep wisdom inside, and the right words will be ready when you need them.

22:19 So that your trust may be in the LORD This is the purpose of all that follows. Wisdom is not an end in itself. It leads us to trust God, and it is for "you," personally, "today."

22:21 to make you know the certainty of words of truth God wants us to know the truth with certainty (Luke 1:4) and to be people who bring back a true report to those who send us.

22:22 do not crush an afflicted one in the gate The gate was where the elders held court. The poor could not hire anyone to defend them, but the LORD Himself pleads their case (v. 23). Anyone who robs the poor is fighting God (Exod 22:22-24).

22:24 Do not associate with a master of anger Anger is catching. Spend time with a hothead and you start to act like him (13:20; 1 Cor 15:33).

22:27 why should he take your bed from under you If the borrower fails, the lender takes what you have, down to your bed. Better to give what you can afford than promise what you cannot (6:1-5).

22:28 Do not displace an ancient boundary which your fathers made The land was divided among Israel's families by God's command (Josh 13-21), and boundary stones marked each field. Moving one at night quietly stole land, often from widows and orphans (23:10). The Law cursed it (Deut 19:14; 27:17).

22:29 Before kings he will stand Good work gets noticed. Joseph and Daniel served before kings because they were skilled and faithful (Gen 41:46; Dan 1:19-20). Whatever your work, do it well, as for the Lord (Col 3:23).

PROVERBS 23

Dining With a Ruler

1 When you sit down to eat with a ruler, you shall carefully consider what is before you, 2 and put a knife to your throat if you are a master of appetite. 3 Do not crave his delicacies, and it is bread of lies. 4 Do not labor to gain riches; from your understanding cease. 5 Will you make your eyes fly on it, and it is not? For it will surely make for itself wings; like an eagle it will fly to the heavens. 6 Do not eat the bread of one evil of eye, and do not crave his delicacies; 7 for as he calculates in his soul, so is he. "Eat and drink," he says to you, and his heart is not with you. 8 Your morsel that you have eaten you will vomit up, and you will spoil your pleasant words. 9 In the ears of a fool do not speak, for he will despise the prudence of your words. 10 Do not displace an ancient boundary, and into the fields of fatherless ones do not go; 11 for their Redeemer is strong; He will plead their case with you.

Do Not Envy Sinners

12 Bring your heart to discipline, and your ear to words of knowledge. 13 Do not withhold discipline from a youth; when you strike him with the rod, he will not die. 14 You, with the rod you will strike him, and his soul from Sheol you will deliver. 15 My son, if your heart is wise, my heart will rejoice, I also; 16 and my kidneys will exult when your lips speak uprightness. 17 Do not let your heart be jealous of sinners, but be in the fear of the LORD all the day; 18 for surely there is a future, and your hope will not be cut off. 19 Listen, you, my son, and be wise, and guide your heart in the way. 20 Do not be among drunkards of wine, among gluttons of flesh for themselves; 21 for a drunkard and a glutton will become poor, and drowsiness will clothe with rags. 22 Listen to your father who fathered you, and do not despise your mother when she is old. 23 Buy truth, and do not sell it: wisdom and discipline and understanding. 24 The father of a righteous one will surely be joyful, and he who fathers a wise one, he will rejoice in him. 25 Let your father and your mother rejoice, and let her who bore you be joyful. 26 My son, give your heart to me, and let your eyes observe my ways. 27 For a prostitute is a deep pit, and a foreign woman is a narrow well. 28 Also she, like a robber, lies in wait, and she increases the treacherous among mankind.

23:2 put a knife to your throat if you are a master of appetite A strong way of saying, control your appetite at a powerful man's table.
23:3 it is bread of lies The ruler's fine food may come with strings attached, a test or a bid for your loyalty. Daniel refused the king's food and kept his heart free (Dan 1:8). Not every free dinner is free.
23:4 Do not labor to gain riches Proverbs praises hard work everywhere. This forbids wearing yourself out to get rich, making wealth the goal of life, and trusting your own cleverness to get ahead.
23:5 like an eagle it will fly to the heavens You glance at money and it has flown away. Those who want to be rich fall into many traps (1 Tim 6:9, 17). Store up treasure in heaven, where nothing is lost (Matt 6:19-21).
23:6 one evil of eye The opposite of the good eye of 22:9: a stingy, grudging spirit.
23:7 for as he calculates in his soul, so is he He says "Eat and drink," but he is counting the cost of every bite. What a man thinks in his heart is what he really is. Once you see it, the meal turns your stomach (v. 8).
23:9 In the ears of a fool do not speak Do not waste wisdom on someone who mocks it (Matt 7:6). Knowing when to answer a fool takes wisdom (26:4-5).
23:11 for their Redeemer is strong The fatherless had no one to stand up for them, but they have a Redeemer. The word is go'el, the close relative who bought back lost land, freed a relative sold into slavery and stood up for the family (Lev 25:25; Ruth 4:1-10). God Himself is the go'el of the fatherless. Jesus is our Redeemer, who bought us back with His own blood (1 Pet 1:18-19).
23:12 Bring your heart to discipline Before the teacher tells parents to correct their children, he tells the son to welcome correction himself.
23:13 when you strike him with the rod, he will not die The correction will not kill him, but neglect may. As at 13:24 and 22:15, the rod pictures correction and in that world included physical discipline. It is not correction that ruins children but the lack of it. These verses must never defend anger, cruelty or abuse (Eph 6:4). Godly parents differ on spanking today. If you were hurt as a child in the name of verses like these, what was done was wrong, and it was not what God meant.
23:14 his soul from Sheol you will deliver Sheol is the place of the dead. A child left alone with his folly is on the road to death, and a parent who corrects him lovingly helps save him from it.
23:16 my kidneys will exult when your lips speak uprightness The kidneys stood for the deepest feelings, as we speak of the heart. Nothing makes a godly parent happier than a child who walks in wisdom (3 John 4).
23:17 Do not let your heart be jealous of sinners It is easy to envy the wicked who seem to get away with everything. Instead, live in the fear of the LORD all day long, at work, at home and in private.
23:18 surely there is a future, and your hope will not be cut off This life is not the end. Asaph almost slipped when he envied the wicked, until he went into God's sanctuary and saw their end (Ps 73:2-3, 16-17). Our hope in Christ is a living hope (1 Pet 1:3-4).
23:20 Do not be among drunkards of wine, among gluttons of flesh Living for the belly leads to poverty and rags (v. 21). The Law named the rebellious son "a glutton and a drunkard" (Deut 21:20).
23:22 do not despise your mother when she is old Honor your parents all their lives, even when they grow old and weak (Exod 20:12).
23:23 Buy truth, and do not sell it Truth is worth any price. Get it, and never trade it away.
23:25 Let your father and your mother rejoice A wise son is one of the best gifts a child can give his parents.
23:26 My son, give your heart to me The father wants more than outward obedience. He wants his son's love and trust, so the son will watch how he lives and follow it. God asks the same of us.
23:27 a prostitute is a deep pit, and a foreign woman is a narrow well Sexual sin is easy to fall into and very hard to climb out of (22:14). She waits like a robber and turns men into traitors to their wives and their God (v. 28). The way out is not to go near (5:8).

The Drunkard's Woe

29 Who has woe? Who has sorrow? Who has contentions? Who has complaint? Who has wounds without cause? Who has dullness of eyes? 30 Those who linger over the wine, those who go to examine mixed wine. 31 Do not look at wine when it is red, when it gives its eye in the cup, when it goes with smoothness. 32 Its end: like a snake it will bite, and like a viper it will sting. 33 Your eyes will see strange things, and your heart will speak perversities. 34 And you will be like one who lies down in the heart of the sea, and like one who lies down at the top of a mast. 35 "They struck me; I was not hurt. They beat me; I did not know. When will I awake? I will add; I will seek it again."

PROVERBS 24

Do Not Envy Evil Men

1 Do not be jealous of men of evil, and do not desire to be with them; 2 for their heart meditates violence, and their lips speak trouble. 3 By wisdom a house is built, and by understanding it is established; 4 and by knowledge the chambers are filled with all precious and pleasant wealth. 5 A wise man is in strength, and a man of knowledge makes power firm; 6 for by guidance you will make war for yourself, and victory is in a multitude of counselors. 7 Wisdom is too high for a fool; in the gate he does not open his mouth. 8 He who plans to do evil, they will call him a master of schemes. 9 The wicked scheme of folly is sin, and an abomination to mankind is a mocker.

Rescue Those Taken to Death

10 If you show yourself slack in a day of trouble, your power is narrow. 11 Deliver those taken to death, and those staggering to the slaughter, if you will hold back. 12 If you say, "Look, we did not know this," does not He who weighs hearts, He, perceive it? And He who guards your soul, He, know it? And He will repay to mankind according to his work. 13 My son, eat honey, for it is good, and honey from the comb is sweet on your palate. 14 So know wisdom for your soul; if you find it, then there is a future, and your hope will not be cut off. 15 Do not lie in wait, wicked one, against the dwelling of a righteous one; do not devastate his resting place; 16 for a righteous one will fall seven times and rise, and wicked ones will stumble in evil. 17 When your enemy falls, do not rejoice, and when he stumbles, let your heart not be joyful, 18 lest the LORD see, and it be evil in His eyes, and

23:29 Who has woe? Who has sorrow The longest picture of drunkenness in the Bible begins with six questions: misery, fights, complaining, injuries from brawls he cannot remember and bloodshot eyes.
23:30 those who go to examine mixed wine Those who sit over drinks for hours and go looking for new kinds to try. Mixed wine was spiced to make it stronger.
23:31 Do not look at wine when it is red Wine sparkles in the cup and goes down smoothly. That is the danger. Do not even look at it with longing when it is drawing you in.
23:32 like a snake it will bite The smooth drink ends in a snake bite that poisons body, mind and home.
23:33 Your eyes will see strange things The drunk sees things that are not there and says what he would never say sober. Some read "strange women," since drink and sexual sin often go together.
23:34 like one who lies down at the top of a mast Swaying back and forth like a man trying to sleep at sea, sick and dizzy and in danger of falling.
23:35 When will I awake? I will add; I will seek it again The saddest line of all. He was beaten and did not feel it, and his first thought on waking is another drink. That is addiction: the thing that hurts you is the thing you crave. Scripture forbids drunkenness (Gal 5:21). As at 20:1, believers differ on drinking in moderation or not at all. If you are caught in this, there is hope. Christ sets people free. Do not fight it alone.
24:1 Do not be jealous of men of evil Evil men can look free, powerful and rich. Look past the outside. Their hearts are full of violence and their mouths full of trouble (v. 2; 23:17).
24:3 By wisdom a house is built A real house and a family. Its rooms are filled with good things (v. 4), not only furniture but love, peace and joy. Many homes are full of nice things and empty of these. Wisdom builds what money cannot (14:1; Ps 127:1).
24:6 victory is in a multitude of counselors Wisdom is a kind of strength. Battles are won by planning and wise advice (11:14; 20:18).
24:7 in the gate he does not open his mouth The elders met at the gate to judge and decide matters for the town. The fool has nothing to say there. Wisdom is out of his reach because he never reached for it.
24:9 The wicked scheme of folly is sin Even planning folly is sin. Sin begins in the heart before it reaches the hands (Matt 5:28).
24:10 If you show yourself slack in a day of trouble, your power is narrow Trouble shows what we are made of. Be strong in the hard day in the strength God gives (Isa 40:29-31; Phil 4:13). The next verses show that the hard day may be someone else's.
24:11 Deliver those taken to death One of the strongest commands in the book. Some are being led away to die, perhaps falsely condemned, perhaps victims of violence. Rescue them. Believers have applied this to the unjustly condemned, the unborn, the victims of trafficking and abuse, the persecuted church and the hungry. Each of us must ask where God calls us to act. There is a deeper sense too: Jesus delivered us when we were staggering to the slaughter, and now sends us to snatch others from the fire (Jude 23).
24:12 Look, we did not know this The teacher answers our excuse before we make it. God knows whether we really did not know, or did not want to know. We cannot rescue everyone, but we cannot say we did not know.
24:13 My son, eat honey, for it is good Honey was the sweetest thing they knew. God's words are sweeter (Ps 19:10), and wisdom gives what honey cannot: a future and a hope (v. 14; 23:18).
24:16 a righteous one will fall seven times and rise Seven times means many times. The righteous may be knocked down again and again, but God lifts him up (Ps 37:23-24; Mic 7:8). The wicked stumble once and do not rise. Here the fall is mainly trouble and attack from outside, though God also lifts believers who fall into sin and confess (1 John 1:9). If you have been knocked down, get up. God is not done with you.
24:17 When your enemy falls, do not rejoice It is natural to be glad when someone who hurt us gets hurt. God says do not. Gloating is sin, and it may move Him to turn His anger from the enemy (v. 18). Leave justice to God and pray for your enemies (Matt 5:44; Job 31:29).

He turn back His anger from him. 19 Do not fret yourself because of the evildoers; do not be jealous of the wicked; 20 for there will be no future for the evil one; the lamp of wicked ones will be put out. 21 Fear the LORD, my son, and the king; with those who change do not get involved; 22 for suddenly their calamity will arise, and the disaster of both of them, who knows?

More Sayings of the Wise

23 These also are for wise ones: to regard faces in judgment is not good. 24 He who says to a wicked one, "You are righteous," peoples will curse him, nations will denounce him. 25 And for those who rebuke, it will be pleasant, and on them will come a blessing of good. 26 He kisses lips, he who returns right words. 27 Establish your work outside, and make it ready for yourself in the field; afterward, then build your house. 28 Do not be a witness against your neighbor without cause, and will you deceive with your lips? 29 Do not say, "Just as he has done to me, so I will do to him; I will repay to the man according to his work." 30 By the field of a sluggardly man I passed, and by the vineyard of a man lacking sense; 31 and look, it had all gone up in thorns; its surface was covered with nettles, and its wall of stones was broken down. 32 And I looked, I myself; I set my heart; I saw; I received discipline: 33 a little sleep, a little slumber, a little folding of the hands to lie down, 34 and your poverty will come walking about, and your needs like a man with a shield.

Proverbs Copied by Hezekiah's Men

1 These also are the proverbs of Solomon (Shelomo), which the men of Hezekiah (Chizqiya), king of Judah (Yehuda), copied: 2 The glory of God is to conceal a matter, and the glory of kings is to search out a matter. 3 The heavens for height, and the earth for depth, and the heart of kings, there is no searching. 4 Remove the dross from silver, and a vessel comes out for the refiner. 5 Remove a wicked one before a king, and his throne will be established in righteousness. 6 Do not honor yourself before a king, and in the place of great ones do not stand; 7 for better is saying to you, "Come up here," than putting you low before a noble whom your eyes have seen. 8 Do not go out quickly to contend, lest—what will you do at its end, when your neighbor puts you to shame? 9 Plead your case with your neighbor, and do not reveal the secret of another, 10 lest he who hears put you to shame, and your evil report not turn back.

24:19 Do not fret yourself because of the evildoers To fret is to burn inside with anger or worry. Psalm 37 begins the same way. The lamp of the wicked is going out (v. 20).
24:21 Fear the LORD, my son, and the king Honor God first and the government He has set over you (Rom 13:1-7; 1 Pet 2:17). "Those who change" are likely rebels who want to overthrow the order of things. "Both of them" may mean punishment from the LORD and from the king. This ends the words of the wise.
24:23 to regard faces in judgment is not good A short appendix begins. To regard faces is to play favorites because someone is rich, powerful or a friend (18:5).
24:24 He who says to a wicked one, "You are righteous," Everyone despises a judge who lets the guilty go free. Those with the courage to call wrong what it is will be blessed (v. 25).
24:26 He kisses lips, he who returns right words An honest answer is a sign of real friendship. Flattery feels nice, but truth spoken in love is the greater kindness (27:6; Eph 4:15).
24:27 afterward, then build your house First things first. Get your fields and your living in order before you build a house and start a family. Good counsel about planning, saving and order (Luke 14:28).
24:28 Do not be a witness against your neighbor without cause Do not testify against someone without good reason, and do not lie about him.
24:29 Just as he has done to me, so I will do to him The voice of revenge. It sounds fair. But repaying a man according to his work belongs to God (24:12). Overcome evil with good (Matt 5:38-39; Rom 12:17-21).
24:31 its wall of stones was broken down Thorns and nettles had taken over, and the wall that kept out animals and thieves had fallen. No one did anything terrible. He just did nothing.
24:32 I set my heart; I saw; I received discipline We can learn from other people's mistakes if we stop and look.
24:34 your poverty will come walking about Almost word for word as 6:10-11. Ruin comes a little at a time and then arrives like an armed man. The same is true spiritually. Neglect prayer and God's Word a little at a time, and the walls come down. Is there a field in your life going to thorns?
25:1 which the men of Hezekiah, king of Judah, copied Hezekiah reigned about 715 to 686 B.C., one of Judah's best kings. He cleansed the temple, restored true worship and trusted the LORD when Assyria came (2 Kgs 18:1-7; 2 Chr 29-31). His men gathered more of Solomon's sayings, likely from older written collections. God used faithful men to preserve His Word.
25:2 The glory of God is to conceal a matter God does not explain everything. The secret things belong to Him (Deut 29:29), and His ways are past finding out (Rom 11:33). A king's glory is the opposite: to search out the truth so he can judge rightly. Good leaders do their homework.
25:3 the heart of kings, there is no searching A king's heart can be as hard to read as the sky is high and the earth deep.
25:4 Remove the dross from silver Dross is the waste that floats up when silver is melted. Skim it off and pure silver is left. A king must remove wicked advisers, and then his throne will be just and lasting (v. 5). Leaders are shaped by the people around them.
25:7 better is saying to you, "Come up here," Better to be invited up than sent down in front of everyone. Jesus taught the same: take the lowest place at the feast (Luke 14:8-11).
25:8 Do not go out quickly to contend Do not rush to court or into a fight. You may find you were wrong and be shamed in public.
25:9 do not reveal the secret of another Settle a problem with your neighbor directly, without dragging others' secrets in, or you will get a name that will not go away (v. 10; Matt 18:15).
25:11 Apples of gold in settings of silver is a word spoken at its right times Picture fine gold fruit set in silver. The right word at the right time is beautiful and precious. The same words at the wrong time can hurt (15:23).

Answering a Fool

1 Like snow in the summer and like rain at the harvest, so honor is not suitable for a fool. 2 Like the bird in fluttering, like the swallow in flying, so a curse without cause, to him it will come. 3 A whip is for the horse, a bridle for the donkey, and a rod for the back of fools. 4 Do not answer a fool according to his folly, lest you become like him, you also. 5 Answer a fool according to his folly, lest he be wise in his own eyes.

26:5 John 9:30; Matt 16:1-4; Prov 28:11

25:12 a wise reprover on a listening ear Wise correction given to one willing to listen is like jewelry. Both are needed: the one who corrects and the ear that hears.
25:13 Like the cold of snow on a day of harvest Not a snowstorm at harvest, which would be a disaster (26:1), but snow water from the mountains refreshing hot workers. A faithful messenger refreshes the one who sends him.
25:14 Clouds and wind, and there is no rain In a dry land, clouds raise hope of rain, and then nothing falls. That is the man who brags about what he will give and never gives it (Jude 12).
25:15 a soft tongue will break bone We think forceful words win. Patience and gentleness win more often (15:1).
25:16 eat your sufficiency, lest you have your fill of it and vomit it up Even good things need limits.
25:17 Make your foot rare from the house of your neighbor Do not wear out your welcome. A good friend knows when to go home.
25:18 A war club and a sword and a sharpened arrow A false witness is a deadly weapon, striking up close and from far away.
25:19 A broken tooth and a slipping foot Trusting an unfaithful man in a crisis is like biting on a broken tooth. He fails you just when you need him most.
25:20 one who sings songs on a sad heart Soda here is a natural mineral used for washing, and vinegar poured on it fizzes and ruins it. Singing cheerful songs to the grieving is as unkind as taking a man's coat on a cold day. When someone is hurting, sit with him first (Rom 12:15).
25:21 If one who hates you is hungry, give him bread to eat A high point of Old Testament ethics: feed your enemy. Paul quotes these verses in Romans 12:20 and adds that we are to overcome evil with good (Rom 12:21). Jesus went further: love your enemies and pray for them (Matt 5:44), and He did it on the cross (Luke 23:34).
25:22 you are heaping burning coals on his head Not kindness meant to hurt. The most common reading is that kindness makes the enemy burn with shame, which may lead to regret and repentance. Some point to an old custom of carrying coals in a pan on the head, so that giving coals was an act of help. Either way, the goal is to win the enemy, not the fight.
25:23 The north wind brings forth rain As surely as a certain wind brings rain, a gossiping tongue brings angry faces. In Israel rain usually came from the west, and some read this as a northwest wind. The point stays the same.
25:24 Better is to dwell on a corner of a roof Word for word as 21:9.
25:25 a good report from a land of distance When news traveled slowly, word from a loved one far away was cold water to the thirsty. The best news ever to come from far away is the gospel (Isa 52:7).
25:26 a righteous one who sways before a wicked one People looked to him for clean water and now find mud. Stand firm, because others are drinking from your example.
25:27 the searching out of their honor is honor The second line is hard in Hebrew. Many translations read it as saying that seeking your own glory is not glory. The SLB reads it positively: searching out what is truly honorable is honor. Either way, the verse warns against overdoing what feels sweet, including praise.
25:28 A city broken into, without a wall A city without walls was open to every enemy. A man without self-control lets anger, lust and greed walk right in. Self-control is a fruit of the Spirit (Gal 5:23).
26:1 Like snow in the summer and like rain at the harvest Snow in summer was unheard of in Israel, and rain at harvest could ruin the crop (1 Sam 12:17-18). Honor or high position for a fool is just as out of place, and it does damage.
26:2 so a curse without cause, to him it will come Birds flit about and never land. Most translations read that an undeserved curse is like that: it never lands on the one cursed. The SLB follows a reading of the Hebrew that may mean the curse comes back on the one who spoke it. Either way, the innocent need not fear a curse without cause (Num 23:8).
26:3 a rod for the back of fools A fool who will not learn by words learns by pain (10:13; 19:29). The saying is about the fool, not a child (Ps 32:9).
26:4 Do not answer a fool according to his folly, lest you become like him Verses 4 and 5 stand together on purpose, and they teach us how to read Proverbs. Do not argue with a fool on his terms. If he shouts, do not shout back. If he insults, do not trade insults. Answer folly with folly and you have become a fool too.
26:5 Answer a fool according to his folly, lest he be wise in his own eyes The next verse says the opposite, and each has its own reason. Verse 4 guards you. Verse 5 guards him and others. Some see the difference in manner (do not copy his folly) and answer (expose it). Others see it in the situation. Jesus did both (Matt 21:23-27; 22:23-33; Luke 23:9). A proverb is a tool, and wisdom knows which tool fits the moment. Online, at home or with mockers of the faith, answer with grace and truth, not with his weapons (Col 4:6; 1 Pet 3:15).

6 Cutting off feet, drinking violence, is he who sends words by the hand of a fool. 7 The legs hang limp from the lame, and a proverb in the mouth of fools. 8 Like binding a stone in a sling, so is he who gives honor to a fool. 9 A thorn goes up into the hand of a drunkard, and a proverb in the mouth of fools. 10 An archer who wounds everyone, and he who hires a fool, and he who hires those who pass by. 11 Like a dog that returns to its vomit, a fool repeats his folly. 12 Have you seen a man wise in his own eyes? Hope for a fool is more than for him.

Sluggards, Meddlers and Whisperers

13 A sluggard says, "A lion is in the road, a lion is between the squares!" 14 The door turns on its hinge, and a sluggard on his bed. 15 A sluggard hides his hand in the dish; he is weary to bring it back to his mouth. 16 A sluggard is wiser in his own eyes than seven who reply with discernment. 17 Taking hold of the ears of a dog is one passing by who becomes furious over a dispute that is not his. 18 Like a madman who shoots firebrands, arrows, and death, 19 so is a man who has deceived his neighbor and says, "Am I not jesting?" 20 With no wood a fire goes out, and with no whisperer strife becomes quiet. 21 Charcoal to burning coals and wood to fire, and a man of contentions to kindle strife. 22 The words of a whisperer are like delicacies, and they go down into the chambers of the belly. 23 Silver of dross overlaid on earthenware are burning lips and an evil heart. 24 He who hates disguises himself with his lips, and in his inner being he sets deceit. 25 When he makes his voice gracious, do not trust in him, for seven abominations are in his heart. 26 Hatred covers itself with deception; his wickedness will be revealed in the assembly. 27 He who digs a pit will fall in it, and he who rolls a stone, it will return to him. 28 A tongue of falsehood hates its crushed ones, and a smooth mouth makes ruin.

26:6 he who sends words by the hand of a fool The message will not get there, or it will get there wrong. You will drink the trouble that follows.
26:7 a proverb in the mouth of fools A lame man's legs are there but useless. A fool can quote a wise saying but cannot use it.
26:8 Like binding a stone in a sling A stone tied into a sling cannot be thrown and may swing back to hurt you. Honoring a fool is just as silly.
26:9 A thorn goes up into the hand of a drunkard A drunk waving a thornbush hurts himself and everyone near him. Even Scripture used without wisdom can wound. Satan quoted Scripture to Jesus (Matt 4:6).
26:10 An archer who wounds everyone, and he who hires a fool Hiring a fool or a passer-by without checking him is like an archer shooting at random. The Hebrew is hard and translations differ, but the warning is clear.
26:11 Like a dog that returns to its vomit, a fool repeats his folly A disgusting picture on purpose. The fool goes right back to the sin that made him sick. Peter uses this verse of those who turn back to the filth of the world (2 Pet 2:20-22).
26:12 Have you seen a man wise in his own eyes? Hope for a fool is more than for him After eleven verses on the fool, a surprise: someone worse. The fool might still learn. The proud man thinks he has nothing to learn (John 9:41). Humility is the door to wisdom.
26:13 A lion is in the road The sluggard's old excuse (22:13). He always has a reason not to go out to work.
26:14 The door turns on its hinge, and a sluggard on his bed A door swings back and forth and goes nowhere, like the lazy man rolling over in bed.
26:16 A sluggard is wiser in his own eyes than seven who reply with discernment His worst problem. He has an answer for every argument. Laziness and pride go together, and he cannot be helped because he will not admit he needs help.
26:17 Taking hold of the ears of a dog Grab a stray dog by the ears and you get bitten. There are times to step in as a peacemaker, but meddling in others' quarrels usually makes things worse.
26:19 Am I not jesting Tricking someone and then saying it was only a joke is like a madman shooting flaming arrows into a crowd. A joke that hurts someone is not harmless because we laugh (Eph 5:4).
26:20 With no wood a fire goes out Take away the gossip and the quarrel dies down. If you want to end strife, stop feeding it.
26:21 a man of contentions to kindle strife Some people add fuel wherever they go.
26:22 The words of a whisperer are like delicacies Word for word as 18:8. Stop gossip before it starts.
26:23 Silver of dross overlaid on earthenware are burning lips and an evil heart A clay pot with a thin silver glaze looks valuable and is cheap underneath. Warm, eager words over an evil heart are a cheap coating (Matt 23:27).
26:25 seven abominations are in his heart Seven means complete. Do not be fooled by a sweet voice. Judas betrayed Jesus with a kiss (Luke 22:47-48).
26:26 his wickedness will be revealed in the assembly He can hide for a while, but nothing hidden will stay hidden (Luke 12:2-3).
26:27 He who digs a pit will fall in it The trap we set for others catches us. Haman hung on his own gallows (Esth 7:10; Ps 7:15-16).
26:28 A tongue of falsehood hates its crushed ones We tend to hate the people we have wronged, because they remind us of our guilt. Flattery ruins.
27:1 Do not boast yourself about the day of tomorrow Tomorrow is not ours. We are a vapor, so we ought to say, "If the Lord wills" (James 4:13-15; Luke 12:16-20). Plan humbly, and do not put off what matters most. Now is the day of salvation (2 Cor 6:2).
27:2 Let a stranger praise you, and not your mouth Self-praise is empty. If no one praises you, God still sees (Matt 6:4).
27:3 the provocation of a fool is heavier than both of them Being around a fool wears a person out.
27:4 who will stand before jealousy Anger may pass. Jealousy burns on (6:34; Song 8:6). Cain's jealousy led to the first murder (Gen 4:5-8).
27:5 Better is an uncovered rebuke than hidden love A friend who loves you but never tells you the truth is not much help.

hidden love. 6 Faithful are the wounds of one who loves, and abundant are the kisses of one who hates. 7 A satisfied soul tramples honey, and to a hungry soul every bitter thing is sweet. 8 Like a bird that wanders from its nest, so is a man who wanders from his place. 9 Oil and incense make the heart glad, and the sweetness of his friend is from counsel of the soul. 10 Do not forsake your friend and the friend of your father, and do not go into the house of your brother on the day of your calamity; better is a neighbor who is near than a brother far away. 11 Be wise, my son, and make my heart glad, and let me reply with a word to him who taunts me. 12 A prudent one has seen evil; he hides himself; simple ones pass on; they are punished. 13 Take his garment, for he has stood surety for a stranger, and for a foreign woman hold it in pledge. 14 He who blesses his neighbor with a loud voice, rising early in the morning, a curse it will be reckoned to him. 15 A continual dripping on a day of persistent rain and a wife of contentions are alike. 16 Those who hide her have hidden the wind, and his right hand meets oil.

Iron Sharpens Iron

17 Iron grows sharp by iron, and a man sharpens the face of his neighbor. 18 He who keeps a fig tree will eat its fruit, and he who guards his master will be honored. 19 As in the water the face is to the face, so the heart of man is to man. 20 Sheol and Abaddon are not satisfied, and the eyes of man are not satisfied. 21 A crucible is for silver, and a furnace for gold, and a man according to his praise. 22 If you pound the fool in the mortar among the grain with the pestle, his folly will not depart from him. 23 You shall surely know the face of your flock; set your heart on the herds; 24 for wealth is not forever, and is a crown to generation and generation? 25 The grass has disappeared, and new grass appears, and the plants of the mountains are gathered. 26 Lambs are for your clothing, and goats are the price of a field, 27 and enough milk of goats for your food, for the food of your household, and life for your maidens.

The Righteous Are Bold as a Lion

27:6 Faithful are the wounds of one who loves Honest words from a friend may hurt, but they come from love and they heal. An enemy's flattery is false, like Judas's kiss (Matt 26:48-49). Paul rebuked Peter to his face because he loved him and the truth (Gal 2:11). Do you have friends who will wound you faithfully? Are you that kind of friend?
27:7 A satisfied soul tramples honey The one full of God's goodness can turn down sin's sweets. The one starving inside will take almost anything.
27:8 Like a bird that wanders from its nest A man who leaves his home, family and duties out of restlessness is in danger, and so are those he leaves behind. Going at God's call, as Abraham did, is another matter.
27:9 the sweetness of his friend is from counsel of the soul Like perfume and fragrant oil, a friend's heartfelt counsel is a sweet gift.
27:10 better is a neighbor who is near than a brother far away Keep old friends, even your family's old friends. When trouble comes, a friend close by can help faster than a relative far away, in miles or in heart (Luke 10:36-37).
27:11 let me reply with a word to him who taunts me A father's best answer to his critics is a wise son (2 Cor 3:2).
27:12 A prudent one has seen evil; he hides himself This repeats 22:3, and verse 13 repeats 20:16. Some warnings need to be heard twice.
27:14 He who blesses his neighbor with a loud voice, rising early in the morning Banging on a neighbor's door at dawn with a loud cheerful greeting is not welcome. Even blessings need good timing and sense, and overdone praise sounds false.
27:15 A continual dripping on a day of persistent rain A leaky roof on a rainy day never stops dripping (19:13).
27:16 Those who hide her have hidden the wind Restraining her is like holding back the wind or grabbing oil. As at 21:9, these warn against strife in the home and apply to husbands as well.
27:17 Iron grows sharp by iron A blade is sharpened against another piece of iron, with friction and sparks. We grow sharper through honest friendship, hard questions and loving correction. "The face of his neighbor" may mean his look, the way his face shows his character. Believers need each other (Heb 10:24-25). Who sharpens you? Whom do you sharpen?
27:18 he who guards his master will be honored The man who tends his fig tree eats the figs. Faithful work is rewarded in time (Matt 25:21; Col 3:23-24).
27:19 As in the water the face is to the face, so the heart of man is to man Still water shows your face. A man's heart shows who he really is. It may also mean that in others' hearts we see our own.
27:20 the eyes of man are not satisfied Sheol and Abaddon, death and destruction, never say "enough." Neither do human eyes. Only God satisfies (Eccl 1:8; John 4:13-14). If you always want more, the problem is not what you have but what you are looking for.
27:21 a man according to his praise Silver and gold are tested by fire, a man by praise (17:3). Some do well in hard times and fall apart in success. Herod took praise that belonged to God and was struck down (Acts 12:21-23).
27:22 his folly will not depart from him Grain was pounded in a mortar until the husk came off. Folly is not on the outside. It is in the heart, and only a changed heart can change him.
27:23 You shall surely know the face of your flock A little poem for the farmer and shepherd. Pay attention to what God has given you to care for. Money and even crowns do not last (v. 24), but faithful care keeps on providing. Elders are to shepherd God's flock (1 Pet 5:2), and Jesus the Good Shepherd knows His sheep (John 10:14).
27:25 The grass has disappeared, and new grass appears The seasons turn. God provides through the steady rhythm of the year.
27:27 enough milk of goats for your food Care for the flock and it cares for you: clothing, land, milk for the whole household. Not get-rich-quick. Enough.
28:1 The wicked flee, and there is no one pursuing A guilty conscience hears footsteps that are not there (Lev 26:17, 36). The righteous have nothing to hide and stand firm like a lion. Peter and John stood boldly before the council that crucified Jesus (Acts 4:13). That courage comes from a clean heart and a close walk with God.
28:2 By the transgression of a land its princes are many A sinful nation's leaders come and go quickly. The northern kingdom had nineteen kings in about two hundred years, many murdered by the next (1 Kgs 15-16; 2 Kgs 15). A wise, just leader brings stability.

28:3 A poor man who oppresses the poor is a rain that sweeps away Rain should bring a crop, but a flood washes it away. The poor man who gains a little power and crushes the poor should understand them best and treats them worst (Matt 18:28-34).
28:4 Those who forsake the law praise the wicked "The law" is torah, instruction, in Israel God's law through Moses. Those who throw it off end up cheering for the wicked (Rom 1:32). For believers the Law is fulfilled in Christ (Rom 10:4). We are not saved by keeping it, but its moral heart shows what pleases God, and we walk in it because we have been saved (Eph 2:8-10).
28:5 those who seek the LORD understand everything Not every fact, but what is right and wrong and what life is about (1 Cor 2:15; 1 John 2:20). Evil blinds a person to justice.
28:6 one perverse of two ways "Two ways" pictures a man walking two roads at once, a double life. Honest poverty beats crooked riches (19:1).
28:8 He who increases his wealth by interest and usury The Law forbade charging interest to a poor fellow Israelite (Exod 22:25; Lev 25:35-37). God will see that such money ends up with someone kind to the poor. Believers differ on how these laws apply to ordinary business loans, but all agree that profiting from someone's desperation is sin.
28:9 even his prayer is an abomination If we will not listen to God, why should He listen to us? Prayer is not a way to get what we want while ignoring what He says (Isa 1:15-17; 1 John 3:22). But the door is always open for the one who turns back (v. 13).
28:10 He who leads upright ones astray in an evil way Leading good people into sin is terrible (Matt 18:6). The tempter falls into his own trap (26:27).
28:11 A rich man is wise in his own eyes Money can make a man think he is smart, but a poor man with understanding sees right through him.
28:12 when wicked ones arise, man is searched for When the wicked come to power, people go into hiding and are hunted out. The saying returns in verse 28 and 29:2.
28:13 He who covers his transgressions will not prosper, and he who confesses and forsakes them will be shown mercy One of the most hopeful verses in the book. Adam and Eve hid (Gen 3:8), and David's body wasted under his hidden sin (Ps 32:3-4). To confess is to agree with God that it is sin; to forsake is to turn from it. That is repentance. David confessed and was forgiven (Ps 32:5), and God promises to forgive and cleanse all who confess (1 John 1:9). Is there something you have been covering? Bring it into the light today.
28:14 How blessed is the man who fears continually The fear of the LORD, a tender heart that takes God and sin seriously, is the opposite of a hard heart. Pharaoh hardened his heart until disaster came (Exod 8:15, 32; Heb 3:7-8).
28:15 A roaring lion and a rushing bear is a wicked ruler over a poor people A wicked ruler is as dangerous as a wild animal, and the poor suffer most.
28:17 A man oppressed by the blood of a soul will flee to the pit A murderer weighed down by guilt runs until the grave. The second line likely means, do not shield him from justice (Gen 9:6; Num 35:31). Some read it as, let no one stop him. Even so, the gospel reaches murderers. Paul once approved the killing of believers, and God saved him (1 Tim 1:13-15).
28:18 he who is crooked in two ways will fall at once The double life again. It cannot last.
28:19 he who pursues empty things will be satisfied with poverty Steady work feeds you. Chasing fantasies fills you only with want (12:11).
28:20 he who hastens to become rich will not go unpunished Faithfulness over time brings many blessings. Trying to get rich fast usually leads to cutting corners and to trouble (13:11; 1 Tim 6:9-10).
28:21 for a piece of bread a man will transgress How cheaply some sell their integrity.
28:22 A man with an evil eye hastens after wealth The stingy, greedy man does not see poverty coming. The evil eye is the opposite of the good eye of 22:9.
28:23 He who reproves a man will afterward find favor The key word is "afterward." Honest correction stings at first, but in the end people respect it more than flattery (27:5-6).
28:24 He who robs his father and his mother and says, "There is no transgression," A son who takes from his parents and tells himself it is not stealing is no better than a vandal. Jesus rebuked those who used religious excuses to avoid caring for their parents (Mark 7:10-13).
28:25 he who trusts in the LORD will be made fat Pride starts fights. "Made fat. 26 He who trusts in his own heart, he is a fool, and he who walks in wisdom, he will be delivered. 27 He who gives to the poor will have no lack, and he who hides his eyes will be great in curses. 28 When wicked ones arise, man hides himself, and when they perish, righteous ones increase.

PROVERBS 29

When the Wicked Rule

1 A man of rebukes who hardens his neck will suddenly be broken, and there is no healing. 2 When righteous ones increase, the people rejoice, and when a wicked one rules, a people sighs. 3 A man who loves wisdom makes his father glad, and he who associates with prostitutes destroys wealth. 4 A king by justice establishes a land, and a man of contributions tears it down. 5 A man who flatters his neighbor spreads a net for his footsteps. 6 In the transgression of an evil man is a snare, and a righteous one sings aloud and rejoices. 7 A righteous one knows the cause of the poor; a wicked one does not understand knowledge. 8 Men of scoffing inflame a town, and wise ones turn away anger. 9 A wise man who enters into judgment with a foolish man, and he rages and he laughs, and there is no rest. 10 Men of blood hate a blameless one, and upright ones seek his life. 11 A fool sends forth all his spirit, and a wise one stills it back. 12 A ruler who pays attention to a word of falsehood, all his ministers are wicked. 13 A poor man and a man of oppressions meet together; the LORD gives light to the eyes of both of them. 14 A king who judges the poor in truth, his throne will be established forever.

fat" meant prospering, well fed, a picture of blessing, not a promise of wealth.

28:26 He who trusts in his own heart, he is a fool Our world says trust your heart. Proverbs says that is foolish, because the heart is deceitful (Jer 17:9). Trust the LORD and walk in His wisdom (3:5-6).

28:27 he who hides his eyes will be great in curses A general truth about God's care for the generous, not a promise of riches. God sees who helps and who looks away (19:17; 21:13).

28:28 when they perish, righteous ones increase As in verse 12. Pray for your leaders and for righteousness in your land (1 Tim 2:1-2).

29:1 A man of rebukes who hardens his neck will suddenly be broken "Hardens his neck" pictures a stubborn ox that will not bow to the yoke. Warned again and again, he will not listen, and his ruin comes all at once. God's patience has an end (2 Pet 3:9-10). If God is warning you, listen now.

29:2 when a wicked one rules, a people sighs Leaders' character affects everyone under them (28:12, 28), which is why we pray for those in authority.

29:3 he who associates with prostitutes destroys wealth As the prodigal did (Luke 15:13, 30). Sexual sin destroys more than money. It destroys families and lives (6:26).

29:4 a man of contributions tears it down A ruler greedy for gifts, whether heavy taxes or bribes. Justice builds a nation. Greed tears it down. Rehoboam lost most of his kingdom promising heavier burdens (1 Kgs 12:13-16).

29:5 A man who flatters his neighbor spreads a net for his footsteps The flatterer wants something. Be careful when someone praises you too much.

29:6 a righteous one sings aloud and rejoices Sin traps. Righteousness frees.

29:7 A righteous one knows the cause of the poor The righteous take time to understand the situation of the poor, as Job did (Job 29:16). The wicked do not care to know.

29:8 Men of scoffing inflame a town One troublemaker can set a community on fire. One wise voice can put it out.

29:9 he rages and he laughs, and there is no rest Try to settle a matter with a fool, and he either rages or laughs. Nothing gets settled (26:4).

29:10 Men of blood hate a blameless one, and upright ones seek his life Violent men hate the innocent, as Cain hated Abel (1 John 3:12). The second line likely means the upright seek to protect the blameless man's life. It can also be read of the bloodthirsty seeking the life of the upright.

29:11 A fool sends forth all his spirit, and a wise one stills it back Self-control does not mean we never feel anger. It means anger does not rule us (Eph 4:26).

29:12 A ruler who pays attention to a word of falsehood, all his ministers are wicked If a leader listens to lies, liars will gather around him. Leaders set the tone.

29:13 the LORD gives light to the eyes of both of them Both the poor man and his oppressor owe their life and sight to the LORD (22:2). The oppressor depends on God every day too.

29:14 A king who judges the poor in truth, his throne will be established forever This points ahead to the Messiah, the Son of David, who will judge the poor with righteousness (Isa 11:4) and reign forever (Luke 1:32-33).

29:15 a youth let loose puts his mother to shame As at 13:24, 22:15 and 23:13-14, the rod is a picture of correction. A child must not be left without guidance. Loving correction, never in anger and never abuse, gives wisdom (Eph 6:4). Godly parents differ on spanking and agree children need firm, loving correction.

29:16 righteous ones will look on their downfall When the wicked grow in number, sin spreads, but it will not last. Do not lose heart when evil seems to be winning (Ps 37:34-36).

29:17 Discipline your son, and he will give you rest Correction takes work now and brings peace and joy later. A general pattern, as at 22:6, not a guarantee.

29:18 When there is no vision, a people is let loose Often quoted to mean a group needs goals and long-range plans. That is not its meaning. "Vision" is a prophet's vision, God's word revealed (1 Sam 3:1; Isa 1:1). Without it people throw off restraint and run wild, as at the golden calf (Exod 32:25) and in the days of the judges (Judg 21:25). The second line makes it clear: blessed is he who keeps the law. God has spoken fully in His Son and in Scripture (Heb 1:1-2).

29:19 By words a slave will not be disciplined Many households had servants, often people who sold themselves to pay a debt (Lev 25:39-43). A stubborn servant may understand an order and still refuse. These sayings describe that world, not approve slavery. The Law limited and protected Hebrew servants (Exod 21:2, 26-27), and it was not the race-based chattel slavery of later centuries. Masters are to be just, knowing they have a Master in heaven (Col 4:1; Gal 3:28).

The Words of Agur

1 The words of Agur the son of Jakeh (Yaqe), the oracle. The utterance of the man to Ithiel (Iti'el), to Ithiel and Ucal (Ukhal): 2 For I am more stupid than any man, and the understanding of a man is not mine. 3 And I have not learned wisdom, and the knowledge of the Holy One I do not know. 4 Who has gone up to the heavens and come down? Who has gathered the wind in his fists? Who has wrapped the waters in the garment? Who has established all the ends of the earth? What is his name, and what is the name of his son? Surely you know! 5 Every word of God is refined; He is a shield to those who take refuge in Him. 6 Do not add to His words, lest He rebuke you, and you be proved a liar.

Agur's Prayer

7 Two things I have asked from You; do not withhold them from me before I die: 8 Emptiness and a word of lies put far from me; poverty and wealth do not give to me; feed me the food of my portion, 9 lest I be satisfied and deny You and say, "Who is the LORD?" and lest I be poor and steal, and seize the name of my God. 10 Do not slander a slave to his master, lest he curse you and you be held guilty. 11 A generation curses its father and does not bless its mother. 12 A generation pure in its own eyes, and it has not been washed from its filth. 13 A generation, how lofty are its eyes, and its eyelids are lifted up! 14 A generation, its teeth are swords and its jaw-

30:14 Ps 57:4; Ps 3:7; Ps 14:4

29:20 Have you seen a man hasty in his words Like 26:12. The man who speaks before he thinks is worse off than a fool (James 1:19).
29:21 his end will be trouble A servant spoiled from youth may take over or become a burden. The last word is hard in Hebrew, and some read it as "a son" or heir. Indulgence without discipline leads to trouble.
29:22 a master of rage is great in transgression Anger opens the door to many other sins (Eph 4:26-27).
29:23 one lowly of spirit will lay hold of honor Whoever exalts himself will be humbled, and whoever humbles himself will be exalted (Luke 14:11).
29:24 he hears the oath and does not tell When a curse was pronounced on anyone who knew of a crime and stayed silent, the silent one was guilty (Lev 5:1). Keeping quiet to protect a thief makes you part of the sin.
29:25 The trembling of man sets a snare The fear of what people think or can do makes us say yes when we should say no and stay quiet when we should speak. Peter denied Jesus before a servant girl (Matt 26:69-75). The one who trusts the LORD is lifted out of reach (18:10; Matt 10:28). Whom do you fear more, people or God?
29:26 the justice of a man is from the LORD People line up for the favor of the powerful. Earthly rulers may fail us. God will not.
29:27 an abomination of the wicked is one upright of way The two roads are so different that those who walk them cannot stand each other (John 15:18-19). This is the last of Solomon's proverbs in the book.
30:1 The words of Agur the son of Jakeh, the oracle An oracle is a weighty message, often from God. Ithiel and Ucal seem to be the men Agur spoke to, perhaps students or sons. Some read the Hebrew letters as words meaning, I am weary, God, I am weary and worn out, which fits what follows. Scripture does not tell us who Agur was. Some Jewish teachers thought he was Solomon, but nothing in the text says so.
30:2 For I am more stupid than any man Agur is comparing himself to God. Next to the Holy One, all our wisdom is foolishness (1 Cor 3:19).
30:3 the knowledge of the Holy One I do not know He has not learned wisdom, and he does not have the knowledge of the Holy One by his own effort. That knowledge has to come from God. Either way, humility is where wisdom starts (1:7).
30:4 Who has gone up to the heavens and come down Questions like those God asked Job (Job 38:4-11). Only God holds the wind, wraps the waters and set the ends of the earth.
30:4 What is his name, and what is the name of his son? Surely you know In the Old Testament Israel is called God's son (Exod 4:22), and so is David's royal heir (Ps 2:7). Many teachers see more: a question pointing to Christ, the eternal Son, who came down from heaven and went back up (John 3:13; Eph 4:9-10), commanded the wind (Mark 4:39-41) and made all things (John 1:3). Agur may not have known all his question pointed to, but God, who inspired it, knew.
30:5 Every word of God is refined Like silver through the fire with no impurity left (Ps 12:6; 18:30). Every word of it is true, and God Himself shields all who run to Him.
30:6 Do not add to His words Moses gave the same warning (Deut 4:2), and so does the Bible's last chapter (Rev 22:18-19). A warning to every Bible teacher, including me. We may explain God's Word, but never put our words in His mouth. Many false teachings begin by adding new revelations, rules or books beside the Bible. God's Word is enough (2 Tim 3:16-17).
30:7 Two things I have asked from You The only prayer in Proverbs. First, keep me from falsehood, both lying and being deceived. Second, give me neither too little nor too much (v. 8). Jesus taught us to pray for daily bread (Matt 6:11).
30:9 Who is the LORD Riches might make Agur feel he did not need God, the proud question Pharaoh asked (Exod 5:2). Poverty might tempt him to steal and so dishonor God's name. Some read "seize the name" as swearing falsely by it. Both riches and poverty have their temptations (Phil 4:11-13).
30:10 Do not slander a slave to his master A servant has little power to defend himself. God cares for those with little power and will hold the slanderer guilty.
30:11 A generation curses its father "Generation" here means a kind of people. Four kinds follow: those who dishonor parents, the self-righteous, the proud and the cruel.
30:12 A generation pure in its own eyes They think they are clean but are not, like the Pharisee who thanked God he was not like other men (Luke 18:11).
30:14 its teeth are swords and its jawbones are knives The cruel eat up the poor like wild animals (2 Tim 3:1-5).

Three things are not satisfied; four do not say, "Enough": 16 Sheol, and the barrenness of the womb, land that is not satisfied with water, and fire that does not say, "Enough." 17 An eye that mocks a father and despises obedience to a mother, the ravens of the wadi will pluck it out, and the young of an eagle will eat it. 18 Three things are too wonderful for me, and four I do not know: 19 the way of the eagle in the heavens, the way of a serpent on a rock, the way of a ship in the heart of the sea, and the way of a man with a young woman. 20 Thus is the way of an adulterous woman: she eats and wipes her mouth and says, "I have not done evil." 21 Under three things the earth quakes, and under four it is not able to bear up: 22 under a slave when he becomes king, and a senseless one when he is satisfied with food, 23 under a hated woman when she is married, and a female servant when she dispossesses her mistress. 24 Four things are small things of the earth, and they are wise, made wise: 25 the ants are a people not strong, and they prepare their food in the summer; 26 rock badgers are a people not mighty, and they make their home in the rock; 27 the locust has no king, and it goes out dividing, all of it; 28 a lizard you grasp with your hands, and it is in the palaces of a king. 29 Three things are doing well in step, and four are doing well in walking: 30 a lion, mighty among the animals, and it does not turn back from before anything; 31 a rooster of loins, or a male goat, and a king, a band of soldiers with him. 32 If you have been foolish in exalting yourself, and if you have plotted, hand to mouth! 33 For the pressing of milk brings forth curds, and the pressing of the nose brings forth blood, and the pressing of anger brings forth strife.

A Mother's Counsel to a King

1 The words of Lemuel (Lemu'el) the king, an oracle which his mother taught him: 2 What, my son? And what, son of my womb? And what, son of my vows? 3 Do not give your strength to women, and your ways to wiping out kings. 4 It is not for kings, Lemuel, not for kings to drink wine, and for rulers, "Where is strong drink?" 5 lest he drink and forget what is decreed, and change the cause of all the sons of
